In a positive atmosphere, tactics of higher values, higher consciousness always win the day.

Comment: Life responds miraculous-like to taking this tact.

No Title

In a given work, project, competition, etc., building up personal Character is more important than immediate success.

No Title

Sometimes the reason good things are not happening to you is because you are the good thing that needs to happen to other people. (anonymous)

Mother Followers with Power to Affect the Collective

It is often the case for followers of the Mother that while trying to solve their own problems, they end up quickly attracting a benefit that goes to the collective; even the whole society. Thus, Her followers not only are not only capable of becoming true Individual beings, but collective ones as well; sometimes referred to as "Universal." Here is but one true story of a devotee that demonstrates this phenomenon:

"When I first came to the US I was on a dependent visa. I was very disappointed that I could not work here. However, very soon the laws changed and starting from May 26, 2015 all spouses on dependent visa were provided work authorization! For this I did not even voice a prayer to Mother."

Man Creates Multi-Faceted Joy by Doing the Right Thing

At a certain point in a spiritual-oriented life, you feel great pleasure in doing the right thing - whether based on the morale thing to do, a higher knowledge, some subtle insight, etc. You feel that pleasure at the outset at the moment of engagement, as well as, especially in the results.

This as opposed to normal life where we do such things only begrudgingly. It is a kind of chore to think through and take the right action (or inaction), as our physical consciousness does not want to be bothered.

A man was in a restaurant. At first, he sat in a booth made for 4 people. But he was only one. A few moments after, he thought it over and moved to a seating location made for one or two people. He felt glad he took this tact.

15 minutes later the man looked over at the booth he abandoned and he saw two young parents and their very young child. They were ecstatic, joyfully playing with their child over a food matter. As he observed their glee, he understood how abandoning the booth made the way for this very happy threesome to enjoy one another. The joy they felt filled the man's heart with his own Joy. He was also very glad that he did the right thing.

No Title

Getting the result is not the aim. We should acquire knowledge of the process. (Karmayogi)
Comment; The more fully you know the process, the greater the results will be.

No Title

From the worst, the best will arise" when we face it with calm faith and without fear. (The Mother)

Burden and Purpose of the Avatar

The Gods are reluctant to take human form on earth, feeling they would be encumbered, imprisoned from becoming who they really are; what they truly represent.

This is also true for the Avatar, who would be encumbered by the Karma, suffering, and death-prone inevitability of dwelling in the human form. This at the same time the Avatar knows that he is truly divine and immortal.

Yet the Avatar is fully willing to take on the burden of the human form and evolution on the outside, even though within he is immortal and a bringer of divinity to the world.

(based MSS study of 'Savitri' by Sri Aurobindo)

[in the story, Savitri, as incarnation of the Divine Mother, is the Avatar. This is of course a representation of the Mother we know and love.]

Reader: In "Evening Talks", Bhagavan describes a dual consciousness of the Avatar ...it is quite fascinating, like He acknowledges that Sri Aurobindo the Divine knows everything, but says that the human aspect could not have known about His pending injury (on His leg).

No Title

As you progress in consciousness, you realize that 50% or more of your verbalization is unnecessary. (and with it comes Attraction power.)

No Title

Marx was right that capitalism would be increasingly dominated by finance, which would become increasingly reckless and crisis-prone. (The Economist)

True Personal Organization

Personal organization is not just a cleaning or ordering of your desk, or creating a to do list and an updated schedule. It's also the organization of your mind; including a clear understanding of your goals and values and beliefs; of your intentions; of the processes you engage in; of the projects and activities you are involved with; of the knowledge and skills required to be successful in your work and life.

Ultimately, organization is to be clear about who you are, and what you want to become. Clearly answering the question of "who am I" is the organization of your Soul and Being.

To what degree then are you organized?

Gorbachev on US-Russian Relations

"The current situation is not right. We need to change that. Let us stop provoking each other. Let us stop trying to tear up other countries. ... Our two countries are still central to world peace. We need peace in order to resolve other world problems. One percent of the world controls 90 percent of the wealth. The ruling class is happy with this but things cannot continue as they are. ... Budgets smell of gunpowder. ... Fear is being cultivated. This is resulting in a new arms race."

No Title

Spiritual philosophy puts us in touch with Eternity and Infinity. Spiritual practice brings them here on earth.

From Conditioned Mind to True, Spiritual Individuality

We are dominated by the conditioned mind, consisting of all that we have learned since birth, plus all of the tendencies we have inherited genetically. It is a cloud of misinformation, poor attitudes, and false habits, dominating us at all times, preventing us from perceiving the world as it truly is; i.e. the true nature of the Reality.

However, through elevation of consciousness, we are able to break through the conditioned mind, receiving intimations of Truth, of the world as it truly is. This occurs progressively, as the consciousness deepens, the mind and desire soul grow still, and we become Silent Witness to the world.

Now all our thought, and feelings and actions are truly our own. We become aspirational, creative, insightful, intuitive, calm, peaceful, joyous, loving, living in timelessness, attracting the infinite into the current finite.

We have made the great Journey from conditioned consciousness to our true selves; our true, spiritual Individuality.

No Title

Perhaps the hardest thing in the world is to shift from exclusively believing in what our five senses tell us - and the ensuing faith in a material and mechanistic-oriented reality -- to the workings and accessing of the Invisible.

And yet it is at the heart of our further evolution: the key to turning current humanity into a spiritualized super-race of Conscious Beings.

No Title

Sri Karmayogi repeatedly says that Mother accomplishes miracles in the lives of devotees in such a way that they appear as normal events. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Shedding Things on the Road to Transformation

We are each attached to a core set of a dozen or more things, including-

- physical objects we crave
- people we desire or detest
- certain daily habits and routines we deeply enjoy
- particular points of view we adamantly adhere to
- ways of acting and reacting that give us pleasure
- specific expressions of our personality that we fall back on
- not to mention all manner of obsessions and attachments.

Mother asks us to give up all of these; to shed these obsessions and attachments, and instead be "attached to," surrender to Her Force, as we make our way forward on the road to personal growth and transformation.

And yet is there even ONE single thing we are willing to give up out of the dozens we fiercely adhere to? Mother smiles at our never-ending fixidity and reluctance to change!

Our progress in life is thus infinitely slow, and therefore we are perpetually reborn in order to move the needle forward for our soul and being.

No Title

We take care of the things we value, not those we don't value. And that is where our problem lies.

No Title

We rightfully perceive darkness and evil expressed by certain nations, peoples, leaders, etc., yet we fail to see how our side contributed to the rise and/or expansion of that darkness. All of history and current events can be viewed this way - whether WWII, partition of India, Colonialism, Cold War, terrorism, etc; and similar for peoples and leaders. When understood in a particular case, it will be a revelation.

No Title

Through the Bad, the Good get better.

Response: Example: As a result of devastation of WWII, the remaining "good" European nations, - who each pulled in their separate directions before the war, - did not want this to ever happen again, and so formed the European Union, a growth that made them better.

Another: The tragedies that people have had in their lives invariably end up making them better people.

Accelerating Life Response

My own life response experiences - LRs, synchronicities, parallelisms, etc. - are accelerating in the last month or two. Perhaps 5-15 a day. And those are just the ones I recognize happening to myself. There are also others that I am not conscious enough to perceive.

Then there are those happening to those around me, in others, in the news, in shows, etc - which are also accelerating in my awareness. 😊

Unintended Consequences for USA's Foreign Policies in Recent Years

Many of us are familiar with the principle of "Unintended Consequences." Here are several that come to mind in terms of USA's foreign policy over the last 50+ years:

--US supports Sadaam against the Iranians in the Iran-Iraq war, and then has to get rid of him in two Gulf wars.

--US supports Mujadeen in Afghan war after Russia comes in, which leads to rise of Taliban, Al Quida, 9/11 attack on US

--US secretly overthrows democratically elected government in Iran, replacing him with Shah, leading to the radicalization of Iran, rise of Islamic Fundamentalism, taking of US hostages, and tense relations between the two countries

--US supports Shiite, anti-Sunni Maliki government in Iraq which leads to disenfranchisement of Sunnis, who link up with fanatics in Syria and form ISIS.

--US gets rid of Kaddafi in Libya, who was keeping an eye out for terrorists in Africa for US and West, and now Libya is filled with terrorists.

--US and West ignore Russians after end of Cold War, and are now intimidated by the shenanigans of Putin, who the Russians respect because he gives them dignity.

These are the principle of "unintended consequences," which can also perhaps be thought of as Life Response "reversals."

No Title

The world is plagued by terrorist attacks forcing nations to spend millions of dollars to enhance security measures. A simple but effective mechanism to address the grievances of aggrieved nations can be formulated that can take away the basic grouse of the terrorists and bring the scale of attacks vastly down. Yet such an effort has not been taken so far and the world remains on the edge. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Reader: Yes sir. Unless we address the grievances of terrorists we will be constantly under threat. Can we say Root causes of terrorist attacks are unfairness and poverty?

Response: Yes, and unemployment, and intensity of rising expectations for improvement in an inter-connected world. And radical income distribution imbalance in the world mirrors these.

Reader: Prosperity and Education will surely alleviate the tendency for the poor to be manipulated by terror ideologies...but what about the actual Asuric forces, those that just want to watch the world burn. Osama bin Laden was both super rich and an Engineer, Burhan Wani's father is a school headmaster, Al-Baghdadi is a PhD...these are just a few examples.

Response: We can overcome it by:

-eliminating all enmity and hate in our hearts from our side. Especially among devotees. (this is key)

-money in general in the world is in hands of the asura, and we can move out of that vibrations so it spreads harmoniously, especially to those who are without.

-nations can stop pulling in separate direction and truly work together to overcome cause of terrorism and action of terrorists.

-Terrorism is a symptom like poverty, unemployment, inequality disease, conflict, war of non-unity in the world. Sri Aurobindo says all problems are problems of harmony. If nations give up their individual ego sense, then much can be resolved, achieved in these areas.

-seen from perspective of the Reality terrorism has come to help unify the world through our cooperation to resolve it.

-terrorism has come to press on the people that it is time to resolve the world's issues together, instead of letting them fester. It has personalized the issues (as any person is vulnerable), rather than being abstract. Thus, it can compel us to seriously move on the underlying issues.

-terrorism is no more serious than the other issues, but since it is personalized and sensationalized, it gets all the attention.

Disease kills 100 times more than terrorism does, but it is quiet, not drawing attention to itself. Nuclear proliferation poses 10 times the threat, but people don't truly care. War kills hundreds of thousands each year. It is impersonal to the world's population. Same with the misery of poverty. Etc.

No Title

So much money is channeled into pursuit of economic gains through trading in stocks and selling foreign exchange. All this is unproductive and gives a unhealthy and illusory appearance of a "booming economy". Common sense will call for a curb to such practices. But failure to do so results in regular economic setbacks called "recessions", leading to loss of jobs for thousands of people and reduction in GDP. (N. Asokan, MSS)

No Title

Everything about India is unpredictable, as the people know things about life that no others do. And those insights will increasingly come out, releasing changes in India that are unprecedented in the world.

Power of Perceiving Gradation of Planes in Life

Any problem in life can be resolved by going one level higher. For example, if there is political conflict between nations, the parties should consider moving towards greater economic well-being. That will ease the tension that exists at the political level. If there is economic discord between two nations, they should go higher and develop greater cultural bonds. If there are cultural differences between nations, they can go higher by connecting at the spiritual level. In essence, it is a movement from physical to vital to mental and spiritual. It is also a movement from the surface to the depths.

The same process can be seen for the individual. There is a gradation from the lowest, the physical, to increasingly higher levels of being: from the vital/emotional, to the psychological, to the mental, to the spiritual. For example, if two individuals are having vital/emotional conflict with one another, they could move to a higher plane of reason of the mind (mental) to try to work out their differences. Likewise, when two parties have different mental perceptions of a matter, they can go upward toward a spiritual level to find a common harmony and truth, (or go inward to find the deeper connection between the parties). Both are spiritual movements.

Thus, in any situation, in any aspect of life, it is always worth understanding the gradation of planes involved – from physical/material, to the vital/emotional, to the psychological, to the mental, to the spiritual. For society, these correspondingly take form as political, economic, social, cultural, and spiritual.

We can even see this dynamic of planes or stages of being in the history of the world; first emerging from a physical age (hunter, agrarian) to a vital one (focused trade and interrelations), to mind (the modern human, through freedom, democracy, education, technology, et al) to spiritual (emerging slowly, as unity and oneness of nations in the world, personal growth of individuals, etc.).

Finally, we can see planes of being in the evolution of the universe - beginning with physical matter, followed by life forms (vital) of the plant and animal, to the mental (in higher life forms, especially humans), to the spirit (of the transcendent) one day permeating life in the cosmos.

Whenever you try to perceive the Reality you encounter in terms of these planes, it is much easier to perceive what is, what is taking place; and what can be.

No Title

Internal disunity attracts external adversaries.

No Title

Buddha asked the central questions about the nature of life, - especially the negative side (i.e. why there is sorrow, suffering, pain, death, disease), - and through that grappling helped move the world forward in ways unprecedented.

Appreciation of Russia

It's difficult for those in the West to understand Russian grievances since the end of the Cold War (particularly their inputs and influence being ignored), just as it is hard for America and the West to understand how so many socialistic benefits have come to their capitalistic democracies.

The good that has arisen out of Russian aspiration and thinking (plus Marx) is underappreciated throughout society. Only American liberty and prosperity is universally accepted.

No Title

Everything happening around you - positive and negative - is a reflection of who you are, what you are feeling, thinking, believing inside. If you see these correspondences, and then elevate the positive qualities that are bringing positive outer results, and overcome the negative ones evoking negative outcomes, life will continually respond in your favor!

From Sensation to Knowledge to Truth in Society

Gradually society is shifting from sensation (which is of the vital) to (the higher) information (which is of the mental plane). Perceptions, insights and decisions at this level lead to on-going success. That is why knowledge and education is so much more powerful than emotionally responding to screaming headlines.

At the spiritual level, mind is silent, and truth floods the mind without the need for the thinking processes. From this plane, all actions lead to great success, attracting the infinite into the current finite. It is Society's greatest way forward.

On Buddha's Limited View of Reality

Though Buddha was the first to seriously, intensely question why there is suffering in the world of every type, and though as great Avatar he brought love and compassion to humanity, his Knowledge of the nature of the underlying Spiritual Reality was limited. Though he recognized the role of Ego in creating suffering, he did not see these things in the wider context of cosmic unfolding that Sri Aurobindo later revealed.

Thus, Buddha did not believe in the Supreme, nor the pure Existent (Sat of Sat-chit Ananda), which is the Spirit at the source of creation. For Buddha, no such thing existed.

It then follows that Buddha did not perceive the Process of Creation that originated from Sat ending in the creation of matter, nor did he see how Ignorance came out of that process. His view was that Ignorance is Ego alone, and not part of the Involution from Spirit to Matter, as Sri Aurobindo explained.

Shankara went somewhat further than Buddha, as he accepted the Divine Reality, yet indicated that all things in life are viewed from the perception of illusion, which he called Maya. Sri Aurobindo says there is no such thing as illusion, as everything is real, even Ignorance. Also, all things are part of an evolutionary process of development. Thus the movement from Ignorance to Knowledge from ego to non-ego and harmonious view were part of an evolutionary process.

It is possible that Buddha did not even believe in Soul (i.e. the spark of the Divine in each individual). Moreover, the idea of an evolving soul, which Sri Aurobindo discovered and called the "psychic being" was unknown to Buddha.

(For Buddha, the flux of karma made possible and perpetuated rebirth, which Sri Aurobindo may partially agree with in that rebirth is for the purpose of moving from Ignorance to Knowledge.)

We can also conclude that the process of Creation, the planes of being through which Life emerged in that process, including the role of Supermind, et al are unknown to Buddha.

To what degree he believed in human evolution (the second process, after the first one of involution from spirit to cosmic mind to energy to matter is complete) is unclear.

Transformation of our being at all planes to become divinized beings as the end process of evolution, including the immortality of the body, are yet other issues that are open for discussion.

Partaking in the Rhythms of Infinite Consciousness

Deepak Chopra tells us that the non-local (everywhere) field of Infinite Consciousness is constantly rising and falling, and everything we do in our own lives is part of that cosmic movement, -- even though we only perceive ourselves existing as separate from it, in a limited local field. He says that this view is an illusion of our limited consciousness.

And yet if we go deeper within, we can experience our existence in terms of the rhythm of that infinite undercurrent of existence. Then we become one with the Reality.

Reader: Kashmir Shaivism describes the rhythms in some detail.

Response: Yes, and while on the subject I found the following powerfully written summation as it relates to Tantra. It explains, as abstraction, the cosmic process very well. Sri Aurobindo seems to embrace this, and then adds the Involution and Evolution (including Supramental plane and action in both) to particularize the process.

"All that exists, throughout all time and beyond, is one infinite divine Consciousness, free and blissful, which projects within the field of its awareness a vast multiplicity of apparently differentiated subjects and objects: each object an actualization of a timeless potentiality inherent in the Light of Consciousness, and each subject the same plus a contracted locus of self-awareness. This creation, a divine play, is the result of the natural impulse within Consciousness to express the totality of its self-knowledge in action, an impulse arising from love.

The unbounded Light of Consciousness contracts into finite embodied loci of awareness out of its own free will. When those finite subjects then identify with the limited and circumscribed cognitions and circumstances that make up this phase of their existence, instead of identifying with the transindividual overarching pulsation of pure Awareness that is their true nature, they experience what they call "suffering."

To rectify this, some feel an inner urge to take up the path of spiritual gnosis and yogic practice, the purpose of which is to undermine their misidentification and directly reveal within the immediacy of awareness the fact that the divine powers of Consciousness, Bliss, Willing, Knowing, and Acting comprise the totality of individual experience as well—thereby triggering a recognition that one's real identity is that of the highest Divinity, the Whole in every part.

This experiential gnosis is repeated and reinforced through various means until it becomes the nonconceptual ground of every moment of experience, and one's contracted sense of self and separation from the Whole is finally annihilated in the incandescent radiance of the complete expansion into perfect wholeness. Then one's perception fully encompasses the reality of a universe dancing ecstatically in the animation of its completely perfect divinity."

[Wallis, Christopher; Tantra Illuminated, chapter I, 1 The Philosophy of Nondual Śaiva Tantra]

No Title

It is not so much that difficulties of themselves come to make us progress; rather, it is how we REACT to difficulties when they do arrive that determine our progress.

Speeding Up the Rebirth Process

We are continually being reborn in order for the psychic being to discover a higher truth and consciousness in its cosmic journey, and for us to progressively shed our universal Ignorance (of who we are, what our purpose is, what the truth is, what our awareness is, etc.).

Mother indicates we have may have been reborn perhaps 1000 times since the dawn of history, and many of those births we experienced were simultaneous to her own.

She and Sri Aurobindo also indicate us that by opening to the supramental power we can hasten our evolution, making this birth the equivalent of 100 births, rapidly speeding up the transition from our animal-like origins to the true human being to a new divine, supramental species. What would normally take 30,000 years can be accomplished in 300, or even less through an active engagement in the means of human transformation.

No Title

Well-mannered moral behavior matures into spiritual oneness when we perceive the soul of the person we meet.

No Title

Each time you experience Life Response, you realize there is a COSMIC REALITY behind all existence

No Title

Life Response Knowledge can be thought of as an expert system for evoking the Miraculous.

Ultimate AI Wisdom

An Artificial Intelligence (AI) system filled with the vast wisdom and insights of Sri Aurobindo, the Mother, and Karmayogi would be the greatest in the world. In Garry Jacobs' 700 page novel, he describes the unfolding of just such a thing, as the AI system the team builds - filled with Their wisdom - is able to solve key problems of the world, while elevating its founders to the pinnacles of success. Our challenge now is to make it real in the material world!

Levels of Value in Doing a Work

Here are several levels of attitude, perception, and values we can subscribe to when engaging in a work: ordered from lower to higher consciousness.

- Just doing the work mechanically, without feeling, without concern
- Doing the work to gain some personal benefit, such as higher salary, greater position, personal prestige, etc.
- Doing the work so that it is personally fulfilling
- Doing the work with concern that it enables great benefit to those who use its products, services etc.
- Doing the work so it brings individual and collective benefit for Society
- Doing the work as a means of personal growth for oneself, others, the organization, the community, etc.
- Doing the work as pure service; for the deepest Values perceived within it, or determined by the organization
- Doing the work for the sake of the higher consciousness, for the divine and it's unfolding in life. I.e. as Spiritual service

No Title

We are the Divine's eyes looking out on Its creation.

No Title

When something occurs that is synchronous or parallel to your own experience, there is likely a deep, hidden message contained within it.

Four Planes of Being in the Spiritual Realization Process for Buddha and Sri Aurobindo

Buddha's way out of pain, suffering, ignorance, and death was complete detachment from the physical, vital, and mental forms of life. When this inner effort of voiding all aspects of life had reached its peak, liberation from the negatives of existence was complete.

Sri Aurobindo indicated that detachment and voidism was but one possible starting point, as he advocated a process of human Transformation of the physical, vital, mental, and spiritual planes, as part of an individual and collective evolutionary movement on the way to bringing about a divine life in earth.

Life Response to Giving Another Attention

When you shift your focus away from yourself and give another individual greater attention, taking interest in their interests, at some point during or after the interaction you are likely receive a startling positive benefit in return.

A man purchased a wireless mouse for his laptop computer. It worked well at first, but over the next month or so gradually started to falter. The man became slightly frustrated when using it.

Recently a friend of this gentleman had taken a road trip around the American Southwest, and she had accumulated a good number of interesting photographs. Though the man had viewed a first set of pictures with her, he was reluctant to continue onto the next, as there were so many. However, a few days later, he decided that he was going to go through the next set of photos with her.

As they went through the images together, the woman noticed that the man was having trouble with his mouse. She suggested that he get a mouse pad, or better yet, just use hers. When he tried it out, it worked absolutely perfectly! His prayers were answered, as he now had a solution to his problem, without having to purchase a new mouse.

As we see, when we give others attention, taking interest in their interests, life has a funny way of giving back to you in the form of an unexpected benefit; sometimes from the very person that you committed your time to in the first place!

Aim of Sri Aurobindo's Integral Yoga

-The yoga we practice is not for ourselves alone, but for the Divine; its aim is to work out the will of the Divine in the world, to effect a spiritual transformation and to bring down a divine nature and a divine life into the mental, vital and physical nature and life of humanity. (Sri Aurobindo)

-Purna/Integral Yoga aims at bringing down the power of the Supramental plane; the descent of Supermind abolishing pain, suffering and death from the face of the earth. (Sri Karmayogi)

-Integral yoga aims at ALL aspects integrating in supramental harmony to bring heaven on earth. (Sri Karmayogi)

-[The object of the Yoga] is the liberation and transformation of the human being ... the bringing down of the divine Ananda upon the earth. (Sri Aurobindo)

-Integral Yoga enables the evolution and transformation of the individual, as well as the world around him. (Roy Posner)

-Sri Aurobindo recognizes the essential divided nature of man. He lives in his ego, in ignorance, in time, in limitation, finite, and suffers from disease and death. Integral Yoga is the conscious method of overcoming Man's limited nature and arriving at his spiritual and supramental Nature. (Sri Karmayogi)

-Purna Yoga accepts life, lives it as the Divine Wills it to be lived, so that Life is divinised. (Sri Karmayogi)

-The aim of Integral Yoga is transformation of human life into Divine Life; to bring down a divine life into the mental, vital and physical nature and life of humanity. (Roy Posner)

-Sri Aurobindo says the real goal of yoga is to transform mind, life and matter, to divinize them. (Sri Karmayogi)

-The embodied soul should seek total release from falsehood and ego in all parts of its being; and, rising into the higher realms of Spirit, bring down the spiritual force and truth to life on earth, so that death, suffering and disease can be abolished forever. [This is the integral yoga] (Sri Karmayogi)

Yoga is to become the child of The Mother ... (Sri Karmayogi)

Yoga is on the broad, deep line with the one aim of reaching Her. (Sri Karmayogi)

Download the entire article from which the above is taken, below:

"This document is an overview of Sri Aurobindo's "Integral Yoga." It contains several short statements of His, many detailed statements of Sri Karmayogi, and several of my own. I have organized it as I believe the yoga is intended, and have paraphrased some of their remarks for context and clarity. I hope this profound knowledge is beneficial to you as you continue on your personal and spiritual journey. -R"

'Overview of Sri Aurobindo's Integral Yoga (as interpreted and extended by Sri Karmayogi)'

No Title

By perceiving and detaching himself from dualities, the contradictions of life when they arose, - such as pleasure and pain, good and bad, happiness and unhappiness - Buddha experienced peace and harmony; oneness with life. This was the experience that was the very basis of his enlightenment.

No Title

Sometimes you need to see certain people, parties, organizations, et al move in the wrong direction in order to know what the right direction is.

Reader: We have to see the bad to appreciate the good.

Response: Yes, to see the good; as well as see new directions and possibilities of the good.

No Title

Higher organization compresses time, reduces space, saves resources, makes life efficient, fills it with ease, calls the infinite into the finite.

No Title

What is older than the soul ... and what is newer than that soul?

No Title

When Siddhartha Gautama became Buddha ("the enlightened one") 2500 years ago, spiritual Compassion was born in the world.

No Title

Unless there is good reason, avoid pressing others about the limits of their spiritual beliefs in order to help them go higher. It is not fair to ask this of them; to press them on it. Instead, let them be who they are, let them discover for themselves what is higher or deeper. If necessary, let them experience nothing new at all.

Hamlet, Mind, and Individuality

Karmayogi says Mind was born in the collective during the 16th century, and Hamlet represented that collective individual.

Thus, Hamlet announced to the world the birth of Mind among the population

When Hamlet arose in literature in Shakespeare's play, individual social conscience was born.

He showed social conscience in questioning the need for revenge against his uncle who murdered his father. He used his Mind to consider the possibilities.

Social conscience arises out of individuality.

Individuality comes through Mind.

Infinite possibilities, breakthrough developments come through individuality.

Spiritual individuality goes further, as it is above Mind - in Intuition and light - and deep in the soul. It attracts silence, peace, harmony, wisdom, love, delight, as well infinite-like results that overcome space and time.

Reader: Sir, last few days I was thinking about Hamlet. I will share with you what Appa had written about it to me.

"HAMLET is the climax of Shakespeare's plays. Criticism has not been able to explain why Hamlet is talked as the best of plays nor could it explain why Hamlet delayed killing his uncle Claudius. It was a period when Mind was born in Germany in the common Man. It was first in evidence in Socrates in Greece 2500 years ago. Vital acts readily. Mind hesitates, vacillates and even oscillates. This is the explanation for Hamlet's delay. "

I think the hesitation of the Mind is very well captured in its famous quote "To be or not to be" if that's correct.

No Title

In Shakespeare's time and earlier, life evolved through tragedy. But that is no longer necessary in the modern world.

No Title

Fixating on one principle to the exclusion of all others is closed-mindedness that becomes the root of falsehood and conflict in life.

No Title

Putting aside silliness, replacing it with seriousness, attracts serious, even groundbreaking helpful discussion and knowledge.

Contrasting Night & Day Shopping Efforts

Sarcastic witticisms and comments will spoil a work, whereas focused seriousness tend to attract perfect conditions.

A couple went out together to do some shopping at a superstore. As they approached, one of the two started mocking the abundance of overweight people who frequented the store. After doing their shopping, the checkout lane they parked themselves in suddenly got stalled. They then went to another lane, and that got stalled as well, perhaps even worse; plus the cashier was an overweight woman, reminding them of the negative, sarcastic perceptions they had on the way in the door.

The story continues.

About a week later the couple went to that same superstore to shop for a very few items. Remembering their previous misadventure, the man controlled himself and put all sarcasm aside as he entered the store. Moreover, his partner now seemed very focused on carrying out their shopping goals. He saw that as a positive response to his effort to put the negative aside. In fact, he noticed how briskly she walked toward the intended area of the store, and struggled a bit to catch up with her!

But there was more.

The woman very quickly found the items the couple were looking for: perfect fit at a perfect price! Plus, when they went to checkout there was no backup at all and they were whisked through to their surprise and joy.

Shifting away from sarcasm, and focusing their mind intensely at the work at hand, putting all other things aside won the day for the two, turning negative response in one iteration to a perfect magic carpet ride of success in the other!

No Title

Life Response is the experience and outcome of applied spiritual principles and methods.

Higher Level Success Factors

If you want to succeed at a level higher than your current status, your consciousness will need to rise accordingly. Discovering where that lies is key to greater success. It generally comes down to one or more of the following:

- greater effort
- greater skill
- greater knowledge
- higher attitudes (eliminating negative ones)
- higher behaviors
- higher values
- higher organization (of time, space, goals, et al)
- greater cleanliness, orderliness
- spiritual attributes (silence, non-reaction, et al)
- reduced ego (less self-absorption)
- greater intention, aspiration
- greater conviction
- greater energy
- clarity of purpose
- self-givingness (giving instead of taking)
- non-wastage of resources
- control of harmful desires
- improved bodily condition
- life balance
- mental clarity
- truthfulness
- greater harmony (w/ others, life)
- positive attitude
- cheerfulness and optimism
- deepening the consciousness
- etc.

Which ones are key for you to rise to the next level of success?

Negative Response to Unexpressed Silliness

Silliness that occupies our emotions, tickling our Ego can quickly attract faulty outcomes, including misplacement of property.

A man was about to narrate a silly thought to a food cashier/server. His emotions were intense with the thought. He couldn't let go of it. Still he held it inside and did not speak it out.

Immediately the server started having trouble placing the desert the man ordered into a bag, as it began to wilt, and so the server had to get another one.

Five minutes later, when the customer was in his seat, the server called out to the diners in the restaurant if anyone had left a credit card behind, which he held in his hand. It turned out that our diner friend had left it in the payment machine when paying for the food. As so as he sheepishly called out to the server that it was indeed his card, the man was thereby royally embarrassed in front of the other diners.

As we see, the energy of his unexpressed silliness had gone out and disturbed the outer conditions, including the processing of the order and the temporary loss of a significant personal item. Best then in these situations to gain control of ourselves and be simple and humble, enabling all to go smoothly.

No Title

Remove your Ego from each interaction, and your life will never cease to be astonishing.

No Title

Life is like the wheel of a vehicle. It is always going around in circular patterns, though it is also always moving forward.

Reader: While the Ego is also circular but stays still moving forward and hardens like stone (imo)

Response: Yes, inability to keep up with the forward movement of life is due to Ego or Ignorance (entrenched thinking, unawareness, etc.).

No Title

Sri Aurobindo came with the greatest foreknowledge of anyone living, as he knew the "horoscope of the universe." He quietly prophesied that the liberation and ascent of India would take place; as would the rise of Asia. Human unity would follow; and that there would be the deployment of the supramental power, enabling a divine life on earth. He indicated that all of these were a certainty. And each are coming about. (paraphrase of MSS)

No Title

Mother indicates that the Supramental life will be free of conflict, armies, government (we will be self-governing), money, marriage, property, and eventually our current bodily makeup and functionings - including, procreation, breathing, circulation, digestion, and all - which will be replaced with centers of light. Immortal, divine life will be the result.

No Title

Our progressive awakening of consciousness from out of the inconscient is the process by which the Evolution takes place. (MSS)

No Title

Only collectively, cooperatively, collaboratively can the problems of the world be solved. Individually, left to their own devices, nations will increasingly remain in the dark and suffer.

No Title

Each of us express our SELFISHNESS in any number of small and large ways in the course of our day. And yet we are unaware of the fact because we are lost in it.

No Title

India is increasingly offering a "Middle Way" in helping resolve issues among the nations of the world.

No Title

So long as the number of nuclear weapons is not reduced by the major powers, other countries, including nefarious ones, will seek to gain them too. It is inner-outer correspondence; a negative response to the major powers, and an unconcerned world.

Causes, Solutions to Terrorism (2017)

- Terrorism is the nefarious tactic of the weak, steeped in powerlessness and poverty.
- Conscious global prosperity will weaken their hate. When there are abundant household goods available, people turn away from the terrorist mindset
- Terrorism is the outcome of earlier hypocritical policies of the victims' nation. Eg rise of Islamic fundamentalism, Taliban, ISIS, et al originated when Western powers engaged in diplomatic hypocrisy that exacerbated the already existing religious falsehood. The solution is for grievances to be identified and addressed.
- Philosophically, terrorism has come to further unite the world. It is the Bad that compels the Good to become the GOOD.
- Countries uniting ONLY militarily to fight terrorism, without other complementary remedies - of overcoming poverty, of acknowledging past diplomatic shenanigans and insincerity, etc - will exacerbate terrorism in the extreme.
- Within fundamentalist societies, brave leaders can step forward to lead their country out of their intellectual and behavioral darkneses.

No Title

Buddha had this unique capacity to constantly engage in compassionate acts. With that in mind, how many have you precipitated recently? Can you think of one or two? If so, then how can you do the same or more in future - bringing benefit to others, while raising your consciousness?

Religious Forms at Odds with Source Teaching

- Statues of Buddha are contrary to Buddha's beliefs, as is Buddha heaven.
- Church is contrary to Christ's beliefs.
- Hindu rituals are contrary to Vedic view.
- Ownership of Sri Aurobindo's works by one religious organization is a contradiction.

No Title

The formless world rushing towards form is matched by an equally ardent rush of the world of forms to rush towards the formless. (N. Asokan, MSS)

No Title

It is not necessary to physically go back in time to connect to and rectify our negative past behaviors; as, of course, that is not readily possible. Instead, we can move deep within to connect with that time, feel true contrition for our past mistakes, and offer the entire matter to the Mother and Her Force. Life will then rapidly loosen the past's troubling influence on our present.

No Title

For new things you develop, first go DEEP, then go wide.

Perceiving Additional Negatives Behind the Negative

If someone is displeased with your behavior, look deeper and you may discover yet another negative issue at play.

A man was pestering his spouse about a news story. She was actually hoping for some peace and quiet. Indeed, he came to understand that he was insensitively invading her space.

And yet soon after something else took place. The person in the news whose negative actions the man mocked was now on his way to create something quite troubling.

The man now realized that by obsessively speaking about this particular gentleman in the news, he attracted negative circumstance related to this individual.

The man understood that he should have remained silent about the original news story; which would not only have avoided the negative response that followed, but would have also avoided disturbing the psyche of his spouse.

No Title

Frustration in accomplishing an objective indicates a missing or faulty inner or outer strategy.

No Title

When something is gone, something better is coming. (anonymous)

No Title

"Software is eating the world."

-famed tech funder, Marc Andreessen

Two decades ago, Karmayogi wrote me that he loved software, even though he knew little of its workings. He said that software in fact expressed the infinity buried in the Mind.

Now as software spreads into the fiber of life, its insights (AI, et al) are running roughshod over the old reality of work. Hence Andreessen's remark. And it is also bringing forth vast, unprecedented possibilities, fortifying Karmayogi's profound view.

Life Response Power of Shifting from the Habitual and Routine to the Fresh and New

Every day we love to engage in the habitual and routine. We feel comfortable in that space; it makes us happy. However, a spirit-oriented individual continually BREAKS through these impediments, follows new flows of life that subtly present themselves, causing one's life to always be fresh, energizing, even thrilling.

Also, each time we go down that different path, instead of same old one, life quickly opens up for us.

That's what happened to one man when he decided one day to literally walk on a different path for his afternoon exercise. He not only came upon vistas he had never seen before, but he discovered an unknown bookstore there, and quickly, magically found a book with reference to an individual who would give for free a detailed critique of the book he was writing, enabling the final draft to be vastly improved.

As we see, when we go down a new path, literally or figuratively, - giving up tired old routines and habits, - life has a funny way of suddenly opening with infinite possibilities.

Let us then ask ourselves: which habits and routines are we stuck in; and how can we cast them aside and take up fresh new acts, new patterns, in order to attract the marvelous, making life thrilling?

No Title

Given the present conditions, negatives are often the most efficient means of creating further positives.

No Title

In the 1970s, in Agenda, Mother indicated the end of Communism and Capitalism were soon at hand. Mother's Service Society (MSS) and World Academy (WAAS) have indicated that they will be replaced by a Human-centered economics.

No Title

... human beings constantly exert their will on each other, or they themselves receive suggestions and manifest them as their own will, without realizing that it's all the external Falsehood [coming from others or life]. (The Mother, from Agenda, March 9, 1966)

Comment: Half or more of the physical pains we experience - even emotional pangs, mental confusions, et al - are due to unknown ill-wills of others, a generally poor atmosphere, negative societal developments, etc.

On How People Would React to the Truth of How Life is Actually Working

This morning, it was really extraordinarily amusing to see the mass of things [the true determining factors] that lie behind this [surface] appearance, an appearance that seems complicated enough as it is, but it's nothing! It's thin, flimsy, without complexity in comparison with the MASS of things behind, which ... (drilling gesture) which bore their way through to reach the surface. It's amusing.

But certainly ninety-nine people in a hundred would be seized with panic if they knew, if they saw. I had always been told (I read it, Sri Aurobindo often said it to me, Théon too often said it to me, so did Madame Théon) that it's the Grace that keeps people from knowing. Because if they knew [how life worked, what aspects of life were truly determining things], they would be terrified!

All, but all the things that are constantly there, moving behind - behind the appearances - all the complexities that are the true causes of or the instruments for all those small events, which to us are absolutely unimportant, but because of which one day you feel everything is harmonious, and another day you feel it takes a labor to do anything at all. And that's how it is. And naturally, when you know, you have the key. But if you know before you have the key, it's ... a little frightening.

I think that when people take leave of their senses, it's because they are put in contact with the vibrations before having the knowledge, the sufficient knowledge, the sufficient state of consciousness. (The Mother, from Agenda, March 26, 1966)

Comment: Through our conscious awareness of the Character of Life, including the Life Response phenomena, these determining aspects Mother is referring to are more fully revealed.

The Mother's Journey from the Utility of Atheism to the Supreme

That's another interesting point, because I was an outright atheist: till the age of twenty, the very idea of God made me furious. Therefore, I had the most solid base - no imaginings, no mystic atavism; my mother was very much an unbeliever and so was my father. So from the point of view of atavism it was very good: positivism, materialism.

Only one thing: since I was very small, a will for perfection in any field whatever; a will for perfection and the sense of a limitless consciousness - no limits to one's progress or to one's power or to one's scope. And that, since I was very small. But mentally, an absolute refusal to believe in a "God": I believed only in what I could touch and see.

And the whole faculty for experiences was already there (they didn't manifest because the time hadn't come). Only, the sense of a Light here (gesture above the head), which began when I was very small, I was five, along with a will for perfection. A will for perfection: oh, whatever I did always had to be the best I could do. And then, a limitless consciousness. These two things.

And my return to the Divine came about through Theon's teaching, when I was told for the first time, "The Divine is within, there" (Mother strikes her breast). Then I felt at once, "Yes, this is it." Then I did all the work that's taught to find Him again; and through here (gesture to the heart center) I went there (gesture of junction above with the Supreme).

But outwardly, mentally, no religion – a horror of religions. And I see now that it was the most solid base possible for this experience: there was no danger of imaginings. (The Mother, from Agenda, June 5, 1966)

No Title

Consecration, opening to Mother, overcomes Nature's slow and difficult method of progress through contradiction and conflict. Resolution is dramatically sped up, as remarkable circumstance quickly reveals themselves.

No Title

To rectify a legitimate grievance, the populace may turn to a dark force - such as an autocrat, a nationalist, a fascist, a communist, a terrorist, a religious fanatic - plunging the society into further darkness. In that way, a fair grievance can turn fully irrational.

No Title

A higher Consciousness, an unprecedented supramental Force seeks to progressively manifest on earth, taking form as silence, peace, harmony, light, power, beauty, love, delight, timelessness, and infinity. It is then only a question of who will stand up and be a receptacle of that Consciousness and Force, and thereby lead himself and the world forward in the Evolution.

No Title

Supermind does not repeat. Each iteration of Mother's Action is utterly unique, and dynamic in the extreme.

No Title

Mother's Consciousness is universal. Any act done in it spreads. (Sri Karmayogi)

No Title

To know the more subtle, inner reasons for the cause of circumstance is far greater than knowledge of the surface reasons, which is our usual understanding. Supramental perception takes it a step further to knowledge of the integral, many-sided TRUTH, plus a propensity to manifest as real, which is rare indeed.

No Title

Increasingly the Universal culture is wiping out the local one. That's because it draws from a higher order of values; spiritual in fact.

Eg in these times tech (internet, phone, AI) is a kind of universal culture, that makes local cultural issues pale by comparison. In future, there will be something else that will indicate a further development in the universal culture. Perhaps it will be something like a human-based society, or universal harmony in the world, etc. It's likely to be something unexpected, wholly unique, and of higher societal Values when compared to the past. After all, Sri Aurobindo did indicate that is the Hour of the Unexpected.

No Title

The cultural icons and expressions we hold so dear from our generation are so easily forgotten by the next. It's the cruel truth of evolutionary progress.

No Title

The Great Depression and the Great Recession dramatically increased the adoption of Socialistic-like benefits through Capitalism.

Startling Experience of Confluence of Mother's Agenda and Savitri

There are -4000 pages of content in Mother's Agenda, where she engaged in a continuing 20-year dialogue about her spiritual quest with her close disciple Satprem. It is a marvel beyond anything I have ever read. Over the last 40 years, I have gone through those thousands of pages perhaps a dozen times.

It also turns out that I ordinarily like to listen to Garry Jacobs speeches on Saturday evenings, which I connect with over the Internet on demand. I have followed his discussions on Pride and Prejudice, The Life Divine, and now Savitri. In the latter series, Garry has gone through profound explanations on 3 or 4 early segments of the epic spiritual poem by Sri Aurobindo, and was up to the point of explaining the King's yoga; i.e. the startling experiences in the subtle realms of existence of Savitri's father, the King.

However, on this particular occasion I did not have the energy to listen to Garry's talk on this latest topic, and instead decided to instead do some reading in Mother's Agenda. And so while in bed, I randomly opened the 4000 page file to see where I would land. And what do you know, but right before me was Mother's discussion of how she had recently after many years taken up the reading of Savitri, and was especially intrigued by the section of the poem concerning the yoga of the King (because Mother was going through those same experiences), which turned out to be precisely what Garry was now focusing on in his discussions on the poem!

It was a miracle to behold; a one in a million shot that I would randomly land on that paragraph. But there it was!

It indicated to me the overwhelming power and joy embedded in these two works, and when they cross-link, the startling and wondrous naturally follow.

(I later told Garry about the event and he too was amazed, calling it a "wonderful".)

And so I would like to conclude with the statement of Mother's from Agenda that I had miraculously encountered:

"I am reading Savitri, the second Book, I think, the transformation of the King, his experience. I had read it very long ago, I didn't remember at all, not at all; these days I have been reading it again ... and it's like a detailed description of the experience my body is now having! Extraor-di-nar-y. When I read it again, I was flabbergasted.

It's absolutely as if my body were trying to copy that! And I didn't remember at all, not in the least which would mean that Sri Aurobindo had SEEN the thing – did he see it, or did he experience it? I don't know ... And that's what he regards as the supramentalization of the physical being. Do you remember that in Savitri?" (Mother, from Agenda, 1969)

Reader: Appa indicated that in Savitri, HE is the King Ashwapathi.

Response: Yes, it's true. I perceived that back when I first went through the poem decades ago. Thanks for the reminder!

Reader: Great coincidence. It indicates your alignment with Sri Aurobindo, The Mother, Appa and Garry Sir.

No Title

If you impersonally express your critique of another's hobby or presentation, without calling out their name, it can evoke a response from them whereby they unexpectedly take interest in your interests! (Not making it personal by revealing their name builds strength that attracts the startling positive result.)

No Title

A small group will pioneer a New Consciousness, as they transform into a higher form of human.

No Title

It is hard to know what our negative qualities are, even as others perceive them clear as day.

Consciousness Responsibility

Shift from blaming others to taking responsibility. This is a laudable human movement that tends to evoke positive conditions, while aiding your growth as a person.

Now go a step further and take responsibility for problems caused by others; that you have NOTHING to do with. It is called "Consciousness Responsibility" by Karmayogi. It is a supramental movement as your subtle sense perceives your relationship to all things. That nothing is outside yourself. That you are the Reality. And as a result of that action - consecrated or otherwise - life responds overwhelmingly for any and all parties.

Example: I have just been hired on to lead the staff I have had no association with in the past. They have experienced failure and discontent. I will take super-responsibility by looking inward to move life in a positive direction for my staff. Eg I will intensely consecrate (open to the higher consciousness) and thereby loosen their failures that occurred before my arrival. I am thus taking Consciousness Responsibility for something I had little or nothing to do with. Now life can respond positively for all parties involved!

Reader: Lee Iacocca is one example.

Response: Yes, very true. He took responsibility for entire mess at Chrysler he had nothing to do with creating, and radically changed the organization, with great (life response) success.

Supramental Character

In 1969 Mother had the ongoing experience of the Supramental Person, the consciousness of the Superman; the Character/nature of this intermediary individual, which She says lies between the current human and the coming immortal, physically changed supramental being. This Personality's nature and atmosphere included-

- a Peaceful Joyfulness
 - a smiling Benevolence
 - Sweetness
 - Luminous, Radiant, filled with Light
 - supreme Power/Force
 - an immense Personality
- (all of these together at once)

Her experience of this descended supramental character in her being is described in detail in Agenda during the period of January 1 through February 1969.

On What Happens When We Leave in Rebirth Process

[after they die] Most people – the vast majority of people – go into a sort of assimilative sleep: all the experiences they had in their lives, all they learned, the consciousness seems to ruminate over that.

In the beginning the span of time between two lives [rebirths], is very long, and it's a sort of assimilative sleep in which the consequences of what one has learned develop inwardly. Then, as the psychic being is formed and as one grows more conscious, rebirths take place more and more closely, until the time when rebirth becomes the result of a choice: at a precise place, for a specific length of time.

And then, depending on what the psychic being wants to do, depending on the action it has to do, the new birth may be near or distant. There, we have all possible differences.

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 21, 1969)

No Title

Mother's Life is like being on a Magic Carpet Ride. Unpredictable, without certainty, yet infinitely joyful. Faith is the only thing you can truly hold onto, rely on. The miraculous, the continuous result.

No Title

Restraining yourself from speaking out (or writing about or otherwise communicating) what you desire; or better yet forgetting that intention, will tend to attract that very thing in short order, especially if it is a movement that is wholesome and for the good.

No Title

Western humiliation of the Russians after the end of the Cold War has turned Russia vindicate, as they seek the self-respect they were denied.

Reestablishing better relations based on mutual understanding of how they have abused one another in recent years is of vital importance to world stability, as well as their capacity to work together to help solve the world's problems.

No Title

If it comes to you, be open to it; even if you're not so inclined. Doing so will often bring very pleasant surprises!

No Title

The whole universe is inside you. Your inner - attitude, values; spiritual methods like non-reaction, taking the other person's point of view, waiting on life's initiatives, consecration, mental silence, deeper poise, etc. - determines the outer, as they are one and the same.

No Title

It is so easy to perceive what we think others are doing wrong. It's much more difficult to see our hand in it.

No Title

In supramental consciousness there is no separation between you, others, and the world.

No Title

Increasingly each day in our activities we can shift from self-absorption in self, in our own concerns alone (i.e. Selfishness, Ego, Separativeness) to the interests and concerns of others (Humility, Self-givingness, Harmony).

What a Transformed Society Would be Like

Each person has his own idea of what a divinized/transformed society/world would look like. I present here my vision of what that would be.

1. The traditional division between poor and the rich will disappear. Everybody will be uniformly rich.
2. There won't be illness, epidemics, natural disasters and wars that kill a lot of people.
3. Society will govern itself without the aid of police stations as there won't be any crimes like theft, murder and robbery and molestation of women etc.
4. Education will lose its present mental focus and instead will become an education fostering the development of one's soul and spiritual faculties.
5. People will marry not for the purpose of getting children. The main purpose of marriage would be to foster each other's spiritual development.
6. The various nations of the world will interact with each other in perfect harmony and so there won't be any great wars and genocidal attempts such as those that occurred in the past.

7. The Earth would be looked upon as Mother Earth and will be treated that way and violent environmental assaults that have occurred before in the past will be replaced by gentler approaches that are in harmony with Her ways of functioning.
8. The hold and sway of religions over humanity would have come to an end thereby putting a stop to worship at temples, churches and mosques. Instead we will find each man with a formed aspiration who seeks the Supreme in his own unique way.
9. The egoistic man will disappear and instead we will find the spiritual individual who seeks to express his own unique spiritual individuality that forms its own equations with the Supreme in a way that does not clash with the approaches of others.
10. Man's obsession with mere physical survival that has occupied so much of his valuable time will disappear leaving him with plenty of time to pursue his spiritual interests. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Insurrection, Revolution, Calamity, War

-With 90% of the wealth in the hands of 10% of the people, insurrection and revolution are almost inevitable.

-With 5000 nuclear bombs still in the hands of nuclear powers, nuclear exchange and tens of millions dead are very probable. Plus, bombs spreading to other nations, as they feel the need to defend themselves.

-With the selling/proliferation of military weapons amongst the nations continuing to accelerate, war of various types and intensities are in the cards.

-Without control of the global financial trading, greed will continue to assert itself creating stupendous cycles of boom and bust, that seriously threaten the economic well-being of all people on earth.

Though these are issues are not being seriously, collaboratively addressed by the world, there is hope. We see that there is increasing global corporation what it comes to the environment. Still these other issues remain of vital concern, and threaten the very survival of the human race.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo says that pain is usually the first sign of the awakening of consciousness.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo has indicated that the Evolution is the Inconscience of our lives and being coming out of its darkness from below, and the Superconscience descending from the transcendent into life from above, until they both meet and fuse. As a result, all the forms in nature become divine forms; and life becomes a divine life.

No Title

We take all that we have learned in past lives and utilize it to meet the challenges of this new birth; this new Adventure of Consciousness.

No Title

Memory binds us to the past. We must break beyond its karmic influence and embrace the New in the Now.

No Title

The inner flame of Aspiration for the Divine is the key to the Evolution.

No Title

Best not to say anything negative about another person. That way you gain inner power to affect them in a positive way.

No Title

Give up your insistence. Sentiments in this or other areas of life will soon move in your direction.

Buddha Attracts Right Candidate for the Throne

There is a wonderful scene in the 55-episode Indian reenactment of the life of Buddha.

At this point Siddhartha has grown up as prince, but then has left his father's kingdom in search of the end of human suffering, and has become the Enlightened one, the Buddha.

Time passes and there seems to be no legitimate candidates to take over for the current sickly King (Buddha's father), except one, his cousin, who is a completely evil individual.

And yet Buddha accepts in full this individual as the one legitimate candidate to ascend the throne; in essence, taking their point of view, the view of the King's cabinet; giving up any preference, and doing so without reservation and with complete serenity.

A minute later, Buddha's evil cousin appears on the scene, drunk; just back from the brothels. The current King's court sees this abomination and withdraws the cousin from succession to the throne. They then ask the Buddha what HE wants, and he proceeds to select an honorable man with the power to lead.

By fully taking the other man's point of view (that of the cabinet), and doing so in a detached, serene way, Buddha instantaneously attracts startling circumstance for himself and the entire kingdom.

No Title

In an act of Divine Intervention, as Its instrument, Gorbachev ended the Cold War, saving the world.

No Title

Each time we change, Mother smiles.

No Title

It is Appa's aspiration and initiative in consciousness that I become a Great Success in my senior years. If I reach a certain intensity of will in that inner effort, then I can fulfill His prophecy and dream.

Angulimala

Any person can completely change his nature at any moment, including this very second, and become the opposite of who he is. Even the most evil individual can quickly shift out of their demonic state and become an instrument of higher consciousness.

In the legend as shown in the recent 55-part series on the life of Buddha, Angulimala had become an evil murderer, chopping off the fingers of humans because of something that had taken place earlier in his life when he was a monk.

Now Buddha went to confront him in the forest. Angulimala was about to slay Buddha with a sword and cut off his fingers, when Buddha showed absolute fearlessness, and made Angulimala understand that he can change into a good person right now, on the spot, wiping away all of his past. Buddha reminded Angulimala that he had attained his evil status because of things that occurred in the past, and from that moment on could live a life of righteousness, goodness, and humility.

Then right before Buddha, Angulimala melted in his emotions, and suddenly changed, shifting from overwhelming hate to one of deep compassion and love for all. After all, love IS the flip side of hate.

Angulimala then took up residence as a monk in Buddha's spiritual community. In fact, Buddha said that because of his purity and intense compassion and goodness, Angulimala had become his favorite among all his followers.

Anyone can change from what he is to what he should become in an instant. It is simply a matter of becoming aware of the truth of one's being and life, and our choice that follows.

Reader: hank you Sir.

Similar incident can be seen in the film Les Miserable, where Jean Valjean's nature was wiped off completely by the priest who had shown him mercy despite he stole things from his place. He became a new man from that moment onwards.

Response: Great example.

Angulimala's story serves as an example that even the worst of people can undo the faults in their beings and return to the right path.

Biological Imperative and Beyond

Humans are dominated by biological imperative - mate, children, family, household, etc.; acquired from animal ancestry - from bird to ape. They are in one sense forms of social conformity, rooted in physical and vital biological need.

True individuality, on the other hand, is a product of mind that can extricate ourselves from biological imperative, to the opportunities of a wider and higher life, culminating in the spiritual, both universal and transcendent.

Change at Four Planes

The Physical consciousness, i.e. the body, does not want to change. It does not even want to move. It is determined by habit and the routine.

The Vital consciousness only wants to change when it feels like it. When it comes to change, the vital is up-and-down, willing and unwilling, desirous and indifferent.

The Mental consciousness is open to change, perceives the rationale, the logic behind it. Whether it will actually engage in change is another matter; depending on the pull of the other planes.

The Spirit loves to change, relishes it, thrills in its possibility and execution; just as it joy-filled in the current reality.

No Title

As soon as you strongly assert your position, advocating for your side, expressing your attachment, you delay or cancel the chance of it coming about.

No Title

A principle and its opposite can both be true. The Truth depends on the plane from which you are viewing it.

No Title

Non-reaction to someone's assertion of their position in support of their team brings victory to your side.

No Title

Buddha embracing the contradiction of the two sides of his being, of the positive and negative, brought him to Nirvana.

Don't Be in Conflict with Anyone or Anything.

Opposing, fighting, or struggling against anything or anyone in life causes conflict.

Conflict attracts more conflict; fighting against something attracts more things to fight against, and struggling attracts more things to struggle over.

Step away from conflict, because when you're in conflict with anyone or anything in life, it harms you.

(Rhonda Byrne, The Ten Secret Insights)

No Title

Ten years after she released the video and book 'The Secret,' Rhonda Byrne reveals what she feels are now her greatest insights on our ability to attract the miraculous. They seem to go far beyond her original conception of a decade ago in The Secret. Several are also quite similar to Life Response methods, which is also celebrating its 10th anniversary.

No Title

Stock exchanges are poisoning humanity, with their gambling casino mentality, shaking the foundations of global economic security. Their shocks, as in 2008, will keep repeating and accelerating, until man sees money as an instrument to serve human welfare, not as a toy to be manipulated for personal greed and gain.

No Title

Achievements begin and end inwardly. The outer is only an expression. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Yes, intention, willfulness, intensity, focus, attitude, values, perceptions, spirit, silence, et al, -- all inner - are what ultimately attract outer conditions that bring benefit, achievement.

No Title

Man unconsciously achieves slowly and after a very long time understands. Mother helps us achieve at once and reveals the understanding soon after. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Yes, this is very characteristic of the Supramental action.

No Title

[usual] Achievements arise out of a sense of deficiency. Great achievements are creative. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Eg Steve Jobs, Elon Musk, Garry Jacobs.

Predicting the Future Based on Subtle Signs of the Past

The subtle clues of what is going to take place in the future are always there in the events of the past. Therefore, if we pay close attention, we can fairly easily predict eventualities to come.

Example: two professional sports teams were matched against one another in the championship series. The first team to win four games would be declared the winner. That could happen in four, five, six, or seven games.

The year before, the local team was ahead three games to one and just needed one more victory to secure the championship. However, through a series of negative events, mainly caused by their own lack of consciousness, they lost the final three matches, and the opposing team won the series four games to three. The key moment was when the local team were ahead three games to one, and they lost their mental balance.

A year later the same two teams were matched up for the championship. After observing the behavior of the local team throughout the course of the year leading up to this second championship series, it seemed clear that the locals had risen in consciousness.

And so once again they were ahead three games to one, and many thought they would stumble once more. But this time, they won the fourth game, and therefore the series.

The key moment once again took place when they were ahead three games to one, but this time it was clear from the signs of their personal growth during the year that they would prevail, which they did.

Life had once again forced them to be in the three games to one situation, but now they could prevail in that same situation because of their inner growth in consciousness.

Thus, if we are keenly aware of the events we can perceive the subtle clues from the past that predict precisely what would happen in the future.

We can also see how life repeats, until the point where a new, higher consciousness is brought to bear, causing conditions in essentially the same situation to reverse.

No Title

Ultimately, we devotees are here not so much to worship Mother, but to Become Mother.

What he [Sri Aurobindo] saw was that the supramental Force would have enough influence on the various governments of the earth, of the nations, to permit hope for a harmony.

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 6, 1967)

Comment: It helped end the Cold War.

No Title

It is what you think and feel on the Inside that determines what opportunities or difficulties you will attract from out of nowhere on the outside.

India the World's 4th Fastest Growing Economy

At a time when India was virtually the poorest country in the world, Sri Aurobindo's and Karmayogi's seemingly impossible dream of Indian prosperity is now being fulfilled. No one thought it possible, but THEY did.

Now she can begin to fulfill her other predicted role: as Guru of the World. Human Unity and Supramental existence can then follow.

No Title

The American ethos is not to interfere in the making of money, even if it squashes people. It is sacrosanct. That is a point where the American society is beginning to fall apart.

Therefore, she needs to reverse from Money-oriented to Human-centric values in order to continue as world leader.

No Title

Note to myself: "No thinking, unless absolutely necessary."

No Title

When you make a resolution to change, life will quickly test you on it.

Gratitude toward Russia

The main political tragedy of our times has been the disrespecting of Russia after the end of the Cold War. It goes with another tragedy: the disrespecting of the contributions of the Russians to society's progress and evolution. She through her advocacy of Socialism, has brought all manner of social benefits to mankind; though ironically it has come through capitalism.

Eg America avoided revolution when the Great Depression took hold in the 1930s by adopting many of the social policies (New Deal, et al) advocated earlier by Marx, Trotsky and others. A stream of social benefits have come to America and the West through the portals that Russian thinkers opened to the world. We have little gratitude toward the Russians, remembering only the treachery of the police state of Stalin. However, we should look deeper in order to understand the great social benefits that have come our way.

At the end of the Cold War, there were still two great philosophies. In our Ignorance, we accepted one (Capitalism), without the other (Socialism). Karmayogi says socialism, i.e. social benefits-oriented society, is the future, though the form it takes is yet to be determined. We are right in the midst of this transition. The Great Financial Crisis of 2008, rooted in ruthless speculation and greed, may have been the turning point.

No Title

Lack of Patience creates psychological suffering.

View of Evil Individuals by Sri Aurobindo and Buddha

While under house arrest in Alipore jail by the British for alleged terrorism, Sri Aurobindo had a vision of all being manifestations of the Divine, including the murderer. ("It was there Sri Aurobindo saw the convicts, jailers, policemen, the prison bars, the trees, the judge, the lawyer etc., as Narayana. Sri Aurobindo saw compassion, honesty and charity in the hearts of murderers." -Karmayogi)

Likewise, Buddha felt deep compassion for all those around him, including those who sought to annihilate him. He felt that even the most evil individual can change from that point forward and move toward true Goodness, therefore it served no purpose to be in hateful opposition at the outset. He thereby lifted up many in darkness this way.

No Title

Every time I judge someone else, I reveal an unhealed part of myself. (Shawne Duperon)

Ignoring Gorbachev

It is very interesting that the man who single-handedly ended the Cold War, Michael Gorbachev, is reviled and ignored both in Russia and the West.

In Russia, he has pointed out the undemocratic, autocratic behavior of Putin and other governing bodies; while he has reprimanded the West for advocating "Triumphalism" of the West's victory over the Soviets, thereby excluding Russia from participating in major global issues and decisions in the world over the last 25 years.

One Negative Indicates Many Iterations

If we look a little deeper, we will see how a single negative situation opens the door to the possibility of multiple iterations of it. Eg-

-when one huge residential building burned down, killing dozens in London due to improper cladding, it quickly made the society aware of 100 other huge structures with the same problem in that city.

-when water was discovered to be contaminated in one mid-size city in Michigan, it was discovered that as many as 10,000 other cities in the USA had the same problem.

Thus, in a strange, ironic way the original event becomes a kind of blessing in disguise; i.e. a warning of how to make improvements before the iterations of the original negative circumstance turns into full-blown calamities.

New Age of Speed and the Emergence of Spiritual Mind

In the emerging business/organization world, SPEED is determining the future. Speed of insight, speed of choices and options, speed of decisions, speed of actions, speed of access to resources, speed of expansion, speed of movement, speed of reacting to change, speed of altering course, speed to team up and team down, etc.

With speed increasing exponentially as it is, the Mind's limited capacities to perceive and know are causing strains in consciousness. Thus Mind needs a higher form of itself:

- as Insight to coordinate and expand ideas
- as Light of knowledge, with solutions bursting forth as visualized understanding
- as Intuitions of knowledge entering the mind without thought
- as Revelations of Truth
- as Supramental Perception of the many-sided truth in a flash, accompanied by the full manifestation of its form in the material world.

We can learn to access these spiritual dimensions of Mind by shifting our center of awareness to a deeper poise within. Practicing non-reaction, taking the other person's point of view, and consecration makes this fully possible.

No Title

On the road to Transformation you catch every negative thought and emotion that arises inside, and cast it aside.

No Title

The truth of what is happening in any given moment is beyond the normal comprehension of mind. However, we can come to know that truth when we perceive the Subtle Indicators that are constantly revealing themselves.

No Title

Everything gets recycled in life, including us (through rebirth).

No Title

Over the last three decades, an unprecedented consolidation and concentration of earning power and wealth has made the top 1 percent of Americans immensely richer while middle class Americans have been increasingly impoverished. The two phenomena are deeply interconnected, which conventional theory fails to explain. (by Garry Jacobs - excerpted paraphrase of following article)

Silent Will

Refusing to give expression to what we want generates a greater power of accomplishment. That is the principle of Silent Will. But it is only one step in a continuum that starts with Desire and ends in Delight.

Silence of Speech -- Our Will is the will of the surface, limited, ignorant egoistic being. In the best of circumstances, it achieves a superficial goal -- a small accomplishment or petty pleasure -- and in the process, sets in motion a reaction from the Law of Karma. This is only the first step in accomplishment and spiritual progress. Yet how difficult it is merely to remain quiet and not express vocally what we want, what we believe, what we think!

Silence of Mind/Thought -- Next is to move from silence of Speech to Silence of Mind -- from not speaking to not thinking. The refusal to entertain a thought or wish evokes far greater power for accomplishment. It is still the will of ego that acts, but it is less subject to the ignorance of mind, since we suspend our thought regarding the action.

Detachment, Non-Reaction -- Next is the detachment from the egoistic desire, preference, reaction. Here we move concretely away from ego and away from mental preference toward a neutral status in which Life and Mother can act more freely in space vacated by ego. Always the response and result will be many times greater. The time required depends only on the degree and depth of our detachment at mental, vital and physical level. When the detachment is mental, you will see other people expressing your own thoughts or something far better with deep conviction. When the detachment is vital, you will see others enthusiastically embracing a far better solution. When the detachment is physical, the results issue instantaneously. The power of giving up preference and giving up reaction has to be seen to be believed. In my experience, it makes known opponents reverse themselves and offer intense support and even those who continue to oppose take actions that fulfill our greatest good.

Consecration -- Still there is one more step from neutrality to Consecration. When we reverse our egoistic surface will and transform it into a sincere aspiration for Mother's Will to be Done. Then She acts immediately and definitively to bring a result which is unimaginable. (Garry Jacobs)

Gossiping about Another Individual

-Gossip is popular mostly for the reason that one feels superior to the man about whom he gossips. He feels he is sitting in judgement over someone. Another reason is in passing on to others the vile acts of someone else, the speaker indulges his own low tastes.

-People who gossip about someone or something do not take them into consideration at all. They talk about them or these subjects what they like to talk. So, it is 'rational' to their imagination. No one takes the least effort to be factual, fair, or rational. Everyone tries their best to be wishful, fanciful, and satisfy their wildest imaginations (Karmayogi)

No Title

Consecrate every issue/problem that arises in the course of your day. Virtually everything will work out splendidly!

No Title

Let us not be so reactive, and respond calmly, peacefully, patiently to life's circumstance.

Beyond Our Part Knowledge of the Facts

We assume what we know of the matter are the actual facts, when often there is a huge gap there in our knowledge. Are we then interested in probing what is missing to get at all the salient details? And even further are we interested in getting at the deeper truths; at the underlying meaning and purpose in the facts that are trying to reveal themselves?

Negative Response to Consecration?

Question: Can you receive a negative Life Response to an act/situation that has been consecrated?

Answer: Here are some possibilities:

-when a person who could have practiced detachment and non-reaction instead got swept in the situation and were left only to consecrate while they will still disturbed. This can attract a negative situation.

-though a perceived negative came, it actually set up conditions for an even greater positive down the line.

-if we lack faith or assert My will (over Thy Will) be done that can attract a negative.

-sometimes you can consecrate intensely in one area, only to see a negative show up in an unrelated area. (Sets of negatives often come together at once, even though they are from unrelated areas.)

-one may be on the wrong side of an issue, and the consecration brings positive result for the other side.

-one is caught up in an egoistic movement, and the consecration evokes results opposite to what one intended.

-when the karmas of other parties or the general atmosphere are not supportive to your intention, a negative can come in return to the consecrated act.

-the incoming negative response is really an opportunity when we look a little deeper.

Reader: Ultimately it is always the situation of the consecration working in your favour (.I.e. in favour of the real you, the Psychic Being, Soul), the negative is always the face of an opportunity and/ or the activation of negative atmosphere to bring an higher positive result. If, in the "worst case scenario" (seemingly), the Ego takes a hit...the ego was meant to fall...this is still Divine action FOR the benefit of the devotee. There is no time that She does not act in our favour, such is Her nature...supremely, the Universal Mother is always for Her children, it can never be otherwise.

Response: Navin, thanks for that great insight.

No Title

Not reacting to an abusive leader's remarks and deeds - weather business manager, head of a nation, or other - has the cosmic power to dilute his/her effectivity. I have repeatedly seen this dynamic at work.

No Title

Withholding legitimate criticism causes the other party to soon act according to one's own wishes in that area. It is a form of "Silent Will."

No Title

Silicon Valley consciousness - start up values, individuality, entrepreneurship, creativity, risk-taking, failure-tolerant, change-the-future culture, et al - is spreading rapidly from California to cities and nations around the world.

No Title

The Great Transition is from doing things the human way to Mother's Way.

Living the Mother's Path

In this compendium of thoughts from the Supramental KnowledgeBase, a number of the keys for following the Path of the Mother are revealed. This knowledge is primarily for those who are followers/devotees of Sri Aurobindo and The Mother, though anyone can benefit.

I would like to thank the Mother's Service Society (entries marked "MSS") - especially Sri Karmayogi and N. Asokan - for providing much of the following material. Items with an unmarked author are written by myself. -Roy Posner

(downloading after opening this file can improve quality)

<https://1drv.ms/b/s!AjayTOYvR8hz9xltUfPef2DFNgu0>

No Title

From the perspective of the Psychic Being (evolving soul), there is no good or bad happening to you, but rather circumstance unfolding that are leading to your further progress.

Reader: Evidently, my freshman algebra teacher was not a Psychic Being. I progressed to taking the class over in Summer School in Jamaica H.S.

Response: Your soul perceived taking the course over was the necessary path to further your growth at that time.

Just like my failing [western] philosophy twice in a row at Syracuse U., as I was years later to become somewhat of a philosopher!

He/She works in mysterious ways, which the psychic being within winks at.

Psychic Being and Experience of Simultaneous Time In Film 'Arrival'

INTRO

Here we will explore the mystical meaning of the science fiction film 'Arrival', in terms of the notion of time (past, present, and future), and our capacity to perceive all time in the present by moving to a deeper consciousness.

SYNOPSIS

Arrival is a 2016 American science fiction film. It follows linguist Louise Banks, who is enlisted by the U.S. Army to help translate communications from one of several extraterrestrial craft that have appeared across the world. She must find out why they have arrived on Earth before tensions lead into war.

The movie begins with the arrival of 12 extraterrestrial spacecraft at various places in the world. Each country is trying in their own way to come to grips, to understand the purpose of the arrival of the gigantic alien vessels.

The United States has chosen Louise, a school teacher, as well as the physicist Ian for the mission to decipher the aliens' voice, and to interpret their purpose of arrival.

After arduous trial, Louise succeeds in making the first breakthrough by making the "heptapods" (the aliens) write on the screen. However, their language is in a strange format, in the form of circular symbols with no beginning and end.

As Louise is trying to understand their language, she starts to see the subtle images of a girl as well as many other things. Through those subtle images, she understands the heptapods language.

However, in the meantime all 12 countries shut down their communication system out of fear and global threat; plus, the US is also preparing to withdraw.

Louise manages to reach the spacecraft alone, meets the "heptapods" and finds that they have come here to help humanity by offering a means of going beyond time; i.e. reach a state of what could be called "simultaneous time" – i.e. the experience of past, present, and future experienced in the present moment. They also came because they knew they would need the help of humans help 3000 years from now.

They have chosen Louise to be the liaison with humanity in order for the countries to co-operate together in that mission. She would also be the conduit by which she could see into the future, which she does. Louise comes to know that all the subtle images she is seeing belong to the future plane as she comes to understand it, including her family life.

She also plays a vital role by calling to Chinese General Shang to stop the global war through the images of the future.

The movie ends by showing her family life several years later, with her daughter dying due to a rare disease; just as she had seen in her visions.

The movie also ends with the message that "Weapon opens Time". (It turns out that this is not a destructive weapon, but a term indicating something like a tool; though the nations mis-construe it or misinterpret the term and expression as a harmful thing.)

COMMENTS

As an analogy, I thought that the Weapon refers to our "Psychic Being," which is our evolving Soul, our True Self within. And one profound aspect of this Psychic element within us is that it knows our Present, Past and Future simultaneously. I.e. it enables us to be in a wider framework of Time, sometimes called "Simultaneous Time," where in any given moment we have the full access to the truths of the past, present, and future in the eternal Now; the ever-Present.

How then can we get in touch with our Psychic Being that has this experience of "Time"?

As we are immersed on the surface activities and ignorance, we cannot hear its clarion call, missing the messages that are emanating from the depths within us. Yet, at times we receive hints of the Psychic Being's workings; its influences and messages in our lives; its profound connection to our destiny.

How then can we more actively perceive the Psychic Being's intimation?

When we are intensely concentrating on a way to solve a problem, we can give up our reliance on Mind, including the ability to think. At such moments, - when we lost faith in our personal capacities, - the Psychic Being within us comes to the surface and whispers subtly to us, which we perceive in the form of a sudden idea or subtle vision.

In Arrival it was not clear whether Louise had that power naturally or through the aliens. I therefore thought of the following. Louise was running out of time to decipher the symbols of "heptapods," though she was trying earnestly.

At one point in time, she could not figure out anything more, and so she gave up on that approach. As a result, suddenly she started to see the images of a little girl (an image from future) and as a result, she started to perceive the meaning of current issues she had been struggling with.

In the beginning, the images came to help her to solve heptapods language and decipher its meaning. However, as the movie progressed, she eventually came to know about her own future life, including its purpose. (including deciphering heptapods language to make it known to the world, and as a result stop a potential global war.)

If reaching a dead-end with her mind to solve problems was one factor, what other traits in Louise's nature which helped her connect with the Psychic?

- One is probably her genuine willingness to try to understand and solve the issue,
- A second is her willing to never give up and try earnestly
- A third is her propensity not to think materialistically alone like others (who eg had thought of the aliens' arrival as a material threat).
- A fourth is that at one point, when she was not making any progress, she began to approach the problem from the alien's point of view (and as a result finally succeeded in making contact, causing them to communicate and write their concepts on the screen).
- Though her team and she were making progress in deciphering the language, one by one all the countries shut down their communication system. And yet she continually tried her very best to make all the countries collaborate.

Through these higher personal and spiritual methods, her Psychic Being came to the surface, compelling her to make a call to Chinese General Shang in the present that would reverberate into the future, when at that time his and then the other nations stood down from war.

One question that was puzzling from the movie is, why Louise had embraced her family life despite knowing the fact that what life was going to bring to her (her daughter's sickness) in the future. I understood from Garry Sir's Savitri lecture that Life is presenting the means for our progress in the best possible way, according to the state of consciousness we are in. It doesn't mean that there could not be any other better way.

For example, why Darcy had to go through a year of struggle to marry Elizabeth despite the fact he was introduced to her in the very beginning. It was because it came from the consciousness of Jane Austen, who had written the story 200 years ago, and that was her best possible way she imagined the transformation of a man like Darcy. What if that story had happened now? What if Darcy would have known about Life Response principles? The course of events could certainly have been different.

In other words, the Divine's plan is not carved in the stone. As we rise in consciousness, the Divine's plan changes in response to it, and we continue to evolve progressively because in essence we ARE the Divine; we are the author; we are the creators of our own story. It is our choice that matters.

So in the movie, could Louise have acted differently to save her daughter? Definitely yes; provided she followed higher spiritual values like Faith in the Divine, not relying on the known medical facts, past consecration, and so forth.

FURTHER THOUGHTS

- Why did the Heptapods use the term "Weapon"? Wouldn't they know they would use the nations to react?
- Perhaps the reasons they would die off in 3000 years is their ignorance indicated by their inability to use a non-threatening world, instead of Weapon.
- The Heptapods knew that the weapon would go off and that one of them would die as a result. They felt it was inevitable, which would teach the humans that one can know the future, which would help gain the trust of the humans, so they could help the heptapods in the distant future.
- (Consecration would overcome such inevitability – Destiny over Fate.)
- It is possible that they never meant "Weapon," and it was misinterpreted as such. That it was more like a tool, or system or other positive aspect.

(by Senthil Murugan, with additional thoughts by Roy Posner and Susan Lamkey)

(from July 1, 2017)

Key Methods of Attracting Sudden Good Fortune (Or Avoiding Negative Outcomes)

- increase levels of cleanliness and orderliness
- do not react to the intensities of others
- take the other person's point of view
- consecrate an upcoming act or event; or problem or situation
- take an important action rather than hesitate
- shift your attitude toward another away from the negative
- feel gratitude for what you have, instead of what you don't have
- shift from lying, deception, not being forthcoming, to being truthful
- take responsibility instead of blaming
- avoid complaining
- avoid cynicism and sarcasm
- remain positive, cheerful, optimistic in a difficult situation
- for nagging problems consecrate exactly at the top of the hour, every waking hour
- make the extra effort to complete something, or clarify, or create the intended outcome
- know when to proceed or recede based on the subtle signs
- embrace in life's requests initiatives, which always succeed and avoid your own initiative, which succeed less often
- clarify thoughts, ideas that are now unclear or confused.
- take responsibility for outcomes, rather than blaming or complaining
- examine your past fault in a matter and consecrate it (past consecration)
- avoid squandering, wasting resources
- move from surface perception to a need to want to know the actual truth
- do not have any ill will towards anyone
- well up good will inside, and send it to a deserved individual.
- get to the psychological cause of a physical illness, and overcome the negative quality in one's self.
- keep absolutely still in a difficult situation (detachment)
- take responsibility even when you are not responsible (super responsibility)
- use the spiritual Force to alter the conditions of the environment (from lacking rain, fires, floods, lack of electricity, etc.)

- shift from self to self-givingness
- catch any ego movement within
- speak softly in a low, soft voice
- reduce the amount of words you speak
- hold back from expressing one's opinions
- avoid saying anything negative about another person
- feel an intense aspiration for something to come about
- focus your actions and activities down to the essentials; focus on what is most important
- move from an active mind to when of stillness of thought; i.e. silence
- refrain from speaking out what one wants or believes, causing others to speak it out for you (silent will)
- show tolerance and patience when dealing with other people
- change any limiting quality of your being
- collect all funds due to you, payout all that you owe, and circulate money instead of hoarding it.
- avoid cheating and corruption of all kind
- shift from weakness to psychological strength
- make the extra effort; go the extra mile
- be still, without desire when important decisions are being made, when important outcomes are moving toward fruition
- don't over-anticipate an outcome
- don't celebrate prematurely; wait till the success has fully come
- listen first; speak second
- move your center of awareness away from the surface and to a deeper poise within to have the greatest insight and create the best solutions
- still the mind so that you are able to intuitive knowledge without even thinking.
- shift from fear to Faith
- shift from suspicion to trust
- identify the bad apples in a bunch and take the necessary action
- always make the right, higher consciousness crossroads decision
- don't rush to share your work, knowledge, success with others; let it simmer
- shift from conflict, contradiction to neutrality; or better yet to harmony
- don't assert your position; let it stand as once expressed
- see how life around you is expressing your consciousness within, positively and negatively; then avoid the negative aspects, while enhancing the positive ones
- avoid excessive energy-depleting activities
- organize (list, categorize, prioritize) the activities of your daily and longer-term life
- plan out and strategize, instead of merely jumping into action and doing
- consecrate any overpowering desire or negative attribute you identify in yourself
- maintain a generally positive attitude; i.e. be optimistic
- be sincere about your intent, rather than being facile
- identify the values you deeply believe in and figure out how to implement them in your daily life
- embrace change rather than resist it
- be still and consecrate every situation you find yourself in
- shift from unwillingness to willingness
- expand your horizons; don't limit yourself to what is comfortable

- change the habit and routine with something new and fresh; or do what you normally do with fresh perspective and energies
- respond positively to every opportunity coming in
- avoid ego movements of every kind
- perceive the soul of every person you engage with
- make sure you have all the facts, rather than assert our part or missing knowledge
- make a decision for improvement in a given area
- think of the other person and their needs first, yours second
- have faith that all will work out fine
- be open-minded and tolerant
- let go as necessary
- focus on your inner being, your soul, and observe the world, others from that poise
- when necessary, change your point of view
- focus on life response possibility (sudden good fortune), which will tend to attract it
- focus on giving rather than taking
- avoid giving to a person who is hostile towards you
- avoid recalling negatives of the past, lest you are suddenly compelled by life to relive them
- disappointment attracts more disappointment
- discover the truth about something, which can change your perspective
- go out of your way to help someone in need in your normal domain
- trust that things will work out well
- catch any negative thought or emotion, and cast it out
- shift your view from limited possibilities to limitless
- shift from pessimism to optimism
- avoid gossip of all types
- avoid interfering in others' lives
- have deep faith in higher power when things are critical
- accept, embrace the givens of life; that which life has put before you
- give greater attention to others
- give greater attention to objects, things

Garry Jacobs' Forward to Book 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response' by Roy Posner

All of us can recall some inexplicably wondrous moment in our lives when circumstances seemed to miraculously conspire for our advantage. Some call it luck or chance. Others name it fate, karma, fortune or the grace of God. No matter what we call it, wouldn't it be great if life would cooperate with us all of the time? That is the possibility offered by this book.

Life Response explains in crystal clear terms the true nature of our relationship with the world around us. It depicts life as a mirror. It tells us of the precise one-to-one correspondences between our inner consciousness and events in the world around us. It presents us with the secret code needed to decipher these correspondences. But even more importantly, it presents us with a set of inner keys for mastery over outer life -- it provides us with the remarkable knowledge of how to make life respond.

This is a marvelous book on a topic of extraordinary importance. It presents a knowledge that has been totally missed by modern materialistic science because it contradicts with conclusive evidence the scientific premise that the world around us is inanimate, unconscious, and totally disconnected with what we think and feel inside. This knowledge has also been largely ignored by spiritual traditions who in their quest for divine connection and immortality, sought liberation or escape from life in the world rather than earthly fulfillment.

Roy Posner has been studying the phenomenon of life for decades and meticulously gathering real-life evidence to document the validity of life response. His book is rich with real world personal experiences, as well as examples from biography, history and literature. Together, they provide overwhelming evidence that he is on to a profound truth of life.

Regardless of whether you are an entrepreneur trying to master the intricacies of the market, an aspiring artist seeking to create something unique, a teacher trying to inspire the youth of the world, an intellectual in quest of knowledge, or a householder striving to raise a happy and harmonious family -- this book offers a profound, invaluable knowledge for everyone. – Garry Jacobs (author of The Vital Corporation)

Startling Completion Dynamic that Leads to Perfection

When you have created a work, - such as a detailed article, or the steps of a procedure, or similar, - life will often send you an individual having to do with a completely different matter, that ends up revealing a single important point that was left out of the first work, thereby moving it to perfection.

Here's a true life example: A man made an extensive list of factors which can evoke instances of sudden good fortune; i.e. "Life Response." At the same time the man was having a detailed discussion with a woman on a completely different matter. In that discussion a key transformative method had been discussed.

Well, it turned out to be the single key life response method that the man had left out of his earlier list, thereby moving it closer to perfection!

Steve Jobs, Focus, and the Process of Creation

"Focusing on a very few things (to make them great) doesn't mean saying yes. It means saying no." (Steve Jobs)

Jobs here means focus on a few things and make them great, while putting aside all other matters.

We can explain it philosophically: There are three essential processes in creation - self-conception, self-limitation, and self-absorption. Self-Conception is to conceive what we want to achieve. Self-Limitation is to focus on that aim to the exclusion of all other things. Self-Absorption is to completely lose one's self in bringing about success in the work you have chosen, focused on.

Perfect outcome are the result. By following the triple Process of Creation, Jobs was able to produce such extraordinary results time and time again.

To Be Titled

Probing deeper and deeper into a matter progressively gets you to the essence of the truth. Being intuitively open delivers you there automatically.

To Be Titled

The intuitive mind is a sacred gift and the rational mind is a faithful servant. We have created a society that honors the servant and has forgotten the gift. (Albert Einstein)

To Be Titled

Analytic, systematic thinking need to be replaced by holistic thinking. The former captures pieces, fragments of the Truth, the latter their Essence and Integral Relationship.

To Be Titled

Mind falling into Silence opens the doorway for intuitions of knowledge; i.e. answers, solutions, essence, truth, et al entering the mind from out of nowhere, without the need to think.

To Be Titled

From the perspective of the Highest Consciousness EVERYTHING is Divine, even the undivine, as both move the world forward, whether through action or reaction.

Influence of Negative External

In addition to your own wrong attitudes - towards others, life, work, self, etc. - that attract negative conditions, you can also fall victim to negative External - such as others' ill-will, a poor surrounding atmosphere, and other wanting outer conditions. As a result of such influences, you can suddenly fall ill, feel angry, make mistakes, have accidents, etc.

Knowing the difference between the inner cause and the outer influence takes a subtle perceptive sense that comes with experience, knowledge, and spiritual growth.

Naturally, this inner and outer causality has its equivalent in the positive direction

To Be Titled

Sometimes you are required by life to have social or business relationships with individuals whose viewpoints you are at odds with. If you hold your opinions to yourself and act cordially, you'll get the best out of the relationship, up to the point where the differences may become too great.

On the American Election and Frustration with the Establishment

The American society has put its trust with an unstable political leader because it has been so frustrated with an out-of-touch establishment who have lorded over ever-increasing division between rich and poor/middle class, skewed income/wealth distribution, stagnant wages, unemployment, skills-gap, lack of savings and wealth, etc. that have all grown acutely over the last 25 years.

The first impulse has been to become isolationist with the slogan America First; when solutions to these acute problems actually depend on even GREATER cooperation, coordination and integration among the nations and global institutions of the world.

To Be Titled

Unstable rogue nations with nuclear bombs and delivery will continue to proliferate as a negative life response to non-reduction of US, Russian, and European and Asian stockpiles of atomic weaponry.

To Be Titled

Most of the problems in the world can easily be solved through greater harmony among nations. Eg the great Financial Crisis of 2008 was not so much due to lacking laws in the US, but to unregulated international speculation by the Japanese, Chinese, and Saudis, and others at the time. International cooperation and regulation could have prevented this very serious crisis, reminding us once more of Sri Aurobindo's famous dictum that "all problems in life are problems of harmony."

Reader: Global Society via collective IMF, World Bank, Central Bank coordinated global policy. Not sure which, but it is evident by shared post GFC policies in Western Democratic Countries like Canada, Australia, and NZ. (particularly post last US Fed Bank "Open Market Operations" in 2011). Screwed them all up btw.

Response: Good point. Global Institutions, like nations and other organizations must also evolve out of their limitations. I am also referring more to political, social, and cultural orgs like EU, UN, ASEAN, APEC, etc. - not just economic, - like eg a number of them in this list:

<http://www.un.org/depts/los/Links/IGO-links.htm>

Also new global organizations, that are more in tune with Human needs, will also emerge.

Perhaps even Global Governance, like a World Parliament can begin to form to legislate global solutions, whereas the problems are far too great for individual nations to solve.

And Global Society is rapidly emerging. Internet, entrepreneurship, individuality, startup culture, et al.

World Unity is progressively emerging from behind all conflicts.

To Be Titled

An Ignorant individual will defend his ignorance as Truth, even when a wide-range of well-informed individuals perceive the opposite.

To Be Titled

The best way to learn a subject is to Teach it. It not only forces you to become very familiar with its content, but you learn through unexpected student questions on matters that you hadn't addressed before.

To Be Titled

A rational, non-ideological individual readily shifts to the opposite view when his knowledge and experiences confirm it. The irrational, ideological person will change only when he is continuously pounded by life.

To Be Titled

Corporate focus on the bottom line, instead of People is further skewing the wealth distribution in the world. (from 10% to 5% or less of the population owning 90% of the global wealth). This may signal a gradual end to Capitalism, and a rapid movement toward a Human-centric economic system.

To Be Titled

Freedom and Fairness are made for one another in a harmonious society. In an un-harmonious environment - as we are increasingly experiencing now - these two laudable human Values are at odds with one another.

Reader: It's interesting to note the emphasis right now on job loss and AI/Robots and the need to reinvent the shareholder model. Mark Zuckerberg today discussed the benefit of Alaska's Energy Dividend - allowing all to benefit from resource wealth. Eion Musk seems to be of the same belief. However, existing leadership struggles with the need to share from their past belief in "Game of Thrones". Winter is thawing and summer is dawning with new think. "The irrational, ideological person will change only when he is continuously pounded by life."

To Be Titled

Proliferation of nuclear weapons among powerful nations is the greatest threat and danger to the world. Moreover, it lures other less-powerful nations into wanting the same.

To Be Titled

Depend on Mother/the Force alone at each moment, and your outcomes will always be splendid.

To Be Titled

Mother in 1969 Agenda called man's obsession with landing on the moon "childishness;" implying that our focus on getting to the physical/outer frontiers was but a trifle compared with discovering the Inner ones.

To Be Titled

As revealed in 1969 Agenda, the Mother discovered a plane of being where living devotees and deceased ones interacted with one another on a regular basis, carrying out mutual plans and projects.

To Be Titled

Through Deeper Consciousness, we perceive the Harmony in the apparent randomness and chaos of Life.

To Be Titled

Years ago, when meeting a customer in my sales effort, I would consecrate to Mother what was about to happen. The results were invariably miraculous-like.

To Be Titled

Emptiness, what is lacking is opportunity. What is completely empty is Infinite opportunity.

Perceiving the Whole Truth of Things

For one to truly perceive a matter, situation, idea, et al, one needs to have the capacity to see the whole of the truth of things being presented, including all aspects, missing none, with an intuitive capacity to discover that Totality.

Normal human logic on the other hand is to simply make linear deductions, and to be satisfied with pieces of the whole, with fragments, to come to any conclusion. Thus it is always missing the total Truth of Things, satisfied with the part, even a part that is itself false. Wrong strategies and actions invariably follow.

There is an inherent bias in our mind to pick out those facts, information, ideas, that are consistent with our own framework of belief and knowledge, rather than be open to new possibilities. That bias of Mind keeps us in the Ignorance.

To Be Titled

To think as much about what ISN'T there as compared to what IS, puts us in touch with, awakens us to Infinite Possibilities.

To Be Titled

Throughout Sri Aurobindo's teachings there is one essential element and theme: There is an ascending Aspiration of man for the Divine, and, as a result, a descending Grace, impacting, divinizing our lives. This is the basis of the Evolution and Transformation of the individual and humanity.

To Be Titled

We become conscious in the measure we are capable of overcoming our limitations and growing into something wider. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The Supermind is the gateway by which the Transcendent Divine manifests itself in Life. (Garry Jacobs)

Comment: In creation process, and through our lives

To Be Titled

When you take seriously a laughingstock - whether he/she is allegedly clumsy, foolish, stupid, handicapped, class or race prejudiced, etc. - the organization will quickly zoom to the top of its field, or accelerate beyond recent past success.

To Be Titled

Showing dignity toward those who have been the victims of unfair or unflattering ridicule attracts success for all parties.

To Be Titled

It takes less energy to Complain; more to restrain ourselves and dissolve that psychological anguish.

To Be Titled

Like all in the universe seen and unseen we have lost touch with the fact that all are manifestation of the transcendent Sat-Chit-Ananda; formations of that Being, Conscious-Force, and Bliss.

To Be Titled

Mother, through our collaboration, has come to permanently overcome disease, suffering, and death; replacing them with their divinized, supramentalized equivalent.

To Be Titled

The Divine, Mother may give us a great boon due to a method we practice that evokes Her Power. But to have it continue and expand, to repeat, etc. we will have to shift to something greater, to a higher consciousness; which means shedding a negative trait, or acquiring a new positive one.

In other words, for a one-time blessing to continue or repeat, we need to move to the next higher level. Then in tandem with a method, the psychological and material grace will be never-ending.

To Be Titled

Karma is not just the result of everything we physically do, but everything we think, and feel, and believe. It is child of all our past energies, - physical, vital, mental, and spiritual - in this life, as well as previous births; that meet and have a consequence in the now.

Thus, to change the future we have to overcome the momentum of past energies. We accomplish that by raising our consciousness to next higher levels.

To Be Titled

Mother did not come merely to give boons to her followers, but to permanently overcome darkness, ignorance, falsehood, suffering, disease, and death; replacing them with their supramental equivalents, leading to a divine life on earth.

To Be Titled

When the supramental force is evoked, it creates solutions and outcomes that work on many fronts simultaneously.

To Be Titled

When we open to Mother in difficult circumstance it creates results that affect each of the parties in different ways; in some, giving direct positive benefit; in others, revealing ways they ought to or have to change.

Change of Attitude Brings Instant Relief

A woman informed a man over the phone about some severe back pain that has immobilized her and forced her to take rest. When he asked for the reason, she could not say anything other than stating that she moved some plant pots in her garden.

On coming to know about her back pain the man's wife told the man that the woman had the habit of forcing her domestic maid to wipe the floor clean in her big meditation hall by bending down and wetting the floor with water and then later on wiping it with towel. The man's wife had earlier told the woman that mopping would be a much easier task to carry out instead of kneeling on the floor and wiping with hands. The latter would be a more difficult task which will cause more pain to the domestic maid involved. But the woman did not listen to this advice and insisted with the maid that she should continue to clean the floor in the old way. The man's wife said her back pain could be the karma for forcing this hard labor on the maid. The man conveyed this news to the woman. She saw the justice in what the man said and immediately reversed her stand on the issue and decided to tell her maid to do mopping from the next day.

The very next morning she woke up without feeling any back pain and was amazed by this life response. She communicated this to the man and he thought it would benefit many other individuals/devotees who have developed physical disorders through wrong attitudes. (N. Asokan, MSS, slightly modified)

To Be Titled

We think taking more will earn more, and it can; but earning more by Giving to a greater degree also creates wealth, but without the Dark side.

To Be Titled

Don't be burdened by the past; just learn from it in the present, and implement its lessons in the future.

Thoughts on the Nature of Problems

- Without problems there would be no progress.
- If there weren't any problems, most people would just stagnate.
- Problems are opportunities in the disguise of difficulties.
- From the Divine's perspective, there are no problems, just new opportunities unfolding.
- Higher Consciousness quickly turns problems into opportunities fulfilled.
- Through Supramental Force, the Mother, problems quickly dissolve; their shelf-life is minimal
- Normal life is an unfolding from problem to problem; whereas the Sunlit Path (constantly opening to Mother, the Force), the movement is mostly from positive to positive.
- Through Sunlit Path, culminating in Supramental Life, problems are constantly seen as opportunities, and regularly transmuted into positive results and progress.
- Problems reveal limits in our consciousness. They are therefore opportunities for personal and spiritual growth.
- Acting on a problem with right, higher consciousness evokes startling positive response (sudden good fortune) from life.

To Be Titled

As long as you long for something or take initiative to reach something, God comes to you as strangling hands. When the initiative ceases and turns inwards, life's touch is a caressing marvel. (Karmayogi)

Sri Karmayogi On Solving Problems Inwardly

[various extracted]

- Man has problems to solve as long as he does not understand. In the areas he understands, he ceases to perceive problems and strangely there will be no problems to perceive, i.e. the problems dissolve by the changed perception of man.
- Changed perception dissolves the problems in the mind; changed sense perceptions generate joy in the nerves; changed physical sensitivities bring about an inner and possibly outer transformations.
- When the aspiration for the Mother is greater than the anxiety to solve a problem, the problem dissolves.
- Anxiety and Mother are the lower and higher ends of your own inner consciousness, one that creates the problem and the other that can solve it.
- Man wants to solve problems; and creates more.
- The first condition to solve a problem is to forget it, the second is to turn to Mother. When one is happy to think of Mother, no problems can ever exist in one's life.
- Those whose problems remain unsolved are those who forget Mother and think of the problems. It develops the problems. They are unconscious about their forgetfulness. By calling Mother, problems will be solved.
- Each problem that we face brings to us a certain truth hidden by falsehood. We must seek the Truth behind the appearance. That Truth will be found inside us as it is a universal Truth. The problem will not be there once it is seen.
- Problems will cease if one does not stop growing is a rule of life. Problems become universal opportunities when one begins to grow in his being.
- Receding problems is rising faith.

To Be Titled

For each problem that arises, shift from trying to solve the problem to Mother. The problem will get resolved and/or new opportunities, benefits will arise.

Beyond the Habit of Death toward Willed Immortality

- Death is not a law. It is only an ancient habit - meaning it is not inevitable or necessary - and therefore can be overcome.
- Now death serves a purpose; namely for our progress, as that limitation compels us to act and change within the strictures of time.
- We are reborn to further that progress.
- Thus death serves as a process of life; a process of progress.
- However, we are not bound to that habit; even that process. We can alter that process in a continuous single life.
- We can do so through intense evolution of conscious, including at the material level.
- We can use supramental power to sustain unending progress in a single, continuous life.
- The very cells of the body can be trained to cease its decay through that divine power; overcoming its habitual nature of disease and decay.
- Even the organs and other structures of the body can reconstitute itself and evolve into higher formations of itself.
- Mother fully engaged in this radical transformation of willed unending life, and made startling progress.
- Now we can take up where she left off. We can make small experiments. Many devotees have seen startling results.
- However, the true supramental change requires a descent of some divine individual to help us forward; to come with a supramentalized body that we can begin to emulate.
- Mother had many visions and direct material experiences of what that being is like; both in physical nature and character.

Change of Behavior in One Area Attracts Startling Revelation in Another

One of the profound dynamics of the Life Response phenomenon is that if you change your behavior in one area of your life, it can attract startling results that resolves a great issue or problem in another. This is magnificently portrayed in the recent Indian film 'Lion,' a true story about an orphaned Indian boy and his quest to reunite with his birth family. Here's the story:

In 1986, Saroo, a five-year-old boy lives with his elder brother Guddu, his mother and his younger sister in Khandwa, India. Guddu and Saroo sometimes steal coal from freight trains to trade for milk and food so the family can survive.

One day Saroo follows his older brother to a job and they arrive at a nearby train station, where Saroo decides to stay back and take a nap. Guddu tries to wake him up, but Saroo is too tired. When Guddu does not return, Saroo searches for him and boards a train presuming Guddu is aboard. Saroo falls asleep again in one of the compartments, and wakes up to find the train in which he was sleeping in motion.

After several days, the train arrives in faraway Calcutta, 1200 kilometers to the east, where he does not understand the local Bengali language. (he speaks Hindi) Saroo then stands at a ticket counter and tries to obtain a ticket home, but the attendant does not recognize the name of his village, which Saroo says is "Ginestlay." He spends the night in the station with some street-children, but is then woken up and forced to run when a group of men try to kidnap them.

Saroo continues to wander around the city before coming across Noor, a seemingly friendly woman who brings him back to her apartment. She tells Saroo that a man, Rama, will help him find his way home. However, Saroo, sensing that Noor and Rama may have sinister intentions, runs away.

After two months of living near the Howrah Bridge in Calcutta, Saroo is taken to the police by a young man. Unable to trace his family, they put him in an orphanage. Three months later, Saroo is introduced to Mrs. Sood, who tells him she has placed an advertisement about him in several local newspapers, but no one has responded. She then tells him that an Australian couple is interested in adopting him. Mrs. Sood then begins to teach Saroo English. Saroo now moves to Hobart, Tasmania (an island state of Australia) under the care of Sue and John Brierley where he slowly settles in. A year later, the couple adopt another boy, Mantosh, who has trouble adjusting to his new home and suffers from rage and self-harm.

Twenty years later, Saroo, now a young man, moves to Melbourne to study hotel management. He starts a romantic relationship with Lucy, an American student. During a meal with some Indian friends at their home, he comes across jalebi, a delicacy he remembers from his childhood. He confides that he is adopted, and his friends suggest he use Google Earth to search for his hometown in India. Saroo then begins his search to discover his Indian origins and family. However, in that process, he disconnects from Lucy, as he is overwhelmed by the thought of the emotions his family in India must have gone through while he was missing.

Now comes the part of the story that shows the power of Life Response; i.e. the capacity to evoke good fortune from out of nowhere.

Even though Saroo and Lisa have separated, she urges him to bond with his foster mother Sue, whom he has been estranged with due to his repulsion to her dedication toward her autistic adopted other son. Saroo then visits Sue, whose health is deteriorating, and learns that she is not infertile, but had chosen to help others in need through adoption, believing that there were already too many people on earth. As a result of this meeting, he drops his resentment toward her and the two bond as never before.

We know such shifts in consciousness from resentment and anguish to goodwill and harmony portend a great opening and response from life. And that is exactly what soon happens.

After a long period of fruitlessly searching for his hometown, now, after this meeting with Sue, Saroo decides to use Google Earth to locate his roots. He then suddenly and most intuitively zooms into an area that seems familiar. He then notices a region of rock formations where his biological mother worked; and then further zooms in and discovers the tiny village where he lived: in the "Ganesh Talai" neighborhood of the Khandwa district. This is his hometown area that he was calling "Ginestlay" since he went on his train misadventure as a child.

Discovering the exact location, Saroo journeys back to his hometown in India, where he has an emotional reunion with his biological mother and sister, though he also learns that Guddu was killed by a train the same night that they went to the station as children. It turns out that Saroo's mother never gave up hope and believed that one day her missing son would return, and therefore never moved away from the village.

The instance of sudden good fortune ("Life Response") took shape in the form of the quick discovery of his family's whereabouts by intuitively discovering his roots 1200 kilometers east of Calcutta. And yet what enabled that response from life to occur was his earlier shift from antagonism towards his foster mother to re-bonding with her, and feeling deep affection for the woman who raised him for the last 20+ years. That shift in consciousness created an opening in Saroo's being that would soon enable him to intuitively discover the whereabouts of his family's location.

Life had responded overwhelming to his shift in consciousness to the positive. Then all that followed unfolded like a miracle.

[thanks to Wikipedia]

Comment: from Senthil Murugan)

Thank you Sir for nicely capturing the story, I just watched the movie.

Saroo had used all his mental efforts, focus and tried to locate his hometown. Day by day his focus, as well as his emotions, got intensified, yet he could not locate his hometown. When he had met up with her foster Mother Sue and understood about her point of view and the truth behind wiped out all his negative feelings towards her and his brother. Due to that, he almost wanted to give up his mental efforts (i.e. search). When he was browsing on his computer without any aim, life suddenly out of blue had shown the rock formation and the rest was history.

The next day when Sue visited and saw all his efforts, he confided in her that he didn't want to share them earlier as not to hurt her feelings. Probably that was the psychological blockage that had prevented him from finding his hometown despite his mental and emotional efforts. When he was in alignment with her Mother's view and also with life, it overwhelmed his psychological blockage and then life had revealed the answer for his search instantaneously.

Response: In summary we can say that if your shift from ill-will toward someone close to you to understanding and even goodwill, good fortune can suddenly come your way, and your life can suddenly turn around, as was the case here.

To Be Titled

Withhold an opinion and its truth value will silently spread. Express it boldly and it will soon meet with opposition.

To Be Titled

The more you think about, worry about a problem, the worse it will get. Best to practice "non-reaction," and offer the matter to the Higher Power, the Mother. All will then work out for the best, as it should.

To Be Titled

If only our eyes are open to those processes, clues and keys, the year 2500 A.D. can be Now. Poverty, disease, illiteracy, tension, discord, problems can vanish in 5 or 10 years from the face of the earth. (Karmayogi)

Life Response: Confirmation from the World of Science

Now that we know that life response is a real phenomenon of life, and it is based on a fundamental oneness between the inner and the outer, several other issues suggest themselves. For example, though we have identified the mechanics behind this miraculouslike event, we have not yet identified the force or power that enables it to happen: i.e. the substance that binds the inner person and the outer world. Second, we still do not know why a particular object or individual -- in this case, my agent -- suddenly appears on the scene and works on my behalf. Why not someone else; or no one at all? Finally, we do not know why this individual or object brings me good fortune. Why not something neutral, or even negative?

Surprisingly, recent developments in the world of science may shed some light on these issues. Extraordinary findings in the field of quantum physics -- i.e. the study of the very small -- confirm that there can be an instantaneous connection between physical objects that are extremely far apart. For example, for over half a century scientists have known that a shift in the "spin" of an electron of an atom can instantly affect the spin of another electron of that same atom even if the two particles are on opposite sides of the world -- or the other end of the galaxy! Like the principle of inner-outer correspondence, the phenomenon of "non-local connections" between objects corroborates the fact that there is an extraordinary, super-subtle relationship between objects, defying our commonly held beliefs about what is possible; of how cause and effect interrelate; and the nature of space and time.

The difference, however, is that whereas the scientific view of non-local connections indicates that changes in material properties -- like the spin of atoms -- can affect related properties of objects thousands of miles away, the principle of inner-outer correspondence extends that to include non-material changes as well, including variations and fluctuations in our feelings, emotions, attitudes, thoughts, and beliefs. Thus, if I change my emotions and attitude here, it can instantaneously connect with and attract good fortune from another object or individual from anywhere on earth.

(Excerpt from book 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response' by Roy Posner)

To Be Titled

A truly conscious person will tend to be, aim to be the last person to speak.

To Be Titled

We are so happy when Mother works for us, gives to us; but not so happy and motivated to work for Her; i.e. to change our nature and become what we should become.

To Be Titled

All of Nature (Prakriti) is organized to habituate the past, to repeat all things, to perpetuate the unconsciousness of life. And yet the divine Mother has come to change that entire machinery; to convert this mechanical Nature into the Conscious-Force of the Supreme; to manifest a Life Divine on Earth.

From Our Mechanical to Our Spiritual Nature

Just as Nature/Life is machine-like, habitual, and mechanical in its functioning, so too is Human Nature. We act similarly: whether in our thoughts that are mechanical and repetitious, in our emotions that are limited and the same, or in our life energies, where we repeat in the same rounds of behavior and action. This is the case because we are products of Nature/Life, and share in those same limitations.

That is why the first thing we must do to rise out of this fixed, habitual existence is to become more Conscious. We do that by shifting away from the surface of life, where we are concentrated in satisfying our ego and indulging our Ignorance, and detach from that nature, moving to a deeper poise within where we discover our soul.

From that deepest depths we then call down the Higher Force of the divine Mother, setting us free from the mechanical, habitual, repeating influences, opening us to a vast, wider existence that is spiritual, supramental in nature.

After Sri Aurobindo Left and Mother

He [Sri Aurobindo] didn't leave the work [after his passing], you understand; he has never left me, never left the work. The amount of supramental force he had accumulated in his body he passed on to me – and I received it. The rest went into the subtle physical, where he has done the whole work. And he said, "I will take on a body again only when it is a supramental body."

(Mother, from Agenda, August 27, 1969)

To Be Titled

The true nature of the universe comes to us through values; especially spiritual ones.

To Be Titled

We enjoy agreeing with ourselves, while steadfastly being skeptical of others' opinions. It is another form of the irrepressible, separative Ego at play.

Statistics and Truth

[My reply comment on how statistics can help bring out the objective truth of things, as demonstrated in the film Moneyball, which is based on true-life events.]

Yes, this wonderful movie in one sense addresses the question of what is the Truth of things. Facts can help in a very subjective environment, especially where there are inherent biases/prejudices. We could even say that the statistics orientation is an attempt to take the supramental view, where all facts/information gather together to reveal the true Truth of things, which when reached evoke sudden good fortune, as clearly witnessed in the true life events portrayed here.

To Be Titled

We think we can only affect the local area immediately around us, however through Mother and Her Force we can affect a vast segment of society instantaneously.

To Be Titled

Supramental Insight resolves the contradiction/conflict, as it perceives the integral higher harmony and resolution behind, while manifesting it as real in the world.

To Be Titled

By and large, in recent years, USA does not seem to have responded to Mother; though California has. Will it one day spread throughout the remainder of the country? (as it has in India, especially in the south)

Negative Expressions on Facebook

Among the negative vibrations we indulge in on Facebook are envy and jealousy, self-indulgence and narcissism, resentfulness and vindictiveness, spreading of falsehoods, needless gossiping, need to argue and debate; addictive behavior, need for social stimulation, conformity, low self-esteem, and reality avoidance. Most of these are Ego movements; i.e. expressions of separative consciousness.

As we use this powerful tool, we should contemplate what our motives and feelings are at any given moment; shedding the negative ones, and propping up the positive (which are their opposite).

To Be Titled

We may be victims of an unfair economic system, but we are also victims of our own ignorance and unwillingness to change.

To Be Titled

Intense internal division attracts powerful external forces of Darkness; whether in a nation or any other institution or collective.

To Be Titled

Sudden successes come through corresponding shifts to the positive in our attitude, intention, decision, and action.

To Be Titled

A force that holds on too long can retard the organization; even one that is beloved. As soon as he/it leaves, the institution tends to suddenly boom or otherwise meet with great success.

To Be Titled

Go as deep within as you can (concentration) and then call to, rely on Mother from there (consecration). Life will become a marvel.

Mother's View of Rock, Pop Music

[Mother, on listening to the rock and pop music of the late 1960's]

"It opens a lot of doors. All habits, the whole past civilization is as if walled in by mental rules; this music (gesture of breaking through) sends them flying! It strikes me as a band of children crying for something-and the open door.

They must step through it, they must go farther – there are now possibilities that weren't there before, and this [the pop music people] is precisely all that wants to open up so as to receive those possibilities. So a few in the front must be the first to go through and receive what's on the other side."

(from Agenda, April 16, 1969]

Reader: Some may have like the Beatles.

Response: Yes, groups like (early) Moody Blues, Yes, Incredible String Band, Donovan, and others explored the spiritual side of life quite seriously. There was also thereafter the birth of New Age music, world music, etc. that followed that has perhaps an even more direct connection. Indian influence was there in most of these, guiding them forward.

Reader: I am a huge fan of New Age music. It's also a reaction to some of the disharmonious material that rock had degenerated into over time, like death metal, which is even Asuric. I read recently that the surviving Beatles moved to clarify that the Maharishi was not involved in any wrongdoing around the time of their falling out. They have been funding meditation initiatives with TM as well. George Harrison struck me as very spiritually aware person as far back as his early days in music; his early interviews reveal remarkable clarity and insight.

To Be Titled

One must be able to stand in the light of the Supreme Consciousness without casting a shadow. (The Mother)

Comment: When our nature is purified and perfected, this is increasingly made possible.

King Aswapathy's Discovery of Soul in Savitri

[Sri Aurobindo's experience of the discovery of the Soul within, and the clear knowledge that comes to one there, as expressed by King Aswapathy (His namesake) in His epic poem Savitri]

"This knowledge first he had of time-born men,

Admitted through a curtain of bright mind

That hangs between our thought and absolute sight,

He found the occult cave, the mystic door

Near to the well of vision in the soul,
And entered where the Wings of Glory brood
In the sunlit space where all is for ever known."
(Savitri by Sri Aurobindo, Book One, Canto V)

Truth and India's Role in the World

--There is only one country in the world that knows that there is only one Truth to which everything should be turned, and that is India. Other countries have forgotten this, but in India it is ingrained in the people, and one day it will come out.

--We must all recognize this and work for this. India is the cradle of the Truth and will lead the world to Truth. India will find its real place in the world when it realizes this.

(the Mother, from Agenda, April 19, 1969)

To Be Titled

Each wrong decision we make not only has immediate consequences, but causes Life to re-present the same or similar situation down the line with an opportunity to redeem ourselves.

To Be Titled

Lest we forget: no time in history did more people come out of poverty than in the last 10-20 years. Over 1 billion in China and India alone. Vast numbers of good jobs were created throughout the world. Also, crime and violence is down nearly 98% since World War II, and 75% even in the last 10 years. Democracies are now in 90%+ of the governments, compared to 50% 20 years ago. Also the world has become fully awake about the problems of the environment, are very rapidly implementing new forms of energy, et al. Also hundreds of global associations of all sorts are helping to bring the world together in greater economic and social harmony. There are thus many positive developments unfolding throughout the world, amidst the obvious problems.

Comment: Yes, sensitivity towards suffering has been progressively increasing in the world. In that sense, we are very gradually developing Buddha consciousness.

To Be Titled

A Supramental gnostic individual will be a Spiritual Person, but not a personality, in the sense of a pattern of being marked out by a settled combination of fixed qualities, a determined character; he cannot be that since he is a conscious expression of the Universal and the Transcendent. (Sri Aurobindo, from Evening Talks)

thanks to S

To Be Titled

"She's the greatest writer of dialogue in the English language," said Prof Mullan. ... "In reality, she doesn't bother describing the dresses or the houses or what people look like - she's only interested in the psychology, not the image."

Comment: "Although apparently a simple story of romance, Pride & Prejudice contains profound insights into human character and personality, society, social evolution and the character of life itself." (MSS)

Read more here, at Mother's Service Society:

<http://www.motherservice.org/.../introduction-pride-and...>

To Be Titled

When the truth of what to do, and what not to do constantly appears in your mind as intuitions of thought without thinking, then you know you are on a spiritual path.

Guru as Enlightened Being, Not Just Teacher

The Guru is not a "teacher". The Guru is one who is "enlightened," who is a seer, a Rishi, one who has the vision of and has lived the Truth. He has, thus, the knowledge of the goal of human life and has learnt true values in life by living the truth. He can impart both these to the willing seeker.

(Sri Aurobindo, from Evening Talks)

Comment: Yes, one who experiences the true nature of the Divine Reality, of the Spirit within and without, and can then therefore pass that knowledge on. Spiritual experience is first and foremost; then the spreading of the word when others seek it out.

To Be Titled

If you fully accept in your thoughts and emotions the harsh reality of others doing things in a way different from your own view, events are likely to unfold in ways that will prove or improve on your original position.

To Be Titled

If you have a relationship with Sri Aurobindo Ashram, including your linking to their or their centers' or affiliates' Facebook posts; or if you regularly attend Indian temples of any sort, please consider unfriending me. Thanks. –Roy

China Difficulties and South Asia Markets

While USA Tech and other firms are concerned about their inability to sell their technologies (software and hardware) into China due to censorship, they should keep in mind that the greater South Asia market, which is freer, is now 1.8 billion, the largest populated area in the world, and will be 2.3 billion in 25 years. For USA it is a golden opportunity.

New Paradigm of Human Existence

"A new paradigm in human development must be based on a different type of thinking."

Mind and civilization have evolved in tandem since the dawn of humanity. New discoveries, inventions, ways of life and forms of knowledge arose with the evolution of humanity's capacity for observation, imitation, symbolic thinking, intuition, logic, organization, analytic, quantitative and systems thinking. The development of these mental powers has given rise to an endless stream of new tools, art forms, symbols, oral and written languages, inventions, social organizations, ideas and beliefs, religious and spiritual experiences, economic and political systems, educational and scientific endeavors.

In spite of these monumental achievements, humanity confronts persistent and seemingly insoluble existential threats that arise from the prevailing mental monoculture of mechanistic, reductionist, materialistic, analytic thinking.

These challenges call for rediscovery of long neglected mental powers and the quest for more holistic, organic and integral ways of knowing capable of comprehending the growing complexity of life in the 21st century.

(Garry Jacobs, Cadmus Journal, World University Consortium - WUC)

Mental and Spiritual Views

-The Mental view cannot know the spiritual, yet the spiritual can perceive why the mental takes its view.

-The Spiritual view is true at the highest level. At the mental level it has no foundation of logic.

To Be Titled

The existence we experience around and within us is the Divine Reality in physical, vital, and mental form.

To Be Titled

Mother has come to awaken the Soul in man so he can open above to the Light Supreme, and bring down the Higher Consciousness, the Divine Love here on earth. (Garry Jacobs, from talks on Savitri)

To Be Titled

Desire is an impulse that overtakes us that we cannot control. Controlling or negating such desire sets us free from the shackles of Nature.

To Be Titled

Each soul has taken birth for the Joy of higher Consciousness in time. (Garry Jacobs)

Process of Passing through Negative State to Attain their Opposite

To create the maximum intensity of Divinity in life, the Divine has presented its exact opposite, - including ignorance, suffering, and pain. By overcoming these we release in intensity of positive energy that enables their opposite - as knowledge and joy and bliss.

We can see this in our own life, when we perceive how much progress we have made as a result of all the difficulties we have passed through. How much happier we are; how much stronger we are; how much more conscious and wiser we are as a result of negotiating these difficulties.

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The great moral concept of Shaw, 'The harm the good man does' needs its complement, 'The good the evil man does'. (Karmayogi)

thanks to S

To Be Titled

The higher consciousness individual is not here merely to solve a problem, but to acquire the inner knowledge that easily resolves that same problem whenever it arises.

To Be Titled

Thy will be done, Not my will

Comment: I.e. when you ask Mother to help you on an issue, let it be resolved in the way She wishes, not in the way you want, which only diminishes the outcome.

To Be Titled

Man normally succeeds by struggling against the myriad of forces at play; often having to swim against the tide to succeed. The Devotee, on the other hand, can be carried along by currents Mother has set in motion; taking him directly to the goal She has intended.

To Be Titled

Normal, i.e. egoistic man wants to own his success exclusively; keeping others at bay. Universal man thoroughly enjoys when his success spreads to others. Supramental man automatically creates success for the collective, and all involved delight in it.

To Be Titled

People are more affected by your insight when it is backed by your personal experience than when you merely state it.

An Introduction to China

"Should China see the wisdom of creating an Asian Union along the lines of EU and promote Asian currency, she has a great opportunity to play in the affairs of the world in this century."
(Karmayogi)

Above quote is an excerpt from the following article comparing China and India, with emphasis on China's great positive qualities as well as her limitations; written by Karmayogi:

<http://www.karmayogi.net/?q=introductiontochina>

The Divine's Aspiration in the Universe

We think of the Spiritual Quest as Man seeking God, the Divine. However, from another perspective, the ultimate quest is the Unknown seeking Itself in time through forms it has manifest. I.e. it is the Divine's aspiration for fulfilling Its intention in the universe.

What is the Divine's intention in the universe? No one seems to have ever addressed this question adequately ... except for Sri Aurobindo, who indicates that the purpose of existence is to manifest a Divine Life. That the world has been created by the Divine in order to manifest Itself in the forms of Its creation.

(Paraphrase of Garry Jacobs, Talks on Savitri)

TALKS ON SAVITRI - by Garry Jacobs

Garry has so far given five 2+ hour presentation talks on Sri Aurobindo's epic 700-page mystical poem 'Savitri'. The talks are chock full of profound new insights on the nature of reality, the quest for immortality; as well as a myriad of practical suggestions for uplifting our lives. Click/tap on the link to see a listing of each of the presentations. For each you can select either audio alone, or audio with video (recommended). Please note that the first talk is called "An Introductory Lecture on Savitri"

<http://www.karmayogi.net/?q=webex-conference-downloads>

Here is Sri Aurobindo's Authors Note that introduces the 22,000 line poem.

"The tale of Satyavan and Savitri is recited in the Mahabharata as a story of conjugal love conquering death. But the legend is, as shown by many features of the human tale, one of the many symbolic myths of the Vedic cycle-

--Satyavan is the soul carrying the divine truth of being within itself but descended into the grip of death and ignorance:

--Savitri is the Divine Word, daughter of the Sun, goddess of the supreme Truth who comes down and is born to save:

-Aswapati, the Lord of the Horse, her human father, is the Lord of Tapasya, the concentrated energy of spiritual endeavour that helps us to rise from the mortal to the immortal planes:

-Dyumatsena, Lord of the shining Hosts, father of Satyavan, is the Divine Mind here fallen blind, losing its celestial kingdom of vision, and through that loss it's kingdom of glory.

Still this is not a mere allegory, the characters are not personified qualities, but incarnations of emanations of living and conscious forces with whom we can enter into concrete touch and they take human bodies in order to help man and show him the way from his mortal state to a divine consciousness and immortal life."

To Be Titled

A SUMMARY OF SRI AUROBINDO'S EPIC POEM SAVITRI - by Jyotipriya (Dr. Judith Tyberg)

http://dhavalpurohit.weebly.com/.../savitri_summary_sir_aurob...

Reader: Her life story is inspiring.

Response: -Yes, truly remarkable. Because of Jyoti and her disciple I was introduced to Garry, Appa, et al. in Spring of 1976. My life changed forever.

-That year her friends and devotees did the yearly performance of Savitri at the East-West Center in LA. I controlled Sunil's music to coordinate with the scenes, and played a luminous God.

-Mother requested Jyoti (an American) to open up the US to Sri Aurobindo's thought. She was a brilliant Sanskrit scholar, especially as she meshed it with His thought.

Reader: I still remember the part where she stood in court with the Mother's flower packet.

To Be Titled

Continuous stupidity or foolishness expressed over time will attract a series of harsh negative conditions.

To Be Titled

Even a small insult of another, or a thing, or an idea will quickly attract back negatively.

To Be Titled

The more you criticize, and do so without any appreciation, the worse things will get for you in that area or elsewhere.

Getting Back in the Game by Embracing the Seemingly Insignificant

If you are not "in the game" - such as not being called on to work on a project, or scheduled to do any training classes, - a minor issue or problem may soon arise that one may tend to ignore, as you have these other more pressing issues to address.

And yet if you take up this seemingly insignificant activity, you may find that life suddenly opens up with new opportunities, putting you right back in the game!

Thus, be vigilant of and never ignore the small situation that comes to your attention, because this seemingly insignificant finite can quickly open the portals of infinite success.

To Be Titled

Opinions are not outcomes, but conjectures and projections about them, supported by our prejudices and limited experiences.

To Be Titled

Expressed opinions circulate; unexpressed opinions rule. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Accumulated knowledge before the other side is known, is after all a bundle of opinions. Mistake not opinions for knowledge. (Karmayogi)

Opinions and Attitudes

In subtle vision, opinions appear like needles. In the atmosphere, millions of such needles exist presiding over man's daily life, says the Divine Mother. If you ever tried to acquire open-mindedness and tried to shake off a preconceived notion, which is an opinion, you will appreciate the difficulty of getting rid of an opinion. After all your efforts, you will see that the opinion prevails. It would have implemented itself.

Attitudes are more powerful than opinions. An attitude is born when an opinion is endorsed by emotions. Some attitudes are, 1) I must stand on my own legs, 2) I must honour my professional status, 3) No one should speak ill of me. These attitudes are powerful forces that decide one's accomplishment.

When we come to the Spirit, it exists in a plane far beyond the realms of opinions and attitudes. Motives are of the whole being and include attitudes and opinions. Between a man who is incapable of opinions and one of strong opinions, the latter achieves more. He who has the attitude of standing on his own legs, of course, will achieve more than one who is unable to be independent.

The Spirit in its own realms is beyond opinions, attitudes and motives. The one motive of the yogi is to attain to moksha. While it is common to work for one's success or his family's progress, I wish we accept one motive in life: to seek one's progress by the Spirit emerging in life. Let that be one's motive or attitude. At least, let us acquire the opinion that greater progress is in store for us when the Spirit guides our daily routine life at home and the work spot.

What man does, let us know, the Spirit can accomplish better. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

In quantum mechanics it is known that the observer is as important as what is being observed to perceive reality. Likewise, the capacity to know anything is determined by the plane of mind one is grounded in. Thus, the individual with Intuitive capacity will rapidly perceive knowledge and truth entering his mind from out of nowhere without thought. Compare that to the ordinary mind that knows slowly and often inadequately, only partially through the hard churning of thought.

Every Good Deeds Comes Back To One: The Amazing Case of Maxwell Morrison

Today, I have two stories for you. Both of them are true. Here's the first one:

Maxwell Morrison was well and truly screwed. He was standing in a courtroom in Bangkok, waiting for his sentence. The offence was drug trafficking, and if found guilty, the sentence would be life in one of the most horrific prisons in the world. The problem was that Maxwell was innocent. The drugs had been found stashed in a musical instrument he had agreed to carry through the checkpoint for a woman who had appeared to have her hands full with a baby, two young children and a whole lot of hand luggage. Of course, the moment the sniffer dogs singled him out for special attention, the woman and her children evaporated into thin air.

He had tried to explain this to the judge in his super-fast-track case, which had so far lasted less than 45 minutes, but the prosecution had countered by pointing out that it would take a very stupid person indeed to be suckered into carrying anything through a security checkpoint for a stranger - especially in this modern post-9/11 world. They had also pointed out that back home in Nottingham, Maxwell was a police officer. A security expert, who could never be as naïve as he was now pretending to be. Maxwell's only counter-argument to that had been, "Appearances can be deceptive". The Judge had given him the strangest look when he said that.

No, things were certainly not going well for him in this case. His only witness had been a British passenger who had seemed a bit drunk during her testimony. She admitted she had seen the woman hand the instrument to Maxwell, but added that they appeared to be travelling together. Again, Maxwell's defense was, "Appearances can be deceptive".

He remembered with irony the first time he had actually heard the expression "Appearances can be deceptive". It was in the eighties. He was a teenager going through a punk rock phase. He wore nothing but black, had multiple body piercings and was always playing with a scary-looking flip-knife. All the kids in school were afraid of him and steered well clear. One afternoon when he was enjoying some peace and quiet behind the boat shed, listening to Grateful Dead on his walkman, he heard a commotion. Three kids were bullying a foreign student. They were about to throw the little kid into the river, and the poor boy kept crying, "Please! Please, I can't swim!"

Maxwell intervened. At first, the three bullies wanted to fight it out, but Maxwell was a good three inches taller than the tallest of them. Plus, he had his knife, and he made them believe he was happy to use it. So they dropped the little foreign boy and went off to find a new victim. Maxwell asked the relieved kid if he was alright. The boy adjusted his glasses, looked at Maxwell for a long moment and said, "Appearances can be deceptive".

"Why do you say that?" Maxwell asked.

"Well, everybody thinks you're scary. Some kids even said you stabbed a teacher once. You're the last person I'd have expected to come to my aid. But thank you for doing so. I would have drowned if you hadn't. In Thailand where I come from, you owe the person who saves your life an eternal debt which you spend the rest of your life paying back. My name is Tran Pack, and I will never forget what you did for me." With that, he shook Maxwell's hand and ran off. Back in the Bangkok courtroom, Maxwell allowed himself a wry smile as he recalled that childhood episode. Thirty years after he saved a Thai kid's life, he was now a 45-year old policeman, about to spend the rest of his own life in a Thai prison, all because appearances can be deceptive. He snapped out of his reflections as the judge banged his gavel three times. It was time for the verdict.

And that's where I'll end the first story. Here's the second story.

Judge Tran Pack could not believe his eyes when Maxwell Morrison walked into his courtroom. Thirty two years had not done much to change his appearance, so Tran recognised him at once. He listened patiently for 45 minutes and then banged his gavel three times before giving the verdict. "Mr Morrison, appearances can indeed be deceptive. Not guilty. You're free to go."

And that is the end of the second story.

My people, I know I don't need to say much more about the lessons from these two stories. As you live your lives, please take every opportunity to do something unforgettable for someone who can't pay you back today. They'll pay you back tomorrow with interest.

My name is Kojo Yankson, and kindness is not a debt you pay, but an investment you make.

GOOD MORNING, GHANAFO!

(Kojo Yankson)

Impressions

Supramental Life. What is It?

It is the future life of humanity ... Yet somehow experienced TODAY.

It is a life based on new observations about the true nature of Reality. In other words, how Life REALLY WORKS. As opposed to the surface view of things.

It is a revelation of profound inner and outer methods that have the power to bring the power of the future into the present; changing the current finites before us into infinities.

It is vast achievement occurring within a matter of days or weeks that would ordinarily happen in the course of months or years – if at all.

It is a level of OUTER SUCCESS and INNER FULFILLMENT unimagined. Yet occurring here and NOW, without waiting for future generations to discover the means to make that happen.

It is Space and Time overcome; attracting the infinite future into the present.

It is the Spirit embodied in life itself; in our lives.

That's what Supramental Life is.

... And yet it is so much more than that.

To Be Titled

As you are to life, so Life is to you. I.e. Life and what it brings to you mirrors who you are; your level of consciousness. This is the phenomenon of "Life Response."

To Be Titled

Try to do things a different way; from a different angle; with a different twist. You might be surprised by what life rewards you with.

To Be Titled

The Supramental is a totally unexpected type life - even different than the ordinarily conceived spiritual existence. Miracles - including the constant cooperation of life - are commonplace.

Cause and effect contain new dynamics. Space and time are overcome. Truth and Unity are its hallmark.

To Be Titled

Sorrow and disappointment are also forms of Ego, indicating that they too should be shed.

Reader: In a sense all negative emotions are incorrect uses of what belongs to Mother...everything a devotee belongs to Her and should only be used in ways that She deems appropriate. So just as we would treat a work object or money as Her property, our emotions and the prana behind them must be directed as per Her rules.

To Be Titled

For temperament to enjoy another temperament, there is a condition of one liking the other. He who has risen above temperament can enjoy any other temperament without any condition. (Karmayogi)

Comment: We can practice this throughout the course of our day, with the various people we come in contact with, either purposely or otherwise.

To Be Titled

A devotee said this today: "I want nothing else but to serve Her - nothing else makes any sense anymore."

To Be Titled

At the point the constituents boastfully predict dynastic greatness, the organization begins to fall apart.

To Be Titled

As long as you choose the work you like, you will have success and failure facing you. For him who chooses to take interest in work given to him, there is only success. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

We often see how things that are controversial and socially unacceptable in one era, become common place and accepted in another.

To Be Titled

How can we know the true truth of things when we are stuck in our fixed dogmas, creeds, worldviews, philosophies, and viewpoints? That is why every day we must consider how we can widen our view, be more open, more tolerant, less opinionated, listen and learn more instead of speaking, take the other person's viewpoint, and so forth. Otherwise we will be stuck in our Ignorance, which only leads to error, failure, and despair.

To Be Titled

When an opportunity comes your way, consecrate it, rather than let the ego take over. The former supports its success, and then some. The latter spoils it; often attracting its cancellation.

To Be Titled

When you angrily threaten someone with recourse or retribution, the other person instantly gains the upper hand. Best to keep one's strategy, whatever its value, to one's self.

To Be Titled

To be a strong person of great goodness, one needs the ability to rear a child without abusing, frowning, or feeling frustrated. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The vision of the marvel is to see the creative order in the intense chaos. (Karmayogi)

Comment: an incredible capacity - especially in these modern times. This is one aspect of the Supramental view.

To Be Titled

The Divine experiences STATIC (non-varying) Delight in Satchitananda (the Ananda part), but then extends Itself to Its creation to experience infinite variation of Delight through infinite forms (i.e. us) who grow in consciousness. The latter is thus DYNAMIC (varying) delight, as opposed to its Static origin.

Doing the Right Thing Attracts

A man went shopping in a department store. At one point while examining the food, he decided not to purchase any sweets, as it was not good for him.

Just as he was about to exit the store, he suddenly came upon a pair of light walking shoes he had wanted for several years. In fact, it was precisely what he had longed for.

Because he controlled himself and did the right thing by not selecting the sweets, Life rewarded him with something he dearly desired. It was another instance of the miraculous phenomenon of Life Response in action.

To Be Titled

Don't bite off more than you can chew; pace yourself; do things patiently and perfectly. (Life WILL respond positively to such a conscious approach.)

Pride and Prejudice Character Lessons For Sales Improvement

Each Pride and Prejudice character can teach us something about selling:

- Wickham - A deceiver. So don't be deceiving. It comes back to haunt you.
- Darcy - Don't be proud, and accept the smallest sale with happiness and gratitude. Otherwise Life will return the favor negatively.
- Bingley and Jane - always have a positive, cheerful attitude. It's a winning strategy that always attracts success
- Mr. Collins - Avoid braggadocio and ass-kissing. It will not serve you well.
- Mrs. Bennet - Stop whining, complaining, and condemning. You will look foolish at every step of the way.
- Mr. Bennet - Don't be cynical, sarcastic about others as he was toward his children, which came back to haunt him, when one of them ran away and eloped.
- Eliza Bennet - Be intelligent, forward-thinking, affectionate towards those close to you. Thus know your product and market perfectly. Be creative. Care for those around you.
- Lady Catherine - Don't be condescending to anyone. You might lose the chance for your biggest sale because you acted stuck-up and superior to someone.

To Be Titled

The best way to cancel a refractory idea is to fully welcome it. Life cancels it. (Karmayogi)

I.e. when the stubborn, pig-headed, perverse thought of another comes to us, we can embrace it with a smile. Life will then take over and prove the foolishness of the thought through life circumstance. It is a form of taking the other person's point of view + non-reaction. Eg we listen to and acknowledge Mrs. Bennet's (Pride and Prejudice) ridiculous, obstinate complaints with a smile, but then life roars back and destroys all that she had hoped for in that area.

To Be Titled

To think of oneself is ego. To consider the past is to be in Time. Memory binds us to mind. Time, mind and ego are of the finite surface. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

What is most desirable at any given moment is the greatest possible harmony. (Karmayogi)

From Lies to Integral Truth, and the Response of Life

Truth ranges from partial to Integral (ie supramental). When someone turns away from truth, - such as a leader going to war over a lie, or another leader continuously spewing a succession of lies), - Life quickly moves to discredit the false motive, leading to catastrophes all around. Therefore think about your life, your daily existence and make the effort to eliminate any mis-truths. The more you do that, the more you will align with the integral truth of things, which has a vast power to attract positive conditions; just as its opposite attracts the extremely negative.

Helping Up an Opponent Attracts

Helping opponents up when they tumble in a game or match demonstrates good sportsmanship, and therefore builds good karma. It attracts and sustain success immediately. I have seen that dynamic on many occasions. Practiced regularly, it tends to lead to great overall team success in the course of the season.

To Be Titled

Information is infinite; it is everywhere. Wisdom is finite; it is practically nowhere.

To Be Titled

The very best moment to know a little more of Mother (or self-awareness) is when life utterly deserts us and leaves us in a hopeless condition and in utter despair. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

When one stops thinking and stops acting, one moves from Time to Timelessness. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The movement from inertia to expansion is one from selfishness to generosity; from ego to harmony.

Another Opportunity to Correct a Previous Problem, and the Response from Life

If you are conscious of a problem you have partaken in, life will soon or down the line offer another similar opportunity to do the right thing, which when done successfully will also have the power to quickly attract positive conditions from the original matter.

Example: An instructor had a difficult situation with a client. There was plenty of blame to go around. It all started when the client asked the instructor about a particular obscure issue that the instructor was unable to provide an answer for. The instructor consecrated his part in the debacle. After this difficult set of classes, the instructor did not know how much to bill the client, if anything at all since things had gone so poorly. He forgot the matter, and let things fall as they may.

A month later, the instructor's agent called and asked him to contact another existing client who had some technical questions. When he spoke to the client, he was suddenly struck by the negative tone of the conversation, and the very obscure issue that the client was frustrated by. Suddenly the instructor recalled that it was the same obscure issue as the previous very difficult experience with the other client that took place a month ago! The chance of this happening was one in a million, as this was the first contact he was in touch with in nearly a month, and it was on the very same very obscure subject matter!

The instructor knew that this was no coincidence, but rather here was a deep connection between these two events, and he should therefore do his very best to please the current client, which he did. As he did so he kept reminding himself that there was direct connection between the two events, and this was a chance to redeem himself, which he did,

When he ended the phone conversation with the client, he saw a solitary email in his inbox, and it was from his agent, indicating the amount he should bill the first client for. This too was a miracle, as it happened an instance after talking with the second client and the fact that a month had gone past since any discussion had taken place on the issue. Now the amount to bill the first client was given, when he thought there was a chance he would not be able to charge anything. The instantaneousness of the response was astonishing. It was obviously a dramatic positive response from life.

As we see, when you are conscious of a problem we have been a part of in the past, life may very well soon or down the line offer another similar opportunity that will enable you to do right thing, which when done successfully will also have the power to quickly attract positive conditions.

From Insult to Gratitude to Essence of Individuals and Objects

It is one thing to insult another person, it is another to insult an object, such as a plant, or rock, or machine. In either case, you will attract negative conditions from that person, place, or thing.

Eg the machine involved that was the object of your scorn or sarcasm will suddenly stop working properly; or the button on the pair of pants you demeaned will suddenly fall off; or the fruit you were negative towards will unexpectedly taste sour, etc. etc. Best to appreciate all objects - whether inanimate or animate to avoid negative consequences.

The full reversal is when we continually express GRATITUDE towards those individuals and objects we have been taking for granted.

It can go one final step further when you come in contact with the Essence and Soul of that person or object. Now the response from life can be overwhelming, as you have touched on the Infinite within the finite.

On Foolishness

Foolishness is best described as the love of repeating the earlier errors. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

To consider an event a problem is the problem with Man. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Both the perceived positive and negative further the evolution.

Implementing Lists for Improvement

We love lists on how to uplift and improve our lives. We also enjoy being liberated from having to implement them.

Sri Aurobindo and Mother Beyond Avatar

Avatars are messengers of tomorrow, leading the way forward for that time. Sri Aurobindo and Mother are greater than avatars as they also implemented, embodied their message for the future of humanity.

Buddha, Shankara, Sri Aurobindo and the Real

Buddha said the material world, our wants, desires and all are illusions, and we should therefore separate ourselves from them which will enable us to become enlightened. Shankara then came along and said that everything is an illusion, and that only the Divine is real.

Now Sri Aurobindo has told us that there is no such thing as illusion, as all is real. That it is our Ignorant perceptions of the real that keep us from perceiving the true nature of Reality.

He adds that human evolution, accelerated through Integral Yoga enables us to become aware of and outgrow our many-sided Ignorance, and realize the Integral Truth and Knowledge of being.

Influencing Sports Events from Within

Today's topic is "Life Response and Sports." Yes, those two things can go together!

I would therefore like to start out with this startling true story in my life involving the local sports team.

The American baseball team The San Francisco Giants, which won three world championships, in 2010, 2012, and 2014, were a sort of test for me. The test being can I influence events in the world from within myself.

Can I actually cause the team to succeed without interacting with them in any way, shape, or form.

I discovered that it WAS possible, and in particular, there were certain subtle rules that could make it come about.

One was for me to WITHDRAW all interest in the team when things were at a tight, critical moment, which had the effect of suddenly and most dramatically propelling the team upward from where they were a moment earlier.

Then there were other times when I need to INTERFERE, i.e. actively engage in the unfolding of events by taking a keen interest in the unfolding of the game; and when I did, again it propelled the team upward in the match, often bringing about the winning run.

So knowing when to DETACH and DISENGAGE from the team's current situation and when to ENGAGE in it (whether on radio or the Internet) are two methods for evoking a POSITIVE RESPONSE from the object of my attention; here being my interest in having the sports team, the Giants, succeed.

I found it particularly interesting how the power of DISENGAGEMENT, called "DETACHMENT" in India, has this power. That is, how each time I practiced that approach in a close situation between my team and its rival, suddenly things started going well for those whom I was rooting for. Again, when there were intense moments where the outcome was to be decided, I would withdraw all interest in events and put my focus elsewhere. Then when I returned, I would discover that things had gone exceedingly well, whereas had I gotten caught up in events, there was only a partial likelihood of success; more often than not, the opposite.

So I followed these two subtle methods of Detachment and Engagement into the baseball playoffs, and then into the World Series, constantly propelling the team upward. It happened dozens of times, with remarkable consistency. And it led to the Giants winning three world championships in five years.

In my mind, the entire undertaking was a constant unfolding of the MIRACULOUS.

It was a miracle from the perspective of the TEAM; of the fact that they reached the pinnacles of success three times, when everyone expected them to do poorly.

And it was a miracle in MY OWN experience in that my engagement with the team had the miraculous effect of propelling them to the stars.

So there was this confluence of the team's OWN LUCK, you might say, and the Luck I was able to bring to bear in these situations.

Perhaps they were one and the same!

Problems as Realities

There are no problems; only realities to be navigated and understood in their evolutionary context.

To Be Titled

The first reaction to a problem should be not to over-react to it.

Comment: over-reaction energizes the problem.

Mother and Sri Aurobindo's Comments on the Psychic Being

1. The Psychic knows only how to give and it does not know how to take- Mother.
2. The psychic being that survives the death of a person carries with itself memories of those occasions in which it was active. It does not carry all memories relating to the activities of the ego.
3. The awakening of the Psychic is experienced as a sudden descent of chillness in the body according to Shri.Karmayogi.
4. The Gods don't have a psychic being like man and if they want to evolve they must take birth in a human body.
5. It required a year-long effort on the part of Mother to discover her psychic being.
6. As people differ in their mental intelligence, so do they also differ in their psychic development according to Bhagawan.
7. Sri Aurobindo had a psychic sorrow about him as he very much regretted the psychic's inability to come and manifest on the surface.
8. It is the psychic being that will take a solid shape and emerge as the supramental being according to Mother.
9. When the psychic takes charge of the body all its illnesses can disappear instantly.
10. Those who are always happy and smiling are radiating something of the psychic delight that they are feeling inside.
11. According to Bhagawan, Hitler had the psychic being of a London Cab driver but Mussolini had a well-formed psychic being.
12. According to Mother, the soul of a nation cannot be divided by religious, linguistic or racial divisions.
13. The soul of a nation like India known as Bharat Mata can take a human form if she wishes says Mother.
14. Even the Divine Mother does not interfere in the decisions of an Individual's psychic being.
15. Once a psychic being awakes, it will be very difficult to escape its influence according to Mother. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Static vs. Dynamic Delight in Creation

Q: A basic question.

The Divine has become the world to experience sheer delight of evolving from ignorance and unconsciousness. The Divine cannot experience that in the Absolute or in Satchidananda.

If Supramental world is so delightful why the Divine has not created That first instead of self-limiting/self-absorbing Himself?

A: I believe Divine experiences STATIC (non-varying) Delight in Satchitananda (the Ananda part), but then extends Itself to Its creation to experience infinite variation of Delight through infinite forms (i.e. us) who grow in consciousness. The latter is thus DYNAMIC (varying) delight, as opposed to its Static origin.

Reconciling Opposites - The Supramental View

Life often comes to us in dual pairs, as conflicting opposites - such as through disagreements, or through differing opinions, or as opposing choices, etc.

Those opposites can be reconciled, though the way that occurs depends on the plane of consciousness we are in.

--At the physical plane, we reconcile the opposites through conflict.

--At the vital plane, opposites are reconciled by competition.

--At the mental plane, they are reconciled by compromise.

How then can we reconcile opposites in our own lives?

Instead of asserting our own position - an Ego movement - we can embrace the Other Person's Point of View. Then the Truth of each side can be realized.

By taking the other person's viewpoint, we move to the Supramental view, where the many-sided integral truth of things are known.

It is only in the Supramental view that the truth behind the contradictory view of the individual parties can be reconciled.

Practically speaking, real reconciliation comes when we aspire for the Truth instead of our own preference and opinions, which are ego movements.

It is when we aspire for the higher Integral Truth of things that it comes into our field of awareness.

Rebirth and Evolution of Consciousness

The purpose of rebirth - and we have passed through hundreds if not thousands of instances - is to continue the evolving Soul's (psychic being's) Journey of realizing ever-higher consciousness, which culminates in our manifesting, becoming the Divine, God in life.

Transformation through Surrender

We cannot transform ourselves in order to manifest the Divine in our being. It is far beyond our capacity. We can however Surrender to the Divine Mother, and She will do for us all that is necessary to bring about our transformation.

Power, Shakti of Divine Mother

It is not just peace, serenity, knowledge, goodness, delight, love, infinity, et al of the Divine that we can experience, but we are also given Power of manifestation through the Divine Mother, the Shakti to bring about the Supramental change.

Spiraling Upward in Spiritual Journey

The Spiritual journey is to be in a never-ending spiral of ascent and descent. We rise up in consciousness (ascent), then bring it back into our normal life, realizing we have a new level of awareness, consciousness that we did not have before. We then can further integrate it into our lives. Thereafter, we can then begin the next round of ascent and descent, and continue this way in a never-ending upward spiral of transformation and change.

Reader: i wonder what humanity has learned from 6 aug 1945 the first atomic bomb ever actually being bombed... and can there exist anything such as 'ignorant learning' or is it that for learning one has to be 'conscious'... and that it all depends how vast and/or big one's consciousness... and depending one's sensitivity and capacity of perception..., attention and love....., is the supramental transformation 'depending' on anything or... is it already here and always had been 'here', but that the "human mind" can be locked out of it once steeped in ignorance? --- just wondering... as Sri Aurobindo was still on Earth in human form this day back in 1945 ---- now perhaps, Roy, you know his view about all this, would he have seen that as "hostile force" to be overcome?

Response: -Atomic bombs are evil, plain and simple. Direct unconsciousness and dark side of the scientific mind, that is divorced from social values.

- And yet at another plane, if overcome, it means a further development in human unity.
- So it depends on the plane from which you examine things. At one plane it is evil, and at another it is "useful" for furthering human unity through cooperation and collaboration against the bombs.
- Einstein was told the bombs would never be used so long as Germans didn't develop similar; which they didn't. So he was deceived. The father of the person who developed the great Energy-creating equation of science was duped.
- Supermind is there in the non-material plane, and it descended on earth in 1956. Everything in the world is under its general influence. It ended the Cold War. Now it needs to descend into the hearts and minds of all the leaders and people of the earth. That will take a conscious decision on all our parts to engage in personal and spiritual growth; or at least open to the Mother's (supramental) Force, and seeing its startling results in action in our lives. It can make a believer out of anyone!

Over-Aggrandizing Success

As soon as you overly-aggrandize your successful organization, or team, etc., you eliminate the chance for greater greatness.

Life from Cosmic Mind

Before life appeared on earth; before the universe existed, there was Mind - Cosmic Mind. Life then emerged from It.

What Would a Supramental Life Be Like?

In this life as soon as one has an idea of something, there is immediately given a power for it to manifest as real in the world.

In this life there is ongoing soul to soul connection with others.

What occurs to another is equally as important as what happens to ourselves. There is thus a sense of Oneness toward both others and life.

In this life when we accomplish something, it simultaneously is done at the collective, societal, universal level as well.

In this life the supramental power is always there, and always available to instantly solve problems, create the best conditions, open up opportunities, etc.

In this life there is no ego, no selfishness, no self-importance; there is also no ignorance, falsehood, or evil.

In this life, a positive development never creates an additional dark shadow. Life is therefore "self-existent."

In this life there is no pain, suffering, or even death. There is unending life if one so wishes it, especially if one has developed a modicum of a supramentalized body.

In this life there is no conflict, strife, war, poverty, and other forms of human misery.

In this life there is constant creativity, generating infinite variations and new formations of reality.

In this life new, unprecedented solutions and possibilities constantly present themselves.

In this life there is continuous peace, inner silence, truth perception, harmony, goodness, generosity, gratitude, knowledge, wisdom, beauty, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity.

In this life, we develop true individuality, even true spiritual individuality that emanates from our soul. Our actions are infinitely creative and dynamic as they emanate from the psychic being within.

In this life we are continuously centered deep within, in the psychic being, and call to the supramental force, the divine Mother, continuously bringing about divine-like developments around us.

In this life we are not just true Individuals, but also Universal beings affecting the world around us in profound ways; and also Transcendent beings, constantly fulfilling the will of the infinite Divine.

In this life we help bring about and partake in an ever-emerging Divine Life on Earth; a Supramental Existence.

From Supermind To Supramental Beings to Supramental Life

SUPERMIND

--Supermind is the plane of consciousness that emerged from the divine source, Satchitananda, that enabled space and time, subject and object, and whose mission it was to unfold the cosmic values, spiritual/real Ideas of silence, peace, harmony, truth, knowledge, goodness, power, creativity, love, delight, timelessness and infinity in creation.

--Though enabling the creation process that brought about the universe, Supermind is also a plane of being that has descended into the earth's atmosphere, and is available to us to enable our ultimate Creative capacity as well.

--Supermind is the plane that Sri Aurobindo discovered and organized, and which the Mother called down into the earth's atmosphere in 1956.

--Supermind is the plane that our mind can reach that is beyond ordinary mind, silent mind, illumined mind, intuition, and universal mind.

-In Supermind we constantly perceive an ever-changing Oneness in the circumstance of Life.

--In Supermind all is known about a matter, plus it has the simultaneous power to manifest as real what is known

--We can open to the Supramental Power to hasten our own evolution.

--Opening to the Supramental Power is opening to the Force of the Divine Mother. It is Her Supramental Shakti (Energy/Force).

--Opening to the Supramental power instantly resolves problems, and creates unprecedented new solutions and possibilities from out of nowhere. That is why it is sometimes referred to as "Unity Consciousness."

--When the Supramental Force is evoked, all is instantly known about a matter, how each part relates to the whole, what the essence of It Truth is, and so forth. It is complete integral knowledge on any subject or matter. That is why Supermind is also called the "Truth Consciousness."

--One who surrenders to the Supramental Power, to the Divine Mother become becomes a transformed being.

--One who surrenders to the Force, to Mother becomes its instrument in life; a pioneer for creating a Divine Life on earth.

SUPRAMENTAL BEING

--Surrendering to the Supramental Power leads to the emergence of a new type of human - the Supramental Being.

--The Supramental Being lives in a perpetual state of harmony with others and life.

--The Supramental Being has realized in his being all of the attributes of the Supramental Plane - including silence, peace, harmony, truth, knowledge, goodness, power, creativity, love, delight, timelessness and infinity

--The Supramental Being is able to create infinitely, just as the Supermind enabled the universe to come about from a Divine Source.

--The Supramental Being is fully evolved at the mental, vital, and physical level. He is fully developed in consciousness in terms of attitudes, emotions, values, beliefs, and actions.

-- The Supramental Being has perpetual knowledge of what to do and not to do at any moment.

-- The Supramental Being individual will in his ultimate form have evolved a new Supramental Body, devoid of the current arrangement of system (circulatory, digestion, et al); of organs, muscle, bodily fluids, et al; replaced by centers of consciousness.

--Ultimately the Supramental Being is able to live as long as he wishes.

SUPRAMENTAL LIFE

--When there are a certain number of, a critical mass of supramental beings on earth, there is the beginnings of Supramental Life.

--Supramental Life is one of perpetual peace, harmony, wisdom, truth, goodness, love, delight, timelessness, and infinity.

--In Supramental Life the society and the world implement all of the cosmic values, spiritual/real ideas from the Source of creation.

--In Supramental Life all strife, suffering, disease, death, war, conflict, etc. are overcome, replaced with their opposites.

To Be Titled

Mother overcomes fate, karmas.

On Caste in India

--Prejudice towards intercaste marriage is much less now than before and love marriages cutting across caste lines are fast spreading in the IT industry where both sexes get a lot of opportunities to socialise and mix.

--Discrimination of the lower by the upper castes is very much getting diminished and if anything, demands and protests for better living standards and greater income by the lower castes have only risen in recent years.

--Caste, class, wealth, parents are social obstacles.

--Caste in India keeps the country divided. (MSS)

Reader: Sir, how parents will be a social obstacle can u explain.

Response: Parents become social obstacles when they try to control whom the child can marry. Or when they dominate the child's life after puberty, which they should not.

They may not let the child become what they wish to become. There are many ways a parent will try to control, dominate the child.

On the other hand, the liberated parent will deeply care for the child without smothering her. Will have great patience, and be a true guide. Will impart high consciousness values. Will allow the child to become whom he wishes to become.

The parent should never possess the child, only nurture her.

Great Manager, Leader as Student

It is claimed that of all the qualities that enable one to become a great manager or leader none is more important than our aspiration to continually be a Student and learn. That includes our desire to learn about ourselves, our character, and parsing and improving on our strengths and weaknesses.

Elimination of Nuclear Arms

The greatest evil in the world are nuclear arms. If countries were to come together and eliminate most of them, many problems in the world would quickly get resolved. If the world were to go in the opposite direction, many more nations will want to acquire these weapons, dramatically increasing the chance of their being deployed, i.e. nuclear exchange.

The Mother said that so long as these horrific weapons exist, they will tend to be used. No side or nation would be immune. Global collaboration that eliminates this evil is thus the ONLY way forward.

Or as Mother put it, "Men, countries, continents! The choice is imperative: Truth or the abyss."

Begin from the NOW

Unless you begin at the point where you are NOW, no real beginning is ever made. (Karmayogi)

India and World's Nuclear Arsenals

India and Nuclear Arsenals comity of nations and the nuclear arsenal [of the world] will be abolished. (Karmayogi)

Multiple Causes of a Single Positive Response from Life

An instructor received an unexpected payment from his major training agency. He wondered what caused it? Could it be a number of things simultaneously? He started listing them out:

- His spouse engaged in a major cleanup a day before. That always seemed to have a money attracting power.

- His spouse beginning an earning project that day, something she rarely does.

- He himself did not waste money at a restaurant that day, and instead cooked a meal that would last, indicating maximum use of resources and non-wastage (of funds).

- The client had "ironically" just earlier begun a campaign to organize its payables.

- A difficult situation he had several weeks back with another client, now raised itself again in a minor form (with a third client), but this time the man handled it splendidly, as he didn't want to repeat past wrong attitudes with the second client.

- He decided and began implementing a thorough review of the course content documentation in one of the subject matters so the students would benefit.

Thus the incident shows that when an instance of sudden good fortune presents itself, we can often trace it back not just to one thing - one attitude or behavior, - but to several. A little "internal investigation" will identify any number of subtle causes, both major and minor.

Plus it just goes to show how subtly, intricately, cosmically the world is interconnected!

To Be Titled

Why do I focus these consciousness-related thoughts on so many different areas of life? Well after all, Sri Aurobindo did say, "All Life is Yoga"! I.e. potential for transformation applies to every aspect of life.

USA Attracts Nuclear Threats

For decades the USA scuttled nuclear arms reduction talks, aided and abetted by its military industrial complex, intent on building weapons of mass destruction, and selling them for profit around the world. No wonder she now fears being attacked from so many directions - from rogue nations, terrorists, et al with these horrific weapons. It is a negative response to America's ongoing low consciousness - hypocrisy of weapons proliferation for the sake of profiteering.

On Changing One's Self

It takes a long time to know where one has to change. Changing itself is not that difficult. (Karmayogi)

Reader: Sir, There is a tamil TV show "Big Boss" is going on for the past 40 day. The inmates will be there for 100 days. One by one , they will be evicted. This game is very useful in understanding how we behave in a similar situation. Where we need to change. Many of the inmates are there blindly going behind the motives of one or two without being aware of that person's motives. Public are aware of the motives of these people. Each one has some agenda and strategy. As an outsider, we are able to view how one person's strategy is being smashed by others and so on. We are able to understand what change one needs in his or her personality. That is revealing. It reflects our life. We are able to locate where to change seeing a similar personality inside that house. I see the program as a mirror before me.

India's Spiritual Values and the World

Perhaps only India, with its underlying spiritual values of silence, peace, wisdom, harmony, and oneness can save the world from itself.

Benefit of Knowing Silver Lining

In everything, including the worst of things, there is always a Silver Lining. Knowing what that is is Wisdom, and a powerful guide of the Way Forward.

Nuclear Weapons Evil

Because we have not consciously made the effort to do away with the world's greatest evil - nuclear weapons - they will increasingly threaten us all.

To Be Titled

"Sometimes your only way forward is a leap of Faith."

It is one of the great truths of life. Especially when there are no other apparent options, alternatives -- whether at the physical level (taking action, material conditions, etc.), the vital level (feeling, desire, further association with others, etc.), and the mental level (thought, idea, strategy, etc.). And it almost always works, attracts positive conditions; depending on the level, intensity, sincerity of the Faith.

Her Force Spreads

Mother's Force has a universal power to quickly spread from the individual who opens to it to the wider society/collective.

Shed Anachronisms, Lifeless Rituals for Greater Accomplishment

Free your mind from anachronistic habits and ways of thinking and stop following society's lifeless rituals that waste much of your energy. You will find your accomplishment scaling new heights. (MSS)

Life Laws Always Acting

Life has its own laws. Whether we believe it or not, these laws are acting all the time. (MSS)

Master of Life through Mother

He who surrenders to Mother can become a master of life and life will start obeying him from then on rather than him obeying life. (MSS)

Past Consecration

Past consecration has the power to cancel our past misdeeds and give a new lease of life. For example, a man with a lot of debts can get release from his past debts and find new sources of income by using past consecration to sincerely regret his past deeds that led to this huge debts. (MSS)

Availing Opportunities

Opportunities should be availed of as soon as they knock on our doors. It is very difficult to retrieve a lost opportunity. (MSS)

Spiritual Values and Great Accomplishment

Values are the key factors in accomplishment. The more we spiritualise our values, the greater will be our accomplishment. (MSS)

Comment: Spiritual values include inner and outer silence, peace, harmony, goodness, truth, wisdom, self-givingness, generosity of spirit, compassion, humility, gratitude, love, joy/delight, timelessness, infinity, faith, divine power, oneness, unity, patience, optimism, cheerfulness, sincerity, perfection, freedom, tolerance, imagination, creativity.

Accomplishment by Discarding Anachronisms

Our accomplishment will vastly improve to the extent we wean ourselves from anachronisms and outdated ways of thinking that are no longer in step with the world at its current progress level now. (MSS)

Spiritual Individual and Spiritual Values

A spiritual individual is one who respects and follows his spiritual values no matter how different the outside world is. (MSS)

Comment: For example if people are noisy outside in public, one can take to silence, which is our spiritual value. Or if the group around us tries to come up with a solution through debate and thinking, one can look within for a message from the subliminal to help us make a decision. Thus we value the inner approach, as opposed to the outer. Etc.

Mind Suspends, Spirit Starts

When mind suspends its rational enquiries, at that point the Spirit starts working on the physical plane and miracles become possible. (MSS)

Understanding the World through Spirit, Not Mind

The world can never be understood by mind as it is constituted with its finite, divisive approaches and space and time constraints. It can only be understood by the spirit that is infinite in nature, has a whole outlook and functions in a non-spatial and time less dimension. (MSS)

Infinite Divine in the Finite

It is the infinite that has folded itself in to a finite. So in the reverse it is possible to unravel the finite back to its infinite dimensions. That is why it is said that the Infinite Divine can be found in even the minute atom. (MSS)

If we care about the smallest detail, applying our higher consciousness, you can evoke a powerful response from life that turns that limited thing into something vast. In that way, the infinite can emerge from the finite.

100 Ways We Express Our Ego (by Roy Posner) new

The majority of our impulses, desires, emotions, and feelings are rooted in Ego. It is separative consciousness, where one is cut off, separate, divided from others and life. The opposite of that is harmony and oneness.

Then what are some of the ways we express Ego in our lives? Here is a list:

There is little desire to connect with other individuals, parties and their concerns, focusing mostly on our own short-term goals and interests. Thus harmonic influence is missing in our relations with people and the world.

We tend to move conversations with others in the direction that moves us; caring less for their interests and concerns.

We are motivated and driven by what others think of us; by our need for praise and admiration.

We are hesitant to express our gratitude toward other, instead seeking more from them in order to fulfill our desires.

We are fixed, close-minded, and intolerant.

We complain, blame and condemn others; never taking responsibility

We are weak and self-doubting, which are also forms of ego.

We gleefully express our ignorance, are proud of our limited knowledge, wantonly broadcasting it to the world.

We are selfish and self-absorbed; expecting and demanding. It is the opposite of being self-giving.

We are vain, attached to our looks and physical stature, in love with our Material selves.

We feel superior to and look down on others.

We attach ourselves to our own race, our class, our position, instead of being open to all others.

We are jealous and spiteful; filled with streaks of ill-will and hate.

We are oblivious, distant, unconcerned.

We are mocking, sarcastic, mean-spirited, and defensive.

We are self-righteous, fixed in our beliefs; intolerant of others' ways, thoughts, ideas

We care about our own travails alone; keeping a distance from others' problems.

Our center of being is on the surface, which causes us to be separate and distance from others and the world.

We therefore see only the surface in others, in things, causing us to come to wrong conclusions that feed our ignorance.

We wallow in our ignorance, justifying it at every turn.

We are lost in ourselves, separating ourselves with a self-centered demarcation from others.

We are quick to judge, slow to learn.

We are attached to our habits and rituals, causing us to be out of tune with the new; with the varying needs of others and the world around us.

We express ourselves wildly, uncontrollably, oblivious to its affect, others around us.

We feel not our own true self and therefore do not relate to the soul and inner being in others.

We seek to influence, but not be influenced.

We are put off by others in crowd, retreating to the confines of our own skin.

We express our achievements gleefully, not caring for or jealous of others achievements.

We boast of our possessions, our homes, our spouse, our children, our friends, and other associations.

We recoil from criticism, even though we constantly criticize others.

We are hesitant, unresponsive, unwilling, refusing.

Self-justification his ego, just as is condemnation of others.

In a spiritual sense, self-initiating in life is ego, as compared to waiting on and responding to life's initiatives, which generally is not.

Also in a spiritual sense, reaction and recoil to others and life's intensities is a form of ego; being of the nerves in the physical.

Territoriality and possessiveness are ego, in the most egregious form.

Crudeness, callousness, and mean-spiritedness are ego for sure.

Obsequiousness and toadiness are forms of ego, indicating simultaneously a sense of superiority and inferiority.

Fear and hate and depression are ego too.

Dominating, bullying, coercing, repressing are highly abusive forms of ego.

Lying, cheating, deception, subterfuge, and lack of forthrightness are always harmful, and always come back to haunt one.

Instigating, troublemaking, undermining, and scheming can ruin life for others.

Conflict with others can reveal expressions of ego.

Vindictiveness, retribution, and hate are among the lowest forms of ego.

Attention-seeking, being a show-off are childish forms of ego.

-Gossiping, meddling, interfering, defaming, and scandalizing are surely not worthy traits.

- Caring about your children, while being oblivious to all others.

-Loving our nation, while being indifferent to all others.

-Nationalistic contempt for other peoples, nations, regions, etc.

Adversarial Nations Need One Another

Each of the nations that are in an adversarial position with another country actually need one another for their further growth - eg US and Russia, US and China, China and India, India and Pakistan, etc. etc.

Economic Master Plan for World Union

Karmayogi asks the powers that be to draw up a Master Plan for a future World Union; a plan of economic production that will defuse political and military conflicts, and help abolish terrorism at its very roots.

Unity of Ethnicity in America as Model for World Citizens

America is the one country where almost all the ethnic groups of the world live in unity. This new nation was created so that the ethnic, religious group would overcome their separate identity and evolve the World Citizen. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Just as the US has its ethnic groups in unity, so all the ethnic groups of the countries of the world will combine into creating common World Citizen, where people are concerned less about their own country, ethnicity, et al and more about being a citizen of the world, and the issues the world is concerned with. This is part of a movement toward human unity and the eventual development of Spiritual Individuals.

Silver Lining of Darkness

In the most oppressive atmosphere which is a real impossibility there will be a silver lining. (Karmayogi)

Ego as Origin of Evil

According to Sri Aurobindo, there was no inherent evil created in the universe. Rather Evil is the creation of the egoistic perception in life. (Paraphrase of Karmayogi)

World Citizen

The future belongs to the Spiritual individual. A forerunner to him is a World Citizen. (Karmayogi)

Merging of Cultures and the World Citizen

The idea of each culture actively examining the values of another culture that are non-existent in one's own culture will activate World political social life. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Ie we will become World Citizens, and thereby consider issues from a more global perspective, not just from the view of our own homeland.

To Be Titled

The Universe individualises and the individual universalises. (Karmayogi)

Patience and Success

- Patience goes with victory and impatience goes with failure.
- Patience being static allows energy to collect and enables success.
- When a man of several failures is to succeed in one or two events, we see during that phase he exhibits patience. (Karmayogi)

Next Financial Crisis

Q. What could cause the next global financial crisis?

A. There are many possibilities. One is lack of international financial oversight and control. Even the 2008 Financial Crisis was precipitated by unregulated Chinese, Japanese, Middle Eastern, etc. millionaires and billionaires investing in unstable housing financial instruments. It was thus a globally induced crisis, not just American created.

And yet such international regulation can be an opportunity to create more cooperation among the nations of the world; stabilizing the world economy, while taking another important step toward human unity.

To Be Titled

In Supramental Life there is complete Identity, Harmony, and Unity with everyone and everything.

Realization of the Supramental

Q: Are there people who have reached the Supramental perfection yet?

A: The Mother was at that point, though while She was here on earth She was pursuing the final change, the physical transformation into the Supramental Body. In other words, willed Immortality in a new, divine physical being. In essence, a new species.

Mother had attained identity, harmony, and oneness (supramentalization) with others and life at the vital and mental levels, and was working on the final change at the physical (body) level. She said (which Sri Aurobindo informed Her of in the subtle plane) that He would come back with the Supramental Body in a new birth, which would complete Her (and His) mission.

Note that each of us (devotees and others) are slowly being supramentalized as well, as we open to the Force at various levels; some more than others. Most of us are only at the very beginning of this process. (Keep in mind that some were already born quite evolved, which puts them in a higher position.)

Often the supramentalization takes place first at the level of Mind and knowledge, especially through life (vital) experiences that demonstrate the perceptions of spiritualized mind - such as subtle perceptions of life, knowing subtle life laws, seeing the integral Reality for what it truly is, etc. They then, through life experiences, eventually get filled up at the level of the Higher Emotions (goodness, self-givingness, generosity, gratitude, et al).

For others, it may begin with these higher spiritual emotions of the Heart, and then move to the transformation of their mentality/Mind.

Also note that these variations of the process take place progressively across multiple births; though through Sri Aurobindo's, Mother's, and Karmayogi's methods, it can be seriously advanced in a single birth.

Those who Surrender to Mother and Her Force, take the other person's point of view, practice non-reaction, and self-givingness on a regular basis can speed up the process of supramentalization. Those who completely Surrender to Her as part of the process of Integral Yoga move ahead that much quickly. There are very few of these, though I suppose Appa is one.

History of USA

Sri Karmayogi's epic, cosmic 2-part 'History of the USA' touches on every aspect of human existence in the nation, from the individual to the social to the evolutionary, the universal, and the cosmic. The study and work is written almost like a poem - containing a vast array of individual and universal, material and subtle laws of life. We believe nothing like this exists on earth. You can access both parts here:

<http://www.karmayogi.net/?q=taxonomy/term/274>

Comment: I am glad you had a chance to read Asokan Sir's book. It is a wonderful, relatively easy to understand overview, covering the essential points of the reasons for America's success, as well as the cause of its limits.

Appa's work is of a somewhat different order. It is dense with research notes and exposition. He is explaining the nature of all life on earth through deep, profound principles. It would take a lifetime to clearly understand this work as it touches on all aspects of human nature and the nature of life on earth; all surrounding the reasons the USA took shape and unfolded as it did. It is really a world history, an examination of international influences in the field of thought and elsewhere; and an exposition of the Character of Life.

Still both works more or less cover the same basic territory. Many of Appa's thoughts and principles are given in Ashok's book, and are explained well for the layman.

I believe Appa originally asked me to do the book with him, but for some reason I did not take it up. Being an American Studies graduate at Syracuse University, it was right up my alley, but alas Asokan Sir took up the opportunity.

Often someone of another country, culture sees the truth of one's own nation more clearly, like the Tocqueville did in America. Appa's and Ashok's work in this area goes miles beyond.

Placing Man at the Center of Life, and the Vast Prosperity it Would Engender for All

The more the society or institution values the Person over money, the more abundant wealth is created in society. This is what made America prosperous over 200 years.

In recent years Silicon Valley has valued the benefits that would come to Man through its technologies, and as a result it prospered beyond all belief.

Surely if society implemented the World Academy's proposed Human-centered Economics, with Man held in the middle in highest esteem, it would cause vast sums of money to circulate and flow throughout the globe, reaching every individual in the world.

Positive Gives Right to Negative

Every positive gives a right to its negative, in order to make the positive moreso.

A hypothetical: There is freedom in American society, but then it is challenged by Islamic terrorism. It may indicate the freedom is not truly going out to all in American society, as many are being overlooked. And so there is scope for greater true liberty for many.

Even the roots of terrorism are economic in origin. This in turn mirror prosperity problems in America for the lower and middle-class.

It shows the scope of where the positive can become more positive through the subtle lessons of the negative.

Comment: Q: Does this mean that a positive can come through a negative?

A: Yes, positive comes from positive as well negative. Eg after WWII (negative), the United Nations was formed, the EU was born, the end of British Colonialism took place, etc. etc, speeding up the evolution of the human race by perhaps a hundred years or more, whereas before that there was no unity among nations, as each pulled in its own direction, and there was enslavement of other nations through colonialism.

How Supramental Consciousness Perceives Reality

--Supermind perceives the current necessity and purpose of difficult life conditions, where ordinary mind sees conflict and strife.

--Supermind perceives the progressive unfolding of life, where mind sees a jumble of change.

--Supermind perceives how all things fit together in life, including from moment to moment, whereas mind sees a puzzle where the pieces lie scattered.

--Supramental perception perceives the spiritual nature of all things that make up the Reality. Ordinary mind sees spirit as separate from life, if it exists at all.

--Life, the creation, the universe is the body, the physical manifestation of the Spirit, that is evolving. Supermind perceives this. Ordinary consciousness just sees Life as dumb matter on the way toward something unknown.

--Supramental consciousness is always seeing the Higher Harmony current conditions are moving toward. Ordinary consciousness just sees the contradiction and conflict; the good separated from the bad, devoid of progressive movement.

--Supermind sees All aspects of a truth of a matter or thing, whereas ordinary mind sees fragments and parts.

--Supermind sees how each of the parts, aspects, truths of a matter or thing relate to the Other parts, and to the Whole. Mind sees fragments of truth alone in search of some unifying principle.

--Supermind perceives the Essence behind the parts and the whole of a matter or thing.

--Supermind has both the integral Knowledge of a matter or thing, as well as a Will for its Manifestation as real in life.

--Supermind has the power to manifest as real anything it perceives in unmanifest form.

--By opening to the Supramental Power, things that are in discord, conflict, contradiction are resolved into a higher harmony and unity.

To Be Titled

An unexpected negative coming in from a new source can indicate a new opportunity for collaboration.

To Be Titled

The Supramental Power IS Mother.

To Be Titled

One sign of Supramental Life: Miracles constantly occurring.

To Be Titled

At the point you go beyond your current level of Faith, life responds.

To Be Titled

Mother turns fate into Destiny.

Views on Women by Mother and Sri Karmayogi.

1. Women are not subordinate to men in the sense that they have to wait on men and do errands to attend to their physical needs. Instead, they have equal rights to pursue their own interests says Mother.
2. Women can take to spirituality seriously only when they give up their interest in marriage and having children.
3. Women are more attached to property and possessions than they are to their husbands and parents says Karmayogi.
4. Even Sri Aurobindo surrendered to the Divine Mother obeying the spiritual principle that calls for Surrender to divine Shakti.

5. The realization [in Pride and Prejudice] that dawned on Elisabeth that Wickham is fake and that he must be given up is the first instance of rational behavior in literature according to Shri. Karmayogi.
6. The strength of Indian women lie in their loyalty to their husbands according to Sri Karmayogi.
7. A woman has as much right as a man to develop her individuality. Western women are well on their way to doing precisely this, while Indian women are only now starting after being subject to male domination for centuries.
8. Women value their beauty more than anything else and it is not uncommon to find a pretty woman who has an inflated ego that makes her feel equal to the country's prime minister.
9. Apart from physical weakness and more emotionality than men, there is not much difference between men and women.
10. A man who is fully at harmony with his wife has great scope for accomplishment according to Sri Karmayogi. (MSS)

Re-Union of India

Sri Aurobindo and Mother called for the Re-Unification or Re-Federation of India with its former parts and other neighbors. It has been suggested that the best way to facilitate that is through increased trade and economics among the nations. Please see this article on the subject:

<https://www.google.com/.../breaking-the-kashmir-jinx-and.../amp/>

To Be Titled

Turn complaining and blame into gratitude. Life will respond in your favor.

To Be Titled

How others treat us is not dependent on others. It is dependent on ourselves. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The Rishis saw the God in God Himself. Sri Aurobindo saw the God in Man. (Karmayogi)

Comment: I.e. the rishis tried and often succeeded in communing with and merging into the Divine, shunning Life. Sri Aurobindo saw the divinity not just Above, but in Life as well, including Man.

Advantage of Observing Life Patterns

Observe the world from within yourself, and notice the subtle patterns unfolding around you - both visible and unseen. It will give you a great advantage over life - in terms of knowledge, strategies, values, behaviors, and actions.

Outcomes Mirroring Our Attitudes

Unfolding outcomes - whether positive, neutral, negative - are constantly reflecting one's moment-to-moment attitudes. We are normally ignorant or oblivious to this subtle relationship. However, those who are conscious will take the time out to explore, understand, and learn from it. Application is then the next step. Positive Life Response invariably follows.

Applying Inspirational Thoughts

Most of the Inspirational Thoughts presented by people will be forgotten by the reader within 15 minutes. One will quickly go back to one's usual way of being. It is the physical consciousness taking back its control of our nature

Normally that piece of wisdom only sticks when one has gone through a serious ordeal that it relates to. Only then does it become truly real.

On the other hand, conscious people will try to apply the Inspiration as soon as they can in various areas of their lives. They not only elevate their consciousness through application, but gain the added benefit of life soon responding with good fortune in that or a related area. Reader: We have to consecrate the aspiration to apply the inspiration the moment it is read or heard.

Response: Yes, that way the inspiration tends to become "sticky".

To Be Titled

To identify the cause of our failures in external events is the sure way to escape self-correction. (Karmayogi)

Yes, if we blame external circumstance for the cause of our failure, how are we ever going to identify our own complicity in the outcome; our limitations in character that helped bring it about.

To Be Titled

The greatness of USA is that it is able to take the Many - of races, ethnicities, religions, et al - and make the mighty experiment of turning it into the One.

USA and Russia Working Together

Working together USA and Russia, the two military superpowers, can help solve many of the problems in the world - including Israeli-Palestinian, Shiite-Sunni, India-Pakistan, India-China, China-US, N. Korea, Ukraine, etc. etc.

Unfortunately, USA and Russia have lost connection with one another, so richly promised at the end of the Cold War. If they were able to reestablish strong ties and work together to solve global problems, it would make things so much easier for the world. Human progress could accelerate.

To Be Titled

An arduous route that is the longest is the shortest one. (Karmayogi)

Yes, without the arduous route, there would be no result.

Non-Reaction Power Acquired Over Long, Drawn-Out Circumstances

When a long-drawn event is over, we discover that we have learnt one truism of emotion, i.e. attitude. (Karmayogi)

E.g. over a six-month period a man had to deal with very difficult, even dangerous neighbors, and yet in that time he learned the full power of practicing the inner method of Non-Reaction and Detachment that extricated them all from the premises, replaced with very pleasant individuals.

The man had learned of the nuances of the spiritual method of Non-Reaction power. Moreover, the unfolding of these events was at each stage a miracle to behold.

To Be Titled

On the best of days, the worst happens. We must learn to appreciate both. (Karmayogi)

This is a very difficult thing to embrace, as it is very hard to see how great progress is occurring on a very bad day. However, in retrospect it is easy to see. We just have to bring the perspective of the future into our perception of the immediate situation, It will make things much easier, reducing the pain. When we have Faith in Mother it is much easier to navigate.

To Be Titled

Mental occupation or preoccupation is a symptom of incapacity to accomplish what occupies the mind. (Karmayogi)

Yes, e.g. we waste time on games, navigating the internet, et al, while we wonder why we are not getting anywhere in our careers or other aspects of our lives. If we were to reverse the habit and do something useful, opportunities would rapidly move toward us.

To Be Titled

The cold war gave way because the Russians, having come to know of Western prosperity, longed for it. (Karmayogi)

Comment: The same can happen for Muslim Fundamentalism.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo says Nature resorted to foreign invasion [British colonialism] in order to give India geographical unity and succeeded. (Karmayogi)

Comment: i.e. from the material plane the British came to dominate India and use its resources. From the spiritual plane, the British came to unite India.

Reader: Sir, I want to know the spiritual significance of the present state of India, its unsettled issues of the states like threats to public like the farmers of Delta belt, continuous arrests of fishermen by Srilanka leaving them no option for livelihood, the corrupt political system etc. What shall be the Divine Plan behind these issues?

Response: I would say to begin we need a context. From the context (of say India) we can more readily examine situations, and thereby determine their cause and point to a likely solution.

Eg today I went through the following article of Appa's on India. He has several dozen other key dense essays, often in bullet point form. Each is a complex work of genius. From these we can devise essential principles he reveals.

He touches on many ideas, and includes laws of social development in this and the other articles. From these laws when well understood and integrated in our minds, we can understand individual problems and thereby give solutions according to the right context.

It is a lifetime work to go through, though Appa has most of it his mind and thereby can automatically understand any issue, and likely provide a solution.

In Garry Sir's novel 'The Book' the team devise an AI system that can comprehend and solve any problem in the world. It is the same as Appa's principles. It knows the conceptual framework of any problem and therefore has the capacity to offer a deep knowledge of how to resolve it.

If we are so inclined we can begin to learn the principles and see any individual issues that interest us in its right context, and offer helpful solutions.

Here is that one article (on India) I mentioned above.

<http://www.karmayogi.net/?q=india>

Reader: Roy, when reading the link in your reply, i find this quite puzzling in regard to 'supramental life': "Sri Aurobindo desired armed revolution for Freedom. Had it been there in the twenties and freedom won at the point of a gun, those who had died in 1947 in communal riots would have died as heroes on the battlefield earlier. Still, it could not have given us an administration for development." ... When it comes to 'supramental life', i feel this more in line with Gandhi's non-violence --- can you maybe explain why Sri Aurobindo would have desired "armed revolution for Freedom" those days of India's independence struggle?

Response: Gandhi advocated Ahimsa, non-violence. Several times in the 1920s and 30s, the British in India were back on her heels. A little armed resistance from Indians at that time would have sent the British packing. Gandhi refused the opportunity because it was not non-violence. Time went on, Jenner, the leader of the Muslims wanted a nation for them. So eventually did Mountbatten. Independence came, but with it partition into India and Pakistan. Communal violence ensued; millions died. Now two nuclear powers face down one another.

All in one sense because Gandhi didn't seize the moment in the name of Ahimsa. Sri Aurobindo indicated it was a terrible mistake. Armed resistance would have easily done the trick.

Supramental life is different. It is non-violent, except to defend one's self. You cannot have Supramental life if there is colonialism, slavery, oppression, hatred, et al. Human consciousness first must establish this before considering supramental life. Armed resistance is permissible to overcome tyranny. Once essentially established in the mental era, we can go to supramental. The latter is very advanced consciousness. Some are ready for this; most are not.

Gandhi's ideal is great for supramental life, but disastrous in an era of tyranny.

Gandhi refused to fight Hitler in the name of Ahimsa. It was an extreme tactical error in the name of a premature ideal.

Reader: thank you for the reply Roy ---- but how then ever disrupt the "spell" of violence, because people may always find an excuse for "tyranny" and keep repeating violent action-and-reaction to never have to question their own violence?

Response: It occurs progressively. Since 1950s there is 90% less violence in the world. Even 50% reduction from 10 years ago, and accelerating downwardly. Tyranny is thus far less than before. There are breakouts of violence, tyranny for sure, but the trend is definitely downward. Same with disease.

To Be Titled

A Supramental Life can gradually emerge, as violence, tyranny increasingly go down.

To Be Titled

It is an Era of Rising Expectations, everyone wants to be part of the modern world partaking in its benefits NOW. That puts pressures on systems, governments, organizations to be more responsive. As they are responsive, violence goes down. Media showcases tyranny, which also forced violence down. There are more subtle forms of tyranny, such as in China, but that too - its more subtle vs. very physical form - is a sign of progress.

To Be Titled

Supramental Life is for those who have a deep vision, who will evoke response for the benefit of the society from within. They are not waiting on society to solve its problems.

To Be Titled

It is said that one man can change the world through his own vision, affecting the collective vastly. Gorbachev and Steve Jobs are examples. Supramentally we can each be that person.

Reader: thank you Roy, that is a positive answer about violence reduction the last decades... and now i think the time may be now for 'structural' reduction of violence throughout all of society, that reduction of violence now has come to and/or reached the level of so to say "the individual"... in family life, in schools throughout education (so also in the education of the "teachers" of all types of schools and educational institutions), also at the level of the work force, but too any company staff etc., but also where it comes to treatment of animals, such as focus on their wellbeing -- and involved in all this is i think also in how far humanity is conscious of the well-being of Planet Earth and the interaction of our behaviour with our surroundings all-in-all and our relation with one-another and the natural surroundings.

The amazing new technologies are expressions of human spirit [psychic being] evolving in To Be Titled the mind and organising in Matter. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The question the rishis dared not ask and avoided is the question of reconciling Matter and Spirit. ... The point is the Spirit is not the aim, but the Spirit expressing harmoniously the Delight of existence in Matter. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Internet is creating a subtle organisation through the medium of technology which is Mind expressing itself in Matter. (Karmayogi)

Supramental Life Anticipates, Changes the Future

Normal life: Great change happens in the wake of disasters. Supramental Life: all future potential disasters are cognized in advance, and therefore are prevented. One is unconscious, the other fully conscious living.

New Paradigm of Existence for Society by Garry Jacobs

In this extensive article Garry begins to identify the basic components of a new paradigm of society capable of addressing humanity's most pressing challenges and exploiting its unprecedented opportunities.

<http://cadmusjournal.org/.../new-paradigm-necessity-and-oppor...>

Freedom and Humility in Interactive Communication

Give people full license to express themselves, while also feeling you can deeply learn from their expression. It will demonstrate higher values of Freedom and Humility. The interactions will be creative and dynamic, while opening new vistas of understanding.

Connecting with the Reality So We Can Navigate Vast Change in Our Lives.

From the perspective of "the Reality," the All, vast change is unfolding in the course of our lives - with great undulations, giant swings to the positive and negative. And yet from our own limited perspective we are inching along, trying to stay on the same straight and narrow path, hoping to maintain the same rituals and patterns in our lives, avoiding any swings, when in fact vast change is what we are going to experience.

The Reality is the All, and includes all things from Spirit to Matter. The Reality is also past, present, and future. Moreover, if we are in the consciousness of the Reality, the All, we more readily sense and navigate the undulations of change in life; in our own individual lives.

And yet the Reality also includes the Spirit, meaning that Change in our lives can be brought under our control. By following spiritual values, and utilizing the Force of the Divine Mother; the supramental power, we can manage the swings of existence, reducing them down so that we experience a steady, progressive life, harmonious and peaceful, yet dynamic and ecstatic.

To Be Titled

We adore our own children to no end, yet are often indifferent to others' youngsters. It is a sign of possessive, selfish behavior.

To Be Titled

Ordinary Life is a field of conflicting and contradictory forces. Supramental Life is a field of perpetual Unity and Joy.

Power of the Small to Impact Your Life

Even the tiniest thing we do can have an enormous impact on our lives - for better or worse. Therefore, always be mindful of the situation you are in, no matter its level of importance. Stand back in consciousness and observe your behavior, your attitude, and ask yourself whether you are doing the right thing, feeling the right feeling, behaving in the right way. Know that the smallest inner or outer behavior on your part can make or break your life.

To Be Titled

Neutralize every negative feeling you experience in the course of your day. As a result, Life will be your constant friend.

To Be Titled

We seek outer intensities to energize our lives. However, it is the inner connection that is most intense, energizing, and long-lasting.

To Be Titled

We need to practice self-control in our speech. 75% of our verbalizations are unnecessary, as they dissipate, waste our energies, repelling the Good from coming in.

To Be Titled

There is no excuse for Lateness; as it not only irritates, but make things more difficult. Plus, the tardy individual will lose the respect of others.

To Be Titled

Each important action you take, Consecrate; offering it to the Mother and Her Force. Gradually make your way to consecrating even the smallest of acts. Life will surely offer you its bounty.

To Be Titled

Don't be in a rush to show somebody something you've achieved, or have interest in, etc. Instead, bide your time and be patient. It will then have a greater impact on the other party, and the response will more likely be positive.

To Be Titled

Each nation has its own set of unique Issues and Challenges, which the people of the other nations are mostly ignorant of or oblivious to. In this way, the world is a long way from human unity, even though there is an acceleration in this direction.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo was born with a mission to redirect spirituality with its other-worldly look and make it more prone towards earth. He was the first one to say that earthly life is also divine and that it must be brought out with the help of a descending supermind. (MSS)

To Be Titled

The Mother's mission was to work for the descent of supermind. She awakened the aspiration of the very cells of her body for this purpose, though she did not complete the divinization of her body in this life. (MSS)

To Be Titled

When you overcome a small resistance to make a change for improvement in a thought or insight, it opens up the way to even clearer and newer truths, culminating in Supramental Integral Truth if you take it to its logical conclusion.

Honoring those Greater than You

When you meet a person or ideal that is greater than you, there are two possible responses. One is the desire to serve him and the other is to become more than he. The first is the attitude of the sadhak and the second is egoistic human attitude. (Karmayogi)

There was a disciple living in the Sri Aurobindo Ashram. He understood the great teachings of the Master. Still he did not wish to propagate the teachings of the Master, but rather start his own group, which in many ways were divorced from the Master's teachings. It was a completely egotistic movement, which the Mother laughingly commented on.

To Be Titled

In terms of presenting direct, moment-to-moment spiritual and supramental experiences, Sri Aurobindo's Savitri goes beyond his The Life Divine, and Mother's Agenda beyond Savitri.

To Be Titled

Mother's Agenda -- with its 13 volumes/3000 pages of Mother's own experiences narrated by Her to Her disciple over the course of Her last 20+ years (1951-1973) -- is the first diary of Supramental Life.

Comment: Exactly.

Mother - On the True Meaning of Difficulties in Our Lives

"Difficulties are sent to us exclusively to make the realization more perfect.

Each time we try to realize something and we encounter a resistance or an obstacle, or even a failure - what appears to be a failure - we should know, we should NEVER forget, that it is exclusively, absolutely, to make the realization more perfect.

So this habit of cringing, of being discouraged or even feeling ill at ease or abusing oneself, saying, 'There, I've done it again ...' All this is absolute foolishness.

Rather, simply say, 'We do not know how to do things as they should be done, well then, let them be done for us and come what may!' If we could only see how everything that looks like a difficulty, an error, a failure or an obstacle is simply there to help us make the realization more perfect.

Once we know this, everything becomes easy."

(from Mother's Agenda, October 6, 1958)

Extraordinary Experiences of Mother in The Agenda (Revised)

Among the hundreds of inner and outer experiences the Mother had (as narrated to Satprem in the Agenda) were:

- She had taken a great golden hammer that shattered a great wall that enabled the supramental Force to descend onto the earth.

- She described how she became the first Supramental Personality.

- She saw her own body as the future supramental body - as tall, svelte, without any of the human functioning of breathing, digestion, procreation, and others.

- She experienced the creation of the universe as a series of pulsations that she felt as Divine Love.

- She saw a supramental ship and workers made up of a gray substance that was supramental in nature, symbolic of the new species that was being born or developed in the subtle plane.

- She had the constant experience of trying to infuse Her cells with the Divine Force, and that the cells of the body themselves were consciously reacting to that power, taking the first steps towards the elimination of the decay of the human body on the way to willed immortality.

- She was in constant communication with Sri Aurobindo who had left his body and remained very active in the subtle physical plane. She often referred to him as Lord.

- She said that Sri Aurobindo told Her that He would return with the Supramental Body.

- She indicated that during the China-India war of 1962 She had sent her force and thereby caused the Chinese to suddenly withdraw.
- She met with the Dalai Lama and found him to be a man of great magnanimousness and compassion, but more of a mental man than a spiritual personality. She promised him that one day Tibet would be free of China's occupation.
- She had regular contact with the four great dark forces of creation ("asuras"), and helped eliminate at least two.
- She explained how she had tricked Hitler to invade Russia during WWII, causing a second front to open up, which was the beginning of his downfall. (She feigned the Lord of Nations asura, whom Hitler then followed.)
- She scolded the devotees who did not see a giant subtle Sri Aurobindo sitting over the entire community in Pondicherry.
- She narrated her experiences of Her interaction with several of the Hindu Gods, including Durga, who came to her, some of whom surrendered to Her as ultimate goddess as Divine Mother.
- She would walk with Krishna, and He would lay his head on Her shoulder.
- She had the powerful Mantra of Life that Her early spiritual mentor Theon wanted to take from Her, nearly preventing Her from reentering Her body when he had severed Her chord of life.
- She heard a local tree crying and calling to Her, when She had someone check it out and discovered that an ax had been left stuck in its bark.
- She had a childhood experience where She fell off a huge cliff, but then gently floated to the ground.
- She told of many individuals to whom she sent Her force that had the effect of healing them or preventing them from danger, bringing them success, etc.
- She described how the Divine Mother had entered into her being at one point, ("the great lady up there") making her the incarnation of the Divine Mother on earth.
- She tried to convert the Catholic Church (i.e. the Vatican) to have a less repressive view, which would enable the higher consciousness to more readily flow throughout the world.
- She would scream at the cells in order for Her body to become more conscious, and not take to decay, illness, and all.
- She told Satprem that in America there would be the first breakout of Sri Aurobindo's wisdom through Satprem's books. (and that's what happened)
- She indicated in the early 1970s that Communism would fall in Russia (when the world was suggesting the opposite). It would occur in 1989. She said the same for Capitalism.
- She often described the true nature of individuals by merely looking at their photographs.
- She indicated that Sri Aurobindo was very active in the subtle physical plane.
- She revealed how Sri Aurobindo put all of his consciousness in Mother when He left in 1950. And yet She revealed that She lost contact with Him for a number of years, which made things difficult for Her.
- She described how She lost contact with Her Psychic Being when She went to Japan earlier in the century, before reconnecting with it upon Her return.
- She said she was Hapshupset, the first Egyptian queen, in a previous birth. She also indicated past births as Joan of Arc, Catherine of Russia, and the figure painted in the Mona Lisa.
- She helped people die, guiding them to their resting place, or holding their souls within Herself.
- She had extraordinary experiences with cats, and said that a mother cat was in many ways more conscious in terms of her children than a human mother.
- She constantly felt small or great pains due to the ill-will or ignorance of devotees in the Ashram or elsewhere in the world.
- She described how the mystic Theon had taught Her so much of the nature of Reality, and how his teachings were at various points quite similar to Sri Aurobindo's. He almost killed Her when he would not let Her return to Her body unless She gave him the Mantra of Life, which She refused.

-She was surprised how humorous Sri Aurobindo was in his letters with several of his close disciples.

-She was concerned that She was moving ahead too fast for Her followers, and so put out simple and direct statements for them to follow, rather than try to explain her experiences to them.

-She envisioned and developed Auroville, and said there would be no 3rd World War so long as it existed.

-She would suddenly stop all motion of Her head and hands for a minute, after which she said she had just had 20 minutes of experiences. She also had the reverse experience. Time and space were extremely relative for Mother.

-She had the experience of LSD without taking any, and said it leads to madness. Besides, She indicated, one can gain all those inner experiences through higher consciousness.

-She said the hippies had manifest the Supramental Power, but it had gotten distorted due to their inability to hold that Divine power in a balanced way.

-She had a vision of great cities with fantastic skylines in Asia (when hardly one or two existed then), which is what came to pass several generations later.

-She said that Sunil's music, used for Her New Year's Messages and for Her recitation of Savitri, was like no music that has ever been on earth.

-She said that Beethoven had reached into a high sphere to call down his powerful music. She also said that Wagner had gone higher than anyone else in terms of planes of consciousness among the classical Western composers.

-She said She had some of her earliest spiritual experiences while listening to the soaring organ music at several magnificent Jewish temples in Paris.

-She said that money would always come to Her at the last minute when it was in dire need.

-She asked Ganesh for funds to come from America, but He said He had no jurisdiction there.

-We know of the experience of one having an out of the body experience. She also experienced kind of the reverse, where the body went outside of Her.

-She indicated that her consciousness spread out widely throughout the spheres, and that she often appeared as very tall in others' dreams and meditations.

-She indicated on one occasion that in the subtle physical Sri Aurobindo was racing around at fantastic speeds, something like a superhero.

-She would have "meditations" with her eyes open, which it was difficult for other disciples to have thought possible.

-She may have indicated that She had experienced almost every major illness, and yet was able to quickly recover from each.

-She told Satprem that he could communicate with his friend who had committed suicide in order to explain the truth behind the friends' problems.

-She interacted with the cells of Her body who were happy to know about the power of the Force.

-She indicated that Sri Aurobindo was able to make the ground ripple through His Supramental power.

-She scolded the disciples who tried to order her papers in their cleaning effort, when She indicated that the "mess" they thought was there was a perfect organization of Her current interests, thoughts, and writings.

-She had a memory and vision of seeing the child Akhenaton (Amenhotep 3), the future mystic King of Egypt, carrying on in the great court.

-She often mentioned that She had so many difficult experiences in order for Her Faith to be more complete; that it was only Surrender to the Force that enabled Her to get over a number of great hurdles, and nothing else; when nothing else was working.

- She spoke of Her ability to make vast bounding strides as a child that defied all laws of physics.
- She had developed a close inner relationship with Indira Gandhi, until other forces overtook the leader and her agenda.
- She indicated that the Chinese were extremely intelligent; that they were a lunar race; of lunar origins.
- At night she did not sleep, but went into a deep repose.
- She continually tried to be a limpid transmitter of the Force. Mother directs the force like a ray; to cure someone, even to get a thief arrested.
- As Her transformation increases there is a greater need to depend exclusively on the Divine Consciousness. Otherwise there is suffering, danger for her.
- She noticed a web and sub-webs of connection between things. If you improve something you are involved with, it improves related things or connected things on this sub-web. The web that encircles the earth. [like Life Response]
- She indicated that physical disorders disappear when (1) one opens the cells to the Divine, (2) when the cells are convinced that they are Divine, and (3) when the body ego disappears, and is replaced with That.
- She experienced the world as the Divine sees it, and indicated that to experience the world as the Divine sees it is our ultimate purpose.
- The notion of time and space, subjectivity and objectivity, whether things are concrete or not, are of the old species.
- She says that these are all breaking down as she is becoming the new species.
- She said there was something forming in Her that is replacing mind.
- She hears and sees with an inner sense. People who think clearly or express the inner life are perceived better by her.
- She indicated that the fastest way for her to connect to the Divine is through a sense of her own non-entity, non-existence; that only the Divine is what is existent. This helps her progress.
- She indicated how people around her were incarnated now because of a past promise to be present at the hour of realization, and how we can understand our past life aspiration to be here; and how we can continue that aspiration by being in touch with our psychic being, instead of just drifting, and leading ordinary lives.
- She often indicated: "The only thing I do is this (gesture of offering upwards), constantly this, in everything - in thoughts, feelings, sensations, in the body's cells, all the time: 'You, You, You. It's You, it's You, it's You ...' That's all. And nothing else.
- She doesn't have the same experience twice; and she doesn't dwell on previous experiences because she is forging ahead; the works of being transformed is so rapid.

To Be Titled

Sincere "thank yous" are often not appreciated, as the dull physical fails to respond.

To Be Titled

There are many causes of human Ignorance, of which the inability to reason properly is one.

Three Dimensions of Being Integrally Transformed

In the process of becoming integrally Transformed, the subconscious/subconscious of our being below becomes conscious; the mental, vital, and physical parts of our being in the midrange are elevated to their highest status; and we are fully open to the superconscious/superconsciousness above. (paraphrase of MSS)

To Be Titled

The Vedic method is to open to the Light that is above, and bring it into our lives below. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Mother did not try to experience trance apart from life (to achieve silence, bliss, escape from the travails of life, etc.); rather She would constantly open Her life and being so that it could expand endlessly in consciousness.

Security and Limits of Reason

Reason is there as a boundary for our understanding. It gives us a sense of security. But as long as we are feeling safe within the bounds of reason, we are missing the whole Truth, and therefore the entire Adventure of discovery. (paraphrase of MSS)

To Be Titled

Few initiatives we take compare in outcome to what comes to us from Life.

To Be Titled

When there is a serious problem in your life, it is not so much what you do outside that matters, as it is what you do INSIDE.

To Be Titled

In Supramental Consciousness one has the capacity to overcome any problem in life from Within.

Life Patterns for Success and Failure

Eventually at some point in our lives each of us will come to see the subtle and not-so-subtle life patterns and actions on our part that make us successful, and those which cause failure.

If we then dedicate ourselves fully to raising the intensity of the ones that cause success, and hold down the ones that evoke failure, we will attract unprecedented achievement in our lives.

To Be Titled

The entire outer life is inside you, so change it from there.

Creation and Evolution Process

Creation is by division; evolution is by unity. (Karmayogi)

In Creation (aka "involution") the Divine Force divides itself Consciousness and Force. It then further divides into Knowledge and Will. The Knowledge then dissolves, leaving only Will/Force. From that the Energy takes shape, which itself divides further into atomic existence as the forms of the universe. Now there is infinite division in infinite forms, yet now devoid of consciousness in the Creation process.

Now begins the Evolution where everything is unconscious and divided into atomic structure as material formations in the universe. Then it further unifies in plants and animal species; then further unifies as it acquires Mind, the capacity to think and know which had been lost in the Creation process. It then further unifies as humans interact and eventually harmonize with one another, while harmonizing the different parts of their being - mental, vital, and physical. The Evolution then moves toward ultimate Unity through our connection to Spirit, i.e. we organize our existence around a Oneness with all and life. Thus evolution through humanity arrives at a divine station, which is where it started in the Creation process; only now there are infinite variations of Spirit through the forms of life.

Creation/Involution is thus realized through division, a dividing process then ends with forms of Force; and Evolution is realized through Unity, as the unification of all aspects of those forms, i.e. humans with Life.

To Be Titled

God comes to me with the face of man. I see the man, not God. (Karmayogi)

Anthropomorphic view of God is false; even childish. The Divine is a Reality that we can commune with and come to truly know in Its facets by going deep and opening our consciousness wide.

To Be Titled

Ask for your right, abundance will respond.

Don't ask for it, the whole world will come to you. Ask for what is not yours, you will lose what you have. (Karmayogi)

thanks to S

To Be Titled

Culture is not speaking out the low emotions that arise, but the incapacity to have any such emotions. (Karmayogi)

thanks to S

To Be Titled

The greatest physical security comes from Truth. (Karmayogi)

Yes, when one engages in truth, life steps forward at critical moments and prevents physical or other material forms of harm that would otherwise come to you.

Thoughts on the Political, Social, and Economic Challenges Facing India in Light of Sri Aurobindo's Dream

In light of the current political, social, and economic situation in India, the region and in the world, I wanted to mention "Sri Aurobindo's Dream", which he expressed before and after Independence. (of which the Mother concurred). It is essentially this:

- India should be free and independent. (already achieved)
- Asia should rise as a great force and influence in the world, beginning with its prosperity (ongoing)
- India should become prosperous (starting to seriously happen)
- India should re-unite or re-federate with the nations around it, including Pakistan, Bangladesh, and others
- India should rise to become the Guru of the World (small signs occurring, mainly through her quietude and insights of being a relatively neutral player)

In this context I aspire to see all of the significant issues - including Kashmir, India-Pakistan, India-China, etc.- unfold. If not political, then further economic integration among the nation parties will help achieve the goals of Sri Aurobindo's Dream.

In my view, Modi has been doing a fine job of reconfiguring the finances of the country (including exposing money to taxation), while sincerely trying to overcome corruption, bringing about greater cleanliness in the country, etc. He has also held back with harsh war of words with adversaries, which he knows only inflames radical elements. Yet he has remained strong, made necessary military arrangements to prop up India's defense, etc. All within a certain quietude and inner strength.

Still the country faces huge issues, including vast poverty, missing infrastructure, serious problems with caste, potential for communal conflict, abuse of women in various areas, remaining corruption, outdated regulation, etc.

The biggest problem in the world as far as I see it is proliferation of nuclear weapons, and loose talk to use it. It puts the world in grave danger, and threatens all of our dreams, let alone Sri Aurobindo's.

In this regard, it is troubling to see harsh relations between US and Russia, who could potentially mediate some of the issues, reducing the chance of nuclear exchange. They could also stand down their own weapons, thereby avoid giving other, new countries excuse for taking on these weapons as well.

I believe that continued and expanded fair economic trade amongst the nations in conflictive situations is the best solution, short of political solutions.

Our own view is that we can change the world from within ourselves, which is what I saw happen to end the Cold War, (enabled by the action of the Divine Mother and others). The same inner, spiritual approach can work for any of the conflictive situations under discussion here. This is what I mean by the phenomenon of "Life Response."

To Be Titled

When you are in the supramental consciousness and you have an idea or a vision of a possibility, it tends to come about.

Great Growth Among the Planes

For a physical person a life of vital emotions and feelings would be a great growth. For the vital person, it would be a life of the mind (thinking, thought). For the mental person, it would be the spiritual life (of higher mind including light and intuition).

All can also benefit from higher spiritual emotions (self-givingness, gratitude, et all) and being centered in the depths within (soul). Also, Consecration can be taken up from any plane. The more take to these, the more likely we move further into the next plane.

The Garbage Picker

Intensely observe something someone is doing wrong to the point of one's irritation, and their wrong-doing will increase. Shift your thoughts and emotions elsewhere, away from the situation, and the problem will tend to quickly dissipate. This is a startling, but true spiritual principle of life; often referred to as "Non-Reaction" or "Detachment."

A man was watching someone going through his garbage containers, which were outside ready for pick up. The more he observed the man in a state of irritation, the more the picker persisted in getting the items from the containers he desired, including bottles and other recyclables.

However, when the man then shifted his thoughts away from the situation, the picker suddenly stopped his activity, and moved away from the scene. Moreover, the garbage truck suddenly arrived for pick up, much earlier than expected.

Knowing God, the Divine in the Ascent - The Psychic Being

Sri Aurobindo says that after years of searching, He made a supreme discovery. He discovered the psychic. Nobody has ever talked about the spirit evolving before. When you go into the higher experiences or trance you see the great Spirit behind, but He was the first to discover that there is a spirit within the evolution that is evolving. Sri Aurobindo says in The Life Divine the we know God in the descent, but we do not know God in the ascent. God in the descent is the Parameshwara who has willed the creation. But what is God in the ascent? It is the godhead concealed in Matter that is evolving from Matter and progressively manifesting itself. That is the psychic. It is not outside of the evolution. It is the seed of spiritual consciousness that is awakening through our conscious experience in Prakriti. When we talk about the soul that goes through the experience of life after life and evolves and gains knowledge, we really mean the psychic.

Sri Aurobindo made the great spiritual discovery that if you concentrate on the Manomaya Purusha, you go to Purushottama, which takes you outside the creation. If you concentrate on the psychic, if you realize the psychic, it takes you to Parameshwara, the Lord of Creation, inside the creation, and you ascend the path by which the lord descended to manifest the worlds in the first place. You go right up the same path from mind to Overmind to Supermind without ever leaving the world. So He discovered the key. He discovered how we can have that contact with the Lord in the creation and bring down Mother's power into our life. That is the whole secret of this yoga. (Sri Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Mother said that as a result of the creation, there is Division (the Involution), which has to become Unity (Evolution).

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that in each person there is a part of the personality that needs to be transformed (that the soul seeks to be changed in the life, or if not done in one's life, it waits for the next life).

To Be Titled

Mother said that the time of the ego, of a separate personality is over. It is false. Consciousness, action, and individuality is replaced by the Divine.

To Be Titled

Mother said that everything (in life) is useful and necessary. We must be in the movement of the eternal Unfolding and Becoming, accepting all.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that it is better to be a limpid transmitter of the force, and be patient, than being anxious to know what is going to happen.

To Be Titled

Mother said that there is no real good or bad; all is what it should be.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that the Divine Action is so simple, but our complexity, mentality ruins it, diminishes it, distorts it.

To Be Titled

Mother noticed a web and sub-webs of connection between things. If you improve something you are involved with, it improves related things or connected things on this sub-web. The web that encircles the earth. [like Life Response]

To Be Titled

Mother said that the need to think is a transitional phenomenon in human evolution.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that the purpose of human life is to become, to be the Divine. To have the Joy, the Delight that we are the Divine.

To Be Titled

Mother said that before a body can be totally Transformed, an intermediary stage may take place for humanity which will be the capacity for "duration of life at will."

Comment: I.e. the capacity to live as long as one wishes.

To Be Titled

Seeing that all is Divine helps you understand that there is no real conflict or opposition in life when they seem to appear. Then all difficulties fall away.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that our ultimate purpose is to have both the Individual and Universal consciousness, i.e. to see the world as the Divine sees it.

To Be Titled

Mother said that incomprehensible illnesses are appearing as we transition between the old manifestation and the new which the body cannot yet process.

To Be Titled

Mother said that Sri Aurobindo came to tell the world of the Marvel, the Beauty to come, of what can be realized and how we can collaborate in that Realization.

To Be Titled

Mother said that the notion of time and space, subjectivity and objectivity, whether things are concrete or not, are of the old species. Mother said that these are all breaking down as she is becoming the new species. These aspects were necessary as part of the mental perception, which is no longer needed.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that there was something forming in Her that was replacing mind.

To Be Titled

Mother said that for transformation to take place what is needed is Aspiration [for the Divine to manifest in life], and the end of Ego. To those who are Sincere in this regard will receive the divine help.

To Be Titled

Difficulties compel change.

To Be Titled

Mother often spoke of overcoming the defeatist subconscious (subconscious), which believes in the inevitability of death, by bringing in complete Faith in the Force and the certainty of the Transformation.

To Be Titled

We are at a decisive hour in the history of the earth. The earth is preparing for the advent of the supramental being, and because of this the old way of living loses its value. One must launch oneself consciously on the path of the future in spite of the new exigencies. The pettinesses tolerable at one time are no more so; one must widen oneself to receive that which shall be born. (Mother)

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that there is a new power manifesting in Her: the body's new freedom to decide its fate. The Supramental Manifestation gives the freedom of the body itself to decide its fate.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that the end of physical suffering will come through the Force, fully within a few centuries.

To Be Titled

Mother said that the Financial power is the materialization of a vital force turned into one of the greatest powers of action: the power to attract, acquire, and utilize.

To Be Titled

Mother said that the purpose of difficulties is to make our realizations more perfect.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that the further you progress in yoga the greater the need for humility, elimination of the ego.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that the yoga, the true mastery, begins with the tiny things of life at the bottom (habits, thoughts, feelings, etc.) combining with the consciousness at the top; to do work for yourself, and for all.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo says that as you progress you become more universalized, and thus you take on the burdens of others and the world.

To Be Titled

As Mother evolved, her past became non-existent for Her, as if it occurred to another person. She indicates that when the past can no longer bring a lesson to be learned, it recedes and disappears; otherwise one cannot normally try to forget the past.

Direct Perception

Mother said that when neither physical vision or hearing are there, you perceive the thing directly, giving you true knowledge. This is how the Supermind will function.

To Be Titled

A life consecrated to the Divine is the only one worth living. (Mother)

To Be Titled

Our practical knowledge is based on an experience that has become worthless. (Mother)

Reader: Roy, do you know when this was said, approx. what year?

Response: Feb 27, 1971

Agenda is -1951-1973; mostly 1960 onward.

To Be Titled

Today the whole world is following the USA because she is rich. India will be heard with respect if she is Prosperous and Indians realise her spiritual greatness. (Karmayogi)

My Recent Posts of or About the Mother

Please note that a number of the posts of or about the Mother I've recently posted in Facebook come from my analysis of 'Mother's Agenda' that I began 15 years ago.

There are 13 volumes in all, and the posts are mostly from statements I extracted from Her discussions in 1951-1960 (volume 1), and especially from 1971 (volume 12). Hopefully, one day I will complete the study. 😊

To Be Titled

Truth discovers all sides of an issue; not just the side one is predisposed to.

To Be Titled

He who sees a fool as a fool is the FOOL. (Karmayogi)

Yes, every person serves a purpose. In Shakespeare's 'Much Ado about Nothing' a pending tragedy is about to take shape. However a bumbling fool saves the day. No one would ever thought it possible.

We must take every person seriously.

To Be Titled

To one who can dissolve the sorrow of a tragedy, no tragedy ever comes. (Karmayogi)

Incredible remark ... and startlingly true.

Mother's Force Calms Conflict

If you are in Mother's consciousness and physical, violent activity is threatened somewhere in the world, yet you aspire for peace and calm in this locale, unexpected events or related will suddenly take shape that will prevent the conflict from occurring. It is another indicator of the peace-creating power of the supramental Force and Action.

Effect of Dishonesty

In Mother's consciousness, dishonesty of any sort, even if insisted on by the client, will attract unexpected new expenses back to one's person.

Comment: Thank you S. Very insightful. It is easy to let things slip. We need to always be vigilant.

Also, Consecration will help if we have erred; i.e. after the fact.

Values, Methods, and Life Response in the Organization

Higher values evoke Life Response (sudden good fortune) for the organization. In addition, each individual can practice particular inner methods to evoke life response in his/her job, which brings him positive reward through the Life Response phenomenon, which also vibrates out to the organization.

Shifting to Higher Attitudes

What can you do to shift from the lower to the higher attitude for each of these 13 dual pairs?

- Unwillingness to Willingness -
- Arrogance to Humility -
- Self-Importance to Respect for Others -
- Impatience to Patience -
- Suspicious to Accepting/Trusting -
- Unreliable to Reliable -
- Pessimistic to Optimism -
- Defensive to Expansive -
- Insecure to Self-Confident -
- Closed Minded to Open-Minded -

- Self-Satisfied to Aspiring -
- Resentful to Goodwill -
- Sarcasm to Sincerity -
- Indifference to Caring

Patience and Impatience

-Patience speeds up the transaction. Impatience, the opposite.

-Patience also attracts a more positive outcome, opposite of impatience.

Startling Sales Training Technique

One day many years ago I found myself sitting in a chair on a stage next to my sales manager who sat in another chair opposite me. Other sales people observed the proceedings in the audience.

The goal was for me to ask for the sale from the customer (played by my sales manager) to see if I had the necessary skills in that area.

And so I proceeded to ask him for the sale: "Would you like to buy it" I said to him with a sense of clarity and certainty. He looked in my eyes for a second, and then answered "No."

I somewhat bemusedly thought that his response was interesting. And so I gathered myself once more and asked him again for the sale, this time with a little more conviction. Again, he responded "No."

Well this strange, yet amusing interaction would go on for perhaps 10 iterations. Each time I would try to muster up more conviction and persuasiveness, but each time to no avail. Now frustration was building. Also, each time I had to ask I also had to overcome the hilarity of the situation; especially my sales manager with his brilliant dead-panned "No."

Then on the next round when I was nearly at my wits end, he shocked me by answering "Yes" to my offer! I was startled by his response, but I knew this time I not only had conveyed conviction, but I was not worried in the slightest whether or not I would secure the sale. And so, my sales manager detected that dual capacity, and therefore accepted my offer!

In retrospect it seems that he too was simultaneously attached and detached in his sales skills teaching method!!

It was a hilarious and profound learning approach and experience, and certainly helped me in later sales efforts.

Done right, I suppose this little episode could make a humorous, yet instructive scene in a film or a sales instruction manual.

To Be Titled

Each reversal from irritation to acceptance attracts positive conditions that bring you that much faster/closer to your goal.

Garnering the Knowledge of Subtle Insight

It is relatively easy to perceive the obvious messages Reality is presenting at every moment. And yet the real insight, knowledge, and power are the SUBTLE messages coming in that are almost always missed. Living an inner, instead of a surface, life will reveal these continuously.

A Vision and Plan for the Supramental Life Facebook Group

What do we want to express in this Supramental Life Facebook group, as well as the booklet and other expressions that come out of it?

--a vision of a new, divine way of living

--lived expressions of the new, divine way of living

--expression of the spiritual aspects, values in our lives - such as peace, harmony, truth, delight, etc.

- life response phenomenon; including methods to evoke it
- personal and spiritual growth aspects, methods
- character of life; i.e. how life works
- how supramental life works relative to life's normal character
- expressions of supramental life for the individual, for society, in business, etc
- metaphysics of existence, including process of creation, involution, evolution, and the Reality; and the role of the plane of supermind in the process.
- the nature of the supramental plane (supermind)
- the supramental force and action
- human transformation; integral yoga, whose outcome is supramental life
- supramental perception
- expressions of a supramentalized mind, life (vital), body
- vast, varied, startling benefits that come through supramental life
- progress and evolution of life on earth (on the way to supramental life)
- sri aurobindo and mother - their experiences and insights as related to supramental life
- MSS inputs on this topic from all directions
- inclusion of insights from supramental knowledgebase
- inputs, comments, et al from viewers
- a pathway to an interactive, supramental life website. with systems, tools, knowledge to elevate the individual
- other, your inputs?

Reality of Life

When one's soul seeks Knowledge,
 It may come as contradictions on the surface,
 To one's opinion, belief, values and so forth.
 As the mind can see only the partial view,
 It is hard to embrace the Hints of life,
 And when one continues to insist on his ignorance,
 The message of life often gets lost.
 It is wisdom to learn from life,
 That tries to teach us, always.
 On the contrary,
 It is folly to insist on learning
 By only going through self-experience.
 When one insists on that adamantly,
 What appeared as the easier choice at that time,
 Could become the most difficult path to one's progress.
 Darcy, had he listened to Bingley at Meryton, (in Pride & Prejudice),
 Would not have needed to go through bitter experiences,
 When life had presented his soul mate,
 He insisted on his surface ego and called her "tolerable".
 Siddhartha, had he listened to his father in the beginning, (in Siddhartha),
 Would not have needed to go through a cycle of life
 To learn what he wanted to know in the beginning.
 When life presented the cross-road decision,
 He became the victim of his ego and chose his own path.

Cooper, had he listened to his daughter Murph, (in Interstellar),
 Would not have needed to miss his family for a long period of time.
 When life presented an easier way to solve the problem,
 He ignored his daughter's call and valued his common-sense.
 Yet, years later,
 All of them came back to the same Reality,
 And after, went through an arduous process on the surface.
 And through all those experiences,
 Their souls had learnt what it had wanted to learn.
 What about us?
 Gross is our surface life,
 And subtle is our path to Destiny.
 Its wisdom to learn the knowledge of life,
 That tries to teach us on multiple fronts:
 Not only through our own experience,
 But, in so many other ways,
 Like through history, literature, other's experience and so forth.
 By being conscious at every moment,
 By being receptive to what life offers us,
 By applying Laws of Life Response,
 And by raising our consciousness endlessly,
 We could evolve through an easier and shorter path.
 Otherwise, one might need to face the ordeal of experiences,
 Like Darcy, Siddhartha and Cooper had gone through.
 We can align with Cosmic Reality or Karmic Reality,
 The choice is ours.

(SM)

Comment: Very fine "wisdom poem."

Knowing the Subtle Laws of Life enable us to avoid 90% of our meandering (in space and time) towards our goal. We can discover that true Knowledge when we move to a deeper center of being. With this wisdom applied, success can happen quickly; even at the beginning!

Thus all 3 of the individuals addressed in the poem could have achieved it at the start. Unfortunately, Ego got in the way of each, and the journey to their individual desired destinations was long and arduous.

To Be Titled

In a very difficult situation Mother will often bring about an extremely simple solution.

On Reactionary Forces

Reactionary forces are necessary as sign posts to remind us, to energize us to do, to become the very opposite. In that sense, they aid us all greatly and speed up the Evolution.

GIIMS Speech

I just had the pleasure of completing a remote presentation from California to the staff of Global Institute of Integral Management Studies (GIIMS) in Kochi, India on the topic of 'Attitudes and Life Response'. It was a wonderful experience.

To Be Titled

Mind refuses comprehension of those ideas it dislikes. (Karmayogi)

Yes, the crux of the problem. "Taste of Ignorance."

To Be Titled

The soul seeks another soul, never knows its name. Man identifies other souls by caste, place, country, race. (Karmayogi)

Yes, it is a key difference between the evolved, spiritualized individual and the normal person.

Humility and Learning from Others, Life

One sure mark of humility is the willingness to learn from inferiors, and it reaches its acme when the emotions consent to learn from those whom you taught. The best of spiritual humilities is learning from adverse circumstances. (Karmayogi)

Yes, I have learned so much from my students, particularly in trying to respond to their difficult-to-answer questions. Also, as I become more aware, I am increasingly learning from adverse circumstance. It is key to growth in consciousness.

To Be Titled

By knowing Character of Life principles and by developing Supramental Perception one can far more easily anticipate and even predict future outcomes.

Income Inequality

According to a 2016 Oxfam report, the wealth of the lower earning 50% of the global population dropped by 41% between 2010 and 2015.

In 2017, an Oxfam report noted that just eight billionaires own as much combined wealth as "half the human race".

'Arrival' and Simultaneous, Supramental Time

The visionary 2016 science fiction film 'Arrival' can be seen as a magnificent exposition of Sri Aurobindo's startling and profound concept and experience of "Simultaneous Time," where past, present, and future are synchronous in the eternal Now. Where we can in the present be one with the past and the future, meaning that the separation of the three is an illusion. They are part of one continuum that we can experience in an ever-present. I can thus fully perceive the future in the present; and I can fully know the past, not through memory, but direct experience.

It is in essence Supramental Time, which we are evolving toward, and which we will naturally experience in the future.

In Sri Aurobindo's view when we connect with our psychic being (evolving soul) within, the past, present, and future are fully at our disposal in the present, with full experience of and power over all three in the Now. We simultaneously have access to all three in the present.

Uniqueness of Generations

Each generation has its own unique energies. One issue is whether that generation is aware of those particulars, and is best able to utilize them. Merely dumbly moving forward on the wave of that force, without knowing it's hidden purposes, unique values, will land one and one's generation nowhere, and easily forgotten.

Intensity of Youth

Young people enjoy the intensity of negativity, whether in film or in real life, as it stimulates them; yet at the same time they are innocently or foolishly ignorant of the consequences.

Reader: Well Roy, i think young people do not know difference as long as it moves it just moves, there is no comprehension, though comprehension may only start with all those sensations if further growing in maturity... and ability of distinction can come, though question is 'whether' maturity will ever be reached --then with immature (not necessarily young) people, if no ability to distinct the bulk of different types of information... if no ability to discern...., there is no possibility to 'transcend' and the result is the world as we are in now, albeit for the moment... (Or this how i see it.)

Response: Yes, I see your point. And yet eg Education can be very helpful in this regard. Within education we can also teach aspects of personal growth - like higher attitudes, personal values, taking responsibility for your actions, even life response. Conscious parenthood can also be helpful.

Christian View of God and Prosperity

Many of the famous Christian American spiritual teachers have focused on how to discover one's deeper or higher self in order to become Prosperous. Among them are Billy Graham, Dale Carnegie, and Norman Vincent Peale. Thus, in a way, Prosperity for Americans IS God. Anything less is to be out of touch with Him.

Perceiving the Problem Inside

The yogic poise is that the problem is never out there, but in here.

Ie from within we can take responsibility for any problem around us or even in the world, by discovering the corresponding negative element within ourselves, and make the effort to change it, consecrate it. This is how the practitioner of the integral yoga, i.e. the aspiring supramental individual handles it. The problem around us then dissolves.

To Be Titled

Wherever there is disastrous circumstance, you will find the root of it in consciousness.

To Be Titled

We love to gain benefit from Mother, but are not so willing to change our nature so we don't have to constantly ask.

On Equality and Fairness in the World

In one sense the world is becoming far more equal than ever before, as we see China and then India come out of poverty en mass. But in terms of money, a very tiny fraction of the people own most of the wealth in the world. This extremely unequal wealth distribution is patently unfair, and portends rebellion and insurrection.

To Be Titled

He who begins to love what he so far hated is crossing into sainthood. (Karmayogi)
thanks to S

Virtue of Self-Restraint

There is only one virtue. It is self-restraint. (Karmayogi)

Example: In Pride and Prejudice, Mrs. Gardner while riding in a coach with her husband and Eliza Bennet, restrains herself from speaking to Eliza about Eliza's budding relationship with Darcy. An hour later, Eliza, after visiting Darcy's vast estate at Pemberley, falls in love with Darcy. Had Mrs. Gardner interfered, it would have upset the entire balance of the story. She practiced masterful self-restraint; the greatest of (life response evoking) virtues.

On Praising Others

Small mind seeks to stay on top by withdrawing praise of others. Expanded mind realizes when it gives praise to others, good fortune comes roaring back.

To Be Titled

Whatever one boasts about insures the opposite will soon come about. (RP)

Linking the Rivers of India

Appa (Karmayogi), the great sage and genius of India, has for decades advocated the linking of the rivers of India for greater access and use of water and energy. Perhaps like many of his dreams for India this too will come to pass. (here is the article)

<https://in.reuters.com/.../modis-87-billion-river-linking-gam...>

To Be Titled

From the Yogic point of view, every event and circumstance is a Marvel. (RP)

Patience and Gratitude

It is in patience one recognises the value of gratitude. (Karmayogi)

Impatience is to want; to be unsatisfied with the current situation. Patience is to accept, and to have the wherewithal to feel gratitude of current conditions.

Giving Love & Its Return

He who discovers love in life is one who gives that love so that it is evoked from other hearts, not one who expects it from others. (Karmayogi)

Giving love evokes life response of receiving love from unexpected sources.

To Be Titled

The bitterest event is the closest approach to Mother. (Karmayogi)

Being in the depths of despair brings us closest to Her.

On Attention

Man, without exception, enjoys attention, seeks it, and copiously responds to it. It is strange that he is totally unaware of the Divine's Attention to him all the time. (Karmayogi)

A beautiful and uplifting sentiment.

To Be Titled

When you solve a problem, others come forward and recognize it for a completely different benefit.

Levels of Being Treated

People treat you according to your status generally, but when they are keen, they treat you as you are to them. (Karmayogi)

Yes, status is lowest and most common consciousness; as you are to them is somewhat higher, though not always; as divine is when they see your soul as extension of their own.

Who Is At Fault

Start any inquiry with, "I am always at fault", then there is no way you can fail. (Karmayogi)

Yes, this is very hard. But it is essential for breaking with the Ego and coming into higher consciousness. If we see it work a few times, by getting a sudden positive response from life, then we will be more eager to try it out again and again.

Saraswathi adds: Thank you sir. It makes one feel lighter I have observed. If I always feel I am right, the rigidity causes a burden.

To Be Titled

Guide people There

Only from where

They are Now

Comment: In my little haiku poem above, 'There' is essentially higher, spiritual, divine consciousness.

To Be Titled

When there is a problem and you refrain from blaming another, unexpected solutions suddenly appear from your inner or outer field of vision.

Sri Aurobindo's Cosmic View

In Sri Aurobindo's cosmic view, Supermind is the dynamic manifestation of the Absolute, serving as the intermediary between Spirit and the manifest world, enabling a universe of energy and forms to emerge from out of the Divinity, and facilitate the transformation of those forms back into Divine being.

Friends' Positive & Negative Attributes

Each friend you have will have one or several distinct attributes you admire, and can therefore try to emulate. Likewise, each friend will have one or more distinct negative qualities you can also recognize, and which you surely want to avoid.

The Water Heater

Don't sell a negative short. By taking care of it, it might just reveal yet another lurking, hidden problem, which now can also be resolved.

Example: A man's water heater had failed to produce hot water. He called in the plumber who took care of it. On the way out, the plumber then pointed to the air-conditioner fixed into a window, and noted that there was a clog in the water release. Two minutes later, the man took care of that as well. As we see, without the first problem, the second problem might never have been revealed; thereby avoiding a potentially dangerous situation.

Any problem can thus serve a purpose greater than itself; whether as an opportunity to resolve another issue, or the unexpected arrival of some other way forward

To Be Titled

By going Within, you are far more attuned to the needs of the future, and the right influences of the past.

Spending & Non-Wastage Together Attract

Willingness to spend when there are needs, instead of hoarding, together with a decision not to waste funds on what is unnecessary, attract new sources of funds from unexpected sources.

Anger and Your Fault

Every time you are angry, whether at someone or something, you can discover a fault of your own lurking behind.

Eg a man was angry that after he spoke his spouse did not understand what he was talking about. He then came to realize that he was expressing himself when she was busy and could not understand his words. Had he been patient and waited till he had her undivided attention, then the problem and the anger would not have been necessary.

To Be Titled

Mother Nature, in the form of disasters - whether hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, fires, etc. - is always expressing the consciousness of the residences and influencers.

Reader: Yes Sir. But many people doesn't seem to understand Mother nature

Response: People understand the physical aspects of Mother Nature to a large extent, but not how consciousness, including its dark human evoked evokes natural disasters.

Even Mother Nature and her physically destructive movements can be re-directed when we know the inner keys. I have seen it happen many times.

Beyond that people do not understand how LIFE/NATURE itself works, of which Mother Nature is a material subset.

Reader: But the "cause" is not necessarily local, although it is true that this place is 'one and the same' planet..., Planet Earth..., where still too many people are living in division from within themselves, hence creating conflict, disruption, suffering, disbalance, disharmony etc., denial of love all in all and unconscious about it, they do not act as one humanity. How can they talk about nature then when that is about the first they deny? When we realise we are one humanity and all life, including animal life and plant life etc., is one life together... what does our world and beautiful planet look like then and how does that feel... it can only feel truly great and liberated from all whatever darkness within as that is now cause of all division, cause of all problems. How do you see this Roy?

Response: Yes, the cause in consciousness can be local, regional, national, global, etc.

It also always repeats in cycles based on the consciousness that is brought to bear at the time. Bush or and Trump have similar regressive global views. Disastrous Katrina happened in Bush's reign, almost no hurricanes occurred during Obama's, and they appear furiously again under Trump.

To Be Titled

Global Warming and its mufti-faceted effects is the negative unfolding that will increasingly move, force the world into a higher levels of Human Unity.

To Be Titled

All the problems in the world are indications that the old world is cracking up, and a New World is being born.

Conscious-Force in the Involutionary and Evolutionary Processes

As things divide in the Involution, the Conscious-Force is progressively absorbed. Ie out of cosmic mind comes energy and then matter, infinitely divided in its atomic makeup. It (matter) begins as complete unconsciousness.

As things unite in the Evolution, through the emergence of higher life forms, but even more so through higher human qualities (of attitudes, values, behaviors, actions, culminating as spiritual attributes), the Conscious-Force progressively reappears, returning to the surface of life. It is complete, integral (supramental) Consciousness.

To Be Titled

Mother calls Sri Aurobindo's Philosophy NEW Spirituality. Those who take to Mother happily follow the new spirituality in the ways of the old Spirituality. Sooner or later, it stops working. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Money that represents the emerging spiritual Individual is a tool of non-competitive society that is the basis of the World Union. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Mind that comprehends Money that represents the individual is more than the Mind that we know. It is a mind that moves towards the Supermind. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Man who moved from inside without the external compulsion is the evolutionary individual. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Money in the world can Self-multiply, drawing its energies from the individuals who are not possessive, acquisitive, competitive, or miserly. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

Comment: Example: Silicon Valley founders for 30 years desired to create products and services to benefit humanity, with interest in becoming wealthy a distant second or lower still. The result; a staggering amount of wealth going to them as a result of the benefits they brought to the world. Money just multiplies and even self-multiplies in that environment.

Reader: Still i cannot help seeing "money" is totally unnecessary.

Response: Money is a divine power that can help bring about human fulfillment so long as the values are high.

What money actually depends on the level of trust among the people. The higher the values, the trust, the more subtle the firm money takes on, and the more money circulates into the right places supporting human fulfillment.

Society could exist without money, on say a higher ideal, but it would require a commensurate power to sustain it, such as love. Without that underlying conscious basis - whether trust or harmony or love as the basis of exchange - the entire society would collapse.

Money has not yet fully succeeded because money has become Dark due to human Ego. Money is not inherently dark, only humans are. Rather money is a social force, even a divine force for the purpose of uplifting humanity.

Reader: Thank you for your reply on "money", Roy --- still i do not consider it being a valuable something of any value worthwhile living for.

Response: One should never live for money, but for high values. Money is simply a resource, like ships, bridges, roads, energy, and food. One should not live to eat, but to live, to enjoy, to create, to love.

Resources thus serve to help, support these human needs.

Just as we misuse energy, we misuse money. However increasingly we are learning to utilize them in better ways, in newer forms that can more readily, harmoniously serve humanity.

Also, when we learn the subtle laws of money, it circulates without dark shadow. It moves, it circulates like any useful resource in the Light.

For a deeper explanation of the purpose and meaning of money, please see our article here: <http://cadmusjournal.org/article/issue-5/power-money>

To Be Titled

To accomplish at a higher level, the laws of life and Spirit are to be discovered. They are in the subtle Causal planes. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Mind that thinks to understand should shift to an understanding without thinking i.e. through SILENCE. (Karmayogi)

Supermind's Role in Deployment of Spiritual Attributes

Supermind set forth, deployed the Real Ideas of the Infinite Divine into creation, including spiritual attributes of Peace, Silence, Harmony, Truth, Knowledge, Goodness, Creativity, Love, Delight, Timelessness, and Infinity.

The Source consciousness wished these spiritual attributes/values to manifest in creation, Supermind brought them into being, and it is up to us to make them real in the world, fulfilling the Divine Intent.

In a Divine (supramental) Life, these spiritual values are fully manifest as real.

Supermind in the Involution and Evolution

INVOLUTION - From out of an ineffable, immutable Infinite Reality emerged Sat-Chit-Ananda, in essence, a Conscious Being and Force (Conscious-Force). From that emerged the plane of Supermind, which rendered Space and Time, unleashed Spiritual attributes (real ideas) into existence; out of which emerged the plane of Mind, and out of it dumb Energy, culminating in material existence (Matter).

At the dawn of creation, the original Conscious-Force is fully hidden, absorbed in creation.

EVOLUTION- Now begins the Evolution - from Matter to the emergence of Life Forms, to the development of Mind in those forms, to our opening to Supramental truth consciousness and force, enabling the manifestation of the spiritual attributes/values in the world,, culminating in a supramentalized existence (truth, unity consciousness), a divine life on earth..

In that process, the Conscious-Force once hidden, absorbed at the dawn of creation fully emerges in the forms (ie us) in creation.

Supermind's Multi-Faceted Role in Existence

We can distinguish four aspects of Supermind in and out of creation:

1. Supermind is a plane of existence that is a further projection of Sat-Chit-Ananda (Existence - Conscious-Force, Delight), enabling a universe to emerge from a Divine Source.
2. Supermind rendered and set loose the spiritual attributes/values in creation, including peace, harmony, knowledge, truth, goodness, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity so the forms of creation can manifest them as real, extending the spiritual values of the Source into we humans in the universe.
3. Supermind is a force and plane that we can open to that will help divinize our lives. It is the Mother's Force we can give ourselves to, to further our evolution.
4. Supermind is a plane of Mind beyond Intuitive Mind and Overmind (universal consciousness), where we can know a thing or matter in its complete integral fullness and truth, with an added power for that knowledge to instantly become real in the world.

To Be Titled

It is one of the great ironies of our time in America that the people of the South and Midwest, and rural areas, who have been the most anti-government and conservative, increasingly need that government's financial resources the most.

To Be Titled

As conceived in USA, "Rugged Individualism" is different than Individuality. The former is rooted in anti-government feeling, carried over by immigrants from Europe to escape gov't religious oppression there 300 years ago, though wholly unnecessary in a free USA. The latter, which includes entrepreneurship, is what has helped make America great.

To Be Titled

A sincere man knows he is not sincere. (Karmayogi)

Yes, a sincere person is more willing to accept the truth of himself, including his limitations, such as a degree of insincerity.

To Be Titled

Effort turning into Enjoyment quickly attracts unexpected positive developments.

To Be Titled

Mother Nature works synchronously with the consciousness of the environs.

Young Minds, Old Minds

Though they may not fully understand the wisdom, young minds are often far more receptive to knowledge than old ones, which often become crusted over.

And yet when old minds open up, a new chapter of their life is born, can suddenly blossom, in ways no one would have imagined.

To Be Titled

Life forces ignorant disbelievers to become believers. Otherwise, their ignorance, falsehood, and treachery expand.

To Be Titled

In one sense His spiritual path is actually quite simple. Go within, be still, and go further until you reach the psychic being (soul). From there, open to Mother. Everything else will take care of itself; often in the most extraordinary ways.

To Be Titled

Objections are opportunities - whether short or long-term.

To Be Titled

The ignorant and false will stay that way up till the critical moment of truth affecting them; not a second before.

To Be Titled

Progressive people can learn how to be silent and non-critical of non-progressive ones. It will enhance the arc of their career, including the implementation of their fondest dreams and aspired for personal values.

To Be Titled

Everything in life is invisibly inter-connected in the most complex ways. Life Response phenomenon reveals it all. As we live on the surface, we perceive an infinitesimal fraction of that reality.

To Be Titled

The thirst for physical conquest morphed into economic imperialism and colonialism which have morphed into the global marketplace we know today. (MSS)

On the Deeper Benefit of Trade

-Flourishing trade is a sign that a nation has achieved a level of social maturity beyond the stage of war.

-Trade forges relationships and unifies populations, enriching people's lives by presenting them with a more diversified product range. (MSS)

Guns in US & Nuclear Weapons.

The persistence of gun culture in the U.S. Is the cause of thousands of deaths every year. This relic of the earlier culture of violence could be a reason for the failure to abolish nuclear weapons. (MSS)

To Be Titled

The USA atoned enough for its earlier reluctance to outgrow a barbarian practice [slavery] by electing Barack Obama as the first African-American President. (MSS)

On Cultural Unity in the World

The world has long desired cultural unity, which does not mean cultural uniformity. Cultural unity must be based on a recognition and respect for the rich diversity of cultural influences that have contributed and continue to contribute to human evolution.

The unification of cultures will enable each society to complement and complete its own cultural development by enriching it with the multicultural perspectives of other societies.

Even if cultural unity remains a distant goal, at least cultural cooperation is possible now. (MSS)

Employment as Universal Right

Employment for all job seekers is a subject of immense importance in the field of economics, though contradictory views are put forth regarding its feasibility. When recognized as a fundamental human right, it will acquire the political power for implementation. (MSS)

Reader: but what is meant with "employment"? is it about people to be able to live their utmost inner truth? as long as the mentality is too physical, or so, real life values suffer marginalization.... and oppression

Response: Yes, employment just to live, to survive, to merely enjoy the fruits of one's labor at the material level, without any values would not be much of an improvement.

And yet before people can have a divine-like life, it is best that there is a stability of living - in the forms of employment, prosperity, systems, organization, education, human rights, freedom, opportunity, fairness, equality, inclusiveness, individuality, etc. This foundation will help the world forward, and serve as a basis for human fulfillment, including of the spiritual kind.

Reader: i think in all this what we need 'now' is restoration of nature, restoration of the planet, restoration of ourselves in who we truly are without illusions, understanding ourselves --- and so in it all a basic natural 'respect' for life wherein corruption of values for the sake of "egocentrism" has no place

Response: It's true, and increasingly so. And yet humanity is making large strides in trying to prevent pollution, for further deployment of alternate energy, for trying to help animal species survive, non-killing of whales, etc etc

It's just that the entire past effect has accumulated, and it is now on our shoulders. A recent poll indicated that the Millennial generation has the environment and what to do about it as their highest value. 50 years ago only hippies talked about that. Now the world is coming awake to these issues, to the value of Mother earth, distancing themselves from money and material things as the only value.

Naturally we see the planet and its cumulative stress as a metaphor for ourselves. Heal the Planet, Heal Ourselves.

And I would add that the more we heal ourselves, opening to higher Consciousness, the more life will respond and new dramatic developments will occur at the level of environmental progress. Thus, from within we can heal the world. At that level we can begin to become universal songs. I have experienced that a number of times, and have written about it. We can change the weather, overcome fires, stop wars from within. Mother and Sri Aurobindo did it constantly using the Force. Some of us have done it too.

Reader: yes, heal only from 'within' ---yet now, mostly, alas still corrupt values prevail

Response: Yes, and that is why we must go deeper to change things.

It doesn't change out there. It only changes in here, and, as a result, the out there reflects it. This is how the new supramental world emerges.

Societal Developments for the Avoidance of Violence

Physical violence eventually led to the development of the knowledge needed for the avoidance of violence by means of diplomacy, trade and cultural exchanges, marking the beginning of the transition from the physical to the mental level of evolution. (MSS)

Evolving a Universal Global Culture

The world is in the process of evolving a unifying global culture founded on universal values and recognition of the rich contributions of different cultures to humanity's progress. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Dark forces have risen in America and other parts of the world, giving rise to the propensity and urge for violence and war that have lied dormant. We must patiently push back on these irrationalities in order to bring about the unprecedented, higher values that are ripe and ready to emerge in society.

Life Response Q & A - By Roy Posner

[note that this text flows according to the original 13min. video of the same name]

1. WHAT IS LIFE RESPONSE?

Life Response is the phenomenon where the conditions of life suddenly or very rapidly turn positive due to a shift in one's consciousness.

What normally takes days, weeks, months, or never happens at all, occurs in a very short time; or in a matter of moments -- or even instantaneously in the blink of an eye!

-

Some Examples of Life Response:

-A low-producing salesperson gives up his RELUCTANCE to work weekends and instantly attracts the biggest sale of his life as soon as he arrives at work.

-A man gives up his LIMITED ATTITUDE about the service he is offering, and suddenly his business takes off like a rocket

-A man studies the issue and then calls to the Spirit, and all of a sudden a major electrical crisis facing his entire country suddenly comes to an end after weeks of near catastrophic conditions.

2. WHAT IS THE PRINCIPLE BEHIND THE PHENOMENON OF LIFE RESPONSE?

It is this: What is occurring on the outside is a direct reflection of our inner condition.

Thus, when we change our consciousness inside, life instantly responds in kind on the outside.

In that way life is like a mirror, constantly reflecting who we are; what we think, feel, and believe.

We call this relationship 'Inner-Outer Correspondence.'

3. WHAT DO WE MEAN BY ALIGNMENT?

When there is a Life Response outcome, the two parties involved have in essence moved into Alignment with one another.

Their shift to a higher level of consciousness brings them together in a common point in space and time.

In Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice novel, Elizabeth Bennet, the daughter of a middle class 18th century family goes to visit the estate of Mr. Darcy, where she discovers that he is far nicer person than she had thought, causing her attitude to change about him.

Two minutes later when she approaches the estate's lake he suddenly appears out of nowhere, when he wasn't expected back for days. As a result of this, they would fall in love and soon marry. By changing her attitude toward, him, the two moved into alignment, connecting in the same point in space and time.

4. WHAT IS THE SPIRITUAL THEORY BEHIND LIFE RESPONSE?

Life response occurs because everything in the universe and beyond is interconnected.

That is because there is an inherent Oneness behind all things.

And so each time we move to a higher consciousness, we connect with corresponding elements (people, events, etc.) in space and time that we are inextricably associated with.

5. WHAT IS THE SCIENTIFIC PROOF BEHIND LIFE RESPONSE?

The life response phenomena is now explicitly corroborated by the now-accepted scientific principle of "Non-Locality," also known as "Entanglement".

In Entanglement two objects at opposite ends of the universe from one another with no apparent material connection can instantly mirror the state of the other.

E.g. when a shift in the spin of an electron changes, another electron shifts at the exact same moment in the exact same way though they are on opposite sides of the galaxy. Thus the two objects are said to be "entangled."

This is very similar to how in Life Response Occurs.

E.g. if I shift in consciousness to the very positive, a person from around the world instantly contacts me with good news, though I have never communicated with or known them before.

6. WHERE CAN WE OBSERVE LIFE RESPONSE TAKING PLACE?

We can observe it in our own lives; in the experiences of others; in our family or community or nation; in organizations such as businesses; in current events; in history; in fine literature and film; practically anywhere!

In all of these domains of life, sudden good fortune comes about through an elevation of consciousness on the part of someone or some collective of individuals.

7. WHAT PRACTICAL ASPECTS OF LIFE CAN BE AFFECTED BY LIFE RESPONSE?

Any and every aspect of life can be affected by instances of sudden good fortune.

That includes our physical health and well-being; in our relationships with others, whether family, friends; in our success in work and career; in the opportunities that come our way; in the problem areas that we come upon; and so forth

8. HOW QUICKLY DOES LIFE RESPOND?

Life can respond over time, or very quickly, or even instantaneously to our shift in-Consciousness to the positive.

When life response phenomenon occurs instantly, we refer to it as "instantaneous miraculousness."

For example, a trainer without work for months CLEANS his refrigerator and at the VERY MOMENT he completes the work he is informed that he has been booked to conduct classes for entire next quarter

In another incident, a man who had expressed PERSISTENT GOODWILL towards the owner of another business organization unexpectedly receives the biggest referral fee of his life!

9. WHAT ARE THE GENERAL FACTORS THAT DETERMINES IF A LIFE RESPONSE WILL OCCUR?

A life response occurs due to -

- (a) the Quality of the shift we make to a higher consciousness;
- (b) the intensity of the shift;
- (c) the degree to which the surrounding atmosphere is positive

10. HOW FREQUENTLY DOES LIFE RESPONSE OCCUR?

It is always happening!

However, we only see a tiny portion of their occurrence because we are not accustomed to look for them.

And Yet, if we consciously are awake to the possibility of life response, we will experience it far more often.

Actually as we go deeper still in consciousness, we come to realize that EVERYTHING OCCURRING IN THE WORLD is Life Response.

Everything is responding to subtle influences near and far; not just to direct, obvious, material, mechanistic modes of cause and effect.

11. DOES LIFE RESPONSE OCCUR ONLY IN A POSITIVE DIRECTION?

It occurs positively, neutrally, and negatively.

Positively it occurs due to an elevation of consciousness (inner or outer behavior) of the Individual or collective.

Negatively it is due to the persistence of negative consciousness or an intense moment of it.

12. WHAT ARE THE HISTORICAL ROOTS OF LIFE RESPONSE?

The connection between the inner person and the outer result occurring in ways that defy space and time are referred to, discussed in the ancient Indian Vedas, as experienced by the great Rishis (spiritual seekers) of that period.

Discussion of such phenomenon however is scattered across many traditions, from Taoism to Zen to all aspects of ancient and New Age thinking.

13. WHAT ARE THE TYPES OF BENEFIT THAT COME ABOUT IN LIFE RESPONSE INCIDENTS?

- Sudden appearance of positive conditions
 - Sudden arrival of unthought of ideas
 - Impossible problems show new-found solutions
 - Golden opportunities appearing out of nowhere
 - Health restored; Abundant energy in life
 - Goodwill and harmony unfold
 - Spikes in revenues, sales, income
 - Never-ending career and personal growth
 - Perceiving trends and future direction of things
 - Calm, peace, inner richness, and joy prevail
 - See things from many points of view simultaneously (integral understanding)
 - Startling coincidences and synchronicities frequently occurring
- and many others ...

14. WHAT ARE SOME OF THE HUMAN BEHAVIORS THAT EVOKE LIFE RESPONSE?

- Higher levels of cleanliness and orderliness
- Making maximum use of available resources
- Making the full, exhaustive physical effort

- Having the intention to achieve a goal
- Making a decision and having the intense will to achieve a goal
- Organizing information to a higher level
- Applying high personal values
- Overcoming negative attitudes toward self, work and life
- Adopting a generally positive attitude
- Any act of goodness or self-givingness
- Feeling gratitude toward others, life
- Feeling goodwill towards others
- Reducing Volume of speech, using fewer words
- Practicing "Silent Will"
- Controlling all extraneous thoughts
- Not reacting to the intensities of others
- Practicing equality of being in face of difficulties
- Not blaming others; taking responsibility instead
- Embracing the other person's point of view
- Opening to the Spiritual Force (consecration)

By practicing any of these methods, you can quickly attract sudden good fortune from out of nowhere.

15. HOW DOES LIFE RESPONSE COMPARE TO THE BOOK AND FILM 'THE SECRET'?

The Secret is mainly focused on how to achieve a goal. You ask the universe for it to happen, and then wait on its reply. It's a profound insight on how to attract one's heart's desire. However, it is limited.

Life Response embraces this but goes much further, revealing a myriad of reasons life responds, as well as dozens of methods to evoke it.

We have reviewed many issues on the Life Response phenomenon, but there is one more question to be answered.

"How can we consciously learn to apply this phenomenon in our own lives?"

For answers to this and related questions, please read ...

the following books -- By Roy Posner

- The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response
- Life Response in Work
- A Life Response Reader
-

Please visit the websites:

<http://royposner.weebly.com/>

<http://lrcenter.weebly.com/>

Here is the video version:

<https://youtu.be/5VY7MOOiv-A>

Key Human Behaviors That Attract Sudden Good Fortune - By Roy Posner

There are certain inner and outer behaviors that evoke sudden good fortune in our lives, such as money or an opportunity suddenly appearing from out of nowhere; or a serious problem instantly dissolving.

With that in mind, let's list out the human behaviors that evoke sudden good fortune:

- Be positive, optimistic, and cheerful
- Make a firm decision about something
- Take the necessary physical action
- Embrace what life has put before you
- Feel deep enthusiasm in your work
- Make the full exhaustive effort
- Take responsibility for a situation
- Increase cleanliness & orderliness
- Systematize an activity
- Organize facts into ideas
- Maximize the use of a resource
- Pay all your debts; collect money's due
- Give people/objects more attention
- Commune with the essence of objects
- Shift your focus to others
- Be selfless and self-giving
- Show gratitude to others, life
- Send others good will
- Forgive others when wronged
- Take to greater psychological strength
- Hold back a thought so others speak it
- Talk less; and in a low, soft voice
- Take the other person's point of view
- Be calm and equal when problems arise
- Execute an activity perfectly
- Open to the spiritual Force
- Really aspire for something to happen
- Plan, implement, and execute a goal
- Focus on what should be accomplished
- Embrace the truth of things, not shun it
- Forget a problem, not dwell on it
- Change a long-standing negative habit
- Apply higher values in every work you do
- See difficulties as opportunities
- See your outer life as a reflection of your inner state
- Choose the higher consciousness direction when making a choice
- Take every small detail seriously
- Believe the infinite can break out of any finite
- Go the extra mile; make the extra effort
- Review past negatives & offer it to the Spirit
- Embrace the many-sided truth of things
- Choose what is positive and helpful
- Turn negative emotions positive
- Move from agitation to stillness
- See negatives as positives in disguise
- Overcome any reluctance or unwillingness you have

- Hold back initiating; wait for life's signals
- Listen first, then talk
- Eliminate thinking in intense situations
- Give up a wanting attitude or belief
- Shun negative feelings toward others
- Stop negative attitudes towards life
- Don't blame others
- Don't complain about others
- Don't react to others' intensities
- Circulate money, don't hoard it
- Shift out of lying, deception, dishonesty
- Stop any form of ill-will toward others
- Withhold opinions
- Don't celebrate prematurely
- Don't over-anticipate a positive outcome
- Avoid sarcasm and cynicism
- Withhold ego movements of all kind

Each of these behaviors tend to attract the sudden onset of good or great fortune.

To know more, please read:

--The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response by Roy Posner

--Life Response in Work by Roy Posner

--A Life Response Reader by Roy Posner

<http://lrcenter.weebly.com>

Here is the video version:

<https://youtu.be/V9u7SazVBz8>

Life Response – Its Time Has Come - By Roy Posner

[note that this text flows according to the original 15min. video of the same name]

There is a great change taking place in the world.

There is a shift from concern only with laws of MATERIAL cause and effect to something deeper and more profound.

Gradually in the emerging New Age we are realizing the SUBTLE connection between things; not just the obvious material, mechanical laws.

In addition, people worldwide are increasingly reporting their own synchronistic and psychic experiences; Individuals are increasingly having visions and sudden intuitions of insight.

But have these profound experiences begun to reach some sort of critical mass?

The book and film The Secret has emerged on the scene and become a global phenomenon.

It has ushered in a new type of understanding about life, captured by the phrase "The Power of Attraction".

It tries to explain how from within ourselves we can attract positive conditions from life around us.

And we can do so without taking any outer action.

The Secret focuses on how we can attract and fulfill our deepest DESIRES and INTENTIONS from the world around us.

And we can do so by SIMPLY ASKING the universe for it to come about, letting go, and having the faith that Life will bring it about

The Secret is a great first step in this Startling new area of Human Consciousness. However, the laws governing our existence go far beyond what The Secret reveals. And yet they are FULLY REVEALED through "Life Response" phenomena, which is the capacity to instantly evoke good fortune from out of nowhere.

Through Life Response phenomena, all of the laws, principles, methods of how to evoke such powerful response on a regular basis are revealed.

But why are we only discovering this Profound Knowledge now?

It is because we were not ready to perceive such things before.

Our minds were not developed enough to see into the vast array of subtle forces that enable these miraculous-like events.

Thus, the revelation of the Truths of LIFE RESPONSE has waited until the current MENTAL age of humanity for its first blossoming.

It is only now that we are prepared to truly go beyond the simple material/mechanistic Newtonian laws of cause and effect, and see deeper methods and workings of life so we can evoke these startling results.

Garry Jacobs has elegantly explained why it has always been easier for us to grasp material laws of cause and effect, but difficult for us to grasp the more subtle laws that produce Life Response (Sudden Good Fortune) results.

He tells us that the former has a simple cause and effect dynamic and can easily be perceived by the five senses.

Eg if I hit the nail with a hammer, it is forced into the wood. It is easy to perceive cause and effect at work.

Life response phenomenon however is far more complex, as it involves all aspects of existence – from the material to the spiritual; from the surface to the depths.

Therefore, to understand such subtlety and complexity of Life's workings, we first had to develop a corresponding capacity to perceive it.

Now that time has arrived.

We are ready to comprehend how all aspects of life interact to produce the startling, miraculous-like Life Response effect.

And yet a number of us have made that task much easier for the world.

We have researched and revealed many of the laws, principles, and methods that bring about these astonishing Life Response results.

In other words, we now know EXACTLY what attracts Sudden Good Fortune, from seemingly out of nowhere, and how to make it happen for anyone on a CONTINUOUS basis.

Let us then explore that Knowledge of Life Response a bit further.

(And since Life Response and The Secret are both celebrating their 10-year anniversary at the same time, let us explore how Life Response relates to but goes far beyond the knowledge of The Secret.)

We have always had the capacity to make our dreams come true.

We can contemplate what we want from life and then make the effort to go after, and hopefully achieve it.

And yet The Secret tells us that there is an extraordinary shortcut for this to happen.

The Secret tells us that we can simply VISUALIZE what we wish to occur, and it will come about.

Our research shows that it works in many cases. And when it does it is miraculous to behold. But in many more cases it fails to produce the desired results.

The truth is that visualization of one's hopes and dreams, and asking the universe to make it real is a very partial approach to the Laws of Attraction.

There are so many other aspects and dimensions of life that come into play.

Let's explore this idea a bit further.

We are complex beings.

Aside from our material existence, there are our emotions, thoughts, attitudes, values, aspirations, intentions, capacities, habits, routines, and so forth

Life is also extremely complex.

The intersection of who we are and how life works is the Field where the play of Life Response occurs.

Knowing what that is at every moment requires a vast knowledge as well as a subtle sense.

Since each person is different, and each life circumstance is unique, has its own character, is changing from moment, – we need CUSTOM SOLUTIONS for each person in each circumstance to evoke positive conditions from the field of life.

Discovering that perfect blend of methods that evoke Life Response for a particular person, in a particular situation, given the current atmosphere, requires a great Life Knowledge.

Life Response now provides this very thing to the world.

Our research has shown that evoking sudden fortune is not a matter of simply visualizing what you want, what you intend, but looking at the WHOLE PERSON in the context of Life Conditions

As we have said, we are an amalgam of -

--Desires/Wants

---Intentions/Aspirations

--Habits/Routines

--Beliefs/Values

--Behaviors/Actions

It is how we raise our consciousness in any of these areas that determine whether and how Life Responds

For example, if we are constantly over-expecting and over-anticipating certain outcomes, then if we shift out of this mindset, we will also evoke instantaneous results from the field of life.

Likewise, if we give up a negative attitude, such as hostility to our overbearing boss, or anger towards our children, we can also evoke instantaneous results from the field of life.

In other words, giving up anything negative in our nature – whether a faulty attitude or a misplaced belief can evoke powerful positive conditions from the world around us.

Does this mean we shouldn't aspire for something, and ask the universe for it?

It does not.

However, if we do ask the universe for something to come about, we have to keep a number of things in mind

Many times the universe will not respond to what we ASK for, because it knows that given our present nature, demeanor, attitude, et al, it would not be in our best interest to provide us with this result

The universe is thus considering the entirety of our person, the given conditions of life, to determine whether it responds on our behalf

However, if we also change our nature, raise our consciousness, then the things we ask life for are far more likely to come about.

LIFE RESPONSE thus gives a COMPLETE KNOWLEDGE of the nature of the person and the nature of life in any given moment thus bringing about continuous life response for ourselves and the world around us.

Though Life Response Knowledge is rich and complex, there IS a simple approach for continuously evoking sudden good fortune.

It is to raise our consciousness in any given moment through-

-Right Attitude

-Right Feeling

-Right Thought

-Right Intention

- Right Decision
- Right Behavior
- Right Action

And through these shifts in inner and outer behavior, we will not only create an endless flow of miraculous-like results, but we will grow in consciousness.

We will be uplifted; as will the world around us.

How then can we gain access to this profound Knowledge, so we are constantly attracting "Instantaneous Miraculousness"?

We offer this powerful content to you.

Please read the following:

--The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response by Roy Posner

--Life Response in Work by Roy Posner

--A Life Response Reader by Roy Posner

<http://lrcenter.weebly.com/>

Download free PDF books

Read Life Response Articles

View Life Response Videos and Audios

YOU CAN MAKE LIFE RESPOND!

Here is the video version:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nWBMApnmvdk>

Life Response In Work - By Roy Posner

[note that this text flows according to the original 3min. video of the same name]

Time

It seems like we have so little of it; especially when it comes to our Work.

But what if we could overcome Time ... and Space

What if we could bring about the future in the present?

What if by some miraculous-like phenomenon we could achieve a goal that ordinarily takes days, weeks, or months, in a matter of hours or even minutes?

What if we could accomplish the goal INSTANTANEOUS to having the thought of wanting it to come about?

Sounds far-fetched, impossible? Some Fantasy or story-line from Science Fiction?

It turns out that a number of individuals around the world have researched and discovered ways to attract future outcomes in the Present by making certain shifts in CONSCIOUSNESS.

There are particular changes of habit, attitude, belief, behavior, and action that when made more positive attract instances of Sudden Good Fortune.

We call this extraordinary phenomenon a "LIFE RESPONSE"

In our Life Response in Work book we reveal the powerful inner behaviors that bring about these startling results.

So join thousands of others who have taken to the Life Response phenomenon

... so you too can Evoke the Miraculous.

Karmayogi's Supramental Perception

Karmayogi is continually evoking insight and knowledge at the supramental level, as he-

-perceives many sides of any issue or matter, not just one or a few

-perceives the issue at the deepest level

- perceives the issue from the perspective of a wide variety of fields of life (history, science, literature, economics, metaphysics, etc.)
- perceives the essence and purpose of the issue in an evolutionary context
- perceives how contradictions, conflicts of idea related to the issue are actually moving to a higher harmony
- perceives each issue from the perspective of the Spirit; of the highest consciousness that can be brought to bear; of the Divine intent
- perceives how the issue expresses various aspects of the "character of life", including life response phenomenon
- has a predictive capacity that is extraordinary because of all other factors mentioned here.
- has an inner power to make real, to manifest positive aspects of the issue

Every Act Miraculous

For the supramental being, every normal act we engage in turns into a miracle.

How can that happen?

It can happen by taking to the Sunlit Path; ie a Life consecrated to the Mother and Her Force.

To Be Titled

"True Perception" is according to Sri Aurobindo the capacity to fully, integrally know something or someone; to perceive its or his true character and nature just at a glance.

Comment: Mother had this capacity in spades.

To Be Titled

Supramental perception is to see and feel directly into the soul of things; into the soul of others.

Oneness with Others

He felt the beating life in other men

Invade him with their happiness and their grief; Their love, their anger, their unspoken hopes
Entered in currents or in pouring waves

Into the immobile ocean of his calm.

...

His inner self grew near to others' selves

And bore a kinship's weight, a common tie,

Yet stood untouched, king of itself, alone.

(Sri Aurobindo, from Savitri)

Universalization of Thoughts

He heard the inspired sound of his own thoughts Re-echoed in the vault of other minds;

The world's thought-streams travelled into his ken

(Sri Aurobindo, from Savitri)

To Be Titled

In Stillness come unexpected, the very best of solutions.

From Rationality to Degrees of Super Rationality

While rationality is greater than non-rationality or irrationality, it is inferior to Super-Rationality, which is (progressively) -

- Mind falling silent for better thought processing, thinking (Silent Mind)
- Understanding coming as a burst of Light (Illumined Mind)
- Intuitions of knowledge entering, or appearing in the mind without any thinking involved. (Intuitive Mind)
- Knowing what others are thinking who are at a distance, or projecting one's thoughts so others know it. (Universal Mind, aka Universal Consciousness)
- Knowing the full, integral knowledge and truth of a matter in a flash, while having the complete will and power for it to become real in the world. (Supermind, aka Truth Consciousness)

These progressive forms of Super Rationality are also called realms of "Spiritual Mind."

Growing Out of the Partial, Fragmentary View

Our eyes are fixed on a partial outer manifestation which we see and call the universe — though even now we see and know very little of it or about it, know perhaps a few of its processes but nothing fundamental, nothing of its reality, — and an inner partial manifestation which we do not see but experience and feel and call ourselves. Our mind is shut up in a cleft between these two fragments and tends to regard it as the whole of things and the only tangible and real existence.

It is so that the frog regards himself and his well. But we have to grow out of this frog consciousness and exceed the limits of this well. In the end we come to perceive that we have a truer and divine being of which our petty personality is only a surface and corrupted output, a truer and divine Consciousness in which we must become self-aware and world-aware discarding our present fragmentary and bounded mental vision of self and things. (Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

It is a challenge to perceive an interesting positive or negative development that suddenly arises, and then try to trace it back to one's recent behavior, attitudes, actions, etc. This is the essence of "Conscious" Life Response, instead of the more passive kind where we merely react in amazement when startling results occur, and we don't seek to probe very much into the inner cause, chalking it up to dumb Luck.

To Be Titled

It's astonishing how many people believe that you can only find happiness through another person.

Capacities Vs. Values

Capacity is of the physical. It is what we have already fully acquired. Values is of the mind and spirit, it is what we aspire to attain. Capacity reflects the values we have already fully accepted mentally, endorsed vitally and mastered physically – e.g. the capacity to be punctual in the West, or to make things perfectly, or to organize or to fight courageously. What we call values are capacities still in the making, e.g. generosity, self-giving, taking the other person's point of view, truthfulness. When these values become physical sensitivities, they too are converted into capacities of extraordinary power. (MSS)

Strategies to Become a Supramental Individual

1. Move your focus of being from the surface to a deeper poise within.
2. Focus less on the outer personality of others, and instead relate to their Essence and Being – their soul.
3. Try to discover your own soul, psychic being and then from there commune with the souls of others.

4. Forget the influences of the past weighing on you, and over-concerns about the future. Focus instead on the here and now.
5. Focus, see the truth in the other person's point of view.
6. Try not to react to the intensities of others, or life conditions.
7. See the positive emerging from out of the negative, including new opportunities.
8. Try to discover the Higher Harmony beyond the contradictions – of ideas, desires, parties, individuals, etc.
9. Shift your focus away from your own needs and concerns to those of others.
10. Well up goodwill inside and broadcast it to other individuals, various collectives, and the world.
11. See the outer conditions as a reflection of one's inner state, and make the necessary adjustments.
12. At any point in the day, check for Ego movements, and halt them in their tracks.
13. When a pain rises, don't focus on it, instead offer it to the Mother, the Supramental Power and then forget about it.
14. Catch any negative attitude toward others, life, and self, and neutralize it. Better still turn it into its mirror opposite.
15. Learn all the subtle principles of life – including character of life and life response.
16. Constantly aspire for greater personal and spiritual growth.
17. Make the right decision in cross-road situations, focusing on what is helpful, beneficial, over the opposite.
18. Think about your highest personal and social values, and try to implement them in your life.
19. If you are ready, surrender to the Divine Mother; making all other matters and concerns secondary.
20. Perceive how life is evolving in and around you, and consider how you can inwardly help that movement along.
21. Sense the spirit in all living things, as well as in inanimate things.
22. Know that you can from within determine the outcome of local and global events; of movements of Mother Nature; of circumstance in your city, state, nations, and beyond.
23. Let your mind continually fall silent, and increasingly know through intuition (ideas appearing in your mind without thought) and supramental perception.
24. Make the effort to understand and embrace all sides of a matter; not being fixed on your own partial understanding.
25. Try to increase the level of Harmony in every moment, meetings, discussion, etc.
26. Convince people by not speaking out your thought; i.e. by practicing Silent Will.
27. Observe how your need, emotions, desires are continuing to recede.
28. Periodically sense if you are in tune with the flow of Life, instead of swimming against the tide.
29. Perceive how everything – from Spirit to Matter - make up the same single Reality.
30. Perceive how the Conscious-Force is in all things. Get in touch with it in any matter, object, etc.
31. Perceive that all forms are different forms of the same Spirit.
32. Perceive how you yourself are spirit in the form of matter. How your soul is part of the Oversoul, the transcendent divine, and is within you.
33. Defer to the other person's needs and concerns at any moment you interact.
34. A sign you are making progress is sudden or continuous evocations of silence, and a calm, inner richness.
35. Reduce speaking by 50%, and lower the volume of your speech.

36. Upgrade your level of cleanliness, orderliness, organization, systemization as much as possible.
37. Avoid wastage of any kind, making maximum use of all resources.
38. Feel gratitude toward something or someone you have taken for granted.
39. Give others – people, objects – the additional attention they deserve.
40. Consecrate any past mistakes if they are still impacting your present.
41. Open to Mother before any minor or major activity; for any problem or opportunity.
42. Try to perfect any activity you engage in.
43. Accept what life has put before you, instead of wanting something different.
44. Sense you are a universal being, able to affect the collective, while being an instrument of the Transcendent Divine.
45. Know that you have the power to create infinitely, just like the Creator (Ishwara); especially with the Supramental Power, the Mother's Force in hand.

To Be Titled

Supramental is calm, peaceful, very still, yet extremely creative, dynamic, unexpected.

To Be Titled

Hippy culture (epitome of not caring about money) enabled the unprecedented wealth of Silicon Valley. It demonstrates the infinite power of personal values.

From Divided to Supramental Nature

Sri Aurobindo recognizes the essential divided nature of man. He lives in his ego, in ignorance, in time, in limitation, finite, and suffers from disease and death. Integral Yoga is the conscious method of overcoming Man's limited nature and arriving at his spiritual and supramental Nature. (Sri Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

It's always best to consider the weakness in a strong, positive argument, idea, strategy, philosophy; as well as the strength in a weak version of the same.

True Facial Recognition

Facial recognition software is a technology that can distinguish people from one another for security purposes. It is a powerful skin-deep, surface approach. On the other hand, the Mother could determine a person's entire character and soul purpose by merely looking at the face of an individual, or at a picture of such. It was usually perfectly accurate.

To Be Titled

Trying to be sarcastic and clever when engaged in a transaction normally attracts negative conditions. Best to be silent and humble in such moments.

Computer Sales Story

(a shift from unwillingness to willingness evokes vast response from life)

Many years ago, I was working at a computer store. At that time, I was at the bottom of the barrel compared to my fellow salespeople.

One day I was asked by my boss to work a second consecutive weekend. Having already worked the weekdays, and being continually exhausted I was unwilling to accept my boss's requests. I also felt that it was just asking too much of me.

However, later on when I considered my low monthly sales, my mediocre income, and now my wanting, reluctant attitude, I changed my mind and decided to come in to work that second consecutive weekend.

When I did, within five minutes of entering the store, a man who I thought looked like someone who would never buy anything approached me, and after several minutes ended up making the biggest purchase of my sales career.

In fact, that sale jettisoned me to #1 among my sales peers, and I would then go on to have the biggest monthly sales volume in the history of the four store chains' operation.

It also led to the biggest pay check of my career, not to mention the accolades and rewards that came to me at our company's Christmas party.

Then what is the moral of the story?

One moral is that reversing a limiting attitude can bring sudden good fortune

What Attitude was reversed?

It was my Reluctance. I shifted-

--from unwillingness to work that second weekend to acceptance

--from unwillingness to work hard and make the extra effort to embracing my boss's request

When I made that effort, LIFE RESPONDED as soon as I arrived in the form of the unexpected customer

... who made the purchase of my career.

To Be Titled

Mother's Life is a Magic Carpet Ride. Hold on tight, have Faith, and She'll take you There!

To Be Titled

Globalism and automation are like runaway trains. They are very necessary for our progress, but need to be harnessed and brought under control. We need to collaborate, to work together to accomplish this.

Reader: May I ask, Roy, what type of progress is meant here?

Response: Economic, and then social, cultural, political - thereby creating stability for people, so they have the solid basis of not having to worry about, be consumed by trying to survive in the world, so they can truly engage in personal growth.

The deep spiritual aspirant has far less need for that, as he lives through his individuality, whatever the circumstance; but I do believe global economic stability is necessary for the average person, as solid basis of personal development. Without it, life will continue to be very hard.

Sri Aurobindo was an advocate of global unity including a degree of global governance to stabilize conditions, to establish a solid economic and political basis from which a divine life on earth can begin to emerge.

To Be Titled

Human potential is infinite. We need to know what that consists of, and then make the full effort to harness it. Currently, we are tapping but a fraction.

To Be Titled

Through the mind one can make the decision to open to the Spirit, to the Mother. However, once decided, the mind will only get in the way, interfere with the descending Force.

To Be Titled

It seems that the age of great leaders is over. Henceforth, the People and their needs will set the agenda.

To Be Titled

It's always enjoyable to come in contact with a strong, yet fully rational and empathetic individual.

To Be Titled

Playfully, teasingly, tauntingly discouraging success in another will tend to have that effect.

Reader: Hello Roy, could you please elaborate on this one?

Response: I was leading a training session. A man was trying to figure out how to perform a task on the computer that was being projected on the screen related to the subject of project management. He slightly struggled. The woman next to me began taunting him in a somewhat friendly manner. It caused the problem to get worse for the man. I then chose to ignore it and be silent. The problem was then quickly solved. Energy of new understanding and success abounded in the room.

Law of Attraction vs. Consecration

Law of Attraction as explained in 'The Secret' book is the work of Mind and Emotion to accomplish what one wants through the universal Force. Consecration is the experience as introduced by Sri Aurobindo is the process by which one crosses the limitation of mind, emotion, and body and touches the Truth Consciousness (Supermind) which is the source code for the universal Force. (Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

To Be Titled

Man always gets what he deserves.

To Be Titled

Willingness to change direction will always engender success.

To Be Titled

It is hard for us to conceive that the things we struggle with now will be of vital importance to us in the future, and will then come to us with great ease.

To Be Titled

It is hard for us to conceive that the things we struggle with now will be of vital importance to us in the future, and will then come to us with great ease.

We came from something Higher, but we have trouble living for, becoming that Source nature ourselves. Or to put it another way, we don't see that the Spiritual Origin of the Involution is the purpose and destiny of the Evolution, which is ours to bring about.

Suitability for Mother's Life

We can consider a number of qualities that indicate one's suitability to come to Mother and Her Life:

--One has a deep desire to have Sri Aurobindo's and Mother's message spread throughout the world.

--One wishes to see life transformed into something greater based on Their vision.

--One is unsatisfied with the status quo - in terms of society, the nature of people, and life.

--One wishes to implement Their ideas in one's own work and life, especially utilizing the power of Mother's Force.

--One has the character of an Adventurer; who seeks an adventure of consciousness.

--One is not satisfied with following the herd view; who wishes to truly be a true individual.

- One is eager to discover the Truth of things; not be satisfied with what is known, or what one knows.
- One seeks to learn from others; and collaborate with others.
- One demonstrates cheerfulness and optimism at every stage.
- There is a willingness to give up all, sacrifice all; without regret.
- There is an intention to bring Their vision to the world through a product or service; or a means of explaining their wisdom.
- One is willing to leave the past behind, and make a new life based on Her ideals.
- One aspires to make connection with the Divine; and with their own Soul and Essence.
- One enjoys working with, collaborating with others; even as he is also happy to be alone.
- One is tolerant of others; and embraces the conditions of life.
- One looks for and discovers opportunities behind difficulties; truths behind falsehoods.
- One leans on his faith, rather than life and the outer conditions.
- One is grateful for everything Mother gives; and also that which She holds back.

To Be Titled

From the perspective of the Reality, there are no positives and negatives (which are mental constructs); just unfoldings in space and time.

To Be Titled

The trouble is that we don't easily perceive the truths behind the negative, which would enable us to more readily embrace it, learn from it.

To Be Titled

Everyone is free to like what they like; to go after whatever they want. Of course there are consequences. So the quality of the effect depends on the nature of the like, the want, the desire; as well as how it relates to one's growth trajectory.

To Be Titled

An indicator of an open, flexible character is a willingness to change, to shift direction based on requests of others or similar life conditions.

Ascending Levels of Knowing, Knowledge

FACTS are the foundation, yet is the lowest form of knowledge. INFORMATION takes us a little further. THOUGHTS take us much further, as it is derived from the correlation of information. Much higher still are IDEAS, which is knowledge derived from relating and integrating thoughts. VALUES bring ultimate knowledge as they are principles that guide accomplishment and growth; an underlying power that gives ultimate insight of idea. This is the sweet spot of TRUE KNOWING and KNOWLEDGE in Education.

Life's Signals of What Is to Come, and Synchronicity

- Life is constantly presenting signals - i.e. subtle signs - of what is to come.
- When life's subtle signals are concomitant to the actual unfolding of what it was pointing to, then Synchronicity occurs.
- Synchronicity is when two things (individuals, ideas, events, etc.) arrive at the same time, occupying the same space, though on the surface they seemingly had nothing to do with one another. (In the depths, there is 100% connection.)
- Synchronicity startles the conscious mind, but it is the natural unfolding of life, occurring all of the time, at every moment, 99% of which we completely miss.

To Be Titled

30 years ago, Karmayogi indicated that India's vast population would be an asset, not a hindrance, as people vehemently believed at the time. Now it's been revealed that only India will soon have the largest population on earth, but also the most youthful, creating a tidal wave of energy, driving the nation forward, making it truly an Age of Indian Greatness.

'Spirit in Life' as Goal of Indian Education

"Some twenty children in the third standard were asked this question. There were twenty different answers. 'In education we learn a lot', 'I can become a doctor by education', 'We get information', 'We can know many things and fool others', 'By education I can get a job', etc. Only one child answered, "I can become intelligent".

This is not a question for third standard.

If twenty adults are asked this question, will the answer be far different?

I used to call education the "yoga of the society."

Next to yoga, it is the most powerful force in the society. Education helps an individual to do better than his parents in the society.

This, education does, by giving him a KNOWLEDGE.

Westerners have got an education, that makes them an individual. It gives them an individuality.

A Westerner knows he alone can take care of himself and he depends on no one.

He goes to extreme lengths to fully deny any help from any quarter.

We in India know that our families take care of us. Our values are family values. The family educates us, gets us married and gets us a job. Our education is not only from the school. We must be loyal to the family; family first anything next. Which is better is not my question. Each culture gives the individual its own education and it stands him in good stead. If the Westerner's individuality has made him prosper, should we not follow him? No.

Should we accept the 'education' given by our culture? Our Spirit is high, very high and noble. In our culture the Spirit is for moksha (liberation from life).

It is not FOR Life. Sri Aurobindo says the Spirit can emerge in your life and make it one of pleasant sensation of plentiful abundance.

This education - Spirit in Life - should be our goal for the future. In practice, it is spiritual values in life.

Honesty, loyalty, integrity, cleanliness, Self-giving are the spiritual values. They all sum up in a life of utter Truthfulness. If we can give our children an education that gives them an experience in life that Truth is of value, and it is the only thing of value, we will have discharged our spiritual duty to the next generation.

Education is ORIGINAL understanding based on one's own life experience. Can we devise our educational system in such a fashion that the pupil will get this understanding on his own personal experience?

(Karmayogi)

thanks to Priya

To Be Titled

Mother Nature responds negatively to conflict, upheaval, resistance, and other forms of darkness in society.

Reader: for example, Mother Nature also responds negatively as consequence of ongoing massive deforestation of which the core is also cluttering of several forms of human darkness and denial of Mother Nature

Response: Yes, that is the material reason, and very true. In this case it is how low human values lead to wrong material actions that directly cause the problem in the form of natural disasters. On the other hand, I am after the occult reasons; i.e. the inner false belief or intention (without outer action) that evoke the negative response from Mother Nature, and what we can do from within (also without action) to overcome it.

Reader: "the occult reasons"... underlying is the 'same' type of darkness (meant is ignorance) expressed in a myriad of actions of which the core is denial of love and consequently all the fragmentation, "brokenness", destruction...

Response: Yes, that is all very true, but my focus is not on what others feel or do negatively, but the inner power I have to negate it without any action. This is Life Response. All I have to do is open to the Higher Power or forget my emotional intensity relative to the situation, and life immediately moves in the direction I seek, such as a sudden signing of an environmental treaty that was scorned just a few days before.

Reader: Yes. The Life Response of Love is Wholeness. *

Response: It should also be pointed out (as the original post focuses on) that natural disasters can come not only from environmental degradation and neglect, but through deep conflicts in society due to political or social differences. Also, due to intense resistances to change. Most earthquakes, sudden plagues, and the like have this origin.

The Druids and others (including the ancient Vedic Indians) knew of this inner power we have to affect Mother Nature from within. I have seen it at work many times in my life, especially in relation to fires, floods, power outages, etc. etc, I.e. the ability to call to the Force, which instantly or very quickly overcomes the problem.

Another way to do this is to offer the conflict, upheaval, resistance, and other forms of darkness that provoke Mother Nature, and try to change inwardly to their corresponding opposite levels (i.e. peace, harmony, stillness, openness, tolerance flexibility, and then offering it to the Divine power.

By the way, certain individuals in those individual countries can practice these same approaches, and see if they get results (before the natural or man-made disaster occurs). Mother's (supramental) Power makes anything along these lines possible.

To Be Titled

When the consciousness turns positive amongst the constituents relative to the conditions, Mother Nature gives the bounty that had recently been denied.

Comment: After years of drought in Tamil Nadu, certain devotees changed themselves in various ways relative to the weather, and within a few months the worst rainfall amounts in 150 years suddenly came to an end.

PS A friend pointed out that it is an example of inner-outer correspondence.

To Be Titled

We are not left alone to fear and fate, for we have Mother to guide us through, and then some.

To Be Titled

All for one, and one for all is what the world needs.

To Be Titled

First impressions are often very wrong, as we tend to live on the surface (instead of the depths), and are therefore quick to judge in error.

To Be Titled

Yoga is going beyond your threshold.

Recognizing Cause of Life Response Event

Whenever a surprising positive or negative situation or condition comes your way, try to think back to what might have precipitated it on your or someone else's part. If you recognize the cause, you will be well on your way to living a Life Response-oriented life!

From Selfishness to Sharing with Others Attracts

A movement from selfishness to sharing with another or generosity attracts abundance that all parties benefit from.

A man wanted to have some delicious food stuffs, and saw that there was only one item left. He then thought of the possible need of the other person, and immediately suddenly saw that there was actually another one!

This is an example on a micro scale that can also be observed at the macro level if one seriously looks around.

Rebirth with Mother

Reincarnation is not quite the same as Rebirth. The latter is a movement of the Soul that keeps entering a new form in its journey for greater knowledge and realization. We call it the "evolving soul", aka the Psychic Being.

Our soul has travelled many hundreds of times with Her soul in this rebirth process, each time in a new host. We devotees have rebirthed 1000 times with Mother since ancient civilization began.

Gods vs. Our Evolution

The Gods are each "know it all" at their own plane, but disregard the other Gods/planes. Therefore, they fail to gain that more integral knowledge making it hard for them to evolve. Yet we humans have the capacity to know all things and from all angles; and thus grow and evolve endlessly on the way towards transformation.

To Be Titled

The more we explain life from the perspective of Spirit - expressing, revealing a myriad of methods and types of powerful, startling outcomes - the more websites and the like will seem fresh and new.; i.e. be novel. That's why constant investigation into the Character of Spirit - in our own lives and in observing life, - will serve us well. And that character will constantly reveal itself when we engage in the Adventure.

To Be Titled

Moving onto the next thing tends to untangle the seemingly intractable problem of the previous one.

To Be Titled

Anger when not receiving hoped for rewards in the current round insures further delay in the next.

The Secret Knowledge

The Secret Knowledge is the inner power to perceive the outer happenings (Life Response) as precisely as the REALITY has intended, at every moment. It is not just the Secret [concept of Rhonda Byrne's]. It is THE SECRET.

Life Response principles & strategies help to interpret the code of "Secret Knowledge" and teach us how to apply in our Life.

The Secret Knowledge is neither only about Spirit, nor Life, rather it is about the Spirit in Life. (SM)

Helping Another Helps One's Self

If you make a sincere effort to help someone with a difficult or nagging problem, you may soon find that one of your own problems has, on its own, suddenly disappeared!

A man was helping his partners solve an tractable computer problem, where the CPU usage was being used up by some sort of obscure program. The man had also had problems printing from his computer for months. However, this time when he returned from helping his friend solve her problem, his own computer started printing for the first time in months!

To Be Titled

Harmony is abolition of discord, conversion of the enemy's hatred into love, realising inner rancour as outer pleasantness. (Karmayogi)

Comment: The path to such a supramental achievement consists of removal of all sense of ego, deep soul connection between parties, taking the other person's point of view, living in the depths, silence at all levels, seeing beyond the contradiction to complementarity, and fully consecrated interaction.

To Be Titled

When man is physical, he is normally changed by the physically intense and painful responses of life. The greater the resistance, the more formidable the response.

Comment: Examples: USA loves gun violence and disaster movies, attracting the same from the environment.

To Be Titled

The man who refuses to learn, acquires that knowledge through physical pain or tragedy.

To Be Titled

Any moment is a moment of choice. (Karmayogi)

Yes. Instead of merely "going through the moment" unconsciously, we can catch ourselves for a milli-second and consider what is the best choice, the highest consciousness decision and course of action. Now we hold destiny in her hands, instead of being a victim of it.

To Be Titled

In your moment-moment consciousness, try to focus on the NOW, on the circumstance of the present — instead of ruminating about the past, or worrying about the future. As a result, life will unfold smoothly, and therefore be eminently delightful.

Comment: If necessary, consecrate past and future concerns, instead of dwelling on them.

To Be Titled

We're going from an interconnected world to an interdependent one. (Tom Friedman, NY Times)

These are relatively small, but crucial steps on the way toward Human Unity.

To Be Titled

There are two truths of life:

1. The past could not have been different.
2. The future can be ANYTHING.

(Karmayogi)

thanks to S

Comment: The past could not have been different."

The capacity (or lack of it) made what happened the only thing possible.

"The future can be ANYTHING."

It is because the Divine set in motion a universe of infinite variation and possibility.

To Be Titled

The present is at the intersection of fate and infinite possibility. It is our choice to make.

To Be Titled

That the world is Evolving; moving from the finite to the Infinite, is unknown by the great minds of the world. To them there does not seem to be any rhyme or reason to life's unfolding, nor where things are headed. However, Sri Aurobindo has perceived that evolutionary purpose and explains it all in extreme, profound detail.

To Be Titled

The universe was created so that we can experience constant spiritual adventure, discovery, surprise, and delight. When consecration becomes the center of our life, this becomes possible.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo, Mother, and Appa advocate a life of "Spiritual Adventure."

Comment: In it you give up all the trappings of life, focusing on all things that bring personal and spiritual growth; that aid the society in new ways. You become a true individual; as well as a universal one, as instrument for the Higher Will.

To Be Titled

The best way to help someone is to start from where they are.

To Be Titled

At any moment, the Life Response dynamic may play out. Therefore, always be vigilant of the unexpected.

To Be Titled

An ego movement in one area tends to quickly lead to a mistake in another.

Example: A man was bothered that another driver had quickly gone around him, and therefore foolishly, egotistically tried to catch up in his lane. As a result he found himself in the wrong lane to make a U-turn. He then forced himself into the turning lane causing the driver in the car in back of him to angrily honk at the man.

Over-focusing on the negative qualities of an individual may cause you to miss the genius or greatness of that person.

Example: A professional basketball player was roundly mocked, as the media focused on his foolish and clumsy actions. He thus became the laughingstock of the league. However, that same player moved on to play for one of the best teams in the league, played exceptionally well there (beyond all expectations), and went on that year to win the world championship! He had become the comeback story of the year!

To Be Titled

Without the British, India might never have come together and united. (It shows that negatives can be the instrument for positives.)

To Be Titled

Remove your focus on the apparent negative of another person, and they will soon surprise you with a positive.

To Be Titled

We live on a planet of billions of brains ceaselessly firing, instead of being still and silent.

To Be Titled

In the manifestation, no two minutes are alike, it's a continuous movement; so when you come into contact with the Divine, what you collaborate with is the Truth of that Movement. (Mother, from Agenda, September 27, 1969)

To Be Titled

Mother changes fate into Destiny.

Reader: And it will happen soon if we are conscious enough

Response: Yes. Fate is to be determined by karmas and Nature. Opening to Mother's Force, fate is cancelled, attracting great things based on our soul's aspiration that is in touch with the Will of the Transcendent Divine.

To Be Titled

Irritation and bother indicate one needs to shift further from the surface to the depths.

To Be Titled

Everything that happened had to happen the way it happened.

To Be Titled

The greatest depends upon the smallest. (Karmayogi)

The tiniest shift in consciousness or right action can attract enormous positive results. In fact, the infinite cannot happen, burst out in these cases until the finite expresses itself in higher consciousness.

To Be Titled

Man discovers himself in whatever he meets. (Karmayogi)

Yes. It is Inner-outer correspondence. Expressing in the positive, neutral, and negative.

Important Steps in Sri Aurobindo's and Mother's Integral Yoga.

1. During his fight for Independence Bhagawan (Sri Aurobindo) conceives of the idea of using spiritual power to liberate his country from British rule.
2. During his training under Vishnu Bhaskar Lele, Bhagawan secures silence of his mind and the ability to see that thoughts come from outside.
3. In her 20s, Mother is told by a visiting Indian tourist that the Divine is within and that makes Her change her focus from looking outward to looking inward.
4. Before reaching the age 30, through a process of a year-long concentration, Mother is able to discover her Psychic being.
5. During his imprisonment, Bhagawan is told by an Inner voice to go to Pondicherry and take up yoga for the sake of humanity and leave the task of securing independence in the Divine's hands.
6. When She met him for the first time in 1914, He gives her the power of Silence within five minutes without her even asking for it.

7. The Mother requests the overmental Gods to assist Sri Aurobindo in his effort to bring down the supermind. Only Sri Krishna obliges and descends into his body and thereby that day No.24th 1926 is declared Siddhi Day in the Ashram.
 8. For the next 10 years, Sri Aurobindo searches for a way to climb the spiritual stairs. Finally he discovers that it is through Surrender and that the way to climb up is to go inward first and then to attempt the ascent.
 9. Sri Aurobindo writes Life Divine, Synthesis of Yoga and Savithri giving a philosophical. Yogic and poetic description of his spiritual vision of the world.
 10. The Mother discovers that the process to speed up the supramental transformation of Her body is to awaken the cellular aspiration of the very cells of Her body.
 11. Though he got a boon from the Supreme for the earth, he fails to get the cooperation of humanity for his effort to bring down the supermind and accordingly decides to withdraw from His body and to continue His work from the subtle plane thereafter.
 12. Burdened with the sole responsibility of bringing down the Supermind, the Mother fights doubts sent by hostile forces about her ability to do the task successfully without Bhagawan's aid.
 13. On Feb 29th, 1956, during her evening playground meditation, Mother succeeds in bringing down the Supermind thereby heralding the supramental era.
 14. In her Spiritual diary named Agenda, the Mother discloses that in the event of her death, her body should be left undisturbed and that it was likely that she may come back with a new supramentalised body.
 15. However this request is not honored and She is buried on Nov.20th at the same place where He was buried.
- (N. Asokan, MSS)

To Be Titled

Life is responding negatively, in the form of the threat from North Korea, to the USA's and Russia's unwillingness to dramatically reduce their nuclear arsenals. It is negative life response for them and the world. Other nations may follow in North Korea's footsteps, believing they too have a right to these weapons of evil to defend themselves.

Greatness of Organization in The World

Karmayogi says that Organization is the great, unappreciated power of Life.

Let us examine several of the ways:

- The universe is organized in ways that astound. (And scientists are continually discovering new ways.)
- Society is organized in thousands of ways (highways, airports, government activities, etc.)
- Businesses and organizations are organized through systems, activities, projects, strategic plans, et al. And through values like cooperation, coordination, integration.
- People are organized through schedules, to do lists, calendars; as well as through values like orderliness, maximum utilization of resources, non-wastage, etc.
- Ultimate organization occurs when values are planned and implemented in the details of Life.
- The universe emerged from the intention and Plan of a Divine Source.
- Supermind is the great organizer that enabled a universe to emerge from a Divine Reality.
- Mind is an organizing instrument, mechanism that orders knowledge through thinking.
- Yoga is organization of consciousness, enabling the emergence of the Spiritual Individual.
- The emergence of Supramentalized Life (next species) and Divine Life on Earth occur through organization of all aspects of physical, vital, mental, and spiritual existence.
- Fields of life are organized to a higher level when they are integrated with one another.

Without organization the universe, the society, the business, the individual would quickly fall into absolute Chaos. Organization is thus the great harmonizer of existence. It establishes a solid basis, so that Life can Thrive!

Comment: Additional thoughts from Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book' on the nature of Organization (submitted by Senthil R Murugan):

--Life evolves through growth of consciousness, consciousness evolves through greater organization.

--The extraordinary thing done by an exceptional man during an evolutionary landmark is made a commonplace occurrence by organization

--Saturation of a plane with organization enables it to evoke a life response.

--An organization is a child of the society, born of its needs, energized by its aspirations, expanding as it expands, evolving to keep pace with its changing needs. When it stops growing, it begins dying.

--Perfect organization makes life respond.

--Organization makes it possible to apply the greatest possible force to each minute aspect of work, thereby releasing infinite energy from the infinitesimal. Organization is a lever that can transform the world.

To Be Titled

We can see organization in so many aspects of life; at so many planes; and yet we take Organization for granted. Perhaps we can begin to see it all around and within us more, truly appreciate the fact, and be thankful for it.

Reader: but so this must be about 'balance', else for example "over-organisation" which for example becomes 'controlfreak level' (or how best to say) or either "under-organisation" which so tends to become carelessness (?) or tends to lead to ignorance (?) ... plus perhaps too not to believe "too much" in "organising" for that so it will not become clueless 'organisation for the sake of organising' (?)

Response: Yes, all correct. Eg startups are often devoid of Organization, often unfold in the state of chaos, and therefore desperately need it. Without it they quickly go under. Whereas many mature companies need less organization and spontaneity. But even valuing spontaneity can be organized into a plan of action for the organization.

Likewise, the possibility of a harmonic, global society is at this point very unorganized, with nations unable to solve critical problems, as they are global in scope, and need cooperation, coordination, and integration, which are higher forms of organization.

To Be Titled

Progress is to compete with oneself. (Karmayogi)

Yes, progress is the willed differential in higher consciousness between the future you and the present version.

To Be Titled

A "coincidence" perceived on the surface is a life response, integral connection in the depths.

To Be Titled

... whatever happens happens by the divine Will, that it's ALWAYS for the best, and it's only human stupidity, lack of understanding, shortsightedness that make us say, "Oh, what a misfortune!

It's all MARVELOUSLY arranged.

(The Mother, from Agenda, October 8, 1969)

To Be Titled

What are the business values subscribed to in your organization? How are they implemented in the details of work, including activities, systems, processes, and procedures? (That is key to releasing the vast power of values in a company.)

(Please note that each sincere, serious attempt to implement a higher consciousness business or social value in an organization will be accompanied by powerful positive response from life, uplifting the company in any of a variety of ways.)

To Be Titled

Increasing frequency and intensity of synchronicities indicates a rapidly rising consciousness.

To Be Titled

If things are bothering you, go Deeper. New, helpful perspectives will quickly arise in your heart and mind.

The Transformable Human Body

... for the entire old Indian yoga, the body is something untransformable, and therefore it's a momentary necessity that will disappear; while for Sri Aurobindo, the body is transformable, and the minute it's transformable, instead of thinking of itself as an individual, it thinks of itself as the Lord.

(Satprem, from Mother's Agenda, September 28, 1969)

To Be Titled

If we work together Globally, then all the intransigent problems that exist Locally can easily be solved.

Essence of the Gita

I believe the essence of the Bhagavad Gita is that we can discover our true Self, the Soul and Spirit within, which is a portion of the Divine, and by doing so we will know our true purpose, truly understand the unfoldings of life, constantly take to right action, and perceive the Transcendent Reality behind all things.

There is also the notion of karma; that our past deeds are affecting our current life; yet if we surrender to God, or Krishna, the Divine, we can overcome our past karmas influence on the present, and avoid constant rebirth.

Also, we are reborn in order to further our progress, to move out of our Ignorance, and increasingly discover the true nature of Reality.

Finally, if we connect to the soul within, we will perceive that we are an inlet of the ocean of Divine Reality, and are thereby able to experience peace, truth, goodness, harmony, wisdom, power, infinity, eternity, love, and joy in life.

From Secular to Religious to Spiritual Understanding of a Matter

Conservative Religious leaders bring the beginnings of the spiritual dimension to discussions on matters that secular one's avoid, though the religious reasons are often completely opposite of the truth. Spiritual thinkers can therefore be aware of the tainted, ignorant religious view, and take to the opposite or inverse position, which will put them right in Truths path. Those perceptions will also go far beyond the secular view.

Example: a tragedy has taken place. The secular commentary addresses the obvious causes, which is a great service. The religious leaders then chime in offering issues of lack of faith or other reasons for the calamity. They are on to something, but they are pointing exactly in the wrong direction. The secular rightfully condemn their understanding.

Now the SPIRITUAL-oriented individual chimes in and perceives the subtle aspects (that the religious are trying to fathom in their ignorance), and thereby see into the deepest Truth of things. They see how the spiritual and temporal are intertwined at a variety of levels. In that explanation, they have also gone far beyond the secular understanding.

Taking Another's Viewpoint Attracts Astounding Result

When you take another person's point of view, astonishing results can ensue, such as a man who never had interest in your way of thinking is now suddenly interested in your philosophy.

Example: A man expressed a strong position that he thought a friend would readily accept, as they had a common interest in the matter. However, his friend expressed the very opposite, which surprised the man. He was about to berate his friend from taking that position, but instead calmed down, and saw into his friend's position. He then sent a message to his friend acknowledging his point of view; understanding why the friend felt the way that he did.

A day or two later, his friend wrote the man asking him his opinion on an esoteric spiritual matter. The man was shocked that his friend expressed such an interest, as he had never done so in the past of five decades of friendship! The man was only too happy to oblige!

To Be Titled

In our ordinary, surface consciousness, we are but a tiny thing compared to the Divine Reality. However, when we connect with our true Self and Soul, then we perceive that we are an inlet of an infinite consciousness and reality. That makes us feel vast (and eternal) inside.

To Be Titled

Stop speaking.

Stop thinking.

Don't look at others.

Mind should converge inside. (Karmayogi)

thanks to S

Comment: Yes, this is the Integral Yoga poise.

To Be Titled

Each time something goes wrong, it is life imploring you to do it right. That opportunity for ongoing success has now been put before you. Thus, the error or failure is secretly a happy occasion.

Influence Others by Not Talking

-To be a better conversationalist, know when to stop talking and actively listen.

-Active listening requires you to be present and pay attention to social and emotional cues.

-Be truly interested in the people speaking, focus on their nonverbal language, and stop looking for your "time to shine" while they are still talking.

To Be Titled

Even stupid ideas can be a bridge to great ones.

Life Response Power of Embracing "Useless" People

Whom people consider useless, when given attention with proper attitude, may bring great luck to one.

When I was in Bangalore, a young boy by the name Siva Sailam was working at a shipping agency, and used to visit our mansion. He was very talkative, and his delivery was so fast that no one could understand his slang. People used to run away when he visited our mansion.

After reading Karmayogi's writings, I understood that even a small thing may lead to something big, I therefore did not want to ignore the boy, and so I used to listen him, trying to understand his slang.

As a result, now I perceived that he was actually talking with sense. One day, he introduced me to his Boss. And that person became my client! This boy changed jobs and went to Mysore to join TVS group. I lost contact with him after one or two years. But the client remains with me even now after 25 years.

(Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

To Be Titled

Interference is one of life's backhanded ways of making things better.

Unexpected Result by Getting to Deeper Meaning of Ideas

When you reach the deepest underlying cause of a problem, life responds quickly to support your follow-up efforts.

A man was working on a video. Various versions were made, and things were moving along with a bit of a struggle as he worked on further drafts.

Then he paused and decided to get to the heart of the matter, focusing on the deeper meaning of the ideas he had been writing. He then went ahead requested a new text version of the video so he could re-write it from its essence and essential ideas. He also was concerned that the co-author would have to re-type major segments, which could be a bit of a burden.

Instead he received the complete text draft in a matter of minutes, from across the world! Having it all already typed up by the co-author came as a complete surprise to the man.

Here too, in this incident, he thought about the essence, the essential principle involved, and remembered the life response power of getting to the deepest meaning of ideas.

Ridicule and Knowledge

Ridicule is comprehensive low knowledge. (Karmayogi)

Eg a parent who constantly screams at a child, does not have knowledge of how to psychologically bring him under control. Or a politically astute individual who constantly ridicules a negative politician, but has no real solutions to an underlying problem.

thanks to S

To Be Titled

The state of Immortality, is immutably peaceful, tranquil, with ... like lightning-fast waves, so rapid that they seem still. It's like this: complete motionlessness (apparently) within a tremendous Movement. (Mother, from Agenda, October 18, 1969)

To Be Titled

Wherever liberation, freedom, advancement comes to society, there is an evolution of the Spirit in Life. Mother is there.

To Be Titled

At the point we give up normal life for Mother's Life we become instruments of the evolution of Spirit on earth.

Confluence of Histories Of Garry Jacobs And Roy Posner

Garry Jacobs enrolled as a student at UC Berkeley in the San Francisco Bay Area of Northern California in 1964, the year the Free Speech Movement began there on campus. He had no great interest in it, though the movement spread across the country, and then around the world.

He was later in Czechoslovakia in 1968 when the movement against the Soviets began there. It was the first breakaway from the Soviet system, and was influenced by the Free Speech Movement that began a few years earlier in Berkeley when Garry was there.

Years later Garry came to Moscow in 1989, the year the Cold War unexpectedly came to an end. It was a startling confluence of world events, and the intentions and social aspirations of Mother's Service Society.

There are many other such "historical synchronicities" in Garry's life. He has been revealing them in his speeches, especially those for devotees. On many of his journeys he had arrived at a place where a great liberation movement had taken shape, though he had no particular interest in seeing these events.

Let's return again to our earlier timeline, and our synchronous connections over time:

A book about Sri Aurobindo fell on Garry and his wife in Moe's bookstore in Berkeley around 1970 (when reaching for a tome on Yogananda) that caused him to radically change his life, head with his wife to Pondicherry, India and the Sri Aurobindo Ashram, where he met Karmayogi.

He returned back to the states (in Southern California) ~1973 to set up a business to sell products from the Ashram.

Meanwhile in 1975 I arrived in Berkeley, with the possibility of going to Journalism graduate school at UC Berkeley. I used to go to Moe's bookstore on Telegraph Avenue, next to campus, where Satprem's 'Sri Aurobindo: or Adventures in Consciousness' had several years earlier fell on Garry. I had not yet met him.

I met a girl on campus in front of Sproul Hall, where the Free Speech Movement began ten years earlier, and we then headed to Europe. In October 1975 we arrived in Athens, Greece, as they were celebrating the onset of democracy for the first time in 2000 years! I had no idea that was taking place before I arrived. Like Garry's experiences, world events were synchronous to where I went. It was/is the evolutionary Force, Mother bringing about further liberation and change in the world, where we were both cosmic passengers and observers [perhaps facilitators as well].

While in Athens I decided not to continue on to Egypt and Israel with my partner, as I realized that the time had come to seriously work and earn a living. I thus returned to California, where through the East-West Center in Los Angeles I met Garry Jacobs in 1974, who offered me a job in sales of Ashram and other products, initiating our forty-year association. (My commitment to working instead of wasting my energies attracted the most important contact of my life.)

Over the next several decades I found myself in the heart of the computer, internet, and smartphone revolution as I was deeply influenced and worked in the San Francisco Bay Area which is where Silicon Valley is located. I found myself again in the midst of a global revolution. I trained others at corporations in SF and Silicon Valley for over 25 years.

When I finished my book on Life Response in 2008, I was stunned to discover that someone else had written a similar book! It was 'The Secret' by Rhonda Byrne, which spread around the world. Now I was at the center of a New Consciousness movement based on the premise that we can evoke miraculous-like conditions from out of nowhere. At the prodding of Karmayogi, I documented hundreds of examples; experiencing many of them personally, which were then presented in the book, and other tomes to follow.

Aside from all his other duties at MSS, Garry would go on to write the novel 'The Book', a slightly fictionalized version of his own life, where The Book magically appears in the world's history, including several of the auspicious places Garry had gone to in real life. The BOOK inside the novel The Book contains the profound, cosmic wisdom for an artificial intelligence system that has the capacity to solve any social problem in the world. I have run a Facebook blog focusing on the novel for the last several years. Even a film of it has been proposed.

These are a few of our histories and connections, though if we thought about it, we would certainly discover many more.

And yet there is something deeper taking place here; a Secret to be unraveled, of our places in the greater scheme of things, in the evolution of the Spirit on earth.

Notes:

-If the book had not fallen on Garry and Leslie, my life (an many others) would likely have been very different.

-Another startling "coincidence": Garry met Harlan Cleveland, one of the founders of the World Academy (WAAS), which Garry later went on to be the CEO and Chairman of. When I attended Syracuse University from 1967-1972, Harlan had just been the dean of the Maxwell School of Citizenship, where I attended many of my classes, and was the vehicle for a great change in my outlook about social change and the destiny of America. It became the vehicle from which I would have a new spiritual perspective of life, especially when soon after I discovered Sri Aurobindo myself. I attended those classes at Maxwell School of Syracuse U ~10 years before Harlan and Garry would link up, and three years before Garry and I would connect.

(by Roy Posner)

To Be Titled

First generation coming out of poverty often become obese.

To Be Titled

Wealthy people often have thick or elongated ear lobes.

To Be Titled

Suffering has the sanction of the Soul.

To Be Titled

God did not so much create the universe, as He BECAME it.

To Be Titled

Many of the physical pains we experience subtly come from others.

To Be Titled

Mother says Death is merely a bad habit.

Comment: When the cells of the body are trained not to believe in the inevitability of its demise, and the Force is brought to bear, illness and even death become less of a reality. This is the great work Mother worked on in the last decades of Her life. She trained the body not to react to negative conditions in her body. She began to overcome the inevitable habit of the body to fall into illness, to decay, to come undone.

To further that process, Sri Aurobindo told Mother from the subtle plane that He would return with a fully transformed, immortal body. Ie one could live as long as one wished.

We too can follow in Mother's footsteps (as She described in 14 volume Agenda), and practice those same approaches to overcome the habitual nature of the body to take to illness, disease, decay, and death.

To Be Titled

Freedom is wasted when Liberty is lacking - eg economic incapacity in the society that makes it difficult to truly be free.

To Be Titled

To whomever we have hatred will have affection for us is spiritual wisdom. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

What the common man is talking about will indicate the state of the country. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Luck is subconscious life response.

Life response is the capacity to create luck.

(From "The Book")

Yes, what we call Luck is life response (sudden good fortune) that comes to us, not knowing what we did to precipitate it. The knowledge of the cause of the luck, the good fortune is subconscious to us. What we need to do is make the cause CONSCIOUS to us, so we can evoke these positive responses of Luck all of the time. It's a shift from unconscious or subconscious life response to its conscious form.

To Be Titled

Mother said that as we evolve, males will acquire feminine characteristics, such as a certain grace and fluidity; and women will acquire masculine ones, such as firmness, physical strength, etc.

Second Chance We Are Given

Karmayogi indicates that when you make one significant mistake, you are given one chance to get it right in the next round. However, if you repeat the mistake or worse, disaster(s) loom.

It is why Silicon Valley did so well after the DotCom crash of 2001. It looked within and decided that starts up would need to generate revenue and even profit before money was handed over to them by venture capitalists; which was not required in their first boom before the DotCom crash. So they learned from the first round mistake, and intensely did not want to repeat it; leading to astounding on-going success; unprecedented in business history.

On the other hand, a politician who follows the same disastrous policies of an earlier president, without learning any lessons, invites cataclysmic disaster, including the wrath of Mother Nature.

To Be Titled

The yoga is to Surrender to Her, and see what happens.

The Subtitle/Motto Of 'The Book'

In the subheading of the title page of Garry Jacobs' epic mystical and practical novel 'The Book' reads: "the spiritual individual in quest of the living organization"

What does this mean?

The "Spiritual Individual" is someone who is in touch with his inner being and is able to know things, to direct his life based on intimations that rise up from within. He is more than a person with individuality, who thinks for himself, but someone with super-individuality whose soul thinks for himself, thereby coming up with ultimate insight for ultimate success and delight in life.

The "Living Organization" is a business or similar in which all parts are in harmony with one another, expressing through highest consciousness and producing ultimate success.

Thus "the spiritual individual in quest of the living organization" indicates a person(s) who expresses their ultimate individuality through soul/psychic being connection in an organization that is in tune with all aspects of its makeup and being.

In the novel Garry Jacobs brings out how the various characters are growing in consciousness, understanding the inner and outer laws of life, even as they build a living organization in the form of their MAIS software technology company.

To Be Titled

Most of what I write about in these posts are based on personal experiences (often recent); rather than mere intellectual understanding.

To Be Titled

The sexless state is the evolutionary destiny of the New Body.

(Mother indicated that it will be replaced by a center of consciousness; as will breathing, blood circulation, digestion, etc.)

What Can Be Taught by Family, Education, Society and Self

Family that is crucial and essential is only a passing phase in the evolving society, as marriage is.

- Wherever family has still a role to play, it will remain. It will disappear from places which have outgrown its need.
- Values that can be taught can be taught only by the family.
- Values that are to be self-acquired can only be acquired by oneself.
- Discipline can be given by the school.
- Society can teach caution negatively.
- Society reveals to a man the basic human possibilities.
- Family unveils the dark recesses of human nature.
- Affection is fostered in the family.
- Manners are cultivated in the school.
- Personality is shaped by the external society.
- Spiritual openings are found INSIDE.

(Karmayogi)

Unplanned, Extemporaneous Speech Attracts Startling Outcome - first draft

There are times when changing direction, improvising, and not going according to a plan can lead to startling positive outcomes.

A renowned speaker was going to make a speech on issues related to social development. He had given such speeches nearly 100 times throughout the world over several decades. This time however his personal and spiritual mentor suggested he go without a speech, without any particular idea in mind. The man was wondering how in the world he would succeed with this approach, but still went ahead and heeded his mentor's advice.

Before he had a chance to get into the speech, one of the participants asked the man if he could narrate the famous incident where a book mysteriously fell off the shelf, which had the effect of altering the course of his and others' lives. The man stood there startled that this question was asked. After all, only a few knew of this event; yet here he was in a place he had never been, with people he never interacted with before, and they immediately brought up one of the great secrets of his life.

But there was more. Improvising on the fly, the man went on to make perhaps the most penetrating speech of his life on the subject matter he was addressing; transcending all other 100+ speeches he had ever made on the subject!

That is the power of going beyond a plan; a set way of doing things; and instead being spontaneous and fresh. Immediately someone asks about a core issue in your life, which opens up discussion in directions one would never have dream of.

When we go beyond the plans and organization of mind, not only will startling circumstance arise, touching on our deepest aspirations, but wisdom will rush in from all directions; filling the mind with fresh, extemporaneous thoughts and insights.

Corresponding Photos

A man removed a picture of a friend, for what can only be called selfish reasons. The next day he was surprised that the same friend published a picture of his that he did not like! He soon understood that one insensitive, ego-oriented error in judgement evoked a corresponding personal embarrassment from life.

To Be Titled

Best not to influence or compel others to become something they are not, unless there's something in them that "calls for it."

Reader: Thank you Sir.

What if we have responsibility for them? If they are not willing and also if we are not trying to make them aware, means we are not doing our duty?

Response: Yes, that is different. I was thinking more about friends, acquaintances, etc. where there is no obligation. On the other hand, if you have responsibility for others, you likely already have a duty to mold them, compel them, etc to some degree. Implicitly they are already "calling for it" from you in such situations.

To Be Titled

Transformation is going beyond one's human potential, to supramental levels.

To Be Titled

We think we are simply having (romantic) relationships, but the Divine knows that at the deepest levels we are undergoing a process of personal growth through that interaction.

To Be Titled

You never know where your life will go, so enjoy the ride and keep open to the widest possibilities.

Cambodia Town

Synchronicities are the most common mystical experience. I have had perhaps thousands of them in my lifetime. Eg here is one I had yesterday;

I was driving near the beach area of my hometown, when I turned on the radio. I found myself absorbed in an NPR segment on the current situation in Cambodia. Apparently the opposition leader who intended to run against the incumbent was arrested for sedition. It seemed to be an autocratic, undemocratic move.

As I listened to the story, I harkened back to the Vietnam era of the bombing of Cambodia that led to the blood-thirsty Khmer Rouge. In combination with the current developments, I felt intense sympathy for this troubled land and people.

I then looked down towards the car radio and then turned it off, lifted my head up, and instantly saw a sign above me that read "Cambodia Town." I was stunned by what I had seen! I had somehow unwittingly drifted into that part of Long Beach, as I listened to the radio broadcast.

Yet I knew that my intense focus and emotion about Cambodia had somehow put me in alignment with outer conditions. It was a mystical echo of my fully absorbed thoughts and feelings; a literal and figurative sign.

It was also another synchronicity, now added to the many hundreds or thousands that had come before it.

To Be Titled

We think it's about growing a business, a profession, a career; but it's really about growing as a person, and further still growing spiritually, in touch and in tune with the Reality.

Consecrated Printing Out of Critical Document

A woman was trying to print a critical document that she had filled out on the Internet. No matter what she tried, nothing would print. She then asked a friend to help, but he too could not get the doc to print out.

Not knowing what to do, the man proceeded to have his lunch. As he sat down, he consecrated the problem the friend was having with printing.

Two minutes later, the printer started working. As she proceeded to collect the pages from the printer, the woman looked at the man and commented that she didn't know what she had done to make the document print.

Hesitatingly, the man told her that he had consecrated the issue a moment before, and hence now the critical document was printing.

To Be Titled

When you do all you can, an overly tight schedule will loosen up, creating something more convenient.

To Be Titled

Positive life response is due to making inner reversals from out of the negative, as well as by enhancing the good.

To Be Titled

Synchronicities are there everywhere around us. A conscious person should be able to see at least several every day. It is one measure of the depths of our awareness.

Decisions

"...if we truly understand the process, we can make our choice, any choice, into a right choice, because the decision itself has power to determine the result. It's a parallel to Heisenberg's uncertainty principle in which the observer influences the object of observation. In this case the quality and intensity of the psychological components of the decision have the power to influence the external conditions and the final outcome. At least, that is what it sounds like to me..."

The above was said by Dan in [Garry Jacobs' novel] The Book. MAI team had ventured into a project for NASA to model a methodology to select right team members for International Space Station. With the help of The Book, they had discovered the inherent flaw in their earlier approach and realized that they have to address the problem differently instead of modelling human compatibility, to model human decision making process. They were determined to do it, but not sure how to do it. Their determined decision and inner aspiration attracted the right source of "The Matrix" and so the project was executed in a much shorter period.

Result:

Before beginning of the project, MAI asked for 18 months but NASA had given only 12 months. With the arrival of "The Matrix" the work required was abridged tremendously and so they thought that they could finish within 12 months.

In Reality, they had completed in just five and a half months after the project began.

(SM)

Comment: Yes, the matrix devised by Karmayogi knows the forces that lead to short or long term success (or failure). It is based on subtle observations of life (Character of Life), and whether the current issue under considerations match the factors that make up one of the four quadrants. Now the AI system can anticipate future outcomes, as there is predictive capacity in each quadrant.

It works for an organization or for any individual, who is trying to resolve a problem or whether to get the "go" on any new venture.

Garry has beautifully encapsulated the process in the life and spirit conscious AI system that is at the heart of his novel.

The Power of Not Reacting in Intense Moment

At intense moments, reacting to an event is a normal human tendency. However, when we take higher consciousness approach and DECIDE not to react to that moment will make Life to respond and bring miraculous results.

Background: [In Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book'] MAI team (Dan, Ray, Vinay and Anya) were called for a meeting to evaluate their project proposal by NASA. They were confronted by one member of NASA (Roche) vehemently out of ill-will. It was an intense moment! What did Dan do?

The Book says:

"...Dan sat back and observed Roche carefully. The first thing that struck him was that Roche was confronting them with the very doubts with which they had confronted themselves just a few days earlier. His accusations were only a reflection of their own self-accusations. What was the use of getting angry or defensive with him for pointing out basic truths? No doubt he was doing it in a mean-spirited, intentionally provocative manner. Perhaps he was even professionally threatened and jealous that they had evolved an alternative approach to the problem. But Dan saw clearly that reacting and quarreling with Roche would not do any good. He thought about what he had read in the article on silent will. He decided to remain quiet."

"...When Roche finally completed his tirade, all the partners were surprised to hear Ray start defending their position calmly and effectively, and Ray was the most surprised of them all!..."

"...When Ray completed his response, there was silence in the room. Roche seemed to be struggling for something to say, but he sensed that he had lost the initiative irretrievably..."

Result: At the end, MAI team won the trust of all except Roche and the project was indeed awarded to them.

(SM)

Comment: Dan's non-reactive quietude negated Roche's negative energies, awarding MAI the project. He was the guru in the room in that instance. As we see, one man can change the reality from within. This is indicative of the emergence of Supramental capacity and Life.

To Spiritually Endure

Victory belongs to the most enduring. (Karmayogi)

People go through situations, and if they learn from the experience, and they maintain their aspirations in life, they Endure. If they do not learn from the situation, they will not endure; will simply crumble before life.

Mother asks us to Endure. She repeats this request of us over and over in Agenda. "Enduring" meaning going beyond the obstacles, in order to continually discover higher truths. It is a strength to see one's way forward in life, armed with a great intensity of aspiration. We thereby grow and evolve through the process. It is the path of higher consciousness, culminating in human transformation.

thanks to S.

To Be Titled

Each person is put in just the right place; in relationships with just the right people, so they can grow from where they are into something greater.

Divine/Delight, Ego/Pain

ஆனந்தம் பிரம்மத்திற்கு. வலி அகந்தைக்கு.

Delight is for the Divine. Pain is for the ego. (Karmayogi).

The Divine's intent for creation is for us to experience that Being, which is Delight. On the way, we enjoy the experience of Ego, separative Consciousness, which invariably attracts pain. Ego is thus opposite of Divine. Pain of Delight.

thanks to S

To Be Titled

Make the right, higher-consciousness choice at every moment.

Life will constantly be your friend!

Passing on Knowledge

Like all things, knowledge grows by giving. The more you give it to others, the more it grows.

True knowledge cannot be possessed. It can only be received with gratitude and passed on.

(from 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

We don't think about and perceive how each of the significant outcomes in our lives have been evoked because of specific earlier inner or outer behavior on our part. We are too oblivious and mentally lazy to make the correlations. The dull physical un-consciousness rules.

To Be Titled

Normally, giving an opinion does not solve an organizational or social problem. But GIVING UP one's opinion often does; as It attracts the right result.

Supramental Decision Making on the Sunlit Path

The Mother offers us the Sunlit Path.

It is the positive means of experiencing a Higher Life; without any pain, avoiding the negative.

We experience the Sunlit Path when we live our lives from the Supramental plane.

What do we mean by that?

Supermind is the Truth Consciousness.

It is the capacity to know and do precisely the right thing in any given moment, in any situation.

As a result, Life becomes a Marvel.

We attract endless success and experience deep abiding joy.

How then do we know what the right, i.e. Supramental choice is?

There are infallible guidelines to help us decide which direction to take at every moment, in any situation.

Let's examine several of these:

First: When we assert our OWN point of view, it means we are in Ego consciousness.

And that is normally the wrong choice, producing the worst outcome.

Instead we need to reverse that and embrace the Other Man's Point of View.

It will produce the very best outcomes, including harmonic perspectives of the Truth.

Second: Normally when we undertake an INITIATIVE of our own volition, there is an Egoistic element present.

As a result, success is often limited when we go down that path.

Instead, we need to be Still, and wait for LIFE'S initiatives to come to us.

And when they do, we should take them up in full, perceiving them as golden opportunities.

Doing so will invariably lead to the very best outcomes in life.

Third: Instead of feeling ill-will towards others and being selfish, we should practice Goodwill and Self-Givingness.

That too is the right choice; one that will attract startling positive conditions from the world around us.

Forth: Instead of ignoring a problematic situation or blaming others, we should take Conscious Responsibility for it, and do what we can.

There too life will quickly work in our favor.

Fifth: Finally, instead of being impulsive or impatient in any given moment, we should remain Calm and Patient.

That choice always attracts the very best conditions from life.

E.g., whenever we are in a line at the market, we can practice this inner method.

In each of these situations, we take the position of HIGHER Consciousness; avoiding the lower; thereby attracting the very best conditions from the world around us.

This dynamic of always choosing the True over the false is to take the Supramental perspective.

It is the Truth Consciousness view of things.

And yet, if we make these right, supramental-like cross-road decisions, are there any sure signs that our life is now on the RIGHT TRACK?

Yes there is.

It is that we constantly feel energized and filled with JOY.

That conditions around us are so pervasively positive and energizing, that we cannot help but always SMILE!

(by MSS, SM, and Roy Posner; based on teachings of Sri Aurobindo in Life Divine)

Overcoming Negative Consequences of Ego When Engaging in a Good Act

As long as we are in the Ego, the Good acts we engage in can have both positive AND negative consequences.

Why is this the case?

When we engage in a good act, we often feel self-satisfied and prideful in our actions, which are Ego movements.

As a result, not only do we receive the consequences of the goodness in the act, but the negative effect as well.

Eg if an individual is in line at the market, and allows another person to go ahead of him, while seeing it as an opportunity to get to another register that much faster, he will evoke mixed consequences (positive and negative) from the field of life.

Here is an even more extreme example:

If a man engages in a good act in a somewhat self-satisfied way for a Bad person, he will also receive the Dark energies from that person in return – attracting additional negative circumstance.

And yet we can change our ways and engage in an act of goodness WITHOUT any shades of ego, meaning we will experience only positive outcomes, devoid of the negative.

How then can a follower of the Spirit evoke such all-positive response from life; untainted by ego?

Before engaging in any act, including an act of goodness, we should CONSECRATE the activity, offering it to the divine Mother.

That will free us from the egoistic elements, and thereby avoid negative consequences.

Only startling Positive conditions will follow!

(by MSS, SM, and Roy Posner; based on teachings of Sri Aurobindo in Life Divine)

Purpose of Life's Difficulties and Challenges

When we experience something unexpected and troublesome, we blame Life.

The truth is that we attract these life outcomes because of how we are and what we do at every moment.

Each negative attitude, habit, belief, and action attracts a corresponding effect in the material world.

These negative qualities can be summed up by one word – our “IGNORANCE”

I.e. our inherent Ignorance, taking shape in these various forms, attract negative circumstance that evoke unexpected failure, disappointment, and pain from the world around us.

A related truth is that we each have a “Taste” for this Ignorance, as sage Sri Aurobindo puts it.

That is, not only do we make little effort to understand and come out of our Ignorance, but we ENJOY being in it, expressing it, even gleefully DEFENDING it.

An example is one who RELISHES expressing his obvious false opinions on a regular basis.

We may not believe it is Ignorance we are expressing, but rather some TRUTH we are privileged to share with the world.

And yet it is simply Ignorance masquerading as falsehood that we have unconsciously come to believe in.

Also keep in mind, that it is not Life that is putting us to the test when we experience something troublesome.

Rather it is Life responding to WHAT WE ARE; to the energies we release through our negative thoughts, feelings, attitudes, urges, decisions, and actions.

Life is therefore continually responding to our Ignorance.

Life even responds negatively to the expressions of falsehood emanating from our Subconscious Being.

There too, buried deep within us, is another layer of our Ignorance.

Thus, in order to know why life responds to us the way it does, we need to understand the various aspects of our being – including our thoughts, feelings, desires, attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors.

We also need to understand the prevailing Social Atmosphere that is influencing our lives.

Together, --

(1) perceiving the quality of our consciousness at various levels, and

(2) the prevailing social atmosphere, --

Life reveals the Secrets of why it responds to us the way it does.

Also keep this in mind: It is NOT that Life is TESTING Us.

If anything, it is we who are Testing Life!

I.e. we are testing the Reality’s “patience” with us, when we continually express new forms of Ignorance that evoke negative results from the world around us.

Also note that the harshness we experience in our lives is not mere PUNISHMENT for our past inner and outer behaviors.

Rather these circumstances occur to make us THINK about the various ways our Ignorance precipitated the outer problems, so we can CHANGE OUR NATURE – which will in turn prevent us from moving in the wrong direction in future.

In the final analysis, everything that comes to us in life serves a Purpose.

It comes to teach us, to help us move out of our fundamental Ignorance, and to guide our future behaviors and actions.

(by MSS, SM, and Roy Posner; based on teachings of Sri Aurobindo in Life Divine)

To Be Titled

Difficulties in life come to awaken our consciousness.

To Be Titled

Life comes to awaken in us what is there Secret inside.

To Be Titled

When you have learned all you need to know from people you find difficult, they will leave you forever; plus you will forget all of the experiences, though you will retain the wisdom. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

All powers in the universe are expressions of the Spirit's potencies.

To Be Titled

Because the Spirit does not respond to every call is proof that the Divine sees into our nature, and requires us to first change to fill the gap.

Comment: Whether the Spirit/Mother answers our call or not, it is always Grace. If the answer to our call does not come, we are still being protected from all harm, and we are given the opportunity to grow. The Grace is thus always leading us to our Higher Nature.

To Be Titled

Focusing on the negative tends to perpetuate it.

Comment: (ignoring it - with no emotional intensity, - calms it down)

The Electric Fan and Multiple Causes of Response of Life

There are times that a single life response can reveal a half dozen or more life lessons, including the causes of the sudden good fortune outcome.

Recently we went through several of the yearly heat waves that descend on my region of California. Not unbearable, but warm or hot enough to want to make use of indoor fans and air conditioning.

Well during this period we noticed that our nice-looking spinning fan in the bedroom was not producing a commensurate breeze. No matter what the setting, the fan produced hardly anything at all. I thought of several possibilities, but none of them held water. Finally, I decided to simply clean out some of the dust that had accumulated on the outer and inner parts of the fan. After so after a bit of effort, I turned on the fan; with the same results. No wind, no nothing; just a fairly loud hum that produced no beneficial effect. It was time to purchase another fan!

So we set out to the local Target looking for a device to keep us cool. Unfortunately, when we arrived there and asked someone about the whereabouts of the fans, they got on their walkie talky, only to discover that there were no more fans in stock. Oh well, we thought, it makes sense; we are in the middle of a series of major heat waves.

And so we drove off to the Walmart, hoping for a better result. After walking up and down endless isles, we finally reached the fan area; but alas there were no more tall, four-foot standing fans in stock; just very small ones that are hardly taller than ground level. Again, it was obvious about the heat wave effect. And yet I sensed that there was more to these events.

For one, that we were getting no results was due to the fact that somehow we had the wrong strategy. That somehow there was a better way. Eg perhaps we would simply have to wait until there were new stocks; or perhaps we were making a mountain out of a molehill, and should just forget the matter, and get by with what we had.

When we arrived home, I went straight for the fan. I noticed that there was still a lot of dust in it, so why not give it another try and clean out the internals to see if that would have an effect.

The trouble was that the outer cover of the fan did not come off, making it virtually impossible to get at the dust. Yet I gave it another try. This time when I pulled on the round edge in one direction, the cover suddenly came off! That was most unexpected! Now I could get to the dust inside, and clean it out.

After I finished the cleaning, and reattached the cover, I still expected the fan not to work as before, though at least it would look better now that we had removed the dust!

And so I turned it on and sat in front of it. I kind of closed my eyes to see if it would produce even the slightest breeze. However, when the rotating fan turned in my direction, I suddenly felt a moderate, yet in my mind substantial draft coming from the fan! And then when I turned it to the next highest setting, it felt like I had entered a wind tunnel! And when I turned it to its highest setting, it felt like a mini-hurricane!

What in the world had happened? Could the removal of the dust somehow allowed the mechanism in the fan to start working? Or was it simply the principle that if you give something more Attention, it will begin to respond in ways it had not done before. Or perhaps the principle that if you clean something to a higher level, which I had just done, you attract good fortune; here in the form of a virtual blowing machine. Or perhaps the idea that if you persist, life will respond. And so on and so forth.

Yes, now that the fan was working, the Life Response wheels were turning in my head. The conclusion I came to is that several phenomena were at work simultaneously that attracted the startling change in circumstance.

In the final analysis, I realized that the cause of any life response event involves a number of principles simultaneously – ranging from the material outer to the subtle inner.

Moreover, seeing all the causes at once is supramental perception, which not only gives ultimate Knowledge of the situation, but ultimate Power to correct any difficult and challenging situation.

Sue adds: Another reason it worked is because he made an effort to locate a new fan, not finding one, returning home to lean the fan he has just cleaned works better than before!

Senthil adds: Thank you Sir,

Very nice sharing.

Also a minor point could be Non-reaction (or not disappointed) despite not able to purchase the new fan.

RP: Yes, these two were key, and are related.

End of Drought Initiative Succeeds

Few months back I visited Tanjore and Trichy. On the way I noticed river Cauvery which was almost dry like a desert. So I prayed to The Mother that more rains should come and the river must be full of Water. Meanwhile Ashokan Sir and MSS had advised Mother devotees to pray for more rain and to keep profile picture as rainy picture.

I asked some of my friends in FB also to pray for rain. They said not only Tamilnadu but all over south India should get rain, then only we will get sufficient water in Tamilnadu.

Last week when I went to Trichy, I was so happy to see river Cauvery full of water. I'm thankful to The Mother and all who prayed sincerely for rain.

(Devi Mirra)

To Be Titled

Holding back creates power.

Bill Tate Story: Life Response Power of Overcoming Ill-Will

[from The Book, a novel by Garry Jacobs - Chapter 32]

Bill Tate's company was a network service provider to mobile telecoms in the Bay Area. He started only four years ago. Last year his revenues were about twenty million dollars and his net income was around four million dollars. Then, he said, in the past twelve months, his net income had tripled. What had he done?

Tate's answer follows:

"I changed my attitude. Last year I attended a Dale Carnegie Management Course. On the last day, our instructor gave us one final assignment. He asked us to identify the person in the world whom we disliked the most and go make friends with them, genuinely, not just as a pleasant behavior.

Immediately I knew what my assignment would have to be, and I cringed at the very thought. It was the contract manager of my single largest customer, a forty-five year old engineer, a thorny, aggressive, irritating woman who I simply could not tolerate. Every time I meet or speak with her on the phone, it ends in a quarrel. It had gotten to the point where I avoided her calls and passed them on to someone else in the office. Last year I hired a sales manager just to handle this woman, since I knew I was incapable of doing it myself without quarreling with her.

Anyway, I knew she would have to be my assignment.

At first, I did not do anything. I just reflected on my attitude and the past history of our relationship. I had to concede that she had not always been wrong, and I had not always been right. It occurred to me that she probably disliked dealing with me as much as I did with her. I tried to recall any isolated incidents in which she had actually done something nice for us and was surprised to discover how many I could list. I realized that part of my resentment against the lady was because she reminded me of my ex-wife."

After reflection, Tate decided to make an effort to change his attitude and relationship with the woman. He accompanied his manager on his next visit to her office. She was surprised to see him. Initially she was defensive and even somewhat aggressive. But when she found that Tate had not come to cause any trouble, she gradually relaxed. By the end of the meeting they were both smiling over nothing in particular.

Tate started taking her calls when she asked for the sales manager. He made a couple more visits over the next three months, always along with his sales manager. After that he just forgot about the assignment.

Last week Tate reviewed last year's financials. He knew his business with her company had grown, but he had no idea that it was up four hundred percent.

When they did a detailed cost benefit, it turned out that business from this company alone had tripled Tate's bottom line.

Bee-Hive

I'd like to share an amazing story of the Power of Consecration. A few months ago, one morning when I woke up I found a big bee hive formed on the branch of a tree very close to the balcony of my house. There were a few stray bees buzzing around the verandah of my balcony. I was very worried as my young kid used to play in the balcony as it was his favourite place and it was difficult to keep a tab on him always. I closed the door and consecrated the issue to the Mother. I left to drop my relatives at the airport. Two hours later when I came back I was stunned. The beehive had vanished and not even a trace of a single bee!

(Parameswaran Hariharan)

To Be Titled

Transformation converts torture into rapture. (Karmayogi)

Sri Aurobindo when stung by a scorpion turned that intense pain into rapturous pleasure. We have the capacity to convert a life that is tortuous into one that is blissful by going through transformation; i.e. shedding our negative tendencies, amplifying the positive ones, while connecting to the psychic being/soul within, and from there surrendering to the divine Mother.

Thanks to S

Tragedy as Marvel

To understand a tragedy as a marvel is necessary in yogic perception. (Karmayogi)
Yes, out of the tragedy we can begin to perceive much good, in a variety of directions. Ie the Good that emerges from the Bad. See how Europe evolved by 200 years as a result of WWII. We can also see it there in our own lives. Lydia's outrageous elopement ushered in great change for Darcy, Eliza, Jane, Bingley, Mr. Bennet, and others in Pride and Prejudice.
When we rise in consciousness Yogically, we have this supramental-like perception.
thanks to S

The Facts and Our Ignorance

We can tell the facts, but we will not be able to satisfy anyone (Karmayogi)

People-

- do not want to learn

- normally only truly learn through personal experience, not ideas, facts

- are ideological, harboring one point of view on matters

- have their experiences on a matter, and we cannot convince them otherwise with information

These are expressions of our essential Ignorance, born of creation.

thanks to S

To Be Titled

With the tools of science and its mental perturbations, we barely scratch the surface about the true nature of Reality.

To Be Titled

Behind the surface mechanisms that science has revealed, there is a Conscious-Force and a Conscious Intention working its way out in Nature, in Life.

To Be Titled

When we perceive Spirit as separate from Life, we are missing that they are actually two expressions of the same one Reality.

To Be Titled

Spirit is not the One. Everything is the One.

To Be Titled

Often when we try to rise in consciousness, our body suddenly falls ill. The distance between the two - our current status and our higher aspiration - is a gap that can cause the body to manifest as illness. It is the physical trying to assimilate the new aspiration for future progress.

To Be Titled

Doing things for social reasons, not spiritual, - such as making a courtesy call for a sick acquaintance or accepting funds from a distant relative, etc. - has social consequences, often negative.

To Be Titled

Great crisis, like global warming and radical wealth inequality can help bring the world closer together as a result of working collaboratively to overcome them; furthering the way to Human Unity.

Reader: As a result, the Unity (of the world people) creating strength .. Wow! I often used to wonder how these crises are going to be erased by us.

To Be Titled

The physical consciousness wants to repeat the same things over and over. But Life wants to constantly change! Caught in the cross-fire, we can evolve our being, and thereby become one with the movements of existence.

Reader: Does this mean, that one shouldn't be in the comfort zone?

Response: Yes, it can mean that.

To Be Titled

Life is presenting the means for our progress in the best possible way, according to the state of consciousness we are in. (Senthil Murugan)

To Be Titled

When we lost faith in our personal capacities, - (the Psychic Being) The Mother within us comes to the surface and whispers subtly to us, which we perceive in the form of a sudden idea or subtle vision. (Senthil Murugan)

To Be Titled

Behind our surface perceptions of life, there is a Conscious-Force in nature that is acting in everything. While we react to the unfoldings of life, not understanding the wherefore and the why, the Conscious-Force is at work guiding all matters, giving purpose to all things, - whether positive or negative, great or small.

Reader1: If we consecrate to The Mother, we can try to understand them, and improve in life.

Reader2: I was just reading that the Great London Fire is suspected to have played a major role in defeating the Black Plague by killing the vectors...it's amazing how even a major negative event can result in an even bigger positive.

Response: Yes, it's true. And the earlier (14th century) Black Death (Bubonic plague) that killed over half of Europe paved the way for the emergence of new-found cleanliness, an explosion of cross-national trade, and the emergence of the great Renaissance that revolutionized culture and life. Thus there was a purpose, a higher intention, a Conscious-force, moving and guiding Events beyond the surface view.

There is also the Conscious-Force guiding our own individual lives. The more we are conscious of it, the more we can make use of it to accelerate our own personal growth and success.

Higher Consciousness Approach to North Korea

[the following is the recommendation in 2008 of the expert system in Garry Jacob's epic mystical novel 'The Book' on a course of action regarding North Korea. The approach seems more valid than ever. -RP]

"North Korea will test detonate one or more nuclear weapons in the very near future, but they will not initiate any offensive acts to utilize these weapons militarily, unless powerfully provoked by forceful threats or actual steps to attack or invade North Korea...

In the absence of foreign interference, the Koreas can be peacefully reunified within a few years leading to a final resolution of the Korean conflict. The crucial condition is national pride and self-reliance, not dependence on foreign economic aid by the North or foreign military aid by the South...

The menace of nuclear proliferation will defy solution and continue to spread until those who possess the power [US, Russia, and all] decide to fulfill their own [denuclearization] commitments.

1. Do not, under any circumstances, take any steps militarily that may be viewed by North Korea as initiatives aimed to physically eliminate or impair its capacity for self-defense.
2. Sign an official armistice agreement ending the Korean War.
3. Institute measures to completely remove foreign military personnel from the Korean peninsula as soon as possible.
4. Prepare a comprehensive plan to modernize agricultural production in North Korea to achieve food security. Involve China, Japan, India, Russia, South Korea and USA in formulation and execution of the plan. The objective should be to double food production within a maximum of five years so that all foreign food aid may be eliminated."

To Be Titled

The great changes that take place in a country ordinarily have less to do with the actions of the government, and more to do with the energies, aspirations, and initiatives of the people.

To Be Titled

Except for the Spirit, no faster positive change occurs than revulsion to an Evil force.

To Be Titled

Religions promise eternal existence in the NEXT life. Sri Aurobindo offers it in THIS one.

To Be Titled

America is being led by a dangerous clown who presides over a nation suffering from unbridled economic neo-liberalism that values financial speculation, vast wealth inequality, a vicious labor market, tax avoidance and havens, and other free-wheeling, non-regulated methods for business, instead of human dignity and fairness. It harkens back to the conditions under which Nazi Germany rose in the 1930s, especially so when white racism and the like are added to the equation.

To Be Titled

Oligarchy - where the government operates primarily for the sake of enhancing business in the nation - poisons democracy; turning away from the human needs of the citizenry.

Reader: Doubt whether India is also on the path. India and United States are now treading the same path, US probably has more freedom and tolerance in criticising the state than India, really doubt whether democracy in its true spirit exists in these countries. Scandinavian countries are truly the most advanced in human principles and values, when it comes to governance

Response: Yes, India is trying to take the best of the West, while trying to avoid its excesses. And yes, it is true what you say about Scandinavian countries.

Rising Economic Inequality and Insecurity, Unbridled Capitalism, and their Threat to Democracy

[The following is the capsule summary from article "The Political Economy of Neoliberalism and Illiberal Democracy," by Garry Jacobs, just published in Cadmus Journal]

The unprecedented opportunities missed at the end of the Cold War have come back to haunt and taunt us in the form of misshapen ideologies and misconceived policies.

Discredited notions discarded by history once again raise their heads to be finally buried or bury us. Despite the rhetoric of the Washington Consensus, the fall of the Berlin Wall, the collapse of communism and dissolution of Soviet authoritarianism did not mark a final vindication and victory for Western democratic neoliberalism. They only removed the antagonist who had compelled Western ideologues to moderate their actions to counterbalance the obvious humanistic appeal of socialism.

Blinded by their own propaganda, theorists, politicians and the general public have embraced a course that threatens the stability and sustainability of Western society. Globalization, financialization, global mergers and acquisitions, shadow banking, international tax havens, the policy bias favoring energy-intensive automation, maximizing share-holder value, state capture, oligarchy and plutocracy have fueled soaring levels of economic inequality and insecurity.

More importantly, they have shaken the roots of the social consensus that is the foundation of modern liberal democracies: polarizing and destabilizing society and throwing political processes into chaos. The notion that economics can be divorced and insulated from politics is an illusion. There is no economy without politics and law. A return to unbridled capitalism is threatening the culture of liberal values and the functioning of democratic institutions. Even mature democracies show signs of degenerating into their illiberal namesakes.

The historical record confirms that peaceful, prosperous, free and harmonious societies can best be nurtured by the widest possible distribution of all forms of power—political, economic, educational, scientific, technological and social—to the greatest extent to the greatest number. The aspiration for individual freedom can only be realized and preserved when it is married with the right to social equality. The mutual interdependence of the individual and the collective is the key to their reconciliation and humanity's future.

Negative Economic Trajectory of Capitalism in the West in the Last 30 Years and the Demise of Democracy

[The following is excerpted from article "The Political Economy of Neoliberalism and Illiberal Democracy," by Garry Jacobs, just published in Cadmus Journal]

Within a decade [of the end of the Cold War] the global market was transformed into a vast frontier for unregulated capitalism, a new wild west for land grabbing and profiteering, a global casino gambling with the stability and security of the global economic system for chips. Faced with intensified competition for global financial dominance, giant American financial service corporations persuaded their government to dismantle the barriers separating commercial and investment banking, which had shielded the domestic banking system since the 1930s.

Shareholder value replaced customer service, commitment to people and social responsibility in corporate mission

With equal suddenness, the heady days of the dotcom boom turned to bust in 2001.

It took a war on two fronts in Afghanistan and Iraq to revive America's economic growth and political self-confidence in the new millennium.

Corporations began channeling their record profits into M&As, share buybacks, offshore tax havens and speculative investments. Capital investment in R&D, new production facilities and new jobs declined by 21 percent between 2000 and 2010.³ A boom in real estate and commodity prices prompted former Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan to deny that any bubble was forming in the US economy, while his successor Ben Bernanke denied the existence of the global savings glut which sent hundreds of trillion dollars into orbit on the global markets in search of speculative returns. Such deniers were rendered baffled and speechless when the sub-prime mortgage crisis and the 2008 global financial crisis set in soon afterwards.

Meanwhile throughout the first decade of the new millennium, there was growing realization around the world that rampant capitalism represented an even greater, and perhaps ultimate, threat to the global community in the form of what Al Gore mildly termed the 'inconvenient truth' of climate change. The rest is recent history.

Unprecedented doses of quantitative easing were poured on global markets to save the financial industry from the consequences of its own actions, while allowing millions of Americans to be dispossessed of their homes and jobs.

The financial crisis gave way in quick succession to the Great Recession, the Eurozone crisis, soaring unemployment in Europe, levels of inequality that have not been seen since the Roaring Twenties, an economic slowdown that eventually stalled even the Chinese juggernaut, rising incidents of violence, terrorism and piracy by unemployed youth in developing countries, a much heralded Arab Spring which quickly degenerated into civil wars and military takeovers, the ravaging of Syria in the name of freedom, the sudden birth of ISIS, a flood of immigration from the Middle East into Europe, the rise of far-right political leaders and policies in Hungary and Poland, the dissolution of the opened borders of the Schengen systems, the reversion to autocracy in Turkey, the Brexit vote in UK to reverse the long ascent toward European integration, the transformation of American politics into a parody of modern democracy that would be enormously entertaining if only it were not so real, coupled with the recent onslaught of an opiate epidemic and a violent backlash of white supremacy.

This very brief impressionist sketch of important historic events during the last three decades is far from complete. It does not purport to do justice to the multiplicity and complexity of the factors and forces that have driven political and economic developments during this period.

Rather it is intended to highlight the inextricable relationship between the political and economic trajectories of the West during this period, the resurgence of neoliberal economic theory and policy, and the consequent demise of democratic institutions.

There is irony in this assertion. For during most of the 20th century, neoliberalism had been projected as the greatest proponent, strongest bastion and final safeguard for Western liberal democratic institutions.

To Be Titled

Conscious immortality is the soul's destiny. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Spiritual awakening always comes by going within. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The Divine sanctions* the paradoxes, dualities, contradictions, and conflicts of life.

*"sanctions" doesn't mean It desires it, but sees its utility and purpose in the greater scheme of things.

To Be Titled

Going within reveals knowledge of our true purpose and destiny

Life responding negatively to us is not to punish us. Rather it is to awaken us from our ignorance, to make us conscious, so that we can continue to evolve and align our True nature and also be part of cosmic movement.

Wake-Up

Every problem,
Every failure,
Every suffering,
Every misfortune,
Every humiliation,
Every disappointment,
Comes to one to us
to convey but One message:
"Wake-up"

To Be Titled

The Adventure of Consciousness is the process of discovering the interlinkage between the events that are happening around us.

The Secret Knowledge is to Perceive the True Nature of Reality through Life Response Phenomena

The Secret Knowledge remains still a Secret because our mind cannot understand the whole REALITY. However, we can begin to perceive the secret knowledge as Experiences in our lives. Life Response principles and strategies shed light on these experiences, making us more fully aware of the events happening around us.

As we rise in consciousness through these experiences and gain this knowledge, we increasingly perceive the true nature of REALITY in its unfolding; the meaning, purpose, and ways of everything. That is the SECRET.

To Be Titled

The Higher Knowledge we have attained needs to be turned into personal life experiences; i.e. move from the mental plane into the vital plane and lower. It is the Descent to one's Ascent to subtle knowledge. The process of growth, of implementation of the Knowledge is then completed. Adventure, success, and joy is the result.

To Be Titled

Social life (interaction with family, friends, relationships) has social consequences. Spiritual life only attracts spiritual results.

To Be Titled

Tax sheltering, havens, laundering of funds, corporate lobbying and candidate backing is corrupting American society; and along with financial speculation and extreme wealth inequality is poisoning Democracy itself.

To Be Titled

Getting in touch with the highest Values subscribed to by your company can attract unexpected, great benefit for the firm, its customer and yourself.

Ego Judges Everything by Its Own Standards

If I am a good cook, I feel superior to everyone who cannot make a soufflé. If I am a good card player, dancer, skier, palm reader or scrabble player, joker or story teller, I judge everyone else in terms of my strength, no matter how silly it may be, and feel superior. If my grandfather was famous or my uncle is rich, I feel important because of their achievements, even though I contributed nothing to their fame or fortune.

But the ego's irrationality goes way beyond that. Say, for instance, I am a grape farmer in Napa. This year is a bad year due to drought, so grapes are in short supply and are sold at a high price. I am happy because in spite of a lower yield I earned a record income from the crop which I sold to the winery. Next year I go to the supermarket to buy some wine and I find out the price of my favorite table wine has gone up by forty percent. I am furious and feel cheated! I am so subjective, I don't even realize the two events are directly related. That's how the ego responds to events.

Or take the student who has received twelve years of free public education in California and then four years of good quality university education at a tiny fraction of the actual cost to the state for delivering it. When he gets his first job and discovers that his employer is deducting a significant portion for taxes, he feels cheated and wonders whether there is a way he can earn without paying taxes. Then he gets on the highway and complains that the roads are too narrow and resents having to pay tolls for their upkeep!

Each person carefully observes, criticizes and condemns in other people all his or her own weaknesses and worst characteristics. If anything disturbs us in another person, it is because we possess the same characteristic, expressed or unexpressed, in ourselves. That too is ego. (from the epic novel of practical and spiritual life 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Complaining and Blaming in all forms is Ego, which means they should always be shed. Good fortune invariably follows.

To Be Titled

When we act without thinking things through, we invariably suffer the consequences.

To Be Titled

The people's rejection of the reactionary forces that perpetrated Capitalism's decades-long excesses and failures is a must for the well-being, security, and progress of humanity.

To Be Titled

Mother devotees have great inner power to seriously change the world

To Be Titled

Breaking old, outworn habits is often critical for attracting the New.

To Be Titled

Professional sports teams often win championships during the year of major calamities to that region. This is a remarkable correlation. It also occurs when there is great internal harmony among the team members and leaders, mixed with exceptional skill in the organization.

To Be Titled

Consecration - opening to Mother and Her Force - can quickly solve any problem.

Chicken-Sync

Just after I left my house where a friend was preparing a chicken dinner, I turned on the radio and immediately there was an NPR interview of how "Big Chicken" (corporate chicken industry) has been shooting up their animals with 4-times the antibiotics humans normally take. Yet another startling synchronicity; this one informative!

Reader: Thank you Sir.

Such synchronous messages from life:

- for us to smile?
- for us to aware, so we would be conscious of eating?
- to warn us, so not to eat them,
- or others?

Response: Yes, all. And to increasingly be aware of the subtle connections and Wonder of the Reality.

To Be Titled

A startling phenomenon is that if you do something as others want it (as opposed to how you want it), life often turns around and gives you what you originally wanted, and then some!

Instructor Corrects Past Wrong and Attracts Benefit in Unexpected Way

When you correct a mistake from the past by doing things the right way in the present, - even in a wholly different area, - unexpected benefits from the original source can suddenly come to you.

An instructor did not perform a series of classes the right way for a client. As a result the client would not pay. Months later the instructor learned new materials, preparing his lessons this time in the right way. Out of the blue the older client suddenly made a payment, which the instructor benefitted from.

To Be Titled

Each thing, event, unfolding has its own necessity and flow. Let us get in touch with it. Life will become a Marvel.

To Be Titled

A global Redistribution of Wealth movement could be getting under way that develops somewhat along the lines of the environmental crusade.

To Be Titled

Often it is not helpful to make the extra effort to help someone in anguish and pain. It can make things worse. Best to be still inside and consecrate the issue at hand. Positive developments will quickly arise.

To Be Titled

What we perceive in life as Chance is actually an expression of the Divine's Intention.

To Be Titled

Through Supermind the Divine deploys Real Ideas that it wishes to see manifest in Life. All thoughts, forces, powers, values, and ideals in the universe are expression of that cosmic Intention.

To Be Titled

"An unseen Presence moulds the oblivious clay." (from Sri Aurobindo's Savitri)

To Be Titled

The goal of creation is the deployment of Spirit in Life.

Token Effort

It turns out that when we are in a very negative situation, and we don't see any clear way forward, life may be asking us to make the smallest token effort to do anything we know how to get the ball rolling.

When we make that smallest token effort, life has a funny way of responding by completely wiping out the negative condition!

(From "Life Response in Work" by Roy Posner)

Example: a woman could not find a full time job no matter how hard she tried. One day she was asked to work a temp job, which involved a very difficult commute. She was reluctant to go; but then on the insistence of a friend she went. Within a day or two she was contacted for and secured full time work!

Infinite from Finite – Case Study

When an unknown customer called from a neighboring state and placed a $150 order, the sales manager of a flooring company decided to treat this tiny order by an unknown customer as if it had been placed by the biggest & most important customer the company ever had.

The company laid out the red carpet and delivered super service to the customer. The manager's actions didn't make sense to his staff, since they spent much more on the order than they made. But one thing led to another. The customer was so pleased, he spoke to another company and that company placed orders with the flooring company for more than $5 million over the next few years.

(From "Life Response in Work" by Roy Posner)

Infinite from Finite

In life we tend to focus our energies on what we deem as important, placing less emphasis on the seemingly small and insignificant. I.e. we perceive where we should focus our attention, placing smaller things to the side.

However, we have seen that a small thing has just as much capacity to bring about a great result as a large one! In other words, infinite-like results can emerge from the smallest finite.

(From "Life Response in Work" by Roy Posner)

To Be Titled

If you don't have something good to say about someone, best not to express it. Otherwise, It can attract unexpected negative consequences.

To Be Titled

Integral Yoga is the method by which we move from human life to Supramental Life.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo helped us understand our limitations, mapped out a way to become more integrated individuals, revealed to us the unseen forces at work in life, uncovered a Force and consciousness that enabled infinite possibilities, and ultimately revealed the source of creation and the destiny of humanity and the universe.

Choosing a Growth Path to the Future

Q: So there seems to be a number of ways people can learn to improve themselves and understand and master life.

A: Yes. An individual can at the highest level participate in the unfolding of the spiritual destiny of the universe, or, if a little less ambitious(!), can simply learn to make his being more whole by learning the fundamental techniques of personal growth -- including higher attitudes, more skills, greater and more integral knowledge, more energy, more organization, and other capacities to make them a more integral person.

One can also learn the inner functionings of life, including the subtle principles and powers of Life Response and Consecration, i.e. opening to the spiritual Force when engaging in life. These will attract extraordinary results, and if taken up in full with sincerity enables one to become the Master of Life.

One can also learn, if so inclined, to understand how the universe came to be from a divine source. Such principles of creation as Satchitananda, and the nature of the Truth Consciousness (Supermind) that Sri Aurobindo has so magnificently identified and brought into the world.

One can also embark on a journey of spiritual transformation, including the discovery of one's personal evolving soul, as well as opening to the descending spiritual Force and Light that enables us to transform our physical, vital, and mental nature, thus evolving into a new spiritual-oriented being. That can culminate in an ultimate change, a supramental transformation, where we develop a Supernature, and become harbingers of a new type of spirit-oriented individual on earth.

So which path should one take? It depends on what we are ready for. What we aspire for, what motivates us, what we hunger for, looking for, are seeking in life.

To Be Titled

Excesses of the negative side energize the positive more than anything, except the unfolding of the Spirit in life

To Be Titled

Built into every opposition are the seeds of greater progress.

To Be Titled

When a person, near or at a distance is angry with you or is otherwise upset with you, it will often express as intense physical pain in your being.

To Be Titled

Not reigning in guns in America (there are 300 million) will cause the society to endlessly (and needlessly) suffer. It is an indicator of a low physical consciousness.

Mental, Vital, and Physical Changes Required for Sadhaks of Integral Yoga

A seeker of Integral yoga has to perfect himself in so many ways. Even if all cannot be attempted, some major changes are essential. Let us see what are those changes.

Following are the changes required at the MENTAL level for any serious student of integral yoga.

1. His mind must widen enough to accept the truth of other person's point of view.
2. He must allow insight and inspiration to take the place of reason and logic.
3. His mind must be trained to see that what looks to be separate entities are in fact parts of a vast integrated whole.
4. His mind must be humble enough to accept that a supra rational force is governing this world and that Mind is neither the creator nor the governor.
5. His mind must be plastic and flexible enough to give up useless anachronistic habits and attitudes and accept only those that are relevant for the current time.
6. His mind must pierce behind what appears to be purely coincidences and see that they are in fact cause and effect. For example, a bad man comes to one's house as a guest and bad news follows. Instead of dismissing the whole thing as pure coincidences he must see that one is the cause of the other. In other words, his mind must admit that because the bad man came, bad news followed.

At the level of feelings (VITAL) these following changes are required for a seeker to qualify himself or herself as a serious student of Integral yoga.

7. He must learn to be cheerful all the time irrespective of whether he gets good news or bad news.
8. His heart must be magnanimous enough to give its love to others without expectation of getting something in return.
9. He must have a courage that is not frightened by any opposition or challenge however big it is.
10. His heart must be very generous and should feel pleasure upon hearing that some good has happened to another person instead of feeling jealous or competitive.
11. Wherever he goes or whoever he meets with, he must radiate an atmosphere of good will.

12. His loyalty to Mother should be so powerful that he comes forward to break with convention if that is required for serving Mother.

At the level of the body (PHYSICAL), following changes are required.

13. His body must not be a creature of habits and enslaved to routine. For example, if it is required that he get up at 4.00 a.m in the morning for a journey or stay awake till 12.00 p.m in the night in order to complete a work, his body must be able to cooperate.

14. It must stay healthy and fit and be strong and supple enough to bear the inrush of divine forces if that happens in response to his or her meditations.

15. His body must be detached from comforts and not insist that it get these comforts wherever he or she goes. For example, if the sadhak goes to the countryside for some work and there is no A/C available, he must bear with the absence of A/c and get on with the work required.

16. If he falls ill, he must learn to see that it is because of some wrong attitude and try to correct that attitude and thereby restore his or her body's health. He or she must not try superficial medications to cure that illness.

17. He or she must train his or her body to consecrate all its daily movements such as waking up, brushing the teeth, taking a bath, taking food, dressing up, going to office, starting one's daily work, starting a vehicle and returning home etc. If he learns to consecrate his speech it is all the better. This won't be easy at first and he may fail a number of times. But sadhana requires that he keep on trying till he succeeds.

18. Under no circumstances can he allow his body to be dull and lethargic. He must keep his body dynamic and alert and ready for action at a moment's notice.

19. Though ready for action at an instant's notice, still he must train his body to sit patiently for a few hours in meditation if that is what the sadhak wants to do.

20. The body must not shrink from menial work if that is required as part of his or her service.
(N. Asokan, MSS)

To Be Titled

Through Mother and Her Force we can truly change the world from within.

To Be Titled

On the day a man completed a similar work the right way, he finally received payment from the client for something done the wrong way months ago.

To Be Titled

Seniors live fresh, energized lives - with purpose and meaning - when they open themselves to new possibilities. Otherwise, they stagnate and wither away.

To Be Titled

Every situation provides the opportunity for a startling Life Response outcome. It all depends on how we choose to behave inwardly or outwardly in that circumstance.

To Be Titled

We think we are being rational, but we are actually rationalizing what we believe.

To Be Titled

Technology has 5% effect; Mother 95%.

To Be Titled

In any situation we believe what we believe based on what we experience. But what we experience is only a tiny fraction of the truth, though we believe it is All of it.

An EMAIL, a Game and the Book

At the most devastating time of our life, when we lost faith in our capacities, GRACE comes to us, overwhelming us, though the FORM it takes may appear contrary to what we perceive. Our job then is to simply to be RECEPTIVE to it, consciously or subconsciously, and the remainder of the GRACE will be fulfilled by Itself.

In Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book,' the most anticipated email from NASA, the last hope of MAI's (the organization's) survival, came in the form of a misfortunate "Rejection" letter to their surface view. Yet, it was in fact an act of GRACE. (Otherwise, Dan would have preoccupied with a new project or other.)

Something in Dan had become Receptive to the Grace, as he had previously practiced acts of Higher Consciousness. He did this-

- by not reacting to the email and its apparent bad news when it arrived, and
- by restraining himself by not sharing the bad news immediately with his partners, so not to spoil their weekend.

After the rejection letter, he did not know what to do; and so he flipped on the TV. At that moment, it was broadcasting one of the greatest Superbowl contests between the San Francisco 49ers and the heavily favored Cincinnati Bengals in 1989. He was inspired by the play of Joe Montana, the man who simply never gave up till the last minute of the game. Dan lost himself in that game, that awakened his subconscious/subliminal. With that inspiration, he decided to go for a walk, and the rest was history. The GRACE had led him to the Moe's Book Store, where "The Book" had fallen off, which changed his life forever.

During his walk, what had Dan thought to himself? The Book describes the situation:

"... After being dominated and squarely beaten for 57 minutes, a team could elevate its performance to such an extent that it accomplished more in the last three minutes than it had in the previous 57. How was it possible? There had to be some principle or rule of life to explain this remarkable phenomenon. Could anyone have predicted this outcome? He [Dan] was really inspired by Montana's performance. Here was an athlete who faced the peak crisis of his career. Everyone knew the odds weighed heavily against his team. He must have known that too. But given a tiny crack, a small opening in an apparently hopeless situation, he was able to convert the crack into a window and the window into another Superbowl ring. It was incredible to watch. Dan could not help comparing Montana's situation in that game with his own situation at MAI. He marveled at Montana's confidence, courage, and psychological stamina. By comparison, he felt his own faith and commitment were insignificant..."

(SM)

The Method

Knowing the Method of how something comes about, how a solution can be reached, et al is one expression of Organization in life; which itself is a form of higher consciousness, always attracting greater success.

Over-Anticipation vs. Aspiration

"The more you anticipate, the more it gets delayed."

This is an association we have mentioned a number of times before. We should however note that "looking forward to something" is not necessarily the same as over-anticipating, and therefore has a different (less negative or a positive) Life Response effect; especially if it is aspirational, rather than desirous.

E.g. if I say "we're going to win all those sales this week, you can count on it," then you are over-anticipating, which tends to negate the possibility of it happening.

On the other hand, if you say to yourself "I hope to get very good sales this week," then it is aspirational, which can attract its realization.

Meena adds:

"As long as it's aspiration instead of ego, it will give positive results."

Perceiving the Spirit in Life is the Secret Knowledge

-Nature forges the Spirit into forms in the universe.

-We see only the form; not the Spirit in it.

-To perceive the Spirit in the form - in matter, life, and mind; in ourselves and others; in all things - is to attain the Secret Knowledge.

-An evolution of consciousness upward and within enables us to see this Truth of Existence; this Reality.

To Be Titled

US and the West should apologize to Russia for abusing her after the Cold War. Russia should apologize for its hacking of the US election and other shenanigans as a form of revenge. Furthermore, they should take steps to re-establish relations on a respectful basis. Together they can then work to help resolve a number of the pressing issues in the world.

To Be Titled

When you indicate "Thy Will Be Done" at the end of a consecration or prayer, it's best to really mean it, instead of it just passing your lips. I.e. you are indicating that you are truly open to any way the Mother will deal with the issue or circumstance at hand, instead of your own fixed way. This will give the invocation greater power, for greater result.

Personal Values Attract their Fulfillment

Personal values are the key to direction and success in life. They also tend to attract their fulfillment. The more intense one's belief in the value, the greater the fulfillment.

A man believed deeply in a particular spiritual teaching. He also sought work in his life. One day his aspiration met with an opportunity where he was able to meld his spiritual philosophy with the work he was assigned to. Life had now become golden, and continued in that direction for his entire career.

Then what are your personal values, and how do they reflect in your work, or outside it?

To Be Titled

The movement toward greater Unity in the world is occasionally interrupted by reactionary forces advocating go-it-alone selfishness. It is an attempt to harken back to earlier times, to bring back the old ways because they fear moving forward with others, together, into the unknown.

Reader: Thank you Sir.

I thought the below quote from 'The Book' may be related:

"Anything that is acquired by selfishness eventually serves to help people outgrow selfishness. It can serve no other purpose. This is true of physical strength to dominate over others, aristocratic privilege, authoritarian power, superior technology, higher education, inordinate wealth, and even spiritual knowledge. - Messages XXV"

Response: Yes, when an ego movement takes place (such as selfishness), it comes back on one negatively, with a further opportunity to outgrow it. If taken up, it can serve to further the positive, progressive movements; in any of the areas alluded to in the comment from The Book.

What Bothers, You Share

If there is a trait that you are bothered by in others, there is probably at least a vestige of it in yourself. If you shed it, others will also do so, or simply cease to be a significant part of your life.

Eg if you are bothered by old friends who cling to the adventures of their youth, you will see that despite your embracing of the future in many aspects of your life, you enjoy going back on occasion and sharing "the good old days." If you were to cease your nostalgic attitude, others sharing the same habit would change their ways, or fade from view, or New opportunities for the Future would descend on you, etc.

To Be Titled

The era of Economic Globalism that is open, fair, and equal is in its opening act.

Formulations of the Secret Knowledge

The Secret Knowledge is to know the Reality, the All, which is (any of)-

- the interplay and integration of Spirit and Life (Purusha and Prakriti)
- the Creator conception and the Energy that manifests it as real (Ishwara and Shakti)
- the interplay of He and She.
- the One and the Many
- the Being and Becoming
- etc.

The Reality is as any these dual pairs, which are actually undivided from one another. (Eg the universe consists of formation of Spirit.) To know their workings is to have the Secret Knowledge; it is to one with the Reality; including its nature and workings.

[thoughts inspired by canto 'The Secret Knowledge' from epic mystical poem 'Savitri' by Sri Aurobindo]

To Be Titled

I was once asked by a very wise individual, "Do you feel that the things you come in contact with are expressions of Spirit? Or that everything around you are forms of Spirit? That all things in the Reality - either invisible or visible - are formations of Spirit? That you and I are Spirit? Well, I find it hard to experience that; but that is what Sri Aurobindo asks of us! That is how things are!"

From Conscious to Subtle Learning

One can know, learn without having to consciously understand, as it just comes to one like in intuition and other means of knowing without thought above the mind, or wells up through the subliminal being within (that is in touch with the superconscient) to the conscious mind, etc.

Such approaches are known by some new age education and other groups, and certain individuals in the world. Among the Mother's education principles, these subtle approaches are strongly advocated as a higher and far more effective way of learning. Eg if you silence the mind, live from a deeper poise within, et al, then knowledge will simply come to you; as it did when Einstein intuitivized $e=mc^2$ and changed the world.

Ultimate capacity of knowing, learning is the ability to know the truth of a matter in its integral entirety; otherwise known as "supramental perception." Imagine sitting before your laptop, with eyes closed, and the entire understanding of a matter its made clear to you. You and the object of knowledge become one.

A True Leader of One's Constituency

A key to becoming a great government leader is to sincerely listen to one's constituency, and then do whatever they can to help them. Ideology should be held in check. Open to the truth and what is right should be priority #1. Party affiliation and such should be further down the list.

... That is the way of a true Patriot.

Where Sri Aurobindo and Mother Differed from the [Indian/Eastern] Tradition

1. Rejecting illusionism, they affirmed that Life is for real but that it has to be divinized.
2. While traditional yogas called for purification of just one part of being, Purna [Integral] yoga called for total transformation of all parts of the being.
3. Rejecting the pursuit of Moksha [liberation into the Spirit] as escapism, they called for Transformation right here on Earth.
4. While traditional spirituality called for a clear-cut division between Life and yoga, they announced that life and Yoga can be combined in such a way that a new yogic life emerges.
5. It was the Mother who boldly stated that education must aim for the flowering of the soul and not just flowering of mental faculties.
6. While laying down general guidelines for sadhana [spiritual development], She however emphasized that the spiritual experiences of each sadhak are unique to himself and therefore deserve special attention. Traditional yogas did not pay attention to individual variations and lumped them all together.
7. She gave equal rights for the female half of humanity in matters spiritual and in that sense differed a lot from traditional yogas which gave a very secondary role for women in general.
8. While traditional spirituality gave a lot of importance to Shastras and Gurus, Bhagawan [Sri Aurobindo] and Mother were very lenient in these matters and even went so far as to say that the Inner Divine was the only Guru.
9. While traditional spirituality sought the experience of Sacchidananda as the ultimate goal, He was the only one who said that our goal must be the effort to bring down its objective version, which is Supermind.
10. While traditional spirituality held no one responsible for the divinization of earth, Bhagawan and Mother however accepted that responsibility and stated that they were here to do that as a service to the Divine. (N. Asokan, MSS)

To Be Titled

What if South Indians practiced Life Response to such a successful degree that they attract the interests of the rest of the world, who wish to do the same, leading to a new perspective of how Life works, vast success and fulfillment for many, ushering in a new age of Spiritual Enlightenment.

To Be Titled

The most insignificant thing done with right Consciousness attracts larger, greater things.

To Be Titled

Not feeling the influence of Time in the present moment is a spiritual experience.

To Be Titled

Life is always indicating, suggesting the most Efficient way forward, but we mostly miss it.

Unjust and Just Societies

-An unjust society is one that gives winners first shot at going higher. A just society gives all members, from low to high, equal power to further rise up.

-Unjust societies succeed in the short run, but fail longer term (in the form of backlash or ruination), whereas just societies move up together unendingly.

-Unjust societies refuse to utilize the lower, claiming they lack capacity; whereas just societies embrace them, perceiving their potential to grow.

-Unjust societies embrace selfish attitudes, while just societies embrace human values.

To Be Titled

For any fear or doubt that enters your mind, offer it to the Mother; and then forget about the matter. Life will now unfold with less consternation and friction.

To Be Titled

An evolving consciousness increasingly perceives the silver-lining in negative circumstance.

To Be Titled

This present moment in time has never existed before in the history of the universe, and we are all privy to it. What a privilege it is to ride this cosmic wave into the future.

Questions about the "Character of Life"

Understanding the ideas presented in the Facebook group 'Character of Life in Literature and Film' can help us understand the answers to the following questions:

-Why does one person have luck and another fail to have it?

-Why do bad things happen to good people, and good things happen to bad ones?

-Why did the outcome of the story occur the way it did, when it seemed like it should have happened a different way?

-How is the social atmosphere affecting the outcome of events?

-Why does the tiniest action have the power to create the greatest outcome?

-How does our own character intersect with Life's character?

-Can Character of Life knowledge help us understand the true purpose and meaning behind circumstance and events.

-Does Life really have a character; a nature that follows its own laws and principles; its own course and flow?

-Is Life Conscious in ways we never would have imagined?

-Is there something we can do in consciousness that can causes outer events to turn more in our favor?

-Is Life a vehicle for something higher; such as a spiritual dimension?

-When we take an action, hoping for something to come about, why does nothing happen, or even worse, the very opposite?

-Why do people coincidentally appear on the scene in certain situations?

-Is life around us reflecting, positively and negatively our being inside?

-Is there a relationship between events happening around and our capacity to grow as a person?

-Can I become very successful, and inwardly fulfilled by learning the Laws governing the Character of Life?

-Can Character of Life indicate the purpose of human existence; social existence, universal existence, cosmic existence?

-Can Character of Life knowledge enable me to become the master of life? And if so, how?

Journey of the Evolving Soul and the Integral Knowledge

The Soul's journey in our being and then onto other births is an evolution of consciousness from Ignorance to Integral Knowledge of the truth of the Reality.

Through our Sadhana, i.e. willed, conscious transformation, the Evolving Soul in us condenses that process: from hundreds of births into only several, or even one.

Embracing One Area of Your Life that Evokes Positive Response in Another

Focusing yourself in one area of your life can evoke good fortune in an entirely different one. Eg-

-you exhaust your effort, fully absorb yourself in the current given work, and a vast opportunity comes for a beloved book you are writing in a completely different area.

-you overcome a resistance and accept paying work in sales, and out of the blue you get an opportunity of a lifetime to be a radio actress which you have always dreamed of.

A corollary of this is that you can examine any problem you are having in one area of your life, and consider what other areas of your life you are negligent in or where you can raise your consciousness. When you then take positive action there, your problem in the other, problematic area will disappear or otherwise formulate into something very positive.

Deeper still, you will see how the original problem area and the other area where you now have taken action are related psychologically in your being. I.e. there is a deficiency in consciousness on your part that is common to both.

“Silent Will” Handbag

If someone lets you know that they are going to take a specific action that you believe is unnecessary, and you have a better suggestion, you can withhold verbalizing your thoughts, and within a short period of time the other person will change and express and do what you had in mind.

A woman wanted to purchase a new handbag at Walmart, and expressed that fact to a friend. The man felt it was unnecessary to drive so far; plus he felt that Target was a better (and nearer) choice. However, he withheld informing her of his opinion on the matter. A minute or two later, as the man walked into another room, the woman said she would now go to Target instead to secure the handbag.

By practicing “Silent Will,” the man had caused the woman to pick up on his inner vibration of unexpressed thought, adopting it and speaking it out as her own.

To Be Titled

Without the interference of mind's thoughts, my subconscious is increasingly informing me of actions to take, which when followed, lead to stupefyingly accurate and synchronous outcomes.

The Supreme Source and the Creation

In the Supreme it's a unity that contains all possibilities perfectly united, without differentiation. The creation is, so to speak, the projection of all that makes up that unity, by dividing all opposites, that is to say, ... by separating: for instance, day and night, white and black, evil and good, and so on Altogether, all of it together is a perfect unity, immutable and ... indissoluble.

The creation is the separation of all that “makes up” this unity – we might call it the division of the consciousness – the division of the consciousness, which starts from unity conscious of its unity to arrive at unity conscious of its multiplicity IN UNITY.

... And for us as we are, each point of this Consciousness has the possibility of being conscious of itself AND conscious of the original Unity

And that's the work now being accomplished, that is to say, each infinitesimal element of this Consciousness, while retaining this state of consciousness, is now recapturing the total original state of consciousness – the result is the original Consciousness conscious of its Unity AND conscious of the whole play: all the innumerable elements of this Unity.

So for us, it gets expressed as the sense of time: going from the Inconscient to this state of consciousness. And the Inconscient is the projection of the primeval Unity, of the essential unity unconscious of its own Unity – that's the Inconscient. And this Inconscient is growing increasingly conscious in beings who are conscious of their infinitesimal existence and AT THE SAME TIME – through what we call progress or evolution or transformation – who manage to be conscious of the original Unity.

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 19, 1969)

To Be Titled

Seeing how and why people appear at certain moments and certain circumstance will give you subtle clues of what has happened in the past and what is going to happen in the future.

To Be Titled

Knowledge Intuitively entering the mind without thought will increasingly be the foundation of Genius in the future.

Backup Drive Incident

Best to avoid speaking about how an improved condition, system, et al will do so again in the current situation. Chances are that it won't!

A man proudly mentioned that he had reformatted a near-full disk drive, and now as a result, the drive was not only spacious, but could back up his computer very rapidly. However, when he then backed up the current files on his system to the drive, it reverted back to its old slow ways!

As we see, it is best to remain silent, withholding anticipation in such situations. Also it is best to keep Ego at bay - here in the form of self-adulation. Both tend to attract negative circumstance.

To Be Titled

Our consciousness and our given experience constantly mirror one another.

To Be Titled

We are one with everything and everybody, though we experience separateness from all things, all people. It is an illusion of our surface consciousness; the strong basis of our essential Ignorance.

Oneness and "Consciousness Responsibility"

"Consciousness Responsibility" is vastly effective as a spiritual method for producing startling results because everything and everybody are really One.

"Consciousness Responsibility" is when we take responsibility for others' negative actions, even though we didn't have any hand in it. As a result of our Oneness with people and life, we feel compelled to solve any problem created by others, even though they were not of our doing.

And that in turn generates vast power that evokes sudden good fortune for all those involved. In fact, the more responsibility we take for others' misdeeds, the greater the positive life response results.

By taking Consciousness Responsibility we in essence shift from our separate, ego self to our higher, True Self that experiences Oneness with all. In that way we not only evoke startling results for all parties, but we grow deeply as a person.

Manifesting Infinity in Life

There is a great difference between the spiritual and the purely material and mental view of life. The spiritual view of life holds that the mind, life, body are man's means and not his aims, his outer instrumental self and not his whole being.

It sees the infinite behind all things finite and adjudges the value of the finite by higher infinite values towards which they are always trying to arrive.

It sees a greater infinite reality within man and in the world, and holds that to be of the highest importance.

It seeks the emergence of that infinite in the blossoming and perfection of spiritual individuality and through that in the life of humanity.

It perceives an evolutionary process by which that infinite is progressively unfolding and manifesting itself in matter, life, mind and beyond.

The spiritual individual in life strives to realize the power of that infinity in his own being; to exceed the limits imposed by social convention and egoistic values; to express that power in all fields and aspects of outer life for the out-flowering of humanity; and through it, to find his unity with his fellows. Its ultimate aim is an infinite abundance, an infinite fulfillment and perfect perfection of life. (MSS)

Process of Creation (in All Aspects of Life)

One process of creation governs all human accomplishment - business and career success, personal life, artistic creativity and intellectual discovery, romantic fulfilment, personal growth and spiritual experience. All are expressions of a single process -- a process of creation by and in consciousness.

Sri Aurobindo and The Mother have enunciated all the principles, stages and strategies for applying this process in any field. Whatever the field, highest achievement is possible for those who consciously apply this process in their own lives. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Being absolutely still in a storm-like situation rapidly calms the issue.

To Be Titled

If you obsessively worry about time, life will soon set forth conditions where you will be further trapped by time.

Reader: Thank you Sir.

It is intriguing. So the life's message is not to worry about time, future and do what we think is best in the present moment?

Response: Yes. It is to be patient and calm inside. That keeps you in the present

Problems lead to progress when they are capitalized on.

To Be Titled

[in terms of the financiers]

Money is not meant to make money, money is meant to prepare the earth for the new creation.

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 22, 1969)

To Be Titled

The men of finance and the businessmen have been offered the possibility to collaborate with the future, but most of them refuse, convinced that money is stronger than the future.

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 22, 1969)

Knowledge that Heals

Knowledge, when it goes to the root of our troubles, has in itself a marvelous healing-power as it were. As soon as you touch the quick of the trouble, as soon as you, diving down and down, get at what really ails you, the pain disappears as though by a miracle. Unflinching courage to reach true knowledge is therefore the very essence of yoga. (Sri Aurobindo)

Comment: I have had this experience when I discovered the cause of pain being an ill-will from a particular party who made an appearance via email at the peak of the intense disturbance. Acquiring that knowledge caused the pain to instantly subside.

To Be Titled

The more you ignore - physically, emotionally, and mentally - a destructive personality, the more they will self-destruct or simply move away. This is especially so when we are under the influence of the Mother and Her supramental Force.

To Be Titled

Serious, thoughtful people don't normally have a continual smile on their face, as Mind dominates their visage. However, followers of Mother who have these mental capacities normally have faces that Shine.

To Be Titled

From a higher consciousness one can intuitivize the real needs of the Future in the present.

Two Baskets!

A good friend told me about an incident that took place several decades ago. It turns out that he was playing in a basketball pick-up game, and a player on his team didn't want my friend to pass the ball to another player on the team since that third player was a very poor shooter. However, in the game, my friend passed the ball to the poor shooting teammate, who then shot the ball, and it went into the basket! A little while later, my friend passed the ball to him again, and once more he scored!

After narrating the story, my friend told me that he believed that his own positive attitude toward the poor shooting player (including the willingness to pass to him) was the reason he scored the two baskets.

It was exactly right. The baskets were a positive response from life to my friend's positive, generous, and harmonic attitude on the court.

Response that Restores the Balance at Current Level vs. Higher Level

What is the difference between life reacting to our actions and life responding to them?

Dan explained, "Life always acts to restore the balance. Normally it reacts to restore the status quo at the present level of our existence. But when for some reason we elevate our consciousness to a higher level, it responds to elevate the life around us to the same degree, thereby restoring the balance at a higher level. You might say that routine actions evoke reactions from life and progressive actions generate responses."

(from novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

Bringing the Consciousness in the Force of Life to the Surface

Science regards life as inanimate force, energy in motion, which lacks consciousness or intention. According to The Book, the force of life is conscious, or rather subconscious.

Consciousness is inherent in the force, involved [hidden, absorbed] in it and seeking to emerge. The contact and conflict of force with force in life releases the hidden consciousness within it, enabling life to evolve to a higher level.

(from novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

In recent years there have been global movements against corruption (eg in India) and of misogyny (eg in USA). Still to come are movements to overcome vast wealth inequality, nuclear and tactical weapons proliferation, and religious intolerance, amongst others.

To Be Titled

Life going where you don't expect it to go is a hallmark of Supramental life.

Experiencing the New-Consciousness Knowledge One Teaches

-One must have lived what one wants to teach.

-To speak of the new consciousness, let it penetrate you and reveal its secrets to you. For only then will you be able to speak of it with competence.

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 6, 1969)

We filter out the thoughts that don't fit our worldview, distancing ourselves from other truths, reinforcing our ignorance.

A Miraculous Experience of Anya

(Power of Gratitude)

"Conscious awareness of God acting in human life is called gratitude - The Book".

One day, when Anya (one of the MAI partner) was pondering about the earlier discussion with her partners, she suddenly remembered about her professor Grigori Nikonov, during her school days. Grigori was a brilliant mathematician, but a very difficult and unpleasant person to work for. After leaving Moscow, Anya rarely thought of him and when she did it were always his insults, slights, sarcasm and teasing that she remembered. Thoughts about him kept coming into her head that night and she could not get rid of them.

At one point she took out an old diary she had written during her last years in Moscow and found some entries about Grigori that she had not remembered. When she tried hard to recollect their relationship from the very beginning, she recalled how much he helped her during her initial years at the Institute. It was he who had gotten her admission, secured her scholarship and ensured she got the courses she wanted. He had even coached her through some rough patches when her grades were falling. She was amazed that she had forgotten so much.

She woke in the middle of the night still thinking about Grigori. Lying in bed, she began to regret all the negative feelings she had harbored against him for years. Almost involuntarily she began to offer gratitude to Grigori for all he had done for her. At first, it was mixed with bitter recollections about times he had made her angry or sad. She even found herself punching the pillow to let off pent up frustration against him. Gradually the anger subsided and was replaced by a peaceful, sweet feeling and then a deep warm feeling of gratitude. She realized that she would not be where she was today had it not been for his help and even for the hardships he imposed on her. The feeling lasted for just a few minutes, then it faded, and she got up.

The following morning, Anya rose earlier than usual feeling more refreshed and enthusiastic than in months. When she checked up her email in the morning, a sweet surprise was waiting for her. It was indeed an email from Grigori, stating that he was working in New York on a project at Citibank. He said that he had heard about her work with MAI and thought that she and her team's expertise was exactly what they need for the project. He had already spoken to his boss and attached a copy of that email. Also he referred Anya was his most brilliant student, ever! When she called him, he had explained the project to her and asked whether MAI could take up that project for five hundred thousand dollars!

The response of Grigori was almost too much to believe. Anya had changed her attitude to him and he had suddenly materialized out of the blue after a decade of silence.

(From the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Man is the crown of terrestrial life and exhibits reason as the crown of his accomplishment. Reason and logic are the finest tools of his mind. While senses involve observation, reason involves thinking. Human civilization is thus a long record of the evolution of human thought. (MSS)

To Be Titled

The “final frontier” is not in outer space, but rather lies Within, in Inner Space.

Right Consciousness and Pain

[A woman with a problem leg] noticed that as long as she is in the right attitude, she no longer feels ANYTHING [any pain]; there’s nothing anymore, it seems completely gone. As soon as she falls back into the ordinary consciousness, the pain comes back She’s had innumerable experiences. I found that very interesting.

When you are in the consciousness (that is, the consciousness which grows truer and truer: not something at a stop but a consciousness in ascent), when you are in that, all goes well; as soon as you go out of it and fall back into the old unprogressive consciousness, or progressive in a very slow and invisible manner, then the disorder comes back. And that’s like a lesson given in a perfectly clear and evident way. It’s really interesting.

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 10, 1969)

Comment: This has been my experience as well. Eg when I engage in the wrong work activities for this this point in my life, I have some pains. When I do the right activity (of the right consciousness for me), no matter how strenuous or mentally taxing, I feel perfectly fine.

The First Lesson to be Learned: Don’t Blame

(silence) Certainly, a great step will be taken when it becomes natural for man to seek to perfect himself instead of expecting perfection in others That reversal is at the basis of all true progress. The first human instinct is, “It’s the fault of circumstances, it’s people’s fault, it’s ... See how this fellow is, how that fellow is, how ...” And it goes on indefinitely. The FIRST STEP, the very first step is to say, “If I were as I should be, or if the body were as it should be, all would be perfectly all right for it.” If, to make progress, you wait for others to do so, you can wait indefinitely.

That’s the first thing that should be spread everywhere. Never lay the blame on others or on circumstances because whatever the circumstances may be, even apparently the worst, if you are in the true attitude and have the true consciousness, it doesn’t matter in the least for your inner progress, not in the least – and I’ll say, including death. That really seems to be the first lesson to be learned.

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 10, 1969)

Application of “All Life is Yoga”

Sri Aurobindo says “All Life is Yoga.” Let’s then consider ASPECTS OF OUR LIVES where we can apply higher consciousness in order to grow, progress, evolve:

- in the quality of our attitudes in work
- in the application of values in our work
- in the level of consciousness we bring to bear when interacting with others
- in how we handle finances and money
- in how we deal with difficult situations; with serious crisis
- in making right decisions in cross-road situations
- in taming ego movements when they arise
- in the quality of our feelings towards others, ourselves, and life
- the degree to which we use spirit in our lives
- in our level of commitment to grow as a person

- the degree to which we take care of our physical health
- whether we adhere to truthfulness and honesty
- the degree we overcome our deficiencies, such as unreliability, lack of punctuality, laziness, etc
- in our level of openmindedness and tolerance
- in our level of psychological strength to meet life's challenges
- in the way we respond to opportunities that come our way
- in our level of psychological strength to meet life's challenges
- the degree we are willing to learn the subtle laws of life
- the degree we apply the inner spiritual methods to evoke positive response from life
- whether we see the positive, the opportunities behind life's problems
- the degree we give up rituals and superstitions
- the degree we aspire to overcome our ignorance in exchange for an integral knowledge
- in our level of aspiration for something Higher in our lives
- in our capacity and willingness to be humble and self-giving
- the degree to which we sincerely want to elevate our consciousness
- the degree we consecrate conditions, circumstance, activities in our lives
- whether we see that the inner and outer reflect one another; that we change the outer negative by reversing the inner
- in the consciousness we bring to bear in our work, our family life, friendships
- in the way we upkeep our possessions and devices
- to the degree we are organized, clean, and orderly
- in the level of optimism and cheerfulness we maintain
- the degree to which we maintain silence in our mind, peace in our heart
- the degree to which we avoid selfishness
- the degree to which we are willing to and actually overcome our deficiencies
- the degree to which we are open to embrace the truth others are expressing
- the degree to which we listen and not interrupt
- the degree to which we attain perfection in our work
- the level of knowledge and skills we bring to bear in work
- the degree we maintain good relations with fellow workers, associates, neighbors
- the degree we enhance our creative capacity
- the degree to which we practice non-reaction, taking other's viewpoint, consciousness responsibility, etc
- the degree we seek out and utilize the process of creation in our lives

Pure Goodness

When you reach the highest levels of gratitude, every thought you think, word you speak, and action you take comes out of pure goodness. (Rhonda Byrne)

Pioneer and Society

The society is evolving subconsciously. The pioneers are leading the evolution of society in various fields catching the spirit of cosmic movement subconsciously. (Senthil Murugan)

Giving, Respect, and Ego

Giving to others, - in the form of money, investment, support, good-will, nurturing, et al - is good. But then when one expects Respect in return because one has given, it turns goodness into Ego, spoiling in part or in full the original good intentions. It can then also attract negative conditions, mixed with the positive.

Practical Concept of Infinity

"The physical sciences regard infinity as a mathematical concept. We have not yet come to realize that in human life infinity is a practical concept. There really is an infinite potential for creation..." (from the novel The Book by Garry Jacobs)

Anything can burst out from its current finite condition to its infinite status - whether money, material items/possession, knowledge/wisdom, media, global harmony, etc. The key is to shift from lower to higher attitudes, and to embrace spiritual values, both of which quickly release the infinite from the current finite we observe around us.

To Be Titled

Despite unsettling outer conditions, the world is moving toward greater Human Unity, including among nations. Interestingly, the current negative environment when overcome is the setup that provides the counter-energy that can make that happen.

Challenges to Democracy

Democracy is under siege. Nations with a long history of liberalism are recanting on fundamental principles of secular democracy or embracing political sentiments that effectively undermine those principles. Fences are being constructed, both physically and psychologically, along borders of previously open societies. Democratic elections have become the means for installing leaders with little respect for democratic values. The tolerance, openness and inclusiveness on which modern democracy is founded are being rejected by candidates and voters in favor of sectarian, parochial fears and interests.

The role of the free press as an impartial arbiter of facts is being undermined by the rise of private and public news media conglomerates purveying political preference as fact combined with a blinding blizzard of fake news.

Party politics has been polarized into a winner-take-all fight to the finish by vested-interests and impassioned extremist minorities trying to impose their agendas on a complacent majority.

Corporate power and money power are transforming representative governments into plutocratic pseudo-democracies.

Fundamentalists are seizing the instruments of secular democracy to impose intolerant linguistic, racial and religious homogeneity in place of the principles of liberty and harmonious heterogeneity that are democracy's foundation and pinnacle of achievement.

Cherished ideals are thrown to the wind or given only rhetorical lip-service.

The institution which has presided over the most remarkable advances of civilization in human history is frail and tottering.

-Garry Jacobs, Cadmus Journal

from article 'The Political Economy of Neoliberalism and Illiberal Democracy'

<http://cadmusjournal.org/.../political-economy-neoliberalism-...>

Complete Act

"...The underlying premise of Complete Act is that accomplishment is the result of completion at some level. For an act to achieve a result, it must meet all the minimum requirements. If a single element is missing—one decision, one positive attitude, one skill—it remains incomplete. If any of the requirements are supplied in greater than minimum measure, the results of the act are magnified. The accomplishment is greater. If all the requirements are supplied to the saturation point, then the act not only fulfills the intention, but also evokes a positive response from life. It harnesses the forces of life to achieve results many times greater than anticipated..."

(from the novel The Book by Garry Jacobs)

Comment: A "Complete Act "consists of a Clear Focus of what one wants to accomplish; a Determined Will to see it come about; and the Full Effort to accomplish the goal with highest skills and right attitudes. It is the mental, vital, and physical components occurring consecutively. When the complete act is accomplished, life responds out of all proportion with positive conditions.

Cooperation, Collaboration; or the Abyss

Problems in society can no longer be solved by individual nations merely working on their own. They (the people, the nations, et al) must work together, collaborate, to create new global solutions (political, economic, social, etc.) that can benefit all. Each nation pulling in its own direction is creating enormous stresses.

Sri Aurobindo says all problems of life are problems of Harmony. A shift from ego of the individual nation to collaboration among nations is the ideal we seek. Now the old way (of lacking collaboration) is under enormous strain, and is shattering, making the way for the new. It is our choice how to proceed. The Mother said "Truth or the Abyss."

To Be Titled

Animals fight over their territory. So do human animals.

To Be Titled

Life Response-evoking methods cancel past negative karmas.

To Be Titled

Never blame anyone in your Life.

To Be Titled

Good people give you Happiness. Bad people give you Experience. Worst people give you a Lesson & Best people give you memories. (unknown)

Wrong Conclusions

Constantly jumping to wrong Conclusions is one of the great failings of man. It occurs in large part because we live on the surface of life, dominated by the senses, and because we hold fast to our misbeliefs and prejudices, giving short shrift to rational thought. All in all, it is one of the great expressions of human Ignorance.

Wealth Inequality in USA

-1% of the population in the USA (-330,000 people) own nearly 80% of the wealth of the country. 99% of the population (-329,000,000 people) own 20% of the wealth.

-Severe wealth inequality, as exists in US and increasingly occurring elsewhere is a sign of lacking human-centered values.

To Be Titled

LOVE is self-giving without asking for anything in exchange. (The Mother)

MEANNESS is a weakness that calculates and ... (laughing) demands from others the virtues one does not have. (The Mother)

SELFISHNESS is to put oneself at the center of the universe and to want everything to exist for one's own satisfaction. (The Mother)

NOBLENES is to refuse to make any personal calculation. (The Mother)
GENEROSITY is to find one's own satisfaction in the satisfaction of others. (The Mother)
COURAGE is the total absence of fear in all its forms. (The Mother)
Divine psychological perfection is a smile in any circumstance. (The Mother)
Transformation is rapid and deep evolution

Equality of Being

[in the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs]

At one point of time, the MAI team [the artificial intelligence company in the story] was subjected to ill-will, and the company was served with legal notice in a false criminal investigation. The same day Federal officers arrived at MAI with a search warrant authorizing them to seize incriminating evidence relating to the case. Obviously, everything was set up and MAI partners had no time to react. The officers had seized several documents.

What also appeared to be lost during that search was "The Book" [the vast book of profound wisdom in the story]. It was a devastating moment for Dan and the MAI partners.

Yet, Dan spoke with full of hope and confidence, as indicated below:

"...The coming of The Book was not just a life response to my aspiration. It was something more. What do you call it when you get more than you deserve. Perhaps that is what The Book means by "grace". The Book has not come to us because we have qualified ourselves to deserve it in some way. I believe it has come because it has a purpose, a work that needs to be accomplished and it needs someone through whom to express that purpose. That's a very different thing. If I'm right, then The Book cannot and will not leave us unless or until its work is finished or we betray that work. My mind tells me we have just suffered a great loss. But for some inexplicable reason my heart does not feel that way..."

At the end, "The Book" came back to them by itself in a miraculous way.

[SM]

Intense Light of the "Insignificant"

There's no more "big" or "small," "important" or "unimportant," all that is ...

Sometimes, very small things that the mind regards as completely insignificant have a more intense light than "big" problems, things the mind regards as problems of importance: problems of government, for example, of relations with other countries; sometimes it's more ... insubstantial than very small things that appear to be nothing. All that is linked to the total movement of the creation towards ... towards the true awareness.

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 20, 1969)

To Be Titled

EVERYTHING comes to make you move forward as fast as possible, everything: obstacles, contradictions, incomprehensions, trivial occupations, everything but everything is to make you move forward. It's to touch one point, another point, yet another ... and make you progress as fast as possible.

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 27, 1969)

Brahman, Reality, the All

By Brahman being the only Reality, we mean it is the All, and includes everything, big and small, positive and negative, spirit and matter, the One and the Many, etc. And that everything in that Reality, that All, whether good or bad, helpful or harmful, serves a purpose in the Unfolding. Brahman then is not just the Source Consciousness, but the Source and its multiplicity of forces and forms in the universe integrally combined. This is Sri Aurobindo's view of the Reality, the All.

Power of Complete, Integral Knowledge

Complete, Integral Knowledge leads to accomplishments that have no negative consequences or side-effects."

(from the novel The Book by Garry Jacobs)

Complete knowledge is what Sri Aurobindo calls "Integral Knowledge," a complete identity with the Truth of things. And when one acts from that poise, there are no deficiencies in the thinking, which in turn create beneficial results only; no dark shadows.

We can rise to this level of knowledge, which He calls Supramental perception, through various means. One is by taking the other person's viewpoint, another is by seeking all sides of the truth, yet a third is by opening to higher mental and spiritual forces. Together we garner integral knowledge, enabling great accomplishment with no negative consequences or side-effects.

Professor Stearne

As MAI [company] was progressing with various versions of the AIS programs, the intensity of opposition from the forces of darkness continued to increase as well. MAI was seeking for some Higher Guidance to understand the things that were happening around them. At that crucial moment, Life led them to Prof. Stearne. Without Prof. Stearne, MAI partners could never have accomplished what they dreamed of.

One day, Dan (the leader of MAI team) spoke to Levin (another MAI partner), complementing Prof. Stearne:

(Senthil Murugan)

"...You know, that man has discovered truths in The Book that I have read ten or even twenty times without understanding what they really meant. I understand the words and the concepts, but he is able to translate abstract concept or principle into terms of life. It's an amazing gift. I can quote by heart the very lines in The Book on which he has based his ideas on inversion, referral, practical concept of infinity and so forth; but the way he explains them, they acquire a whole new reality. I was thinking tonight how lucky I am. First life brings me The Book and then it brings me the professor. And in between it has brought me a lot of other wonderful people as well..."

(From the novel "The Book" by Garry Jacobs, page 424)

To Be Titled

If we inwardly concentrate on the value of Wealth Equality in America and the world, it can broadcast a pulse of energy, light that can evoke a powerful positive response in the wider community.

True Nature of Time in 'Arrival'

The aliens in the film 'Arrival' came to teach humanity about the true nature of Time, and in return we would save them in the future. The lesson of time is that past, present, and future are connected in ways we have barely begun to understand. That from the present, we can fully know the true nature of the past, as well as perceive the true future. As a result, we are filled with truth needed in the present moment. Sri Aurobindo calls it the experience of "Simultaneous Time" in the eternal Now. This is a mystical, spiritual attainment we are fully capable of experiencing when we develop and connect with our True Nature and Being.

To Be Titled

He felt the beating life in other men
Invade him with their happiness and their grief;
Their love, their anger, their unspoken hopes
Entered in currents or in pouring waves
Into the immobile ocean of his calm.

(Savitri, Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

Thought lay down in a mighty voicelessness;
The toiling Thinker widened and grew still,
Wisdom transcendent touched his quivering heart:
His soul could sail beyond thought's luminous bar;
Mind screened no more the shoreless infinite.
(Savitri, Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

A Mother devotee taking a deep interest in, concentrated attention and thought about any social problem can evoke Her Force and thereby resolve it for the collective.

Benefit of Reading The BOOK inside 'The Book'

What does the staff of MAI gain by reading the wisdom contained in The BOOK (which is contained inside the novel 'The Book'? Prof. Stearne, the main wise character in the novel, explains to the MAI partners in the story:

(SM and Roy Posner)

"...You may find this very difficult to comprehend or believe because for you The BOOK is merely a source of inspiring ideas. But that is not the case. The Book is a source of knowledge that is power – only, the knowledge and power we derive from it is limited by the powers of our own consciousness. In other words, what we get out of The BOOK depends very much on who we are. It depends on our aspiration, our sincerity and our consciousness..."

(from The Book, by Garry Jacobs, Page 490)

Comment: Appa's (Karmayogi's) teachings and the sincere and dedicated utilization of his methods for evoking response, in tandem with Her Force, give us this same power in real life.

Extreme Negative Response in USA's History

-USA terrorized Japan with two nuclear weapons, setting loose Evil technology in the world. As life response many decades later, North Korea is perceived in USA as a nuclear threat.

-Americans annihilated the Native People through war and disease, eliminating 90% of the population. Life responded negatively with brother fighting brother in the Civil war.

-USA and West interfered in Russian Revolution. Life responded negatively with the devil Stalin, who through Soviet Union he led became a menace to the world.

-USA speculators triggered the Great Depression, helping Hitler eliminate the progressive Weimar Republic, take power, and terrorize the world.

-USA takes to outdated, outmoded, Laissez-faire form of Capitalism over last several decades, including allowing for extreme financial speculation, causing life to respond negatively, through speculation induced Great Recession, the greatest economic crisis since the Great Depression.

Synchronous Moment: Berkeley Receipt & Credit Card

Synchronicities - what people refer to as "coincidences", but which are not -- just keep unfolding in waves and torrents. Let me tell you about but two that happened to me in recent days:

(1) BERKELEY RECEIPT: A close friend who I have only seen three times in the last 30 years came to visit me in Southern California. After our visit, the next day he made his way with his wife to the northern part of the state to meet his son in Berkeley. As it turned out, at the moment he began to leave my area for the journey north I found a piece of paper on the seat of my car as I was sitting down. It was a parking receipt for parking in Berkeley from a decade ego. How did it get there? Somehow it blew out of the side-pocket on the driver's side door, and got loosened to appear at this very moment. I have never seen a receipt of anything on the driver's seat of the car, yet it appeared at this very moment when my friend was headed up to Berkeley. Why this unnecessary receipt was still kept after all these years is a mystery. Apparently so I could have this astonishing synchronous moment!

(2) THE CREDIT CARD: And this one happened today: I have spent over a decade paying off a credit card for a certain company. After all this time, today this particular card was paid off. However, it was done through a third-party agency, and my association with the original card company had long passed. Miraculously in the mail today was a brochure from that company. Not in the last 12 years have I received any literature from the company! Moreover, the literature was actually for a previous residence of my house, so they had no way of knowing I had paid off the card. Plus, the card debt was handled by a completely different organization. Somehow miraculously the advertising literature from the company came the same day I had paid off a 12-year debt, with nothing outward to connect the two; yet inwardly or cosmically they were indeed related. A kind of thank-you note from the credit card company!

Such synchronicities are common occurrence that all of us can witness on a regular basis if we just make the small effort to look around and perceive these subtle and startling associations.

To Be Titled

If you overcome your resistance to do something, putting your faith completely in Mother, the outcome will be spectacularly simple and successful.

Supramental Perception and Integral Knowledge

Supramental Perception (or whatever name we give to it) is a wholly unique phenomenon, as one has Complete Knowledge of the truth necessary in any given moment of time. This is an almost inconceivable possibility, yet Sri Aurobindo has given us the way forward to achieve it. It enables unprecedented power and capacity to function in life, as every decision will end in the right outcome.

Sri Aurobindo indicated that this Knowledge was there before creation. In fact, it was the Supramental Plane and Power that conceived creation, and helped unfold space and time, and real Ideas of what the creation should be. Moreover, one purpose of life is for all beings to also have that capacity of moment to moment integral Knowledge.

This virtually unprecedented understanding of our capacity to know -- I call it supramental perception -- comes from the deepest readings of the ancient Vedas and Upanishads of India, brought forward into a modern evolutionary context by Sri Aurobindo.

Man knows with mind that only gives a partial knowledge of what is happening, what needs to be known - in any moment, situation, circumstance, etc. Beyond that is silent mind (where thinking ceases so true rationality can emerge), and intuition (where truth enters the mind without the necessity to think). Beyond that is universal mind, culminating in Supramental Perception that knows everything one needs to know in any given moment, among other startling knowledge capacities.

Through our development in consciousness, opening to the Divine Mother, taking the other person's point of view and other methods, we move toward that deeper poise from which we develop this integral knowing capacity. Increasingly, only through such spiritual mind-related capacities will we be able to solve the problems of the world. These issues are increasingly not solvable, even by rational mind.

To Be Titled

This universe and all in it, melded, integrated with the divine Source are together the Reality. Through Supramental perception, we fully see and live that Truth: perceive that Spirit and the details of Life are interrelated and One.

To Be Titled

Learning from each mistake opens the doors of consciousness a little wider.

To Be Titled

In retrospect, a growth or spiritual-oriented individual will look back on the chaos he was part of and realize that there was a much simpler way forward.

To Be Titled

In a very dark atmosphere (eg inquiry of treason of highest officials), a simultaneous harmful development by that same side (eg tax legislation that supports the rich) will one day prove to be utterly ruinous.

Multiple Responses from a Single Higher Consciousness Movement

We see how a particular inner or outer behavior precipitated a particular powerful positive response from life. We are happy to experience this result, but then become self-satisfied with it. And yet little knownst to us, our higher consciousness movement is likely creating additional positive life response reactions - whether for ourselves, for others around us, or a much wider collective.

For example, a man takes to improving a neglected area where there is poor lighting, which not only improves that condition but attracts an opportunity for a better health solution for himself. However, this individual then looks into the conditions further and discover other startling Life Response results, such as the community suddenly having better lighting and sanitation, or new health discoveries similar to his own that are suddenly revealed for the entire community or nation.

It is because everything is secretly connected to everything else in life that these additional expressions of life response are able to emanate from a single higher movement in consciousness on our part.

This being the case, let us make a greater effort to perceive a wider array of responses to any single elevation of consciousness on our part. We are likely to be astonished by what we discover!

Comment: This is one expression of Sri Aurobindo's saying, "Don't stop in the middle." That we can take things many steps further, beyond the limited current perspective and reality.

To Be Titled

The end of the Cold War did create a power vacuum. But rather than building a stronger system of global governance to fill it, we have rushed to grab all the spoils and all the power to ourselves. The world we see around us is a direct reflection and result of our own actions. We have no one to blame but ourselves.

(from novel The Book by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The scientist sees everything, every object, force, et al as separate from one another. The spiritual person sees all things as One; as deeply interrelated and intertwined.

To Be Titled

Negative situations are secretly a stimulus for us to find a better way.

To Be Titled

Gleeful enjoyment of another person's comeuppance quickly attracts accident or other negative conditions.

To Be Titled

There is a true poise within, where whatever comes to us, happens to us - good or bad - we take as a Grace for our progress, releasing our Delight in the experience.

How the Soul Responds to Difficulty

Our soul, our psychic being receives a negative experience as an indicator of an even Greater growth; of even Greater positive conditions to come. It therefore receives the apparent negative as a Grace, releasing Delight and Joy in our being.

Eg a spirit-oriented individual laughed when a judge ruled that his vast property was going to be taken away, because he knew even greater things were to come, related to it or other, which is precisely what happened.

To Be Titled

Our own destiny is not carved in stone, though the cosmic goals and intentions of the Divine are.

To Be Titled

The Divine does not want us to suffer over long periods of time in order to achieve a goal. It is our Ignorance that causes the delay. If we were conscious, the results would come much more quickly.

To Be Titled

Incessant complaining about another indicates deficiency in one's self.

Comment: best to discover what that is.

To Be Titled

Do we want to achieve, progress, evolve through the Sunlit Path of Spirit (purusha); or through the slow, lengthy, and difficult way of Nature (prakriti). The choice is ours.

To Be Titled

When we read what the characters have gone through in a story or in a film, we are subconsciously reading the process of our own awakening, our own self-discovery. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Avoid belittling a small matter; otherwise, it will turn into a large one.

To Be Titled

Your level of success in life is not half as important as the degree you are raising your level of consciousness. The former readily takes shape from out of the latter.

To Be Titled

Remember, without the difficult times in your life, you wouldn't be who you are today. Be grateful for the good and the bad. (Steven Aitchison)

America's Spiritual Seekers in India

Q: Why has America sent the largest batch of spiritual seekers to India of any country?

A: Any creed taken to the extreme reveals its fallacies and generates a reaction. America has embraced materialism more than other countries and therefore the reaction comes from there where its gross inadequacy and inability to promote peace and happiness is self-evident. (Garry Jacobs)

Living a Greater Life than You Were Told by Society to Live

When you grow up, you tend to get told that the world is the way it is. Your life is to live your life inside the world, to try not to bash into the walls too much: Try to have a nice family life, have fun, save a little money... but that's a very limited life.

Life can be much broader once you discover one simple fact: Everything around you that you call "life" was made up by people that were no smarter than you -- and you can change it. You can influence it... the minute you understand that you can change it, that you can mold it, that's maybe the most important thing. To shake off this erroneous notion that life is there and you're just going to live in it -- versus embrace it, change it, improve it... and make your mark upon it.

(Steve Jobs)

To Be Titled

In sports, as in life, intense anger attracts injury or similar to self or team-mate.

To Be Titled

Intensity of the negative intensifies the opposing positive.

Rising to Next Plane, Equilibrium of Energies, and Consecration

--Life always seeks to restore an equilibrium of energies.

--Eg if something attempts to rise to a higher level, something comes to bring it back the previous level; thereby restoring the equilibrium.

--Therefore, when we rise up to the next plane, it ordinarily evokes a hostile opposition; as life always seeks to balance out, to establish an equilibrium of energies.

--Eg if you are seeking to bring a new set of positive values to an institution, an unexpected opposing force will rise to not only prevent the values from being adopted, but to destroy your influence in the institution.

--However, if you consecrate the movement to the next highest level, (eg the interest in implementing the higher values in the organization), life responds, not negatively, but fully positively, restoring the equilibrium, but now at a higher level.

--Also, if you do not react in feeling and thought to the intensity of the opposition, it can have a similar effect. Or if you consecrate the opposition, it will melt away; in all cases restoring the equilibrium at a higher level.

Supermind Sees Beyond Dualities

"Mind and ego see the whole world in terms of dualities and opposites - good and evil, right and wrong, truth and falsehood, progress and reversal, good fortune and misfortune, pleasure and pain. The dualities do not exist in Supermind. [I.e. all is One] For Supermind EVERYTHING is an expression of the Spirit and serves an essential evolutionary purpose". (Sri Karmayogi)

Eg In the story Pride and Prejudice, Pujya Appa [Karmayogi] explains that to Darcy's mind Wickham is a scoundrel, but for Supermind, Wickham is an essential component to Darcy. (P.V. Sankar)

To Be Titled

Spiritual life is not merely asking the Divine for favors, but is to continually make the effort to grow in consciousness in all facets of our lives.

To Be Titled

"Punctuality is not about being on time, it's basically about respecting your own commitments." (unknown)

... and respecting other people, and their time and concerns.

Supermind and Internet

Descent of Supermind into the world is a movement of Unification and Oneness. Eg in just 2 decades the Internet has emerged as the first global social system linking billions of people together in a manner unimaginable just a few decades earlier. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Much of what you sedentarily (physical) or emotionally (vital) resist, you need to fully embrace.

Power of Restraining Ourselves from Sharing

If possible, hold back from sharing an emerging positive development. That way it will intensify and grow stronger.

Let's say you are writing an article and it is coming along well. If you withhold from telling others, then the remainder will unfold faster, and with new insights you hadn't seen before, improving the doc tremendously.

It applies to any similar circumstance; especially where the thing is not yet completed. Even when completed, it can be done if there is scope to do so.

To Be Titled

The leader who consistently sees the opportunities behind a serious problem will rise (along with his organization) to the pinnacles of success.

To Be Titled

At each point in our lives the Divine, the Mother is teaching us a lesson. Are we paying attention? Are we recognizing the issue? Are we taking up that challenge for self-improvement?

Life Response Comments in the Film 'Secretariat'

(based on a true story)

As it indicates in the novel 'The Book', "Life does not attack the weak, because it has nothing to gain by doing so." And so, challenges come from life only for those who have the capacity to face it; who are able to convert that challenge into opportunity, fortune, and Grace.

In the movie 'Secretariat,' Penny was a content housewife, living happily with her husband, two daughters and two sons. One day she lost her mother, and as a result returned to her childhood home. There she came to see that everything was in a bad shape; that her father's health was deteriorating; and that the farm he had managed for horse breeding operations was not making money. In addition, her brother wanted to sell the farm, but Penny insisted on keeping it. And so she had to stay for a longer period in order to resolve these issues.

The first thing she discovered was the dishonest horse trainer, and so she fired him. We know Life responds to our Motive, rather than to our action. Life then responded indeed for her in the right spirit. As it turned out, through her father's good friend Hancock, she was able to approach veteran trainer Lucien. Initially, he rejected her offer, but later changed his mind and accepted it.

At that time, she found out that two of her best mares (Somethingroyal and HastyMatelda) were pregnant by the owner Odgen Phipps Stallion 'Bold Ruler'. Penny's father had a deal with him that a coin toss would decide who would choose which foal. Hasty Matelda's foal was every one's favorite due to her young age. However, Penny's choice was entirely different as she wanted Somethingroyal's foal. She thought that it had a unique combination, a rare quality of mix of speed and stamina. Though she lost the coin toss, she received Somethingroyal, just as she wished. It was a first sign from life that these earlier events of good fortune would predict the final outcome. Her dream indeed came true at the end with Somethingroyal's foal. After the coin toss, she immediately came to know that Lucien wanted to join her as the trainer.

All were surprised with the Somethingroyal colt. In fact, her father wanted the horse to run races. Despite not knowing much about that field, Penny stepped into a male dominated business to fulfill her father's last wish. However, it was not easy for her, on several fronts. For one, her family was also not appreciative of her efforts. Instead her husband wanted her to be back for her family and kids. But she was determined to run the horse because that willfulness came from her genes through her father; through her subliminal/subconscious aspiration. Earlier in the movie, this was nicely captured, when her father spoke to her as a little child, "Don't let them fool you darling, it's not whether they think we won. Its weather we think we won. You run your race, Penny"

Mrs. Ham (father's secretary) chose the name 'Secretariat' for the horse. However, the first race ended in failure. Then as per Lucien's advice, she employed veteran jockey Ron Turcotte. From then on "Secretariat" won many races, and eventually was named "Horse of the year".

At that time, life challenged her again with the sudden demise of her father. Now she had to pay six million dollars on taxes owed on the estate. Her brother also urged to sell the horse, but she rejected his advice. She wanted to walk in the footsteps of her father.

She had also employed Hancock's son (Seth) out of good will and gratitude. She drew up a horse breeding plan and contacted potential investors. All of them turned her down. Owner Phipps offered her 8 million dollars to purchase Secretariat, but she refused. In her heart she knew how much Secretariat was worth. And so determined to take risk, she made a bold decision to let him run in Triple Crown Race, which no horse had won in the past 25 years.

And yet life gave her another challenge.

Just before the Triple Crown race, Secretariat lost the Wood Memorial race in very poor fashion. She scolded Lucien and jockey Ron in anger and asked them to fix the issue. Both however did not react to her, remaining calm at that moment. Life immediately responded and revealed the reason for Secretariat's poor performance, which was due to an abscess in his mouth. Penny immediately recognized her mistake and apologized to both.

Though the horse was recovering, it still had not eaten since the abscess. Lucien worried if it was okay to run Secretariat in the race again. It was a beautiful scene in the movie: Penny reached "Secretariat" and looked at him subtly, deeply. Similar to the scene of being One with the Field in the movie 'The Legend of Bagger Vance,' Penny became identified with the horse. We know that material objects respond to our attention; then why can't an animal, such as a horse? The next morning onwards, Secretariat started to eat again as normal.

Secretariat went on to win the 'Kentucky Derby' and 'Preakness' in record times. The third race of the Triple Crown, the 'Belmont' was the acid test for him, as people believed that he was capable only for speed and not for long run running. In the meantime, her family became supportive of her efforts. At the Belmont Ball, her husband confessed to her, "I want you to win. And win or lose, you've taught our children what a real woman is. What is it to believe in yourself, and I never could have taught those things. And you've taught me something, too." She felt immense emotional fulfillment. With that happiness inside, she went to Secretariat and talked to him subtly, "I realized something, I've already won, I made it here, I didn't quit, I've run my race, now you run yours."

Secretariat went on with a remarkable face, beat all the odds, and won the race with an extraordinary finish besting his rival horse by 31 lengths.

Secretariat was considered one of the greatest horse who ever lived. And Penny saved her farm, and lived with her family happily afterwards.

It was not just a movie about winning the horse race. It was a depiction of the LIFE of Penny, who rose up from a content housewife, and transformed herself into a living inspiration that touched the lives of all the people around her. (We call this a Gnostic Being). She just simply refused to give up when life challenged her on a number of occasions. And as a result, she went on to fulfill her father's legacy and last wish.

It was like Darcy from Pride and Prejudice. He could have walked away after Elizabeth's abuse, or he could have withdrawn after hearing about Lydia's elopement. Instead, he chose the other way. As a result, he not only succeeded royally by winning over the woman of his dreams, but he also fulfilled the dreams of all other people he was associated with. He brought Bingley back into Jane's life, turned a misfortunate elopement into a marriage, restored the honor of Mr. Bennet's family, elevated the status of Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner, and so forth.

Qualities Demonstrated by Penny in the Story that Enabled Good Fortune:

- Had Aspiration to Rise Up Higher
 - Demonstrated Power of Willfulness. Determination. Never Say Die Attitude
 - Inherited Her Father's Willful Capacities
 - Expressed True Individuality; To Think for One's Self; Not Being Constrained, Determined by the Herd
 - Demonstrated Inner Psychological Strength at Key Moments
 - Had Deep Belief in The Potential for the Outcome to Come About
 - A Positive Attitudes maintained throughout
 - Experienced Deep/Subtle Connection with Another Sentient Being
 - Felt Gratitude at Steps along the Way
- (Roy Posner & SM)

Anticipating Negative Outcomes

Avoid anticipating a negative outcome - as in "yeah that won't work out", - lest you attract that very result. Instead, imagine the best, - without being overly attached to it; offering it to the divine, the mother; - not the worst. The best conditions are now far more likely to present themselves.

Physical Violence Down 90% in World

Throughout human history violence, war and conquest have been dominant. Today the percentage of people dying from physical violence globally has fallen by 90% or more from levels common before 1950. Aggression by one country or people against another was common practice and even considered legal before 1947. Today it evokes outrage and opposition by the world community. (Garry Jacobs)

Movement toward Free Things in the World

Many things once very rare or costly are becoming almost free -- books, information, phone calls. People once prided on how many books they owned in their library. Now millions of books including all the classics are available free on the internet. The founder of IBM predicted the world market for computers would be only 5 a year. Today every mobile smart phone has more computing power that the original IBM mainframe and hundreds of millions are being sold annually for a nominal price. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

A person who insensitively brushes aside another individual's suggestion will soon meet with a new problem.

Child Education of the Future

The best type of child education is where the teacher discovers and nurtures the inner aspiration and truth of the child through his perfect attention to it, which is ultimately only made possible through his own inner connection to his True Self. This is the education of the future, which it is now time to embrace.

Agitated vs. Rational Explanation

A willy-nilly emotional outburst energizes, but then agitates, while a rational explanation with clear reasoning calms and soothes. Due to the entry of Truth in the latter, the crowd, participants are calmed into an almost spiritual-like peace.

Reaching Intensity of Negative in Order to Elicit Action

Sometimes a negative force does not meet with a concerted positive opposition until that negative reaches a certain threshold of intensity.

Example: A government is oppressing its people. The people are disturbed, but haven't the strength to act. Then a heinous crime is committed by the gov't. against the people. Now the people rise up to toss out the vicious leadership.

We can see this dynamic in various aspects of life: from the issues of society to our own daily lives.

E.g. a man doesn't commit to hard work, even though his financial situation is deteriorating. Then an unexpected bill appears in his inbox, unsettling his entire situation. Now he commits to making the full physical and psychological effort to secure a good-paying job.

Supramental Perception of Oneness

Supramental nature sees everything from the standpoint of oneness and regards all things, even the greatest multiplicity and diversity, even what are to the mind the strongest contradictions, in the light of that oneness; its will, ideas, feelings, sense are made of the stuff of oneness, its actions proceed upon that basis. ... the supramental, the divine life is a life of essential, spontaneous and inherent unity. (MSS)

To Be Titled

First objective in yoga: Identify each time our Ego is engaged, and make an effort to overcome it.

Limits of Current Collective Existence, and Need of Spiritual Change

Sage and seer Sri Aurobindo examined the current reality and indicated that this existence cannot be the basis of a new [Supramental] collective life. He says that only Spirit - not the current mind and mentality - can harmonize our mental, vital, and physical existence, and create this new collective divine society.

Moreover, Sri Aurobindo indicated that there are severe limits to the current collective life, including the modern methods, to enable a perfect society. He indicates that neither the current scientific formula, nor a perfected economic society, nor democratic existence, nor varying structure of governance, nor religion are enough to create the higher, perfected, divine society and existence that the world is moving towards.

It is the Spiritual Change of individuals that alone can transform the race and bring about this new perfected Divine Life on Earth.

(based on Sri Aurobindo's 'The Life Divine' - chapter 56, The Divine Life)

To Be Titled

Knowing how the good side had a hand in creating the bad is wisdom

Following the Right Speed of Life

Beneath surface impressions, Life has an exact right Speed for us to move in at any moment. If we go too fast beyond this measure, eg being undisciplined or impatient to accomplish something, life will quickly reveal our wrong relation to time in the form of error or similar. Best then to settle down, be quiet inside, regain your composure, and then take up the right flow, including the right speed of action, or inaction. If you are conscious in the least, an important life lesson will have been learned.

To Be Titled

In absolute silence sleeps an absolute Power.
(from Savitri by Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

Women's cooperative nature will serve well the future of humanity.

To Be Titled

Sincerely wishing to apply high personal values, with humility, patience, and purity of purpose, attracts the fulfillment of one's intention.

To Be Titled

At the point you shift your focus from yourself to others, life responds.

To Be Titled

Coordinated approach among peoples to solve problems like global warming, terrorism, hacking, wealth inequality, etc. will have the effect of furthering Human Unity.

To Be Titled

Evolution is the progressive movement from division, separateness, conflict, and contradiction to harmony, unity, and oneness.

To Be Titled

Evolution is the inversion of the process that led to the creation of the universe, Involution.

To Be Titled

God, the Divine, as a Conscious-Force is there at the outset of the Involution, disappears when forms manifest in creation, and progressively returns in all forms in the Evolution.

Supramental Timeliness

The Supramental person is constantly helping others get out of predicaments and jams, which the receivers are deeply grateful for, though this was never the conscious intention of this higher-consciousness individual!

Eg an evolved man appears at just the right moment, offering an excellent solution, and saves the day for a client, though he had no idea what was occurring in the client's schedule nor of his unfolding circumstance. In other words, the supramental person is always in the right place at the right time, whether consciously or subconsciously doing so, defying all human logic of how life works. Perhaps we can call it Supramental Timeliness.

To Be Titled

People ordinarily consider the right tool, the right method, and the right time to undertake any activity; but rarely consider the right consciousness to bring to bear. The latter of course makes all the difference.

To Be Titled

We are given great opportunities, or great obstacles, or both as the means of our ascent in consciousness.

To Be Titled

If you restrain yourself from taking the next step in order to get the upper hand in an argument or debate, the other party is likely to contact you soon-after on their own with a positive development that is of interest to you. It shows the spiritual power of Restraint to attract the positive; especially in ego-related situations.

To Be Titled

Though we are not, Life/Nature is comfortable with the unfoldings of the present, as it is in touch with the future, and perceives how they interconnect.

Floral Surprise

"Dear Roy Sir,

Merry Christmas and happy new year to you and your family. I would like to share an amazing experience I had yesterday.

After a long time, yesterday morning I was reading some of your posts about Mother in Facebook. I was not able to add you in Facebook as my parents-in-laws monitor my Facebook activity and they particularly do not like me praying to Mother, or keeping Mother's photos in the house. I had a kind of sad feeling, I couldn't even do this, and so carried on with my browsing, reading news headlines, emails etc.

I was doing my work and suddenly heard the doorbell ring. It was unusual to have any visitors during that time of the day, I thought it could be a courier of some sort, or perhaps mail for my husband; and so I opened the door. There was a guy out in the snow with a little piece of paper reading my husband's name and asked if that person was me. I said that would be my husband, and he indicates they have some flower bouquet for him.

I was surprised and received the package of beautiful flowers. It had a card amidst the flowers with my husband's name and my name on it, wishing happy holidays and new year. It was from my husband's financial advisor. It was a surprise because we have been their clients for like 3 years now and this is the first time they sent out flowers.

And the highlight was the florist name, it said "Roy's florist". It was such a pleasant surprise to me. I was so happy. They also sent a 2016 floral calendar along with it and the first month had the wordings "Spirited Grace". I was so thrilled and I just wanted to share it with you."

D (December 25, 2015)

Overcoming Our Resistances in Work

Steve Jobs was reluctant to allow iPods to connect through Windows; only Macs. When he later gave up that resistance, life responded, and Apple sales grew spectacularly, and the company began its great boom from the time he returned from exile.

We too have such resistances in work that we can shed, that can likewise propel us to the pinnacles of success and fulfillment. Identifying what those resistance are is thus key. Once understood, we can take up the necessary change, thereby attracting good fortune in our lives.

To Be Titled

Today, the day of monumentally misguided tax cuts in the US, is the day that capitalism, -- that has benefited from many socialistic ideas and policies, but has not gone nearly far enough, and is still dominated by false economic beliefs that has created a vastly unequal, undemocratic society, -- begins to collapse and be replaced by a new type of Human-Centered Economics.

Perceiving Truth Beyond the Senses

"Seeing is believing" is a limited perspective of life. It indicates that only what our senses perceive is what the truth is. Not only can we be mistaken through our senses about what is occurring, but the truth is more often than not, not visible at all.

What we should believe in is the true Truth of things, and seek to discover what that is in each circumstance. It requires rational thought, insight, and intuition beyond what our senses, our eyes and ears tell us.

Mother Asks Us to Partake in the New Race

"The World is preparing for a big change. Will you help? ... That big change is the emergence upon earth of a new race which will be to man what man is to the animal. The consciousness of that new race is already at work on the earth to enlighten all those who are capable of receiving and listening to it."

(The Mother, from Agenda, 1970)

Mother Devotees' "Illness" as Resistance

People close to me for the work fall "ill." ... And depending on their receptivity, I must find a way to make them understand that they shouldn't worry, that it's not an "illness," but ... the body's resistance.

The body [Mother's body] has learned that at its own expense! It's constantly like that: if you are in the true position, everything is fine – provided you don't observe yourself, don't keep observing, "Oh, the body is like this, or like that, it feels this way or ..." As soon as you pay attention to it, as soon as the consciousness is turned to it, something goes wrong. It goes wrong.

One has to be ... like this (gesture turned upward). And then, there is something that KNOWS all the same, something that knows, but without observing (I don't know how to explain). And you can see that as soon as the consciousness of the cells takes the true attitude, the thing that manifested as a disorder no longer manifests as such ...

(The Mother, from Agenda, January 3, 1970)

To Be Titled

I am happy to report that I attended the wonderful inaugural conference at University of California Berkeley in 2013, where the World University Consortium (WUC) was founded. Thanks to Garry Jacobs, head of WAAS for inventing WUC, and organizing this Second World Conference on Future Education in Rome. A great force has been unleashed to help guide education into new frontiers of possibility, including the power of the true Inner, Self-Directed Student. Congratulations!

Vision of Future Integral Political Party in India

Below S S Sreejith lays out his vision of a new political party with commensurate strategies that can lead India into the future, based on an INTEGRAL Solution to all of its vast problems and opportunities.

"Strategic discussions are going on the upcoming General Elections of India by 2019 among political parties and in media and let us look into all our political parties.

My point of view is that NONE of them are capable enough to handle the social transformations of 2020 resulting from globalization, high aspirations of youths, middle class and common men and IT revolutions, women empowerment, their equality in jobs and their social aspirations, NRI returns to India, huge number of expatriates presence, likely opening of windows & platforms for International hypermarkets and International Universities, threats of neighbours and International and national terrorisms, Infrastructure and energy demands, climatic changes, changing community, family and other social structures, new skill demand because of older jobs getting obsolete etc.,

Look at our political parties:

-BJP + Alliances: Religious polarisation and Hindutva as the main agenda

-Congress + alliances; Caste based polarisation, lack of leaders and very weak organisational structure

-Third front including regional parties, few Janatha dals, communist parties and left, AAP and new smaller parties: Are not able to take India as one integral nation but believe in divisions, not standing for the corporates and prosperity, only focusing on lower middle class as vote banks and no visions.

THERE IS A POSSIBILITY AND SCOPE FOR A NEW POLITICAL PARTY TO EMERGE WHICH IS HAVING FOLLOWING CAPABILITIES

1. A political party with skilled and professional leadership
2. A political party with Human Centered Approach
3. A political party which can take care of the people not just Hindus, Christians, Muslims, Sikhs or Jains or only people from North or South
4. A political party with no considerations to casteism in INDIA
5. A political party with visions of progressive, sustainable and all-inclusive growth and development.

CAN WE ENVISAGE A NEW POLITICAL PARTY OF THAT SORT FOR NEW INDIA?"

S S Sreejith Sreejith

Reader: Bhagavan Sri Aurobindo said in His Uttarpara speech: "This Hindu nation was born with the Sanatan Dharma (Hinduism), with it it moves and with it it grows. When the Sanatan Dharma declines, then the nation declines, and if the Sanatan Dharma were capable of perishing, with the Sanatan Dharma it would perish."

Any party capable of nation building must keep the above as one of its bases.

Abolishing the divides between religions, sects and caste groups can be done by introduction of the Uniform Civil Code and abrogation of all sections that create inequality between citizens...this can only happen when we no longer accept the false view that non-appeasement equals majoritarianism.

Response: I may be wrong, but I sense that Sri Aurobindo moved away from this view (Sanatan Dharma; as a focal point) later on. This was a nationalistic rallying point at the time, and was successful for its intent. (identifying with the great spiritual tradition of India, which had been trampled on through colonialization and other negative developments).

Now Appa asks us to find the spirit inside and open to the new Force that is there that Sri Aurobindo discovered and brought to the world. The old ways and teachings (Vedas, Upanishads, et al) are great, and are the foundation of Bhagavan's Newer Knowledge. but we must each discover our own way to the Spirit.

Also, as a rallying point for action, strength, etc. I personally find it uncomfortable, even as India has been weak in the past (Gandhi's ahimsa/non-violence before partition, allowing China to penetrate her borders, dealing with terrorism, appeasement, etc. etc.)

Sanatan Dharma is a great ideal, but tying it to nationalism and politics seems counterproductive. It creates too much strain. We need other forms of commonality first, with a Human-centered approach being one, and commonality of higher truths amongst religions and teachings another.

Besides Sri Aurobindo and others have given us Knowledge that transcends the spiritual tradition, which can powerfully take India to the future and fulfill its national and spiritual destiny; so why not, as an individual, start there.

<http://www.karmayogi.net/?q=node/930>

To Be Titled

Life is the Becoming; filled with negatives and positives. Our challenge is to bring the Being (the Spirit; the unalloyed, self-existent Positive) into the Becomings of our lives, enabling progress, evolution, transformation, human unity, culminating in a Divine Life on Earth.

To Be Titled

Ultimately, only the evocation of the Divine, i.e. the divine Mother can save the world.

To Be Titled

To constantly be creating harmony where there is discord is one indicator of a devotee's consciousness.

Comment: Q: If we are not feeling good about what is happening, like arguments or feelings, how can we create harmony in such situations.

A: By detaching and not reacting at all to the situation - in action, feeling, and thought. Life will now soon respond with positive conditions.

Q: True sir thanks, but sometimes the opposite party thinks we are not giving enough respect by not reacting to what are they telling if we are quiet for long. For example, we don't like what are they telling in a close atmosphere, and we don't react, the opposite party expects a reaction from us. If we keep quiet in close atmosphere, it is quite obvious.

A: Then just agree with them. Taking the other person's point of view is a powerful spiritual approach. After a short while, they are likely to come around to your original point of view. The situation can turn around, like magic. Taking to another's point of view (whether true or not) moves one closer to the integral truth of things, from the part to the whole of the truth; which is a Supramental perspective, which in turn releases powerful positive condition, including eventual agreement and harmony.

To Be Titled

Mother says the Winter Solstice is spiritual and symbolic; as it harkens the coming of the Light.

Overcoming Limitations of Nations in Multi-Polar World

We are rapidly moving toward a multi-polar world, with identifiable weaknesses of the 5 main players. Gradually each will need to grow out of their limitations in order to create a more harmonious society, as indicated below:

USA - come out of geo-political arrogance, acute materialism, lack of equality in wealth distribution

EU - unwillingness to have a strong integrated military; need for EU to become stronger, even more united

Russia - come out of undemocratic, brutalistic tradition

China - come out of lack of freedom for the individual

India - come out of poverty, corruption, sectarian intolerance, and poor relation with Pakistan.

On Cynics & Cynicism

-Cynics don't normally bring the world forward. Visionaries do.

-Cynics may have great insights, but enjoy stewing in their cynicism. Nothing gives them more pleasure.

-Cynical distancing easily becomes cynical superiority. In either case, cynicism is retained. (Karmayogi)

-Cynicism is due to lack of energy. It can create a vicious circle of lower energy and greater cynicism. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Brahman is the totality of existence - i.e. the divine and the universe inexorably intertwined, in all the details. Supermind perceives life from this vantage point..

Limpia and Lauren

(musings on the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

Blessed are souls who have goodwill and gratitude, both on the surface of their being as well as in the depths.

Limpia and Lauren were the first two employees of MAI (the AI organization in the story). Limpia was the helper and Lauren was the admin executive. During several difficult periods, MAI was forced to take tough measures, like retrenching employees. Yet, Limpia and Lauren remained part of MAI even at those difficult times.

The goodwill of MAI was served by Limpia and Lauren's gratitude in return in many instances. Among many, there were two striking incidents as indicated below.

-Limpia was the one who had preserved 'The Book' in a dramatic manner during federal officers' search at MAI.

-Only through Lauren, Dan had noticed 'The Book' pages were fading in an instance. And later on, after serious experiences and with the reversal of Dan's attitude, 'The Book' pages were restored.

As such, without both of them at that RIGHT time, the events of the story could be entirely different. Their acts came as Gratitude on the surface and out of Goodwill in their depths.

(SM)

Welcome To 'The Cleanest Village in India'

(reminds us of power of Cleanliness to attract health and prosperity)

"And the secret to Mawlynnong's sparkle? A tribal tradition that equates cleanliness with a beauty all its own. Resident Badapbiang Khongtheim says fellow villagers don't look at how grand someone's house is but how tidy it is kept.

"Cleanliness has more value than material wealth," she says. "It's what people see, it's what they talk about, it's what they exchange compliments over."

<https://www.npr.org/.../welcome-to-the-cleanest-village-in-in...>

To Be Titled

Let us be patient and let Mother orchestrate our entire reality.

-thanks to Senthil

Pursuing Negative Associations that Spread

Pursuing an association with a negative person can vibrate out and attract ill-fortune for someone you care about.

Eg one woman actively pursued getting involved with a scoundrel because of his good looks and charms, which quickly attracted ill-fortune for the sister she adored, when the sister's fledgling romance with a man she cared deeply about suddenly ended when he unexpectedly moved away to another town.

When we blindly connect ourselves with negative people, that vibration can spread to other people we care about, causing ill-fortune for them and dismay for ourselves.

This principle also works in the reverse - with good people we actively pursue and associate with; that vibrates out and attracts positive conditions for others we are connected with.

The Coming of the Light

What we now call Christmas was celebrated long before the coming of Christ. That period around the Winter Solstice was celebrated, honored in various cultures as the beginning of the return of the Light, when the days were beginning to get longer; an actual and a symbolic event.

The coming of the Light is the hope of renewal, rebirth, new possibility and new chance to redeem one's self; an opportunity to raise our consciousness. The Solstice and the New Year were celebrated as one thing: a New Dawn for the Spirit to enter our lives. Let us take up that golden opportunity and be reborn into a New Life!

Rise of Reactionary Forces

The vast reactionary developments we are witnessing in the world today is a backlash to the enormous progress and many advances in consciousness over the last few decades.

It is also a reaction to the inability and failures of societies to deal with new economic and social realities that are burdening humanity. In that environment, harsh, anachronistic and reactionary forces rush in to fill the void.

A greater dawn of light, truth, and harmony awaits us beyond these troubling, unsettling times.

Getting in Touch with the Mind of the Cells

We know of the human mind. We are in it and using it right now. What we didn't know is that the body itself has a kind of mind, which the Mother calls the "mind of the cells" or the Cellular Mind.

For example, if this bodily mind detects that there is a spiritual Force at work in life, the cells of the body brighten and become happy, and thus vibrate in a certain way that creates a healthy feeling and the dissolution of small pains.

In human transformation, which is the end goal of Sri Aurobindo's yoga, the cellular mind shifts its demeanor from a pessimism of the inevitability of illness, decay, and death, to a "reprogramming" in which it perceives the possibility of endless well-being and unending life. Moreover, when the mind of the cells perceives the Supramental power at work, it brightens with a kind of joy, and sheds its feelings of doom to one of continuous well-being and joyful belief in its endless existence.

As described in Her 4000-page diary "Agenda," the Mother spent much of her time in the last several decades of her life communicating with the Cellular Mind, convincing it of its spiritual destiny; of its capacity to reprogram its outlook, leading not only to endless health and unending life, but transformation of the very structures and systems of the body into centers of consciousness, replacing the current gross physical being with its organs, fluids, and the like.

If we are very sensitive, we too can have "discussions" with this bodily mind, and ask it, train it to open to the Force, which will alter its programming away from the inevitability of its decay and demise, shedding the feelings of "pralaya," the memory of life passed down through thousands of generations of the inevitability of suffering and death.

To Be Titled

At any given moment, we each live in different Mind-states from one another. Key then is to move to a common Mind-state where we relate fully to the concerns and needs of another. There life reaches, evokes, fulfills a much greater potential, possibility. It is one expression of Supramental living.

To Be Titled

Shifting from unwillingness or indifference to willingness opens the door to a flow of synchronicities.

To Be Titled

The more one perceives an idea in a field in relation to other fields, the better, the more integrally one knows it.

To Be Titled

Synchronicities, Life Response, et al make you feel that the Divine is alive in the world.

Prof. Stearne - The Gnostic Being - Reconciling All Sides

When a Gnostic Being acts from the Truth of his Being, he reconciles the Truth in Every other being's view point.

In the novel 'The Book', after the arrival of Prof. Stearne, MAI's growth rose to greater heights. Yet, at the same time, the intensity and threat of the adversaries also continued to increase, aiming for the 'The Book'.

What was needed was a permanent solution; not just for MAI, but such solution could reconcile all viewpoints [including positive AND negative, i.e. the adversaries]. How to devise such a solution? It is possible only when one has the Absolute's view point, and one acts from one's True Self.

At that crucial time, Prof. Stearne devised a master plan [that would reconcile the contradictions], worked towards that earnestly and executed it flawlessly. He had never proclaimed that he was going to solve it, not even shared it to MAI partners. When the solution unfolded, when the puzzle was revealed, it was a miraculous moment for everyone. Dan and MAI partners were speechless. At the end, everyone was benefited I, including the adversaries.

"Complete knowledge is knowledge that leads to accomplishments that have no negative consequences or side-effects." - The Book

-Senthil Murugan

--

RP: Please expand on this post for greater understanding.

--

SM: MAI was using 'The Book' and introducing different kinds of AI products for human progress. And so 'The Book' was very much needed for the human evolution. The various groups of forces of darkness (the adversaries) wanted to possess 'The Book'.

Prof. Stearne came out with the solution, for the Knowledge of The Book to reach all of humanity, and at the same time he wanted 'The Book' to remain with Dan. However, he executed it in such a way that it might look like he had taken 'The Book' (thus risking his own life), and took measures to spread the knowledge of The Book, yet the original copy remained with Dan. It was a master plan of genius.

It reconciled the Truths of MAI partners. The adversaries also benefited by having that knowledge in hand. It was an illusion as they wanted to possess it. He was also considerate to leave his house for his helpers and so forth. In the process of manifesting this solution, He had addressed the needs of all the people He had associated with, which I thought was the characteristic of Gnostic Being.

When the mystery was revealed, Dan thought as below in The Book:

"...Stearne had explained on the very first night they met him that The Book might have been subjected to a spell that prevented it from being physically reproduced by a photocopy machine. It could only be accessed by human consciousness. Knowing that, Stearne had passed the entire one thousand seventy pages and four hundred fifteen thousand words of The Book through the medium of his own consciousness and written it afresh by hand. He must have tested this hypothesis months ago and found that it worked, then set himself to that arduous task. No wonder he spent such long hours working with The Book in the Cloister. He was not just trying to understand it. He was reproducing the knowledge of The Book in a new form, while remaining absolutely true to the original text. Not a single word had been changed. Considering his age, Dan estimated that he must have spent over three hundred days working on the project between other obligations. He must have anticipated the danger and foreseen the need soon after their first meeting with him.

Dan marveled at the brilliance of Stearne's strategy. After this, no one could come after them to obtain a copy of The Book. There was no need, since it would be available to everyone. After this, no one could come after them to prevent others from reading The Book. That was impossible. As of this very morning when Levin had discovered the full text of The Book on the Internet, it had become universal knowledge; the shared property of all humankind.

Stearne's strategy had permanently removed the threat of a backlash against MAI.

There was only one further thing that Dan could desire. The Book should be recognized by the world for what it was, a pathway to humanity's future. That he knew was too much to ask for just then. Yet the genie was out of the bottle, and in time it would work its magic in and on the world. He was very sure of it..."

Questions about Educational System

1. LEARNING APPROACHES -- The present educational system has many deadening effects on the students. These include soulless memorization, exams that only test memory power, uninteresting subject presentation, an attitude of rejecting questions by teachers etc. What needs to be done to remove these deadening influences and make Indian education system a lively and fresh experience.
2. INSIGHT & INSPIRATION - The educational system is geared to promote rational thinking and understanding abilities. Unfortunately, very little attention is being paid to the development of Insight and inspiration which are the true foundations of creativity. These are assumed to be in-born virtues and beyond the scope for cultivation. Still I believe that these two can be nurtured provided the right methods are used. However, I am eager to know myself what these methods are?
3. DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONALITY - Our present educational system focuses mainly on mental development which is understood to be the development of our rational faculties. It leaves untouched the development of our personality apart from giving some polish to our external manners. How to bring in values such as self-reliance, individuality, thirst for progress, creativity, harmony, other man's point of view etc which enrich the personality?
4. TECHNOLOGY - Today the Computer is looked upon as the store-house of knowledge and there is heavy pressure to computerize the teaching. Still there are those who feel that computers can rob the personal touch lent by teachers. Is it fair to accuse computers of robbing personal touch? Can these opposite points of view be balanced at some point?
5. HISTORY - History is taught to students nowadays in an unimaginative manner simply giving the facts of the situation with no questions asked about why it happened so and how it happened. Moreover, it is not even asked what lessons has history taught all of us so that we can protect ourself from repeating past mistakes. How to turn teaching of history from storytelling into a study of history?
6. SPIRITUAL GROWTH - The Mother wanted the Ashram school to teach students in such a manner that they are able to spiritually flower. She regretted that the school was only producing brilliant minds. May be She believed that an education fostering spiritual efflorescence is key to the later emergence of India as the World Guru. Is it practically feasible to formulate an educational system that promotes spiritual efflorescence even after the Mother lamented that the Ashram school did not live up to Her expectation?
7. VOTING/CITIZENRY - The voting behavior of an educated population and uneducated population seems not to differ very much with both groups electing demagogic politicians who make false promises and operate on the basis of wrong assumptions. If so it needs to be asked why the education received by people of developed countries fails to modify their electoral behavior?
8. SACREDNESS OF EDUCATION - Education in the past used to be looked upon as a sacred profession with the teacher almost looked upon as a Spiritual Guru. However, that hallowed esteem has come down very much due to the commercialisation of education. Is such commercialization inevitable or can its hallowed esteem be sustained even today?
9. WOMEN'S ROLE - Women are traditionally believed to be deficient in mathematical skills and it is alleged that is why there not many women taking to Engineering course. In this age of feminism with women claiming equality on all fronts can such a rumor be allowed to persist without factual verification.
10. EAST & WEST INSIGHTS - Can an educational system be devised that combines the virtues of Western Materialism and Eastern Spirituality so that a healthy integrated personality is developed?

(N. Asokan, Mother's Service Society)

To Be Titled

Generally speaking, keeping good news to yourself will cause it to build up further. The inverse with negative news: the more you share it, the more it gets amplified.

To Be Titled

Best to shift from the surface reasons to the deeper reasons.

To Be Titled

We enjoy acquiring new knowledge that reinforces what we already believe in; rarely seeking out new vistas of truth and possibility. It's the fixed physical consciousness that does not want to learn, to change; only repeat what it already believes to be true.

Supramental Perception of the Event

Normal, human consciousness sees an event unfolding and draws conclusion from what it sees. It then makes conclusions, often erroneous. It doesn't consider what happened before one arrived on the scene. However, if he is of a special mental consciousness, who is curious to dwell on the event, he will use rational thought or imagination to perceive what might have happened before.

On the other hand, the person with Supramental perception will perceive the truths of the present relative to the incident, as well as intuitively apprehend the past circumstance leading to the present; as well as correctly envision where the event is heading toward in the future. Thus, through supramental perception, past, present, and future are known in that Now moment in time.

There are other benefits too, because one now has a great power to determine what is best to do or not do, in that moment. I.e. one has all truths in hand for right decision making that leads to perfect actions and outcomes. Thus, Supramental is not only a vast power of Knowledge and Truth, but a power of Life Action to do what is right based on life conditions.

To Be Titled

Forgetting about a troubling situation often attracts its resolution, as sudden good fortune comes about there while you had your attention focused elsewhere.

The Role of the Subconscious in Attraction

Our conscious self is what we are aware of. What we are unaware of for the most part is our subconscious.

The subconscious has many qualities; some good, others not so good. (That is for another discussion!) However, one interesting aspect and power of the subconscious is that it can cause us to take certain actions, or move in a certain direction without our conscious mind even perceiving its influence.

For example, sometimes the subconscious influence can compel you to take action, to go to places that have the net effect of changing your life forever.

Case Study:

In Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book,' Dan, the young hero of the story sincerely aspired to formulate an Artificial Intelligence system based on a deeper life knowledge.

As it turned out Life led him to it, when on a very special day his subconscious compelled him to take a walk and end up at Moe's Bookstore in Berkeley, where he reached up among the shelves causing a book to fall into his lap that gave him the profound answers and vast subtle knowledge he was seeking for his ambitious artificial intelligence system.

(From "Life Response in Work")

Comment: In a real-life experience, the subconscious compelled a man to visit a spiritual center, where he met an individual who told him about a work opportunity that would dramatically change the course of his life. In other words, his subconscious was aware of the lurking opportunity, and compelled the man to go to the spiritual center to discover the job opportunity that would enable him to meld his deepest work and spiritual aspirations.

Complementarity in Our Romantic (and Other) Relationships

"...The first rule of romance is the principle of complementarity which underlies all events and relationships in life. Everything in the world is a complement to everything else. Everything that happens to us, everyone we meet, represents a complement to some aspect of our being. Your partners, your friends, your family members—each represent an expression of something in you. Each presents you with the necessary conditions and opportunity to perfect a portion of your being. But they are all partial.

It is only the man-woman relationship that represents complete complementarity on all planes—physical, vital, mental and even spiritual. That is why no other relationship can generate the intensity, the ecstasy and the pain that romance can, none except the relationship between the soul and God, which is a higher, all-encompassing form of romantic relationship. But leaving that aside, the love between man and woman provides the greatest opportunity for enjoyment, fulfillment, growth and even spiritual development."

(from The Book, page 507, by Garry Jacobs)

Moving from Finite to Infinite View of Reality

The Divine spends Spirit Energy without suffering any diminish of its energy. That is the Reality of the Infinite dimension. The Divine is operating in Infinite dimension, whereas we are operating in finite dimension. The realities of Infinite Dimension are not real to the materialist who is operating in a finite dimension. Where is the meeting point for this two dimensions and how to reconcile this view? (Asokan Sir)

(Garry Jacobs answers)

- The Divine is Infinite. But it is not true to say that the Divine operates only in Infinite dimension. The Divine is the finite dimension. There is only One, that is the Divine. What we call finite is the frontal appearance of the Infinite. It's not a separate dimension. It's a separate way of looking. That's why He says, our view matters.

- We have to change our view. We think it is finite, we are poor, we have incurable disease and so forth and that's why we are limited using our senses but there is only One Omnipresent Reality. That is Infinite.

- The right question for us is how to bring forth the Infinite Divine in the finite which we see on the surface? The materialist only sees the frontal appearance of the Infinite and mistakes it as finite. There is nothing that is finite. The smallest infinitesimal thing is the Infinite.

- That's why He [Sri Aurobindo] says our view must change. How to change our view? The short answer for that is we have to come out of our ego, we have to discover the psychic.

The psychic is our True Self, which lives simultaneously, aware of the Infinity and aware of the finite appearances, the finite surface. We discover the psychic by getting rid of our ego, by universalizing by having goodwill, self-giving, sincerity and Truthfulness that will move us away from ego to that point in our soul, own being, where we can see the Infinite in the finite.

- So change of view is the answer. It is not necessary to leave the earth in order to realize Infinite. We can't rely on our senses. If we believe in the logic of mind, it will see the partial view and say that's it. But that's not the REALITY. We have to give up faith on mind's externalized way of seeing things and discover greater truth by identity.

- How do we do that? We have to give up our ego, move to the Psychic and we feel by identity the Truth of the Infinite, not only in ourselves but in other people. That's what Darcy discovered in P&P, he discovered infinity of Delight in Elizabeth.

(Paraphrased by Senthil Murugan)

Three Aspects of the One Reality: Transcendent, Universal, and Individual

Sri Aurobindo has written in paragraph no.3 that Spirit is God and in another paragraph no.6 He has mentioned Spirit is not the whole, only partial...how to reconcile both statements? (Nagarajan)

(Garry Jacobs answers)

- The Spirit, The Transcendent is only one expression of the Divine.
 - The Divine [we can also call it the Reality, or the All or Brahman] manifest in three forms, three aspects, the Individual, the Universal and the Transcendent.
 - Traditionally we call God the Transcendent aspect of the Divine.
 - When Sri Aurobindo speaks of Brahman, He does not mean just only of Transcendent. What He has said is, the Universe is Brahman and the Individual is also Brahman [the reality, the All].
 - We do not need to leave the individual or the Universe in order to meet the Transcendent. Traditionally we call that Moksha [liberation, merging into the spirit]. He says the Transcendent is within us, It has become the universe. They are not three separate things at all. They are three expressions of One Reality. The one expression is in Unmanifest, one expression is in Universal and the other expression is Individual. That's why He says, why do you want to worship God, when you can become God?
 - The Real God is not separate from us. It is our True Self. The Divine Life means we are Individual forms to manifest Divine's Will uniquely and infinitely.
 - For example, In Pride and Prejudice, all the individual characters are the individual forms that are manifesting the consciousness of Jane Austen in unique way.
- [paraphrased by SM]

Giving Attention to and Spending Money Attracts

Money responds to attention. Also, the more we spend, the more we receive, how to reconcile these two statements? (Sundaram)

(Garry Jacobs answers)

- These are Mother's principles that are contrary to Materialistic views. Money responds to attention, but attention is not material. Attention is consciousness. So the fact that money responds to attention is not the belief of the materialist, but it's our experience of the devotee. By giving attention to money or giving attention to anything, not just money, it will respond.
- More we spend, more we can get is a spiritual principle. This is the principle Karmayogi has written, the idea behind is, obviously in physical terms, when you give something, it goes away from you. It's a commonsense to the senses, to the materialist that if you spend more, you will have less. So the principle behind that is our hesitation to spend out of smallness, tightness and possessiveness should be overcome. However, spending more does not mean like Lydia who spent lavishly without sense of purpose.
- When Karmayogi says, spend more and more money will come, He doesn't mean waste money, he doesn't mean indulge yourself in lower desires. What He says is not to be attached or possessive of Money. When there is a real need, good cause, instead of possessing it, (limited view) spend freely and happily (freedom).
- When we give freely, Life will give freely to us. That is the spiritual principle which many devotees have seen which is a fundamental principle for abundant prosperity.

(paraphrased by SM)

Reader: Giving Attention will attract Appa told expecting will delay how to differentiate ... (but attention is not materials) need some clarification

Response: Giving attention to money is eg to make sure our accounts are up to date; or to focus our attention on cost overruns, on wastage, etc. Positive outcomes are thereby attracted. Expectation is to overconcern ourselves with a hoped-for outcome, for potential results; expecting something to happen, rather than letting it flow as it should. As a result, negative results tend to be attracted, including their reduction or cancellation.

Karmayogi's constant theme is that we energize the opposition by reacting to them or responding to them. It is a practical experience not only for the individual but also to the group (eg another nation, religion, etc.).

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

The intensity of the act of consecration determines the power and depth of the outcome.

The Mother and Kiki the Cat

I had a very sweet little cat, absolutely civilized, a marvelous cat named Kiki. He had a wonderful color and was just like velvet.

We used to have meditations and he would come, get up on a chair and go into trance; he would make the brusque movements of trance during the meditation. And I had to rouse him out of it, otherwise he wouldn't wake up!

This cat Kiki, was born in the house and had the habit all cats have, that is to say, if something moved, it played with that. Just then there was in the house a huge scorpion; as was its habit, the cat started playing with the scorpion. And the scorpion stung it.

But it was an exceptional cat; it came to me, it was almost dying, but it showed me its paw where it was bitten—it was already swollen and in a terrible state. I took my little cat—it was really sweet—and put it on a table and called Sri Aurobindo.

I told him, "Kiki has been stung by a scorpion, it must be cured." The cat stretched its neck and looked at Sri Aurobindo, its eyes already a little glassy.

Sri Aurobindo pulled up a chair, sat down facing the table and began to gaze at Kiki. This lasted about twenty or twenty-five minutes. Then suddenly the cat relaxed completely and fell asleep. When he woke up, he was entirely cured. Sri Aurobindo didn't touch him, he didn't do anything; he simply gazed at him.

In those days, I had the habit of holding a meditation in the room where Sri Aurobindo slept and it was regularly the same people who came; everything was arranged. But there was an armchair in a corner, in which this very cat always settled beforehand—it did not wait for anyone to get into the chair, it got in first itself! But it never came in until we were beginning the meditation. It settled there and remained there throughout the meditation.

And regularly it went into a trance! It was not sleeping, it was not in the pose cats take when sleeping: it was in a trance, it used to start up, it certainly had visions. And it let out little sounds. It was in a profound trance. It remained thus for hours together.

We indeed would finish but it remained, and it was only when I went to take it, called it in a particular way, brought it back into its body (to its normal body consciousness), that it consented to go away; otherwise no matter who came and called it, it did not move.

Well, this cat always had a great aspiration, a kind of aspiration to become a human being; and in fact, when it left its body (at death) it entered a human body. Only it was a very tiny part of the consciousness, you see, of the human being; this one was a cat which leaped over many births, so to say, many psychic stages (i.e. many stages of development of the mind and consciousness in animal births) to enter into contact with a human body. It was a simple enough human body, but still, all the same, (a human body). It happens... I think these are exceptional cases, but still it happens.

(The Mother)

Mother's New Year Message:

"This wonderful world of delight waiting at our gates for our call to come down upon earth."

To Be Titled

It is interesting that Jeff Bezos, head of Amazon, never sought profits, but rather continuously sank all available funds back into the company for further expansion. Now on paper he is the richest person in the world (worth $99B).

Integral Spirituality Versus Traditional Spirituality

There are so many differences between Integral spirituality and old spirituality that we can as well call Integral Spirituality a subject in itself and not just another variety of spirituality. Let us try to see some of those differences.

Old Spirituality	Integral Spirituality
Karma cannot be abolished but must be endured or suffered.	A touch of Mother's supramental grace can abolish and dissolve karma.
Money is to be shunned like a plague.	Money has to be earned and then transformed into a tool for Divine use.
Austerities are to be welcomed.	Austerities are a perversion and have no place in integral spirituality.
The body is to be neglected.	The body needs to be exercised regularly and treated as the temple of the Divine.
Women are to be shunned as evil.	Women have as much right as men to access integral spirituality.
Inner work alone is important and outer work is to be shunned as generator of karmas.	Outer work is equally important and is to be treated as the worship of the body.
Liberation or Moksha is the goal of yoga.	The liberated soul must keep on remaining on earth and work for transformation.
Rituals and mantras are very important.	Rituals are dead forms that imprison the soul and therefore are to be given up.
In the name of simplicity poverty is to be embraced.	There is nothing sacred about poverty. If prosperity brings out divine opulence it is to be welcomed.
Sannyasa is the ideal and the stage of householder is seen as an obstruction to spirituality.	One can remain in society and keep working without any attachments and that is a greater accomplishment than sannyasa.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Human and Divine ways of Looking at the World.

We all know that the Divine does not look at the world as we look at it and that many times it is totally different. Let us try to see how different are the human and Divine perceptions.

Human perception	Divine Perception
1. World appears to be made up of infinitely diverse and separate objects.	World is one unified whole and it maintains the diversity without losing unity.
2. Problems appear as bad in the eyes of human beings.	Problems are the means for awakening and improving one's consciousness.
3. Man seeks pleasure and avoids pain.	Divine offers a delight that is wholly above pleasure and pain.
4. War is a horrendous calamity.	It is the means the Divine uses to break human physicality.

5. Ego is something humanity cherishes.	Ego is the false self that has ousted the Divine Atman from its rightful place.
6. Money, sex and power are the three things that appeal to human ego.	These three are the temptations that hostiles use to maintain their grip over humanity.
7. Evil is something man detests.	Evil is a transitory phase in evolution that will disappear when the Divine Marvel discloses itself.
8. World is there for man to serve him and be at his disposal.	Nature takes humanity in its stride as it speeds along on its way to superhumanhood.
9. Man fears change and clings to tradition as it affords security.	The Supreme has given the green signal for supramental manifestation and nothing can arrest humanity's march towards that goal.
10. Science has solutions to all human problems.	Rationality has failed to solve world's problems and the world looks up to the supra rational to deliver results.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

The Truman Show

Aspiration is the source of Reality. This movie captures that concept beautifully. This movie can be seen as the Divine's play in our life -- it is not to test us, not to tease us, not to humiliate us, but to evolve out our true individuality and to manifest His plan in our lives. We can be part of it if we sincerely aspire for it. Instead most of the times we live our material life not only just knowing our character but also the purpose of other characters whom we interact with. This quest continues on and on for many life times.

Life can be a biggest helper on that context as it tries it's best to create situations for us so that we can reflect, turn back and go in the right direction. And so it creates failures, disappointments, problems, challenges, opportunities, luck, coincidences, synchronous events and so forth. At the same, we are surrounded by so many things, persons, situations which they continuously feed our ego and keep us in the surface, ignorant life. However, the man continues on this quest without conscious awareness but continues to evolve subconsciously.

This movie subtly asks us the question, what if we could lead your life consciously? What are we aspiring for? Who or What is our aspiring factor? (like Sylvia in that story)

A comparison of our life and Truman's life in that film:

No	Our Life	Truman's Life
1	We are the characters in the Divine's play	Truman is a real character in the TV Reality show
2	We are not aware of our purpose in life	Truman is not aware of his True life.
3	We are content with our surface ignorant life and live for it	Truman is content with his life in the Reality show believing that it is real
4	Grace (Life) comes to us in many forms to awaken us	Sylvia came to him and tried to explain it to him.

5	We believe in our finite limitations.	Truman believe in his limitation – fear of water
6	Life tries to awaken us in numerous ways, through synchronous events, and so forth.	Truman gets hints in his life—falling spot light, rain showers only on him, radio channel messages about himself and so forth.
7	When we act away different from our routine, life responds.	When Truman brings Meryl in a car ride against the plan, the obstacles he faces make him think.
8	When we try to bring higher consciousness to the established routine, we face resistance from the atmosphere, swabhava and so forth.	Whenever Truman tries to act against the routine he faces obstacles to put him back in the plan. (car ride, bus breakdown, entering new lift and so forth)
9	Despite obstacles, our quest for Divine life continues	Truman's quest for Sylvia continues
10	When we are stuck with the surface life, it is time for us to go within.	Truman reflects on all the events and obstacles and perceives that something is wrong.
11	When we take the right decision and act on it, it fulfills by itself.	Truman decides to risk his life and find out Sylvia. It is a quadrant II decision (Inner positive/Outer negative). As a result, after overcoming dramatic flood, fear of water, he finds out the real Truth that he is in a TV show indeed.
12	The Divine (in us) delights as we go through the process, and also at the end.	Not only Truman, the whole world rejoices at the end.

(Senthil Murugan)

Attitude of Client Attracts Negative Result

Sometimes there are negative responses from life that are difficult to correlate, while other times it is fairly easy to see the cause. Here is one case of the latter.

A consultant was working with a woman at her home on a software project she was engaged in for her company. She was very bright, energetic, and tough-minded. When the consultant made a small suggestion at the outset, she sternly dismisses it. The consultant perceived this as a flaw in her character, which seems to express in other ways as well.

The remainder of the session went well, except near the end when she could not get a key function to operate properly. As a result, she cried out in exasperation and frustration. With a deadline due the next morning, she found herself in a very difficult situation. Moreover, the consultant was unable to help her solve the issue.

And yet the consultant knew that the rigid unwillingness of the client at the outset was mirrored at the end by the failure of the software function to work properly. It was a negative life response to her rigid attitude expressed at the beginning of the session. Unfortunately, there was now nothing he could do to help her.

Self-Givingness, Acceptance, and Complementarity In Love Relationships

"...At the heart of romance lies a mystical secret. The real essence of permanent romance is self-giving. What works is not the personality profile. It is the willingness for genuine self-giving. When people first meet, they are willing to do everything and anything to please the other. That attitude and that effort bring out the best in the other person. Romance is possible not because the other person is perfect, but because we chose to regard them as perfect. We refuse to see anything else. We relate only to the soul which is divine. Romance is a chase in endless pursuit of something that does not exist for the sake of creating joy in the other person. Whatever the defects the other person possesses, the effort to give and to please will help one develop the complementary aspects of one's nature needed for one's own growth.

I am not saying that romance should be always blissful and harmonious. The closer you come, the deeper you relate, the more you will become conscious of the contradictions between you that can be converted into spiritual complements. Every time you see a defect in the other or have the urge to correct him, it is an opportunity for your own self-improvement and self-development. The more you are able to accept what is generally considered negative in the other person without reacting to it, preferably without even seeing it, the more positive your own inner being grows.

The spiritual truth is that the lover is the perfect complement attracted to you for your spiritual perfection. When your lover abuses you and you refuse to react or when your lover taxes your patience and you remain calm, you discover deeper, richer aspects of your own personality coming to the surface. No other person can provide you with the same breadth and intensity for spiritual progress. True romance helps you develop true individuality which is spiritual..."

(from the novel 'The Book', page 509 by Garry Jacobs)

Role of the Guru to Help Us Make the Very Best of Life

India is the only country where, in tradition the Guru-Sishya relation existed. Guru is the person who has realized the TRUTH and looks for another person who is truly dedicated in learning the TRUTH and the Guru transmits it to him. This person looks for someone and the chain continued for thousands of years without break.

A Guru is not just a teacher; he touches us where nobody else can. Saint Tulsidas has said without the Guru's guidance one cannot swim across the vast ocean of life. One may have all the powers on the earth but to cross mind one needs the direction of the Guru.

P.V. Sankar

Romance is a Quality Within

"...In the ultimate analysis, romance is not something you find in other people. It is something you create in yourself. It is not something you wait to happen to you. It is something you cause to happen by your aspiration, your choice. Romance is an expansion of personality that exceeds all normal limits. A person cannot just be romantic in one thing with one person. Romance is an attitude toward life, a seeking for the unknown. The aim of romance is a self-existent joy in ever-increasing intensity seeking to become infinite. There cannot be romance without some element of Infinity..."

(from 'The Book' page 510, by Garry Jacobs)

Essence of Education

The essence of education is knowledge of human accomplishment in every sphere of life, the essence of what is needed to be productive, successful, secure, content, healthy, responsible human beings building effective, responsible, harmonious sustainable societies.

(Garry Jacobs, WUC and WAAS Chief Executive Officer)

"Regression" of the Divine

In order for life in the universe, including ourselves to be progressing (the Evolution), the Divine had to "regress" from spirit to mind to dumb energy to first forms of matter at the dawn of time (the Involution). The two are complements of one another; inexorably inter-twined, inter-related.

Outer vs Inner Freedom

"Freedom is the final law and the last consummation – The Book"

"...But those words meant something very different to the two men who read them. For Ray's father, it had meant freedom from external oppression by tyrannical government.

To Dan, it had come to mean freedom from confinement and limitation by the tyranny of his own thoughts, opinions, attitudes and ego. Real freedom was not a state of politics. It was a state of consciousness.

The opposite of confinement was boundless expansiveness, endlessness, "Ananta" in Sanskrit. And he had learned that Ananta is akin to Ananda, absence of boundaries is the secret of unlimited delight..."

(From 'The Book', page 529 by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

If progress can't come through a positive movement, then it comes through a negative one.

To Be Titled

Trump represents the Darkness inside each of us. Let us discover what that is and overcome it. Then the world and we will further evolve through the positive in life; not the dark shadow.

Attention to Objects, Their Appreciation, and Response from Life

Give a physical object, such a machine, and it will soon start operating in ways you would not have imagined. Even a small, token effort of attention can attract that startling result, especially if the object has been neglected. It is the soul of the machine expressing its appreciation.

A man cleaned part of a vacuum cleaner that went beyond normal levels of attention, and the next day it seemed to clean everything in sight! He was utterly amazed at the results it produced for that small extra effort of attention and cleanliness.

Creating Silicon Valley-like Potentials

Q: How can we create Silicon Valley results in our somewhat backwards area?

A: Intuitivize something radically new in your field, catching the wave of social change, and then go for it. Now you have Silicon Valley like potentials!

Beyond Exclusivism to Embracing All

The step forward humanity must take IMMEDIATELY is a definitive cure of exclusivism. That's what is, in action, not only the symbol but also the effect of division and separation. They all say, "This and not that" – no, this AND that, and this too and that too, and everything at the same time. To be supple enough and wide enough for everything to be together. (The Mother, from Agenda, January 3, 1970)

To Be Titled

The power of execution has to come from above, like this, imperative (gesture of descent). And for that, this (Mother points to her forehead) has to keep still. (from Agenda)

Supramental Resolution Creates Something Beyond Merely Merging of the Two Opposites

... this [supramental] Consciousness, where the two contraries, the two opposites are united, the nature of both changes. They don't remain as they are. It's not that they unite and remain the same: the nature of both changes. And that's quite important. Their nature, their action, their vibration are completely different the minute they unite. (Mother, from Agenda, January 21, 1970)

The Cosmic Connection - The Work, Life Coming to You, Revealing Itself

As we go within, as we rise in consciousness and when the time and the atmosphere are ripe, the work that needs to be done will be revealed by life, by itself.

In the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, Prof. Stearne was introduced to the readers in the very early chapters, as He had presented His speech at the AI conference. Afterwards, there was not a clue of what He was doing for the next several years. When the time was right and when the atmosphere was rich, life brought the MAI partners to Him without any effort on His part..

It was the same case for the MAI partners. Despite their continued progress, the threat of adversaries continued to increase. When they were stuck with not knowing what to do next, life brought them to Prof. Stearne. It was a mutual need for both. Without each other they would not have achieved what they had dreamed of.

In fact, what had happened was a COSMIC ACT, which brought the right parties in alignment and harmony in order to manifest a greater Reality, and to manifest the Spirit in Life.

(SM)

To Be Titled

Socialism is likely coming to the world, but not the form where everyone works for the government; rather a variation of the Scandinavian model, with the Human Individual, not just money, at the center of a New Paradigm of Economics.

To Be Titled

If we examine life, we can witness the High devolving into the Low. Eg in India the ancient spiritual value of harmony devolving into conformity; and in America the value of Individuality devolving into selfishness and lack of self-control. Hopefully, reversals are now in the cards for both.

Perfection Factors

How can we know the factors that we want to maximize in any work?

In any work we can list out all of the key factors that lead to perfection, and then measure to what degree we have reached the high end of the scale.

When we reach the highest level on each factor, we approach Perfection. As we approach and attain perfection, we witness startling positive conditions move in our direction.

In business we call it "Standards of Performance," though it applies to any type of work.

The Divine vs Our Solving the World's Problems

The Divine could easily solve all of the problems in the world. However, It wanted us to learn that process, so we could do it ourselves. What good would it be if we as ignorant beings inherited God's accomplishment? Instead, we can evolve and learn the process and acquire the powers to create a divine-filled universe and life. As a result, there can be more diversity for its accomplishment, creating a richness of possibility that even the Divine does not inherently possess.

Irrationality to Rationality to Intuition

Irrationality is increasingly being left behind. Yet, rational thinking, though certainly preferable, is itself becoming the status quo. Replacing it is Intuition of knowledge without thought, with its vast capacity to instantaneously evoke the Breakthrough New.

New Education Paradigm

A new paradigm is urgently needed to shift emphasis to student-centered, active, collaborative learning, critical and original thinking and creativity, and knowledge that is value-based, multidisciplinary, contextual and integrated. (WAAS, WUC)

To Be Titled

When we are ready inside, life brings us the connections we need that will take us to the next level.

To Be Titled

Being with Mother and observing the Leela [play of existence], we can understand the purpose of every movement of our life and everything happenings in the world.

(Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

Methods of Consecrating One's Self to Mother's Life

Q: How can I release myself completely to the life as a new individual in Mother...how can I really consecrate myself to the Divine...

A: Though it sounds obvious, you start from where you are. You build things up gradually from your current psychological status.

From Karmayogi's perspective, you practice the methods of non-reaction, taking others' point of view, and consecrate activities. To do that regularly you build up an inner life; deepening the poise. The more you practice Appa's methods, the more you build up the inner life, and vice versa.

Each time you practice restraint, non-reaction, and taking others viewpoint, life moves in your favor. I have seen incredible results by not reacting to the intensities of others or circumstance. The world really moves to the positive through that single method. Life responds in miraculous ways. Patience is part of that process.

You thus build up these little victories. It gains momentum. Increasingly you see points, feel moments where you can surrender to Mother.

These are inner victories; like outer victories in sports, but they are inside, and they build up. You are then living more deeply. You also more easily relate to others. The ego begins to dissolve. The Separation barrier - between you and life, you and others - breaks down. You feel what others feel, and you genuinely connect with them. You really, sincerely care about them.

On your side, your energy build up; you become energized by small things, big things, anything.

Of course you work on your weak points as well, and understand and consecrate them.

When bad things happen, you try to see the inner association. etc.

You are also always examining your attitudes, and make them pure. You are constantly catching your negative attitudes towards others, towards life, towards work, towards self, and making them positive. Life responds with positive conditions everywhere!

Physical Transformation Process

The biological process of overcoming limits of the physical is to direct the Force into the cells of the body so that it no longer believes in the inevitability of pain, disease suffering, and death. Eventually new organs and biological systems take shape.

To Be Titled

Only when we have the full mastery, full knowledge of Supermind can we truly, clearly, perfectly know what to do at the next moment.

The Supreme, Infinity, and the Individual

-The origin and purpose of true Individual is that the Supreme is Infinite, and He wants to manifest Infinity in the universe. He cannot do that if we are all the same.

Infinity means infinite variety; an infinite complexity in order to manifest Himself. That's the role of the Individual in the universe. I.e. each of us is manifesting a truth of the Supreme. Even if we are infinite in numbers, and even if in each moment we manifest a different truth, we can never exhaust the infinite truths of the Infinite. It's multidimensional Infinity.

-The individual is the Divine's instrument; rather it is Supreme's form to express the Infinite creative potential of Himself in every moment of time, in every point in space, in every individual center differently. (paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Being a serious practicing Mother devotee requires a persistent and sometimes intense courage and bravery, as you are continually challenged by the needs of the effort of transformation.

Overcoming Ignorance and Separativeness, and Becoming One with the Divine Reality

Q: What separates us from the Divine? Is it Ego?

A: I would say Ignorance separates us from the Truth of existence. Ignorance of our true nature. Ignorance of the nature of the divine, of the Reality, of our purpose, of the parts of our being, of time and space, etc. In essence, everything!

And overcoming Ego - and its sense of separateness from others and life - is the antidote, the central way to come out of that Ignorance.

How do we then overcome Ego? By practicing Karmayogi's methods, like consecration, non-reaction, taking the other person's point of view, mental silence, and self-givingness. Through these methods Ego dissolves, and we begin to perceive the true Truth of existence, as the separation from life dissipates and our many-sided Ignorance fades away.

When ego breaks down, we also perceive ourselves as one with others, and as a result joy spreads.

Also as we shed ego, we move in harmony with the flow of life; accepting and embracing any and all of its movements.

As we unseparate ourselves from the world around us, we also connect with the Divine reality itself, that is behind and supports all existence. We even begin to see life itself as Divine.

Further still, we perceive the divine as ourselves (the spiritual Individual). We also perceive the Universe as divine, including society, and the unfoldings of life within it. Finally, we perceive the very essence of the Divine, which is the Transcendent spirit behind all existence. All of these are perceived together as expressions of the one divine Reality

This is how the "supramental being" perceives life. The Individual, the Universal, and the Transcendent as one Integral Reality. He perceives the true nature of the Divine; no longer hindered by ego and separateness and Ignorance. He lives in the Integral Truth of things.

And so every day we can daily take small steps in that direction; to become one with the Divine Reality.

To Be Titled

If a sincere, dedicated, insightful Mother devotee puts out a thought, a novel idea, a masterful solution, it unexpectedly spreads throughout the world, often solving the seemingly unsolvable problem it addressed.

To Be Titled

Rain is symbol of Grace. Flood is indicator of Grace unchanneled or resisted, causing suffering.

Infinite Power of Valuing 'Continuous Development'

Jeff Bezos the CEO who continuously re-invests Amazon's relatively meager profits every year is now the richest man EVER. That is the power of working for the sake of the value of 'Continuous Development', instead of focusing on harboring profits. It is a level of faith in the future potential in one's field, area, or domain. The result: Infinite wealth from no profits, or even loss!

To Be Titled

When you take a keen interest in a matter you never thought of or witnessed before, watch how life soon presents you with iterations of it from out of the blue in the hours and days that follow. If you catch the correlation, it will astound and energize.

To Be Titled

True love is greater than attachment, in that the connection of giving is unconditional. As a result, there are never disappointments; only joy.

To Be Titled

It is amazing what you can accomplish if you do not care who gets the credit. (Harry Truman)

Aim of Life is to Manifest Divine; Happiness Follows

Q: Is the aim of life to be happy?

A: That is just putting things topsy-turvy. The aim of human life is to discover the Divine and to manifest it. Naturally, this discovery leads to happiness, but this happiness is a consequence, not an aim in itself. And it is this mistake of taking a mere consequence for the aim of life that has been the cause of most of the miseries afflicting humanity.)

(Mother, from Agenda, March 28, 1970)

End of Pain and Its Cause

... physically, the body's whole experience now is that it only has to ... to give itself unreservedly, to abandon itself totally to the divine Presence, and the pain, any pain at all, disappears. ...

It's not at all that it turns into something else: it disappears. And on a physical level, it's more important because, along with the pain, the CAUSE disappears too. Which means that the disorder that had occurred is dissolved, it no longer exists.

(Mother, from Agenda, March 28, 1970)

What 'AIS' is in The Book (within the Novel 'The Book')

[note: In Garry Jacobs epic mystic novel 'The Book', we witness the astonishing experiences of the MAI company, who utilize an expert/artificial intelligence system that can solve any problem in the world. They offer this service for a fee, with dramatic effect in the novel.

They also will come to offer the underlying AI engine as a free product to the world. This is called 'AIS'. It is the inference engine of application within "the Book", which itself holds the cosmic knowledge described in the novel 'The Book'.]. -RP

--

What is AIS?

(from the novel)

"...It is the embodiment of the knowledge of The Book. The Book is a single object written in a philosophical language that will be unintelligible and inaccessible to most people.

AIS is an operational product that can be reproduced at no cost and distributed to every individual and organization in the world.

AIS is the power of The Book made manifest and practically usable by anyone anywhere regardless of their level of education or present standard of living.

The Book contains the knowledge of accomplishment. AIS converts that knowledge into usable power.

The Book is akin to the theory of electricity. AIS is like the electrical power plants that apply the theory to light and energize the whole world. The difference is that there are a few thousand power plants in the world, whereas we have the capacity to infinitely multiply AIS and provide a power plant for personal accomplishment to every man, woman and child on earth..."

(From 'The Book', page 314, by Garry Jacobs)

(AIS = Advanced Intelligent System. It is an artificial intelligence product by the MAI organization) -SM

Small Predecessor Gesture Indicates Something Larger to Come

A woman was in dire financial straits, yet a relatively well to do friend came forward and helped her make a great physical move from one city to another, and also paid her back due storage fees. It was a saving grace for the woman from this generous benefactor.

One day the woman recalled a much earlier incident when she remembered the first time she met the benefactor woman. She was going to her first guild meeting in her new town, and as she was about to enter the locale for the first time, she realized she had no cash on her. Fortunately, at that very moment, a stranger came along and asked the greeter at the guild to let the woman in for free. That stranger turned out to be the benefactor who would help the woman greatly in the future.

It was what we call a "predecessor" event of what was to come. If we examine our own lives, we may notice a similar dynamic; how an initial circumstance involved with a party is an indicator of something larger or more sustaining to come. It occurs very often, though we ordinarily lack the subtle sense to perceive it.

Life Response Power Of A Decision That Overcomes Reluctance

"Dan and (Kurt) Levin were discussing a passage in The Book about the creative power of will. Dan suggested that Levin consult the Archives to see what it had to say on the subject. Searching the Archives was still a rather cumbersome procedure at that time because the articles had been collected and bound as they were discovered on the Internet, rather than organized subject-wise.

Kurt had already discovered that searching the Archives could be a laborious task and had vowed to take up the indexing project himself at the first opportunity, but so far there did not seem to be many such opportunities at MAI. Till then he would just have to do things the hard way, so he went over to the bookcase and simply picked out one of the volumes at random and sat down with it on the living room couch.

Without paying much attention to what he was doing, he opened the volume in the middle of the book and glanced down at the page. Staring back up at him was the title of an article in bold font, 'The Power of Decision'. Kurt exclaimed so loudly that it distracted Dan from the passage he was reading in The Book. Looking up, he asked Kurt what he was exclaiming about and Kurt explained.

Inadvertently, he had selected the very volume and page which contained the article he was looking for. On hearing him, Dan put down The Book and came over to the couch to listen to the passage as Kurt read it out. The article gave precisely the explanation that they were looking for.

Levin explained. "I took a decision and evoked a life response. When you suggested I consult the Archives, my first thought was that it might take hours to find the passage we were looking for. But then I decided to brush that thought aside and attack the problem, because I believed it might provide us with an important clue. I decided to find the article and my decision led me instantly to the place. That is what the passage means when it says, "A decision has the capacity to evoke a life response". This is a life response!"

(From 'The Book', page 351-352, by Garry Jacobs)

[Archives - The huge collection of articles which MAI partners had gathered from the internet over a period of time which elaborated the knowledge of the Book (in the novel The Book) with many practical concepts, ideas and examples.]

To Be Titled

Knowledge is great; however Ignorance is greater as it has the capacity through its reversal to quickly reach INTEGRAL Knowledge.

Comment: Sri Aurobindo says ignorance becomes greater than knowledge because ignorance is created by knowledge when it has exhausted all its possibilities as knowledge and ventures to create something greater outside knowledge and achieves it in its opposite (Karmayogi)

We see this in the character of Dantes in Count of Monte Cristo who is falsely imprisoned, in his ignorance experiences the peak of suffering, and comes out the other side with great Knowledge (learned from saint-like Abbe Faria while in prison) and Power (discovery of vast hidden wealth after he escapes).

Resource Misuse in Another Perceived in Self

Whatever fault we are seeing in others, there will be a drop of the same fault in us, in some other ways.

I used to complain about my mother that she is purchasing things she likes, but not using it properly/fully.

Suddenly I realized I have the same habit, BUT PURCHASING BOOKS, NOT READING IT COMPLETELY.

Thanks to Sri Karmayogi's teachings about Mother's principles

One of my WhatsApp group friends shared from Karmayogi's writings that "Buying books and not reading Will stop the flow of money. It is wasting resources"

(Kosalai)

Sincere, Emotional Gratitude Makes Life Respond

From the beginning, the idea of building the Cloister had been Anya's and she insisted on designing it and supervising its construction according to her own conception. She argued that if Dan was going to be living at MAI twenty-four hours a day to avoid the dangers of living alone, he must be provided a suitable environment for both work and relaxation. She came up with the idea of converting the still vacant fifth floor of their offices into a living space for Dan. The top floor had obviously been built with some special purpose in mind.

Anya claimed the design was intended to create a rich, warm and colorful contrast to the stark utilitarian offices below where they spent their days. In spite of repeated jokes by the partners about her architectural prowess, the design proved so successful that the partners found themselves naturally gravitating there to refresh their energies.

By mid-December Dan was able to move upstairs to the new residential facility which was officially referred to as the Cloister, but which Anya spoke of as Dan's Ashram.

[In an instance] Dan casually mentioned to Levin how deeply appreciative he was of Anya's effort to design such a pleasant living environment for him at MAI. Levin responded half-jokingly that if Dan's words were really heart-felt, Anya should walk in the room the next second so he could thank her personally. Dan laughed at the notion of a test, but he insisted that he really did feel deeply grateful to her for overriding his objections to the Cloister. Before he had finished the sentence, the living room door opened and Anya walked in. She greeted them with a sweet smile. She found them both sitting speechless with strange expressions on their faces.

Frowning slightly, she asked whether she had come at a time when they did not want to be interrupted. Dan assured her that quite to the contrary there was no one in the world they would have rather had walk in the room at that moment. They all laughed. Then Dan remarked, "You may not know it, Anya, but you have just corroborated a profound truth of life. You arrived just at the instant when I was telling Kurt how deeply grateful I feel to you for creating the Cloister."

(From 'The Book', excerpts from pages 351-352, by Garry Jacobs)

Energy Shifts of Individuals in a Life Response Event

We can understand the underlying reasons for a Life Response outcome in terms of the ENERGY LEVELS of the participants; whether positive or negative, increased or decreased.

Take the example in Pride and Prejudice. In one scene, Wickham enters the Bennet house. There one of the sisters Eliza is smitten with him, though he has proven to be a treacherous individual. The overall energies for Eliza can thus be perceived as moving to the negative; i.e. they are depleters of positive outcomes.

Also note that over time Eliza has shown great love for her sister Jane, hoping she marries soon and to a good man. Here energies are fully positive when it comes to Jane.

Interestingly what happens next is startling, and a response from life; a negative one in this case. When Wickham arrives at the Bennet home, there is suddenly word that Bingley, whom Jane is in love with, has moved onto London with his entourage without notifying her. She is thus crushed at the apparent end of their mutually loving relationship.

What is most significant for the purpose of this discussion, i.e. as it relates to Life Response, is the fact that the Bennets find out about this at the very moment Wickham enters the Bennet house.

We can say that the 100% positive energy Eliza has toward Jane dissipates to a degree when Wickham enters the house, as Eliza is taken by a handsome scoundrel. The dissolved positive energy toward Jane manifests in the form of Bingley leaving, a crushing blow to Jane.

Thus, we are able to see how life responds to shifts in our energies; in this case a shift to the negative in relation to a beloved sister that attracts the apparent ruination of her relation to her beloved.

Thus, we can see any Life Response event in terms of Energy Increase or Dispersion (as the case here) among the key participants. That way we can more deeply see what caused the response. It is relatively easy to see that when Wickham arrives a negative response follows in the form of Bingley leaving. However, deeper still, we can see how Eliza's positive energies got squandered in relation to her sister when Wickham arrived, which attracted the bad news about Bingley.

This Energy Analysis of the participants explains life response that much more deeply and insightfully. This energy view can be applied to any Life Response outcome. All we have to do is look a little deeper, look into the nature of the principal's energies (i.e. interests, aspirations, desires, motives, values, etc.), and see how they shift, or increase or decrease across the event horizon.

Following What Society vs What Mother Asks of the Devotee

The devotee of Mother shifts from being preoccupied with the society to focusing on what Mother wants of us. I.e.-

- not to be concerned with what others think of us, expect of us
- not to try to please others so they will like us
- not to go to temple because that's what the society demands of us
- not to be obsessed with marrying off children so we look good in the eyes of others
- not to study to become an engineer to please the family
- and so forth, ad infinitum.

... but rather do what Mother asks of us, in order to grow in consciousness; in order to partake in, play a vital role in the progress and evolution of humanity.

To Be Titled

To the degree we focus ourselves on the demands and influences of the society, we are controlled by the society. To the degree we give ourselves to Mother, we gain full control over life.

-When we surrender to the society, we surrender to Life. When we surrender to Mother we gain the power OVER life.

To Be Titled

Perpetually focusing on the negative continuously attracts more of it.

Comment: Q: "Perpetually focusing on the negative attracts more of it." That means if we find a negative in others how should we react? I understand no reaction. But if the characteristics or behavior bothers how should we react?

A: Control one's self and not react to the intensities of others. No reaction in one's physical action, in one's vital emotion, even in one's mental thought. Startling positive conditions will invariably follow.

By raising one's consciousness over time, one learns not to react on a regular basis. Also, when you experience the startlingly positive life response to one's non-reaction, you tend to remember your past positive experiences when employing the methods, and therefore practice it that much more often.

I've seen horrible conditions melt away, and bad-acting people change their ways or even disappear from the scene because one took to non-reaction. It's an opportunity for the miraculous!

Nature of the Secret Knowledge

The Secret Knowledge is to perceive spirit and life integrally entangled, comprising the Reality. The Secret Knowledge is to perceive the spirit unfolding in life, furthering the evolution.

The Secret Knowledge is to have the wisdom of the nature of the Reality, the All, and know the means of furthering the evolution, enabling the infinite to arise from the finite in life.

To Be Titled

All disease is a means towards some new joy of health, all evil and pain a tuning of Nature for some more intense bliss and good, all death an opening on widest immortality. Why and how this should be so, is God's secret which only the soul purified of egoism can penetrate. (Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

"Life response is a mathematical formula for what one aspires to."
(from 'The Messages' in 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

Mathematics

Mathematics is the Queen of Sciences. There is no object in life that cannot be described mathematically.

-Mathematics is the very first codification of the mental formulation of consciousness. Physics and mathematics represent two branches of knowledge and naturally get intertwined at their origin.

-Mathematics has reduced the laws of Nature to formulas, often to Numbers.

-Mathematics is the form of Spirit in NUMBERS.

-Mathematics can represent any fact of life or truth of philosophy. It represents the Absolute by Infinity.

-Sri Aurobindo speaks of a mathematical formula of creation -- one in terms of yoga -- and says it is intelligible only to Him.

-By applying Sri Aurobindo to all other sciences as well as life, that field can be reduced to a formula.

-Life Response represents that idea about the movements of life.

-Life events lend themselves to prediction because they are movements according to measurable rules.

(Karmayogi)

Overview of the New Education

The New Education enables-

- the ability to truly think instead of parroting information
- understanding, not memorization
- application to life issues, not mere static knowledge.
- the ability to self-learn and be infinitely self-motivated to learn
- full development of personality and character of the individual
- the development of full capacities necessary for achievement in life
- the support of true individuality of the student
- the recognition and catering to the aspirations of the Soul and True Self of the individual
- the acquisition of a knowledge that is dynamic in that it also has the full experience of it
- acquisition of deep life knowledge. eg analysis of student's aspiration, attitudes, values, and ways to uplift them
- the student as the center of learning, with the teacher as helper
- the utilization of the latest technology that is live, dynamic, supportive
- the capacity to integrate knowledge from one field of inquiry with all others
- continuous learning of what thinking and knowledge acquisition truly is

--an understanding of the infinite potentials of life, and the infinite potential of the individual student

Life, Equilibrium, and Change

"Life acts at every moment to preserve and restore equilibrium. Where the force for change is weak, life overcomes it and restores the equilibrium at the present level. Where an evolutionary force for change has sufficient intensity, it disrupts the equilibrium at the present level and life rises to restore it at a higher level." (from the 'Archives' in 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

--

Life always seeks equilibrium. We can say that in this dynamic the equilibrium is restored through a Response from life.

Suppose a man has a deep aspiration to link his career to his ideals. That is a substantial rise in consciousness. It also shifts life out of equilibrium.

A short while after, he casually meets with someone about a great opportunity that would meld paying work with his highest ideals. It changes his life forever. This response from life restores the equilibrium, but now at a much higher level.

To Be Titled

Sarcasm is inability or unwillingness to express a truth with rational, persuasive thought.

To Be Titled

When we are in touch with our psychic being, our evolving soul, we experience our deepest, truest self from which originates our most original, unique, and dynamic thoughts and feelings and actions of being.

Mental-Induced Life Response

The Mental is the plane of information and knowledge. It includes our ability to think and reason, to conceptualize things, and to aspire and have intention to have things come about. It is also where our personal values and beliefs reside.

We will see that when we take to certain mental movements, life will respond in kind. That includes having an aspiration to accomplish a goal, an intense will and decision to achieve.

E.g. the moment one individual focused on accomplishing a matter instead of ignoring it, the opportunity suddenly came to him.

Also at the Mental plane resides our cherished values and beliefs.

We have often see that when people take to higher values, such as Honesty or Respecting Others, or Valuing the Customer to know end, life quickly responds.

Formula for Accomplishment from America's Success Story

[what made America great?]

"... Two things—an indomitable energy and a capacity for practical organization. Energy alone can create a revolution, but it cannot build a nation. A social structure and infrastructure were needed to channel that energy effectively.

Europe was the birthplace of mind and science. America's genius was in converting mental truths into practically useful technologies and forging new types of social organizations to make them effective — a democratic federal system of government, transcontinental railways, land grant colleges, state universities, community colleges, the first national telephone system, mass production on moving assembly lines, standardization of parts, mail order catalogs, suburban shopping centers, multi-divisional corporations, commercial airlines, drive-in restaurants, amusement parks, instant printing, overnight delivery, credit cards, ATMs, HMOs, retirement communities, computer networks, venture capital, mutual funds, call centers, e-mail, e-commerce, e-money – not all of them were invented in the USA, but all of them took root here and were absorbed as integral parts of the social infrastructure faster and more fully than anywhere else in the world.

Social organization in Europe was designed to preserve the status quo. Social organization in America was designed for maximum individual accomplishment without regard to status.

Energy directed by an aspiration for high accomplishment became the Force for unparalleled material and social accomplishment. That force was transformed by practical organization and technology into productive Power. That power, channeled through skilled, educated, hardworking people with a flair for invention and innovation has produced all this material abundance and set an example for the whole world..."

(From 'The Book', page 169, by Garry Jacobs)

New Human Orientation and Functioning

The New Functioning in life is a total moment-to-moment reliance on the Supramental power, Mother's Consciousness; no longer depending on the mind, one's feelings, desires, intentions, et al. It is a totally new formation of the human being; a radical Reorientation and dependence, experienced at every moment.

Eg a device is not working properly and you have to remove it. However it is tangled up in a mesh of wires. In ordinary life you struggle to you find the right wire to remove. On the other hand by simply opening to Mother, the supramental power you instantly see the wire you are looking for and then easily remove it.

Or your computer does not start up correctly, which causes one's mind to be engaged in a myriad of ways to try to solve the problem. Instead you put your hand on the computer and call in Her Force, and this time the system starts up perfectly. Countless hours of struggle have been avoided.

In every aspect of your moment-to-moment life, you rely on Her. No mental interference, no anguish or pain, just a never-ending evocation of right conditions.

To Be Titled

... true divine Compassion ... is the total understanding that everyone is what he must be. (the Mother, from Agenda)

Golda Meir: Power of Strength, Courage, and Determination to Accomplish, that Attracts

"...The British had announced they were ending their occupation of Palestine within six months and setting up two states, one Jewish and one Palestinian in their place. Already fighting raged between the two peoples, but everyone knew that as soon as the British left, total warfare would break out.

[At that crucial time, the Jews were very much in need of money for their survival.] Kaplan, the unofficial treasurer of the nascent state, had just returned from an unsuccessful fund raising effort to America. He could not obtain commitments for more than five million dollars in donations during the coming months. David Ben Gurion [who became the first prime minister of Israel] knew they needed at least five times that amount. Without it, there would be no Israel. So he decided to fly to America immediately and make a direct appeal.

A colleague, Golda Meir, daughter of a Ukrainian carpenter, insisted that Ben Gurion was needed in Palestine. She offered to go in his place. She got on the next plane with only the dress she was wearing and ten dollars in her purse. When she arrived in the USA, she learned of a national assembly of Jewish organizations convened in Chicago. She called the organizers and told them she was coming and they would have to find a place for her on the agenda. She told the assembly that the entire survival of the Jewish race was at stake and she required twenty-five million dollars immediately. She raised $1.5 million in a single night and before she left America she had commitments for fifty million dollars, ten times what Kaplan had obtained, twice what Ben Gurion said they required and three times the annual oil revenues of Saudi Arabia at the time. A carpenter's daughter had changed the fate of Israel.

Golda's strength, courage and determination were inspiring. It was a story of ultimate accomplishment, not only for Golda as an individual, but for a whole nation..."

(from 'The Book', pages 216-217, by Garry Jacobs)

Comment: Because future Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel made the extra determined and courageous effort to secure the funds, life cooperated and brought her far more than she and others expected. As a result, she enabled Israel to get established.

To Be Titled

The Divine not only has an intention for Life on earth, but also has an intention for each one of us in our lives.

To Be Titled

The real measure of what you have discovered Inside is what you experience outside in your life in response.

To Be Titled

The first principle of a Consciousness Approach to Business Management is that the outer reflects the inner. I.e. we can move the outer life through movements of higher consciousness within us.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo says that Supermind has descended here on earth, is everywhere, is in everything, and is determining all things at every moment.

To Be Titled

Mother said that at every moment it is always the best thing that is happening. She then added, but that doesn't mean that it couldn't be better. (And that can happen because at any moment we have the capacity to raise our consciousness.)

To Be Titled

The difficulties, problems that we experience in our lives is not the result of Life trying to punish us. Life only has only one motive: to awaken the awaken Divine in us; the Spirit in our lives. At every moment life brings to us that which can awaken that Consciousness.

To Be Titled

At every moment life is bringing us what we need for our progress.

Accelerating Actions of the Supramental Power

Q: With all the problems around us, who is aware of the Supramental power that Sri Aurobindo brought down to earth?

A: In South India and among isolated people around the world there is a rapidly growing awareness. But increasingly there is also a semiconscious or subconscious feeling that something is afoot, is awakening and being born in the world, despite all of the problems. (The problems may in fact even be accelerating that higher consciousness.)

Personally I feel the atmosphere increasingly densifying with that supramental power and action. Startling things were always there when opening to Mother and Her supramental power, but now that is rapidly increasing; miracles are becoming VERY common for those open to that Consciousness. Constant Consecration (opening to Mother) has become the great means of evoking the continuously Miraculous.

How Significant Individuals and Society Itself Work Together to Create Great Achievements in the World

"...All great accomplishments were in essence accomplishments of all humanity, built on the foundation of cumulative achievements in the past, yet often he observed a single individual or a small group played a crucial role in bringing them to fruition. It had become fashionable to praise the outstanding individual and forget the collective that made him what he was. Bill Gates did not make the revolution in personal computing. The revolution made him. There would have been no revolution in France without Rousseau and Voltaire, but there would have been no Napoleon without the French Revolution. They created each other.

The precise relationship between the two—the individual and the collective—was a missing link in their [AIS] formula and Golda's [Golda Mei of Israel] story contained a key. One person, totally determined, thoroughly motivated, identified with the wider interests of the entire society, rather than merely selfish, narrow interests, could make the difference between victory and defeat, high accomplishment and failure. In effect, her personality became a vehicle for the social aspiration and social energy to express itself in action.

The incident revealed the link between the decisions and actions of an individual, the initiative of an organization and the destiny of an entire society. It seemed to combine and integrate in some manner elements of the decision-making matrix, the power of organization, energy conversion and social integration. Dan wondered whether Golda had understood the process that governed her remarkable accomplishment. She had done it, but did she understand how?

Rising from bed, he turned on the light and reached for The Book on his night table. He flipped through the pages to a chapter entitled The Individual and read these lines.

The individual rises on the strength of endowments drawn from the collective. The collective fulfills itself through the differentiation of the individual.

Society fulfills itself through the uniqueness of its individual members. The individual fulfills itself by universalizing to identify with the whole society. Both give expression to something beyond either of them which is trying to manifest..."

(From 'The Book', page 217, by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Over-stress weakens the subtle outer sheath that can keep illness at bay. It creates inner disturbance that weakens the nerves, allowing illness to take root.

To Be Titled

The first thing the physical consciousness must realize is that all the difficulties we encounter in life arise from the fact that we do not rely exclusively on the Divine to find the help we need.

(Mother, from Agenda, February 1, 1972)

Power of Work & Organizational Values that Rapidly Turned Around Chrysler in the 1970s

In late 1970's, Chrysler corporation, America's biggest car manufacturing company was on the edge of bankruptcy. The media carried interviews with experts who predicted that Chrysler would fold within a maximum of six months. Lee Iacocca took over as Chairman of Chrysler in 1979 at the height of the crisis and applied to the US Government for loan guarantees in order to persuade the banks to extend additional credit. The government put up guarantees equivalent to $1.5 billion to be repaid in ten years. What followed was corporate history.

In 1982 the company started making profits. In 1984 alone it earned $2.4 billion, which was more money than it had earned in all the fifty-nine previous years of its existence. That brought its three total earnings to $3.3 billion. From 1979 to 1981, Chrysler lost an average of three million dollars every day and from 1982 to 1984 it earned a net profit of three million a day, a net improvement of six million a day or $6.6 billion in three years. By the end of 1984 the company was able to announce retirement of the government loan guarantees seven years ahead of schedule.

How did he accomplish?

Ray [one of MAI partner] observed from his research that Iacocca had been applying the energy formula in all that he did at Chrysler. He may not have been conscious of it, but his actions were fully consonant with the knowledge inherent in the formula. That helped explain why Chrysler's performance had defied the predictions of all the experts.

Iacocca had found the key to not only conserving energy but multiplying it at various levels of the company. Iacocca had focused on elevating the company's performance on key work and organizational values. He improved discipline, increased freedom for individual initiative, raised product quality, accelerated product development, insisted on close coordination between functions, enhanced service to customers, collaborated with the unions through a partnership with the United Auto Workers, communicated frankly and openly with shareholders and the public-at-large, etc. It gave every employee at every level of the company a higher standard of performance to which they could aspire and a personal means by which they could directly participate in the turnaround of the whole company. Iacocca engaged his people, released their energy, captured their imaginations with a new vision of what the company could become. And what they conceived as possibility, they converted into actuality within a phenomenally short span of time.

(from 'The Book' pages 148, 160, by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The more you move the conversation or explanation away from one's ego and toward the Harmonic, the greater the result.

Instructor Perceives Negative Correspondence in Himself

When negatives come your way, make the effort to discover if there is something parallel in your own behavior that attracted it.

In a variety of ways an instructor was being ignored by members of the training company he contracted with. Eg at the Christmas gathering, he practically felt invisible.

Years later he thought about that situation and perceived the connection between his own negative attitude at the time and the negative condition he found himself in. He recalled that when his training manager asked him to provide instruction on a particular topic the company needed instruction in, he ignored the request, focusing instead on the subject where he was already strong. A few months later, his relationship with the company collapsed.

In essence, he had Ignored the manager's request, and he in turn attracted conditions where he felt Ignored and out of place in the organization.

As we see, If you examine a negative unfolding in your life, you can correlate it to something wanting within yourself. Perceiving that correspondence can reveal similar negative associations, which can in turn lead one to understand the underlying cause of one's greatest failures and difficulties in life.

When such a series of associations becomes crystal clear, and one offers the entire matter to the Higher Power, you can suddenly attract startling positive conditions that can turn your life around or take you to an entirely new level of success.

To Be Titled

Small things carefully attended to, instead of being ignored, can evoke big responses from life.

To Be Titled

See the truths within the Truth, but also the truths buried within the Falsehood. It is another shading of supramental perception.

To Be Titled

Ignorance is partial knowledge. There is an element of Truth buried even in the most extreme error and falsehood.

(From 'The Book', page 212, by Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The wealth of the earth must be used for the transformation of the earth. (the Mother, from Agenda)

To Be Titled

Whatever sufferings come on the path, are not too high a price for the victory that has to be won and if they are taken in the right spirit, they become even a means towards the victory. (Sri Aurobindo)

Comment: Sri Aurobindo's remark is focused on those who actively seek the transformation of life on earth, not for the average person. He says that true seekers will understand their own suffering in the context of the reward of actively participating in the evolution of life on earth.

--

Eg Mother constantly felt pain due to negative influence of devotees around her. Still she accepted it as a means to further her own yoga by more fully relying on the Divine Will as means of developing greater faith.

Thus each serious devotee, and especially the sadhak will see the problems, the suffering, and pain in their lives as instrumental for their further growth, thereby furthering the evolution towards the earth's divine destiny.

Influence of Others on Mother's Body

The body still receives vibrations: with some people, when they sit in front of me, suddenly there are pains, things going wrong; but now it knows (naturally it knows it's in pain!), but it doesn't put the blame on others: it puts it on itself, it takes it as an indication of the points that aren't yet exclusively under the divine Influence. From that point of view, it's very interesting.... It knows the gap between the consciousness of the being using it and itself; but it doesn't suffer from it and has perfect humility and modesty. And it's not surprised or worried, because its "May Your Will be done." That has become an absolute law: "May Your Will be done; it doesn't concern me, ..."

(the Mother, from Agenda, August 5, 1970)

Beyond Individual Existence

Certain experiences make me think that this sense of personal limitation isn't necessary to physical existence – it's a thing we have to learn, but it's not necessary. The impression had always been there that a body defined as making up separate individualities is necessary – it's not. One can live physically without that; the body can live without that ...

(the Mother, from Agenda, August 5, 1970)

Learning from Failure

One sports coach was far interested more in the games his squad lost than those they won, as the former offered a vast learning opportunity to improve the team.

To Be Titled

If you connect with the inner being or soul of an object, you can elicit its cooperation and better functioning.

To Be Titled

High Ideals turn into institutions and products that shape and elevate the world.

Divine Creates through Supermind via Processes of Self- Conception, Self-Limitation, and Self-Limitation

Supermind is the Divine's power for manifesting the Infinite by a process of Self-conception, Self-limitation and Self-absorption. By this process of creation, the Spirit gives form to different aspects of itself.

By Self-conception, the Spirit projects truths of itself as Real-Ideas, which are powers or vibrations of the Self-Conscious Being. This is akin to the way Jane Austen conceived the general theme and story line of her novel.

By Self-limitation, it holds back other aspects of itself, like the other wavelengths of white light, so that each aspect can manifest as a distinct vibration. Then Austen fashioned from her own personality and personal experience specific characters and events through which to manifest the theme of romantic love.

By Self-absorption, the Infinite Consciousness of which each aspect is an expression conceals or absorbs itself within the form it manifests, hidden from view within each form as the Individual Divine. By concentrating solely on the unique attributes of each character, the people in Austen's story acquire their own distinct and separate personalities.

Each of these characters and events is a creation of the author's creative consciousness, which is its source and the very substance of which they are composed.

(Garry Jacobs)

Coming Apart, Then Together

World is splintering, nations pulling in their own direction in order to learn the futility of that movement, so it can reverse itself and come together with greater energy, on the way to Human Unity and eventually a Divine Life on Earth.

To Be Titled

Synchronicities rapidly accelerating in one's life is indicator of oncoming Supramental existence.

Positive Attitude Attraction Power

Though it defies logic, the Intensity of Positive Attitude previous to the work often supersedes the actual effort in evoking real success, as life cooperates from all quarters.

To Be Titled

We blame issues and problems on everybody else, not seeing how our limitation of consciousness had a hand in it or attracted it.

To Be Titled

Every problem that comes into your life secretly serves as a means for you to grow.

Consciousness is Ultimate Determinant of Success

It is not energy, skill, opinion, attitude or character, either singly or in combination, that ultimately determines the results of action. It is consciousness. As is the consciousness, so is the result.

(From 'The Book' page 379, by Garry Jacobs)

Reader: Thank you Sir.

All the factors (other than consciousness) mentioned appears to play their roles depend on the situation. Yet, how to understand that consciousness is the only reason? That consciousness means the combination of aspiration, motive, attitude of self-giving and so forth...?

So, one has to focus on the consciousness factor and not the others....? Thank you Sir.

Response: Yes, plus the spirit contained within it to whatever degree.

Consecration that Attracts Parties that Ease Burden

When you deeply consecrate a very challenging work situation that puts enormous burden on your efforts, parties step forward from out of nowhere to make those conditions so much easier. It is truly remarkable!

Perfection Attracts Ease of Burden

When you do everything you can as perfectly and diligently as possible in a very complex, detailed situation, you will see the primary and secondary burdens lightened.

A Manager's Disappointment

A strong, intelligent manager who insists on his way, close to brow-beating his people, will attract the failure of his subordinates to accomplish the goals he set forth, causing disappointment. A little tact and softness would have prevented the negative response from life from occurring.

To Be Titled

Increasingly the only meaning and purpose of my life is to surrender to Her Force, Power, and Will.

Conversation on Making Our Connection with Mother (Supramental Power) More Effective

S: Sir can I ask something about our prayers to Mother? On occasions I am not able to call her with utmost sincerity...my own inner mental and physical restrictions overpower...how can I overcome that?

RP: Over time you can move the center of your being deeper within, plus you can silence the mind on a regular basis, which will create an increasingly clearer, less interfered (from externals) opening to Her [the Supramental Power].

In Sri Aurobindo's Yoga, this translates as making connection with the Psychic Being, and calling Her from there.

S: Is the psychic being really present in our body?

RP: Yes, it is a thumb-sized subtle entity behind the heart.

S: I believe I heard it before as well...what is it?

RP: It is the evolving soul, the True Self that enters the body from birth (actually before) and seeks to have higher experiences so it can evolve, on its journey from body to body.

S: Is it a separate entity than my consciousness?

RP: They are separate when we are not conscious. When conscious the Consciousness and the Psychic become One in our being.

We can think of it as our (normal) consciousness (small c), and Consciousness (large C), which is One with the Psychic; and one with the Mother and Her Force.

S: Understood...why it is not happening at our Will...the oneness?

RP: Lower consciousness (c) interferes.

Physical consciousness especially wants to stay on the surface, repeat the same patterns, habits, not change, not learn, etc.

S: How to get rid of it? How to get the sanction from the Divine?

RP: We need to build deeper consciousness. That can happen by constant consecration, non-reaction to others' intensities, taking the other person's viewpoint, self-givingness, silencing the mind, etc. Now our calling is purer; our being more receptive to the descending Grace.

S: got it...sometimes I feel like I know all about Mother and Consecration and in other time feels like I know nothing?

RP: I know what you mean. Eg Sri Karmayogi has given hundreds of facets of Consecration in his writings, each bringing out a more subtle aspect. They are thus all one in his Understanding. Gradually we build up this knowledge. especially as we go through the various experiences of consecrating, and the results that ensue.

S: Divine should have made it little simpler...

RP: He has. We simply aren't oriented in that direction!

S: I was joking, in fact...but you are right...Thanks!

RP: [smile emogi]

S: Feels now like this is the most delightful experience...practicing HIS Yoga...

RP: Yes, challenging, but delightful.

S: May that eternal light come to all in Full and transform our lives into Life Divine!

RP: [prayer emogi]

S: Thank you!

RP: [smile emogi]

On Anxiety

-Anxiety is not the reality. It is fear of the reality.

-Anxiety is reinforced by our constant dwelling on it.

-Anxiety distances one's self from the Now.

-Anxiety is to be gripped by an unknown future.

-Anxiety is weakness in the nerves.

-An unbridled mind fosters anxiety. Inner stillness of thought and feeling keeps it at bay.

-Anxiety is lack of faith in life.

-Consecrating anxiety or fear is to substitute Mother in its place, which engenders Faith.

To Be Titled

Life is Change.

Ganesh & His Bother

In one recent variation of the story, Ganesh, in trying to win the prize of Life, walked around his Mother, the divine Mother encompassing a few meters. His brother walked around the world, which is 40,000 kilometers over many months and years. Ganesh instantly attracted all the solutions of Life by consecrating to the divine Mother (to supramental power) with hardly any motion, while his brother labored for years travelling around the world with limited results. Essentially Ganesh gained all the rewards from within, from Mother. If we are sincere in this movement, we can do the same.

Reader: Thank you Sir.

The wisdom is there in front of our eyes. Lord Muruga believed in His power of having peacock and so forth so that He could win over His brother. Lord Ganesh gave up His capacities and humbly submitted to the Divine Mother.

It is interesting to see Life Response through such stories.

To Be Titled

If you reject outright someone else's positive suggestion, you may be asked by life to serve a key role in its implementation.

To Be Titled

Don't judge the future by the present.

Blaming Others Accelerates their Blame

If you intensely and persistently blame someone or some party as the cause of your problems, they will continue to do so, and in new, ever-expanding forms.

Interest in Origins and Values of Organization Attract Founder

When we take a deep interest in a matter, life can return the favor by providing us with more information on that matter; sometimes coming direct from the horse's mouth.

An instructor was working at a large manufacturing plant on an assignment. The topics covered were the software needs at the production level. Because the consultant was interested in the matter, he started thinking about the origins of the organization, as well as its deepest values. This was not part of the work he was contracted for. It was his own curiosity, grounded in his background in management consulting.

At one point, the consultant was resting in an empty room on his lunch break. Suddenly an elder man wandered into the room. It turned out to be the founder of the organization, whom he had never known of, let alone seen before! This very senior individual then proceeded to explain to the consultant the origins of the organization he founded, going back many decades.

That is the power of taking a deep interest in a matter, such as an organization's origins and values. You attract the very person who can give you the greatest insight, as he magically appears before your eyes!

To Be Titled

"To calm all personal ambitions, I must declare that

"If, for any reason, this body becomes unusable, the universal Mother will again start manifesting in hundreds of individualities according to their capacity and receptivity, each one being a partial manifestation of the Universal Consciousness."

(the Mother, from Agenda, October 14, 1970)

Problems Dissolving Ego

From one perspective, all of the difficulties we encounter in life serve the purpose of dissolving the Ego, when taken in the right spirit.

Beyond Mind for Mother

I feel I am entering what will replace the mind. An atmosphere that will replace the mind, the atmosphere of the new creation...

(the Mother, from Agenda, October 31, 1970)

Past Lives Knowledge vs Future Consciousness to Become

The knowledge of past lives is interesting for a knowledge of one's nature and the mastery of one's imperfections. But to tell the truth, it has no crucial importance and it is far more important to concentrate on the future, on the consciousness we must acquire and the development of the nature, which is almost limitless for those who know how to do it.

(the Mother, from Agenda, November 7, 1970)

Democracy to Autocracy to Human-Centered Economy

Because Liberal Capitalism has failed to include the vast majority in the wealth accumulation of many of its subscriber nations, there is an abandonment of Democracy to Autocracy in an increasing number of countries. This is hopefully a temporary outcome, as the peoples of the world learn how to work together to enable wealth to spread to all; not just the very few; bringing a new Human-centered economics into play, instead of the current Money-oriented one.

To Be Titled

When does information or understanding become knowledge? When it touches life and is confirmed by experience. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

When do we really know something? We must confirm the knowledge in psychological experience by observation and application – review of our lives, experimentation, practice. (MSS)

Greater Knowledge & Accomplishment through Silence/Stillness

-Detachment from thought leads to silent knowing. We know more by silence than by word or thought

-We learn more by Listening rather than talking

-We act more powerfully by Silent Will than overt expression

-We accomplish more by Non-initiative than by ego initiative. Not acting is a better solution. (MSS, paraphrased)

All of these attract onset of good fortune (whether as knowing or achieving) from seemingly out of nowhere. It is "Life Response."

To Be Titled

"It is the old methods of yoga that demand silence and solitude.

The yoga of tomorrow is to find the Divine in work and in contact with the world."

(the Mother, from Agenda, January 27, 1971)

Mother Devotee and Rise of Tech of Silicon Valley

Because I was/am a Mother devotee, my constant, almost daily work in San Francisco/Silicon Valley area over three decades, turned into the greatest technological miracle of modern times. Her Force working through Her devotees helped facilitate this vast societal change.

California Values, Thought

Because California is so far away from the major populations of the world, it is able to soar ahead in its values and thinking.

To Be Titled

"In Roy I see a bright ray of light; in you and your life. Hope of transformation." (Appa)

Mother First Envisioned Failure of Soviet System

In 1971 in Agenda Mother noted that the Soviet experiment had turned out to be a great failure, and thus people there were deeply dissatisfied. In 1989 it shocked the world how much the system had deteriorated before it collapsed. However, Mother knew it many years before.

To Be Titled

The only thing that can save the world from its increasingly acute wealth inequality is a new Human-centered Economics.

To Be Titled

If you are going to live for the future, you cannot remain stuck in the past.

To Be Titled

Those who do not complain are never pitied. (from a Jane Austin novel)

To Be Titled

I have been a selfish being all my life, in practice, though not in principle. (from a Jane Austin novel)

To Be Titled

Vanity and pride are different things, though the words are often used synonymously. A person may be proud without being vain. Pride relates more to our opinion of ourselves; vanity, to what we would have others think of us. (from a Jane Austin novel)

To Be Titled

Make seemingly impossible situations possible through Consecration and Faith.

To Be Titled

The central spiritual goal is to become One with, Unified with Everyone and Everything we encounter.

Triune Aspects of the Divine

The Divine is above in the transcendent; is at play in the unfolding of the universe (as Shakti of the divine Mother), and is in each of us, immanent in our being, in our soul.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo's Prophecy is that a Divine Life on Earth is inevitable. That is so because everything is Already divine, and that through an evolutionary unfolding this Plan will be progressively realized.

Integral Knowledge and Power

True Integral Knowledge is to know all views and their interrelations of any matter or thing, plus it has one's Will and the Power to manifest it physically, to Realize it materially in the world.

Reacting and Non-Reacting

Reacting never helps; it only complicates.

I have seen this phenomenon many times. Instead Non-reaction has a vast power to improve a situation.

Deepest Aspiration Silently Fulfilled

Welling it up deep inside, an Aspiration - without acting on it, without telling others about it, without even further thinking about it - can be realized in full.

Many years ago I had the deep Aspiration to work in an area that somehow connected with Sri Aurobindo and Mother. I told no-one about it, did not consciously act on it; kept it close to my heart. A year or two later this came about when I came upon an opportunity to work for Garry Jacobs and his import company Mere Cie, changing my life forever.

To Be Titled

Scoundrels rise to fill the void when good people fail to fulfill it.

To Be Titled

Hourly consecration is a movement that signifies the beginning of surrender. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

A central purpose of Education is to help make us more conscious, aware, knowledgeable, and therefore empowered for accomplishment, success, and happiness.

To Be Titled

Mind does not know the future, or truly understand the past. However, Supermind does.

The Queen's Husband

We have seen that deep resentment overcome attracts the truly miraculous.

In one historical account, the husband of a world renown queen (Victoria of Great Britain) resented the man whom he thought was his uncle, but turned out to be his real father.

One day after discovering this shocking news, the child of the queen and husband became extremely ill, and near the end. However, the father of the queen's husband reminded him to tend to the child, instead of continuously expressing his resentment toward him.

The queen's husband then practiced self-control and gave up his bitterness. After attending to the child along with others gathered around her, the little girl miraculously came out of her deep fever and lived.

As we see, giving up resentment has the power to overcome the inevitability of the end of a child's life, not to mention any other catastrophic situation.

Comment: Actually the child fell ill in the first place due to his intense resentment and anger.

Turning an Unreality into a Negative Real

Worrying about a potential problem that is not an actual one can manifest it as real.

A man was upset about another matter. He then became obsessed about his daughter not catching an illness due to open windows in the house. It was an absurd claim; however, he kept insisting, egged on by his other frustration. Suddenly a mild flush on his child's face turned into a serious illness.

Only when the man gave up his earlier upset about another matter, did the child suddenly return to full health.

To Be Titled

Surrender takes place when our psychic being gives itself fully to the Divine; to Mother.

To Be Titled

In the case of a serious problem, knowing when to engage in action and when to be utterly still is to have supramental sense.

To Be Titled

Beyond adoring Mother is making the inner and outer effort to become like Her.

To Be Titled

Mother's Force is especially effective in solving our problem when it is accompanied by utter stillness on our part.

Mother's Past Lives

As She revealed in Her 4000-page diary "Agenda," in past births Mother was:

- Hapchupset (Amonhotep's wife and queen of Egypt)
- Catherine the Great of Russia
- The person in the painting Mona Lisa
- Joan of Arc, martyr of France.

She half-joked that in the next life she just wanted to be an ordinary person, without the weight of physical transformation on Her shoulders!

Life Response Power of Decision to Unclutter

We know the life response power of cleanliness and orderliness, including clutter; and we also know the life response power of making a decision. We can also combine both to get an astonishing result.

An artist who often had too much clutter in her surroundings was looking for a particular photograph within a host of other photos. She scrolled and scrolled on her smartphone to find it without success.

Then at one point she indicated that she wanted to get rid of the clutter on her phone. At the very INSTANT she said that, the photo she was looking for suddenly came into view!

That is the power of making a Decision to improve one's self in a particular area; in this case to unclutter, which is a form of cleanliness and orderliness.

To Be Titled

To be in positive attitude,
When everything seems all right,
Is a mental awareness.
To be in positive attitude,
When everything seems NOT right
Is a spiritual awareness.
(SM)

(a poem by SM)

Chrysler

It's a great mystery in life,
To see how ignorance and life play out in tandem,
And puts one in an apparent uncomfortable situation.
Yet, such moments are not to punish one,
Rather, to bring the subliminal powers to the surface,
And thus to accomplish magnificent things in life.
That's why, in that context it is said,
"Ignorance is greater than Knowledge."
To have a positive attitude,
When everything seems all right,

Is mental awareness.
To have a positive attitude,
When everything seems NOT right
Is Spiritual Awareness.
The late 1970's,
It was a significant period in history of Chrysler Corporation,
The biggest car manufacturer of America,
As It could not cope up with Japanese competition.
It went through an arduous path,
And eventually started to struggle, and barely survive.
The people had lost faith,
The Government had lost hope,
The banks had proclaimed no future,
The media broadcasted failure,
And it appeared bankruptcy was inevitable.
At that crucial moment,
What was needed was neither money nor market,
Rather a change in consciousness,
That could inspire and transform the entire organization.
A man took up that challenge,
And secured the senior post in 1979.
After joining he realized,
The situation was pathetic indeed.
Had he known about these adverse conditions before,
He might not have joined.
As there seemed no path to survive,
He approached the Government,
And convinced them for a conditional loan,
Which he had promised to re-pay in ten years.
And what followed; what he did was corporate history.
A series of courageous acts to discipline the company,
Enhancing measures to improve product quality,
Focused and built products for customer needs,
Explored Innovative designs (K- car), and Implemented novelty schemes (money back guarantee).
Also, he engaged his people from all levels,
Released their energy and captured their imaginations.
And so, what they had conceived as possibility,
Became Reality in a short period of time.
In essence,
He had found the key,
Not only to conserve energy, but to multiply it,
Across various levels of the company.
Life had responded in great abundance,
For the organizational measures and his brave leadership.
Against all odds and predictions,
The profits started to flow in from 1982 onwards.

That success and abundant profits,
Continued in subsequent years.
He was able to settle the entire loan in 1984,
Seven years ahead of the payback period he had promised.
Indeed he transformed the company 180 degree,
And restored the company's value and image.
He made it prosperous, and brought it back to the peak again, as it once was.
By transforming contraries into complements,
He had brought social Superconscious to the surface.
He was Lee Iacocca, the Chairman of Chrysler Corporation.
Why does the life have to work in that manner?
Problems then Solutions, Suffering then Happiness.,
It happens when a deserved soul,
Exclusively concentrates on the surface.
And so,
Everything that comes to us,
Comes only with the sanction of our soul,
Only to awaken our consciousness,
And to move us from our surface ignorance,
To our subliminal depths,
In order to reveal our true purpose of existence.
At the same time,
Do we always have to learn the hard way?
Indeed we need not do so.
The purpose of life is to shift our focus inside to the subliminal,
By practicing acts of higher consciousness,
We can consciously move towards it.
And that's what Mother has called,
"The Sunlit Path."

Source:

Articles from Karmayogi.Net

'The Book' by Garry Jacobs

Power of Cleanliness, Orderliness Turns Around Company

The young owner of a once large computer services company that was now on the verge of bankruptcy decided to follow a consultant's advice and take to higher levels of CLEANLINESS and ORDERLINESS in the organization.

Very quickly his business recovered, then it boomed, to the point that within two years he was able to retire for life!

To Be Titled

Understanding that behind the apparent negatives are vast opportunities is perhaps the single great revelation of Society en mass in the last half century.

To Be Titled

Intentionally forgetting about a matter will often lift up that party to the level you earlier hoped would come about. Often higher still!

From Strongmen/Dictators to a New Way of Living

Rise of strongmen, dictators around the world, with their extreme measures, is a sign that people want change, to uplift their lives, but that rational leaders are so far unable to bring about this change.

In fact, the strongmen/dictators only exacerbate the problems, compelling the reasonable leaders to come up with new, creative strategies that can solve society's increasingly pressing problems.

A new Human-entered economics, -- with the Individual at the center of life, instead of money, as advocated by WAAS, MSS, and others -- gives the complete solution, enabling a new, more equal, harmonious, and spiritually supported way of living to emerge.

Let us see how this social and economic change unfolds in the world.

Dangal and the Life Response Power of Silence

Dangal is an Indian film based on the true story of how a famous wrestler (Mahavir Singh Phogat) became a coach, overcomes his anger that he has no sons to follow him in the sport, and ends up training his daughters, who become national champions.

In one scene near the end, the Mahavir is giving hand signals to his daughter Geeta, who is competing in the Commonwealth Games for the world championship. Unfortunately, in the middle of the action, the father is tricked into being locked up by a jealous coach where he cannot offer his signals to his very skilled daughter.

However rather than remain in anguish, Mahavir begins to sit quietly and becomes still, almost to the point of meditation. After a short time, he hears the national anthem of India being played, indicating his daughter has secured the victory; perhaps the happiest moment of his life.

Because he took to stillness - in mind, in thought, in emotion, and in action (in not trying to escape) -- over anguish, Life returned the favor by securing the victory for his beloved daughter. Her wrestling champion sister also shared in that overwhelming pride and joy.

Geeta would go on to be the first woman champion ever sent to the Olympics for India.

Thank you for the 98,000 likes at Facebook over the years.

Power of Shedding Childhood Remorse

Shedding bitterness for being wronged in the past evokes most unexpected and joyful circumstance all around.

As depicted in the tv series 'Victoria,' the queen of England was bitter about the way she was treated as a child by her mother, as well as another official who tried to stifle her empowerment when growing up.

However, after seeing another child from Africa go through similar circumstance, the queen was now able to see her own childhood in perspective, and therefore she was now able to shed her long-time resentment.

At that very moment, from out of nowhere, the man who taunted and stifled the queen as a child arrived on the scene, and expressed deep-seated feelings of remorse and goodwill, withdrawing all material claims against her.

She then turned around and invited him to join the holiday dinner that she was sharing with others. The Joy and Goodwill now continued to spread all around.

(This being the case, what old resentment do you still hold onto, from childhood or otherwise; and how can you shed it? This can be the key to evoking a tremendous positive response in your life!)

Missing Startling Synchronicities

Life Response and its dozens of forms of synchronicity happen to us many times every day, however we miss THEM, because we are locked into our normal dense human consciousness, which does not perceive such subtleties, unless the event is very dramatic. And even then,

95% will be missed. That is why a new human species with supramental perception and consciousness will come one day, with this vast life response capacity to continually perceive and evoke the miraculous.

Sample Incidents of Life Response Power of Cleanliness and Orderliness

-There was the incident where I cleaned out my refrigerator and instantly evoked months' worth of work when I had absolutely nothing in sight.

-There was the manufacturing company that cleaned their filthy environment of carbon particles and evoked a startling sale from seemingly out of nowhere.

-There was the carpeting business that cleaned, straightened out and reordered their stockyard, and very soon after reported big inflows of money and new sales they never expected.

-There was the legal secretary who had no projects she was engaged in, but who attracted a major new client the next day after cleaning and reorganizing her workspace.

These and hundreds of other experiences I and others have had over several decades show the extraordinary capacity to evoke good fortune by taking to higher levels of cleanliness and orderliness.

There is no physical movement or action that evokes the positive from life more readily than this approach!

(from Seminar 'Life Response and Work - Physical')

Realizing the Supramental Consciousness and Being Requires Cells of Body Aggregating and Becoming an Independent Conscious Entity

The problem I am preoccupied with is building that supramental consciousness so IT becomes the being. It's that consciousness which must become the being. That's what's important.

... And in order to do that, all the consciousness contained in these cells [of the body] must aggregate, form and organize itself into an independent conscious entity – [i.e.] the consciousness in the cells must aggregate and form into a conscious entity capable of being conscious of Matter as well as conscious of the Supramental.

That's the thing. That's what is being done. How far will we be able to go? I don't know.

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 26, 1972)

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo used to say: it is woman that can build a bridge between the old world and the supramental world. (the Mother)

To Be Titled

When the "good" forces are unable to recognize, let alone address acute problems in society, then negative forces rush in to fill the void.

Knowledge, Experience, and Power

Knowledge is only great when it is verified by experience. Then it releases a Power beyond compare.

To Be Titled

Knowledge verified and enhanced through Experience empowers education.

Aspiration from the Depths

The deeper you go within, the more life responds to our aspiration. On the other hand, when we live on the surface, -- in our thoughts, and feelings, and outer initiatives -- the result is negligible, as the energy is not stored, but dispersed, preventing the "magnetism effect" of Life Response from taking shape.

To Be Titled

To solve the outer problem, best to go deeper inside (to silence) rather than doing things, expecting results on the surface.

Taking Initiative (Ego) vs. Life's Initiative

Taking an outer initiative is mostly the initiative of the Ego, which creates negligible, questionable, or problematic results. Best to wait on Life's or the Divine's initiative coming to you, and then respond with full force. Everything will then cooperate, and lift you up to the stars.

Perceiving Life's Subtle Signals On the Road to Vast Accomplishment, Joy

Life is constantly providing you with Subtle Signals, of which way to turn, how to proceed, what to avoid, etc. However you can only perceive them from a Deeper Consciousness. From the surface you are mainly picking up your own internal Ego signals of thought and emotion. So why not build a true inner life, - a state of inner serenity and silence within, - while constantly opening to the spiritual Force above, and you will be continuously guided to the Truth; and as a result you will gain a personal roadmap that when followed will help you rise to the pinnacles of success and the depths of happiness.

On Ayn Rand

From my understanding, Ayn Rand seems to be a combination of positive and negative:

Positive:

Belief in true individuality, not following the herd, think for yourself. Steve Jobs and other progressives followed her and her message. She asked us to discover our true nature and being within. How we can make a difference in the world by first thinking for ourselves.

Negative

She advocated a kind of selfishness on top of her individuality. She despised progressive political movements, especially socialistic, as she had witnessed the poison of the Soviet system, which she over-equated.

She was actually admired by many progressives for the positive reasons.

However, the conservatives (especially in USA) focused on her anti-collectivist view in tandem with individuality and entrepreneurial spirit, creating a negative conjunction.

Many in Asia admire her positive positions, while ignoring her negatives that conservatives here admire.

Comment:

On Ayn Rand: She focused on the immense innate potential an individual has, how individual is superior to collectivity. The universal truth is each individual is potentially divine, though she may not have based her philosophy on this.

However collective progress should happen along with individual progress. Both are mutually inclusive and complimentary, the fact she had overlooked.

(Sivakumar Saravanan)

Right Poise for Dealing with Intensifying Modern Problems

Everyone is increasingly under so much strife and pressure, and yet the old ways of dealing with life are no longer sufficient. The only answer lies by going deeper within, or surrendering to the Higher force above. That way life continually self-corrects in your favor.

Our skill or capacity lies within deeper. What skill one gains by practice can be brought by going within to the domain where the capacity is. That is Divine Power. (Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

To Be Titled

Sole reliance on Mother is Astonishing Life.

Intensity of Descending Force, Accelerated Difficulties, and Miracles

I think I already told you, there's a kind of golden Force pressing down (gesture); it has no material substantiality, and yet it feels terribly heavy....

... It presses down on Matter, to force it, to compel it to turn INWARDLY to the Divine – not an external flight (pointing above) but inwardly turning to the Divine. And the apparent outcome seems to be inevitable catastrophes. But along with this sense of inevitable catastrophe, there come solutions to situations or events that look simply miraculous.

As if both extremes were becoming more extreme: the good getting better and the bad worse. Like that. And a stupendous Power PRESSING down on the world. Such is my impression.

... it's as tangible as this (Mother feels the air between her fingers). And even in life circumstances, many things otherwise indifferent are becoming suddenly acute – acute situations, acute differences, acute ill wills – and at the same time, singular miracles. Singular. People on the verge of death are saved, inextricable situations are suddenly untangled.

And the same for individuals too.

Those who know how to turn to ... (how shall I put it?) who SINCERELY call upon the Divine, who feel it's the only salvation, the only way out, and who sincerely offer themselves, then ... (gesture of bursting open) within a few minutes, it becomes a wonder ...

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 6, 1972)

Comment: It seems the same now (2018) throughout the world, as well as for myself and acquaintances.

To Be Titled

Only the Mother and Her Force can save the world; though we can collaborate fully.

Reader: Indeed Sir! We can only play a perfect Instrument.

My or Everyone Job is to aspire to let myself or ourself make empty

So, thy will be done not my will or our will.

Response: Yes, sincere, deep Aspiration will attract Her Will to us.

To Be Titled

... this Power, this Might, which is NOT MATERIAL, is becoming more concretely effective on earth than earthly material things.

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 6, 1972)

To Be Titled

...in the body, whatever has trouble adjusting to this new Power creates difficulties, disorders and illnesses. Yet in a flash you sense that if you were totally receptive, you would become formidable.

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 6, 1972)

Comment: This too has been my experience.

To Be Titled

It is little known that at this moment on earth we are all moving at ~67,000 miles an hour (around the sun).

Vision of AIS to Consciously Evoke Life Response

Dan explained in the novel 'The Book'-

"...Our meeting in Fort Lauderdale and contact with The Book are clear instances in which life has brought something new from outside in response to a greater awakening or aspiration within. It did not react to maintain the status quo. It responded to create something new. And the consequences of those responses are still working themselves out in our lives. The capacity to evoke life responses at will gives one the power to accomplish anything in life.

Our ultimate objective must be to impart that capacity to AIS. Then, regardless of the situation, the conditions, the apparent limitations, we can consciously attract the knowledge, the conditions and resources we need for higher achievement, the way Edmond subconsciously attracted Abbe Faria to discover his cell, save him from starvation, impart precious wisdom, provide him the map to a fabulous fortune and in the very act of his own death, also provide the means for Edmond's escape from prison in the body-bag intended for the Abbe's corpse. What Edmond did subconsciously, we must aim to make possible for each person to do consciously in their own lives. And to do it consciously means to progress much more quickly without the need for intense suffering as a spur to our awakening and effort..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 325)

To Be Titled

Sincere, deep Aspiration will attract the Divine's, Mother's Will to us.

Devolution and Evolution in Society

With the world rapidly devolving in the last several years, - eg Democracy in many places is on the run, rise of autocracy, international cooperation collapsing - it means that greater faith must be placed in the Higher Consciousness, than just the institutions of society. In recoil the devolution is then very likely a prelude to a great Evolution. The latter can quickly appear, even when we are seemingly at the darkest hours.

To Be Titled

There is plenty of wealth in the world - perhaps as much as $200 trillion. However, somehow it needs to be recirculated for balance and fairness.

Quantum Entanglement and Simultaneous Time

Science has a partial explanation of Life Response. Quantum Theory indicates that two particles on either end of the universe can instantly affect one another. If one shifts on one end of the universe, so will another on the other side.

This is the phenomenon of "Entanglement." This indicates that when we raise our consciousness, something nearby or at a great distance instantly or very quickly responds in the positive.

Now Quantum physics has gone a further step, indicating that a change in the spin of a particle can cause the response of another at great distance over TIME. I.e. cause a spin in the present to affect the second particle in the Future or the Past.

It is essentially Entanglement across past, present, and future. That what I think or feel or do in the present automatically affects future or present circumstance; aligning ourselves with positive developments in both future and present. It also happens in the negative (negative life response).

It is another confirmation of Sri Aurobindo's cosmic concept "Simultaneous Time," which is one aspect of the nature of the Reality we are capable of realizing as we grow in consciousness and move toward becoming Divine-like, Supramental beings.

Unconscious Experience vs. Conscious Growth

There are gaps in our consciousness that get filled through the pain of Experience. However, through Conscious Growth we avoid these rigors of time, self-educating ourselves about the nature of Reality, thereby filling those gaps quickly, evoking the best of conditions.

It is the Sunlit Path.

To Be Titled

Perhaps Global Warming is Mother Nature's way of forcing the nations of the world to work together, compelling Society to shift from increasing disunity to greater Harmony and Oneness.

To Be Titled

Deep Aspiration, welling up from one's true self, attracts new, unprecedented, unique opportunities to fulfill it.

To Be Titled

Supramental Perspective: there are no problems, only Opportunities.

To Be Titled

There is the right time and the wrong time to engage in an activity. As we develop in consciousness, as we move further along the Path, we increasingly develop the Subtle Sense that continuously knows when to act vs when to cease action or even forget the matter.

Examples of Experiencing Simultaneity of Past, Present, Future

From the perspective of the Reality, the All, past, present, and future do not exist as separate entities; there is imply one non-divided reality of time. This in contrast to the mind of Man, that perceives three divisions of time. How then would this undivided time of the reality express if we were to rise to that vast supramental Consciousness? Here are some capacities:

- one would intuitivize conditions, aspects of the future so that you know exactly what's going to happen then, and it then happens precisely that way

- one would intuitive the past so that you know exactly what occurred in the past that is affecting your present, and then make the necessary change, adjustments, overcoming negative karmas and enhancing positive ones.

- one would have a sense of taking the exact amount of time to accomplish an objective, as one knows the past influences and the future directions

- one does not feel the boundaries or the separate dimensions of time (past, present, future), as they are replaced with a mystical sense of timelessness

Reader: Hi good morning

Be in present. It is very very powerful

Do maximum work in orderliness and accurate. Do not expect anything in return.

"Doing once duty is highest service to the supreme"

See the life response. Only watch.

Enjoy your presence. Be peaceful. Be stable.

Try try.

Response: Yes, no expectation of result in a work keeps you in the Now. And yes also calmly responding to the life response does same.

Reader: Thanks really.my practical experience also

Sri Karmayogi's books guidance

To Be Titled

Only by going deep within, away from the surface of life, do we understand the reason for life's hard conditions, including the positive benefits..

Immortality Indicated in the Unconsciousness

The Divine's promise of immortality and Life Divine can be found in the inconscience, the unconsciousness of existence. (paraphrase of Savitri by Sri Aurobindo)

The inconscience is the result of the involution/devolution of the spirit in the creation process of the universe from a divine Source, which was absorbed; the hidden divinity in the inconscience, that will come out fully in the Evolution.

"Wisdom" of Unconscious Acts

From within we can perceive the Wisdom in the unconscious acts of nature. (paraphrase of Savitri)

Eg if someone unconsciously blurts out the truth of a matter, not understanding its implication, it serves a greater progress. From a deeper poise, we can come to see the purpose of such unconscious movements, as it serves the unfolding of the positive.

To Be Titled

We are stuck in Ego, Time, Mind, and Ignorance, on our way to their opposite.

Comment: Opposites are Harmony/Oneness, Timelessness or No Time, Silent or Intuitive Mind, Integral Knowledge.

To Be Titled

Living, working in the Now we are unburdened by the limits, influences of the past, nor attached to the outcomes of the future.

Consecration Contains "The Complete Act"

Based on the teachings of Sri Aurobindo and his view of the process of creation, Karmayogi has conceived of "The Complete Act." It is the combination of certain factors executed consecutively in a process that all but guarantees perfect execution and outcome, including an often startling, unexpected positive response from life.

The Complete Act begins with the conception of what one wants to achieve, followed by one's supporting will and emotions for it to be carried out, out, followed by the physical execution of the act, supported by right attitudes and skills, leading to an outcome that is perfect; even unprecedentedly so.

One can follow this process for any major activity, like a project, or even the smallest act, such as brushing one's teeth. It is as microcosm of and similar to the process that enabled the universe to emerge from a Divine source.

Consecration is the opening to the Supramental Power that has descended into the earth's atmosphere, that engages in and fulfills all stages of The Complete Act process in a single spiritual gesture, returning immediate unprecedented, infinitely creative results.

Consecration is the spiritual method of opening to the Supramental power, aspiring for a great outcome, yet indicating "Thy Will Be Done;" where the Spirit's Will of the outcome is paramount, not our own will, which can limit the result.

One can consecrate before engaging in The Complete Act, at each stage, or even retroactively.

No Title

Growth in consciousness occurs more readily through what you don't know than what you know.

Birthday

In a conscious person, conscious of his soul, on the birthday the Soul seeks a rebirth, a birth into higher consciousness. (Sri Karmayogi)

Taking Other's View is Supramental

Do you know Karmayogi's principle of taking the other person's point of view? Even if they are wrong, it helps to embrace their position. Doing so, often has the effect of bringing them around to your original position!

It is to take the Supramental Perspective of the potentiality and reality of the many-sided truth of things, not just the part one knows.

It may be worth an experiment. It also puts one's Aspiration on a steadier psychological basis.

To Be Titled

FAILURE can be great avenue for progress, though I am not sure we should seek it out! Rather, we should intensely seek PROGRESS, which begins as Aspiration. Most powerful when it originates from the deepest depths, the Psychic being.

To Be Titled

In Supermind there is no success or failure; only opportunities.

To Be Titled

As Sadhak (beyond devotee) one is closing in on Surrender; letting the Divine, the Mother , the Force work through one. Karmayogi says there is nothing to do in this state except wait for the Divine Signal, and then act accordingly.

The Power Of Inversion - Google

Prof. Stearne's explanation in The Book:

"...Google - When they announced the launching of a new search engine in 1998, it certainly appeared to be counter-intuitive. The last thing anyone thought we needed was another search engine when already we had Excite, Yahoo, Lycos, Infoseek, Altavista, Webcrawler and a dozen others to rely on. Besides, no one had ever figured out how to make money in the search engine business. Then along came Google with a superior product. They realized that they did not have to make money on searches. They could offer that service free, provided they received something in return.

According to The Book, there is no such thing as giving without receiving. There is always a return, only you have to be able to recognize it. Google did. They realized that the information generated by users searching the web is valuable to advertisers. So two years later they established Adwords to market ad space to advertisers based on the search terms and keywords web users were interested in. The whole concept is a beautiful inversion..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 420)

Inversion in Creation Process

Involution is a process of inversion in which

Sat becomes Matter

Chit becomes Life

Ananda becomes Psychic

Supermind becomes Mind.

(Sri Karmayogi)

- Mind is the inversion of Supermind.
 - Life is the inversion of consciousness.
 - Ignorance is the inversion of knowledge.
 - Hate is the inversion, perversion of Love.
 - The entire history of earth is in the subconscious. It is the inversion of the superconscious.
 - The surface being is the limited inversion of the whole that the subliminal is.
- (Sri Karmayogi)

The Power Of Inversion – Amazon

Prof Stearne's explanation in The Book:

"... When the World Wide Web was founded in the mid-1990s, most pundits of the day heralded the arrival of the digital age and prophesied the immediate demise of books and newspapers. What they said made good common sense. It was self-evident to almost everyone, except a thirty year old financial analyst named Jeff Bezos who apparently saw everything in reverse from the way we normal people view reality. He started amazon.com, an on-line bookseller of all things! How prosaic. Twelve years later his company is the largest bookseller in the world with revenues of ten billion dollars, while one hundred thirty-three year old Barnes & Noble is only half as big. That's the power of inversion..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 420)

The Power Of Inversion – Sears

Prof. Stearne's explanation in The Book:

"...Take the well-known story of Sears Roebuck, as it was called in the early days. Richard Sears was a railway station-master who transformed himself into a clever city-based merchant and a marketing genius. In the 1890s, he recognized the growing demand for urban manufactures among the prospering farmers in the rural areas and developed a mail order business to tap that market. He offered them everything he thought the rural folk wanted, including hair restorers, longevity tonics and potions claiming the efficacy of Viagra. Sears relied on the trust and gullibility of rural folk who have faith in anything modern that comes from the city. He soon built himself a thriving business with a one million dollar turnover. Not bad for an ex-station-master.

Then along came Julius Rosenwald, an experienced businessman and investor who bought in as his partner. And what did Rosenwald do? He turned the model on its head. He inverted it. He introduced Sears' famed policy, Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back, a revolutionary breakthrough in retailing at the time. In philosophical terms, he pulled an inversion. Instead of asking rural customers to trust Sears, he announced that Sears would trust their customers. Any customer was free to return any merchandise they purchased for any reason whatsoever, or no reason at all, no questions asked, no penalties. What was the result? Nearly everyone in America started buying from Sears. Within twenty years it became not only the largest retailer in America, but the largest in the world, and it held that title for nearly seven decades. That is the power of an inversion!.."

(from 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, pages 419-420)

To Be Titled

When you discover your (or your organization's) own Soul or Inner Center, you will begin to know the same of the client. It is Ultimate Customer Value.

Complete Knowledge

Prof. Stearne's explanation in The Book:

"...As The Book states, complete knowledge has to be all-inclusive. It has to take into account inversions, reversals, contradictions and oppositions as well..."

(From 'The Book', by Garry Jacobs, page 422)

To Be Titled

When you try to do things differently, you invite Possibilities into your life.

To Be Titled

"Consciousness Responsibility" is to take responsibility for others' unconsciousness. Life then responds overwhelmingly!

Reader: There is an Ancient Hawaiian healing method called Ho'oponopono. This is now gaining huge popularity across the world. Basic principle is gratitude, love and assuming responsibility for what is happening outside you, as outside is only a reflection of your inside

To Be Titled

An emerging Life Divine can and will progressively solve every major problem in the world.

To Be Titled

He who insists on Consecration in a problematic situation will be the ultimate determinant of a positive outcome.

To Be Titled

The West has a very primitive, insufficient view of the nature of the Divine Reality compared to the ancient tradition of India, including the Vedas, and especially as dramatically updated and detailed by seer and sage Sri Aurobindo in an evolutionary context. In His view all of the details of how the universe emerged from a Divine Source are intuitively explained, and the purpose, destiny, and destination of life in the cosmos is also dramatically presented; providing a revelation for the world.

Creation Process Same for Divine and Us

Sri Aurobindo's comprehension of Reality explained as first Involution from a Divine Source to matter, followed by Evolution from matter to spirit is virtually the same process we follow when we successfully engage in a project or the smallest activity.

It is a process of first apprehending the goal through Mind (for the Divine it is Cosmic Mind/Supermind); then having the vital will and drive for its manifestation as real (for the Divine it is the conversion of cosmic Idea into Cosmic Energy); and finally physically executing strategies to make it happen (for Divine, it is the conversion and breakdown of Cosmic Energy into atomic existence, which appears as matter in the universe).

For the Divine, Supermind coordinates the entire process. For Man he can rise to intuition and then Supermind to engage in the process for perfect execution that formulates a miraculous-like Response from Life (sudden good fortune from out of nowhere).

To Be Titled

"Something must be eternal for anything to exist."

That's the dynamic behind the Involution; the Creation process, from Spirit to matter. And that's why life on earth is headed toward Divine existence (the Evolution); i.e., for the Eternal Consciousness to re-emerge in the details of life. Evolution is the reversal of the Involution.

Water Desalinization Synchronicity

The other day I mentioned to a friend that I had once tasted the water near one of the towns on San Francisco Bay to determine if it was fresh water or salt water. I then asked her if she thought the water was fresh or salty. After all, the ocean backflows into the Bay, but also the rivers of California flow into the Bay and out to the ocean.

I mentioned this issue to my friend only because, after all these years, this memory and question had simply appeared in my mind. We then had a brief discussion of the nature of the water that flowed into the delta-like area astride the town; and then matter was forgotten. Two weeks later I opened the local newspaper on my iPhone, and immediately saw the dominating headline "$10 Million Coming to Bay Area Desalinization Project; But Not On the Ocean."

It turned out to be the town of Antioch, the very one I mentioned to my friend a week earlier. Please note that there was no news articles on this topic or any other discussion I knew of when I thought of the matter and relayed my memory to my friend. Never had I discussed the issue, nor had seen any articles or reports of such had come to my attention. And now here a week later was an article directly addressing the issue I had thought of from out of the blue a week earlier.

How can this happen? Perhaps there is a vibration of these circumstance floating about, originating in events in the town (which the news article would later reveal), which I then picked up through my "mental receiver" as the contents were being developed. It then came to the fore a week later with the public announcement in the paper, synchronous with my experience.

Or further perhaps we can say that when we are in touch with a higher consciousness, or the Mother's supramental Force, past, present, and future become one thing, eg enabling us to receive in the present intimations of the future.

These are of course the eternal synchronicity and "Life Response" questions!

What do you think?

Nuclear Proliferation and Threat, and South Korea's Opportunity to Advance Humanity

At the global level, South Korea has a unique opportunity to leverage its achievements and public visibility to provide a voice, model and leadership for the collective advancement of humanity as a whole.

The nuclear threat which it faces today is the consequence of the failed policies of the five original nuclear powers, which have refused to meet their commitments under the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty and missed the opportunity to eradicate this great menace to humanity at the end of the Cold War. Their entrenched position must be radically altered to prevent a further escalation and proliferation of similar threats.

Korea has an opportunity to become a strong courageous voice of humanity calling for the total abolition of nuclear weapons, which is the only viable solution to the problem it faces and the danger of further nuclear proliferation in other regions.

(Garry Jacobs, chairman of World Academy; October 17, 2017)

To Be Titled

Society supports the development of individual leaders who in turn support the development of society. The individual and the collective represent complementary rather than contradictory elements. (Garry Jacobs)

Sharing the Benefits

... hand in hand with freedom, social values and power structures require the sharing of benefits among the wider population. Only then can it preserve the stability, cohesiveness and harmony required for continuous evolutionary advancement. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Beyond the appearances of life, there is a Divine Will seeking to accomplish Its Intentions.

Asia's rise, ascent in culture, economics, power, and influence is being further accelerated by the weakening of the US through Trump and other regressive forces.

Neocapitalism's Destructive Tendencies That Work For The Few, Not The Whole Of Society

So long as democratic capitalism was confronted with competition from the economic security promised by communism, it was subject to self-imposed constraints to prevent excessive discontent among lower levels of society and intellectuals who favor social justice over acquisitive self-indulgence.

Now that the competition has vanished, neoliberal ideologues have revived capitalism's destructive tendency to affirm the claim of the most talented and dynamic of its members to the full and sole benefits of labor. In reality individual accomplishment is always the result of the cumulative achievements of the society as a whole. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Becoming the Supramental Being is a bigger change from the current human being than the human is from the chimpanzee. Yet, due to our collaboration with the ever-increasing Force in the atmosphere, it is beginning to occur.

To Be Titled

Great powers pulling apart, in psychological conflict of purpose - namely US, Russia, EU, China, India, Pakistan, Middle East, Korea, et al - indicate World Unity, now unseen, lurks just around the corner. From within and without, forces of Higher Consciousness can help make that happen.

To Be Titled

Behind the difficulties of the world, the Divine Will is unfolding.

To Be Titled

Each day presents its own unique challenges, requiring us to discover a limitation in consciousness on our part we are required to overcome.

Maximizing Energy

Most people don't know how to conserve and build up their energies. They waste it on frivolities and social/vital pleasures. If they took to silence - in thought, emotion, speech and action, - they would be brimming with energy for productive use; including great success that engenders deep happiness and joy.

To Be Titled

People want a great outer life; not an Inner Life that creates the best conditions inwardly and outwardly.

To Be Titled

Two negative karmas (recent status of Russia and US) coming together in contradiction will need to find their way forward.

Reader: A country named SYRIA#

Response: Yes, it would if they could work out their difference there; as well as in deterring nuclear proliferation, a general respect for one another, etc. Working together they can solve many of the problems of the world. Just now they are at great odds, depleting a valuable resource for helping the world progress; but that can change swiftly when the right consciousness is brought to bear.

Talking about Impending Rains

If you talk too much about approaching significant rain when in a drought situation, it will tend to quickly fizzle out. Best to quietly hold the knowledge inside.

A man talked about an approaching storm, but the more he discussed it, the more it faded away; not a happy experience as it was in severe drought conditions.

To Be Titled

Energy depleting activities cause favorable weather, like potential rains in a drought situation, to dissipate.

To Be Titled

When Truth is reversed for Anachronistic Viewpoint on a foundation of Conspirational Lies, Evil is afoot.

To Be Titled

Grasping the complete, many-sided truth of a matter from "out of thin air" is Supramental.

Intense Thinking about Another Causes Alignment in Space-Time

A frequent alignment effect occurs in my life as follows. I have a good feeling about a student in a class, and he has the same for me, for whatever reason. When we go on the break, though there are dozens of people moving to and fro, I arrive at the rest room at the very instant he does, almost bumping into each other!

It also works in the negative. I have problems with a student, and he too feels negative because perhaps I did not answer his question. Then on the break dozens of people move to and fro in the building, and the very moment I enter the class, he too enters, and we too almost bang into each other!

It follows the principle that when two people are thinking intensely about another, they align in space-time at some point later on. This has happened to me many, many times over the years, and perhaps it has happened to YOU!

Evolution through Our Self-Evolution

The Divine itself has transformed and evolved as the Universe, and we humans are the extensions of that self intervention (Self-Evolution) of the Divine and its Shakti.

Evolution continues, and Beyond humans are evolving themselves as Supramental beings. We are moving from mind to Supermind. Hence Life essentially is for experiencing that Self - Evolution.

Sri Aurobindo tells us that All Life is Yoga, and every experience in Life, whether good or bad, is helping us EVOLVE.

(paraphrase of S.S. Sreejith)

Dunkirk and The Darkest Hour

[Epic Life Response through Courage and Workings of Grace]

When the surface appearances are dark, when we have lost faith in all our capacities, when our resources are exhausted and when we do not know what to do next, it is the moment for Grace to act. Such a moment had fallen on Prime Minister of Great Britain Winston Churchill during 1940 World War II, and what happened at Dunkirk at that time was the history.

Sri Karmayogi has written that Dunkirk was saved by the cosmic plan, Sri Aurobindo's force.

During May 1940, British troops and the allies were trapped at Dunkirk and the Germans continued to advance, capturing the countries one by one like Belgium, France and so forth. The lives of trapped men at Dunkirk were at stake, as they had lost their Air Force and the Germans continued to destroy all the ships and men. It appeared that only a miracle could save them.

At that crucial period, Churchill had become the prime minister of UK, though he was not favorite of the King, and even his own party members. It was his deepest belief that the nation would fight till the end against Hitler. However, by seeing the advancement of German troops, his party members proposed to have peace talks with Hitler. They threatened to resign from the war cabinet, and to bring a no confidence vote against Churchill.

His party members were threatening. Dunkirk's condition was real and devastating indeed. He asked the USA to help by sending rescue ships and save the men at Dunkirk, but President Roosevelt declined sighting political reasons. What else Churchill could do? Against his deepest belief, he was almost ready to sanction and try the peace negotiation efforts.

However, at that crucial moment, the King came and saw him, and he granted his full support on whatever decisions Churchill made. It was the Moment of Grace; a sign from life, that was needed at that immense hour. The King also suggested him to go to the public seeking their opinion. It was a suggestion for Inversion!

Moved by his unexpected, genuine support, Churchill went into the underground train and met people of his country. He came to understand that all were on his side, echoing his belief to fight till the end, and did not want peace negotiation with Hitler on any terms.

He received that same kind of support from the outer cabinet members. It gave him the confidence, the clear direction he would have to pursue. With that encouragement, he rejected the peace proposal initiatives and he delivered his speech at the Parliament, which was one of the greatest speeches in the history of mankind.

"...We shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender..."

He himself had aligned with the Cosmic Plan subconsciously. By embracing the spiritual determinants in total, i.e. in the form of Courage and Faith, he was able to make life respond: He ordered to bring back the troops at Dunkirk by using civilian boats. He was hoping that he could save about 10% of the people at Dunkirk.

At that synchronous moment, it was the Divine's plan to create the famed mist at Dunkirk, so the German fighters could not see and attack on them. As a result, almost all 300,000 men of British forces were rescued by civilian boats under operation Dynamo; more than 10 times what Churchill had thought earlier.

The British never surrendered to Hitler afterwards.

(SM)

Honesty Power Evokes Deliciousness

Last week I had a strange life response.

I bought some fruits to my kids and her friends.

First a lady was weighing the fruits and then a young man came and continued to weigh them. And finally he started calculating the total cost of the fruits.

While doing so, he calculated less weight to one item. The lady who weighed those items also did not find the mistake. But I said that he calculated less weight, than we bought. And then I gave the correct amount to them.

After eating the fruits, my kid said that the orange we bought in that shop tasted exactly like mango. I think this as The Mother's Grace and a strange Response from life. (Devi Mirra)

RP Comment: Higher levels of Truth (including honesty) is a spiritual-like value that attracts good fortune - in forms such as breakthrough success and material satisfaction.

Wi-Fi Incident: Getting in Touch with, Giving Attention to Technology

Nowadays, network problem has become very common. Today I was as usual using my phone with WiFi. Suddenly there was no net connection. But when I looked at the modem, there was no problem in it. So I thought there may be a problem with my phone, and so I rebooted my phone. After that, WiFi worked properly.

Again in the evening, network connection didn't work. This time, rebooting my phone didn't help me.

So I looked at the modem and made a call from landline phone [which doesn't use WiFi]. What a surprise, Wi-Fi connection became alright!

So I thought that these things which we use daily, require our attention at times. So instead of just getting stress and blaming the network we can give attention and seek Mother's Grace to solve even smaller problems in our life. (Devi Mirra)

Comment by RP: The technology is conscious, and becomes outwardly conscious to us when we bring a higher consciousness to them. Yes, we get in touch with that by giving them greater Attention.

Also, when they are working fine we can inwardly offer our Gratitude to them, which will keep them working all the time, without interruption.

To Be Titled

Life seeks greater Harmony, - it is the Divine intent, - though it often comes about through Disharmony.

To Be Titled

Karmayogi says that the greatest power of Knowledge is Ignorance. I.e. it is the fastest means of bringing Truth about.

To Be Titled

No matter where the world wanders in these dark pseudo populist, dictatorial, oligarchic times, it must deal with the vast inequality, low wage, massive poverty, et al. in society. The Peoples of the world will demand it, as "Rising Expectations" continue to accelerate.

To Be Titled

The more you hold it inside and don't Complain, the more you tend to attract what you want or wanted, sooner or later. It's a form of "Silent Will."

To Be Titled

The Conscious tend to think critically and thus always question their motives, their facts, their logic and their conclusions. The Unconscious who negatively wield Power have the kind of arrogant confidence in the rightness of their cause that is only possessed by the truly ignorant. (paraphrase of TM)

To Be Titled

It is difficult to hold back one's Opinions; but the Conscious individual regularly does so. The reward is that Life continually takes to your points of view.

To Be Titled

Keep your attention, your mind focused on those things of higher consciousness, rather than the low or superficial. That will keep you in tune with, will attract conditions of a Higher Order from life.

To Be Titled

You wouldn't expect it, but unnecessary silliness for the conscious individual quickly attracts errors, misunderstandings, and the like.

Future Body of the Supramental Being

- In the evolution men and women are progressively becoming like one another.
- Mother says the supramental being would be sexless.
- She even became that herself several times in several startling subtle experiences.
- All current systems of the body - circulation, breathing, digestion, procreation et al - would be replaced with centers of consciousness.
- This personality would live as long as it wants.

Resolution of Phone Problem through Silence and Attention

Today I had Android phone problem. I just did 15 minutes meditation (thoughtless state) and again I tried my phone, with carefulness and greater attention. What a surprise, within a second my phone started working and my urgent transaction finished within a minute!

All are happy with this at home.

Silent will is very powerful.

(Sundari Sankar)

To Be Titled

The physical consciousness, including its habits and routines, doesn't want to change; only wants to keep repeating. So you have to take charge, do things freshly, differently; and as a result life will quickly reward you, often in the most unexpected ways.

To Be Titled

Aspiration is the source of all accomplishment in life. If there is Aspiration, the will, the power, and the knowledge will come to achieve.

To Be Titled

Nothing is impossible for the Divine when it wants to act. No law of life can restrain it; be a barrier to Its Intent.

To Be Titled

Our Aspiration to achieve is limited because our consciousness is limited in perceiving and believing in the infinite possibilities around us.

To Be Titled

Aspiring for the success of others qualifies you to receive the bounties of life. Otherwise, you are focused on yourself, which is ego, which qualifies you for nothing.

To Be Titled

Aspiration that originates in the Psychic Being that calls to Mother, the Supramental power, has ultimate effect.

To Be Titled

Each devotee can aspire to make $100,000/100 Lak per year, and accomplish that goal through Mother's /Appa's methods. Not for the sake of the Ego, but for an Adventure of Consciousness and Joy. For deep personal and spiritual growth.

Hourly Consecration Approach

Q: How to do Hourly Consecration?

A: My approach is-

At exactly (eg) 6:00 pm on the dot you remember Mother or move your attention to the Force while offering the problem or opportunity, then think/feel "thy will be done"; altogether for a few minutes. Do this for each waking hour. What is key is the intensity.

Supramental Perception of Subtle Signs

Subtle signs are constantly presenting themselves, indicating what we should be aware of, what we should or shouldn't be doing, and so forth.

Unfortunately, 95% of the subtle signs are missed by the average person. Even the considerably conscious person perceives only a very few in the course of the day.

As you develop your inner self, and see the correspondence between things, that percent rapidly rises. The Supramentalized individual is one who is in total harmony with his environment, and thus perceives these subtle and not so subtle indicators all the time. As a result, all his reactions are in the right direction. From within he is able to become master of the outer life.

Life Repeats Devastatingly in Current Affairs

George Bush Jr failed in so many of his earlier business and related ventures, and a few months from the end of his 2nd term as president the severe global Financial Crisis occurred, a direct correspondence to his consciousness. (i.e. the unbridled capitalistic financial speculation, which he advocated.)

There is a life principle that you get one chance to learn from a calamity. If you don't, the new iteration is far worse. (think WWII, after WWI)

Which brings us to Trump, with the same or worse propensities, and the potential for unprecedented devastation.

Ongoing Startling Soul Experience

I am increasingly shifting back and forth between the experience of my normal "Roy self and being," and a Something that is behind or observing it. It is an astonishing yet sometimes very disorienting experience that I have been having for 10 years, and has been accelerating recently. Often one is caught between the two, and one does not know who one is.

Still it is utterly amazing; extremely unusual. And through Mother I am able to control it if it gets out of hand. I believe It is a soul, psychic being phenomenon. Something Transformational.

On Opposition in Creation Process

Opposition is the basic input in the process of creation. Overcoming the opposition and bringing harmony in consciousness is the process of evolution. Other man's point of view, Transformation and consecration are aiming to bring that harmony in consciousness. (Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

To Be Titled

You can't run away from the problems you are having by going outside - i.e. socializing, watching tv and movies, taking drugs and alcohol, overeating, engaging in sex, and other diversions. - but rather by going inside, and discovering there the levers of real change.

To Be Titled

Often we get overwhelmed by life. This is an indicator and opportunity to densify our relationship with the Divine; by remembering Mother (consecrating) more often - i.e. in the small details of our daily lives.

To Be Titled

In the Sunlit Path we offer everything (problems opportunities, activities, our very lives) to Mother as life unfolds. It's simple really. But it requires real Faith. I.e. transferring our hopes, wants, expectations to Faith in what She will bring.

To Be Titled

Living happily, steadily in the chaos, randomness, unpredictability, - what we seem to have little control of - is a yogic poise.

To Be Titled

The Soviet system would likely never have come about if the West had not meddled in their Revolution. And Putin would likely never have come about if the West hadn't ignored the Russians, relegating them to second hand citizens after the end of the Cold War. Add the lack of Democratic tradition in Russia, and you have these two negative outcomes.

To Be Titled

India can increasingly serve as a positive counterbalance - to EU, USA, China, Russia frictions - in the rapidly emerging multi-polar world.

Sri Karmayogi - Ultimate Visionary

The only True Visionary I know of in the world is Sri Karmayogi, who is perhaps hundreds of years ahead of all other visionaries (in a vast array of fields), and much more than that beyond the common man.

To Be Titled

Mother communicated often with Sri Aurobindo after His passing, who was/is fully engaged in activities. Similarly, we are increasingly communicate with Mother, whose Force has greatly intensified since She left the material plane.

Mother and the Church

Mother for years tried to inwardly and outwardly change the Church, which She felt was holding back society. If it could change, then it would be a great release and support for a new consciousness. If you read Her Agenda, She discusses many of these inner and outer initiatives (in the 1960s and 70s) to change the underlying beliefs of the Vatican (especially), as well as other church leaders.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo worked to organize and densify the Supramental power for the earth before and after He left in 1950. Then in 1956, Mother, in a vision, wielded a golden hammer that set loose the Supermind to pour down on the earth, fulfilling Sri Aurobindo's cosmic efforts. That power is now available to each of us to Transform life.

Radical Perfection and Change

The public and their business leaders scorn the idea of perfection, as it appears to stifle innovation and change. But that is not the Perfection we advocate, which embraces Uncertainty and other forms of Radical Change as part of that effort to Perfect.

Perfection is therefore not just to do everything exactly right, but to also embrace change perfectly from moment to moment.

--

and let's not forget perfection of organization, attitudes, values, etc.

To Be Titled

Intuition is to be in touch with the Inner Voice that is itself in touch with the Superconscious.

To Be Titled

What greatly changes the world is following the Process of Creation, plus practicing the powerful Spiritual Qualities and Methods at our disposal.

Sri Aurobindo's Intent and Will is flowing through us, and we are beginning to perceive it in one another. Life Responding on the outside is proof it is not an illusion.

To Be Titled

One must give everything of one's self, and then when one has exhausted the last drop of energy, one must Let Go. At that point, Life takes over, as positive response comes quickly from a variety of directions. It works the same in any field - whether, science, art, athletics, business, education, governance, or other.

To Be Titled

Willingness to shed the routine, doing the same thing over and over, avoiding what you fear, and instead journeying into and embracing the Unknown is key to attracting the next set of positive conditions in your life.

To Be Titled

Experiencing Failure is a way to come to Know what you don't know, and is therefore part of the Journey.

To Be Titled

Intuition enables one to integrally connect with one's past, present, and future at once.

To Be Titled

Discover one's soul, psychic being, and one then tends to perceive the same in others. Harmony and Oneness is the result. It is a great yogic achievement. It can even be done by the businessperson! Maybe he should take it up before others!

To Be Titled

The noise of the external world is muting the voice of the Inner World. (Malidoma Some)

To Be Titled

Key to developing our consciousness is to see the world inside-out, instead of the opposite.

Indian Limits to Success

Here is my paraphrase of Karmayogi's list of negatives of Indians that hold them back from achieving success in life, as presented in Spiritual Opulence and elsewhere:

- dishonesty
- corruption
- laziness
- rather meditate or do nothing than act
- lack of motivation
- lack of independent thinking
- lack of individuality

- conformity
- not perceiving the power of Indian thought in relation to success
- not taking advantage of Indian intuitive capacity.
- not perceiving India's potential
- lack of education
- lack of organization
- acute Ignorance in life
- caste, stifling of women, et al
- non-circulation, hoarding of jewelry, other wealth
- obsession with temple attendance and gods, not the wider spirit available
- not perceiving that the infinite can arise from the finite
- not seeing they have access to supramental power that brings instantaneous luck into one's life
- poor attitudes towards others, work, and life

Of course things are really beginning to change for the better since Karmayogi wrote 'Spiritual Opulence'. And there are new problems that have now arisen. Perhaps others might perceive the newer ones more than myself.

Eg materialism (like the West), selfishness, missing core set of personal values, etc.

One Sentence for Practicing Life Response

I am sharing my experience. It is very simple.

Example.

--"Practice silence one day"... It is at PHYSICAL level.

--Next day practice silence for one more day in VITAL level.... Do not get angry.

--Third day practice silence in MENTAL level... Thought-less state

--Fourth day, by adding them one by one, I was in a state of ease....ease means soul conscious

Really, the whole week I was very happy.

I heard good news.

I earned very good name during my PhD viva test.

So many things happened. (Sundari)

(later added by Sundari)

I just did 15 minutes meditation (thoughtless state) and again I tried my phone, carefully and with greater attention. What a surprise, within a second my phone started working, and my urgent transaction finished within a minute.

All are happy with this at home.

Silent will is very powerful.

Comment: Nice experiment to evoke life response among the ascending planes, that succeeded royally.

Reader: Can you please elaborate on Silence at vital level. Also silence in mental level is very difficult to attain-thoughtless state by even who are very advanced spiritually.

Response: Silence at vital level includes not reacting to the intensities of others; instead remaining calm and still. Also not reacting emotionally to bad news, others condemnation, etc. It is also not getting caught up in our desires, needs, wants.

At the mental level we can increasingly reduce thinking by controlling the mind's restless and needless thinking, and begin to open to intuition where knowledge comes on its own into our mind without the churning of thought. Also practicing silent will, consecration, meditation, moving to inner poise instead of the surface, etc. can all reduce thinking. The mind thus slowly moves toward silence. Only for a very rare few does it all happen at once.

Beyond Rationality

Humans are considerably more rational than they were 200, 100, or even 50 years ago. This is due in large part to education. However rationality is not enough to meet ever-intensifying life conditions. Deeper Insights about the nature of existence must follow.

On Global Trade

-Global Trade and automation are great things, especially if we keep an eye on those who are left behind. If we don't (and we haven't), upheaval will follow.

-Trumps anti-global view (especially trade) helps point out how precious global cooperation is key to the progress of society. Without his recoil, we might not fully appreciate its role in the world. The Darkness serves the Light.

-Successful global trade and unregulated laissez-faire capitalism are longer-term incompatible.

(TM) Up to now, the global economy has followed the model of laissez faire capitalism: The strong and the rich get stronger and richer while the great middle struggles to avoid losing ground and the bottom third falls further and further behind, stuck in a virtual debtor's prison.

(RP) Yes. And it can't go on that way any longer.

-Global trade, despite its flaws, has fostered a lot of good will among nations over the years. We see this in many places, especially in Asia.

-Global trade is a further step toward human unity.

-Full economic, social, cultural and spiritual integration are further stages for the future.

To Be Titled

To solve a problem at the current level, go to a higher or deeper level.

To Be Titled

Taking the other person's viewpoint is the supramental view, as it opens one's consciousness to all sides, which is the way Supermind perceives existence.

To Be Titled

Interestingly, when you stop railing against another's Evil, that Darkness tends to start dissipating.

To Be Titled

If you want to overcome the problems you have with your children, first recognize the same or similar issues in yourself.

To Be Titled

Only the cooperation and collaboration of nations can save the world of its problems.

To Be Titled

Individual fulfillment and harmony of purpose are twin goals of creation.

To Be Titled

The power of positive thinking is its ability to attract good fortune, engendering great success.
Reader: Is the power of positive thinking really valid if one adopts consecration as a practice

Response: Consecration normally contains positive thinking, since we seek positive outcomes through it, and because we have some degree of Faith in the outcome; what Mother/the Divine gives.

We could thus say that the greater the Faith, the more positive is our thinking in relation to the consecrated act.

To Be Titled

Our conception of God determines His power

To Be Titled

Upon awakening do we merely engage in our normal routines, or do we consecrate the day, offering our deepest Aspirations to the Higher Power.

To Be Titled

The great, vastly expanding companies and organizations of the present were in touch with the Future in the their past.

To Be Titled

Being in touch with the Future is key to success in the present - whether organization or individual.

To Be Titled

Regressive forces are those desiring to bring back, invigorate a past that no longer has any relevance.

To Be Titled

Nothing good can come out of an evil man other than through positive reaction to his negatives. Eg Israel would never exist were it not for Hitler. Nor the UN, the EU, the end of colonialism, the ascent of America, etc. (paraphrase of Tony)

To Be Titled

When Mind refuses to accept the truth, Nature creates situations of emotional distress and even physical suffering to prove its point.

To Be Titled

When there is fear, worry, doubt, put all of your faith in Mother. Things will work out as it should.

Supramentalized Knowledge/Skill of a Subject/Capacity

As knowledge in the world expanded exponentially there was a movement to create categorizations of topics. Same with skills and the need for specialization. The world we see around us is like that.

However, now Knowledge and skill specialization has become so compartmentalized and isolated from the integral truth of that subject or work that it misses its true potential. As a result, now there is a vast need for cross-pollination of disciplines of knowledge and skill. That way the individual gets a holistic view of things. Eg the sociologist needs certain economics and psychology knowledge. The same for every other knowledge or skill.

And when he garners the cross-pollinated integral whole, details, and essence of a subject or skill, he gains the supramental view of thing, as well as an enormous capacity to bring about startling developments in any field. Also, life responds dramatically in the positive to that integral, cross-pollinated supramentalization.

This then becomes an ultimate challenge for education; to develop students with such extraordinary abilities

To Be Titled

The best remedy (I mean the easiest) for me, is: what You will – what You will, in all sincerity. In all sincerity. And then – then understanding comes. Then you understand. But you don't understand mentally, not here (Mother touches her head).

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 12, 1972)

To Be Titled

The Supramental view acknowledges the role ignorance, falsehood, and evil play in the Evolution.

Psychic Being Replaces Ego in the Evolution

Ego is the obstruction. Ego was necessary to shape humanity, but we are now preparing the way for a superhumanity, a supra- humanity. The job of the ego is over – it did its job well, now it must disappear.

And it is the psychic being, the Divine's representative in man, that will stay on and pass into the next species.

So we must learn to gather all our being around the psychic. Those who wish to pass to the supra-humanity must get rid of the ego and concentrate themselves around the psychic being.

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 12, 1972)

Not Divine "Will," But Divine's "Way of Being"

And for everything, everything, all problems, do like this (Mother opens her hands): what You will, Lord, what You will....

I know – I say "will," but it's neither a vision nor the will of the Divine, it's ... His way of being. A particular way of being – successive ways of being. We always think of a "conscious will," but it isn't like that: it's His way of being. The way of being of His consciousness.

He has projected His consciousness into a creation: it's His way of being. And it's His way of being that changes.

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 15, 1972)

Conscious Eating

- Consecrate the activity to the Divine/the Mother
- Concentrate on the meal at hand, putting aside other matters
- Avoid speaking if you can
- Empty the mind of thoughts
- Focus on the food
- Observe yourself eating
- Savor the food, but without attachment
- Eat slowly, carefully
- At the end feel fulfilled, immersed in silence and satisfaction

To Be Titled

Evolution is the journey from separative, divided consciousness to Oneness.

To Be Titled

The Supramental has descended from the spiritual to the mental to the vital and now to the subtle physical plane. The last step is to bring it into the full material plane. It will be the means of material transformation, including willed immortality of individuals. That became Mother's mission in Her later years, as captured in Agenda.

Go Within Rather than Outside to Accomplish a Work

Instead of going outside to organize a work, e.g. by planning, strategizing, connecting with others, et al; instead go WITHIN, where you will see that the work is organized at a Higher Level.

And if we go within to connect with the work, are in touch with that higher level, we gain enormous power over life, including its results.

In essence, when the ego doesn't act, when the mind, or the vital, or the physical doesn't act on the surface, something HIGHER acts and organizes life for success. We can say that it is Mother who is acting, taking over and bringing about an integral response.

It turns out that going Inside to accomplish a work, instead of on the surface is a spiritual challenge given to us by Sri Karmayogi.

To Be Titled

When you go within, instead of going out to take initiative, the Force descends and starts acting.

To Be Titled

When you withdraw from the surface, the ego, the mind, the initiative, and all, and go deep within, the consciousness in turn rises; ascending towards the Light like a ray returning to the sun.

To Be Titled

Refraining from unnecessary silliness instantly attracts the positive. The inverse is also true.

To Be Titled

Old way: thinking to garner knowledge. New way: NOT thinking to gain it.

Comment: ... through Silent Mind (rational thought steeped in silence), Illumination (perceive a knowledge in a flash), Intuition (knowledge entering mind without thought), and Supramental Perception (integral truth and knowledge appears in one's "mind" without thought; with equal power for its full realization, manifestation in life).

Move Life from Within when Opportunity Comes

When an opportunity comes, our normal reaction is to go into a state of action on the outside. Instead, we should go INSIDE, where we will perceive the organization of our consciousness relative to the matter, which we can then raise to a higher level, enabling us to quickly and powerfully move the outer life from Within.

To Be Titled

have to go beyond the THOUGHT of the Knowledge we have been given to the EXPERIENCE of it. That is ten or a hundred times more powerful.

To Be Titled

We should try to earn a 100 crore or more. Not just for our own sale, but for the world. I.e. to help bring society forward in consciousness through best utilization of these funds. It is part of our universal mission on earth, beyond our Individual quest.

To Be Titled

When we give up our limitation and smallness, including our egoistic self-concern, and widen ourselves to the Universal, we meet there the infinite Divine, in Its omnipotence and omniscience.

To Be Titled

We devotees are transitional beings, between the human and the Supramental; to a lesser or greater degree.

To Be Titled

World economic problems can only be solved by greater cooperation among the nations.

To Be Titled

The current very negative Trade Wars may help shock the world into deeper, fairer, and more just cooperation; leaving no man behind.

To Be Titled

Mind as we know it no longer exists in the experience of Supramental Perception. A new formation, instrument of cognition is enabled. Sri Aurobindo called it Supermind.

To Be Titled

Asian people discovered the Americas 20,000 years ago.

Demise of Communism, Capitalism

In the early 1970s the Mother said Communism and Capitalism would both soon crumble. When the Soviet system collapsed in 1989 everyone Was astonished, but not Mother and a number of Her followers. Same now for Capitalism.

Only a Human-centric economic and social system can work for the emerging needs of society, not a Money-centered one as we have now, which is the source for so much strife in the world.

To Be Titled

The Divine in collaboration with Nature have an Intention for the world which only a few can perceive. Through the Play of Forces - both harmonic and their opposite - the Divine Intention is being realized in the world.

The Dominant Urge, Wave of the Times; And the Coming Spiritual Individual

Religion, race, and language often become a bone of contention. The Crusades were fought over a sacred religious spot. There is a lot of truth in those forces. But there is always an overriding factor. In each period MAN is after something -- survival, territorial integrity, living standards, patriotism, honour of the sacred soil, etc. That is the God of that period. All the other things are lip service. Capitalism, socialism, communism are beside the point for the masses, if the God of that period is not honoured.

Russia stood for communism. The popular idea was America swore by capitalism. Abolish the visa requirements and allow free immigration as the US did in the 16th and 17th centuries, and regardless of 'isms', populations would move towards a land of prosperity in a great exodus.

Rising standard of living was the God of the 20th century and it will be so until Asia and Africa become prosperous.

Ramanujam refused to go to Cambridge in the twenties, as he was an orthodox Brahmin and crossing the ocean was impermissible to his orthodoxy. It is true the religious scruple is a block, but only up to a point. When that point of tolerance is crossed, MAN is carried on the wave of the period.

In a period of patriotic fervour, MONEY will lose its lure. There are times when Man is willing to die for his religion or to defend his nation. It is true. A greater truth is the dominant wave of the century or the period or the age. It is something that compels. Man's dominant urges find themselves subservient to that cause.

The twentieth century witnessed a phenomenal rise in the standard of living all over the world. Today India is at $500 while the USA was at $750 in the thirties and from there she has now crossed $30,000. No more is Man bound by isms, religions, national pride, etc. He wants to raise his standard. When the Soviet Union asked for 6000 skilled workers, from the USA alone 100,000 volunteered to come in the 1920s. The cause of a period is called the evolutionary tide. Nothing can stem that tide while it is on the ascendant.

It is my personal view that the 21st century will espouse another greater cause. It will not be a cause of patriotism, honour, religion, race or anything that has actuated Man up until now. It will be the cause of the emerging Spiritual Individual. He will value his freedom, his own personal views, his own prerogative to protect his individuality. It is not social individualism or psychological independence, but the INDIVIDUALITY of his Spiritual Being.

(Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

If you need work and are offered a small paying job, and instead of being disappointed and unwilling, you accept it, then before you even go on the job, a much larger opportunity will tend to come your way. In other words, shifting from unwillingness to acceptance, - no matter how small a matter, - opens up wider possibilities; i.e. the infinite potentials of life.

To Be Titled

"One good turn deserves another" is the law of karma, is Life Response, i.e. onset of sudden good fortune, from out of the blue.

Karmayogi - Multi-Faceted, Integral Genius

Karmayogi explains society better than the greatest social scientist; history better than the greatest historian; economics better than the greatest economist; business leadership better than the greatest business leader; education better than the greatest educator; psychology better than the greatest psychologist; and spirituality better than the greatest living guru. All in the same one person. Sri Karmayogi: The great, unprecedented, unrivaled, multi-dimensional integral genius in the world.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo said that one man can change the world. (e.g. like Martin Luther, Leonardo da Vinci, Albert Einstein, Steve Jobs, et al.) Then what can you do in your life to make that happen?

(please enter in Comments)

Consciousness-Based Thoughts on the US Civil War and Beyond

Freedom and Unity are the highest of values. In fact, they are spiritual in essence; deriving from the Supreme.

Lincoln believed in and applied them both to secure victory for the North, against the South who hoped to maintain human slavery of Black Africans.

To arrive at the spiritual values of Freedom and Unity, the opposite presented itself: Slavery (no freedom) and Division (conflict, between the North and South).

It turns out that the application of the two spiritual values by Lincoln and his followers were able to overcome the contradictions.

Those who were selfish, like some of North's generals, needed to be replaced to make those values real in the world. To that end, Lincoln exercised bold and profound Leadership.

The Aspiration for application of these values can be thought of as Supramental in intent, and therefore had inner and outer power to win the day. Not only as a guiding ideal, but also its propensity to manifest as real in the world; in the form of the victory of the North. (Supermind has integral knowledge and truth, as well as and urge for manifestation as real.)

As a result, of the victory of the North, vast energies were released for the good; as it royally lifting up the economy. It began a decades-long boom; unprecedented in the nation's history.

Let's look in an entirely different direction.

Karmayogi indicated that the Black problem in America came about (and exists till this day) because of the settlers and army of the country wiped out millions of the Native people through violence and passed-on disease. I.e. the Civil War and the conflict over the status of Blacks in the modern world was a negative life response to vast abuse of the native peoples.

Let's take it in another direction still.

America is still guns-obsessed, leading to a multitude of tragedies; that even schoolchildren have been compelled to rally against. Guns, like slavery and the holocaust against the Native people, are all of the same order. Attributes of what we may call a low "physical consciousness."

We can take it further still.

I believe income inequality is a product of such low physical consciousness. I.e. accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few, devoid of fairness. That said, then if the US reverses those negative ways, wealth will spread in diverse ways throughout the land, and its bounty will go out to all segments of the people.

(thanks to SM's original article on the subject 'Ultimate Determinants of the US Civil War' that inspired my thoughts here)

Ultimate Determinants in the US Civil War

What was the determinant in abolishing slavery and the end of American Civil war?

[Paraphrase of Garry Jacobs' 'The Life Divine' lectures by SM]

150 years ago, in 1861, shortly after Abraham Lincoln became the President of United States, a war was waged to determine whether the country as of today would exist as One or that would be broken into independent states/countries. The North (Union) and the Southern (Confederate) States fought each other and both had opposite views on slavery where Northern states wanted to eradicate but the southern states favored it. If the outcome of the war could have been different, the country USA might not exist as like today.

What determined the outcome of the war?

- Based on the facts, the southern states were winning the war in the early years of the battle.
- General McClellan who was the general of Northern army was not fighting The South as per President's order. He was constantly making excuses that they didn't have enough troops and so forth. It was all due to his selfish reasons as he was aiming to contest for President in future elections and then to make peace negotiations in the future.
- In the late 1862, in one of the crucial battle between General McClellan (Northern Union) and General Robert E Lee (Southern States), McClellan decided to retrieve. Later, the soldiers of Northern states found three cigars wrapped in a paper on the ground. That paper contained in the key information about the battle plan and the number of soldiers information in the Southern army. With that info, the Northern states secured their first victory which was a turning point in the Civil War. So, was it "Chance" the determinant?

- The President, Abraham Lincoln, who perceived that as a sign of God and decided to act on ending slavery and took immense measures to bring the 13th amendment to the Congress for voting in the next 2 years. It was passed in Congress House by a mere margin of two votes.

So was it the chance, or the military and economic power of North, or President Lincoln who was the determinant?

The two things that ultimately determined the outcome of war and abolishing slavery was Freedom and Unity. All the common people who were earnestly seeking for freedom, equality, and wanted to progress in the society determined the final outcome. Freedom and Unity are nothing but the fundamental Spiritual aspects of the Spirit. Perhaps all the above said factors became the instruments to manifest the cosmic plan.

It was interesting to note that the war started after Abraham Lincoln became the President in 1860. It might be due to subconscious understanding of what was going to come in the future and so the reaction forces resisted that on the surface by creating that war.

The movie, "Lincoln" (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lincoln_\(film\))), beautifully portrays the final four months of President Lincoln's life and how he had succeed in abolishing the slavery and also ending the war. He was so adamant to bring the 13th amendment in place despite of many opposition and he took immense measures to convince some of Democratic members to support that. He wanted that to happen at any cost before the war was concluded and the southern states united. Perhaps he might have perceived sub consciously what was going to come in the future. Within 3 months the amendment was passed in the Congress, he was shot dead in April 15, 1865.

He preserved the Union, abolished slavery, strengthened the federal government, and modernized the economy.

Society & The Individual

[Society's Institutions Support Growth of Individual; while Each Person Develops His Own Individuality and Potential]

In future the best practice of government is to deeply value, care about, and help develop the potential of each individual in society.

The same for the economic system, where the human individual, not money, should become the center of life.

The same for the education system where teachers will not just impart information, but will serve students and their aspirations in life.

And the same for the corporate world, where leaders will do everything they can to bring out the potential of its employees.

Each of these (and other) institutions of society can work to bring out the greatest possibilities for each person on earth.

From the other side, each individual can fully develop his/her own individuality and thus potential, the results of which will not only enable that person's great success and fulfillment, but will also be a great boon to society.

To Be Titled

Too much excitement as a result of winning an account (or a match or any clear success) will often cause it to go elsewhere. Instead, when the agreement comes, be as calm as possible, offering the opportunity to the Higher Power. Now the energies will settle in, and it can be your account, etc. forever.

To Be Titled

Not expressing an Opinion is more powerful than expressing it, as Life cooperates with that verbal restraint.

Past Consecration Attracts Another to Clean

"Good evening,

For 2 days I practiced inner silence and calling to MOTHER and did past consecration, to clean my inner attitude.

(By past two days inner clean work I mean past consecration.)

This past month I tried to clean my veranda room, but I was unable to clean.

Wonderful, within one day all of a sudden my daughter cleaned everything.

Inner and outer life response.

Thanks lot to MSS". (Sundari)

Comment: Past consecration of inner attitude released the positive energies that enabled the aspiration to clean be fulfilled through someone else. The Inner Cleaning attracted the Outer Cleaning Help. (It is likely to have other positive implications as well.)

To Be Titled

Everything is exquisitely interconnected, but we miss it, perceiving only the surface view. However, living deeper within, we progressively perceive it everywhere.

To Be Titled

Sometimes it's what you hold inside, keep close to one's heart and being, and don't share that has the greatest power for inner change and fulfillment.

Synchronicity on the Highway

A fact that expresses Truth tends to attract more of it from Life. This is perhaps the first time I have recognized this fact-related nuance of the life response phenomenon.

I was driving on a highway, accompanied by a friend. I mentioned that as you get older that other cars seem to be driving faster. While it is true that in recent decades highways seem to be having faster drivers, it also seemed true that as you age, others appear to be going faster, though they are not from the perspective of age influence.

A second after I expressed these two facts related to driving speed on the highway, my friend said we just passed an old age home with assisted living. She pointed it out because she caught the synchronicity between my discussions seconds earlier and this fact.

One step further: Supramental consciousness perceives all sides, the essence, and the totality of a matter. When you get close to that multifaceted truth in your thoughts, life vibrates and returns more of it; i.e. the two align facts and information.

As I had examined things from various angles, I felt I had come to a significant insight on the truth of this matter; raising me closer to Supramental perception, thereby enabling the synchronicity to come about

To Be Titled

Material well-being and prosperity is the solid foundation for personal and spiritual growth, development, and transformation

Predecessor Events Indicating Future Outcomes and the Power We Can Have Over Them

One aspect that relates to both the Character of Life and Life Response is the phenomenon of "Predecessor Events." That things occurring in the present indicate things to come in the future.

Eg in the book 'Lady Anna' by Trollope a young woman is on a date with a ruthless cousin. And on their meeting, she trips and does serious damage to her leg. Months later this man and a relative will strive to kill both the woman and her significant other.

As we see small circumstance can indicate future ones; large or small, negative or positive.

To avoid the negative iteration(s), take notice the original negative circumstance as it occurs or just occurred and Consecrate it (offering it to the divine Power). That way the negative iteration in future will NOT occur.

If the negative does come (where consecration was not evoked) and negative repeating consequences followed, one can do "Past Consecration" to overcome the past's influence on the present. Intense contrition when taking to this spiritual-like act will bring greater power and effectivity to the Past Consecration effort.

To Be Titled

Through Life Response phenomenon one makes ultimate use of time, as what would normally take a lengthy duration happens in an instant, creating ultimate efficiency in life. The same for space.

To Be Titled

Youth enjoys dissipation of their vast energies as they are not conscious of the means to positively absorb them. Conscious youngsters are the exceptions.

To Be Titled

The Knowledge that comes through Education absorbs the vast energies of youth for productive use, instead of their normal animalistic propensities. The deeper the knowledge, the greater the energy utilization result. The greater the energy utilization result, the more life cooperates with each act.

To Be Titled

We come in contact with certain people at certain times to further our and their progress and evolution. There is the Divine intention behind. Whether we succeed will depend on how we relate to, react to circumstance.

To Be Titled

Going after life - the clients, the media, et all - to spread the word about Her is not Mother's way. Instead She waits outside your door for a loving yearning of the Inner Flame.

(paraphrase of Sri Karmayogi)

Background Research On Life Response

Life Response is a phenomenon that we have been doing a great deal of research on over the last several years. Actually, my teacher Sri Karmayogi at Mother's Service Society has been examining this phenomenon and explaining it to his followers for over thirty years! He in fact coined the term "life response" many years ago.

In particular, we have discovered the keys that trigger life response. That is, the human behaviors that we can adopt in our lives that will cause life to suddenly, often instantaneously to respond in kind.

The thing that is startling, miraculous-like is that the response can originate from half way around the world; from people you have never known; in areas of life never perceived; and it can happen in the blink of an eye!

Most would call such outcomes as "luck," or shrug it off as mere coincidence. The truth is that life response is just one expression of the secret ways that life is organized at the subtle level of existence; just beyond our normal level of awareness. Just as we are unaware of certain frequencies of sounds and light, we are unaware of the subtle life forces and powers that are occurring in the universe. These forces and powers hidden behind life, form a kind of cosmic organization and backbone on which phenomena like "synchronicity", "simultaneity", "interconnectedness", and Life Response occur.

(from collection 'Conversations' with Roy Posner, 1998-2007)

Predecessor and Successor Outcome in Bottled Water Incident

A man was doing grocery shopping. He saw an item he wanted. It was a bottle of carbonated water, lightly sweetened with fruit flavor. However, to get at the item he had to pass a worker and his cart of products that he was loading onto the shelves. It was blocking the man's way forward to the desired item.

In fact, the person loading the shelf was talking on his cell, oblivious to customers trying to get by. The man, who has seen these correlations many times before, was very hesitant to take the item he desired from the shelf. Still he did take it, though he knew that such things has consequences down the line.

He then completed his grocery shopping and went out to his car. Curious about the taste, he then tried to take a sip from the bottle he purchased, but the item exploded on him, releasing the liquid with all of the fizz.

As he stood there with water all around, he instantly knew that the earlier incident involving the bottle with the shelver/worker was a "predecessor" of the exploding bottle incident (the "successor"). He had seen this subtle life dynamic many times before, but his desire outweighed caution.

He also thought that had he Consecrated the earlier negative event, the follow-up successor event would never have occurred. It was another life lesson to be learned along the way.

To Be Titled

The Psychic Being is the Divinity in ourselves. It is imperishable, existing life to life, birth to rebirth, ad infinitum. Sri Aurobindo asks us to connect to It within to make our existence imperishable, never-ending, infinite, immortal; including our physical existence.

How Can We Change Our Consciousness?

We have to shift from will of the ego and dividing mind to Thy Will by consecration and surrender - from selfishness to self-givingness. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Soul gradually awakens to the divine quest for immortality. (MSS)

To Be Titled

We turn knowledge into power through our psychological Experience. (MSS)

Expressions of Stillness, Beingness that Attract

We know more by silence than by word or thought.

(Don't speak, think; knowledge will come)

We act more powerfully by silent will than overt expression.

(Don't speak out your idea, want, and others will speak it out for you.)

We accomplish more by non-initiative than by ego-initiative.

(Don't initiate, let life initiate for you; then respond to that).

(Based on MSS)

Creation Process

What happens when your vision inspires you

Your mission is clear

You decide to go for it

You meet your resistance

You choose paradox
Your intention is strong
You take in new information
You stay through chaos and creation
You get support
You are congruent
You are in synergy
You choose responsibility
(Unknown)

Ego Reaction to Round of Success or Failure, and Life Response

If the Ego grabs hold of a success, the next round will likely bring failure.

If the Ego is shed when there is failure (eg through contrition, self-awareness, yet without self-pity), the next round will likely bring success.

Non-Expectation Attracts

Often a hoped for result comes about precisely at the point you have forgotten the matter. In these instances, it is what life requires from us to reap its bounty. Another way of saying this is that in such cases life responds at the point of non-expectation. I have experienced it many times, and it is a wonder to behold. Eg longed for checks arrive only when I have forgotten the matter.

To Be Titled

Mother says that in normal life we rush around here and there, only to end in a big crash (psychological, emotional, or physical). Aspiration for higher consciousness and deeper poise and stillness of being are nowhere to be found.

Life Works on Many Fronts Simultaneously

One of the subtle laws of existence that Sri Aurobindo revealed is that Life (otherwise known as Nature or Prakriti) works on many fronts simultaneously.

Take the nearly ruinous elopement episode involving Lydia and Wickham in Pride and Prejudice:

--As a result of this negative situation, Wickham will eventually be tamed, forced to pay his debts, and settle down and marry, all good for uplifting his lower consciousness.

--As a result Darcy takes responsibility for an action that he did not really create as part of an initiative to elevate his character.

--As a result Darcy and Eliza will be married, overcoming their previous pride and prejudice.

--As a result the struggling middle class Bennett family will come into great wealth.

--As a result, three marriages take shape, when the Bennett family were concerned that no one would want to marry their daughters.

--As a result the middle and upper classes will come to work out their differences, as they do in the wake of the elopement, as the wealthy Darcy will marry the middle class Eliza.

Examine any problematic situation, and perceive how its resolution has or would resolve a variety of situations. In this way, we see how Life works on many fronts simultaneously.

Surface vs Deep Consciousness When In Line

When in line for store checkout, the surface consciousness wants the customer ahead to speed up; whereas the Deeper consciousness cares that customer is served well.

To Be Titled

Surface living leads to Ego and Separateness. Living in Depths enables Harmony and Oneness.

To Be Titled

One of my favorite Indian films of recent years is AMAL. It is a story about a man of utter humility and self-givingness; and how life responds as a result. I have watched it several times, and each time I have perceived more of its depth.

Here is the trailer.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WDk8C2W8mu4>

The actual film is available on YouTube.

To Be Titled

Man is the Infinite with the appearance of the Finite. The Force helps him discover his own infinity. In life, it is material abundance. We can call it "Spiritual Opulence". (Sri Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

A problem is a problem and looms largely only as long as we are inside it. The moment we are able to come out of its structure the problem dissolves. (The Mother)

-thanks to p santhosh

Resolving the Play of He and She

-All is a play of He and She. Of Spirit (purusha) and Nature/life (prakriti).

-He acts through process, through law, through necessity, and fixed rule. She acts through fantasy, caprice, chaos, unpredictability, and chance.

-Our whole life seems to be the experience of combinations of these. Eg we see the Necessity of things happening in our lives (He), but also perceive mere Chance (She) at work. We fail to see the Truth of things; i.e. how these opposites are resolved.

-And yet we can reconcile both by withdrawing from the surface of life and moving to the depths within, culminating in the psychic being, and surrendering to Mother's Supramental Force.

-Through our higher consciousness we continuously perceive the right relation and deeper Truth of things. We reconcile contradictory forces, opposites in our lives; living naturally, harmonically in the play of He and She.

To Be Titled

Nations are lost in their individual problems; trying to solve what is unsolvable on their own. They should realize that it is only through cooperation and harmony with other nations that they can find their salvation.

To Be Titled

Competition turning into Cooperation is a sign of conscious evolution.

Supramental as Integral Truth and Creation Power

Supramental means "Truth Consciousness." One perceives all sides of a matter, each fitting in its right place; the essence of the matter, and its totality. One has everything one needs to know to successfully act, creating ultimate results.

Supramental also contains the urge and will for the Integral knowledge of that matter, that Truth, to manifest as real in the world. Thus Supramental is ultimate Creation power, as it is based on Integral Truth.

Thus the universe came to be through this dual aspect of the Supramental.

It was also infused with cosmic values - like peace, harmony, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity rolling out in creation through the evolutionary process.

Sri Aurobindo thus indicates that "Supermind is the Creator." It is the same as the power of the Mother's Force.

To Be Titled

Virtually all of our daily lives involve what we might call "Surface Living." Rarely in the course of our day we go within, into the Depths of our consciousness. Thus we receive as response a bare minimum of positive results, instead of the infinity that lurks behind all things.

Beyond the Straight Jacket of the Physical Consciousness

The physical consciousness does not want to change. It wants to repeat the same thing over and over, ad infinitum. Repeat the same thoughts, the same feelings, the same physical habits and routine.

It has inherited this unchanging quality from the fixidity and unconsciousness of matter. Most of our lives are governed by it. We are slaves to it.

However at each point where we break out of it, life responds in our favor, which energizes us to no end.

Who would have thought that this capacity to instantly evoke the marvelous is always at our fingertips. When we break out of the straight jacket of the physical consciousness, life quickly Opens Up before us. It is a Wonder to behold!

Perfect Dovetailing of Circumstance

Wouldn't it be marvelous if everything could flow perfectly in the course of your day. It can, to perfect precision if you consecrate the activity beforehand, as well as maintain the highest positive attitude. Life will then cooperate and flow smoothly, perfectly down to the tiniest detail. A profound dovetailing of circumstance will surely follow!

Pleasure in One's Duties

The physical consciousness just wants to do things it deems enjoyable, rather than do one's duties, which it considers humdrum and mundane. Yet duties can become highly energizing when done in the right spirit, right consciousness, - revealing avenue of discovery and pleasure one would not have thought possible.

USA's Greatest & Missing Values

USA greatness is due in large part to it valuing Individuality. In recent years it has begun to falter because it has not valued fairness and equality in the spreading of wealth. To embody TRUE Individuality it will need to adopt these undeveloped harmonic social values. Then She can return to the position of true world leader and influencer.

To Be Titled

Mother could perceive the character of any person just by looking at a photo. Her consciousness is so wide and deep that She could perceive any and all vibrations in their proper proportion. We too can develop that cosmic relational capacity by building an inner life.

To Be Titled

Certain Mother devotees, channeling Her Force through their institution, acted synchronously with Her ending the Cold War.

Theft and Its Inverse Relation to Attention

A landlord owned among other properties of a small isolated coconut garden. For long years he could not harvest the nuts for his use or sale. Before they were fully ripe all of them used to be stolen. This garden is sandwiched between two labour settlements from which it is futile to try to protect the nuts. The landlord used to harvest the nuts before they were ripe and use them as tender coconuts, for purposes of drinking. He was vexed in his attempts to stop pilfering and therefore stopped tending the garden. Recently he took to Mother and there were very happy changes in his general life, business life, life as a landlord except for two aspects of which this was one. To help maintain progress in life and take it to higher levels, it is necessary that at the present plane of activities loopholes such as this need to be plugged.

It was erroneous on his part to have left the garden to itself. He neglected it and the neglect got itself organised. It was suggested to him that he visit the garden for a short while every day for a week. While at the garden it is desirable that he takes a good full look at each tree or at least each row of trees. He must regret having neglected the trees and try to think of the garden and the trees during the course of the day as often as possible. The trees, he was told, would certainly respond to this attention; but if his attention could be genuine interest in their lives as a plant, it is desirable.

Some weeks later he reported that thefts have stopped completely and after a long time he had his first ever harvest! He explained that there were four ring leaders in the area who had been sharing this garden among themselves. One of them was caught in some electric shock and was no longer valid for purposes of nocturnal tree climbing. In the other's locality, civic consciousness made itself felt and in the local panchayat it was decided that no one should indulge in such activities anymore. The other two seemed to have turned a new leaf and felt regret for their past.

The philosophical part of this episode is after all the landlord refused to evince continued interest when it became impossible for him to be properly remunerated by the trees. The pilferers think all day of the trees. The trees have responded to the attention issuing out of the pilferers' mind. When attention in the shape of physical visits, mental thought was coming from the landlord, the trees have readily responded with gratitude. Attention from the landlord is of greater intensity and of higher value as his consciousness is superior to that of the pilferers. In this case the landlord being a devotee, he carries Mother's Consciousness in his thought.

Normally theft in one's property takes place when sleep is indulged in during the day. This incident is illustrative of another dimension to theft.

(Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

People normally speak out information they've heard from others. Rarely does a person have a truly Original thought. This indicates how far society has to travel from its current Ignorance to Integral Knowledge. It almost seems infinite.

To Be Titled

Sri Karmayogi's thinking is a never-ending cascade of Original Thought. No one else on earth comes close.

Complete Act Enabling Perfect Outcomes

Sri Karmayogi has devised 'The Complete Act,' which results in perfect outcomes, including startling Life Response results. It consists of:

- Mental Vision of the activity to be accomplished.
- Vital Will for it to be done.
- Physical Effort to execute it, through right strategies, attitudes, and skills.
- All topped by offering each stage to the Divine, the Mother.

Perfection, and the Infinite breaking out from the current finite are the result.

To Be Titled

Sudden interest in a matter for no particular reason indicates that information is passing through the cosmic ether, passed on by others earlier or just now or in future, and one has caught onto it. This is one explanation of Synchronicity experience.

Comment: Information is like invisible radio waves of many different frequencies; corresponding to different knowledges. Our brain is like the receiver that tunes into a particular frequency of information.

NO!

(words of the rebel who seeks to become a true Individual)

No, I don't want to have a family

No, I don't want to have children

No, I don't want to get married

No, I don't want to be forced to be with that person

No, I don't want a home in the suburbs with a two car garage

No, I don't want to be a doctor or lawyer, or engineer

No, I don't want to be told what to be

No, I don't want to work in a big company

No, I don't want to think about my long-term security

No, I don't want to eat what they want me to eat

No, I don't want to dress like they dress

No, I don't want their materialism

No, I don't want to be educated like they are educated

No, I don't want to live where they want me to live

No, I don't want to be caught up in the consumer economy

No, I don't want to follow my country's dominating religion

No, I don't want to follow any religion

No, I don't want to go to church or temple

No, I don't want to think what others think

No, I don't want to be a patriot

No, I don't want to have allegiance only to my country

No, I don't want the same social views as everyone else

No, I don't want to be part of their social clique

No, I don't want to retire in some comfortable place

No, I don't want to live an ordinary life

No, I don't want what?

What I DO want is to be able to THINK FOR MYSELF Unencumbered by prevailing thought, values, and beliefs. I want to create Good in the world, in my own way, in my own time; by what I am truly inspired by. Not by the prevailing winds. I want to know my purpose, essence, and true self.

I want to turn all of these "Nos" into a resounding YES of INDIVIDUAL CHOICE, BELIEF, AND ACTION

Distancing one's self from self-satisfaction and maintaining a steady Aspiration to improve one's condition is a sign of a growing consciousness.

Comment: One can have it throughout one's life. It can be never-ending.

To Be Titled

Self-satisfaction is a first sign of life atrophy and decay.

To Be Titled

Yearning for, dwelling on nostalgia of youth, with its social, cultural trappings, is an indicator of a life in decline.

Athlete Turns His Career Around by Staying Positive in a Difficult Situation

One thing we have noticed over the years is that if difficult conditions happen to you, and instead of sulking or being down on yourself, you stay positive, life creates opportunities where you can shine.

A professional basketball player with very good ability ran into serious injury problems when he first came into the league. As a result, the team that originally drafted him would not even pay the minimum amount for him to remain on the club.

Yet Instead of being down on himself, he stayed positive. Rather than sulk, he got himself in the best physical condition of his life, and stayed ready to play despite there being little opportunity to do so.

But then soon after, from out of nowhere, he was given a golden opportunity by being selected to perform in the playoffs, where he then shined.

So what took place in this episode?

Life had responded by giving him an opportunity because he remained positive, despite the challenges he was confronted with.

As a result, he completely turned his career around.

To Be Titled

In any situation remain silent in a state of Choiceless Awareness, and just the right way to respond will occur to you as it arises. (paraphrase of Deepak Chopra)

Supramental Existence and the Integral Yoga

The Integral Yoga is what enables us to become Supramental Beings, ushering in a Supramental Life on earth.

The Integral Yoga is to go within, discover the Psychic Being (evolving soul), and from there Surrender to the Divine Mother. Supramental existence follows.

Supramental Existence is one of utter peace, truth consciousness, integral knowledge, harmony and oneness with others and life, ultimate power to achieve, perfect unprecedented outcomes, vast creativity, unfathomable love and delight, timelessness and the infinite breaking out.

To Be Titled

Supermind's Place in the Cosmic Scheme of Things, in Terms of Involution and Evolution.

Supermind can be thought of as an interface between the upper hemisphere of the spirit, and the lower hemisphere of existence in the universe.

Supermind in essence enabled a universe of matter, life, and mind to emerge from a divine source (the Involution); and the universe to be divinized through that same divine source (the Evolution)..

In the Involution, Supermind is that which enables the upper hemisphere of Sat-Chit-Ananda (Being/Existence, Conscious-Force, Delight) to become cosmic mind, and then energy, and then the universe of matter, life, and mind.

In the Evolution, Supermind is the power we can open up to that enables the spirit, the supramental force, the divine Mother to divinizes all material, vital, and mental existence, enabling a divine life on earth. (Now existence in the universe - as matter, life, and mind - is re-melded with Sat-Chit-Ananda.)

To Be Titled

Nostalgia for the past indicates that forward movement is lacking, and therefore the end is approaching. Instead, it is best to be forward-looking, aspirational. It keeps one young at heart, with the possibility of an unexpected round of important achievement still to come.

To Be Titled

Not being punctual, on time is an ego movement of subconscious obliviousness or disrespect that tends to put others in an uncomfortable position.

Law of Contrasts

One variation of the principle that contradictions, - eg conflictive entities, - are really complements in disguise, is the Law of Contrasts. That without the negative, the positive cannot be fully appreciated. Eg without suffering, one cannot fully appreciate well-being. Without hate, one cannot fully appreciate love. Without unhappiness, misery, et al, one cannot fully appreciate happiness/joy. And so forth.

This also explains why the Divine Reality allowed for infinite variations of the positive and the negative. So there can be contrast, and therefore the full appreciation, expression, and embodiment of the Positive forces.

To Be Titled

By refraining from trying to change those you want to change, you create better conditions for them to change.

To Be Titled

I have made it a habit to always do this (gesture of abandonment to the Light). When a problem comes up, I offer it to the Lord and then leave it. And the moment the solution is required, it comes – it comes in facts, in deeds, in movements.

(the Mother, from Agenda, July 18, 1961)

The Fridge and the Veranda

(bi-directional cleanliness response)

One way life responds to one's shift in consciousness is by a decision to engage in a similar action by another person..

For example, one man from USA recently got down on his hands and knees to thoroughly clean his refrigerator, and suddenly unsolicited received a message from a friend in India who reported that she has worked out a progressive scheme to clean, make orderly, and consecrate her veranda.

Note that the response was simultaneously in the other direction as well, as the lady engaged in cleaning the veranda was happily surprised about the man's synchronous cleaning of his fridge.

Thus we see that a higher consciousness vibration can not only evoke a similar action by another, but the awareness of the fact can occur synchronously in both directions.

Vastly Underutilized Capital Flow in the World

The world now possesses all the capabilities needed to eradicate poverty and provide for the minimum needs and aspirations of every human being on earth. According to McKinsey, global financial assets rose from $12 trillion in 1980 to exceed $225 trillion in 2012, and they are projected to reach $370 trillion by 2020 (Lund et al., 2013; Economic Times, 2011).

Yet only about 20% of these resources are actually involved in supporting the real economy that produces the goods, services and employment opportunities needed to provide economic security and welfare to human beings. The rest of these assets are circling the globe in search of speculative returns, destabilizing financial markets, drawing off funds from investment in productive assets, lowering economic growth and employment generation, widening inequalities, compelling countries to build up huge currency reserves, and rewarding behaviors that promote greater inequality, social unrest and instability.

The single act of modifying tax policies to encourage investments in the real economy could radically alter the global economic outlook for individuals, nations and humanity. (Garry Jacobs, chairman of the World Academy)

New Economic Theory

Economic theory shapes society by shaping understandings, policies and beliefs about what is possible. It also provides justifications for economic arrangements. It is still difficult to conceive of what precisely should be the shape of new economic theory, but some of its essential characteristics can be identified:

1. Economics should be goal-oriented. It must shed the poise of ivory tower scientific objectivity and accept responsibility for the wider social and political consequences of economic activity. Its validity should be judged based on its efficacy in improving human welfare.
2. Economics should recognize the true value of human beings as the most precious and perishable of all resources and the source of all creativity and innovation. It should seek to maximize the development of human capacities both for their contribution to human welfare and to our sense of fulfilment as productive human beings.
3. Economics needs to replace the implicit values of current theory, which often favour specific classes and activities in the guise of freedom and impartiality, with explicit affirmation of values that promote the equitable development of all human beings. Among these, the implicit power exercised by money over public policies and the distribution of benefits in democratic society needs to be fully exposed.
4. New theory needs to re-evaluate existing concepts of value in the context of the knowledge-based service economy in which utilization is an essential determinant of value.
5. New theory must integrate economy with all other fields of social life. It must break down the arbitrary divisions that presently divide the social sciences and replace the concept of externalities with a growing awareness of the complex nexus of political, legal, commercial, organizational, technological, social, cultural and psychological factors that determine economic performance and results.
6. New theory needs to be based on measures of value that more truly reflect the real and sustainable contribution of human activity to human welfare and well-being. It should also adopt measures of wealth that reflect the true contribution of activities to wealth generation and the net loss of wealth resulting from depletion and pollution of the natural environment.
7. New theory should broaden notions of wealth and well-being to incorporate the large non-monetarized sector, which is ignored by present theory but plays such a central role in determining our real freedom, comfort, social security, human relations and the quality of life.
8. New theory should abandon the mechanistic, reductionist view of economy as a machine and replace it with a conception of economy as a complex, living and continuously evolving social network of human relationships capable of endless development and enrichment.
9. New theory needs to re-examine the concepts of certainty and finite limitation implicit in prevailing theory. It needs to recognize the central quest of human beings for security, the inherent limits to certainty in a rapidly evolving society, and the relationship between uncertainty and creativity which is the source of continuous innovation and potentially unlimited human development.

(Garry Jacobs, chairman of World Academy)

“What Should I Do with My Life?”

If one doesn't know, how can we discover what to do with our lives?

First of all, look around for subtle signs; for life indicators. They are always there, pointing toward future possibilities.

If that doesn't work for you, intensely ask the universe (or the divine, if you are so inclined) to reveal its Secret to you. And then let it all go; forgetting the matter completely. Be sure to have Faith in whatever is to come; not just what you may want.

Also, maintain a positive attitude; be cheerful and optimistic. Be sure to brush aside any negative feelings about others, work, life, and yourself.

Soon after life will begin to reveal the path it has laid out for you. It may come from outside or from within yourself. One way or another, Life will respond to your aspiration.

If opportunities come into your field of awareness, by all means take them seriously; and as necessary seize them.

Be open to all possibilities, for it is the Hour of the Unexpected.

Levels of Spiritual Realization

Sri Aurobindo indicates that greater than an ordinary, non-believing individual is a religious person who has a minimum degree of inner life, but also tends to merely follow ritual and dogma.

Greater than the religious individual is the spiritual philosopher who seeks to understand the truth even though the actual experience of the spirit is beyond him.

And greater than the spiritual philosopher is the occultist who tried to get in touch with the spirit, or at least gain certain powers through supra-normal means.

And greater than the occultist is the spiritual practitioner (like the yogi or rishi) who makes the effort to connect with the supreme or the inner soul on the way to become a realized being in the world.

Most people lie somewhere between an ordinary, non-believing person and a limited religious follower, indicating how far we have to travel on the road to spiritual realization.

Our Children's Education

We should want our children to be educated so they can grow as a person, become knowledgeable and fulfilled individuals; not merely so they can earn.

Against the background of this film from India (Salt Mango Tree), we can begin to understand our fanaticism for our child's education taken in the wrong direction. Let them become who they are meant to become, without obsession and interference, is an important message.

Method of Supramentalization

When you shift from the surface consciousness to the depths within, and from there surrender to the supramental power (and its intent, will, knowledge, etc.), you begin to become supramentalized. (many-sided truth knowledge, harmony and oneness with others and life, soul to soul connection, elimination of the negatives in the world, physical transformation/willed immortality, etc.)

So that can be our objective. When we do that, we will experience all the qualities listed above, and then some. We will know them even more practically, specifically, in our own terms.

Are you willing to give it a try?

The Yoga of Constructing the Chart of Life

The Yoga of experiencing it, realizing it, makes the Chart of Life we have so diligently been working on - including planes, processes, and all - truly come alive.

How to make that happen?

Shifting from Outer to Inner life is key.

Surrender. Consecration. Taking other's point of view, and non-reaction creates a new orientation, where the integral truth of things, including how life truly works, is organized, is fully revealed to you.

Now you have taken the first steps into the Truth Consciousness, which is what Supermind is.

As a result, you can more readily, easily construct the Chart of Life.

To Be Titled

To go Up, you go In.

To Be Titled

When you don't learn from the ignorance and falsehood of previous times, it not only repeats, but gets exacerbated in the extreme.

Following the Thread of a Surprising New Opening

When there is a new development in an area where there was little progress for a long while, it often indicates an OPENING that you should further pursue, which in turn quickly will open up additional related possibilities.

Therefore, once you perceive that opening, be sure follow the related threads, and take them as far as they can go. In fact, if you pay close attention, you will see that you are being guided by a Higher Hand each step along the way.

Eg an author's book had not been updated with the latest content at a site for a long time, despite requests for such. Then one day the man saw to his great surprise that the site had been upgraded for several of his books. He then went ahead and made further improvements on the principle work that had been updated.

He then saw further Life cooperation, as others suddenly inquired on subjects directly related to the area he was making improvement in, even though they had no knowledge of his new work on the book, nor had been in touch with him for months on end.

The entire matter seemed miraculous-like to the author, yet he was too busy tending to the several openings that now presented themselves to enjoy the synchronous unfoldings!

How Supermind Enables Triplicities from Real Ideas in the Involutionary and Evolutionary Process

Through a comprehending and then apprehending process, Supermind turns potentiality of conditions (values) into reality.

Eg it changes the Real Idea of Love into Lover Loving the Beloved. Or Knowledge into Knower Knowing the Known. Etc. for every divine attribute. Supermind in essence turns these Real Ideas, spiritual concepts of the Supreme (like silence, truth, knowledge, harmony, love, delight, etc.) into living realities in Space and Time. From Cosmic Idea into triplicities of Subject - Method - Object.

—

What I described above can be said to occur in the Involution i.e. previous to the material creation of the universe.

However, in the Evolution (beginning with material creation in the universe), the triplicities have lost their Identity relationships. Eg the Knower no longer Knows the Known. There is a loss of direct Identity with the object. So eg I don't know what is around the bend.

And so through an Evolutionary process Supermind re-establishes these Identity relationships, where the triplicities are reconnected, - Knower Knows the Known, Creator Creates Creatively, etc.; but now (and for the first time) it occurs in LIVING human existence in the universe; up to the latest moment in space-time.

So we can say:

INVOLUTION

-Real Ideas of Supreme as starting point

-Supermind turns them into triplicities/realities in Involutionary process. Every attribute formulates into perfect Identity relationships. Through them, there is ultimate Consciousness.

-With the onset of creation, Identity of triplicities is lost. Dumb energy and matter exists. There is absence of consciousness.

EVOLUTION

-By our opening to Supramental power (the Force of the Divine Mother), the Identities are reestablished, Triplicities are reformed -- but now in creation, in living human existence.

-Ultimate consciousness now manifests through supramental beings.

-Divine (Supramental) Life on earth progressively comes into being.

Thoughts on Corporate Values Implementation

Values and Corporate Culture

Work culture is based on universal values - physical values (e.g. speed and punctuality), organizational values (e.g. systematic functioning and coordination) and psychological values (e.g. integrity and respect for the individual). Work culture is the foundation for all productive activities.

"Elevating the work culture will raise operational efficiency far more than can be done through traditional approaches. It is done by effectively imparting the higher attitudes of senior executives to those at lower levels of the organization."

Corporate culture is a very broad term which includes the orientation of the company and its people to all the qualitative dimensions of interpersonal interactions and business performance.

Values represent the most conscious core of corporate culture, rather the effort of management to consciously elevate some aspects of corporate culture to a higher level of performance.

—

Values and Profitability

We measure the value of a value in terms of the extra profit it generates.

Every corporate value can be converted into profit-value.

A systematic effort to raise operational performance on key corporate values can serve as a powerful lever for integrating separate business units into a more cohesive group and energizing an organization to multiply its profits.

—

How Many Values to Implement

The most successful companies in value implementation either implement one value 100% or several values 10%. To be comprehensive and achieve maximum results, implementation of all essential work values must approach 100%.

—

Depth of Values Implementation

While many companies espouse high corporate values and urge their people to realize them, these efforts are usually limited to a commitment by top management, communication programs to staff, and inclusion of values in the performance appraisal process.

"In practice, the result is usually more talk than action and the actual levels of value implementation achieved remain far less than optimal. The amount of energy required for implementation is an accurate index of overall corporate efficiency. The higher the efficiency, the less the time and energy required for elevating values."

—

Values in Strategic Planning

Values lend themselves to systematic implementation just as readily and completely as the quantitative objectives covered by the strategic planning process.

A comprehensive approach must also include formulation of quantifiable and measurable standards for each value in each area of operations, assignment of responsibility for achieving these standards to people all the way down the line to the production floor, systems for implementing and monitoring performance on the values, and essential skills to elevate performance.

—

Values Make Organization Come Alive

"Use value implementation as a higher level strategy to energize organization and make it come alive. A comprehensive program of value implementation can dramatically improve performance and profitability."

(MSS)

-thanks to Priya

To Be Titled

As religion and its dogmas die out, rationality takes its place, only to be the springboard for a New Spirituality,- in increasingly higher forms, - to take shape

Don't Stop in the Middle

[in regard to extending a current Life Response result]

Karmayogi says "don't stop in the middle." I.e. for any Life Response outcome, keep drawing from it, by extending the higher consciousness decision, attitude, action that evoked it; whether horizontally along the same lines to draw more response, or vertically to extend to related but different areas and concerns (while maintaining the momentum of the earlier movement).

Boasting Incident Involving Gardeners

If you gleefully call out the fact that you evoked a Life Response while it is still unfolding, you can cancel it, in part or full.

A man was telling his friend that he had been thinking about the gardeners cutting the grass which was somewhat overgrown and then suddenly arrived on the scene to do their job from seemingly out of nowhere.

It turns out that one of the gardeners was doing the heavy work with the powerful lawn mowing machine, when the man made his boast about the synchronous event. Well, one minute after the man boasted that he had evoked a response, the gardener's lawnmower suddenly broke down. In fact, when the gardeners tried to add fuel to the machine to get it going again, it still didn't work, which means that it might that there might have been something seriously wrong with the machine..

As we see, it is best then to remain silent when you believe you have evoked a response from life, especially if it is still unfolding! Silence, holding things inside instead of verbalizing them will give the outcome greater strength, with even more possibilities for response.

To Be Titled

it's best not to hope that someone else follow one's earlier suggestions - as it brings in an ego element; - but rather let it go, offering that need to the Higher Power. Now whatever happens, happens, and one's consciousness is cleared of the mental and emotional clutter of ego, need, and desire.

To Be Titled

Poverty and inequity don't get solved by an algorithm. They got solved by sharing. (Aaron Peskin)

To Be Titled

People will virulently hold onto their ideologies, no matter how much the facts disprove it.

Breaking the Chains of Like and Dislike

We like whiling away the time, thinking about what we like, and don't like, reinforcing our prejudicial views, in endless cycles of repetition.

This is not the higher consciousness at work. Rather it is the Physical, which likes to repeat in endless cycles; never wanting to learn; never willing to change.

When we move to a deeper poise, away from the surface, the game changes, as our inner being opens to possibilities, and there develops an inner urge to go beyond its current understandings. Now the chains of like and dislike are broken. As a result, we can truly understand: now we can grow, evolve, transform.

Absolute and Relative Integrated in the One Reality

From the deepest poise, culminating in the supramental consciousness, we perceive that the Absolute (life beyond creation, this universe) and the Relative (life within the universe, creation) are Integrated and One.

The Absolute unfolds itself in the Relative, and the Relative is a manifestation of the Absolute. This is the perception of their integral oneness, which together make up the omnipresent Reality.

Infinite became Universe for Sheer, Active Delight

Sri Aurobindo tells us that the Infinite and Eternal Absolute did not create the universe. It became the universe, for the sheer delight of self-manifestation, of becoming in Space and Time.

The unmanifest Pure Existence experiences itself as a static bliss. Manifestation adds to that the Self-experience of active Delight.

If we can speak of a goal at all, its goal is to experience the infinite delight of a progressive manifestation in endless Space and eternal Time, in which it is at once the creator, the creation and the act of creating. (MSS)

To Be Titled

We need Mother and Her Force to help us shift from survive to Thrive.

Reaching for Gold, Tumbling into Oblivion

In one variation of Nordic myth, men climb over one another to get to the gold at the top. But now, as some have reached it, the base is crumbling, due to the overwhelming weight precipitated by greed in motion, causing the bottom to collapse, and all to fall into oblivion.

This is similar to America's problem, which is spreading rapidly to other parts of the world. Vast income inequality is expanding, as the wealthy claw to the top through financial speculation and other instruments, and the rest tumble into misery. Eventually all collapse, undoing the system that supported them.

Practical Example of Interrelation Among the Individual, Universal, and Transcendent

As we evolve as Individuals, we discover that we can be instruments for fulfilling the needs of Society, which is actually the progress of the Universal, which in turn fulfilling the will of the Transcendent, the Supreme.

Eg members of MSS seek to evolve in personal consciousness, so they become true spiritual Individuals. As they do, they come upon new avenues to bring about the progress for society (eg in economics, education, business, literature, Indian development, etc.), bringing the highest consciousness to these concerns, with the best solutions.

This universal action is in turn secretly carrying out the will of Transcendent that seeks the evolution of consciousness in these societal matters.

Humility towards the Divine

... when you say to people, "Be humble," they immediately think of "being humble towards others," ... True humility is humility towards the Divine, that is, the precise, exact, LIVING sense that you are nothing, can do nothing, understand nothing without the Divine, ...

(The Mother, from Agenda, Sept 13, 1967)

To Be Titled

Perceiving the utility of the negative in life is to begin to know the Reality, the All, in its various facets.

To Be Titled

In ordinary mind we know a thing when it shows itself, not before. In Supermind we can know a thing before.

'Truman Show' Film as Metaphor for Our Perceptions of Reality

The Truman Show is a movie about a TV show. Truman was born and brought up in the giant set in an Island. 5000 cameras were watching him growing, studying, working, getting married and so on.

The surprising thing is that all other characters in the set are actors who knew they are acting, including persons whom he believed to be his Mother, Wife and friend. In order to make him stay in the island, the Director created a fear of Water in his mind so that he will not go near water or venture into boating.

He gets clues from various incidents that he is being watched and something is wrong with his surroundings only at the age of 30. The show is running for 30 long years. Finally, his desire to escape this situation made him to escape from the island in a boat. After rowing a long distance, the boat hit a wall that had a picture of sky and clouds painted on it. He then found the exit and entered the real world.

This is exactly how we live in this world. Each person is living in a set like this and are unable to move out of that set. Many times the people around us convinces us to accept our present status as real, but actually it is not. Crossing the limitations of mind and emotions and entering into the inner self will open up the gate for exiting from our limitations.

The TV viewers who watch the show represent God (collective God) who enjoys when Truman exits. God enjoys when Man identifies Him within. That finding is a moment of celebration, like how children enjoy in hide and seek game.

The Director plays the role of LIFE. He decides Truman's life. Life decides the life of all of us. When man wants to cross his limitation/ boundary, Life punishes him or threatens him and make him accept what his limitations lead him to. There are so many parallels we may find from the story.

(Nedumaran Ramakrishnan)

To Be Titled

In Supermind right thoughts constantly come in right moments.

To Be Titled

The problems of each nation cannot be solved by that nation, especially on the economic level. The solution has to be regional, and then global. The potential that comes out of the latter approach is infinite. We just don't clearly see it yet.

Comment: Eg because Asia continues to boom beyond compare we in the US should try to create as many alliances with them as possible; especially when it can improve conditions for

"fly over" America. Trump so far is going in the opposite direction. Coordination with other nations is key for increasing wages and melting away income inequality, especially when done in a fair and just manner.

A global society is plainly in view.

Lessons from Silicon Valley for Improving Economic Conditions of the World

Silicon Valley created the greatest concentration of wealth of all time; and it had little to do with policies of the Left or Right, but of values, of individuality, hippy freedom, wanting to change the world, technology for the benefit of humanity, liberating use of capital investment, openness to highly educated immigrants, etc. in other words, something very different from the traditional economy.

It was the unfolding of something New and Unexpected. Understanding this and other emerging processes and systems across the globe can help us learn from one another.

Human ingenuity that supports the well-being of society and its people is limitless. Let's think along these lines, and all of society's major economic problems will begin to disappear.

Qualities of the Supramental Individual

--The supramental individual will be in Harmony with everybody and everything. Sense of separateness will disappear. There will be a complete identity with each person, every object, all circumstance in the unfolding of life; thereby seeing the purpose in all things.

--All dualities will cease, as he perceives the higher harmony and resolution in all conflicting, contradicting elements.

--The Supramental individual will be fully in touch with his psychic being, and from there have a continuous soul to soul connection with others.

--He will be in a never-ending state of peace and joy.

--His one goal will be to surrender to and carry out the Divine Will, Mother's Intent, fulfilling the Integral Yoga.

--He will be in tune with the great currents of change in the world, and have a vast impact.

--He will be an instrument for unprecedented insight, change, and determination. The seemingly unfathomable will be made real through him. He will be a vehicle for infinities to emerge from finites.

--The physical transformation into the supramental species lies beyond.

--He and the world around him progressively embody sat-chit-ananda in the universe.

--Along with others like him, he will help usher in a Divine Life on Earth.

Supramental Man

Though Mother has predicted the emergence of the Superman, She has not clearly specified how different he will be and what will be his capacities. There are references here and there in Bhagawan's [Sri Aurobindo's] and Mother's writings which we have to collect in one place. Let us try that now.

1. The supramental being will be immortal and he need not die as ordinary humanity has done in the past.

2. Though the supramental being will retain the basic human form, he won't have respiratory, circulatory or digestive organs as he won't have to breathe or eat food in order to live. He will be drawing on the universal energy that is around him.

3. The supramental being will be a sexless being and therefore neither male nor female. However, he can reproduce by directly generating a new supramental being out of his body.

4. The superman will exhibit intuitive capacities and can find out what other people are thinking and feeling without them having to speak it out.

5. The superman's Knowledge and Will power will be one and unified. As such whatever he wishes will get automatically realised and there won't be any time gap between the wish and the result. Suppose he wants to go to Chennai from Pondicherry. He will be there the next instant and he won't have to travel for 3 hours like we human beings do.

6. His body will be so plastic and bending like rubber that he won't suffer any injury like we ordinary humans do.

7. He will look at any issue from a full perspective and not have a one-sided view like we ordinary human beings do.

8. He won't be subject to the normal process of ageing that we are subject to and therefore he will look eternally young.

9. As he lives in the plane of Self-existent Truth and Self-existent good, he won't have the usual good and bad and sin and virtue type of mentality that we humans have.

10. Though devoid of ego he will still be an individual but one who can harmoniously relate to others.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Supramental's Unshakeable Peace & Spiritual Equality of Being; Absence of Division

Mother says one of the sure signs of the supramental is an unshakeable peace and absolute spiritual Equality. There is no trace left of ego so there is no reaction to anything.

Whatever action the supramental being initiates is an act of the Divine Will, not a separate egoistic will.

There will be no dualities of pleasure and pain, good and evil, joy and suffering, knowledge and ignorance, power and impotence.

All will be an experience of delight, eternal goodness and truth. (Garry Jacobs)

Thoughts On Film 'The Truman Show'

"He doesn't know it, but everything in Truman Burbank's life is part of a massive TV set. Executive producer Cristof orchestrates "The Truman Show," a live broadcast of Truman's every move captured by hidden cameras. Cristof tries to control Truman's mind, even removing his true love, Sylvia from the show and replacing her with Meryl. As Truman gradually discovers the truth, however, he must decide whether to act on it."

TRUTH

It can be looked at as a metaphor for Truth.

Truman cannot know the Truth because he is blocked from doing so. Not only from the outside, from within himself, unable to penetrate to the truth.

He does not have the power to penetrate to the Truth as his mind is on the surface. For a long time, he misses subtle signs to know the truth.

As a result, he becomes a victim, and suffers.

Also, the system that controls him breaks down, revealing little glimpses of the truth. False society is always eventually undone.

HUMAN BEHAVIOR OBSERVED

People like to watch such reality shows in order to observe human behavior. We react to the characters based on our propensities, preferences, prejudices.

We move along with them as if we too are part of the story; only we are silent and invisible.

The film is an exploration of this dynamic; only here it is the story of exploitation of an individual.

REALITY SHOW CULTURE

The writers and director of the Truman Show movie are describing the propensity of American and related cultures obsession with reality shows.

Ironically the story is a kind of escapism for the observers in the film observing real situations for Truman. (they are enjoying the falsity of it.)

The film is where we are observing the observers observing Truman in the story. It creates an interesting complexity.

FREEDOM

It is also a story about being trapped, and how we as human don't like to be restrained; we want to find a way out, and so root for Truman to discover it.

We enjoy his liberation, and feel those who exploited him get their come-uppance.

--

CRUELTY OF SOCIETY

Yet the authors of the film at the end are also saying that the viewing audience of Truman's hardships don't care that much care when the secret is revealed, as they can change channels and go on to the next thing.

In this sense, the film is a condemnation of society; who can be exploited by commercial interests, callously observing Truman's plight. Society is thus shown to be cruel.

The leaders of the cruel society -- in this case the director of the reality show and related commercial interests in the film -- are crueler still.

Truman is like a guinea pig for the enjoyment of the masses, not unlike the gladiators in Roman times.

HERO, TRUE INDIVIDUAL

Truman is a hero because ultimately, he prevails, despite all obstacles.

He moves out of the limits society has placed on him, and in that sense becomes a true individual. In the USA we value the pioneer, who forges his way through an endless landscape.

The pioneer overcoming obstacles and prevailing is the HERO.

Reader: Wonder if Carey took this this part because he had already awakened or this part was the beginning of his awakening? The author was unknown to me but I since discovered he was a fellow kiwi.

Response: It was part of his awakening. He has given explanation of his awakening in certain videos, which can be seen on YouTube, including this one:

<https://youtu.be/TucyzpHDNIE>

Fear of Hell

...the fear of hell, mon petit! The amount of harm that conception has done in the world is frightening, frightening: the idea that if you commit a serious fault, it means hell for ALL ETERNITY, do you hear!

It's horrible.

It's a dreadful, monstrous notion....

And that's what frightens them [certain Christians and the like]. Even when consciously they don't accept it, it's there in the subconscious.

(The Mother, from Agenda, September 13, 1967)

To Be Titled

Just keep doing the right things, instead of that which is false, that strokes the ego, and life will continuously be your friend.

To Be Titled

Socialism, or rather Socialistic Values are spreading throughout the world. Those who were left out want to be a part of the rising tide. It is the era of Rising Expectations. US Midwest and South is one region that has been left out. They need to become socialistic in their values to re-emerge, and may already be turning in that direction. Trump was an intercept who caught their anguish, but whose solutions are opposite of socialistic.

Ethical Behavior, Psychological Strength, and Collaboration Attract Great Success in The Tiger Hunter

Many qualities go into creating a successful venture or startup.

In the Indian comedy/drama film 'The Tiger Hunter' three qualities evoke great response from life and ultimate success for the principals: Ethical/Honest Behavior, Psychological Strength, and Collaborative Effort.

Here is a brief synopsis, followed by the three episodes where sudden good fortune (i.e. Life Response) is evoked due to right behavior:

"Sami Malik, a young Indian, travels to America in the 1970s. He dreams of becoming an engineer to impress his childhood crush and live up to the legacy of his father, a legendary tiger hunter. When Sami's job falls through, he takes a low-end job and joins with a gang of oddball friends in hopes of convincing his childhood sweetheart that he's far more successful than he truly is -- or perhaps ever could be. He works his way upward, eventually developing a micro-wave oven that actually cooks food properly; the first of its kind, and the ticket his and others' great success."

-ETHICAL BEHAVIOR: Sami decides to tell the truth about the fake arrangements he made borrowing someone's house to impress his girlfriend and her father, which causes him soon after to be given an opportunity to present his invention for the first time.

-PSYCHOLOGICAL STRENGTH: Sami decides to confront a favored white engineer at the company with the fact that he had stolen Sami's ideas, which attracts another person at the meeting who questions the ethical behavior of the favored engineer, further propelling Sami up the ladder to success.

-COLLABORATION OVER GO-IT ALONE: Rather than be ashamed of the half dozen young Indian engineers who live with him in a cramped space, he uses their knowledge to build the product (an excellent micro-wave oven) that propels him and his friends to the pinnacle of success.

Here is the trailer:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BF151O_uIoA

Perceiving, Undertaking Right Sequence of Acts that Attract

In Supramental Consciousness one knows precisely in which sequence acts should occur, as one is in touch with the integral truth of things, as well as perceiving the right flow of life circumstance among past, present, and future. There is thus persistent cooperation from the world around us.

End of Communism, Capitalism; Human-Centered Economics

The Mother said in 1970s that Communism was failing and would soon collapse. No one saw that as a possibility, but it soon happened. She also said back then that a similar fate would come to Capitalism, and we see that gradually happening in our own time. Both are to be replaced with something greater than each. We call it "Human-Centered Economics."

To Be Titled

We can only attain the Integral Knowledge when we know, have the experience of the (Integral) Reality.

We can only know the Integral, Omnipresent Reality when we know it as the truth of our own being.

Aspiration that Fulfills Itself

If you have a deep, intense Aspiration, it has a power to fulfill itself.

In 1975 I wanted to meld a career where I earn, yet somehow have connection to Sri Aurobindo and Mother. Months passed, and one day, when I found myself at East-West Center in Los Angeles, that possibility presented itself on its own, without any effort on my part. I, of course, gladly accepted the opportunity, and my life was changed forever.

The Aspiration had self-fulfilled itself.

To Be Titled

True "Learning" is an awakening of consciousness: i.e. to become more Aware.

Judging from the Vital and Beyond

From the vital/emotional plane we cannot judge reality. Only from the mental plane (or higher to the Spirit) can we accurately, integrally judge it, know it.

Eg Lizzy in Pride and Prejudice mistook Wickham's charming nature when she was smitten by him through her vital feelings and emotions. Only when she reflected on things with her mind did she come perceive his false, duplicitous nature.

It would turn out to be an Awakening; an evolution of consciousness that changed her.

To Be Titled

We can see that a devotee individual who refrains from sex, drugs, alcohol, gluttony, gambling, gossip, cynicism, habit/routine, materialism, money obsession, anger, bitterness, fear, and other forms of dissipation will continuously maintain the shining face of a young bachelor.

To Be Titled

As man becomes more mental, time seems to be moving faster, which may compel us at the cellular, genetic, or similar levels to create an urge of the body toward longer life; even first movements toward immortality.

To Be Titled

The increasing pressures of the Outer life are compelling us to develop a more developed Inner life.

Lenience vs. Strength toward Workers

Q: Sir I have a doubt about giving orders to the workers and getting it done in the due time. If we are strict only the workers will do the work given by us. But if we feel for them and be lenient then they won't finish the work.

So what should be the border line for being strict and also be human-centered..? (Devi)

A: It depends on the situation. Sense where there would be personal growth (either for yourself or them).

Being sensitive (a high human value) in conjunction with psychological strength is a great capacity. Great managers and leaders have this dual capability.

Philosophically we say that we must find the Higher Harmony beyond the contradiction. You might want to think about what that is. Going deep inside we discover it. We can also offer the issue to the Divine Mother.

Equanimity that Enabled Negative People to Move Away

Early last year, through utilization of Non-reaction and Consecration power, I was able to cause all the negative people around me to move away; replaced with very pleasant individuals. Hardly a word passed my lips, or any outer action taken to attract these fortuitous circumstance.

To Be Titled

When an untruthful person recruits other untruthful individuals, their lies begin to spread, tripping up one another, revealing their foolishness, enabling calamity to follow.

On Psychedelics

-Psychedelics are "mind altering" drugs (like LSD) or natural substances (eg psilocybin or peyote).

-Psychedelics is prevalent in the West (not East) because there has been few other real/substantial paths of consciousness here to fulfill our spiritual aspirations.

However many wonderful paths are now opening up, evoking startling, on-going experience, rendering psychedelics unnecessary.

-Also I have found that people who use psychedelics, rapidly go to "first base," but then remain there for the remainder of their lives.

-The Mother took them several times, and found it a means of breaking through, but was simultaneously a path to madness. She said it ruined the equilibrium of consciousness of the person.

She said that opening to the spiritual Force was far more effective in reaching higher states of consciousness, and without highly-disturbing negative side effects.

With Supramental (Truth) consciousness descending deeper into the world, it is much easier to have most psychedelic experiences, without any of the extreme negative effects. That has also been my experience.

A detailed explanation of the Mother's experiences and understanding about these drugs and substances is given here:

<http://auromaa.org/counterculture-and-the-new-world-hh-183/>

Reader: Mind altering-opening -expanding "entheogens" which when ingested purposefully produce nonordinary states of consciousness of a profoundly personal spiritual/religious quality.

Response: Yes, they can, and they also create distortions of consciousness that prevent people from going beyond that. Many such individuals are stuck in a culture of psychedelia, which shows they have stopped growing at that point. Mother's explanation above (see link; in conversation with Satprem) is far beyond anything I have read about their true nature.

"And the way of consecration and surrender to the supreme Power is infinitely superior – it's slightly more difficult. It's more difficult than swallowing a drug, but infinitely superior." (The Mother)

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo resolves the apparent contradiction between Matter and Spirit by indicating they are two views of the same Reality.

Meaning of My Frequent 11:11 Experiences

Below is a link to a fine article on the 11:11 phenomenon. I am interested in this subject because it frequently happens to me -- many dozens of times -- especially when waking up in the middle of the night and seeing my clock showing the time as 11:11.

The author says it is a sign of Spiritual Awakening. And because this is so, it is very important to stay grounded in the present moment, the Now.

Another author says that its occurrence indicates that you have a higher level of potential manifesting before you, but also have a greater amount of challenges. That when you see this repeating number, it's indicating that a window of opportunity is being flung open for you, and it is in your best interest to take it up as it appears.

I believe it also relates to universal movements of sorts. Perhaps, it is an indication that One is increasingly developing inner powers to affect the world around one.

By the way, I wrote this post because I had just had another 11:11 experience, and then looked for and found a good article online that explained the phenomenon from the highest consciousness point of view.

A moment after I completed the above post having to do with a 11:11 experience I just had, I passed by my friend's computer. She was playing some sort of game that every quarter-second was generating a different random 7-digit number on the screen (eg 6745784). Half-seriously, I asked her if she could evoke 11:11 on the screen.

Two minutes later when I walked into another room she called out that her screen said she had 11 chances left to win. It was immediately followed by the screen indicating that she has 1:11 of time to complete the game!

And hour or two after this comment above on my original post, I for the first time that afternoon turned on my phone; and what do you know, it said 1:11!

... and now a few minutes after this last comment about my phone, a bus crossed in front of me, - the only bus I saw that day, - and it said in the front on the electronic monitor that it is the 111 Line!

Apparently, it can go on like this never-ending during the course of the day, if I wish to pursue it.

<https://lonerwolf.com/1111-meaning/>

To Be Titled

Intensity - whether of aspiration, values, effort, etc. - abridges time. Lack of it causes things to occur much less slowly over time.

To Be Titled

Nerves are the physical in the vital.

Reader: Some explanation will be more useful thanks

Response: We exist at several planes; Physical, Vital, Mental, and Spiritual. (i.e. from lowest to highest consciousness levels).

We can say that the Vital is the plane of emotions. Yet it is more than that. Where the Physical and Vital meet is the nerves. Where the Vital and the Mental meet are one's attitudes. Nerves are close to our physical substance of the body hence we say "Nerves are the Physical in the Vital. I.e. Nerves are in the lower part of the Vital plane, near the Physical plane.

Here is a partial diagram:

SPIRITUAL

-intuition

-higher mind

MENTAL

-rational thought

-values/beliefs

-information processing

VITAL

-attitudes
-raw emotions
-nerves

PHYSICAL

-aspects of the physical body
-material substance of the body

To Be Titled

The person who helped you regain a settled living condition may be the same person who surrounded you with bad people. Knowing how to negotiate both is a sign of a conscious, discriminating mind.

To Be Titled

Money is mostly in the hands of asuric (dark) forces. Therefore, we must, through our higher consciousness, win money back for the Divine Intention and Purpose

To Be Titled

Some people further the Evolution through their persistent Devolution.

Infinite from Finite Example

Since the finite emerged from the Infinite consciousness, infinite results can potentially emerge from any finite.

E.g. in 1973 Paul Stanley of KISS came to my parents' house to visit my sister, whom he was good friends with. Before she came down, I talked with Paul at length, mainly about music. He was already slightly known. He would go on from there to create the KISS band, which has earned more money through concession and merchandising sales (clothing, accessories, etc.) than any musical act in history! In the Billions of dollars!

It was another example of the infinite emerging out of a finite, something I witnessed firsthand in that meeting and in what followed.

To Be Titled

Infinity, or the infinite, is not just an expression of unbound size or extension, but of endless Possibilities, Potentiality.

Our Relation to Other Worlds

Unknown to us we are in constant communication with other unseen worlds. Our inspirations come from there, Our ideas come from there. Our higher aspirations come from there.

If we weren't in contact with those other worlds, there would just be material forms on earth; there would be no life on earth. No mind on earth. No humanity on earth.

We exist because of the interaction, the interplay of this material plane and these other worlds.

Unique Expressions of Supramental Nature

The supramental era will commence a new phase in spirituality with each supramental individual relating to the Supreme in his own unique way instead of the stereotyped and common path that everybody follows now days. (MSS)

Comment. his own unique way”

To Be Titled

People have different interests, talents, capacities in life. This can extend to the unique way we relate to the Divine. One person may be a great disseminator of knowledge; another a very creative type with great imagination; yet another one who is steeped in silent contemplation; etc. One can thus express the Supramental nature uniquely through one's own unique nature and life experiences..

To Be Titled

We can struggle to bring justice and similar values to the world via existing institutions, through the slow, difficult methods and processes of Life/Nature. Or we can open to Mother's and let Her Super-Nature make it happen rapidly, in fresh unexpected ways, from seemingly out of nowhere.

To Be Titled

Spirit and Life mixed together is the Reality, the All.

Book Service Attracts Abundant Rain

After about eight years, I once again participated in Mother's book service and received Mother's Grace as rain.

When I started from my house for book service, in the afternoon, it was so hot in this summer. But evening when I returned home, it began to rain. The next day also it rained heavily in my area for more than one hour.

Yesterday I went to my parents' house, and to my surprise, it rained throughout the night.

Today I came home. My father called in the evening and said that there was a heavy rainfall with winds, at their place.

I'm so grateful for the Mother's Grace as rain. (Devi)

Comment: Please explain what book service is, so others can understand. Thanks.

Devi: Book service is like introducing The Mother to the people by selling the Mother's books and explaining about The Mother and the contents in the book written by Sri Karmayogi appa. Because these books are not available in the stores for sale like normal books.

I think that the devotees of The Mother can easily do this service.

Comment: There is great Life Response power, Mother's power, when making the decision, taking up, and engaging in Book Service, especially with the right aspiration, intensity, attitude, faith, etc. There is also great power in the books themselves.

Devi: Yes sir. As you said, when we go for book service we can deeply feel The Mother's presence with us doing miracles.

Supramental Individual in Film "Phenomenon"

A question that can be asked is whether there has ever been a film depicting a Supramental Being.

In the recent 55-episode series on the life of the Buddha we see many of these aspects, though not all. Of course there are a number of other movies presenting such Divine personages. Eg in the 6-hour English production of Mahabharata, Krishna also appears to have many of these attributes. But do they truly have the gnostic, supramental qualities as described in the next to last chapter of Sri Aurobindo's 'The Life Divine' and elsewhere?

One such film that stands out for me in this areas is the 1996 movie 'Phenomenon.' I have watched the film more than 10 times, each time enjoying being in the atmosphere of one who is on the cusp of Supramentality.

Among the ways the central figure in the story George Malley expresses those traits at the mental, vital, and physical levels are-

- the ability to synthesize any knowledge into a greater knowledge, leading to non-stop intuition and revelation of thought
- his universal capacity to know things at a physical distance, including its goings on
- his miraculous-like power to solve any mystery
- his ability to continually create exceedingly creative solutions beneficial to the community and society
- his power over the physical/material plane, overcoming gravity, magnetism, etc. (telekinesis)

But then what is he missing to be a true supramental personality?

-We can ask, does he show true harmony and oneness with others? He does seem to come into identity with ideas and material objects. However, in part due to the situation he finds himself in there is a modicum of conflict in his life with others, mostly due to the bewilderment and fear of his capacities by many members of the local community. This also irritates him on occasion, disturbing his equality of being.

-Does he show oneness and identity with things, life around him? Well, he still goes through conflictive situations. A supramental Being does not normally have to pass through contradictions to experience that harmony and oneness. He is constantly evoking a higher harmony (as Buddha is able to do in several of the episodes.)

-He does not appear to be aware of the Divine, Supramental Force or use it; though the writers of the film leave it open as a possibility that his capacities originate from a supra-normal, even spiritual-oriented race or entity.

-Does he experience the ecstatic Joy (ananda) of the supramental being? In many ways he does, but perhaps not the divine Bliss.

-His sense of True Individuality is established, though it is not clear to what degree he is in touch with his psychic being, evolving soul.

-How about Divine Love? It is not clear if he feels such a thing or consciously conveys it to others, though he fully loves one person (human love).

Please let me know if you agree with these assertions by watching the complete 1996 film when you have a chance. And let's discuss what makes him gnostic-like, i.e. Supramental, and where he comes up short.

To Be Titled

Each day we need to develop the necessary courage to face its own unique, pressing challenges. Having faith in Mother can give us all the psychological strength we need to meet those challenges each day, while evoking continuous positive response from life.

Ideological Thinking and Truth

If you are overly attached to an ideology – whether political, social, ethnic, religious, etc. – then you will never know the full truth of things. Best to be fully open in one's mind, at all levels, to all possibilities, which will enable Truth to continually follow in your footsteps.

To Be Titled

An evolved person tries to stay on the track of what the other person is interested in, not on his own track. The best outcomes unfold this way. To make that happen, he remains stationed in the silence within.

To Be Titled

Since capitalism is running into serious problems around the world, it would be very helpful to develop fresh, new, dynamic, creative strategies and approaches to meet the economic needs of the people.

Bringing the Powers of the Subtle Planes Down on Earth

The truths of the other, subtle planes beyond this life are destined to become real here in the material world.

Therefore, we need to know about them, experience them, so we can bring their power here on earth.

For us, Society, with all it consists of, all its aspects, appears to be infinite; i.e. infinite-like. But the true Infinite lies beyond what the society offers, existing in the subtle planes.

The movement, evolution from the subtle planes to real existence is made possible by our higher consciousness. It culminated as Supramental existence on earth.

Infinite Money

Karmayogi in his deep studies on the nature of Money indicated that if we understand the correlation between Money and Society, and Money and its Cosmic Source, we will perceive its power to manifest infinitely, and thereby attract it infinitely in our own lives.

Devotees' Universal Power to Solve Problems in the World

Devotees can take any short or long-term problem in society, think deeply on all the issues involved, have an intense aspiration for its resolution, and consecrate/offer the entire matter to the Mother and Her Force. As a result he will shortly witness an opening for improvement; even a sudden complete, integral solution to the problem.

In this way, the devotee, through his act of Individuality takes a step towards fulfilling his additional role of Universality; which is itself an expression of the Transcendent will.

To Be Titled

Losing yourself in the process is the best way to fulfill your goal. Continually focusing on the goal deflects you from the process.

Coming Out of Ego

Though we are normally unaware of the fact, we are in the Ego much of the time. From that separative poise we often say, think, or do what is false, wrong, error-prone, harmful, hurtful, etc. Life then responds (negatively) in kind; one way or another, sooner or later.

This chain of events never ends, this wheel never stops turning.

Therefore, being aware of and coming out of Ego is the first duty of the devotee on the path.

The Force Affecting Global Events

—In late 1930s and 40s Sri Aurobindo sent his Force to back Churchill to defeat the evil Nazis, and he royally succeeded.

—Sri Aurobindo sent his Force and evoked a fog at Dunkirk in 1940, enabling the British to escape, preventing the Nazis from fully taking over Europe in WWII.

—In 1962 the Chinese responded to Mother's Force and withdrew its forces after invading India.

—In 1972 Mother informed Satprem that the brute Nixon must be stopped and not win the coming election. He won, however he soon was forced out through the Watergate scandal.

—With the world on the brink of Nuclear War, Mother's Force was utilized by devotees through their organization in 1989, that became the vehicle for the rise of Gorbachev, and the end of the Cold War.

—Devotees' inner and outer actions in South Korea, led to rapprochement between North and South Korea, when US and The North were on the verge of nuclear confrontation.

—With the very negative Trump on the rise, we as devotees can call to the Force to see his power diminished.

A Great Teacher

A great teacher explains the complex in simpler terms, while still retaining the complexity.

A great teacher is always learning from his students.

The best way to learn a subject matter is to teach it.

A great teacher is in touch with the aspiration, intentions, even the inner being of his students.

A great teacher will constantly be presenting his materials in fresh, new ways, incorporating the latest developments and understandings.

A great teacher is fully responsive to the questions of his audience.

A great teacher is fully prepared, fully knowledgeable, fully motivated, fully engaged, always seeking perfection in work.

A great teacher keeps all Ego movements in check. Selflessness and selfgivingness are practiced instead.

Being able to shift with the tide of student interests and needs is a requisite skill of a great teacher.

A great teacher will have excellent communication and presentation skills; with complete mastery over the subject matter.

A great teacher will always go the extra mile for his students.

A great teacher will always be trying to improve himself; constantly rededicating himself to his profession.

A great teacher will have ultimate impact on his students, and by extension ultimate on the world.

To Be Titled

Homelessness is obliviousness that becomes national shame.

To Be Titled

Ill-luck, taken in the right spirit, can intensely teach you the path to attracting Luck.

To Be Titled

You know, an ardent faith, a psychic aspiration, a fervor, a self-giving, instead of being forever turned in on oneself, turned in on oneself A self-giving, that's what is needed to save the world!

(The Mother, from Agenda, October 19, 1967)

To Be Titled

... the work of the consciousness is to permeate the inconscient and make it progressively more capable of manifesting the consciousness (gesture like a flower rising out of the earth).

(The Mother, from Agenda, October 21, 1967)

Going Beyond Mind

The Mind, in its rigidity, lacks the flexibility of Insight that the Spirit in the Mind possesses. Thus it is infinitely less capable of knowing the integral truth of things unfolding at every moment. Shifting from activity to mental silence enables the mind to move toward the spirit, and therefore more perceptive, insightful, dynamic.

To Be Titled

We are fully alive when the psychic being is awake, active, influencing our lives.

To Be Titled

Personal organization saves time, energy, effort, and resources; avoiding troubles; supporting life so it can thrive. Same for organization of the family, business, community, nation, and world.

To Be Titled

Mother said that when she didn't focus on and give attention to Her body, instead simply offering the matter to the Force, pains she had quickly disappeared. On the other hand, when she gave attention to Her body, pains would increase or reappear.

What Supermind Is

"For the supermind is a Truth-Consciousness in which the Divine Reality, fully manifested, no longer works with the instrumentation of the Ignorance; a truth of status of being which is absolute becomes dynamic in a truth of energy and activity of the being which is self-existent and perfect. Every movement there is a movement of the self-aware truth of Divine Being and every part is in entire harmony with the whole. Even the most limited and finite action is in the Truth-Consciousness a movement of the Eternal and Infinite." (Sri Aurobindo)

Ascent to Supramental Truth and Descent

"An ascent into the supramental Truth not only raises our spiritual and essential consciousness to that height but brings about a descent of this Light and Truth into all our being and all our parts of nature. All then becomes part of the Divine Truth, an element and means of the supreme union and oneness; this ascent and descent must be therefore an ultimate aim of this Yoga." (Sri Aurobindo)

Supramental Truth Consciousness

Truth is the Actual Reality of existence.

Truth is also complete, many sided knowledge of the current status of existence, of the Reality.

Truth is complete, many sided knowledge of the current status of existence, of the Reality.

We live in Mind, not Supermind. It is a very partial knowledge at any given moment.

The partial knowledge of Mind is our essential Ignorance. It leads to wrong judgement and error.

It can result in Falsehood when the Ignorance is related to or acted upon with glee. It leads to Evil when further acted upon with malice.

Life is the slow, painful journey from Ignorance to greater Truth. Personal growth, development, and evolution is the conscious rapid path out of Ignorance and into the integral Truth.

Full, ongoing apprehension and mastery of the Truth in life situations is Supramental Consciousness.

—

The plane of supramental consciousness is Supermind.

It is both a plane of a spiritualized Mind and a power to manifest any knowledge as real in the world.

The Mother's Force is both the supramental consciousness and a Force for its manifestation. Whenever Her Force moves it creates integrally true and perfect outcomes.

Moving within to the psychic being (evolving soul) and surrendering to Her and Her Force puts us on the road to becoming Supramental Beings.

There we have ongoing Integral Knowledge with Supramental Force to become the Masters of Life.

Peace, Harmony, Truth, Love, Delight, Timelessness, and Infinity is our natural condition.

Transformation of our body, emotions, heart, and mind is our living reality. It is the perfection of our life at all planes - mental, vital, physical - to their supramental equivalents.

We are led at each step along the way by the Supramental purpose in the cosmos.

We thereby become vehicles for the transformation of all life in earth.

Fall into Physical Consciousness

Devotees will periodically fall into a state of blahness, emptiness, with lack of purpose and motivation, which we have come to understand is the assertion of physical consciousness over our normal being. In these periods of our lives, whether short or long, we should remain calm and steady, until our normal consciousness returns.

To Be Titled

When you assert something has changed for the good when it has just begun to be accomplished, it tends to soon get undone. Best to be silent on such matters until it is firmly established.

Vast Power of Knowing Money's True Nature

Karmayogi says that if we know the true nature of Money, -- including how it is a Social power, and a Divine power, plus appreciate the value of Trust behind it, -- we can have a power over it, and bring it back into the hands of the Divine. That is one approach.

He has written deeply about the Nature of Money - hundreds of pages.; each line a pearl of wisdom. (see link below)

He also says that a person who is not a slave of Money, but has an aspiration to see it in the hands of the Higher Consciousness, can have a great power over it.

Also we know the principle that in the cause of a problem lies the solution. The problem as Deepak Chopra indicates is rooted in attachments to certain forms, - family, religious, nation, etc. - that hold sway over us; rather than for development of all of humanity. We are capable of shedding such attachments.

In this way Money can work for the world, supporting the Human Individual. instead of how so much of money now works, merely Chasing more Money

There is much more about the nature of Money that Karmayogi addresses, which give us deep insights on how to proceed: including money's needs to circulate instead of stagnate; its self-multiplying power, and many other unprecedented, breakthrough concepts.

And yes, one person can take this up as challenge and change the world, with Mother as his Guide, showing him the way forward.

The following is an extensive article on the subject:

To Be Titled

Human life is ego-centered. Divine Life is Psychic-centered. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

In Mother's Life all that matters is the Consciousness involved.

To Be Titled

It is not the society, not even the conscience, we have to follow. We must follow the Soul. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo's Integral Yoga in one sense is actually quite simple: center one's self in the Psychic Being, and from there surrender to the Divine Mother. All else will follow as necessary.

To Be Titled

Supramental is non-stop synchronicity and Life Response.

To Be Titled

Karmayogi indicates that the more India is prosperous, the more Indian spirituality will spread around the world

Infinite Power of Karmayogi's 'Consciousness Approach to Business Management'

To show the power in Karmayogi's words, I would like to share a true incident I experienced several decades ago:

In 1985 I went to visit NeXt Computer, the startup that Steve Jobs founded after he was extirpated from Apple.

One day I decided to give Steve a copy of Appa's booklet 'Consciousness Approach to Business Management' at the NeXt headquarters in Palo Alto California. In a dramatic moment of my life, I reached out to hand Steve the booklet as he walked through the office, but was intercepted by his subordinate who said that Steve did not have the time to review such things just now. Steve and his entourage then waltzed passed me, in a slow-motion like memory, like a scene from a movie.

Well it turns out that though Steve Jobs did not read the booklet (at least that is what I believe), he did return to Apple and made it the largest company on earth in terms of market value, nearly $1Trillion.

We can speculate that the effect of Appa and his words, whether read or not, likely got transferred into Steve's consciousness, creating the greatest business infinite in history! It seemed like an ultimate Response from life.

To Be Titled

To truly know and experience the world on the outside, go deeper Inside.

Man's Creations are Originally in the Subtle Plane as Potential

All that Man has created, invented in the last 100,000 years was already there in the higher planes as potential. The same for what Man will "create" in future. Meaning that if we are in touch with those higher planes, all that would come to us in thousands of future years, can come very rapidly; in a very few.

In other words, Man thinks he created everything from scratch; but it was always there in the subtle planes as potential, waiting for Man to catch onto it.

Universal Goal of Devotees

The goal in the Integral Yoga is not to develop higher consciousness so we alone can reach the top - in success, wealth, knowledge, love, happiness, et al - but rather that every person achieve it. In this yoga (transformation discipline) we thus have Universal intentions, and through the development of our higher aspirations and powers, we help bring it about.

Intuitivizing Vast Knowledge from Higher Planes of Mind

All the vast powers of mentality reside in the higher planes of Mind, a tiny sliver of which we have brought down into our own lives.

From those planes you would have knowledge of anything, everything of any aspect of life. Eg you would intuitive them in your being; like India's Ramanujan, who vastly opened to those planes in one small area of life.

This is the frontier of Consciousness that awaits us.

To Be Titled

Aside from my own experiences and the thoughts that emanate from them, I am often trying to put Karmayogi's and Garry Jacobs' and Sri Aurobindo's and Mother's thoughts into my own words so that it will be easily understood by others.

Supramental Life in Film 'Phenomenon'

"I was inspired by your [Roy Posner's] comments on "Phenomenon" and watched the movie second time. I tried to relate to your post (in Facebook group) "WHAT WOULD A SUPRAMENTAL LIFE BE LIKE?" to some of the instances in that movie." (SM)

WHAT WOULD A SUPRAMENTAL LIFE BE LIKE? (featured)

— In this life as soon as one has an idea of something, there is immediately given a power for it to manifest as real in the world.

George had several ideas as a result of his experience. However, the world was not ready to embrace and try it out. He had tried himself with the organic fertilizer and then passed on that to his friend Nate. Also, he had written down all the possibilities and given that to Dr Ringold for the future.

— In this life there is ongoing soul to soul connection with others. What occurs to another is equally as important as what happens to ourselves. There is thus a sense of Oneness toward both others and life.

He could identify himself with the nature and that's why he was able to perceive earthquake, identify himself with the rhythm of wind and so forth. He could clearly see the problem from other's point of view like the he was able to solve rabbit's problem.

One fine example was that he could understand not just Nate's surface problem as he was in need of a helper to clean his house, but a need of soul mate from his depths. And so he had connected him to Ella beautifully.

— In this life when we accomplish something, it simultaneously is done at the collective, societal, universal level as well.

The world was not ready for that at that time. Perhaps that's why Mother didn't supramentalize the world though SHE has the power to do that. When the world evolves collectively, it would be easier to accept.

— In this life the supramental power is always there, and always available to instantly solve problems, create the best conditions, open up opportunities, etc.

He could see various, numerous possibilities. Though people was not receptive to that except very few. It frightened his friends at the bar and also public in the book fair.

— In this life there is no ego, no selfishness, no self-importance; there is also no ignorance, falsehood, or evil.

— In this life, a positive development never creates an additional dark shadow. Life is therefore "self-existent."

— In this life there is no pain, suffering, or even death. There is unending life if one so wishes it, especially if one has developed a modicum of a supramentalized body.

— In this life there is no conflict, strife, war, poverty, and other forms of human misery.

— In this life new, unprecedented solutions and possibilities constantly present themselves.

Indeed he had those possibilities and written down for the future.

— In this life there is constant creativity, generating infinite variations and new formations of reality.

Same as above

— In this life there is continuous peace, inner silence, truth perception, harmony, goodness, generosity, gratitude, knowledge, wisdom, beauty, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity.

He had expressed some of them to certain extent. He did not force Lace to accept his love. He happily, willfully accepted her to let go as she was not ready for that kind of surprises.

Yet, she came back to him and she told she could not stop her from loving him till her life time.

— In this life, we develop true individuality, even true spiritual individuality that emanates from our soul. Our actions are infinitely creative and dynamic as they emanate from the psychic being within.

Other than initial conflict and confusion, he himself amazed about what was going on with himself and he talked about Spirit to the doctor in the hospital. But the world viewed them as only physical things happening in the brain. Unfortunately he had not met anyone who could understand such psychic experience and guide him along.

— In this life we are continuously centered deep within, in the psychic being, and call to the supramental force, the divine Mother, continuously bringing about divine-like developments around us.

— In this life we are not just true Individuals, but also Universal beings affecting the world around us in profound ways; and also Transcendent beings, constantly fulfilling the will of the infinite Divine.

He became a universal being as the movie ends with how he had touched everybody's lives in his next birthday.

— In this life we help bring about and partake in an ever-emerging Divine Life on Earth; a Supramental Existence.

Indeed this film had the glimpse of aspiration towards Supramental Existence and had picturized it well, though they may not aware of that on the surface but perceived subconsciously. [SM]

Pioneer Individual and Society

The Pioneer Leader does consciously what the Society wishes for subconsciously.

For example, Steve Jobs wished to make easy-to-use computers for the average person, which the Society subconsciously, unknowingly wished for as well. When he brought them to fruition, in various forms, and through a variety of parties, the Society took to it in full.

To Be Titled

Acceptance, willingness allows for possibilities; while engaging in their opposite cuts off potentials of life.

To Be Titled

A divine force shall flow through tissue and cell

And take the charge of breath and speech and act

And all the thoughts shall be a glow of suns

And every feeling a celestial thrill.

Often a lustrous inner dawn shall come

Lighting the chambers of the slumbering mind;

A sudden bliss shall run through every limb

And Nature with a mightier Presence fill.

Thus shall the earth open to divinity

And common natures feel the wide uplift, Illumine common acts with the Spirit's ray

And meet the deity in common things.

Nature shall live to manifest secret God,

The Spirit shall take up the human play,

This earthly life become the life divine.

(Sri Aurobindo, from Savitri)

To Be Titled

The nations of the world need to come together in a spirit of Collaboration to seriously/sincerely solve the vast array of economic problems in society.

To Be Titled

The Pioneer Individual creates things that the Society does not know it wants.

To Be Titled

In one sense Trump is in power because conservatives and liberals, together and apart, could not solve the fundamental economic problems of American society.

And so now democracy itself is under threat.

To Be Titled

The world is increasingly in a Hurricane, which is why we need to discover our psychic center within, our soul, so that we can avoid the whirlwind, yet harness its vast energy and power to create the infinitely Good.

To Be Titled

Unwillingness changing to willingness attracts the diminishing of the problem that caused the unwillingness in the first place. (This is a very common experience of mine!)

Eg I am offered a project. It seems to me to difficult, so I don't want to do it. Then I have a change of heart and agree to do it. I then find out that the problem regarding the project was much less than I imagined. Life responded to my shift in attitude.

From Current Horrible Action of Mind to Its Greater Role as Instrument of Manifestation

But you know, I see more and more how horrible the mind's action in life is. Of course, in the long run, at the end of the curve, the mind will bring a precision and accuracy that didn't exist without it, but men come to regard that precision and accuracy as the truth, and that has spoilt everything. When it becomes nothing more than an INSTRUMENT of manifestation, it will be very useful. But for the moment it's still ... I am beginning to see in small details how its action is to add something to the manifestation, but in its daily labor it's horrible.

(The Mother, from Agenda, October 25, 1967)

Beyond Self-Satisfaction to What Truly Keeps One Young

"It is not the number of years you have lived that makes you old. You become old when you stop progressing. As soon as you feel you have done what you had to do, as soon as you think you know what you ought to know, as soon as you want to sit and enjoy the results of your effort, with the feeling you have worked enough in life, then at once you become old and begin to decline. When, on the contrary, you are convinced that what you know is nothing compared to all that remains to be known, when you feel that what you have done is just the starting point of what remains to be done, when you see the future like an attractive sun shining with innumerable possibilities yet to be achieved, then you are young, howsoever many are the years you have passed upon earth, young and rich with all the realisations of tomorrow. And if you do not want your body to fail you, avoid wasting your energies in useless agitation. Whatever you do, do it in a quiet and composed poise. In peace and silence is the greatest strength."

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 4, 1967)

To Be Titled

The universal and the individual are the two essential appearances into which the Unknowable descends....God having entirely become Nature, Nature seeks to become progressively God!!!
(S S Sreejith)

From Chaos Theory to the Interconnectedness of Life to the Infinite Power of One Individual to Change the World

"...Chaos theory is a misnomer. What the scientist sees as a dynamic nonlinear system is only a result whose cause remains unknown. It may well appear like chaos to us, but that is only because we have not discovered the real determinants. We live in the gross physical whereas all power of determination lies in the subtle and causal planes. Tiny movements can have immense consequences, because everything is linked to everything else, everything is connected, everything that occurs on the surface of life is an expression of an underlying unity.

What do we know of real causes beneath that surface? History only tells us entertaining stories. Grand consequences emanate from apparently insignificant events. An apparently chance meeting, a book falling off a shelf can change our life. A single individual can change the course of human events. A yogi sitting in a Himalayan cave dreamed of freedom and the French Revolution was born. One individual has the power to change everything because each individual represents the whole of humanity, is one with the whole of humanity, is the whole of humanity in inner consciousness. Our arrogance is born of ignorance. A child, it is said, could topple the whole edifice of the modern world. If so, then a child with Knowledge can also transform it..."

(From, 'The Book', page 526, by Garry Jacobs)

On Trump

-He came to office due to legitimate economic grievances of the people. Often the first party to embrace a people's grievance will be a negative one, which Trump is.

-Laissez-faire capitalism, including globalism has failed many, particularly in the US Midwest and South. They then take to electing anyone who will address their grievances, including those undemocratic in spirit, like Trump.

-Democracy is usurped when the economic system fails the people. Democratic countries need to develop a more human-centered system for it to truly flourish.

-Often the light is preceded by the darkness. Plethora of autocrats around the world, including Trump are examples of the latter, that can be followed by the former.

-The more we rage against Trump, the more harmful he can become. I.e. we will be energizing his negativity. Inner aspiration for his reduced influence and removal from office can set loose events that can dramatically influence his tenure. Even Mueller, the head of the Russia collusion investigation, is in his own way practicing a form of this "Silent Will."

-Even a tyrant or brute is capable of doing one very good thing. Nixon and Reagan are examples.

Long Beach Prescience and Beyond

Almost five years ago I moved from the beautiful town of Lafayette in the San Francisco Bay Area in Northern California, where I lived for 35 years, to Long Beach in Southern California.

I had been to Long Beach a few times for work-related activities during the time I lived Lafayette, though I never explored the city. And yet I now recall that I had several dreams about Long Beach years before I ever settled there. The dreams consisted of very specific places in the city, mostly near downtown, though I had never been there. Then on several occasions when I moved to Long Beach, I came upon those very places I saw in my dreams, and exclaimed to a friend that I had seen these locations in my dreams 10-20 years before moving to the city!

It was another experience of prescience through dreams. And that occurred several years after going through a startling set of events, where almost every other night for six months I dreamt the next day's news; either quite exactly or very close!

Keep in mind that these were fresh new events in which there had not been any discussion of those particular situations in the news previous to those dreams.

More recently, I have had a different set of mystical experiences; namely Synchronicities in Waves, such as five iterations within 10 minutes of a particular thing occurring from out of nowhere. Eg I look at my clock and it says 11:11, then a moment later a bus goes by numbered 111, and then another instance of 111 appears again across my field of vision, and then again. At one point, after being startled by these multi-pronged synchronous event, I called out "enough!" to the universe! And then it stops

Dozens, perhaps hundreds of these experiences per month have been happening to me.

As the consciousness develops, - as one is increasingly filled with supramental light, - prescience, synchronicity, and Life Response occurrences ramp up.

Plus through consecration, non-reaction, and other inner methods devised by Sri Karmayogi, negative circumstance are constantly cancelled, people arrive at just the right time, flow if life is totally harmonic, etc., etc.

These seem to be first indicators of Supramental Life; small steps on the road to infinite-like, never-ending "Instantaneous Miraculousness."

To Be Titled

Make the effort to understand what others are saying when not understood, and you will be rewarded by new shadings of the truth.

Means of Immortality Here on Earth

—Christians advocate eternal life in heaven. Sri Aurobindo advocates immortal, divine life here on earth.

—Science advocates immortality through material manipulation of the body, such as through gene changes. Mother and Sri Aurobindo advocate endless life through transformation of the cells through their surrender to the supramental Force.

—The Mother made the preparatory experiments on her body for endless life on earth. By opening Her cells to the Force, She opened the gates for future individuals, generations to become immortal. (i.e. for people to live as long as they wish)

Collaborating in Our Cosmic Destiny

There is a cosmic destiny set for you, but you can choose whether or not to follow it, collaborate with it; which is your free will. If you do, ultimate fulfillment will come into your life.

To Be Titled

The only real security in life is the divine, the Mother.

Equivalencies Between Involution of the Supreme and Human Evolution

We can see how the Involution is mirrored in human consciousness through our Evolution. First a few definitions:

INVOLUTION is the Descent from the divine spirit to matter. It comes first.

HUMAN EVOLUTION is the Ascent from human body to spirit. It comes after.

Below are the Involution/Human Evolution equivalencies.

Note that physical body is the human starting point, and we are ascending upward . in an evolution of consciousness, culminating in spirit. For the divine, spirit is the starting point and has descended to become matter. it is involution, absorption of consciousness.

THE DIVINE - THE HUMAN

Sat-Chit- Ananda/Spirit (I) = Satchitananda individual (E)

Supermind (I) = Supramentalized individuals (E)

Cosmic Mind (I) = Intuitive, Revelatory Mind (knowledge w/o thought) (E)

Mind (I) = Mind/Mentality (eg human thought) (E)

Energy (I) = Life (eg human emotions, interactions) (E)

Matter (I) = Our physical body (E)

Humans have risen to mind, and are predominantly centered there. Many have risen to rational mind; many not. On occasions humans have experiences of intuition/intuitive mind.. Supermind ascendance awaits in the future, with some people having small intimations of it. In our evolution we have begun to rise to these higher, spiritual realms of mind.

Through a dividing and absorption (disappearance) of consciousness process the spirit of the divine has become matter.

Government Role in Economy

Government should at first be held in the background as much as possible, allowing the private sector and entrepreneurship/individuality to succeed. If it fails, government should step in. In the current environment in USA and sections of the world, government needs to step in fiercely - to undo income inequality, and many other problems.

The system also needs to be rethought out for the betterment of all. The old system is failing the common man.

Eg In India and China socialism was abandoned, as it was stifling the countries. Free enterprise was given a chance and has begun to succeed royally. 700 million came out of poverty in two decades. But then government has increasingly stepped in when the problems cropped up. Basically they are where USA and EU was in the 1950s and 60s.

US laissez-faire system has become a mistake.

It should be replaced with a global Human-centered economics.

Ascending Planes of Security in Life

We see planes of existence in life - from Physical to Vital to Psychological/Mental, to Spiritual - in an ascending scale. We also know the concept of Security; i.e. protection from the exigencies of life. We can therefore try to see some of the ways that security expresses at each of these four planes of existence for the average person.

Physical Security - Safety from accidents, Mother Nature's wrath, natural disasters, drought, food shortage, disease, illness, physical threats, war. Utilization of army, police, fire fighters, governance (education, highways money flow, safety nets, social security, life/car/property/health insurance, etc.).

Vital Security - Family affection and support, friendships, marriage, children, romance, etc., social institutions (democracy, law, medical, financial, etc.), job, work, wage, creative impulse, etc.,

Psychological and Mental Security - Knowledge that is provided by schools, by human values of society (like freedom, fairness and equality), an individual's capacity to use mind to understand and protect himself from life's exigencies, psychologists and related professions, etc.

Spiritual Security - Inner Stillness/Peace, Inner Joy, Faith, power of the Divine Force to move, intervene in life, eliminating forces of insecurity.

Having all securities is what man desires. Spiritual Man desires only the spiritual security f faith and the Force, as it will insure all the others take palace as necessary, or not bother about them as it seeks something higher - i.e. Peace, Truth, Harmony, Love, Joy, Timelessness, and Infinity.

On Security

--The king gave the physical security of law and order. Democracy has extended the rule of law so much that the individual can exercise his individuality. Sri Aurobindo requires the security from hostile forces for Truth to be followed by the individual. It is the security at the physical, social, subtle levels that ensures the progress of man.

--Creation of security in one plane will ensure the rightness of action in all the planes below.

--Insecurity is for those who love security. Those who love danger are always secure.

--Insurance is the Individual security given by the collective. Individual prayer to Mother is the security the individual gives the collective. Prayer is the premium paid by the devotee to the Divine for the well-being of the world.

--There is complete security for what is achieved. Insecurity is only for new pastures. Secure foundation; insecure fresh attempt.

--Psychological security is the highest known security. It rises when the world outside values are true inner values.

--Security is the ultimate accomplishment in any field.

--The subconscious fullness that makes the conscious oblivious is security.

--Security is a sensation of the sub-conscious stability.

(Karmayogi)

Science, Technology, and Evolving Human Spirit

The advance of scientific enquiry, the amazing new technologies are expressions of human spirit evolving in the mind and organising in Matter. (Karmayogi)

USA'S Spiritual Aspiration

The USA wants to know. Having achieved material prosperity, the USA is in quest of Spirit. It reaches for Hathayoga, Tantra or the vital spirits mistaking them for the Spirit.

Internet as Subtle Organization

Between the hurricane of the Force and the well laid out royal paths of reason, we see another phenomenon where the mental advances in science have learnt to organise themselves in matter as technology. Its latest version is the Internet made possible by the advent of computer technology. This being an organisation, it is integrating itself with all the existing organisations such as money, communication, education, and entertainment. It does everything necessary to create a subtle organisation. The world knows several subtle organisations. All institutions are in one sense subtle organisations. Internet is creating a subtle organisation through the medium of technology which is Mind expressing itself in Matter. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The prosperity of the West is due to Individuality and [hard] work. (Karmayogi)

Sri Karmayogi's Name

Why did T. Natarajan incorporate the name of. "Karmayogi"? Karma Yoga is the yoga of "works." That through our life actions linked and offered to the spirit, our lives can reach its greatest possibilities, culminating in human transformation.

Moreover, through any of the fields of life one can apply the spirit, hence his vast interest and prolific, genius writings in so many areas, including personal and spiritual transformation, the nature of reality, the process of creation, business, economics, education, history, literature, film, the character of life, social development, the future of India, etc. etc.

His name thus represents transformation through the activities of life; to bring the Spirit to bear on them.

This was also Sri Aurobindo's aim in developing an integral approach to human transformation; personified by his credo that "all life is yoga."

Kashmir and Reunification

Kashmir indicates the future reunion of Pakistan and perhaps, if Kashmir is solved the problem created in the society by Mind's partial view will be resolved and India will reach Supermind. (Karmayogi)

Comment; Supermind is Unity consciousness. It may take a degree of it to get the harmonizing energy and solution that can resolve the Kashmir situation. That would show the harmonic power of Supermind; not just of ideas, but of actions, solutions that issue from it. Now Supramental perception and action can spread throughout India, and then the world.

Rajaji's Great Idea for India's Future Prosperity

Of any developmental inspiration, the only thing that surfaced as an idea was Rajaji's ORIGINAL idea of transforming the village into a polytechnic. His idea excels even the resourcefulness of Napoleon in that it is a vibration of a genius in the widest context of collective evolution. It was not mooted at the All-India level. It was a stillborn child vitiated by its malicious motive born out of traditional ignorance.

Here is a gem of a suggestion which when combined with the modern resources of Western technology will render each village into a veritable powerhouse that avails of the latest tools for the exercise of ancient spiritual skills.

Similarly, ways and means can be devised to draw entirely upon the reservoir of Indian spirituality. If the above relates to skill and the totality embraces the complete personality of Bharat Mata, in every sector such a strategy is available to unleash the infinite energies of the field.

To Be Titled

A Life of Truth Consciousness is Divine Life. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Sri Karmayogi's single great aim is to see the Supramental Consciousness, the Force of the Divine Mother roll out throughout the world, and Divinize life.

Human vs. Soul/Divine View of Events

Humanity judges each event in terms of whether it is good or bad, pleasant or unpleasant to ourselves. The Divine and each individual soul regards each event in terms of its contribution to the awakening and evolution of our consciousness. Often what is least desirable to the ego is most helpful for our progress. (Garry Jacobs)

Head vs. Mind

.. we can envision the whole WORLD and the whole of history in our minds which are centered in our tiny heads. How is it possible? The ideas and mind are in one plane which is not confined to the physical while the head is in another. (Garry Jacobs)

Questions about God that Demand Explanations.

[questions posed by N. Asokan of MSS. Answers provided by Roy Posner]

--

1. Why has the Supreme given so much freedom to his creation? What can he mean by it? Does He not know that misuse of that freedom will mean the disfigurement of the beauty of his own creation?

--He has allowed the freedom so there can be infinite variation in the universe; of experience and joy.

--

2. The Vedic Rishis lived at a time when Mind was not formed in humanity. Yet it is claimed that they had great spiritual experiences. How is it possible for people without a formed Mind to have spiritual experiences exceeding Mind?

--You can have spiritual experience in the heart centers- eg self-givingness, goodwill, bhakti, et., that have little to do with Mind. You can also melt into the infinite without the experience of mind.

--

3. The U.S exploded two atomic bombs even when both Bhagawan and Mother were present. Does that mean that it took place with their spiritual consent? How could they have given their consent when their own work for the cause of peace and human unity stands spoiled by this development.?

--They may not have given their consent, but rather may have been silent witness to the situation, to perceive how that fits into the greater scheme of things. Certainly Mother later condemned the weapons in all shapes and forms in Agenda.

--

4. Sri Aurobindo claims that He reached Sacchidananda in no time but that it took 10 years of hard labor to reach Supermind? Supermind is only the objective version of Sacchidananda and if so why should it take so much more time to reach it when the subjective version was easily accessible.?

--Satchitananda is in the tradition, and therefore one may readily seek it out. Supermind is less known, hinted at in the ancient texts. Also, Supermind has a direct influence in the created universe, even as it carries out the mission of Satchitananda. It resides between the upper and lower hemisphere. Therefore maybe it was less easy to perceive, to be clear about. I.e. it can only be fully known through its action and one's experience of it in the material world. Supermind is after all simultaneously a power of both Integral Knowledge and will for Manifestation, which may have taken time to realize.

--

5. Communist nations such as China that have an official atheistic policy have not suffered in any big way because of their denial of God. What does this show about God? Does this mean that He is not bothered about their denial and extends His benevolence to them as well as to His God-loving children of other nations.

--Much of the belief in God in the world comes in the form of religion, which is highly distorted with their superstition and only partial knowledge of the truth of the Spirit. Atheism can stand as a way to point out religions falsehoods, even as it casts aside its benefit. So China is in many ways no worse than any other country. Also atheist China responded to Mothers call in 1962 and withdrew from India, even as India fell asleep to Her call.

--

6. The entire manifestation can be described as a product of Divine Imagination in which case the whole manifestation is within His Consciousness only. Still the world looks like it is outside of God's consciousness. If so then how is it that this illusion has risen?

--Everything is within His manifestation. Gods true kingdom is the Reality, the All. It's just that the lesser elements have to catch up; and they were created for diversity of experience and joy.

--

7. It is claimed that the manifestation issued from the word "OM". If so how is it possible that this sound possessed such a creative Power?

--Through a sound, humans can perceive Him, so OM was made possible.

--

8. It is claimed that the Infinite consciousness has hidden Itself in the Finite. This is impossible since the Infinite is much bigger than the Finite and so how can it be hidden inside something that is smaller than itself?

--The Finite is not truly finite. That is only a frontal appearance. It is actually an Infinite in disguise, ready to burst forward. It carries that seed within it.

--

9. The Divine consciousness is said to be immutable. Yet at the same time it is said to be constantly refreshing its creation. How can the Supreme exhibit such opposite capacities at the same Time?

--Out of stillness came movement. The movement was a product of the Divine's Aspiration to be more than Itself. They work together.

--

10. The Divine does not crave human adoration. Still, this is how Worshippers have chosen to relate to Him. This is like asking a man with a full stomach to keep on eating more. This will only lead to an upset stomach. However, the Divine does not show any such upset caused by unwanted attention. How to explain this non-vulnerability?

--Mother does not want us to ask things of Her, which has a partial ego element, nor even adore Her, but to become like Her. I.e. to Aspire for the Divine to come into our lives. It is easier to love a great thing than to become it.

To Be Titled

Evil (and ignorance and falsehood) generate the good faster than the good does; at least until the good becomes the truly GOOD.

To Be Titled

Perhaps the greatest of all human qualities is the ability to think for oneself.

Einstein's Rejection Letter

[after reviewing an historical letter in which Einstein's theories were rejected outright by University of Bern in Switzerland as being mere artistic fantasy rather than scientific, and therefore his application for doctorate in physics was rejected.]

Ideas of great minds will often be rejected if out of step with prevailing winds; or at odds with the sentiments of austere institutions.

Great minds are often very individualistic and are therefore their unconventional ideas are roundly rejected outright by supporters of the herd view.

Even Supermind is rejected by members of the Indian spiritual tradition; or at least completely misunderstood.

-thanks to Sreejith

Power of Knowledge of Process of Creation

"According to The Book, one who has the complete knowledge, one who knows the complete process of creation, has the power to manifest the Infinite in life. And when that power manifests, it does not take time. It generates results instantaneously. The aspiration, the decision, the action and the result are simultaneous and fully integrated with one another..."

(From 'The Book', page 520, by Garry Jacobs)

Perception of an Idea at Five Planes

We can perceive several planes of being in our nature, rising up from lowest to highest consciousness. They are Physical, Vital, Mental, Spiritual, and Supramental. Also people tend to be centered in their being predominantly in one of the planes, usually vital or mental.

Also we can perceive how each type of person perceives an idea, thing or matter (from lowest to highest)-

A Physical person rarely perceives an idea, as he is not interested in learning, and so it bounces off his mind.

A Vital person perceives an idea only when he experiences it.

A Mental person perceives it when it is rationally presented and understood.

A Spiritual person perceives its truth in the silence of his mind.

A Supramental person perceives it Instantaneously in the moment it reveals itself as an integral truth, and simultaneously manifests as something materially real in the world.

Team Member Right Consciousness Attracts

When a team member gives up his frustration, it subtly gives positive energy to his teammates, attracting everyone's success.

Suppose a key injured player shifts from frustration to calm acceptance, his team will quickly improve their performance, even if they have no knowledge of his original perception or his change of heart.

In this and similar ways each team member can attract great performance and outcome for all, - whether in sports, business, or other fields of life.

Ways to Remain Young at Heart

Mother's consciousness helps to keep us young at heart though we may age physically. However, remaining young at heart demands certain attitudinal shifts without which a youthful disposition is not possible. Let us see what these attitudinal shifts are.

1. MAXIMUM EFFORT - Always try to do your maximum even if it is very difficult. For example if minimum working hours is eight and you can keep working for 10 or 12 hours, then opt for these 12 hours instead of the minimum eight.

2. SETTING CHALLENGES -- Welcome challenges in your life. If they are absent, go out seeking challenges or set for yourself challenging goals. For example if you are a businessman, set yourself a challenging goal in terms of revenue target and then work towards it.

3. OVERCOMING ROUTINE -- Nothing is more deadening than functioning in a soulless routine manner or functioning out of set habits. So be innovative in yr daily functioning and act out of spontaneity than out of fixity of habits. If yr work is a soulless routine work like entering figures in acct books, then try to do it while consecrating it. That will put life in to that work. If you have a fixed habit of taking tea or coffee at 4.00 p.m in the evening, then pl try to not expect the tea at 4.00 p.m and focus on the work on hand.

4. CHEERFULNESS- Pl try to remain cheerful at all times irrespective of what happens to you and irrespective of what news you get. Nothing works better to keep you young than an attitude of constant cheerfulness.

5. PROBLEMS TO OPPORTUNITIES -- Pl take the problems you face and try to find out how to turn them in to great opportunities. If you are faced with a shortage of income, then try to figure out how to turn the shortage into a plenty.

6. FOCUSING ON OTHERS - Pl turn yr attention to other people around you and see what you can do to make them improve their careers and enhance their happiness. Wherever you get a receptive listening try to show them the potentials that are awaiting them and share in the joy of their progress.

7. LEARNING THE NEW -- Pl be always on the look-out for learning something new. Nothing keeps us more on alert than this eagerness to learn something new every day.

8. OVERCOMING SELF-SATISFACTION - Pl don't be ever satisfied with what you have achieved. Always try for a bit more. If you are a great admirer of cleanliness, then keep on trying to improve yr score on that front.

9. EMBRACING LIFE RESPONSE - PI learn to look at yr life as well as the life around you through the mechanism of Life Response. It will yield unending marvels of new insights that constantly updates yr knowledge.

10. SEEKING DIVINE PRESENCE - PI try to feel the Divine's presence in all the friendly touches as well as unpleasant shocks that Life gives you. If you succeed in that, that will keep you forever young at heart.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

To Be Titled

Every situation carefully observed subtly suggests several courses of action ... or inaction.

To Be Titled

"Simultaneous Time" is to experience the past, present, and future in the Eternal Now. It is supramental in nature.

Experience of Time Among Person Types

There are several TYPES of persons, of which the normal human being is centered mostly in his vital or mental being. Moreover, we can see how each type of person relates to Time:

--A physical person enjoys mindlessly reveling in the past.

--A vital person likes those moments that are satisfying, whether in the past or present.

--A mental person focuses on that which is useful among past, present, and future.

--A spiritual person lives in a state of Timelessness, i.e. beyond time.

--A supramental person lives in simultaneous time -- where past, present, and future are experienced as one, without boundaries, in the Eternal Present. E.g. from the present he can change the past and future.

To Be Titled

Time emerged from Timelessness; so through our higher consciousness we can learn to bring out the Timelessness in Time.

To Be Titled

An evolving personality progressively focuses less on the negative, and more on the positive. In fact, she sees negatives for what they really are, intense forms of the positive; as possibilities, opportunities.

To Be Titled

Life repeats negatively, especially among those in the physical consciousness, lost in the Ignorance.

Great Changes and Challenges in World Since End of Cold War

Colossal political, economic and social changes followed the sudden end of the Cold War and the associated ideological competition. These include the collapse of the Soviet Empire and Warsaw Pact, the rapid expansion of NATO, the establishment of the European Union and Eurozone, the dramatic expansion of world trade after the founding of the WTO, the birth of the World Wide Web as the first truly global social institution, the rise of global civil society, the globalization of multinational corporations and financial markets, the financialization of economies, the resulting global impact of the 2008 financial crisis, the intensification of multicultural contacts in a shrinking world of intensified cross-border communication and immigration, rising expectations of an increasingly educated young population, accelerated technological development and application threatening existing job security and future job creation, rising levels of economic inequality and concentration of wealth, increasing influence of money and economy on national policy and international relations, the recent emergence of China and India as economic powerhouses, the recent proliferation of nuclear powers and reliance on nuclear weapons reversing the dramatic breakthrough in nuclear arms control in the early 1990s. These changes are themselves both the causes and results of rapid and radical change.

This remarkable confluence of diverse factors has shaken conventional theories and beliefs, generated widespread confusion, and raised fundamental questions about the future of humanity. Concerns about the future have not reached this intensity since the end of World War II led to the founding of the UN and the Bretton Woods institutions. In combination, they signal disillusionment with the prevailing intellectual paradigm that has dominated global thought for the past few decades, but without clearly signaling the characteristics of the new paradigm that is yet to emerge and replace it. As in the past, one result has been a reversion to earlier dogmas and discredited doctrines in search of greater certainty. Competitive and aggressive nationalism, isolationism, mutual suspicion and xenophobia are rearing their heads. Prevailing philosophies, institutions and policies have been discredited. But a new shared vision of pathways to a more peaceful, prosperous and sustainable human community has yet to emerge.

(Cadmus Journal; Garry Jacobs, et al)

Remainder of article:

Over the past few millennia, humanity has evolved from an organization of villages, tribes, city-states and petty kingdoms into an international system of nation-states. It is now in the process of moving beyond nation-states to form a more closely integrated global community with effective institutions for global governance. (Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Terrorism and autocratic, oligarchic, undemocratic populism are due in part to the fact that certain large swaths of peoples feel they have been left out of the general wave of prosperity in the world, and grab onto whatever system - nefarious or not - they believe will serve their interests.

Comment It is increasingly the Era of Rising Expectations.

To Be Titled

Life is a never-ending Workshop to work out our limitations of consciousness on the road to transformation and immortality.

Comment: It occurs across multiple births, though it can be radically sped up within one.

Benefits of Cryptocurrencies

Cryptocurrencies allow peer to peer exchange of money, without need of middlemen like banks and other financial intermediaries.

This-

- allows for lower cost money transactions
- enables the poor to participate who haven't bank accounts
- enables speeding up of transactions
- shifts the power to the user instead of institutions
- allows for new forms of monetary trust forging new monetary potentials
- can make use of the Internet enabling all sorts of developmental possibilities
- could lead to a global world currency with far greater effectivity than current national currencies
- could be regulated from its inception against international financial speculation
- can use programming capacity of web to easily establish rules and regulations
- etc.

The negative is that Cryptocurrencies can be abused for wild speculation, to avoid taxes through havens and the like, etc. strong regulation or over-site would alleviate such concerns. Currently such currencies are approaching $500 billion.

Garry Jacobs:

"... we are still in the earliest stage of the development of CCs, akin to the time when the Internet was primarily used for email and file transfers.

It would be unfortunate if out of fear of possible loss of control, national governments were to prematurely stifle experimentation and experience with this new financial networking tool.

At the same time, the risks are too great to permit their unbridled development without close monitoring and regulatory powers to mitigate misuse.

Under these conditions, management by international institutions is the most effective strategy for fostering positive innovations conducive to the fullest and most equitable development of the contribution of CCs to global human welfare and well-being."

To Be Titled

The era of the nation state is starting to come to an end, replaced with a Global Society.

Unfettered Globalism and Laissez-Faire Capitalism as Source of Wealth Inequality

The end of the Cold War was viewed by many as the unilateral defeat of authoritarian communism and the final supremacy of liberal democratic capitalism. Few perceived that the victory was to be so short-lived. For in their extreme forms, these two ideologies were mutually reinforcing. The threat of global communism was a factor that kept advocates of western capitalist democracies aware of the need to maintain its legitimacy by ensuring that its citizens were wealthier and enjoyed greater liberty than those in competing communist countries. Each extolled values and social realities that the other ignored. In the aftermath of WWII, European thinkers concerned by the ominous threat of fascism and communism founded the Mont Pelerin Society to extol economic liberalism as the ultimate safeguard and antidote to authoritarianism. They acted on the premise that so long as the acquisition and possession of property are free and unrestrained, human freedom will be preserved. Ironically, today unbridled economic liberalism has become a principal threat to liberal democracy. Dismantling the constraints previously imposed by social democratic policies to shield Western Europe and North America from the lure of communism, a more aggressive form of neoliberalism emerged to tear down the fetters that protected the economic rights of the working class and freed corporations to wholeheartedly pursue shareholder value, unmindful of the essential responsibility of business to serve the wider interests of the whole society.

Globalization added fuel to the fire of market fundamentalism. Freed from the constraints imposed by nation-states, stateless multinational corporations took refuge in offshore tax havens and compelled nations to compete with one another for investment, jobs and foreign exchange earnings. The surplus profits accruing to the wealthy multiplied global financial assets from a mere $12 trillion in 1980 to in excess of $150 trillion by 2015. A small and declining percentage of this accumulated capital is being reinvested in the real economy to create jobs and meet human needs. The remainder is circling the globe in search of speculative returns giving rise to a Global Casino.

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

To Be Titled

Globalism, despite its vast current pitfalls, is a sign of a coming new Global Society beyond the nation-state.

To Be Titled

Trump (and similar regressive movements around the world) represent forces against an emerging New Global Society; yet ironically through backlash, will likely help accelerate it.

To Be Titled

Global Governance is the solution to most of the societal problems of the world.

What is needed is not the end of Globalism, but a much better version.

To Be Titled

Globalism in the context of a New Global Society is a solution we can aim for.

Shifting to Mother (Consecration) from Timidity Attracts Boss's Positive Action

Today morning i saw the video [on how overcoming negative attitudes attract good fortune]..I felt Mother has sent this for me as I have to change my attitude in my work place...I used to hesitate to speak with my superiors, avoid them with fear, lack of confidence...i was afraid of the attitude of my dept colleague and so I prefer to avoid and keep quiet. Just after seeing it ,i decided to change my negative attitude . Mother is the Only TRUTH....Let me rely on HER alone and not on my knowledge, others attitude....a lot of miracles happened ..my boss called me to redress a complaint...i can boldly talk with him about my work. The highlight ... yesterday's data which was automatically updated with today's data was made available once again for the benefit of my organisation after I called and informed the concern person....Thank you Mother... (BE)

To Be Titled

The whole blissful Reality is available to be felt and seen at any given moment.

Comment: I.e. spirit and life around us are completely intermingled, and we perceive but one integral Reality; the All.

Subtle Powers of Consciousness that Heal

All illness can be healed through methods of higher consciousness. This is what is not talked about in the West, who are obsessed with pills and their use.

We are out and out materialists, not believing in or even being aware of the subtle planes and powers of life.

I have known of dozens, hundreds of people who have been cured or dramatically improved through higher consciousness methods, adding decades to their lives.

Triple Speed

A problem taken in the right spirit quickly leads to dramatic, unexpected improvements.

A man's and a friend's computer and smartphone began intermittently running very slowly. In fact, all four systems were on the verge of uselessness.

And so now the man had to go through the bother of getting serious tech support. Though he was close to irritation, he then thought that the good could come out of the bad of this situation. And so he became relaxed, considering the severity of the situation.

The support person then said they would send someone over. The young technician who arrived not only replaced the old router and modem with new ones at no charge, but the entire system now ran at triple the fastest speed it had ever run before!

To Be Titled

"...Life is the raw material from which the creative imagination of great writers generates works of fiction that are truer than life—truer because they probe and reveal more deeply its real character..."

(Janani Ramanathan, from Cadmus journal)

Education and Character

Sri Aurobindo has said education does not change character. It gives information as well as ideas. Ideas are powerful enough to enlighten and even inspire the Mind. It is utterly insufficient to influence സ്വഭാവം the character. Character is a formation of the body whose full power issues out of emotion. [In Pride and Prejudice] Darcy wanted Elizabeth not merely as a wife but as a love who would let him love her. His fulfilment would be in winning her emotional opening to her. Our own character will change when our deep emotions are powerfully stirred. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

What you deeply value takes shape through an emotionalized ideal.

What Do I Deeply Value?

Personal values are the ideals you hold dearly, emotionally, even passionately. What then do I deeply value?

- Sri Aurobindo's thought.
- Karmayogi's interpretation of His thought in all fields of life.
- Mother as power in the universe to enable all levels of individual and societal transformation.
- Their Knowledge spreading throughout the world.
- Emergence of New Global Society based on Their spiritual perspectives.
- Personal computer, Smartphone, and Internet revolutions.
- Inspiration of Steve Jobs' life.
- Progressive values of California.
- Prosperity of India.
- US moving beyond physical/material consciousness.
- Diversity of America.
- Individuality, thinking from the depths of one's self, above all things.
- Freedom, so we can all become true spiritual individuals and realize our infinite potential.
- 'Unity in Diversity' as motto for the future.
- Life Response knowledge, experience spreading throughout the world.
- Works of Garry Jacobs, interpreting teachings of Karmayogi.
- My own works (books, thoughts, presentations, music, etc.), and it spreading.
- Perfection in works; Success in works.
- Mother's Service Society pioneering efforts in all fields based on Sri Aurobindo, Mother's, Karmayogi's, etc. teachings spreading around the world.
- Fulfillment of each person I know; clients I am responsible for.
- Sharing the joy of each person's success, happiness.
- End of greed, selfish political policies.
- Society moving out of its Ignorance, replaced with Integral Knowledge of the Truth.
- Humor and good cheer.
- Appreciation of great artists, achievers.
- Transformation of my own self.
- Harmony wherever there is discord brought about by higher understanding.
- Solution to all world problems through utilization of Supramental Force (Mother's Power).
- To get in touch with psychic being and call Mother from there to enable personal transformation.
- Discovering the inner powers to healthy, long-life.
- Supramentalization of Life. Divine Life on Earth coming. Being an instrument of this process.

(what then do you value?)

To Be Titled

When the world can't solve its problems, asuric, dark forces quickly step in and take over.

Plight of Workers and False Populism (2018)

Subconscious fear of losing out to automation, globalism, skills gap, and wealth disparity are causing people around the world to take to false populism. Fresh, new, coherent replacements, including global solutions, have yet to clearly emerge.

To Be Titled

Science - whether quantum physics, biology, chemistry, astro-physics, etc. etc. - is merely chipping away at the surface of things. The truth lies much much deeper.

The Descent of the Higher Worlds

Sri Aurobindo indicates through his epic poem Savitri that all the subtle and higher worlds that Aswapathi experiences in the story - eg the endless kingdoms, infinite ways we can know spiritual bliss - are destined to manifest here in this life for us.

Moreover, they are also involved, buried in our own subconscious, but are destined to re-emerge when they descend from Above.

(thanks to Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

The Divine Plan, Intention is not just to climb the stairs to ever-higher consciousness realms, as many spiritual personalities have done in the past, but to bring down those planes so we can be transformed, and usher in a Divine Life on Earth.

(thanks to Garry Jacobs)

Awakening Powers Above/Within

Becoming conscious means that the powers Above have awakened in us.

All that comes to us in life, positive or negative is to awaken in us the planes of consciousness that are Above; that are buried in ourselves.

Inner Means of Immortality

Silicon Valley wants to extend our lives to 1000 years. But what good will it be if we don't expand in consciousness the mind, the heart, and the vital being. It would be a tortuous physical existence!

Dark Matter, Dark Energy; Involution, Evolution.

There is the possibility that Dark Matter is of the Involution, as it is a contraction, compressing movement that creates matter, galaxies out of nothing; while Dark Energy is of the Evolution of the cosmos, causing the already created objects, universes to fly apart in an accelerating manner.

To Be Titled

When you boast something will happen, you are likely to immediately attract obstacles.

Refugee Crisis and Global Cooperation

Like many other issues, the Global Refugee Crisis shows that only through cooperation among nations can these problems be solved. Individual nations cannot do it by themselves. Global cooperation in an emerging Global Society is where we must be headed.

To Be Titled

Subconscious fear of losing out to automation, globalism, skills gap, and wealth disparity are causing people around the world to take to false populism. Fresh, new, coherent replacements, including global solutions, have yet to emerge.

First Indicators of an Emerging Global Society

"Enlightened globalism crashes headlong into the fiercely held notion of sovereignty of nations."

Nations won't disappear. They can still fully exist as sovereign states. Yet the emphasis switches to solving global problems together, from top down; simultaneous to bottom up.

Absolute sovereignty of individual nations is gradually replaced with the ideal of "Unity in Diversity." The Unity takes shape through an emerging Global Governance and Society, which simultaneously expressing through the Diversity of individual nations.

Then there are the ways individuals will relate to those changes,:

Human attachment to nation states will gradually loosen as we come to see that a nation by itself cannot solve its own problems.

It may come through a self-aware enlightenment or through conflict of forces.

--The EU was an example of a first kind of limited Global Society, coming in the wake of WWII.

--The Financial Crisis had it gone another step (negatively), could have triggered other federations of nations.

--Radical degradation of the environment can make us focus on the blue planet, rather than our own nations. Threat of nuclear exchange too.

--New, broader perspective of the world through extensive travel, the cross-border power of the Internet, and frustration with political realities in one's country to solve problems can loosen strong ties to one's own nation state.

--All of the global associations taking place, eg so many in Asia and elsewhere, indicate rapid movement to global society and global governance.

To Be Titled

Mother's power working through devotees' aspiration, creates miracles for one's self and Society.

To Be Titled

"You must find the place inside yourself where nothing is impossible." (Deepak Chopra)

Instructor Avoids Class Cancellation by Taking Responsibility, Honoring His Duty

An instructor was scheduled to do some training work. However, due to a sore tooth he contacted the training company, requesting that someone take his place. They searched and searched but could not find a replacement.

Perceiving the need to take responsibility in the situation and do the right thing, the instructor informed the training company contact that he would do the class despite the pain. Then unexpectedly the contact turned around and told him that they had now found a substitute instructor! As a result he could now go to the dentist to solve the problem that morning.

Because the instructor took responsibility for the situation, - honoring his duty; not wanting to create a problem for the students who would have to reschedule, or for the training company itself, - life brought a substitute instructor much to his surprise, and great relief.

To Be Titled

Greater harmony among the nations can solve the immigration problems in the world.

Populism and Pluralism

One of the greatest threats to democracy today issues from the resurgence of populism. Populism is a social-psychological phenomenon that undermines the pluralism on which democracy depends. The right of the people to struggle against entrenched powers and privileged elites was once regarded as a sign of democratic vibrancy. Today populist appeals are being applied as a divisive force to generate confusion, prevent intelligent debate, fuel disharmony, polarize heterogeneous populations, weaken social cohesion, obscure a shared vision and undermine the sense of unity and common identity on which nation-states are founded.

"The control of the media by authoritarian governments, the take-over of the press by oligarchs, infiltration of social networks by disruptive foreign influences, and conscious misuse of media as an instrument for falsification by political parties cannot be easily remedied, as long as the public is willing to be misled."

A culture of free inquiry, questioning and critical thinking is central to democracy and the wider distribution of social power. Trust in democratic leadership and institutions is founded on that freedom. Effective human relationships are associated with the promotion of the human and professional, scientific, artistic and spiritual potentialities. Populism undermines the trust generated by constructive human relations and tends to replace these qualities with simplistic slogans, cloistered virtues, empty platitudes, suspicion and incriminations.^{3,4} These divisive trends are further aggravated and intensified by the conscious falsification of electoral promises by populist candidates and the misrepresentation of facts by biased mainstream media outlets and surrogate purveyors of fake news. They constitute as much a violation of the principles of free speech as efforts of central authorities to suppress public expression.

Rising expectations are a powerful instrument for social development. They release the energy of the population for new endeavors and higher forms of accomplishment. But in times when social expectations rise far faster and higher than the opportunities to fulfill them, they can result in increasing levels of frustration, discontent and disillusionment that readily respond to populist appeals. So too, rising levels of uncertainty and insecurity regarding the future increase the appeal and susceptibility of populist slogans and remedies. Resentment toward the privileges of entrenched elites, hostility toward identifiable groups as scapegoats, groundless accusations and conspiracy theories find a receptive and responsive audience. Assigning blame to others for the people's failures or sufferings has been the path to leadership followed by many a demagogue.

The accelerating speed of change, increasing complexity and growing uncertainty regarding the future in recent times present fertile soil for populism to seed and sprout luxuriant but pernicious weeds of discontent. The dramatic changes since 1990 referred to earlier have added fuel to populist tendencies. The anticipated impact of the 4th industrial revolution on employment and job security has aggravated fears of unemployment and a future without sufficient work opportunities for the next generation of youth everywhere. The shift of entire industries overseas, the change to new energy sources, the suffering generated by the 2008 financial crisis, the shift of economic power to Asia, concern regarding a military resurgent Russia and more assertive China, reports of rising inequality and the increasingly global competition and the flood of immigrants entering Europe from the Levant have all become additional fuel for a pernicious form of populism.

Populism exists in every democracy in the form of fringe movements led by those who are excluded, disillusioned or opposed to the established order. But so long as mainstream society remains wedded to a central vision, its impact will remain minimal or can prepare the ground for constructive future developments, as the anti-establishment youth protests of the 1960s in support of the environmental movement, women's liberation and equal rights for African-Americans paved the way for mainstream evolutionary changes in subsequent decades. But populism can also become a tool wielded by seasoned politicians to undermine pluralism. Here the objective is not social progress but rather opposition to it by entrenched interests. Like the Fascist appeal of anti-Semitism in pre-war Germany, the gun lobby in the USA and anti-immigrant fervor in Europe are efforts intended to divide the population in order to carve out a section of adherents for political support, based on spurious or self-interested motives opposed to the welfare of the nation and the well-being of the entire population. The turmoil and confusion resulting from such movements dissolve the bonds of inclusiveness, tolerance, cooperation and shared vision on which societies depend for their integrity and future development.

There are no sure short-term remedies to the threat of populism. The control of the media by authoritarian governments, the take-over of the press by oligarchs, infiltration of social networks by disruptive foreign influences, and conscious misuse of media as an instrument for falsification by political parties cannot be easily remedied, as long as the public is willing to be misled. Imposition of stricter regulation of electoral campaigns can moderate the tendency toward extremism. It is ironic that American law strictly prohibits and punishes perjury under oath in the courtroom, while permitting candidates for the highest political offices in the country to make wild accusations and false promises without any accountability under law. Laws regarding election conduct exist, but are rarely enforced. The right to free speech becomes a shield that undermines the very power of free speech by obfuscating truth with an impenetrable barrier of conscious falsehood and confusion. Rising levels of general education can shield the more educated from susceptibility to its more extreme forms. But recent events in Europe and North America show that education alone or in its present form may not offer sufficient protection.

The only assured protection against populism is neither unlimited free speech, rigorous enforcement of electoral conduct nor universal education. Resistance and immunity to populism in democracy can only be achieved by building truly inclusive and equitable societies in which rights and social power are extended universally. Without addressing the underlying causes of populism—economic insecurity and social inequality—populist calls will always find both powerful sponsors and willing audience.

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

Individuality and Globality

We see two simultaneous, yet opposite movements occurring in the world: one towards increasing true individuality (micro): the other towards increasing global economics, culture, and governance (macro).

Individuality and Globality

We see two simultaneous, yet opposite movements occurring in the world: one towards increasing true individuality (micro): the other towards increasing global economics, culture, and governance (macro).

Wealth Inequality Increasing, Decreasing

Though income inequality and wealth distribution is accelerating among many nations, it is decreasing among the totality of people and nations, mainly due to the increasing movement out of poverty and toward prosperity of hundreds of millions of Chinese and Indians.

Patience + Method = Quickest, Most Powerful Response

Utter Patience on one side, as if one has all of eternity; yet practicing the right inner method that evokes the quickest and powerful response - eg via consecration or calling - is the solution we are after.

Spiritual Caress of the Cheek

An Indian woman was suffering from great pain from her tooth. She was therefore given a pill for relief by a dental worker. He only had one. Moreover, he was about to leave for a week, so the lady was left with just the one pill.

She was about to take it, but then hesitated, and thought of another way. The lady then imagined The Mother's hand caressing her cheek in the painful area.

Very quickly the pain went away. In fact, it never came back again.

Keys to Prosperity for the Individual Indian

- real aspiration for success
- willingness to work hard
- entrepreneurial spirit
- true individuality; not following the herd
- not looking for safe jobs
- following your bliss; deepest aspirations
- honesty and integrity; truthfulness
- utilizing Indian propensity for rational thought
- utilizing Indian propensity for intuition
- taking to original thinking and thought
- making use of the spirit in work and life
- embracing "unity in diversity"
- becoming more organized
- cleanliness and orderliness
- acquiring the necessary skills
- embracing one's deepest values
- aspiration for prosperity of the homeland
- always doing the right thing
- keeping the attitude positive
- giving up poor habits
- shifting from selfishness to self-givingness
- feeling gratitude instead of complaining
- wishing the best for others (goodwill)
- being psychologically strong in tough times
- perceiving opportunities behind difficulties
- not wasting money; maximum use of resources
- fully embracing the work at hand, not what you want

On Napoleon

Q: Napoleon was hailed by Sri Aurobindo as the man who restored order in France after the frenzy of the Revolution. But the order he restored was only the old order when he blatantly declared himself as Emperor. What is so special about restoring the old order that he deserved to be hailed by Sri Aurobindo?

A: The French Revolution and Napoleonic era irrevocably changed France and Europe forever. Even though Napoleon tried to restore an aristocracy and hereditary rule, it was far different than what prevailed before the Revolution. The main differences are 1) the power and influence of the Catholic Church and the Pope in the Vatican was drastically reduced so that the rulers of France were no longer subject to an external authority and the vast wealth of the church was seized by the monarchy.

2) The hereditary aristocracy of France was annihilated in the Revolution. The new aristocracy came from the wealthy class of merchants and soldiers, not from the ancient families. So physical inheritance of privilege was wiped out. Money replaced birth as the main source of power.

3) France after the revolution was a nation of French citizens, not merely passive subjects under the control of mercenary soldiers. France had matured from a monarchy to become a nation state and laid the foundations for democracy to come.

On Napoleon: Napoleon established a set of impartial impersonal laws to which all citizens were subject in France and in other countries conquered by Napoleon. The whims of monarchs were replaced by rule of law. So even if Napoleon reverted to old forms of authority, the nation he ruled was altered forever. (Garry Jacobs)

--

Roy Posner added:

"What is so special about restoring the old order that he deserved to be hailed by Sri Aurobindo?"

--Because a number of countries threw off aristocracy for democracy in the wake of his both positive and negative actions. Top of Form

Germany's Karma

Q: Germany is sure to face karmic retribution for killing Jews and inflicting enormous civilian casualties on the Soviet Union during World War II. If so what kind of karmic retribution it will be?

A: Apart from the 5 million German's killed in WWII, Germany was divided for 45 years after WWII and one third of its people lived under the most oppressive totalitarian regime. Millions suffered and died. It is not possible for us to imagine the torment they suffered or the constant anxiety of the West German's living on the battlefield between East and West when fear of a Soviet invasion was a constant threat to them.

But the principle of Karma is not a simple matter of eye for eye. We reap karma according to our consciousness. Germany was universally condemned and compelled to live with its monstrous reputation after the war. It became the most progressive and liberal country and the leader of the movement toward European unity which brought permanent peace to Europe.

A change of consciousness changes the results, just like it does for devotees who repent their past deeds and decide to change. Human justice demands retribution. Divine justice demands evolutionary progress. (Garry Jacobs)

--

Roy Posner added:

Germany is currently burdened by immigrants, as a life response backlash to its acute racism during WWII. She also had to reintegrate Eastern Germany, a mighty task. And now the EU, and Germany its financial leader and founder, is burdened by poorer countries who are in debt and on the cusp of bankruptcy, or are moving to populism in its Southern and Eastern regions. Germany is being consumed by these and other issues, despite her great prosperity. Also the Germans were devastated at the physical level during WWII, and have in generally been acutely peaceful.

To Be Titled

Human justice demands retribution. Divine justice demands evolutionary progress. (Garry Jacobs)

Germany, and Jews Arriving at Homeland

Germany [via the horror it created, ironically] became an instrument for the fulfillment of the 2000 year old aspiration of the Jews for a return to their homeland.

Half went to Israel and the other half went to USA where they have enjoyed a freedom from persecution unknown for the past 2000 years.

It gave rise to a form of liberal international inclusive Judaism quite contrary to the exclusive separative Jewish faith of those in Europe, so it helped Judaism evolve from a religion of the chosen people to a strong advocate of the rights of blacks, women and other minorities. (Garry Jacobs)

Oneness of Indian Subcontinent

Sri Aurobindo says that India (the whole subcontinent) is a nation with a soul. It is not merely a legal recognized nation state but a real unified entity with a common culture that belongs together.

That helps explain why after it was finally united for the first time in 1947 it has held together by the consent of the people rather than the force of compulsion. (Garry Jacobs)

Goodness and Greatness of Jimmy Carter

[President Carter is known for creating Israeli-Egypt accord, environmental focus, and human rights push, which was followed by great human-centered works after he was president. He was however condemned by some for being passive, and for focusing on the malaise facing the country.]

Much historically-maligned USA President Jimmy Carter had a close repore with the youth of the nation that inspired up and coming leaders in Soviet dominated Eastern Europe to seek similar relations with hoped for new leaders. That then morphed into the Velvet Revolution that brought down Communist domination there and eventually the fall of the Berlin wall and the end the Cold War.

He later joined MSS's International Commission on Peace and Food (ICPF) whose first plenary meeting in Trieste was synchronous with the fall of the Berlin Wall and the end of the Soviet Empire.

We thank the Divine Mother for predicting this outcome a 17 years earlier, and working from the ethereal realms for supporting Gorbachev who single-handedly ended the Cold War, avoiding the destruction of all life on earth.

Correspondence of Vulgarly

Sri Karmayogi has discovered a startling way to change the conditions of society. All one has to do is examine the outer problem, discover a correspondence in your own nature, and change that. When you do, the outer conditions of society will change as well.

There was a leader who was vulgar, ill-informed, and acutely egotistical and insecure. An aware individual, who spent his life fighting injustices, was acutely aware of this leader's negative propensities. However, the man himself often expressed his opposition to the leader through his own vulgar language and imagery. It was clear that if he were to overcome his own vulgarity, the nefarious leader's fortunes would deteriorate, and the policies he advocated would also change.

In this way we can each examine the qualities in society we would like to change, and find our own corresponding deficiency, change it, and see the world around us quickly reverse. We can take that approach with leaders, with social issues, even with conditions in our own organizations, businesses, families, relationships, and friends.

Eg we can see how certain qualities we dislike in a family member corresponds to something similar in our own nature. In one instance, a woman constantly yelled at her child who had Attention Deficit Disorder. If she were to give up her incessant yelling at her, son, the boy would start changing for the better.

Why not give this method a try. If you do, the miraculous will start happening in your own life!

White Cars Synchronicity

Every day my life is filled with synchronicities; where events occur that seemingly should not happen, but they do; where the odds of one occurring are literally a million or even a billion to one.

Take the other day. I was driving home on a busy street with heavy traffic. I looked ahead and to my left and saw two cars, both white. A quiet voice inside me said, "here we go again!"

I then looked in my rear mirror and saw two additional white cars trailing me. Now there were four white vehicles on my side of the street, all together, headed in the same direction.

I then gazed in front of me, and looked for cars ahead of the two white cars in front of me. I immediately saw another white car ahead (no other color). I then quickly looked in the mirror to see what was behind the two white cars trailing me. It was three more cars - all white!

I then looked up ahead and counted six white cars (no other color) in front of me and five (no other colors) behind, for a total of 11 white cars, all in a row!

There may have been as many as 13.

Keep in mind that this was no procession, such as a wedding or funeral. These were 11 or possibly 13 white cars of drivers who knew nothing of the operators of the other vehicles, but had lined up in back and front of me.

It was another startling, miraculous-like synchronous event; not unlike the hundreds or even thousands such incidents I have experienced over the years.

To Be Titled

When we listen to another and hear their thoughts, do we take a moment and reflect on what they really mean; what their real motive and concern is behind the words?

Perceiving All Sides' Loss and Gain (the Totality) in History

German aggression [subconsciously] came to destroy colonial imperialism and its purpose was served by a defeat in which America demanded that the Allies give up their empires. So though we say Germany lost, England, France and Italy also lost their empires.

It is the total result that matters, not merely win and lose.

Moreover what we call victory and defeat is itself only superficial.

Germany emerged stronger and is now the leader of Europe. What was defeated was falsehood in Germany rather than the German spirit, and Falsehood in the Allied countries as well.

The net effect is an evolution of consciousness for those involved and for humanity as a whole leading to the founding of the UN and the Declaration of Universal Human Rights.

So too, America failed to defeat Vietnam in the Vietnam War but the result was to stop the spread of communism, to shift China from supporting violent revolution to seeking economic development by trade with its erstwhile enemy USA. What won in Vietnam was national self-determination for each nation state. (Garry Jacobs)

Comment: Yes, further proof that Life/Nature moves on many fronts simultaneously.

Prosperity that goes to all tends to melt away political divisions.

Benefits of Life and Higher Planes Descent

All that has come to us, to society in the world, say in the last 200 years, is the result of a descent of corresponding modes or planes of higher consciousness from above.

Involution and Evolution of Divine and Our Soul

Not only has the Divine descended in a process of involution to become matter, losing its Divinity, but so has our soul (psychic being), crossing many births, losing its spirit, taking on the form and role of our surface being.

In both cases, the spirit in all of life and of our own soul must remerge in its fullness via the evolutionary process through our higher consciousness.

To Be Titled

Mother says that the Gods do not have Psychic Beings, and thus cannot evolve. In that way, we are potentially greater than them.

To Be Titled

Our True Self (psychic being) is Immortal. It never comes to an end in space, time, and beyond.

To Be Titled

We want more love, more joy, more power, more intensity because that is what our Soul aspires for in a higher form from the Spirit above.

To Be Titled

The higher, Spiritual life can be said to come down to two qualities: how much Aspiration do you have to uplift your life, to raise your level of consciousness; and how much Faith do you have in the Higher Power, in the Mother to make it happen.

To Be Titled

The spiritual person shifts from trust in Life to Faith in Mother. Or perhaps we can say a spiritual individual trusts in Life that is based on Faith in Her.

To Be Titled

The Psychic Being (true self) is evolving through multiple births, through an array of consecutive individuals it inhabits, and thus through our own personal progress.

To Be Titled

Shifting from resentment to gratitude opens up the world for you.

To Be Titled

Complete non-reaction to someone's mental abuse soon after attracts their reasonable, softer nature.

To Be Titled

US and Russian vast nuclear arsenals can easily justify, legitimize any country's belief that they too should have nukes, making the world that much more dangerous.

To Be Titled

The Supramental Force looks into the future, and thereby determines its actions in the present.

To Be Titled

In Supramental Consciousness you continually appear at the right place, at the right time, with little or no thought involved.

To Be Titled

When opening to Mother (supramental force), seemingly unusual situations will develop in response to one's life challenge. Though the mind will not readily perceive the rationale in the present, in hind-site it will.

Synchronous Indians

It is startling how utterly serendipitous and synchronous Indians are in my life. They appear at the most auspicious moments!

Eg I am sitting in a motel lobby with no one in sight for a long while. I then read about how the Indian economy expanded at 7% rate, and instantaneously a man, - an Indian with a prosperous look, - appears!

This sort of connection with Indians occurs very frequently.

--

PS. Just after the above incident, I returned to my own hotel in Oakland, California, and wandered into the large lobby of the Hilton Hotel. Immediately I saw a large contingent of people gathered near the front desk. Suddenly I realized that 25 of the 30 people there were Indians, who were checking into the hotel. Moreover, they were all darting around me!

I was flabbergasted, yet somehow not surprised.

To Be Titled

Forthcoming Honesty in a small situation attracts immediate benefit.

To Be Titled

The billions of consciousnesses experiencing the Reality in an infinite variety of ways are expressing the Divine's Intent.

To Be Titled

The involutionary process that made the universe, earth, matter from the divine Spirit, which hid itself to make life possible, is through a reversal going in the other direction, through evolution revealing the Spirit and the infinite possibilities buried inside.

To Be Titled

Creation is searching for its hidden Self.

To Be Titled

Because there is something deep inside, in our soul that knows the divine purpose and plan, we on the surface aspire for more in life; even aspire for the Heights.

Gods Don't Really Matter Now, but We Do in Tandem with Supramental Power to Drive Evolution Forward

Mother says in Agenda that at this time and point in the evolution the Gods don't really matter. They don't matter because they don't know how to bring their divinity, the Divine down here on earth, to uplift. They lack that knowledge and power.

Yet we have it in full, at least in potential. And so we matter completely. And it is because Sri Aurobindo and the Mother gives us ,puts at our disposal so much of this knowledge and power, - provides the direction and means to bring about the divine existence on earth, the Supramental knowledge and path; not to mention that they have brought down the Supermind onto earth - that we are key to the further progress of life on earth..

Thus praying to and calling in the Gods, - who exist at the lesser overmental level, - is not going to bring Supermind down; is not going to help bring about a Divine Life on Earth.

Goodness of Doctor Thorne

In 'Doctor Thorne' by Anthony Trollope, we see how the goodness of one man (the doctor) attracts an array of positive developments for others, as well as for himself.

Summary of Story

Trollope turns his attention in this novel to the landed wealth of Barsetshire. The gentry, represented by the Greshams, are in decline. They are in decline because of the political imprudence of the squire and his predecessors. Having lost his Tory constituency and his money, Squire Gresham attempts to save the estate for his son Frank.

This is when Doctor Thorne enters the picture.

When their father dies, Doctor Thomas Thorne and his younger, ne'er-do-well brother Henry are left to fend for themselves. Doctor Thorne begins to establish a medical practice in Barsetshire. Thorne's brother Henry seduces a woman named Mary, the sister of stonemason Roger Scatcherd. When Scatcherd finds out that Mary has become pregnant, he seeks out Henry and, in the ensuing fight, kills him.

While her brother is in prison, Mary gives birth to a girl, also named Mary.

A former suitor offers to marry Mary (Sr.) and emigrate to start a new life, but he refuses to take the baby. Doctor Thorne persuades Mary (Sr.) to accept the generous offer, promising to raise his little niece. He names her Mary Thorne, but not wishing to have her illegitimacy made public nor have her associate with the uncouth Roger Scatcherd, he keeps her birth secret from all.

After his release from prison, Roger Scatcherd rises quickly in the world. In time, his skills make him extremely rich. When he completes a seemingly-impossible important project on time, he is created a baronet for his efforts. It turns out that throughout his career, he entrusts his financial affairs to Doctor Thorne.

When Thorne becomes the family doctor to the Greshams, he seeks to help his friend the squire of the Gresham estate by advising various cost saving measures and suggesting judicious loans. Thorne persuades Roger Scatcherd to loan ever-growing sums to the squire.

Rigorous in his ethics, proud of his social station, and in no way awed by the upper classes, Doctor Thorne supports the squire in his attempt to restore the estate to its former vigor.

Eventually, much of the Gresham estate is put up as collateral.

Meanwhile, Mary (Jr.) grows up with the Gresham children and becomes a great favorite with the entire family. As a result, Thorne feels obliged to tell his friend the squire her secret.

Mary falls in love with Frank Gresham, the son and heir to the squire of Greshamsbury and nephew of the Earl and Countess De Courcy; and he with her.

However, Frank's parents desperately believe that they need him to marry wealth in order to rescue them from the financial distress resulting from the squire's repeated expensive and fruitless political aspirations.

Frank's snobbish mother and aunt wish him to marry an eccentric, if kind-hearted older heiress, Martha Dunstable, an American. He reluctantly visits her at Courcy Castle and they become friends. He foolishly and playfully proposes. She demurs, knowing that he does not love her, and he tells her about his love for Mary.

Sir Roger Scatcherd has aside from his vast wealth become a drunkard following his time in prison, and Doctor Thorne tries in vain to get him to curtail his drinking.

In Roger's will, he stipulates that the bulk of his estate go to his odious, dissolute only son Louis, but leaves Doctor Thorne in control of the inheritance until the heir reaches the age of twenty-five.

Should Louis die before then, Roger Scatcherd stipulates that the estate go to his sister Mary's eldest child. Thorne is now forced to divulge Mary (Jr's) history, but Scatcherd leaves the will unchanged.

The patient eventually dies of his excesses, and Sir Louis is about to inherit his vast wealth.

Conveniently, the son Louis is also in love with Mary, proves to be a threatening individual to Frank and Mary, and just as much an alcoholic as the father. His weaker constitution causes him to quickly suffer the same fate.

After consulting with many lawyers, Doctor Thorne confirms that his niece Mary is the heiress to Frank's estate; much richer even than Miss Dunstable.

Frank's mother and Countess De Courcy learn of the truth, and despite themselves come to accept that Mary is to inherit all of Roger's wealth, and therefore the Gresham estate would be saved. It come to them as a great shock, and a great relief.

When all is revealed, everyone is elated. With the way now clear, Frank and Mary marry.

Doctor Thorne's Goodness

We know that Doctor Thorne's selflessness attracts conditions that help restore the 800 year old Gresham family tradition and wealth that had been lost during recent times.

-One way his selflessness is expressed is by taking in Mary (Sr) illegitimate baby, avoiding scandal, and that child Mary (Jr) rises to the heights of wealth and fulfilling marriage..

-Another way he is selfless is by doing all he can to help his friend Squire Gresham to restore the Gresham family name and wealth; particularly by influencing Roger to loan the squire ongoing funds. It enables Squire Gresham to recoup somewhat.

It also has the effect of enabling Frank and Mary to wed.

He also encouraged Frank to marry for love, a higher value, instead of being mercenary and marrying for money.

Actually Doctor Thorne's goodness, generosity, and self-givingness – i.e. his moral strength -- saves Greshamsbury Park itself.

Additional Notes:

"It can be said that Trollope reveals his political sympathies with the English upper middle class and his antagonism to the aristocracy and their morality."

(Roy Posner)

Collaborating with the Divine Intent

The Divine always has an intention for certain positive qualities, cosmic values to be realized in the world. We can choose to cooperate with that intent through our higher consciousness, enabling it to be fully realized in a short period of time. Or we can ignore it, allowing Nature's slow and difficult path to run its course.

For example, the Divine wishes a higher Harmony to come about among nations. The individual countries can consciously and deliberately cooperate and collaborate with one another to quickly realize the Divine intent. Or they can avoid working together, which will enable Nature to take over, opening the door to war or other harsh realities, which will still bring about the result the Supreme aspired for, but through terrible consequences and suffering.

To Be Titled

Shifting to willingness to do what is necessary, what life requires of you, attracts those things you had earlier hoped for.

To Be Titled

Avoid focusing your time and effort in trying to elicit benefit (wealth, fame, prestige, honors) for your achievement. Instead aspire that your success spreads throughout the community, the society so that it can bring benefit throughout the world.

To Be Titled

Colloquialism "one good turn deserves another" is indicative of the phenomenon of Life Response.

To Be Titled

Mother indicated that her mind was normally clear, empty of thoughts (unless engaged in conversation; even then ...). This too is my aspiration.

Startup Forever

In one sense, a company should always act like a Startup, no matter its size - by being fresh, innovative, and idealistic; i.e., advocate, deep, progressive values throughout the organization. Progress will be never-ending.

To Be Titled

Religion may not enhance capacity for moral belief and action, - it may even work opposite to it, - but Spirituality always does.

To Be Titled

It's better to improve the argument than raise the voice.
(thanks to padmapriya)

Experiences of Spirituality

Q: Spirituality and empathy are one in the same aren't they? That feeling that we're all on the same boat?

A: Yes, exactly. Feelings and actions of Oneness. It is opposite of sense of separateness, of ego. It is an Harmonic experience instead.

Then there are other forms of Spirituality, including the experience of the Transcendent, being in touch with one's Soul, expressions of divine Love, experience of Timelessness, evoking the Miraculous, utter Silence of being,

... Also Faith, blissful feelings of Joy, aspiration for and embodiment of Truth, ...

Integral Knowledge (opposite of the Ignorance), True Individuality, Utter Peace within. Etc.

To Be Titled

When Knowledge reaches its maximum for us, then the Ignorance becomes a greater power for progress and change.

To Be Titled

Though Indira was often in touch with Mother during the 1970s, only Modi mentions and honors Sri Aurobindo in public.

Commitment to Deep Values Attracts Corresponding Results from Out of Nowhere

A man had attended the initiation of the World University Consortium (WUC) in Berkeley, California in 2013. It was an initiative of the Mother's Service Society of Pondicherry, India.

The organization and its members advocate breakthrough methods to dramatically enhance the future education.

As it turned out, six months later this individual suddenly received a contract for many thousands of dollars' worth of consulting work for a conglomerate of a dozen Community Colleges in the same San Francisco Bay Area. He had not solicited this work, nor had he ever worked with any group of colleges or universities in his 25+ year training and consulting career.

Several years later he came to see the connection between his deep values in partaking in the World University Consortium, and the biggest contract of his career from a collective of colleges.

Infinite and Finite

The Infinite has divided itself infinitely to create the finite. (the universe of matter; involution)
The finite is progressively uniting to re-create the Infinite, but in Life. (evolution)
Supermind facilitates in both direction.

Process to Improve Our Lives

When we consciously aspire to improve our life condition, the idea or goal begins in the Mind, it gathers energy and will for its execution in the Vital, and manifests as real in the Physical. This is both the Process of Creation (to bring about a major thing, goal in life), and "the Complete Act" (normally associated with manifesting a small thing perfectly.)

To Be Titled

I held back from saying a certain thing. So the other person near me immediately spoke it out instead. It is the phenomenon of "Silent Will" in action; a powerful inner method of evoking conditions in your favor.

To Be Titled

Westerners don't readily understand the teachings of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother, including most who think they do. Even Indians have trouble, as it is a major advance on the foundations of their spiritual Tradition.

Subtle Physical Plane

-We perceive the gross material world, not the subtle physical, which lies beyond normal sight. There all forms are perfect, are beautiful. One challenge of the evolution is to bring the subtle physical into the material reality we perceive around us. That will further ennoble life, divinize it.

-In one sense the subtle physical is the real, and the physical around us is an illusion, a distortion of the true truth of things; an imperfection on the way to perfection, The subtle physical is already in that state.

-Looking out on the world we do not see things as they really are; only perceive the limits of existence through our limited mind. We are not conscious of things as they really are.

-Everything that comes into being at the material plane, comes from the subtle physical, passes through there.

-Moreover, everything in our future, including accomplishments to come is indicated there; resides there.

-The subtle physical is continually setting forth its qualities into the physical plane. Eg the sudden blossoming of trees, may be indicating good fortune to come. Having a subtle sense, indicates that you are able to see subtle formations unfolding in the material world.

-The subtle physical is concealing the greater, higher consciousness planes still.

-Sri Aurobindo lived in the physical plane, and had constant interaction with Mother, beginning nine years after he left.

-Mother seemed to indicate that the supramental being is there in the subtle physical, awaiting to manifest in the physical.

To Be Titled

Bothersome outer realities compel an aware person to go deeper, accelerating her growth in consciousness.

Supramental, The Mother in Creation Process

Normally in Life the Process of Creation begins in the mind as an idea, picks up the will and is energized in the vital, which gets executed at the physical plane.

However with Supermind we offer the original goal/idea to the higher power, supramental force, the Mother, who then energizes us at the vital plane and gives us the results rapidly, perfectly, magnificently at the material/physical level.

Actually a Supramentalized Individual would WAIT on the Force, the Mother to give original direction for the idea, and we would then follow Her actions, to manifestation. This means the Supramental initiates and guides the whole process. We do not initiate, first waiting on the Spirit, supramental sign.

This is the central method of the yogi practicing Sri Aurobindo's Integral Yoga (i.e. ultimate transformation).

The Nature of the Gnostic/Supramental Being

[a summation of the next to last chapter of Sri Aurobindo's 'The Life Divine' called "The Gnostic Being"]

What would the Gnostic Individual, i.e. the Supramental Being be like? What spiritual qualities would this individual possess?

INTEGRAL TRUTH KNOWLEDGE, including-

- the capacity to perceive the right relations between the parts of any truth
- a complete identity with that integral truth of things
- an integration of Knower, Knowledge, and Known
- the capacity that leads to right dealings with life
- the ability to know directly the truth of things (Truth Consciousness)
- an Integral Knowledge that has also has Will and Power for it to manifest as Real.

ONENESS, including-

- oneness with all aspects of being
- oneness with others, including care for their good and well-being
- an inner oneness between the individual and the outer life experienced.
- having a World consciousness and action
- being at one with the individual, universal, and transcendent purpose and action
- being one with the Divine Intent
- being one with all planes of being, enabling one to become the master of life
- having universality and cosmic consciousness

DELIGHT-

- by knowing and living one's purpose
- in one's relations and experiences with life movements
- in one's relation with others
- within one's own self and being
- as a result of the shift from pain and suffering to their opposite
- within the various planes of one's being
- in communion with the Divine
- in love of God

DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONALITY AND SELF-

- in an ascending scale, having gone beyond Manners, Behavior, and Character to Personality and Spiritual Individuality

A WIDE FREEDOM, including-

- freedom that sees beyond laws, restrictions, and mental standards
- the reconciliation of freedom and order

REALIZATIONS IN THE VITAL PLANE OF HIS BEING, including-

- higher vital expressions, such as universal connection of love with others
- diverse experience giving the full sense of life

REALIZATIONS IN PHYSICAL PLANE OF HIS BEING, including-

- overcoming the limits of physical consciousness, including the drag of the subconscious
- the responsiveness of the physical body to the Spirit
- the supramental effect on the body
- the restoration of the intuition of the body
- the right physical perceptions, including its right relation with things
- the body's capacity to be flooded with the supreme energy of the consciousness-force

An Analysis of Sri Aurobindo's 'The Life Divine' by Roy Posner

Summary of Process of Creation

What follows is the Process of Creation in a nutshell. It's the same for the individual, the collective, society, and the divine:

Step 1 - Understanding Process – leads to TRUTH

Step 2 - Assessing Process – leads to CAPACITY

Step 3 - Planning Process – leads to DIRECTION

Step 4 - Organizing Process – leads to ORGANIZATION

Step 5 – Executing Process – leads to IMPLEMENTATION

Step 6 - Optimizing Process – leads to RESULT

Step 7 - Improving Process – leads to PROGRESS

(Wolfgang Albrecht Dietrich)

Transitions and Overcoming Reluctance of the Physical

The physical does not want to be altered from its ongoing patterns when faced with a change in direction necessitated by life, including the very smallest thing.

Acceptance and embracing the change in one's mind will more easily facilitate the transition. Centered within or otherwise in the spirit makes it far easier still.

Why We Ignore, Doubt the Facts

The mind doesn't follow the facts. Facts, as John Adams put it, are stubborn things, but our minds are even more stubborn. Doubt isn't always resolved in the face of facts for even the most enlightened among us, however credible and convincing those facts might be.

As a result of the well-documented confirmation bias, we tend to undervalue evidence that contradicts our beliefs and overvalue evidence that confirms them. We filter out inconvenient truths and arguments on the opposing side. As a result, our opinions solidify, and it becomes increasingly harder to disrupt established patterns of thinking.

We believe in alternative facts if they support our pre-existing beliefs.

(Ozan Varol)

Planes of Being in Popular Culture

In the Beatles and beyond, Ringo was essentially physical; Paul vital/emotional, John mental, and George spiritual. Their integration of capacities can be seen as their group persona.

In the Wizard of Oz, the cowardly lion was physical, the tin man vital/emotional, the straw man mental, and Oz himself spiritual. In that sense they were projections of Dorothy's being, trying to become whole and one.

We can make similar distinctions of planes or attributes of being in our own culture; of our own time.

True Happiness and Spirit

True, never-ending Happiness depends not on external circumstance, which rise and fall, come and go, but on one's level of connection to the Divine Spirit.

To Be Titled

The Soul remembers to be in touch with Mother, even if the mind forgets.

Corporate Progressivism and Human-centered Economics

There are signs that a human-centered (rather than money centered) economics is beginning to take hold.

Eg USA big business, which used to be mostly Republican, has been slowly shifting in the other direction, especially on the coasts where most large firms are headquartered. This indicates that money and wealth for social benefit, not just for accumulation and making more money, is gradually getting established. I have seen no one mention this development.

If the corporate world can change in this direction, then nations will become more progressive. It has already happened to a large degree in Europe and especially Scandinavia. India too is likely to move in this direction.

Even China is beginning to talk along these lines, in trying to protect its people. Eg brilliant Jack Ma, head of huge Chinese company Alibaba constantly speaks about investing in its people, and how US should do the same.

To Be Titled

We will only know the true Truth of things when we are centered in the ultimate depths of the psychic being. Stationed there and aspiring for what is above, the Supramental, integral Truth of things comes pouring in.

To Be Titled

In the outer, surface plane we judge the book by the cover. In the inner, deepest depths we perceive its many-sided contents.

Born in Inconscience that is Ignorance

We do not remember our past lives or the space between them because when we are born we are in the unconscious of utter ignorance; not knowing what is going on around us, who we are, what our purpose is. Our soul is involved, hidden from us, at the other extreme from the inconscience we are born into.

Breaking Out of Our Unconscious Herd View to True Individuality through Mind and Spirit

Evolution from the Unconscious begins in unconscious identification with the collective. There is no individuality in Matter or Life. It begins only with the emergence of Mind. Therefore only conscious human beings are capable of true Individuality.

But our individuality is at best partial because we are only partly mental; and in large measure we share the subconscious inheritance of all human beings; and behave as members of the herd due to our biological, social, cultural and psychological conditioning.

Thus the individual evolves out of subconscious unity with the collective by developing mentality and becoming conscious of his or her own spiritual uniqueness. (Garry Jacobs)

We Are Not Here Just To ...

We are here not just to have visions, but to realize them.

We are not here just to worship Mother, but to become Mother-like.

We are not here just to gain a profound knowledge, but to experience and embody it.

We are not here just to just understand Their Integral Yoga, but to fully engage in it to transform our lives.

'Hidden Figures' Reveals Spiritual Methods of Attaining Success

I recently watched the beautiful movie 'Hidden Figures.'

This movie beautifully illustrates the power of Non-Reaction, Accepting Life, Patience, Silent Will, Embracing opportunity and many others.

I thought of the following comment upon watching this movie. I think it has a direct message for me:

--

Even when you are chosen by the Infinite, when you are aligned with His cosmic purpose, when you are destined to be a pioneer of evolution, the change is not that easy. The established forces and forms of Life resist against that as they do not want to be changed. We may not be able to revolt against them alone unless we have that kind of strength and spiritual support. Instead of reacting against life, when we accept what Life has given us, and when we continue to aspire our dream, eventually it will make Life to respond and bring us opportunity that would manifest our deepest aspiration and also make us an instrument of cosmic purpose.

The established forces that resist need not be from outside, they could be our fixed habits, attitudes, swabhava, subconscious impulses and so forth.

(SM)

Physical Form, the Subtle Physical, and the Spirit

-Form is the last step in the manifestation of Spirit.

-Material form manifests in the gross/material physical, but has its origins in the subtle physical.

-For form in the material plane to become perfect, it would need to fully manifest the Spirit behind.

-As She indicated in Agenda, the Mother saw the infinitely evolved Supramental form in the subtle physical; what it looked like if it were to manifest in the physical; consisting of an inexpressible wonder, beauty, and gracefulness.

To Be Titled

Everything positive and negative that happens on earth in the physical plane has its corresponding aspect in the subtle physical. All our capacities and incapacities have their correspondence there.

To Be Titled

The greatest teacher, failure is. (Yoda)

To Be Titled

What are considered failures in the short-term view are transitions to the positive from a longer-term perspective.

Means of Emergence of True Individuality

True Individuality fully emerges when we-

- think deep on things through rational mind
- shed the influences of the collective, herd view
- open ourselves to the higher influences of the Spirit
- discover our psychic being and remain centered there

To Be Titled

World is moving toward World Unity through disunity.

Mother's Supramentality

When in the body Mother was a supramental person in most planes (vital, mental, spiritual, etc.), except the material (Her body), which She was trying to supramentalize through the transformation of Her cells by opening to the Force.

Sri Aurobindo's Supramental Mission

Sri Aurobindo is an emanation of the Supreme who came on earth to announce the manifestation of a new race and the new world, the Supramental. Let us prepare for it in all sincerity and eagerness. (The Mother)

Living the Mother's Path

In this compendium of thoughts from the Supramental KnowledgeBase, a number of the keys for following the Path of the Mother are revealed. This knowledge is primarily for those who are followers/devotees of Sri Aurobindo and The Mother, though anyone can benefit.

I would like to thank the Mother's Service Society (entries marked "MSS") - especially Sri Karmayogi and N. Asokan - for providing much of the following material. Items with an unmarked author are written by myself. -Roy Posner

(downloading after opening this file can improve quality)

https://1drv.ms/b/s!AjayTOYvR8hZgZthlB_16PdQKlJKzQ

To Be Titled

The recent speed of change in Asia far exceeds the most rapid progress ever witnessed in the Western world in the past. (N, Asokan, MSS)

Great Complementary Values of East and West

We can now see more clearly the highest achievements of both sides of the world. They reveal distinct but complementary approaches to reality—one mental, the other vital-social; one emphasizing the ultimate value of the individual, the other the sacred value of the social collective; one founded on individual uniqueness, the other on social unity.

In the Western World, mind was liberated from the dominance of social culture and the past and came to place increasing emphasis on fullest freedom for the maximum development of the individual.

In the Eastern World, mind was subordinated to the wider social goal of collective harmony, integration and continuity with the past.

The West made freedom the ultimate value and perceived the society as the context and field for individual development and achievement.

The East based itself on the value of social harmony and continuity based on a consciousness of the immense contribution of the collective to individual achievement.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Intellectuality Fails as Partial Knowledge

A mental culture [as in the West] prides itself on its intellectuality. That capacity helps to liberate mind from the limitations of superficial sense impressions. The achievements of the last few centuries have been primarily those of the intellect. But when any truth or power is followed in the extreme, it inevitably turns into its very opposite. Intellectual knowledge is always based on a set of explicit or implicit assumptions. There are always issues that fall outside the pale of assumptions. Often the limitation of initial premises is forgotten and a partial truth is applied outside its field of validity. The extreme doctrines of state communism and neoliberalism are examples of the excessive application of partial truths as if they were universally valid. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Failure of Eastern Tradition

Unlike the West, traditional Eastern cultures blindly subordinate ideas and experience to established wisdom, thereby reducing knowledge to superstitious beliefs. (paraphrase of N. Asokan, MSS)

Eg In India, the very vitality of its ancient social institutions became an obstacle to future progress. As elsewhere, intuitive wisdom became enshrined in doctrine. Living institutions ossified into rigidly fixed social structures such as the caste system in India, the feudal system of Europe and religious institutions in all countries. In the process, India lost her native vitality and creativity and became enslaved first to conventional tradition and later to foreign occupation. Any hope of regaining her past spiritual culture only became conceivable after India attained her independence. (N. Asokan, MSS)

Going Beyond the Worst and Best of East and West

The East has ossified traditions and superstitions, shuns individuality, yet reveres the harmony of the group, and is open to the Spirit; while the West overuses mentality that denies the Spirit, even as it promotes the new and the development of true individuality.

A balance of the positive of the two, while negating their negatives is what the World Energies seek.

To Be Titled

Supramental Consciousness perceives the Truth in all of the sides.

True Love

Most of what people call Love implies reciprocity, i.e. not only giving, but expectation of receiving affection or something else in return. True Love lies beyond this. It is unconditional. The only thing one expects is to give.

Revisiting for Truth

Often you need to revisit a place or thing or matter a second or third time to truly perceive the truth of it.

Overcoming Resentment

If you have deep resentment toward a boss or relative or friend, practice non-reaction inside to control your feelings. Then watch in the days and weeks ahead as life opens up in your favor in relationship to that individual.

Re-Emergence of the Soul

The evolution begins with the Soul, the Psychic Being hidden, involved in the unconscious, the unconsciousness. Through the development of our higher nature, it emerges out of hiding, accelerating the evolutionary process.

To Be Titled

Through our Perfection of form, we get a first glimpse of Heaven's design.

To Be Titled

They who bothers us, agitate us the most are those who have the most to teach us.

To Be Titled

Everything that comes to us is a symbol of the Divine trying to touch our lives.

To Be Titled

Everything in life - including the beauty of nature - is a poor copy of that which is there in the unmanifest Divine. To bring that Perfection into our lives is Life's, the Spirit's goal.

What Great Literature Has Taught Us.

Great Literature	Lessons Taught
1. Mahabharat	It has taught us that though Truth is good, it needs divine support to win against falsehood. That is why the Pandavas needed the support of Lord Krishna to win against Kauravas.
2. Ramayana	This epic has taught us that though Asuric forces as represented by Ravana are very powerful, they finally succumb to divine onslaught. Further it has taught us the power of chastity, the value of filial devotion and the value of animal devotion as shown by Hanuman's devotion to Sri Rama.
3. Silappadikaram	This story is a clear demonstration of the power of chastity as shown by Kannagi's destruction of the whole of Madurai due to her anger over her husband's death on false ground.
4. Pride and Prejudice	This story shows the power of transformation (Darcy's changed attitude). Plus one sees the power of good will (Lissy's good will for Jane bringing her the hand of Darcy) the power of consciousness responsibility (Mr. Bennet's acceptance of responsibility for Lydia's elopement solving the whole problem)
5. Dr. Thorne	This novel is a clear demonstration of the power of upright attitudes. Dr. Thorne's goodwill for Gresham brings unheard of prosperity to his own daughter. This attests to the power of goodwill.
6. Around the World in 80 days	This story proves the power of punctuality. The power of setting aside the value of punctuality in favor of humanitarian attitudes. When Fogg disregards his journey schedule to save Aouda and Passportou when they are caught in danger, life bends backwards to help him win the wager.
7. Count of Monte Cristo	This shows the transformation that can come in an uneducated man when he acquires knowledge and wealth.

8. Les Miserables	This French novel shows the heights of nobility that a man can reach when he decides to purify himself. The story also shows the depths of sacrifice that a mother is capable of to safeguard her daughter.
9. Romeo and Juliet	This drama shows us that though teen age love is passionate and intense, it cannot survive in an hostile atmosphere as evidenced by the hostility of the two families of Romeo and Juliet towards one another.
10. Othello	This drama shows that even a mighty warrior can be defeated by a cunning and vile man especially when the warrior chooses to not exercise his critical faculties.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Where Science and Spirituality Differ

Science	Spirituality
1. We need senses to gather knowledge of the outside.	Intuition can obtain knowledge without the mediation of the Senses
2. All theoretical claims need to be experimentally proved.	This applies to lower type of knowledge only and does not cover higher inspirational knowledge.
3. Silence is absence of sound.	It is absence of thought.
4. There are limits to quantitative growth.	When the Spirit is active, quantitative limited growth can be replaced by qualitative endless growth.
5. Survival of the fittest is the grim law of life.	In a spiritually organized society this need not be true at all as Society turns a Mother who takes good care of all.
6. Climate change is threatening life on earth.	It is only a symptom of the disharmony between human greed and what earth will absorb by way of waste. If that disharmony disappears, the dangers of climate change will disappear also.
7. Science has no solution of problems like poverty, human disunity and exhaustion of natural resources.	The Spirit has solutions for all these as it operates on the principles that the finite can be made to disclose the infinite.
8. Reason does not give convincing evidence about the presence of a divine being governing creation.	Reason is the not the instrument to discover God. Spirit is the proper instrument.
9. Science is aware of the evolution of form only.	What drives the evolution in forms is only the change of consciousness within which forces the form to evolve in a way suitable for the expression of new consciousness.
10. Science does not know where Man is heading.	Spirit knows that he is heading towards supermanhood.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Global Immigration Problem

Anti-immigrant sentiments around the world indicate that the nations' people have yet to develop a global perspective of the reality of conditions; only local ones, and distorted at that. It also shows that working our way through this issue will help further Human Unity.

Comment: Its one of many reasons that some form of Global Governance - and with teeth - is needed.

On Life's Security and Change

We want security in life. But Life is change. And Spiritual Life is Rapid Change. There it is always the hour of the Unexpected. Deep, inner courage enables us to flow with it, and ride that wave to our evolutionary future.

To Be Titled

When you keep your worried attention on an unfolding negative, it tends to get worse. Best to shift your consciousness elsewhere.

To Be Titled

The partition of India is a reflection of adherence to caste and untouchability. The internal division attracted the external division. When given up, India can be reunited.

To Be Titled

Life does not reveal everything at once. She reveals what is necessary at each point, for the sake of the drama, the Play, in order to create maximum effect for multi-dimensional progress on earth.

To Be Titled

When an individual advocating, believing in deeper values is being oppressed from all sides, a higher authority tends to appear to save the day.

To Be Titled

Before we can claim unity, we need to honor and appreciate diversity.....wholesome integration lies in integrity with which we approach our uniqueness and the right to one's self-determined identity. (Mila Popovich)

To Be Titled

On this Independence Day, July 4th, in America, we can be eternally grateful to General George Washington who tirelessly fought from that day onward for 12 years to create our great nation. Without that supreme, ultimate physical and psychological effort there would likely have been no United States.

To Be Titled

When a negative comes your way, don't worry about it. Instead consecrate it, and trust in what will come. Now the best, most necessary conditions will unfold.

To Be Titled

We see problems. The Divine perceives them as opportunities through which we can grow in consciousness.

To Be Titled

There is no drug for lack of true human Happiness. It must be won inside.

To Be Titled

A person who knows the society is man. A person who sees the society and the world within himself is a yogi. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Calling Mother will help solve all problems. The Mother within us calling Herself will solve the world's problems. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

To whichever person we have spoken about our defects becomes our supreme enemy. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

When we think something is impossible the most important aspects come to the surface. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Mother is Certainty. Not certainty of what you want, but what is Best.

Universal Power of Yogi

If a person takes an action in his own local environment and startlingly it evokes a response for the entire society, that individual is or is destined to become a Yogi.

To Be Titled

Revenge is never part of spirituality.

To Be Titled

Yogis have universal power.

We are caught up in the sense of separateness from everybody else, instead of our To Be Titled sense of Identity with everyone else.

The Spirit Too is Evolving

It is not only we who can evolve. It is also the Spirit that can evolve. That it can express in life in ways it has never expressed before.

Raising Your Team to the Heights

If you are part of a team - business, sports, or otherwise -, and you wish to raise it to the heights, look inside yourself, discover what is lacking in consciousness (whether limiting skill, attitude, effort, etc.), and raise it up to the fullest. Life will respond with good or great for the team, as well as yourself.

Perfecting Your Work

List out all the ways you can perfect your work, and then take it up in full. The entire universe will begin to rush to your doorstep.

Life's Challenge

We hope for a life of ease. But that is not we are here for. We are here for a life of Challenge, and the higher consciousness required to meet it, raising up our life.

To Be Titled

Continually try to connect with the Self behind yourself.

Comment: .. all manner of benefits will follow..

Reader: What are the practical methods of connection?

Response: I simply stop myself, shift away from the ordinary surface consciousness and concentrate on my inner self and being. In other words, I go deeper within. Then I try to maintain that connection, in the background, throughout the day.

The deeper the connection, the closer we come to the psychic being, the true Self and soul, which essentially resides behind the heart.

Periodically I check to feel if the connection is still there.

Also when one approaches and connects to the true self/psychic one tends to be more peaceful, open-minded, flexible, insightful, harmonic with others and the circumstance of life, happy, etc etc. One other outcome is that Life flows magnificently; it cooperates from all sides.

Also if from those depths, we further connect to the Supramental force, the Mother, the experience, action, and results are that much greater.

Reader: I am blessed to feel the same for five to six days..I felt peace..Non reaction..Calm.a blissful state....Now i feel i am not connected to that such level and kindly guide how to regain it once again

Response: Until we build up a great receptivity it will come for a while and then seemingly retreat. It is the physical consciousness reclaiming its territory in the absence of great aspiration and receptivity. Calm, patience, and steady aspiration for Her into our lives will win it back for ever-lengthier periods.

To Be Titled

World subconsciously wants to move toward greater Unity. However, for now Dark forces, real and subtle, have emerged to block it.

Politician vs Patriot

A politician is one who will stick to his ideology, not giving one inch to any truth of the other side. A Patriot, on the other hand, is one who thinks solely about the welfare of the country, and is open to any course of action that appears beneficial.

Power of Withholding Opinions

When you hold back expressing your opinions, they gain power to manifest as Real in the world.

To Be Titled

To understand why this world is filled with ignorance, misery, and suffering, one must learn about the process by which Life emerged from a Divine Source.

Attracting Expanding Harmony of the Group

A group moving from discord to affectionate harmony will suddenly attract a further widening of the circle that includes additional members who share the same harmonic feelings.

Non-Complaint Attracts

Restraint from complaint of another's actions, releasing all emotional attachment, soon attracts completion of one's original intention.

On Timidity

"Timidity is a form of vanity. When you are timid, it means that you attach much more importance to the opinion others have of you than to the sincerity of your action." (The Mother)

Yes, timidity is therefore a form of ego. We don't normally think of it that way, but Mother explains why it is very well.

Incorporating the Subtle into the Limited Physical

This material physical reality we perceive is a distortion, a muddying, a lesser version of that same thing as it exists in the Subtle physical plane. And yet through our higher consciousness the physical plane can be improved, evolved to incorporate the higher properties of the subtle.

To Be Titled

Only when we understand Life and its Character will we begin to perceive our purpose; i.e. why we are here; and where we are headed.

To Be Titled

World is evolving from two ends: toward greater true individuality, and towards increasing collective harmony.

Purpose in the Universe

If an Infinite Consciousness is the source of all creation, then this created universe must have a purpose. Even the flaws of life - ignorance, falsehood, pain, suffering, et al - must also serve a purpose.

Sudden Memory of a Person

When the memory of a person whom you have not thought of in decades suddenly comes to mind, it indicates that something of the past has not been resolved. Best then to consider the issue, and then consecrate it. The thought of that person will not come again, or some other aspect of your life will show a change, etc. it's another indicator that everything that comes to us in life serves the purpose of awakening our consciousness.

Blocked!

It is always helpful to be consciously aware of all things occurring around you, which are signs and indicators of what to do; or what not to do. Here's a recent example:

The other day I felt it necessary to get a new iPhone by upgrading my current one. I thought I could afford it. It was also true that my current iPhone was working fine.

When I left my home to make the purchase, I immediately noticed my driveway was blocked by a utility-service vehicle. I instantly knew it was a sign of a problem with my goal.

Still, after waiting for a while, I headed out to the Apple store. When I arrived, I made an appointment with a staffer. While waiting I then checked out the price of the iPhone I hoped to upgrade to. It turns out it only came in configurations that was at least twice the amount I was budgeted for. As a result, I cancelled my appointment, and headed home.

It turns out that the blocking of the driveway was a sign of difficulties to come. Though I kept this in mind and headed out anyway, I was a bit stunned, but somehow not surprised by the exorbitant price of the upgraded price. The blockage at the outset was a sign of what was to come: a failed outcome.

There is another way to look at it: that the blockage was a sign that an upgrade was unnecessary at this point, and the money could best be used elsewhere. In other words, I was being guided by a higher power, looking out for my best interests.

Reader: Other than the signs from Life, what should be our attitude and deciding factor if we need to upgrade our laptop, phone etc.,

For example, we can afford and buy new things, but once we buy new, we would neglect the one which we are using currently.

On the other way, if we don't upgrade, we could not use the latest features, so we are clinging on with the old.

Thank you Sir.

Response: I recall that when Mother received a letter that she had to reply to she often turned the envelope inside out and used it from there. In other words, maximum utilization of a resource, instead of throw-away approach is one powerful way to approach this matter. So best use practices for each technology are thus helpful here, including optimization of features.

Another, closely-related method is giving extra attention to material objects, thus keeping them in best working order.

Also connecting to the being and essence of the technology will keep it longer-lasting and responsive

These approaches attract the best conditions from life for the object.

Plus keeping costs to a minimum is a money-oriented value to keep in mind. This also attracts positively. On the other hand, if there is a need to spend and we have the funds, we should be willing to loosen our purse strings.

Finally, and to more directly address your question, prioritizing where to spend our money is important. (it is an organizational value). Actually I neglected to mention in my story that I had been considering purchasing an important piece of furniture instead of the phone. And after the iPhone incident above, that's exactly what I ended up doing with my budgeted funds!

Unpredictability of Life

Life seems so unpredictable: one minute it is working well, the next it falls apart. It appears to us that way because we don't understand the Character of Life, including its subtle laws. E.g. we don't readily perceive the connection between our inner selves and the world around us; i.e. inner-outer correspondence.

Intensity is Sought by Life

Life seeks intensity. And it enjoys that intensity, whether positive or negative. It doesn't enjoy in the sense of the normal happiness, but in the sense of being alive.

Our Vital Being and Life Itself Seek Drama, Intensity

Our vital/emotional being likes intensity, likes drama. If we can't be happy, then we need to have something to complain about; or to accuse others of and blame; or to feel victimized, etc. There is a certain fulfilment we get from that drama and intensity.

This is also true of Life itself. Eg the 20th century had unlimited prosperity, but as if being unsatisfied, it turned to two world wars with untold misery and suffering. Something in Life's, Society's being wanted this added intensity, as it was unsatisfied with the positive of the times.

Weather for ourselves or for Society, it is an important characteristic of life.

The Vital, Dissatisfaction, Restlessness

Another characteristic of Life is that it is Restless; always seeking to fulfil an unfulfilled desire. Eg I have a certain possession, but my neighbour has a better one, and I too want it. There is an urge in the vital for something more, as it is never satisfied.

To Be Titled

We are the Divine who has forgotten Himself. (the Mother)

To Be Titled

Loud speech attracts negative conditions. Soft speech, the opposite.

To Be Titled

In the face of life's exigencies, we are so weak and vulnerable. Only our deep association with Mother can give us the necessary inner strength to carry on.

To Be Titled

Because the physical does not like to change its routine, when a difficulty arises it panics, and becomes negative and defeatist. Stationed in a deeper center of being, such reactions would not occur.

To Be Titled

Evolution, - including where we are headed and what our purpose is - cannot be truly understood unless we understand the Involution, from Spirit to matter.

To Be Titled

There are those in their seniors years who constantly look backward, dwelling on their cultural past, lost in nostalgia. And then there are the very few who dwell on and live for the psychological and spiritual future, who become highly energized instruments of the Evolution.

To Be Titled

World Governance of various sorts, including World Parliament with teeth for action, is key to the future for all problems of all nations.

To Be Titled

The True Warrior has Inner Strength, Higher Values, and outer capacity to do Good.

To Be Titled

Self-justification of a position in a difference of opinion with another, -- even at the level of unexpressed emotion, -- attracts even more resistance from the other side. Best to offer it to the Higher Power, then let it go. Positive developments will quickly follow.

To Be Titled

Every difficulty is an opportunity to grow. So be still, and learn what life is trying to teach you.

To Be Titled

Spiritual Life is not about seeking boons from the deity, which is essentially the religious impulse, but about elevating our consciousness and becoming Divine-like ourselves.

Fulfilment in Rising Consciousness

For the spiritual individual fulfilment does not come about by acquiring all that one wished for, but by rising in consciousness as we meet the challenges and opportunities of life.

The Spiritual Quest

For the spirit-oriented individual the quest is not simply to acquire things, to accomplish more in life, but to increasingly seek and develop a higher level of consciousness.

To Be Titled

As is the Consciousness, so is the Force that issues forth.

Integrating Material and Spiritual in Work

There are those who believe in the material reality, and then there are those who only believe only in the spiritual. Then there are the few who believe in both, and are able to integrate that belief into their life's work.

Eg Einstein believed in both the material and spiritual, which opened his mind vastly, so that his equations of physical reality often came as revelations of truth; i.e. as intuitions of thought from out of nowhere. Same with the great pioneer Indian mathematician Ramanujan.

One step further is to open to the Spirit in one's work, so that it can be divinized; so perfection can be released, enabling the infinite can emerge from the current finite.

Creating Heaven on Earth

The goal is not to get into heaven, and avoid hell. Rather the goal should be to convert this hell on earth into heaven -- through greater awareness, deeper values, and higher consciousness.

To Be Titled

Be accepting of all possibilities; not just the things you are predisposed to. Think "the sum of," rather than one versus another. Life will reward your efforts!

To Be Titled

Human-centered social and economic benefits are spreading through all societies because the people are increasingly demanding it.

Era of Rising Expectations

The world is increasingly in an era of Rising Expectations, where internet and media is available to all, where people see how much better other people are living, and nobody wants to be left behind in their lifetime.

To Be Titled

China is investing in its people. America is not; but it needs to.

To Be Titled

If you expect negative results from others, you will surely receive them.

Each resistance you give up is followed by an unexpected positive response from life.

Reader: Does resistance refer to the unwanted qualities that we have inside us?

Response: Here it is meant as unwillingness to do what is necessary at each moment in our lives.

To Be Titled

Trump is here to insure that the society becomes more progressive; which is opposite of his intent.

California Influence on America

In America California is ahead of the curve on so many issues, developments, et al, and slowly but surely, often begrudgingly, the rest of America invariably follows.

Housepainters Group and 'Savitri'

In 1973, when I was 23 or so, I was part of an outside house-painting group of 4 people. All were followers of Sri Aurobindo and Mother.

Every morning we would gather in a park near the home we were painting, take out Sri Aurobindo's epic mystical poem 'Savitri,' and read a page or so, followed by a short meditation. We then proceeded to do the work in silence, and perfection in the work was often the result.

The reading and meditation created a nice atmosphere throughout the day.

In addition, each of us were given a nick-name, representing our nature in the group. So there was "Inspiration," who was our spiritual leader, and "Perspiration," the person who worked the hardest. I believe I was "Cooperation" (i.e. working together in harmony) or something similar.

It was my first chance to correlate the spiritual teachings of Sri Aurobindo with work I was engaging in in my life, and the first real opportunity to do the work by surrendering to Her Force.

It would blossom much further - both inwardly and outwardly - when I met up with Garry Jacobs, Mere Cie, and Mother's Service Society in Southern California two years later. The quest to bring about a divine Life by opening to Her Force had now begun in earnest.

To Be Titled

Each generation creates a kind of greatness of individuals that never existed before. Understanding them and their cause will help us better anticipate and realize future greatnesses.

To Be Titled

If in the midst of great confusion and swirling forces, you put all your faith in Mother, all will work out, like a beautiful coordinated symphony.

To Be Titled

Mother predicted the end of Communism AND Capitalism. The former is gone, and the latter is morphing into something unknown.

Randomness vs Purposefulness Perception

Those who are material and mechanistic in outlook view all subtle movements of life as random and coincidental. On the other hand, the deeper person, of greater consciousness, perceives intention, purpose, and causality everywhere; in the invisible and the visible.

Confessional

I have so much synchronous and psychic experience, awareness, and power in life, yet there are a few areas where I seem utterly helpless. This is where the inner battle is being waged; where the Quest continues.

Modi and Ramdev

"Modi and Ramdev are corrupt nationalists and intolerant religious fanatics under the guise of political-economic reformist and "godman." Is this True?"

Definitely not true of Prime Minister Modi. He is very open-minded and progressive. The country is in midst of anti-corruption tidal-wave, where corruption operates at every level of society. Modi helped spearhead and accelerate the anti-corruption movement. Moreover, he has distanced himself from the old extreme nationalism wing of the BJB party.

Spiritual teacher and billionaire businessman Ramdev has also been a spearhead of anti-corruption movement, as well as an advocate of Yoga practice and Ayurveda medicine. His vast business empire reflects this. He's very popular around the world, and has indeed been in cahoots with Modi, as they have both helped elevate one another's career..

Still I personally find Ramdev a bit too conservative for my taste, as well as a bit too disingenuous.

--

Keep in mind that the issue of nationalism in India is complicated. There is the Trumpian type of stand up for India nationalism, that is tied to being a Hindu, at the expense of other religions and practices, which I find abhorrent.

Then there is the urge to see Indian ancient values and teachings (like knowledge of the ancient Vedas and Upanishads) restored in the face of the extreme influence of materialism from the West. This aspect of what could be considered nationalism, but what is really the restoration of Indian culture and belief, seems laudable to me.

Modi, who often speaks of Sri Aurobindo, has navigated this difference quite well, focusing more on the latter approach than the former, while Ramdev mixes them together a bit too much. Plus his attitudes about sex, women, and homosexuality, among other things are quite regressive.

--

In my opinion Modi is the finest Indian leader since Nehru. He is s very inclusive, a great uniter, and dynamic in his understanding of technology and the modern world.

Modi is business-oriented and dynamic, which is similar to Ramdev, who has created a Yoga and Ayurveda empire. Ramdev however needs to work on his personal and spiritual values and beliefs some more!

--

Then there is the relationship between corruption and the political parties.

The Congress Party of India, who were once the dynamic party of India eventually became the party of the poor (which the BJB were previously!). However, the Congress party could not deliver, and besides, the anti-corruption movement swept the country, elevating Modi to the top.

Now the BJB is business-oriented, a complete reversal from their previous poor people orientation; while Congress went the opposite way! Congress is now trying to get back in the game with the national election coming up. In politics things flip flop very quickly, though at the national ticket level Modi is still very strong.

Modi has also advocated anti-defecation in streets, and for cleanliness in the country. He started with the basics, which I fully agree with! After all, cleanliness and orderliness evoke good fortune.

Ramdev blaming corruption only on Congress-connected people is a falsehood. It exists at every level of society.

Congress was in control at the time of Ramdev's formative years, so it seemed to Ramdev like the corrupt were mainly with them. But corruption had already been institutionalized at every level of society, including any and all parties.

--

As you may know I watched the first 40 episodes of the tv series about his life. It was very interesting. Another 40 episodes are to come! Talk about overkill and self-justification. Still it showed a number of subtle spiritual principles of life. Whether these were his own real experiences, I'm not so sure!

I sense that Modi has differences of opinions with Ramdev, but keeps it to himself. I also sense that Ramdev is more liberal in his social views than he lets on.

--

Watching Ramdev in various interviews, he did not come across as being very spiritual in his demeanor to me. There are dozens of others around the world who seem to exceed him in this regard. And yet the mega-lengthy film DOES portray him as a spirit-oriented individual. So who knows where the truth lies in this regard!

Meaning of "Impersonal"

"Impersonal" in the ordinary sense means to be distant, aloof, not caring. "Impersonal" in the spiritual sense means not to assert one's personality and one's ego; not to interfere; to be detached, yet conscious, aware, and caring, all at the same time.

To Be Titled

Supramental Life lies beyond the Spiritual life previously imagined.

Our, the Divine's Purpose and Meaning

-There's a meaning and purpose to everything that happens; to ourselves and to the life around us. (It is not mere chance.) And it is up to us discover what that is.

-Everything has a meaning and purpose in our lives because it is a reflection, an emanation of the Divine's purpose in unfolding this universe.

Consecration: Moving to Our Highest Consciousness

What Sri Aurobindo and Mother mean by "consecration" is for us at each moment to aspire and act in the highest consciousness we are aware of. To find that point in our psychological and spiritual compass, and move away from the low, and instead take to the highest high. And as a result, life will unfold magnificently, and cooperate with us from various quarters.

To Be Titled

Karmayogi asks devotees-

- to forget astrology
- forget auspiciousness of days
- forget going to temple
- forget worshipping Gods

Instead he asks us to remember Mother.

And to shift away from asking Her for personal boons to aspiring to become like Her in consciousness.

To Be Titled

The conscious individual continually sheds resistance and insistence.

Acting on Ego

Before you take an action, consider if you are doing so for Ego's sake. If so, hold back or otherwise modify it to express a more harmonic attitude or position.

Man's Power Over Malfunctioning Computer

Many people over the years have told me that as soon as they would contact me about a computer or software problem, the difficulty would immediately stop. Even before I offered a solution!

Being in computer-related business and simultaneously a devotee of Mother and Her Force may have something to do with it.

Layers/Planes of Cause of Negative Condition

In any negative situation, there many layers of causality, from the material to the subtle. Eg someone has an ache. There is not only the physical cause, but also the psychological cause, as well as external subtle cause. If you consecrate all of them as a single entity to the Divine Mother, they can all dissipate at once, causing the pain to disappear.

Devotees Evoking Universal Benefits

Mother devotees have universal power to change the world around them by opening to the Force and aspiring that the benefits come not only to one's own self, but also to the wider society.

Follow-through on Promises Made

One serious faux pas of many is the inability to follow through on the promises one has made to others. It is a common issue, even among highly conscious individuals. Unfortunately, it can result in serious loss of credibility.

Individuality and Cooperation in East and West

In Asia one problem is lack of Individuality, as people tend to follow the herd, whereas in the West, especially USA, there is greater sense of individuality, which has made the country dynamic and prosperous. And yet the West (especially USA) needs to become more cooperative and harmonic to solve its pressing problems (like wealth inequality, stagnant wages, and poor jobs), just as Asia needs to bring out the individuality of its people.

Citizen of the World

I decreasingly relate to being a citizen of a country (in my case USA) and increasingly to being a citizen of the world.

To Be Titled

Time "slows down" when you concentrate on time. It speeds up/disappears when you are enveloped by Spirit.

To Be Titled

Mother asks us to shift from animal life to Higher life.

To Be Titled

When you feel strongly about a matter based on compelling evidence, and hold it quietly inside, soon after someone will step forward and advocate it to the world.

To Be Titled

True Patience inside quickly dissolves long lines, waits, etc. outside.

To Be Titled

Obstacle is the greatest path.

To Be Titled

It is best to associate with those with an inner flame of Aspiration for something greater, higher in this life; instead of those constantly harkening back to the past, who seem half-dead inside.

Predicting Success and Failure of An Undertaking

We can determine the success or failure of an undertaking based on several criteria.

A. FOUR QUADRANTS

we have seen that success of an undertaking can be determined by how it falls into one of four quadrants. Within each quadrant is a unique combination of positive and negative, for both the Inner and Outer conditions. We can consider "Inner" as the psychological status of the person(s) engaged in the effort, and "Outer" as the status, consciousness of the surrounding, external environment.

We can also say that the Inner reflects long term results, and the Outer reflects short-term results.

Here are the four combinations/quadrants, with real world examples:

1. INNER POSITIVE, OUTER POSITIVE indicates short and long-term success

-(Microsoft) Ultimately the attitude of founder was positive and the industry was positive as it boomed, leading to vast success, short and long term.

2. INNER NEGATIVE, OUTER POSITIVE indicates short term success, longer term failure

-(Computerland) I reluctantly work in computer store, which is indoors, when I enjoy outdoors. Computer industry is booming, filled with opportunities. I start slow, but have huge success, but then when market slows a bit, I have no drive to continue. And so I leave the company.

- (Marriages in Pride and Prejudice) Darcy and Bingley arrive in town amidst great positivity in the community (outer). However Mrs. Bennet who has the aspiration to marry off her daughters to prospects like these two men is very negative in her general demeanor (inner). Things fail miserably in the shorter term, yet longer term succeed royally through three marriages in the family.

3. INNER POSITIVE, OUTER NEGATIVE indicates short term failure, with opportunity for long term success

- (Collins in Pride and Prejudice) He is positive inside to marry, though outside he is not liked. He is thus blocked short-term when two sisters reject him (short term). However he marries Charlotte later on (longer term), fulfilling his dream.

- (New Artiste) I have great enthusiasm to sell a legacy line of tapestries under NewArtiste moniker. However the staff related to the old and even new inventory are skeptical about my success. We have very limited short-term success, and after six months close down the effort. Future is unknown.

4. INNER NEGATIVE, OUTER NEGATIVE indicates short and long-term failure.

Note: personal attitudes, habits, beliefs, values, energy, aspiration, willfulness, and action are some of the factors that are measured to determine the positive or negative.

—

B. SELF VS. LIFE'S INITIATIVE

To this we can add another dimension; whether you seek it out (Self Initiative); or whether the opportunity come's on its own to one (Life's Initiative)

Generally speaking Self Initiative succeeds less than 50%, whereas Life's Initiative succeeds 80/90%,

I. SELF-INITIATIVE

-(Computerland) I initiated working there, but it didn't sustain, as I left after nearly two years. Thus it, was a partial success. New Artiste effort was also self-initiated and didn't succeed.

II. LIFE'S INITIATIVE

-(Training Career) Two ladies came to me from out of the blue, and asked me to be an instructor, which I followed through on, leading to a successful 27-year training career.

Ego vs. Harmonic Self-Initiative -- We can refine this factor for the success of a Self-initiative by adding the fact that a self-initiative that originates in Ego is not worth pursuing, though one that is harmonic or otherwise rises from our deepest consciousness, is worth pursuing. Eg the Gardeners in Pride and Prejudice, as well as friend Charlotte cared for their friend Elisabeth Bennet, which ended in a positive outcome of Lizzy's marriage.

Life and Self-Initiative Together -- Also it can be recognized that sometimes life's initiative and self-initiative may occur together. Eg I was offered an opportunity to work in Sothern California, but I did not take it up and instead travelled the world. Then when I saw that this was not working, I returned back to California to pursue the opportunity that I had neglected. It resulted in a further opportunity that would change my life.

—

C. COMBINATION

We can combine the Four Quadrant and Self vs Life's Initiative to determine success.

—

D. OTHER DIMENSIONS

We can consider additional dimensions that affect such outcomes. Eg perceive subtle life signs, such as Life Response phenomenon to indicate future potential; as well as the impact of the Spiritual Dimension, such as offering the opportunity to the Higher Power (consecration)

To Be Titled

Overcoming your resistance and making the necessary effort, with consecrated support, will always bring a positive surprise.

To Be Titled

Even a scoundrel or a buffoon will know things vital to the unfolding of the Truth. Thus he plays an important role in life.

To Be Titled

In one sense, there are no difficulties in life; only an acute inability on our part to perceive the true Purpose behind things.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo and Mother are "just behind the curtain," in the subtle physical. The curtain and therefore we are transparent to them, but the curtain and they are opaque to us. If we rise in, deepen our consciousness, the boundaries will cease to exist; the subtle physical and the physical will become One.

To Be Titled

When you live on the surface, you have surface reactions, which are often faulty. When you are centered in the depths, your reactions are keener; are more in touch with the true truth of things.

To Be Titled

A subtle consciousness perceives how one development in one's life relates to another, even though on the surface there appears to be no connection.

Hurdles Mother Faced in Her Sadhana and Help She Received in Her Sadhana

1. Even in her childhood years Mother displayed a strong equality in her nerves which is a fundamental requirement in Sadhana. She attributed that equality as a gift from her father who possessed such an equality.
2. During her training period under Max Theon, He sent her outside of her body in search of the Mantra of Life. Though She found the mantra in the subtle plane she refused to share the details of the mantra with him. Angered by this, he cut of the subtle thread that linked Mother's life with her body which endangered her life. Later he relented and used all his occult powers to restore the link and thus bring her back into the body.

3. It was Madam Theon who disclosed to her that She was the incarnation of The Divine Mother after seeing a crown studded with 12 diamonds on her head. She further told her that so long as the crown was on Her head, she did not have to fear anything or anybody.
4. While Mother was making fruitless search to meet with the Divine, it was an Indian visitor to Europe who told her to look for the Divine inside. That was a completely new information for Mother who had been till then searching for Him outside. Armed with this new information she succeeded in discovering Her Psychic being within one year.
5. After seeing Sri Aurobindo She chose him as Her collaborator in her Integral yoga. This angered her husband Richard who insisted that She choose him to be the Collaborator. When She refused a quarrel ensued and Richard tried to strangle Her with his hands. She remembered Sri Aurobindo and at once he relaxed his grip on Her throat.
6. When She met Him for the first time He gave Her Spiritual Silence without Her even asking for it. Since then the Silence remained with Her for the rest of Her life.
7. When She set out on a subtle mission to locate the place where the world's wealth was kept, She was stopped by an enormous python from entering a cave where the money was kept. The python demanded that She gain mastery over the sex impulse in humanity failing which it would not allow entry. As the Mother admitted failure in this matter, she returned without visiting the site.
8. After His departure, She found it a very difficult task to deal with doubts raised by hostile forces as to her capacity to bring down the Supermind without His Presence. Harassed by this doubt. She took to repeating? Om Namo Bhagavathe? endless times which at one point succeeded in dissolving this doubt.
9. She could not meet him in the subtle plane for nearly 10 years as He feared She might get distracted from Her work if He appeared before Her as and when She wished.
10. In an effort to promote World Unity, She endorsed English Prime Minister Winston Churchill's proposal for an Anglo- French Union during world war II. But the French government declined the offer which was a big disappointment for Mother.
11. When She intensified her Sadhana and tried to purify the subconscious regions of her personality Her body felt like it was on fire. On sensing that She decided that She won't recommend this Sadhana to anybody else.
12. During her final days She told Her bodyguard not to remove Her body out of the room She lived in as there was a chance that the body might undergo a transformation which would help Her reappear with a new supramental body. But he ignored Her instructions and buried Her body like it is done with any other body.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

Comment: A few others:

- She was realized in Her Mental and Vital, but came against the great ordeal of the Physical transformation.
- She spent much psychic capital trying to convince and convert the cells of her body to adopt the Supramental Force to prevent their degradation and decay.
- She was up against the resistance of the subconscious, which always tried to bring her and others back down to the lower consciousness. She said it had to be converted and overcome.
- She could not fathom how to convert Her own body into the supramental being. She indicated it would be for later; perhaps Sri Aurobindo returning with the New Body.
- She spoke of the Censor that always tried to convince Her of the futility of taking the positive steps She made in consciousness.
- She had to deal with the unconsciousness of the devotees, whose negative consciousness she had to absorb while still moving forward in Her development. Also, though She was so far beyond Her followers in experience and knowledge, She restrained Herself in explanation so as not to baffle them..

To Be Titled

Often a negative party, with the wrong outlook, will initiate discussion on an issue, which then energizes society for greater discussion, often in opposition. In that sense, the party plays a vital role in the spread and intensity of the analysis, and therefore of progress and evolution.

To Be Titled

Sarcasm and cynicism muddy the psychological waters, attracting negative conditions. Best to keep such thoughts and feelings to one's self.

To Be Titled

We are fearful of certain things coming to us, and yet we do so without reflecting on why it has come, and what purpose it serves in our lives.

To Be Titled

Everything that comes to us - positive or negative, pleasurable or painful, great or small - does so to awaken the Consciousness in us.

Rising Above Nature and Society to Live Out Our Individual Purpose

Nature's instinct and programming compels the animal to be what it should be. On the other hand, people around us, our families, relatives, friends, education system, our culture - in other words Society itself - is telling US what to be.

And yet we have the mental will and power to rise above the herd view and become anything we wish to become. We humans have the unique capacity to become true Individuals and live out our true life's purpose.

Man the Insatiable Seeker

- Man's natural joy of life is overcast
 - The animal's thoughtless joy is left behind,
 - He has risen to greatness and to discontent,
 - He is awake to the Invisible.
 - Insatiate seeker, he has all to learn:
 - He has exhausted now life's surface acts,
 - His being's hidden realms remain to explore.
- (from Sri Aurobindo's 'Savitri,' the Kingdoms of the Little Life)

To Be Titled

If you can't say something positive or neutral about someone, best to keep it inside. Better still, cast off the negative thought and feeling altogether.

To Be Titled

The Mother is continually giving devotees and other individuals certain intimations, intuitions of thought that when taken to the world dramatically change it for the better.

Difficult State of the World

Recently, everything in the world has been shaken up and laid bare so we can better understand the issues that have remained hidden and neglected, so the world can seriously and sincerely resolve them.

To Be Titled

When do we get lazy? It is when we are self-satisfied. Satisfaction is the opposite of Aspiration., which occurs when we aspire to elevate our lives; to raise our capacity and consciousness.

To Be Titled

We are in the physical. Sri Aurobindo and Mother are in the subtle physical. How can we collaborate with them? What do they want from us? What can we do to best serve their intentions? (Garry Jacobs)

Prayer, Consecration, Calling

Prayer is great. ("Mother please give me what I want.") Still it is most often filled with ego.

Consecration is greater still. ("Mother here is this issue and that issue. I consecrate them to you to be solved. Thy Will be done in this matter.")

Calling is greatest of all. ("Mother, Please come into my life, to guide me forward." "Mother please bring your consciousness here. Your knowledge, your peace, your power" "Mother let me be an instrument of your Will." We are thus calling not for our sake, for our problem, but for Her sake, so Her Consciousness can Divinize the world.

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

Going Within to Solve a Problem: A Moment of Conscious Evolution

When we are having a problem, our programming is to react on the surface: "He is to blame." "They ruined the situation." Etc.

Instead we need to ignore the programming and go within, to discover our higher self, which will reveal the necessary, greater truths.

It is a moment of Conscious Evolution.

Consecrating One's Achieved Success

Though we may have utilized Mother to rise up and succeed, a new level of consecration is necessitated by that higher status. At this level of achievement we can consecrate our sense of satisfaction, our sense of status, our feelings of prestige, our sense of self-importance, our sense of our developed capacities, our sense of our endowments, our proud sense of comfort we have achieved and material objects we have acquired, our sense of feeling special, etc etc. (paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

To Be Titled

Is Mother here to serve us, or are we here to serve Mother?

To Be Titled

Expectation delays or cancels - and very often disappoints.

Reader: Could you please explain why to stop expectations....?

Since Every step in life based on the expectation of results.....!

That's applicable including scientists research too ?

Without expectations how creativity will function further....?

By

Nemam Santhosh Prabhakaran

Response: By expectation here I am referring to over-expectation or over-anticipation.

I had a friend who constantly expected things to occur; spoke it out in anticipation of it happening, saying such and such would happen, and every time he did so, the goal got delayed, or even got cancelled. It is a subtle truism of life that one can readily observe.

Listen to people who are sports fans, anticipating that their team is going to do great. Insisting on it; only to see the squad they are rooting for crashing to the bottom of the standings. Instead a little humility, a little less bragging, and less opinionating would help.

Note this is different than having a goal, preparing for it, and executing it. In this case, there is no over-anticipation, over-expectation. One is focused on the right execution, and absorption in the work, rather than telling others that all will go as planned. Done well it will produce great results.

Over-expectation and over-anticipation attract negative results from life, whereas envisioning and properly executing a reasonable desired goal will ordinarily attract positive results.

Shifting from Blame to Self-Reflection Attracts

We blame others when they do or say things that we do not like, never asking what we did inside, negatively in consciousness that evoked that experience in the first place. However, if we examine and come to understand the inner cause and offer it to the higher power for its transformation, wondrous positive conditions will quickly present themselves.

For example, a man is walking through a bus terminal and asks someone there for directions. However the employee is very rude, which upsets the man. When he exits the terminal and returns to his office, he thinks about the incident and realizes that he had acted to another person in a similar manner an hour earlier. He then offers that insight to the Spirit. Within five minutes a friend knocks on his door and proceeds to tell him about some great new developments.

To Be Titled

To be You, Lord, at every moment the supreme Spontaneity. (the Mother)

Comment: This is essentially an example of what Karmayogi refers to as "Calling Mother."

To Be Titled

In the subtle physical, Sri Aurobindo and Mother are creating and building the suitable Environment to prepare mankind to receive the Divine Consciousness. (paraphrase of Vimalathithan Prophecy Begins)

Humans Contemplate Their Purpose

The human is the first species who is able to say Who Am I? What is my purpose in Life? And as a result, looks skyward and contemplates that he is part of some Great Mystery; that there may be a Divine Reality beyond all things, which suggests our deepest purpose in the greater scheme of things.

To Be Titled

Mother is here to serve the Divine Will and we are served by understanding Her guidance, and act accordingly, thereby supporting both the Divine and Mother's work. (paraphrase of Devakanni Subramanian)

To Be Titled

Each Conscious retreat from our Ego in the course of the day will attract a happy Surprise.

To Be Titled

India's Aspiration for success is great now. Nothing can hold Her back. Plus She has the advantage of Yogic Wisdom.

To Be Titled

The true nature of Reality lies far beyond our surface view. In the depths we discover It in full.

To Be Titled

Questions for a conscious person to continually ask:

Who am I?

What is my purpose?

What is life asking of me?

To Be Titled

Consciousness is the original status of Being of the Supreme.

To Be Titled

Doing things the same old way is mechanical, physical.

Doing things dynamically different is Spiritual, Supramental.

Which way do you want to live your life?

August 15:

-Sri Aurobindo's birth

-Indian Independence

-End of WWII in Pacific

To Be Titled

First order of any business or work is Cleanliness, Orderliness.

It attracts money, orders, and opportunities.

To Be Titled

He who worked inwardly for the freedom of India from British rule was rewarded when Independence Day turned out to be the same date as his own birth, August 15.

To Be Titled

Disparage a person, place, or thing, and something is bound to soon go wrong relative to it.

To Be Titled

To feel that what one has is not there with others is pride. To want others to have what one has is fulfillment. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

If world affairs affect you, then it indicates that you have a higher attitude. If that attitude is higher still, then it will be calm. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

If an important thing changes, then a thousand things will happen successfully. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

To feel that what one has is not there with others is pride. To want others to have what one has is fulfillment. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

This world is filled with unconsciousness and darkness, which is why Sri Aurobindo and Mother came to teach us how to lift up our lives; to shed our Ignorance; to transform our individual and collective existence into something higher, to help bring about a world of light and love and beauty; to help bring about a Divine life on earth.

Mira

Dear Roy, I wanted to share a story with you about a recent event in my life. I shared it with Garry when we were on a conference call the other day. Also, I received such a generous message from Senthil for my birthday that I ended up sharing the story with him as well and he urged me to share it with you.

Here it is as I wrote it to Senthil:

I was highly aware of the Mother about my birthday, as Garry told me about the special darshan one would get on one's birthday. And so, I felt that deeply.

At an office, a little 3-year-old girl insisted to her mother to meet me even though I am a stranger.

The girl stood in front of me with such beauty and presence that I got on my knees to be at her level and asked her is she is from another world 😊 because she was so brilliant.

She gave me a deep, long hug and I was amazed and filled with warmth.

Before she left, I asked her about her name - she smiled with her eyes and said "Mira". 🌸🌸
(Mila Popovich)

Mother Devotees' Works Spread Throughout Society

Where a Mother devotee takes to a higher value, or a career interest, or to a rising tide opportunity, etc., their success spreads to a wider plane, to benefit the entire society. It is because followers of Her Path are not just individual beings on the way to Individual transformation, but also UNIVERSAL beings with universal power brought about by Her Supramental Force.

Non-Reaction Power at Three Levels

Question: Can non-reaction pretty much solve everything? I.e. not reacting physically or emotionally to any perceived negative essentially dissolve it?

Answer: It can solve it at the Physical or Vital or Mental level.

Eg I had very unruly, even dangerous neighbors. I learned to control myself and not call the authorities. (physical) Then at the Emotional level I stopped reacting as well, i.e. not getting angry, over-stimulated when they did something wrong. In other words, I moved to emotional calm. As a result over a relatively short period of time, they moved out.

Also an even worse person whose husband managed the properties most surprising suddenly was forced out as well. And her husband, the manager was removed - forced out of his position - as well.

Moreover, soon after several wonderful people replaced all of these different very negative characters.

It was a cascade of the miraculous.

I have seen the power of non-reaction in this and many other occasions. It never fails to astonish.

Plus, it is essential for any kind of sustained spiritual life.

To Be Titled

The key in life is to grow, evolve from our surface being to our True Being; the Evolving Soul within; the Psychic.

Comment: This is the path of the Supramental Yoga. Progressively move from the surface and within, connect to the subliminal and then psychic being (evolving soul, True Self); and from there open to the supramental power (through Mother) so that Force transforms all aspects of our being and all life around us.

Also in psychic being we experience ultimate truth, knowledge, silence, harmony, creativity, love, and delight. Timelessness and Infinity are also there.

To Be Titled

Our sole purpose in life is to discover the truth of our being. And what is that truth? It is that we are INFINITE.

Comment: That our psychic being, the evolving soul, lives on forever, across births, until immortal in an undying Supramental , divinized body.

We are infinite, in and beyond space and time.

That through our True Nature, there are no finites to hold us back.

To Be Titled

Our goal is not only to discover the Divine above or within us, but to discover It in every act, in every situation.

Comment: This is where the rubber meets the road on the path of Human Transformation. Where everything, the true nature of the Reality is revealed.

To Be Titled

Why would you want to worship the Divine, when you can become Divine?

To Be Titled

What can we learn from each Experience in our lives that will keep us on the path of realizing our deepest purpose?

To Be Titled

Perhaps the key moment of my life occurred in 1976 when Garry Jacobs asked me "to remember Mother" before each sales presentation when selling for his import company, Mere Cie.

To Be Titled

When you are experiencing half dozen or more Life Response or Synchronicity events in the course of your day, it is an indicator that you are well on your way on the Path of personal and spiritual growth and transformation.

To Be Titled

When you overcome your fear of doing something and then do it, life quickly responds, as startlingly it becomes much easier to accomplish the work than originally thought.

Comment: (I have had this experience so many times over the years!)

To Be Titled

Withholding comment builds up power in the expression and idea.

Comment: It is a form of "silent will."

To Be Titled

Stillness is the greatest power of movement.

To Be Titled

After Chennai floods of a few years back, Karmayogi intimated that vast overflowing waters was a symbol as well as a reality of the people's inability to absorb the descending Grace because of their lack of receptivity in consciousness to inner and outer improvements.

To Be Titled

There are only so many times you can inwardly or outwardly condemn someone for being a fool. After a while, its best to withdraw and let a fool be a fool.

To Be Titled

When you consciously separate yourself from those who hold back your growth, more conscious individuals will soon appear to take their place.

To Be Titled

Defensiveness indicates falsehood lurking.

Breaking Out into the True Truth of Things

Very, very few people truly think for themselves. They are dominated by social convention, the herdal view, the family, the culture, the party line, the propensities of the belonged-to collectives.

They even subconsciously take pleasure in their Ignorance; in the small part they falsely believe is the whole of things.

It is only when we move deep within and discover our true self, our spiritual individuality, - that bubbles up deep, integral truths from the depths, - do we truly break out into the wider expanse of live, revealing the true truth of things.

To Be Titled

While people are absorbed in the small or greater bits of troubling news they encounter, they should keep this in mind: 125,000 people come out of poverty EVERY DAY; and this has been going on for 25 years.

To Be Titled

Moment-to-moment perception of the subtle rhythms and laws of life is Supramental.

To Be Titled

Every moment life is revealing a subtle, yet complex puzzle. Life Response analysis fits all the pieces together into a whole, revealing the integral Reality.

To Be Titled

Rewriting or retyping a quote from Them, instead of merely copying it Is powerful method. It moves the spiritual thoughts closer to reality. I.e. the Consciousness is more readily harvested; the Jeevan realized. Life is now ready to respond.

To Be Titled

Life often rewards you with sudden good fortune when you make the greater effort, go the extra mile.

Family Matters and Response from Life

When life responds negatively, indeed it is a hint of life, perhaps not for the surface ego. When that happens we do not need to dwell on the effect, rather when we fix the cause, the effect gets corrected by itself.

On a higher level, we can offer gratitude to that (negative) effect, not because of that negativity, rather because it helped to reveal the negative cause in us that needs to be fixed.

During my recent trip to home, I didn't have any minor arguments/quarrel with my parents (usually that happens at least once due to nature of my swabhava). So, I had a sense of satisfaction when I return. When I came back and then called them, I received a negative comment during my stay, it was a blow to my ego and hurts.

When I slowly reflect, the cause was so apparent. When I perceived that, I started to smile at life, perhaps that's the detachment. I thought that I had hurt my sister's feeling unintentionally during the trip, so I called her and offered sorry to her. Then I called my parents, the situation all reversed and harmonious in a short period of time.

(SM)

Comment: Recognizing and taking responsibility for the outer negative, and correlating it to one's earlier actions, including the involvement of another party, evokes the response that overcomes the original negative. The incident dramatically shows the process.

To Be Titled

When we experience Life Response in our lives, we are beginning to AWAKEN.

Reader: This reminds me of satguru saying a year back on sivratri "Tonight should not be a night of wakefulness but Awakening".

Response: Spiritually poetic!

To Be Titled

"Any man can make mistakes, but only an idiot persists in his error." –Cicero

Kurt Levin

Kurt Levin, a key character in The Book, who was in a quest for Knowledge, had come in contact with the mysterious Book in 1989, long before it had fallen off the shelves when Dan was at Moe's Bookstore in 2004.

He was also attracted subconsciously to the Artificial Intelligence conference in 2000, yet he was not known to the MAI partners at that time. He even contacted Prof. Stearne after the conference.

He then came to know that The Book was with the MAI team, and he tried by various means to contact them, but not directly, as he believed in the power of US Government, etc..

All his initiatives and personal efforts had failed. He then came to realize that his attitude was wrong. As a result, he came to MAI and sincerely admitted that fact.

He explained, in his own words:

"...Over the past few months I have spent a lot of time asking myself why I lost contact with The Book in the first place and why I was unable to renew that contact despite six years of serious pursuit.

Sitting and listening to the two of you in Washington last week, I finally came to the conclusion that it was my own attitude that stood in the way. I understood that I was looking for a very special knowledge and I finally concluded that I needed a very special attitude in order to find it.

Looking back to 1989, I realized that my aspiration had been real, but my attitude had been defective. I really wanted that knowledge, but I wanted it in order to possess it. I wanted it for the power it would give me. I wanted it for self-aggrandizement, for ego, not for Good. That is when I decided to alter my approach and come to you directly speaking the truth and nothing but the truth. I was convinced by then that nothing good would come from trying to acquire the knowledge of The Book in the wrong way with the wrong attitude. So I have come to you and here I am..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 310)

Life responded for his sincerity and he became united with the MAI team. He came to MAI at the crucial moment, as they could not have progressed further without him.

(SM)

To Be Titled

There are subtle CLUES everywhere to guide our lives. We just need to develop the Subtle Sense to perceive them.

To Be Titled

For each negative attitude you shift out of, you will quickly receive one or several positive responses; often ones that are great.

Devotees' Purpose:

to bring the Higher Consciousness into their lives to help transform and divinize themselves and the world.

To Be Titled

Best not to anticipate what another is going to say, and therefore interrupt the conversation. Let them have their say in full, and continue the dialogue from there.

Mother's Prophecy of Satprem's Book in America Fulfilled

As She narrated to him in Agenda in the late 1960s, Mother told her closest disciple and friend Satprem that his book 'Adventure of Consciousness', about the life and teachings of Sri Aurobindo, which they worked on together for half a decade, would meet with great success in America.

One day as Garry Jacobs and his wife Leslie at Moe's book store in Berkeley, California were reaching for a different book, suddenly Satprem's tome fell on them, leading to their discovering a new life interest and their going to India where they would meet Sri Karmayogi. Their startling, infinitely productive 45+ year collaboration at Mother's Service Society would now begin. (And as a result, my own involvement would soon follow.)

In that great episode, Mother's prophecy of the success of Satprem's book in America had essentially been fulfilled.

To Be Titled

Don't worry about where you're going to go next, what's going to happen next, etc. Instead consecrate, consecrate.

Each time you do, you will be pointed in the right direction, and everything will work out for the best.

To Be Titled

Ultimately we are each here to discover our unique limitations in consciousness and overcome them, which will open us up to our Higher Nature, which is the consciousness of the Supreme, with the infinite power of the Creator to manifest our lives.

We are here not merely to connect with the Origin of all things, but to bring down Its consciousness into the details of life in order to Divinize existence.

A Devotee is not only here to raise his consciousness, reaching the Supreme and bringing it down into his own life for his OWN good, but is also here for the sake of, the good and betterment of the SOCIETY.

To Be Titled

We grow in consciousness by going deep within and discovering our Psychic Being, and from there opening to the Transcendent, and then bringing down its truth, peace, light, beauty, love, and joy into the details of life.

Through Mother (the Supramental Force)

- all decisions are the right ones
- all problems get solved
- all aspirations are fulfilled
- all illnesses are cured
- all thoughts are true ones
- all values are fully implemented
- all attitudes are rendered positive
- all conflicts are neutralized
- all emotions are positive
- all actions end perfectly
- all life movements are harmonious
- all interactions contain goodwill
- all parties benefit
- all viewpoints are respected
- all obstacles are overcome
- all strategies are the right ones
- all bodily systems function perfectly
- all sensations are satisfying
- all opportunities are great ones
- all relationships are joy filled
- all devices run flawlessly
- all activities run like clockwork
- all projects meet their deadlines
- all acts are complete ones
- all efforts are rewarded
- all subtle life patterns are recognized
- all families are affectionate
- all careers reach the heights
- all expressions are convincing
- all silences bring results
- all experiments will reward
- all things lost are found
- all things forgotten are remembered
- all ego movements are shed
- all ignorance becomes knowledge
- all falsehood turns to truth
- all evil switches to good

- all dissatisfaction turns to contentment
- all ill-fortune turns to luck
- all that bothered falls by the wayside
- all failures turn to successes
- all poverty turns to wealth
- all buried secrets are discovered
- all dark forces are rendered powerless
- all the best people come to your doorstep
- all life is fulfilling and sweet
- all confusion turns to clarity
- all sorrow becomes joy
- all pain turns to pleasure
- all negatives are perceived as opportunities
- all things in life get transformed
- all aspects of life are divinized
- all mortal things become immortal
- other?

Reader: Can you explain this a bit more Roy Sir? For example, the first point "all decisions are the right ones", does it mean whatever decision we take we have the power to make it right? Or does it mean something else?

Response: Whatever decisions we make will be the very best as Mother will guide us.

Simultaneous Events

"...Simultaneous events are always related causally or correlated by some common underlying principle or element. Events that happen at the same time are related, even when they occur to different people or on different sides of the planet. There are no exceptions!..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, Page 109)

To Be Titled

When the Positive can no longer further a cause, then the Negative will.

To Be Titled

Welling up Goodwill towards others, rather than mostly caring about what you can get from them, attracts startling good fortune.

Mother's Attempt at the Transformation of the Physical Body

In the past decade or so of Her life, the Mother was working on the physical transformation of Her body, in order to bring about an immortal existence.

Her main focus was to convince the cells of her body of their underlying capacity for unending existence now that She could focus the supramental power on them. She succeeded in getting the cooperation of Her body to make the physical transformation change.

However, She was still left with the dilemma of how to transform the organs of Her body, including the breathing and digestive system, et al into new centers of consciousness, replacing the current gross material functioning. She was in a dilemma how of how to bring this about. How does one change physical, material organs into their subtle center of consciousness equivalents?

She suggested at the end that Sri Aurobindo might return with the New Body, in full consisting of spheres of light and consciousness replacing the current gross structures of the body. In one incident during those latter years, Mother became the supramental being physically in the subtle physical. She looked at Her body and saw that it had become svelte, tall, graceful, sexless, with unlimited capacity, grace, and responsiveness. Also all the internal physical functionings of the body - systems, organs, fluids, et al were replaced with their center of Light equivalents.

This would come to be the being She aspired to manifest in life; a Supramental Being that was both immortal and infinitely flexible and responsive to the descending Force.

Planes of Our Being

Here's a nice image of the makeup of our being. Note that the Spirit is the innermost center. (We could call it the spark of the Divine within us.)

Connected with the Spirit is the Soul, which is the Psychic Being, the evolving Entity that takes birth in the body and then enters other bodies in succession on its journey of Self-Discovery (through the experiences of the individual it inhabits).

Next, the mental being involves thought of the Mind, including fact processing, the beliefs we have, and where rational thinking takes place.

The Vital being consists of our attitudes, feelings, emotions, and sensations.

The Physical Body is just that: the gross, material, container of our existence, including all its systems and functionings.

To Be Titled

Care more about the benefits that can come to others than to yourself, and Life's Benefits will suddenly rush toward you.

To Be Titled

When I am in harmony with everything and everyone, I feel happy and blissful.

(S S Sreejith)

Recognizing Society's Benefit to Us

During discussion, Ray one of the MAI partner asked a profound question "So far we have been talking mainly about the actions of individuals and their consequences. What about society? How do I distinguish and separate the Individual from the social, the consequences of my own actions and the consequences of actions of the society and world in which I live?"

Dan replied:

"Today everyone in society enjoys certain benefits which individually we did nothing to deserve. We reap the benefits of all the collective discoveries of the past—Tom Edison's light bulb, Bell's telephone, the airplane, TV, computer, immunity for polio and many other infectious diseases that used to plague humanity, etc. We take these things for granted and do not think we are being singled out for any special reward. Everyone has access to these things, or at least many people do, and we happen to be among the fortunate. We rarely ask why life is bestowing such wondrous gifts on us. We take it for granted.

But when Hurricane Katrina inundates New Orleans and destroys thousands of homes, we like to think that this has nothing to do with us. Those who lost everything wonder why God has punished them. Those who escaped harm thank God for their good luck. We easily forget that Katrina and climate change are also a natural reaction and consequence of the collective actions of American society over the past hundreds of years and also a direct reflection of our collective unwillingness to accept responsibility for the environmental consequences of our actions, until the rising price of gas forces us to give up our SUVs or the rising sea level forces us to move inland.

We are happy to benefit personally from America's collective development, but unconscious and unwilling to accept responsibility for the consequences of that development. We forget that we too benefit from the ignorance, wasteful evils of the society we live in. So how can we expect to escape individually from the consequences wrought by our collective action?

We are not being punished for our sins, but we are reaping the natural consequences of our earlier actions"

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 321)

To Be Titled

Continuous Alignment with others in space and time is Supramental.

Willingness of Contractor Evokes Cancellation of Difficult Work

Shifting from unwillingness to willingness always attracts good fortune.

A training company was having trouble with setting up the client's 12 computer systems. They contracted with a man to help in the hardware and software setup, but he ran into many obstacles. Still he persisted.

The next day, the training company head asked the man to do something even more trying for the client. The contractor was near his wits end, as he was looking forward to some quieter time, but still he accepted the request. He then immediately drove off to meet with the client, a half-hour drive away, to resolve lingering software installation issues.

At the moment he arrived at the client's site, the client indicated that all problems had been solved! Thus, the contractor was no longer needed, and therefore turned around and headed home!

Because the contractor was willing to make the effort despite the pressures, life responded and cancelled the need for his further difficult work. It was another example of the life response power of Willingness to do what Life gives, instead of unwillingness.

Power of Relating Things from Multiple Disciplines

An entity is greatly enhanced when is linked or combined with a different sort of entity.

For example, in science we can see how we can combine a technology, on the one hand, with an artistic quality on the other - such as astronomy and origami.

Imagine then if we could create links between any discipline, such as physics, and the Subtle Laws of Existence, like Life Response, that spiritual-oriented individuals have begun to reveal. Life would be enhanced in all directions. Infinites would continually break out of the current finites. It is Inter-disciplinary Power taken to a new, cosmic level.

Supramental Solution

When a problem surfaces and when we analyze and solve it using our mind, we solve it based on a limited point of view, and therefore it is bound to have other consequences. When one solves a problem that reconciles the view of all those who are involved, then it comes from Supramental Consciousness.

In The Book, Prof Stearne became aware of the danger in front of MAI team, soon after His first meeting with them. And so He had thought of what needed to be done. And so He took an arduous task, and worked on silently without telling anyone; not even a hint, but magnificently manifested that solution in His own style. When the mystery was revealed, the MAI partners were speechless.

What had He done?

- First and foremost, He preserved The Book and ensured that it remained in MAI's hands.
- He permanently eradicated the danger that was daunting to the MAI team for so many years.
- He guided the MAI partners to manifest their mission and vision which they had dreamed off several years ago; and also brought out meaningful purpose in their lives.
- He manifest the solution that would help not only the MAI partners, but also the entire humanity.
- He thought of reconciling the needs of those who were in the lives after manifesting his plan,
- for example for His servants Juan and Rosa, giving them His entire property.

- He perceived that after His plan was executed, it would create loneliness and vacant place in Dan's life, and so He invited Kristy (Rose) into Dan's life.
- He also reconciled the solution from the Adversaries point of view, as they would not need to chase after The Book again.
- And, many others...

(Based on 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)

(SM)

Gossip, Rumor, Etc. and the Little Life

Gossip, rumor, and interest in scandal are the of the consciousness of the "little life." The worse the news, the greater the intensity for us, and therefore the more we enjoy it. It is shameless and without dignity.

To Be Titled

We may hope for it in the ordinary sense of the word, but Karmayogi says Mother IS Luck.

To Be Titled

Everything in the "little life" is offering us an opportunity for progress. We can bring our higher consciousness to bear in the smallest, most insignificant details to make it an occasion for personal and spiritual growth.

LIVING A GREATER LIFE THAN YOU WERE TOLD BY SOCIETY TO LIVE

When you grow up, you tend to get told that the world is the way it is. Your life is to live your life inside the world, to try not to bash into the walls too much: Try to have a nice family life, have fun, save a little money... but that's a very limited life.

Life can be much broader once you discover one simple fact: Everything around you that you call "life" was made up by people that were no smarter than you -- and you can change it.

You can influence it... the minute you understand that you can change it, that you can mold it, that's maybe the most important thing. To shake off this erroneous notion that life is there and you're just going to live in it -- versus embrace it, change it, improve it... and make your mark upon it.

(Steve Jobs)

Foundational Security of Organization

In Business we can say that Security comes from Organization. Structure of job positions, hierarchy, authority, standard operating procedures, systems, business plans, are all foundational. When they are secure, the rest can follow. It is the solid ground from which all can thrive.

People don't value Organization - they take it for granted -- as they value the expert products and services much more. But everything depends on the foundation of Organization in business. It is the "Security" of the company.

It is the same for Society. There are roads and systems, schedules, means of providing education, ways to pay our taxes, military, police, fire support, etc. etc. We take them for granted, but they too are the foundation of society's physical security in life. Society achieves, thrives on top of the foundational security of Organization.

It is also the same for us as Individuals. When we are in a clean, orderly environment, when we have a to do list and schedule, when we plan our goals, when our computers are structured to meet our needs, when our appearance is neat and tidy, etc. we create personal organization.

When the solid foundation of daily existence is there, then we live in Physical Peace. We can now move to the vital peace of shared emotional experiences. No need to quarrel, as the Security of the physical is there.

In sum, Organization is the foundation that is the Security of Life. That enables us to move to the next plane of higher emotions and clear thoughts that will figure a way to take us to the future. The Spirit naturally does the same automatically.

Laissez-Faire Capitalism vs Human-centered Socialism

The great "battle" of the next generation may very well be between forces that want to hold onto laissez-faire capitalism, which is failing the world, except the rich and super-rich, and the forces that want to bring about a human-centered economics, that is something like socialism, but goes beyond.

Comment: Laissez-faire failure is also one of the reasons that Democracy is starting to fail around the world.

Beginning a Meeting with Someone

When you first have your meeting with someone, - whether a friend, a client, a colleague, a family member, a significant other - it is best to defer to them, to what is on their mind. That will focus the conversation in the best direction, for it to blossom. If you keep up this general approach throughout the conversation, it will end up being sublime.

Higher Consciousness and Discovery

Prof. Stearne's comments in a speech:

"...According to the testimony of our greatest scientists, scientific discoveries are the result of intuition, not experimentation. You do not happen upon the formula for $E=mc^2$ by digging into any number of sand piles or conducting any number of experiments. You discover that formula by opening your mind to a higher way of knowing.

Discovery is an act of consciousness, not a lucky stroke of the shovel or pitch fork. It is a power that resides in the human mind and consciousness, not in the machine which is our instrument...'

(From, 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 21)

Failure of the System

People think this entire era is about Trump and how he represents the negative, and we have simply to do away with him and all will be all right.

But that is only the tip of the Iceberg. The entire Laissez-faire capitalist systems has failed the masses, including the effect of unfettered globalism, automation, wealth inequality, financial impropriety; and thus democracy itself is being challenged because of its inability to solve these underlying problems.

Until we get to these issues, Trumps will appear in new forms, and other disturbances will appear unprecedented in the world's history.

Comment: Collaboration, leading to Global solutions, culminating in Human Unity can solve all such problems. This is the way to the future.

To Be Titled

The more you move to the Spirit, the more one's normal human relationships disappear.

Silicon Valley Can Go Within to Discover New Forms of the Infinite

So many want to expand outward from Silicon Valley throughout the world, and that is quite laudable. However, there can also be a movement INWARD to discover a profound knowledge of the subtle workings of life, captured in software, that can solve the problems of the world; that can evoke unexpected extraordinary positive response from the world around us.

Silicon Valley can thus expand in new directions by going deep within to discover new forms of subtle knowledge that when harnessed can unleash the Infinite for the world.

Grace and Super Grace

When Grace acts, karma is dissolved. When man refuses to believe in karma, Grace acts. When man refuses to believe in his capacities, Super Grace acts. When Super Grace descends on you, it brushes aside your faith in your capacities and acts. (Karmayogi)

Super Grace Comes at Beginning

When Grace comes we get the result at the end of a labor. When Super Grace comes, we get the result in the beginning. (Karmayogi)

Knowledge of the Whole in What We Do

In whatever we do, we should have knowledge of the whole. We should look at all points of view. Knowledge of the whole means the good and bad, the high and low, without judging, without reacting; objectively we should understand where we are. We should not distort things one way or another. (Karmayogi)

Acting from the Highest Value in Whatever We Do

In whatever we do, in any area where we want to achieve unfailing success, we should act from the highest values that are possible for us. Be truthful, honest, clean, punctual, well-organized, generous, thoughtful, kind, and humble. We all know the list. These are not impossible things; these are human values which society has cherished as ideals for thousands of years. At least in this one area where we want to unfailingly succeed, we should be capable of acting from the highest values. (Karmayogi)

Formula for Unfailing Success

- Acquire knowledge of the whole
- Act from the highest values
- Organize time and energy
- Determined enthusiastic energy
- Unceasing effort
- Call Mother

(Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

At every moment you are afforded the opportunity to make the Higher Consciousness decision, which will in effect attract the more positive response from life.

To Be Titled

Life confronts us with darkensses that mirror our dark nature that we try to conceal.

Comment: Eg you harbor ill-will towards someone. In return Life will come along with a person who has ill-will towards you. When you examine the situation you will now see that the outer darkness is reflecting your own inner darkness. It is the principle of inner-outer correspondence, expressed in the negative. So if you give up the ill-will, the same will happen coming back to you.

This dynamic occurs in many instances during a typical day, and dozens of times per week, reflecting other dark attitudes, habits, beliefs and actions on our part. If you are observant you will see these inner-outer connections.

Effect of Little Life

The greatest problem with living the “Little Life” – with its small desires and sensations, its petty needs and ambitions, its dumb repeating habits, its questionable attitudes and values – is that it prevents us from living the Greater Life.

To Be Titled

There is a deeper seeing from within
A greater vision meets us on the heights
In the luminous wideness of the spirit’s gaze.
At last there wakes in us a witness Soul
Then all assumes a new and marvellous face:
(from Savitri by Sri Aurobindo)

It’s not that the Little Life is simply discarded and replaced by the Higher Life, but rather the Little Life is transformed and thereby BECOMES the Higher Life.

Horizontal and Vertical Planes, and the Integral Yoga/Transformation

Q: Just how many planes of being are there?

A: You can divide the planes of the person or life in many different ways. I usually speak of say 12 levels in the “vertical scale” (3 physical/matter planes, ascending through 3 vital planes, through 3 mental planes, through three planes of spiritualized mind), though I suppose you can discover other levels too.

Then there are a number of planes that can be understood in the “horizontal scale,” from the surface to the depth; including one’s surface consciousness, the subconscious, the subliminal being, and the soul/psychic being. Eg a superficial, ignorant person may predominantly live on the surface, while one who has a developed subtle mind perceives the subtle workings of life around him more readily.

The depths behind the surface and ordinary mind - ie the Horizontal scale - include the subconscious mind, which influences one’s decisions positively or negatively, though we are not cognizant of it. Then deeper still is the subliminal mind, which within is in touch with universal forces and sends up positive influences to the surface of our being. And at the deepest depths is the soul or psychic being, which is the evolving spirit and true self within us, which has the greatest transformative power.

Eg In the integral yoga one goes within, shifting one’s consciousness from the surface to the depths (along the horizontal scale), which also has the effect of moving one upward from normal or rational mind to spiritual mind (of planes 10-12) in the vertical scale. “We go in to go up.”

If we consider the power to accomplish in life that includes the spiritual approach to our existence, then we can see that going to the deepest depths creates the most powerful lever to take us to the highest heights of spiritualized mind where we cognize the Reality in its integral Truth, which leads to the most profound insights, intentions, and actions that lead to the greatest successes. Here Life Response is continuous and overwhelming.

Citizens of the World

In the emerging new world it’s best to think less that we are a citizen of a country, and more that we are a citizen of the World.

Gratitude Toward, What Society Is

We feel little gratitude for what Society has given us, though we express deep grievances where we believe it has failed us. Do we even truly know what it has provided us? Do we even know what Society actually is; consists of?

To Be Titled

Why worship the guru when you can become a guru; i.e. become truly conscious and divine-like in your nature.

Emma's Self-Initiating Failure

In Jane Austin's 'Emma' we see the complete failure of Personal Initiative - here of meddling in the romantic affairs of others - not originally sanctioned by Life.

Ignorance to Falsehood

In the general Ignorance of the mind, we tend to see only one side of an issue, and then defend it vociferously. Moreover, we enjoy our limitation of understanding. Hence our Ignorance is emotionalized, and thereby moves to Falsehood.

Valuing Benefit to Audience Attracts

In your presentation always hold dear the value that you really want the audience to benefit, not just that you want to perform well. That will help create the right energies for life to respond positively to your efforts.

To Be Titled

When you do the necessary thing, instead of avoiding it, life quickly cooperates with your effort.

Comment: Example: you are ready to go home, but there are a few important items that you should attend to, such as purchasing several items for your pet and filling up your car with gas.

Overcoming your resistance to do those tasks, you head out to accomplish them. When you do, traffic is lighter than usual, the products are in stock, and in general life seems to cooperate at each turn.

Overcoming the resistance and taking the action quickly opens up life in your favor.

Ascent and Descent when Reaching Supermind

Please keep in mind that when we mention Supermind (in the evolution) we don't just mean that it is the ultimate plane of spiritual mind, but that when we reach, embody that plane, it supramentalizes all planes below it - including the Mind, our Vital being, and our Physical body (and for that matter all matter, substance in creation).

There is thus an Ascent and Descent dynamic occurring as we enter that plane, including Supermind.

To Be Titled

Mathematics can represent any fact of life or truth of philosophy.

It represents the Absolute by Infinity.

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 303)

Gratitude in Everyday Life

We are easily bothered by the expense of certain items, yet do not appreciate so many things that come to us for free or at minimal cost. It is to move from ego-sense to gratitude and appreciation in everyday life.

Problem-Solving through Collaboration Among Nations

Increasingly individual nations will no longer be able to solve its own economic and social problems. It will require collective approaches, strategies, and actions among the countries of the world.

Values and Jeff Bezos' Vast Wealth

Jeff Bezos, the richest person in the world, valued at $160B, became fabulously wealthy by not caring about profits at Amazon; only expanding the business at any cost, and keeping prices as low as possible for the customer. Only in the last year or two did Amazon make a serious profit.

It expresses the spiritual principle that great wealth comes to those who do not care about money, but have the highest personal Values in relationship to it.

To Be Titled

There is no scarcity. We do not know how to use the resources is the truth. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

The Call, Aspiration for the Higher to come into Life helps It descend into all planes of our being, enabling their Transformation, leading to ultimate Delight in the experience; Ananda.

To Be Titled

For every Falsehood in human society there is a correspondence in us of lacking consciousness. If we make a change in that area that is personally false, and offer it up to the Higher Power the corresponding negative in Society will also tend to be resolved. I.e. Life at the Universal plane will respond.

To Be Titled

As Mother gives no occasion to lie, She never gives you a single occasion to ask anyone for a favour. (Karmayogi)

Reader: Dear Mr. Roy,

Can you tell me how to implement the same... With some example too.....

Response: Eg avoid asking-

-for a loan, borrowing from a friend

-for them to pay you a certain salary when job offer was never made

-for others to do something when no relation was established between you.

In other words withhold asking favors of others, and as necessary take responsibility for the situation.

The former is rooted in psychological weakness; the latter in strength. The former attracts negative outcomes; the latter positive ones.

Moreover, in general, it's best when Life comes to you, with opportunities or requests, and you then respond to them positively. It's not so good when you initiate and ask favors of others; especially in a non-binding, non-contractual relationship.

On Our Acceptance of Others' Lying

[I was thinking about the connection between Trumps continuous, brazen Lying and something in ourselves that tends to lie or accept lies.. I found this]

"When people lie to your face, it means you like them in spite of their lies. When they lie about you behind your back, it only means you have not yet acquired the power over lies." (Karmayogi)

Change in Lying, Insincerity, Prejudice, Superiority

The world has witnessed Revolutions against governments. An upsurge against lying, insincerity, prejudice, superiority is on the agenda. A psychological REVOLUTION is the order of the day. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Whatever you intensely try to avoid, you will invariably tend to attract. Detached, Non-reaction and calm introspection is a preferred approach.

To Be Titled

A child's excess energies can be fully absorbed through the mind when she learns how to truly Think.

Life's Powerful Neutrality of Purpose

The dualities like good and bad, good and evil do exist in life. They exist in a sense that they serve a purpose in the overall perspective of the Divine's plan. It's not by condemning or running away from them that we can get rid of them. Rather when we rise in consciousness, when we transcend our ego, we are able to perceive the whole Reality and their purpose.

In Pride & Prejudice, Darcy was good and Wickham was bad is a limited understanding. Both are needed for each others' growth in consciousness, as well as to manifest the Divine (here Jane Austen) plan.

Thus, Life is neutral; it acts according to its laws, and presents opportunity to everybody. The extent we want to utilize that fact and grow in consciousness is a question of our choice.

(SM)

Rejection, Ego and Our Progress

Q: How do we take rejection as a means of our further progress in life?

A: Experience of the emotional state of Rejection is one of Ego. It is a truth that does not square with our desires, so our Ego is offended and reacts. When you develop higher consciousness, then ego reactions such as sense of rejection are reduced. In that higher state we accept the development as part of the flow of life, while understanding what purpose it serves in our lives.

Eg from the experience of being rejected for a job we applied for, we can now consider what we are lacking - in skill, knowledge, experience, approach, intention, practicality, etc. This will make us stronger in the longer term; meaning that the Rejection was actually a positive in disguise.

Results from Business Values

Q: To what extent do business/corporate Values produce results?

A: The actual results (sales, response of the market, revenues, profits) reflect the true value that is believed in when applied in action. Application of the corporate value with emotion in action is the ultimate determinant of the result.

To Be Titled

So-called "Millennials", in constant fear of being laid off, could turn to Socialism for security in a very insecure world.

The Phone Case

A key indicator of a successful outcome is when people come to you instead of your having to go after them, or otherwise struggle to succeed

Eg you are at a store looking for a cover to your phone because the old cover has fallen apart. As you gaze at the display where there are so many choices, suddenly a salesperson comes up to you and asks if she can be of help. You briefly tell her what you want, and immediately she finds and picks out what you were looking for. Moreover, later on when you try it out at home, it works out perfectly, far exceeding your expectations! This is precisely what happened to me today.

In this case, the result came because I committed to saving money by fortifying my current older phone, which was in perfect working order, rather than incurring the unnecessary expense of a new one. As a result, Life cooperated with my decision by attracting the salesperson who instantaneously came up to me, helping me find precisely what I was looking for.

Thus, a confluence of several factors - the maximum utilization of a resource, my taking action for a replacement of a damaged case, and the immediate help of Life through the salesperson - enabled this wonderful result to take place.

All worked together to overcome limits of space and time to create a successful and joy-filled outcome.

On Grace and Lack of Receptivity

Divine Grace comes as pain when there is lack of receptivity in one's being, in the same way cyclone rain comes as Grace but leads to great destruction because the community and its infrastructure were not developed enough to harbor it.

It's a lesson to be learned for the next time, for future understanding, decisions, and actions.

Tolstoy On "Chance"

"...Tolstoy was profoundly right when he wrote in his epilogue to War and Peace that there was no such thing as chance, only events whose cause we do not perceive and understand and therefore appear to us as chance..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 304)

Inner Powers of Negotiation

Silence:

-All great negotiations are in silence. [I.e. the more you hold back from speaking, even thinking, the more it will influence others to your position, or the right one.]

-Where negotiation is not possible, silent action will achieve. [I.e. do what you can to improve things, but keep it to yourself as much as possible. Life will respond.]

Marshalling Unseen Resources

The skill of a negotiator depends upon his knowledge of the unseen resources on both sides and the readiness of his mental action that brings those resources to bear upon the proceedings.

Honesty

What brings a negotiation to a successful conclusion is the honesty of intentions, not the capacity to bargain.

Pleasantness

Every possible emotion of pleasantness fostered sincerely in a negotiation will complete it successfully is a rule.

Mental Attitude

If you are in a negotiation for some months and finally have finished it to your own satisfaction, you know what it was in your mental attitude that brought that success about. I call that an organization of values and attitudes of the mind.

(Karmayogi)

Learning from Previous Failure

Karmayogi gives a simple example on saturating the previous plane. Take an act of negotiating to buy or sell something. He says, "Instead of becoming engrossed in bargaining, go inside yourself, examine the earlier negotiations that failed and identify the reasons for failure. Avoid those errors now, or at least decide to avoid them now. During the next negotiation, you will be conscious of your failures and the chance of failure will become less". This is evolution in consciousness. (RK)

Taking Super Responsibility for What Went Wrong

... imagine that you are moderating a negotiation between two parties. After several days, the discussion breaks down because of a disagreement on fundamental principles. Though you have made a concerted effort to bring the parties together, and have done your work diligently and professionally, an element has crept in that seemed beyond your control, preventing the two parties from coming to an agreement. What I am now suggesting is that even in this case you can take responsibility for the negative outcome!

The reason one can come to this conclusion is because of the fundamental relationship between one's consciousness and the world outside us. The principle of inner-outer correspondence indicates there is anything negative occurring within one's purview, we should be able to discover a corresponding wanting element inside -- no matter how small or trivial -- change that trait, which will then bring about a powerful positive response from life.

Thus, even in situations where we do not see any obvious correlation between the outer and the inner, we can dig a little deeper, discover the subtle causality, and reverse that wanting characteristic, causing outer conditions to quickly improve. This is what I mean by "super responsibility;" another powerful means by which we can quickly change the conditions of life from within. (RP)

Beginning a Conversation

In a new conversation it's advisable to allow the other person to speak of their interests first. And then throughout the conversation it's best to constantly take an interest in what they have to say; focusing on what their interests are, over your own concerns.

As a result, life will respond positively. Moreover, all that you were interested in saying at the outset will be conveyed in due time, and then some.

Not only will the conversation go very well, but along the way, unexpected positive developments are likely to be revealed.

On Contacting Another to Initiate a Conversation

Q: Should I contact another person first, or wait for them to contact me?

A: It depends on the situation. If eg you have some work for them to do, it's best to contact them as necessary. It is possible to practice "Silent Will "and have them call us on their own first in these sorts of situations, but that takes a great inner discipline and patience.

If it is more casual conversation, then if you wish you can wait, and see if you draw them in, after having consecrated the potential conversation (or practiced silent Will).

It's always best to calm down before contacting another.

Also if you contact them and they are busy, it might indicate you are too anxious, or it may not be the best time to connect. Therefore, one can wait, or even forget the matter for a while to put things in their right perspective. Then move or not move as necessary; as Life seems to suggest.

To Be Titled

Internet, web, social network, et al is the individual's experience of the Universal Plane at a subtle material level.

Trade Wars

In response to the mayhem, disruption, and disunity of Trade Wars in the world, there can be acute recoil that furthers, even accelerates cooperation, collaboration, and unity among the nations.

Comment: (Yet another example of how the negative can serve the good.)

To Be Titled

Russian Revolution and its Values energized most of the social benefits that have since come to the world.

To Be Titled

Increasingly the people of the world are demanding social, i.e. socialistic-like benefits, both from the private and public sectors, and among all classes. In fact, the momentum is accelerating.

Accelerating Socialistic-Like Benefits

Increasingly the people of the world are demanding social, i.e. socialistic-like benefits, both from the private and public sectors; and among all classes. In fact, the momentum is accelerating.

To Be Titled

On Socialism's Vast, Quiet Infiltration of Capitalism, Et Al

- Socialism has succeeded abundantly all over the world of capitalism.
 - Socialism succeeded all over the world clandestinely though capitalism.
 - Socialism thrives under official capitalism.
 - Capitalism was compelled to work for socialism more successfully than USSR by a process no one ever contemplated as Silent Will.
 - Socialism is a laudable goal for the society and it still remains so.
 - Socialism in the sense of welfare to the masses has become an abundant political fact all over the world.
 - The right distribution of profits will eventually lead to a kind of socialism.
 - Abolition of monarchy is the dissolution of ego – Democracy.
- Overcoming Nature and ushering in divine nature is socialism.
- Democracy, Socialism, Individuality and Spirituality will rule the future.
 - England, Germany and Russia were given the duty of winding up the consequences of Napoleon's rule. All of them opposed socialism. USA took it up. Socialism of Marx is more fully accepted by USA.
 - Soviet Russia sponsored State Socialism and ended up as a police state.
 - Russia that took up Marx's socialism resorted to violence.
- (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Unconsciously repeating the same old physical habit is a grave digger. Doing things fresh and new, reinvigorates Life.

To Be Titled

Yoga is for yogis, yogic Force is for all of us is my formula. (Sri Karmayogi)

Comment: Yes, it is opening to the force and power of the Divine Mother that alters the equation of Reality, evoking the miraculous in the positive.

Overcoming Habit

-Habits are the physical skills that maintain the surface personality.

-Habits are in the physical substance.

-We see we go back to our old habits, having cherished a new one for some time. It is the conscious that learns, and the substance asserts after some time. Whatever the substance learns is never given up. That is why old habits die hard. Mother calls the process of substance unlearning what it has learnt, transformation.

-Habits die hard. We are not aware of most of our habits as they are subconscious. Mother says even death is a habit of the body.

-Pain dwells in the rigidity of habits.

-Habits persist in spite of a full decision to the contrary.

-The deeply buried habits that are to be given up are not unknown. We are reluctant to be conscious of them and when they present our will has no energy to exert itself.

(Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

You have to be brave when a challenge arises, consecrate the issue, have faith, and do the thing you have to do, with calm and an inner smile.

Life will take care of the rest.

To Be Titled

If you look around you will see that Life is constantly throwing up synchronous circumstance, which are nothing less than minor (and sometime major) miracles.

Going Within to Have Courage to Face Problems

Q: How we can get the courage to face changing situations when we don't have it. Should we consecrate the problem or the solution. Like to be brave in the problem or the problem to be solved.

A: Learn to develop an Inner life. When we are centered deeper within, we are less bothered by outer circumstance, and so are able to know have a clearer, less emotionalized experience, including a clearer understanding of what to do or not to do.

Ordinary life will keep us on the surface of things, of life, where we will constantly be reacting to life's exigencies and problems: being bothered by outer circumstance.

To go within requires one to make the deep Decision to live a Spirit-oriented Life.

One can practice plunging inward as one is moved to do so. It will then cumulate. And the inner (subliminal) being will be discovered, and deeper still the Psychic Being, the evolving True Self.

Then nothing on the surface will bother us. Our equality of being will always be maintained.

It is the beginning of the Integral Yoga.

To Be Titled

Human life is filled with physical and psychological suffering. Transforming these into their evolved, spiritualized equivalents is our Sacred Goal.

A note to devotees:

Life around us pulsates with the practical, mixed with the lower vital. How to be still inside, call to the Force, and perceive how our mere presence can divinize the unfolding circumstance, and transform the forms of life into their divine equivalents.

To Be Titled

It is said that anything - such as a nation - is only as strong as its weakest link.

- Slavery leading to US Civil War
- Class in UK
- Caste and corruption in India
- No democratic tradition in Russia
- Insularity of Japanese
- Fundamentalism in Middle East
- Physical/Material consciousness of Americans
- Etc.

Santa Cruz Episode

Wherever you intensely focus your attention, life quickly crates new iterations of it from out of nowhere in the most astounding ways.

The other day I was reading an article about serious traffic congestion from Silicon Valley to the coastal town of Santa Cruz in Northern California. Is it difficult, winding, and dangerous road.

Having driven this road a number of times over the years, I took special interests and what the writer had to say, especially trying to come up with unique solutions to the problem. I was enjoying this article immensely, even though I was 400+ miles away in Southern California where I now live

As I was completing the article, and with an intense focus, a series of young men walked into the restaurant where I was dining. The one closest to me was wearing a T-shirt that caught my eye. On it wasn't emblazon the words "Santa Cruz", with a picture of a wave in the ocean.

I have never seen anyone with a Santa Cruz T-shirt before that I can recall when I lived in the Bay Area which is not far away from that city, or certainly anyone in Southern California hundreds of miles away wearing such a shirt. So it was an absolute miracle beyond belief that someone would walk in with that T-shirt on, mirroring my intense interest in an online article about the dangerous road leading to that beach-side community hundreds of miles away.

Life always responds immediately to an intensely focused mind by bringing you astonishing iterations of content, corresponding to that deep interest. It's an astonishing phenomenon and truth of Life!

To Be Titled

When one has a desire to be elsewhere and neglects the current work, then if one changes one's consciousness - taking up the tasks at hand - it ordinarily brings an immediate positive response from Life.

Out of Step with Time

Too often people do not want to accept the natural flow of Time. Through forms of unconsciousness - wrong urge, impulse, attitude, action - they interfere with time, falling out of step with it, creating confusion, interference, and other necessary breaches in the outcomes of life.

Goodwill Magnificent Response in Les Miserables

Our acts of goodwill, as it subconsciously aligns with Life's purpose, when Life returns that gratitude in response, it is perceived as Grace.

Dan explains the beautiful incident:

"...In Hugo's Les Miserables, the ex-convict Jean Valjean, who has assumed a new identity and become mayor of a small town, saves a poor cart driver named Fauchelevent from being crushed when his wagon collapsed. After pulling him out, he also finds employment for the old man as a gardener at a convent in Paris. Fauchelevent is filled with gratitude.

Years later, Jean Valjean's true identity is exposed and he seeks refuge in Paris. The police eventually locate him and pursue him on a chase through the streets of Paris until Jean Valjean is backed into a cul de sac with no apparent means of escape. He scales a high wall and lands in a deserted garden. It turns out to be the very convent where he sent Fauchelevent, who finds and takes him in and saves his life by concealing him from the police.

Jean Valjean may have forgotten Fauchelevent many years ago, but Fauchelevent and life have not forgotten him. They return at an equally crucial life-threatening moment to return the favor..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 312)

(SM)

To Be Titled

Politics is dirty, from all sides, all parties. It makes one's skin crawl. There is an element of falsehood in it, no matter the belief, ideology. True Truth remains on a distant horizon.

To Be Titled

True Intelligence lies far beyond brain-power. It is expressed through inner, Supramental Wisdom.

Supramental Transition

Mother says the transition from our human state to Supramental beings is as great as from the ape to Man. And yet some are secretly beginning to bridge that gap. Eg consistent experience of Life Response, including the use of the Mother's supramental Force, is a starting point.

Centers of Consciousness and the Supramental Body

Need for digestion, breathing, procreation, etc. ends for the Supramentalized person, as all such physical centers are replaced with their equivalent Centers of Consciousness.

To Be Titled

Democracy will fulfill itself when politics is replaced by something higher.

To Be Titled

An elected official who doesn't play politics, has high personal and social values, and works for the benefit of the country is a true Patriot.

To Be Titled

Mother will put you in impossible situations, which when you have Faith, She will fully resolve for you. These will turn out to be great yogic learning experiences.

Living for Others

Live for others in a work in a smaller domain and life will respond and give you the opportunity to live for others in a much larger one.

To Be Titled

So many moment-to-moment Subtle Signs, Life Movements are occurring that we miss. They are constantly indicating what to do, and what not to do. Unfortunately, we are asleep, oblivious to their presence, lost on the surface of our lives.

We tend to focus on single issues—and do not pay enough attention to the overriding issue of where the globe is heading... There needs to be a greater sense of urgency to confront the globe's looming problems.

(Keith Suter, Cadmus Journal)

On Inner Causes of Health Disorder

-- When something goes wrong with the Inner being there is a corresponding disorder in the outer body.

-- Persistent physical disorders of the body that refuse to go are a sign of resistance to change.

-- The health disorders of my children have to be seen in the context of their spiritual sadhana. Otherwise they cannot be understood.

(The Mother)

-thanks to N. Asokan at MSS

Corporate Value Implementation

Corporate Value implementation includes, conversion of the value into a policy and the policy into an objective for each facility, commitment and active responsibility by top management, establishment of standards and rules, on-going training, systems for monitoring and enforcement, middle and lower level management responsibility, regular meetings and involvement of all personnel on a daily basis. (Garry Jacobs)

Corporate Values at the Bottom Level

The most powerful corporate values are not the ones that are preached and practiced by top management. They are the ones that penetrate through all the layers of the organisation down to the bottom, where they are implicitly followed often unconsciously. (Garry Jacobs)

Natural Negotiators

-Perfectly reasonable cooperative people appear to have a strong potential to become effective negotiators.

-Profile of effective negotiator seems to reflect a distinct set of co-operative as opposed to stereotypically competitive traits

-Skilled negotiators avoid defend/attack spirals, emotion-laden comments, assigning blame or disclaiming fault.

(Priya Mahesh)

Comment: They have natural capacity of non-reaction

To Be Titled

Silence silently, subtly links people together in synchronous experience, while ceaseless chatter has the opposite effect

To Be Titled

The outer, surface mind can no longer handle the ever-increasing intensities and exigencies of life. An Inner Mind that is still, yet open, that silently observes the world, is the means by which we can address and resolve the increasingly complex issues of the world.

To Be Titled

Unwillingness to address the partial truth of another when condemning their entire position is a sure indicator of Ego at work.

Having All Perspectives Simultaneously

We only see our own position, perspective relative to the unfolding situation. Yet circumstance demands knowledge of ALL perspectives simultaneously. When we develop universal and then Supramental Consciousness we will have this complete moment-to-moment Knowledge of the Reality.

To Be Titled

The Supreme Conscious-Force aspiring to come out, to reemerge in the unfolding of creation is the compelling cause of the Evolution.

To Be Titled

I belong to no nation, no race and no religion but only to the Supreme. (the Mother)

To Be Titled

When the positive can no longer bring about the necessary change, then the negative will.

Example: Nations of Europe had the opportunity to work together in early 20th century, but they each pulled in their own direction. WWII was then instigated by the Nazis. After that quickly came the United Nations, the European Union, and the end of colonialism by UK and others.

Goodness always returns. In Pride and Prejudice:

--Charlotte's goodness and caring for Eliza - her noting that Darcy cares, - enables Charlotte to get married (to Collins) through Bennet family.

--Eliza's goodness, caring for, protecting Jane, enabling Eliza to get married in future (to Darcy)

Overcoming the Mania of the Tragic

When people write me long letters (what letters I receive! laments all the time: my health is going wrong, my work is going wrong, my relationships are going wrong – laments all the time), and I always see, behind, that Consciousness, luminous, magnificent, marvelous – sun-filled, you know – exactly as if to say, "Whenever will you be cured of that mania!" The mania of the tragic and the lower.

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 8, 1965)

To Be Titled

Demonstrating psychological strength, courage, and fortitude during trying times, releases a torrent of energy that comes back as enormous positive response from life.

To Be Titled

The negative comes to open the door to, reveal a new, unexpected positive.

Life's Contradiction Reveal Higher Truth in 'Miss Mackenzie'

Life poses contradictory conditions, which no fault of ours, comes to reveal greater truth; and when one decides to go with the flow of life, it responds in its own fashion.

In the story, 'Miss Mackenzie' by Anthony Trollope, after spending most of her adult life nursing her dying uncle, and then her invalid brother Walter, Miss Mackenzie inherited a significant fortune from Walter at his death. However, at one point of time she lost all that money to her cousin, John Ball, as he was the rightful inheritor.

At the end of the story, despite the fact that she had rejected the earlier marriage proposal by John Ball, she married him? who soon became Sir John Ball; and as a result she became The Lady, also becoming quite popular in society.

Though it appeared that she had lost all the money earlier, life posed that contradiction only to reveal the goodness of John Ball to her.

(Paraphrase of 'Savitri' lectures by Garry Jacobs)

(by SM)

Comment: The negative comes to open the door to, reveal a new, unexpected positive.

To Be Titled

T. Natarajan of South India (aka Sri Karmayogi) - the greatest multi-dimensional thinker in the world over the last 50 years. No one else has come close.

Comment: His contributions are in the fields of economics, history, education, literature, principles of life, evolutionary spirituality, creation theory, business, work, human psychology, sociology, Indian development, supramental transformation, etc. - each filled with hundreds, thousands of unprecedented-in-the-world thoughts. Over 10,000 breakthrough conceptions, previously unknown to the world

To Be Titled

A multi-dimensional spiritual genius of a type unknown before. If an individual has given 100 original ideas he is considered great. Appa has given the world 100 or 1000 times that.

To Be Titled

Plus he has evoked staggering change for the world and his followers through inner spiritual and psychological power.

To Be Titled

Consecration opens the mind in trying to solve a pressing problem.

Soul and Past, Present, Future in Now

As we approach the evolving soul within, the psychic being, moment to moment time perception in the present shifts to Timelessness, or rather past, present, and future all together, fully accessible in the Now.

To Be Titled

Psychological Strength over weakness saves the day.

Return of 2008 Troubles

I believe that backtracking on the national and international financial constraints in response to 2008 global crisis has the greatest power to attract an unprecedented global economic convulsion. It's according to the laws of karma. I.e. if you backtrack on a positive that restrains a vicious negative, it quickly comes back in one form or another with a ferocious force.

To Be Titled

If you want her/him to change, first change yourself accordingly.

What Happens is Always for the Best?

In connection with an old Playground Talk of March 14, 1951-

[Devotee:] I feel like asking you a very simple question. You say here, "If we always had the feeling that what happens under any circumstances is the best, we wouldn't be afraid...." Is it truly the best that happens under any circumstances?

[Mother:] It's the best in the given state of the world - it's not an absolute best.

There are two things: in a total and absolute way, at every instant, it's the best possible with regard to the divine Goal for the whole; and for someone who is consciously attuned to the divine Will, what happens is the most favorable to his own divine realization.

For the whole, it's always, every instant, the most favorable to the divine evolution. And for the elements consciously attuned to the Divine, it's the best for the perfection of their union.

(from Mother's Agenda, May 19, 1965)

To Be Titled

Truth is buried deep beneath narrow-mindedness, ideology, frenzy, emotion, and ignorance.

To Be Titled

Often negative forces' actions are sanctioned by Nature to shake things up, allowing the positive to break through in this difficult way.

The Little and Greater Life

We are so caught up in the details of ordinary life that we fail to ask the essential questions of Why are we here, and What is our purpose. We need to substitute the ordinary Little Life with the Greater Life of deeper purpose and meaning.

Collaborating with Will of Divine Mother

The Divine Mother wants to manifest Infinity in Life; manifest the Supreme on earth and in each of us. And we are here as Her representatives to manifest Her Will in Life; to be the instruments that help create a Divine life on earth.

Our True Purpose

Whatever we have in life, whatever we have gained, in the end is not our true purpose. Our True Purpose is to manifest the Spirit in life, fulfilling its and our higher Intentions in the world.

To Be Titled

So many great things are there in the world because people felt revulsion for certain negative aspects that appeared, and were motivated to bring about something better.

Beyond Spirals of Change

The world moves ahead in Spirals of Change. It is Nature's slow and difficult method. However, through, utilizing Spirit the dips are negated, as change occurs through the positive; ie it is Self-existent, without a Dark Shadow.

To Be Titled

To be One with another person is True Love.

Mental (Not Spiritual) Values of West that India Lacks

You have asked about my comments about western writers. It is true the westerners have not acquired spirituality. It is also true that in spite of our spirituality we have not acquired the mental culture. Mental culture makes the country prosperous. Prosperity brings popularity. Values of integrity (கொடுத்த வாக்கை காப்பாற்றுவது), punctuality, orderliness, self-respect are great values which we do not have. There were no Indian stories in which I can illustrate these. All the stories I quote from are full of these mental values. (Karmayogi)

Comment: This is explained in great detail in Karmayogi's book 'Spiritual Opulence'

To Be Titled

Every year Mother would summon Her devotee and great composer Sunil Bhattacharya to compose New Year's Music to match Her yearly message. Here is one of my favorite years, 1972, of New Year's music by Sunil. It honors Sri Aurobindo's Centenary that year. Mother indicated that his music, including compositions for Savitri, was of a type that reached sublime peaks of consciousness beyond anything She had ever heard..

<http://sriarobindolighttrust.org/.../70111.../New Year 1972.mp3>

Material vs Psychological Progress

Our progress at the material level - eg smartphones, hyperloop, atomic level changes to matter, etc - is continually accelerating; while our progress at psychological level - ego, selfishness, desire, et al - is hardly changing. The transition from our focus at the material to the psychological and spiritual is key to our personal growth and happiness; to the survival and expansion of our human potential, to the possibility of transformation of our nature to something unimagined.

For What Purpose?

We get solutions to problems; but then what? Mother solves a conundrum for us, and we develop Faith. But Faith for what purpose? Just to solve more problems? Is there something deeper, greater that we aspire for; that we want out of life? Or are we happy to simply float along and see what happens? Let us go deeper Within and consider our lives.

High Values of Phileas Fogg Attracts

Genuine goodness without any mercenary motive never fails to return as Gratitude at the time most needed.

In the story 'Around the World in 80 days', Phileas Fogg took on an extraordinary challenge to travel around the world in 80 days for a great wager. As he experienced numerous obstacles along the way, he faced them with calm and equanimity. As he was a detailed planning person, it helped him in his quest.

At one point of time, he came across a ritual in which an Indian princess was forced to undergo sati. Out of genuine goodness, he rescued her from that situation and then brought her with him.

Also, at one point his servant Passepartout was caught by Red Indians. He realized that later on, and he then went after and rescued him with the help of American soldiers.

At the end of the journey, it appeared that they had reached the goal later than the stipulated time and so they apparently lost the wager. He apologized to the princess that they now had to live in poverty, given that the wealth was lost. Upon hearing that, Aouda, the princess confessed to him that she loved and wanted to marry him. So he sent Passepartout to arrange for the marriage ceremony. Passepartout went to the town and came to learn that it was only December 21st, as they had gained one day by travelling from east to west!

Fogg quickly rushed to the Reform club and reached there as punctual as ever, and won the wager!

(SM)

Treating One's Smaller and Larger Customers

Companies should treat small customers equally to big customers, even in tough times, such as when there are shortages of product. That indicates a higher value of customer delight beyond revenue and profit motives.

To Be Titled

Along with great beauty, there is great misery in life. Our goal then is - through our higher consciousness - to overcome the latter, while heightening the former. It will take the full Will of one's Life's Purpose to help bring about that eventuality; that Divine change.

Leonard and Adam

Another startling experience: (at least several happen to me every day)

Just listened to a radio interview with legendary songwriter and poet Leonard Cohen's son Adam, who collaborated with him on a final set of LC poems, and he also took care of him with a walker in his final year.

I then walked into BKing restaurant and standing there was an elderly man with a walker wearing a somewhat rumpled dark suit and tie with an old man's hat; exactly like LC dressed. He also looked very much like LC.

He then proceeded out of BKing, slowly and in pain, just like LCs last year of life as Adam explained in the interview.

The man was practically the only person in the restaurant.

To Be Titled

To educate for individuality is to allow the pupil's inner capacities to develop to their fullest extent.

(World University Consortium - WUC)

Money vs Human-centered Economics

In a Money-centered economy corporate profits and weaponry come first. In Human-centered economy Education comes first. We have a choice of which approach to embrace in future.

Response to Breaking Through Challenging Situation

Each time we get through an unprecedented challenge, - say in a particular work we have not been involved with before, or for a very long time - life immediately turns around and offers us considerable work in that same area, or in another area we had hoped to one day be a part of. In other words, breaking through such challenges quickly opens up doors of opportunity. This is a common subtle phenomenon one readily perceives along the Way.

To Be Titled

Patriotism that is exclusive is poisonous; that is inclusive, serves the country well.

To Be Titled

India can help China become more democratic.

GRACE

by SM

It appears to enter as a stranger in our lives,
It appears to pose as contradictions to our surface needs,
It often presents itself to us as shocks or surprises,
And sometimes, It does act miraculously, from out of nowhere.
It comes to us with so many conditions, such as,
We might be destined, but ignorant on the surface,
Our soul might be seeking, but occupied with surface life,
We might be stranded in a problem, lost our capacity and hope,
And we might decide to call Mother out of despair,

And so forth -- in all such variations.
 Not because It comes in an unfamiliar form,
 That we could not perceive It,
 Rather we could not see It,
 As we are blinded in our ignorance and ego.
 In the essence, It comes to us,
 According to our state of consciousness,
 And what we need in the depths, indeed,
 It does not need our support,
 To enter and act in our lives,
 Yet often, It awaits the right moment and intensity.
 As It enters in our life,
 With a sole purpose in its mission,
 It does everything It could,
 To awaken us from the ignorance,
 To shed our surface ego,
 To align us in the cosmic plan.
 And to give us, lead us, to what we are destined.
 Instead of ignoring or running away,
 As we accept whatever comes to us,
 And embrace life in the right spirit,
 Eventually we would come to know,
 Neither had we been tested nor punished,
 Rather we had been blessed and guided by It.
 As we continue with our higher consciousness,
 It would reveal the Marvel to us,
 And presents us Infinite possibilities,
 It is GRACE...and It is Unconditional.
 For Darcy, It came as Elizabeth's humiliating abuse, (Pride & Prejudice)
 For Dantes, It came as unjustified punishment, (The Count of Montecristo)
 For Jean Val Jean, It came as the Bishop's unconditional kindness, (Les Miserables)
 For Dan, It came as The Book falling off the shelf. (The Book)
 And now, It is the Hour of God,
 The Grace need not come as hardship to awaken us,
 And It seeks us to shower its Higher form,
 Despite It comes to us in so many ways,
 There are times, the Grace gets disappointed,
 And not able to shower its gifts upon us,
 Not because It couldn't give,
 Rather because we couldn't receive.
 As we continue our lives, insist on our ignorance,
 And act according to the state of our swabhava,
 Silently withdraws the Grace,
 And awaits the next right moment and intensity.
 As the Grace showers from above,
 Our values from below make us receptive,
 And to let the Grace acts in our life.

As the Grace awaits to bless us always,
The corresponding inner work,
In order to align with Grace,
Also awaits on us and the choice is ours.

Hippy Movement that Endures

The hippy movement originated in the USA as a revolt against the establishment. It was the distance beginning of the emerging individual. Though they were absorbed by the society later, the spirit of their revolt is still alive. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

Which one do we want to live: the Little Life (typical, average, mundane); or the Greater, Higher Life? It is our choice.

New Mental Orientation When Stationed in Psychic

In the Evolution we shift from mind to the psychic being within, behind the heart. As a result, mind moves from mental churning to its spirit equivalent; where we have regular experiences of intuition, illumination, and then universal and supramental perception (truth consciousness).

Simplicity of Explanation

"If you cannot explain something simply, then you don't know it well enough." (Albert Einstein)

This is my common experience as an instructor! The more integral the understanding and knowledge, the more likely it can come out as a simple pearl of insight that is useful to others.

Blockchain and AI Together

The unfettered, decentralized, democratic, cumulative knowledge-centered, highly efficient, integral nature of Blockchain technology in tandem with Artificial Intelligence (AI) may prove to be a technological boon to the world.

To Be Titled

We know so much about the material world, but so little about the immaterial, subtle worlds and their effect upon the physical.

Doing What He Could Do Attracts for Instructor

If you find yourself in a tight position, such as waiting on something critical to arrive, and you are not sure when it will come, if you can do anything you can in the meantime, the object of your desire will arrive that much more quickly.

An instructor had a number of classes quickly coming up, and yet he did not yet have the training materials necessary to go through the courseware. He asked they be sent through his training company supplier, but he did not know when it would arrive. He estimated anywhere from a few days to a week.

Meanwhile, he worked with the information he already had, which was stored in uneditable PDF documents. As it turned out, within one hour of taking up that somewhat mentally taxing task, the package with the materials he desperately needed suddenly arrived via UPS!

When you do all you can in a pressing situation, Life will cooperate and bring you what you are after; especially if circumstance are offered to the Spirit for consecration.

Perception of Time in Work

When you are mentally fully absorbed in a work, the time element seems to disappear. It is a subconscious, willful-less phenomenon. When you open to the Spirit you are Consciously bringing the timelessness of the Divine into the unfoldings and movements of time. Results are thereby sped up, made ultimately efficient in terms of time, and harmonized, divinized

Resenting One's Success

There are people who will be jealous and resent one's success, which may cause them to penetrate a chink in one's psychological nature. Therefore, it is best to remain humble in one's accomplishment, as well as not react to others' ill-will should it come.

To Be Titled

We need great Voices around the world, not tied to political parties, advocating unprecedented solutions.

Negative Forces Fulfilling the Divine Plan

It is an irony of life: those who act against the Divine's plan become an instrument in one way or another to manifest that plan in the flow of life.

In Pride & Prejudice, Darcy had interfered in Bingley's marriage earlier. Later on he became an instrument by turning Lydia's elopement into marriage and brought back Bingley to Jane's life.

Lady Catherine, who was vehemently against intermixing of classes, the final confrontation of her with Elizabeth and further informing to Darcy, reconciled the last piece of the puzzle in the manifestation of Divine's plan, i.e. social evolution.

(SM)

Comment: Perhaps we can say that there was not quite enough positive energy to bring things over the top, to their consummation. And when the positive forces cannot move things further, the negative ones, like Lady Catherine's interference, will serve that purpose, do the trick.

To Be Titled

Life, including all our experiences, is Consciousness teasing, tempting us to awaken from the Unconsciousness in our selves.

To Be Titled

Life is tempting us to awaken in Consciousness because Life Itself is trying to awaken in consciousness, thereby fulfilling its Universal Purpose.

To Be Titled

We are instruments of Life, of Mother awakening the Spirit, the Soul buried within us so a Divine Life can flower.

From Loss of Jobs Due to Automation to Emerging New Jobs

in recent years it has very much been the case that vast quantities of jobs have been lost to automation. However, new technologies, job types will arise to take the place of the jobs that have been automated.

In fact automation is there in one sense so that we can do even more important tasks; expand our thinking capacity in work even more.

Despite all of the cynicism, new types of jobs will merge from every field, and new fields to come. Because we don't see it, we are cynical.

Best to get out there, explore the opportunities that are there in one's industry or otherwise emerging in society; take them up and change new world. We can each aspire to be a Steve Jobs or similar, or we can simply sit there and weep.

To Be Titled

Everything around you, as well as yourself, are expressions of the multiplicity of the One.

Avoiding Global Financial Calamity

Global financial calamity can be avoided if countries work together; in one another's interest. On the other hand, pulling apart insures catharsis.

Nature of Fascism

Fascism takes place when ignorance (wrong notion) and falsehood (emotionalized wrong notion) lead to malicious action based on the previous two. Another name for it is Evil. We are thus today (2018) on the edge of fascism in America.

Leader Nations in the Future

USA held the world together since the end of WWII. But now (2018) it looks as if that is no longer the case. It is perhaps because her consciousness has not gone beyond the Physical plane. (I.e. stuck in the surface, material view; unable to see deeper into Life.)

To lead in future, it is necessary to break through such constraints, as it is necessary to have psychological and spiritual insights and capacities.

It is here that India can serve a great purpose; in tandem with other nations who also have or seek to develop such higher levels of consciousness.

To Be Titled

Only a road paved with Miracles can take us to our destination.

Comment: Q: Could you further explain?

A: Yes. You reach a point on the spiritual path where you are given great challenges, and it is only by surrendering to Mother or similar can they be overcome, which unfolds through miraculous-like conditions. Extreme Faith is required.

To Be Titled

No sense living in fear, as it only energizes, attracts the object of fear.

To Be Titled

When you have a problem, offer it to the Mother (consecrate); do whatever you can to improve things, but don't fret, replacing it with calm, still Faith in Her. Great things will follow!

To Be Titled

People who are great in one generation often become reactionary, anachronistic in the next.

To Be Titled

Put your faith in the Supramental Power, in Mother, and less in doctors and pills and all.

Pad Man Transcends the Social Atmosphere: Life Responds!

Pad Man is the film and true-life story of an Indian mechanic who developed an inexpensive sanitary napkins for the masses of women in India, - despite virulent opposition from members of his narrow-minded community.

However when he exited the town and their thwarting hostility and shame, - leaving behind their ignorance and superstition, - life quickly opened up for him and his venture, to the point where he became world famous and even spoke inspirationally before a great gathering at the United Nations.

When an individual steps out of a hostile environment, doing all that he could, life takes over and introduces him to immense possibilities. Our hero in essence saturated his efforts at the first plane, which opened up enormous opportunities for him at the next plane, and the next!

Mother's Unexpected, Unprecedented Solutions

There are times when if you offer a problem to Mother, She will not give you the solution you are after, but subtly points to an even better, unprecedented resolution. If you recognize and take it up, it will amaze, build up your Faith to a higher level, plus give a wonderful solution and opportunity that you can use well into the future.

To Be Titled

According to the ancient spiritual principles, it is true that we do not owe anything to anyone else, except to discover our own Soul and true Individuality. It is also true that we cannot indulge our false ego-Self, separating ourselves from the word around us, including others.

Our Level of Consciousness, Computers, and AI

Bill, one of MAI partners in the novel 'The Book' asked:

"...In many books and films, we come across the idea of computers developing themselves until they finally become more intelligent than human beings. Why can't we ask AIS to develop itself?..."

Dan replied:

"...If our aim was simply to design a faster processor or a more efficient set of algorithms—a better way to run through the maze—then what you say might be possible. And after watching movies like The Matrix, it is no wonder that you should ask.

But here is where science and science fiction diverge. Our objective is to enhance human capacity for accomplishment in life. We are not just trying to build better physical systems like a faster racing car or faster computer. We are trying to create better, more effective living systems that consist of human beings acting and interacting freely and creatively, working in cooperation or competition with one another. Well, the capacity for accomplishment in life is a direct function of our consciousness. The more conscious we are of life, the greater our knowledge of how human beings, organizations of people, social groups evolve and develop in the wider plane of universal life.

Computers are a human invention. They may calculate faster than we can, but they can only become as conscious as we are and as we program them to be. They can create data and analyze information, but they cannot create consciousness. Only human beings can discover or awaken consciousness and program it into computer systems.

Before we can program AIS with that knowledge, we have to acquire it ourselves. We have to grow our own consciousness before we can create a more conscious system...."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 327)

[thanks to SM]

Instantaneously Overcoming Any Life Limitation

There is a radical shortcut to overcoming the limits of time, the distance of space, the long-term problems of life, and all sorrow and grief. It is the power of the Force that when evoked instantaneously overcomes these limits. It is the miracle of tomorrow available today. It is Sudden Good Fortune through the Supramental Power that awaits our call in any given moment of our day.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo, Mother, and Karmayogi ask devotees to give up Gods and Temples. They ask us instead to progressively, sincerely evolve our nature and open to the Supramental Power: Her Force.

To Be Titled

If only we could be idealistic, noble, and aspirational for a Higher Cause, it would give great purpose and meaning to our lives.

JP Morgan and the Panic of 1907

"...In 1907—six years before the founding of the US Federal Reserve—the failure of the Knickerbocker Trust Company precipitated a major banking crisis that threatened the collapse of the entire financial system. Even the government seemed powerless to avert disaster.

The US Treasury Secretary called on a private individual, J. P. Morgan, to salvage the system. Morgan applied his acumen, knowledge, and reputation to corral the New York banking community into backing a cooperative plan that saved the system. What the Fed could not do in 1929, one man accomplished during the Panic of 1907..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 264)

Comment: Like Churchill, a conservative, even reactionary character was forced by life to be progressive. He gathered all the bank leaders together and developed a method of funnelling money from big to small banks at a time of financial panic. It would later prove to be the beginning of the Federal Reserve (the Fed) of America which stabilized the money supply for over 100 years. It shows the power of changing an attitude, or one's nature in the name of saving a higher cause, here the nation's financial stability. It also shows that one man can save the world.

To Be Titled

Disappointment and failure are always pointing to something higher; to a greater realization.

Comment: Eg something untoward happens in our family. However we come to realize that because of it we are motivated to change direction and pursue a new possibility that then takes us to the heights. The disappointment subtly pointed to, opened the door to a greater possibility. We can learn to develop this type of awareness at all times; regardless of circumstance.

Beyond Opaque Perceptions of Life

The scientist, the materialist have little or no understanding of the subtle laws and forces that lead to outcomes, that govern circumstance in life. Nor can you teach them these subtle principles. At some point they need to spontaneously have the experience themselves. Then a bit of light will penetrate their opaque perceptions of the world.

To Be Titled

From one perspective there is no positive or negative. There is just what is, and what isn't.

Scooter Synchronicity

Lime is an app-based system for renting electric scooters in USA. I was reading an article on how one can become a "Lime Juicer" to pick up and recharge the scooters on the street after being used by the renter.

At one point in the article I read the words to the effect "low battery power," in reference to the recharging process. At that very instant a message popped up on my iPhone, telling me that I now had "low battery power".

Comment: One reason this occurred is that several hours before I had an intense interest in trying to figure out how the Lime and Bird scooter systems worked, noting them on the street, and explaining this information to a friend.

To Be Titled

When the mind focuses like that, Life returns the favor and brings more information about it from out of the blue. It can also take this miraculous-like synchronistic form.

—

I have had hundreds if not thousands of such dramatic synchronicities in my life. Perhaps half dozen a day in recent years, and accelerating.

It is one expression of Supramental existence.

To Be Titled

Without Failing there is no waking up, without Ignorance there is no knowledge, without mistakes there is no learning process. (Priya Mahesh)

To Be Titled

Worry or fear is failure to go Deeper.

To Be Titled

Often there reaches a point where if you want something to succeed, you need to move your attention away from it.

Mother's Supramentalized Senses

"It's rather strange, this eyesight. There always seems to be a veil between me and things, constantly; I am so used to it; I see everything very well, but as if there were a slight veil. Then all of a sudden, without any apparent reason (an outwardly logical reason, I mean), a thing becomes clear, precise, sharp (gesture: leaping to the eyes) – the next minute, it's over. Sometimes it's a word in a letter or written somewhere, sometimes it's an object. And it is a different quality of vision, a vision ... (how can I explain it?) as if light were shining from within things instead of shining on them: it isn't a reflected light. It isn't luminous, it isn't like a candle, for instance, or a lamp, not that, but instead of being lit by a projected light, things have their own light, which doesn't radiate.

It's becoming more and more frequent, but with perfect illogic. Which means that I don't understand the logic of it at all; I don't know why this thing ["lights up"] rather than that thing, or that rather than this: suddenly something leaps to the eyes – "Ah!" – and it's gone in a flash. And the vision is so precise! Extraordinary, with the full understanding of the thing seen while you are seeing it. Otherwise, everything is as if behind ... is it a veil? I don't know.

Sometimes (often), the same thing happens to me with speech. I feel as if I am speaking from very far away or from behind a woolly substance that blunts the precision of vibrations. In its extreme form, it's because of this that I sometimes don't hear – nothing: when some people speak to me, I hear absolutely nothing. With others, I hear the drone of a sound devoid of meaning. And with other people, I hear EVERYTHING they say. But it's a different way of hearing: what I hear is the vibration of their thought and that's what makes it very clear."

(from Agenda, June 2, 1965)

To Be Titled

Some people say Silicon Valley advocates failure. But I believe that is not quite accurate. Rather SV ACCEPTS failure when it comes as a mean to greater understanding that leads to an unprecedented success.

To Be Titled

Great physical ordeals, like life-threatening catharsis can awaken one inside; revealing various aspects of the Mystery.

On Leadership

A few extracts on leadership from the novel The Book by Garry Jacobs:

"...The first requirement for effective leadership is self-respect. Without that others will never respect your capacity or authority.

Too many leaders act just like the devotee. When all they have to do is remain open and flexible and alert for the next wave of change, they stick their heads underwater or into the sand and drown from what? Blindness and rigidity! You don't have to be a genius to survive and succeed in business, but you cannot afford to insist on what you know, what you like, what you prefer, or what worked in the past.

Society is ruthless in demanding what it wants next and quickly forgets past services rendered. It is loyal only to itself and to those whose only allegiance is to society's needs rather than their own.

Leaders who do not fall prey to premature ossification often succumb to an equally fatal malady by thoughtless imitation of every latest fashion or fad. Changing with the fashion is a surface movement. The real power of social change lies in movements in the depths..."

(compiled by SM)

Calling Bell

In our house, our calling bell rings with (a song) a sanskrit Gayatri Mantra.

For the past few days the bell was not working properly and so I switched off the bell.

Today I thought of what may be the problem and why is the bell not working and I switched on the bell and ringed 3 times. Only blurry sound came just like when we tune on the radio.
(கர ன்னு சத்தம் கேட்டது)

Then suddenly when I rang 4th time..

The bell rang and Gayatri Mantra was perfect.

Thank you Mother for your Grace 🙏🙏🙏

(Devi Mirra)

Joining the Forces of Silent Change

The old mental order is crumbling or going through intense pressures, making the way for Something Greater. The Higher is also coming through subtly and Silently, while most on earth are consumed by the intensity of the change and the difficulties of their own lives.

It is then a matter of choice to join the forces of Silent Change. We can partake in this quiet process, ushering in a new-type person, a new society; spirit-oriented and supramental in nature.

Comment; Why "Silent Change"?

Most change is very public; out in the open. Here - in developing this higher self, higher human, in building this new world - it is mostly undetected, beneath the radar of societal tumult. Sri Aurobindo says the new world is being born while Man is asleep - preoccupied with so many other matters, the problems of their times, their surface interests. ... This new world is being built mostly undetected. Silently the great Change is being made.

To Be Titled

Artificial Intelligence itself won't save humanity, but evolved human consciousness that knows the Reality and its subtle life laws, blended with AI predictable capacity, can.

To Be Titled

Mother's supramental Force is the ultimate solution to humanity's problems.

The Lake House

In Pride & Prejudice, Elizabeth visited the Pemberley estate, astonished by its beauty, and thought from the depths of her being that she could have been the mistress of the estate. As a result, Darcy appeared in front of her sooner than expected, surprising her.

One question that arises is how could a thought in the present moment affect the acts of the past since Darcy had changed his plan a few days earlier, deciding to come back early to the estate? How we strain to understand this reality through our minds as it seems illogical.

It is because we are limited in our perceptions of Time and Space; as our minds cannot perceive such things, as it is itself limited in capacity and point of view. However, our higher and deeper Consciousness can.

The Truth of the Reality is that it is One, and we all are connected in consciousness; not only in the present moment, but to the past and future as well.

Unfortunately, the thing we are preoccupied with is our surface existence. And yet we would be able to perceive this triple time capacity in the Now by going within into our depths, to our Psychic being, where Time is synchronous in the past, present and future. From that poise one change would affect another; and results would happen instantaneously, from out of nowhere in the present moment. We would perceive this unfolding take shape as a 'Life Response'.

Hollywood science fiction and fantasy movies like Arrival, Interstellar and many others help us visualize this dynamic. 'The Lake House' is one such beautiful, romantic love story that portrays the concept throughout the film.

In the movie, Dr Kate witnessed a tragic accident on Valentine's day of 2006. Out of her genuine goodness and attitude, she tried her very best to save him but she couldn't. Though she had handled many cases in the past, this one greatly disturbed her emotionally. She was not aware of the reason why at that moment.

And so as per her friend's advice, she travelled for peace of mind, and finally ended up in the Lake house where she lived a while before. In addition, her deep emotion puts her consciousness in alignment with Alex who had lived there in the past exactly two years behind her time.

The story unleashes beautifully between them, despite the fact that they were two years apart, as the mailbox served as the medium to exchange their thoughts of consciousness. It is very beautiful to witness how the present moment of Kate influenced Alex's life (who was in the relative past). Also, the actions he took made an impact on Kate's life later on in her own time. For example, there was the tree which Alex planted on her Racine apartment; the Persuasion book which she lost in the station that was recovered by Alex, and many other such startling, time-abridging incidents.

As a result, both lived two years of their lives very deeply connected to one another, though they could not perceive that in their real time as events unfold by themselves. Even though they met each other in the past, they could not perceive that they were meant for each other at that moment. It's like Darcy not recognizing Elizabeth as her soul mate when they first met at Meryton, despite the fact they were meant for each other.

Kate and Alex were then out of contact for quite a while. And yet at the end, - on Valentine's day 2008, - she understood that it was Alex who died in the accident she witnessed earlier. She then rushed to the mailbox to prevent him from coming to meet her, and asked him to wait two more years in his time from 2006 to 2008 in order to avoid that horrible incident. Something in Alex also moved him to go to the Lake House that day and receive her message. The movie ends beautifully with his real time arrival in 2008, and so they were united at the Lake House again. Though it is difficult to comprehend by mind, it is not impossible for this to happen.

As such, the movie gives us awareness. We are the creators of our own destiny and we can manifest that Reality by going within. What else could we do, as we are stuck in surface living and limited by ignorance, time and space?

And the movie gives us awareness that in life nothing happens by chance. And by being conscious, aware and act according to the laws of Life Response, we can quickly align with the Reality that is subtly manifesting. For example, though Alex and Kate met each other in 2004 at a birthday party, they were not conscious of that fact, and therefore they had to go through long series of events before finally reuniting in 2008.

(Roy Posner & Senthil Murugan)

Comment: [Inspired by Senthil's words, I went ahead and watched the film again last evening. I had the following additional thoughts:]

-it is said that a desperate prayer does not fail to produce the results. At the very end, in a state of utter desperation and despair, Kate got on her knees and asked the universe for help. Alex arrived (across time) a moment later.

-It can also be seen in life, that self-givingness gives back from the universe. At one point Kate says that the one thing that gives pleasure to her in her career as doctor is the satisfaction of helping others. Life returns the favor in relation to Alex.

-Sri Aurobindo says that from the highest perspective of consciousness, we have power over past, present, and future in the Now. From a psychic poise within, we have this power. These fantasy films show that power superficially or in terms of a clever scheme, but in the end it is still true after all. As Senthil points out, we see this in science fiction films like Interstellar and Arrival. In all three films the triple time are interconnected backwards and forwards, instead of the normally perceived linear flow of time.

Love is an added power that abridges the three times states into one. That's because true Love is yet another property of the Psychic, the evolving Soul within.

Tales of My Name

My Hebrew/Yiddish middle name given at birth is "Yakov", which translates as "Jacob" in English. I have known and worked with Garry Jacobs for 43 years, whose associations radically altered the course of my life.

My first name is Roy, which turns out to be a common Indian name in parts of India. Why was I born with this name in America, yet have a very close associations with many Indians? Perhaps the answer is obvious - in terms of Consciousness- from the question!

Eg a famous autobiography, also touching on his association with Sri Aurobindo - 'Pilgrim of the Stars' - was written by his close disciple Dilip Kumar ROY. And that turned out to be the first book I read that touched on the life of Sri Aurobindo.

In fact, a few years back, Indian passport officials assumed that my last name was Roy, though it was actually my first name; and because of this discrepancy among various documents, refused my visa application!

Physical and Subtle Physical

Everything that now exists in the physical/material plane once existed in the subtle (immaterial, invisible) physical plane.

Therefore all that will come to be in this life now is formulating and existing in the subtle physical.

For example, it is said that Sri Aurobindo, who left the material plane in 1950, is working out the Supramental Being in the subtle physical, which will one day manifest in this material life.

Raising One's Energy Level

"...A simple, practical technique for raising one's energy level:

Call energy. Open yourself psychologically and invoke energy to descend and enter into your personality.

The idea sounded so simple that they tended to dismiss it as a gimmick of some sort, until one morning Anya reported that she had tried it with remarkable results. She had been working late the night before on a very tough problem, finally quit in frustration at 3 am, and spent the rest of a short night on the couch in her office. The following day she resumed the work but found by 11 am her patience and mental concentration were thoroughly exhausted. She lay down on the couch but could not sleep, so she sat up and imagined that her mind and heart were spreading out simultaneously in all directions. Then she started calling energy as in a silent prayer. She reported that within five minutes her mind was totally refreshed and she felt energy coursing through her nerves and body. She went back to work and within an hour had solved the problem that had been perplexing her all the previous day and night..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 63)

To Be Titled

All our disappointments are hidden opportunities ready to emerge.

To Be Titled

We often go through endless repetition of the negative until we see into it what can be learned, enabling us to make a great progress.

To Be Titled

"Heaven on earth" is not the Life Divine. It's a mere projection of what we think would be best; not the true, unprecedented positive qualities that would make up that Divine existence, transcending our imagination.

To Be Titled

A good or great thing coming to us is but a Glimpse of a Divine Life. When the glimpse repeats endlessly, and in endless variation, then the Divine Life is upon us.

To Be Titled

An aspiration, a hope is the awakening of the Spirit in us.

To Be Titled

We are not here so Mother can fulfill our aspirations, but so we can fulfill Her's.
(And as a result She will give us that which is beyond our wildest imagination.)

To Be Titled

Mother acting through us for the sake of all around us and beyond is the highest relation we can have with Her.

To Be Titled

Life is communicating with us at every moment, through subtle and not so subtle signs, trying to awaken us to something Higher.

Our aspirations for the New far outdistances our Gratitude for the positive developments that have come to the world in the recent past.

To Be Titled

If you want to change something untoward in the world to something good, change the corresponding element within yourself. Eg if you want harmony in the world, try to harmonize the different parts of your being. Or if you want peace in society, go within and discover a deeper peace in your heart and being.

To Be Titled

When you are regularly opening to the Truth Consciousness (i.e. the Supramental), you spontaneously align yourself with forces that prove to be great successes; whereas in ordinary life, it is very much hit and miss.

Non-Reaction to Beating Attracts

Two saint-like men came into a filthy village in India. They aspired to clean up the mess. One day as they walked around town they saw a drunken husband beating up his wife. It had happened many times before.

However, rather than rush to the wife's rescue they remained very still; they did not react. Most shockingly a minute later, the woman turned on her husband and started wailing on him, shouting that she would never be beaten by her husband again.

That is the power of non-reaction. Life suddenly creates unexpected, miraculous-like positive conditions that rectify a horrible situation.

To Be Titled

When spiritual-oriented people turn to the good, the positive in a particular area, it tends to have a universal effect.

To Be Titled

In a high consciousness environment, an individual showing egotistic tendencies may suddenly find himself challenged by a humble individual with the same or greater talents. The higher atmosphere has that type of influence.

To Be Titled

Thinking Mind is very helpful, but it can also get in the way. Not thinking can then intuit the result.

Becoming Genius in a Field

Ramanujan the Indian mathematical genius became so by silencing his mind completely and opening to the divine universal energies. Intuitions of mathematical insight then poured into his mind that he then transcribed on paper. Theoretically any human on earth can follow the same and become genius in a given field in no time at all.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo and Mother's teachings are so different from the Indian tradition, that scholars of Indian spirituality misread it. It has a radical modernism and evolutionary perspective that they don't appreciate, let alone grasp.

Comment: The evolving Psychic Being and Supramental plane and consciousness are dramatically different concepts and realities than the Indian tradition.

To Be Titled

God lives everywhere and in everything, and you will be able to see Him if you can find Him deep inside yourself. (The Mother, from Agenda, June 9, 1965)

To Be Titled

Wherever there is fear, change it to stillness and faith. Life will then be on your side.

To Be Titled

When you try to create progress in the present for the sake of the future, and there is a problem that arises, it may be a warning from the future not to pursue that course. However, if you consecrate the situation, such karmas can be dissolved.

To Be Titled

Populism, in its varied forms, is due in large part to liberal democracy's inability to create prosperity for all.

To Be Titled

If life can't progress any more through progressive means, it progresses through the calamity of regressive forces.

Comment: example: The nations of the world refused to work together in harmony between 1918 and 1939, which would have been progress through the positive. Instead Hitler came along and tyrannized the world, leading to deaths of many millions. Yet after WWII ended, in response to the horrific events the United Nations was formed, British Colonialism came to an end, the European Union was formed, etc etc

In other words, because life couldn't progress any more through progressive means, it progressed through the calamity of regressive forces.

It also happens this way in our own lives.

World Academy

Global Governance: Challenges & Opportunities

A Roundtable & Planning Workshop

Inter-University Centre, Dubrovnik – November 22-24, 2018

The world we live in presents challenges and opportunities beyond the capacity of even the strongest, most developed nations or group of nations to effectively address without working in concert with the rest of humanity. Peace and security, climate and environmental management, immigration and population, trade and investment, technological development and employment, tax evasion and money-laundering, drug traffic and terrorism compel us to seek global solutions backed by institutions with the capacity and authority to conceive, implement and enforce them. None of these issues can be effectively addressed at the level of individual nation states pursuing their own self-interest in competition or conflict with that of other nations or by bilateral agreements or regional groups of nations. All necessitate increasing and unprecedented levels of cooperation and collaboration by the global community as a whole.

We live in an increasingly globalized world, yet our instruments of governance remain anchored in antiquated, flawed and largely ineffective national level institutions guided by narrow perspectives, misguided priorities, competitive strategies and mutually exclusive objectives. Global governance remains an artificial appendage or after-thought forged by the compulsions of necessity rather than consciously conceived and designed as an integral and essential component of a comprehensive and effective system for human self-governance.

Humanity and its institutions have, no doubt, evolved dramatically from the time a few centuries ago when international relations were decided by the whims of monarchs and ambitions of colonial empires, enforced by the exercise or threat of violence, enshrined in bilateral treaties and alliances, modified to suit the apparent advantages of the moment, and founded on principles of self-interest and balance of power.

Today the world is governed by myriad institutions at innumerable levels, including international governmental institutions, charters, conventions, treaties, rules of law, committees, systems, multinational and national corporations, non-governmental organizations and associations relating to peace, security, justice, trade, economy, finance, transport, communication, education, science, technology, culture, religion, entertainment and other fields.

In spite of this multiplication of pathways and instruments for governance, the rapid evolution of global society continues to outpace the development of institutions to guide, monitor and manage the increasing range and magnitude of the opportunities and challenges that arise. The growing gap between the needs of humanity and its prevailing system of institutions severely retards our collective progress and threatens to undermine the foundations of peace, security, freedom and stability on which the gains of the post-World War II and post-Cold War world have been achieved.

This three-day roundtable cum PG course will explore the recent challenges and opposition to the continued evolution of global governance to identify the key drivers of global social evolution, critical obstacles and impediments, the most desirable goals and effective strategies to further progress toward their realization. It will build on insights derived during the Dubrovnik Roundtable on the Future of Democracy (April 2018) and the Paris Colloquium on the role of international organizations in global economic governance (May 2018). It will seek to draw insights from multiple fields—economy, politics, law, human rights, civil society, media, education, science, technology, psychology and culture—and explore the interdependences between them.

<http://www.worldacademy.org/.../iuc-nov-2018/global-governance>

To Be Titled

My life is increasingly filled with a torrent of synchronistic miracles.

To Be Titled

When you are in Mother's consciousness, something or someone you have identified as significant, of great potential, that is now very obscure, unknown, soon rises from out of nowhere into great utility, success, renown, and fame.

To Be Titled

Do your duty; don't procrastinate. Life will surely smile on you.

To Be Titled

Taking to the deeper truth, values behind a situation has a greater life response power than doing what is seemingly practical.

To Be Titled

You can pull someone out of their fixed belief system with a persuasive argument build on a practical truth, but it will only last a moment, as they will quickly jump back into their narrow view, which will continue on for the rest of their lives.

Reader: In these situations, can we accept the other person's point of view completely? Is that the right way?

Response: In a given moment one can accept their point of view in order to evoke the best positive conditions. Longer term if you truly have higher, deeper values than the other person, and you perceive their view as never-changing, then stick to your own truth.

Ascent to and Descent from Supermind

It is by rising to the summit of consciousness through a progressive ascent that one unites with the Supermind ...

... it is by REDESCENDING through the levels of the being with a supramentalized consciousness that one can accomplish the permanent transformation of physical nature.

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 6, 1965)

To Be Titled

Everyone is hungering for things on the outside, when they can be found - and infinitely more!
- Inside.

To Be Titled

Just beyond the Darkness - the contradictions and divisions, -
a Unified World is being born.

To Be Titled

People want benefits from the Deity; but few want to become like, evolve their consciousness like the Deity.

To Be Titled

First question to ask oneself: "what is my purpose in life?", "why am I here?"

Reader: Asking is easy but who will answer and from where I get answer

Response: from deep within; by developing an inner life.

To Be Titled

A special inlet of the Self, of the Spirit of All in the cosmos is behind the heart; an evolving soul; a psychic entity and being.

To Be Titled

The deeper you move within, the more you come in touch with the Truth Of things.

To Be Titled

When negative forces gain power, it sooner or later galvanizes the positive forces to become even more positive.

On Encryption

To encrypt something is a superior idea that comes from a thinking mind with the purpose of securing life from harm. However, like all technologies it is neutral, meaning it can be used for good or evil.

Eg the evil Germans in WWII communicated their military intentions to one another by encrypting messages sent among its attack ships. The British in turn broke their encryption by using other computer technologies, and ultimately secured victory at sea in the Atlantic theater of the war.

Today we encrypt files to keep away snooping eyes. It shows that some secrets are worth protecting, concealing. It is not the opposite of truthfulness, but a form of silence and a way of protecting what is rightfully ours.

From Nationalism to Internationalism in History

The two World Wars of this century where fifty million people died for their nations were the symbolic destruction of the human physical rigidity characterised by nationalism. The end of the Cold War, the vital extension of the World Wars, gave rise to globalisation and thinking in terms of internationalism. (Karmayogi)

Avoiding Grief at the Outset

Often we don't act to correct a serious problem until it dramatically presents itself. Then through suffering we painstakingly overcome the problem. However if we were conscious enough we could have perceived the problem in the first place, avoiding pain and grief. Subtle and not so subtle signs, indicators presented themselves, but we lacked the capacities to read them or the will to address them.

To Be Titled

Social movements move society forward, driven by pioneer individuals.

Withheld Predictions Attract

Avoid outer verbalization of a prediction. Keep the vision secure and still in your mind. At the point you detach yourself from the prediction - with any sense of "I'm telling you" or "I told you so" gone - the withheld prediction will come to pass. It is a form of "Silent Will" in action.

To Be Titled

You cannot truly know the truth of your field unless you relate that knowledge to the truth of related fields. In that way you build up Integral Understanding.

To Be Titled

Sri Aurobindo says we have been progressing from city states to nation states and now on the cusp of Global structure and outlook.

Rise of Asia is key to global prosperity, wherewithal, and psychological growth.

India as Arbitrator in New World

I believe India will increasingly become the great arbitrator of differences and disputes in that region (Asia) and outside it; on its way to becoming the "Guru of the world."

To Be Titled

Through Life, we are awakening to OUR purpose. And through us, Life is awakening to ITS purpose.

To Be Titled

The Mother wants to bring down all the Divine qualities into Life, - peace, harmony, knowledge, truth, power, love, delight, infinity, and timelessness, - and She wants us to collaborate in that process.

To Be Titled

When you identify with not just your own aspirations, but the aspirations of Humanity, your efforts will be great for others, as well as yourself. You will partake INFINITELY in the rewards because of your Universal intention.

To Be Titled

The power of Life is not from the outside; from out there; from externals. The power of life comes from Inside; from Consciousness within.

To Be Titled

"We" are not born over and over. Rather our soul, our true self, our psychic being is repeatedly reborn in its journey and quest through time to discover - through the person it inhabits - the integral truths of existence.

To Be Titled

Whatever your mind focuses on, more of it soon appears, from out of nowhere!

To Be Titled

We can evoke those qualities we desire from another person by changing the corresponding qualities in ourselves.

Emerging Social Movements in the World

What the world needs are progressive Social Movements. Such movements spearhead dramatic social change.

Eg the hackers who developed the pc, smartphones, internet, and web in Silicon Valley and elsewhere were part of a social movement. I got to see it up close.

New Age global thinking is another movement. Human based economics can be a third. And so forth, in ways we cannot even imagine. A World Parliament. A World Army. A New Education. Etc are other possibilities

"In Search of Excellence" movement based on the book helped revolutionize individual empowerment in the workplace in the 1980s, itself an offshoot of America's 1960s and 70s generation rebellion against authority movement.

Even USA's recent taking to multi-culturalism has roots in that same movement amongst the hippy generation, who embraced a myriad of other cultures, eastern religions, spirituality, clothing, music, folk arts, etc.

In India the recent movement has been against corruption at all levels. They are sick of it. Also a movement away from filth and uncleanness. It is starting to become abhorrent to them.

There are even trade unions of a sort emerging in China!

Environmental degradation is fostering any number of sub-movements.

Even so-called "California Cuisine" - i.e. healthful smaller portions of meals using locally grown produce was a movement originating in Berkeley and spreading around the world.

And the Student Free Speech Movement, also originating in Berkeley spread to eastern Europe in the 70s and 80s, beginning the liberation of those countries from Soviet oppression.

In all of these and countless others we see that Social movements happen when deep social values are engaged.

Comment: Additional Recent Movements:

- The 1%
- # MeToo
- Cryptocurrencies
- Corporations solving Americas problems - like recent $300M/year tax on corporation to end homelessness in SF (led by Salesforce)
- Global immigration Rights
- March for Our Lives (gun control)
- Privacy in technology
- Arab Spring
- Occupy Wall Street
- De-Nuclearization
- World Governance
- Social Media
- Net Neutrality
- Artificial Intelligence
- Corporate Citizenship
- LGBT rights
- Democratic Socialism
- Mindfulness
- Yoga
- Populism

- Globalism
- Nationalism

To Be Titled

Social movements happen when deep-seated social values are engaged.

To Be Titled

God Organized the universe. We can at least Organize our own lives.

To Be Titled

It is said that what you do - in relationship to an issue, idea, etc. - is more important than what you say. However, what you deeply BELIEVE IN and ASPIRE to happen in the world are even greater than these.

To Be Titled

If dealt with in the right way, out of the negative can come new energy for success.

To Be Titled

Shift from wanting a thing for yourself to aspiring it for everyone.

To Be Titled

The movement of consciousness exceeds the speed of the thinking Mind. (Karmayogi)

To Be Titled

For the nth time, an apparent negative turned out to be a positive in disguise.

The Sadhak's Work for Sake of Divine

The work which the sadhak of the supramental yoga has to do is not his own work for which he can lay down his own conditions, but the work of the Divine which he has to do according to the conditions laid down by the Divine. Our yoga is not for our own sake but for the sake of the Divine. It is not our personal manifestation that we are to seek, the manifestation of the individual ego freed from all bounds and from all bonds, but the manifestation of the Divine. Of that manifestation our own spiritual liberation, perfection, fullness is to be a result and a part, but not in any egoistic sense or for any ego-centred or self-seeking purpose. This liberation, perfection, fullness too must not be pursued for our own sake, but for the sake of the Divine." (Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

Life brings good with the bad. Spirit only the good; actually Great Good.

To Be Titled

Our goal is to discover the Spirit in Life so we can discover what Life is really meant for; what purpose it serves.

To Be Titled

Hell is Life without the Spirit; a war of Life between good and bad, happiness and suffering, pleasure and pain. Heaven is Life bathed in the Spirit, with no dark side, only a neverending, ever-accelerating Great Good unfolding.

To Be Titled

Life will never give up, it will keep pressing, until it discovers its own Divinity, its own Eternity; its own Infinity. It is we through our Higher Consciousness that makes this possible.

To Be Titled

Everything that happens to us in life is to awaken the Consciousness within us.

To Be Titled

The only creation for which there is any place here is the supramental, the bringing of the divine Truth down on the earth, not only into the mind and vital but into the body and into Matter. (Sri Aurobindo)

To Be Titled

Synchronicities accelerating is an indicator of emerging supramental (truth) consciousness. Nature accomplishes through a process of turning contraries into complementaries. It does so slowly and painfully. Supermind, Mother's Consciousness does the same, but quickly, even instantly, without any difficulty; and without any residual negativity for the next round.

To Be Titled

Once you stop complaining, things that aren't working out suddenly start to work.

To Be Titled

... everything is a question of changing the habit. The whole automatic habit of millennia must be changed into a conscious action, directly guided by the supreme Consciousness. (The Mother, from Agenda, Jan 22, 1966)

Man's Subconscious Opening to Superconscious

When your subconscious is in touch with the superconscious, the universal, Life leads you to your destiny.

Eg a man open to the spirit one day decided to go to a spiritual center in his new town. He went there seeking spiritual sustenance with like-minded people. However when he arrived he was immediately directed to several spiritual oriented people who had founded an import business. The man then went to meet them, joined their company, and his inner and outer life would be changed forever.

His inner being that was subconscious to him - that which he was not consciously aware of, - was open and in touch with the wider universal plane, causing Life to guide him toward his destiny.

To Be Titled

The aim of romance is a self-existent joy in ever-increasing intensity seeking to become infinite. (MSS)

To Be Titled

Life is inextricably One, as it was/is One at the Source.

To Be Titled

Synchronicity reveals that Oneness in spades to an evolving consciousness.

An ungenerous person acting generously immediately attracts significant financial benefit to his person.

To Be Titled

Avoid anticipating, expecting the negative. You just may attract more of it.

To Be Titled

How can we have an Inner Life - with all the powerful and profound benefits it offers - if we are continually living on the surface?

To Be Titled

When you softly, consciously interact with objects, things, - instead of handling them roughly, unconsciously - you begin to sense how each one is an expression of the Divine Reality. I.e. how objects, things are material formations of the Divine Reality.

To Be Titled

HE who explained the nature of Reality. The Divine Source of things. The process of creation from spirit to matter, The purpose of life and where we are headed. HE who revealed and brought down the transformative Supramental power into the earth's atmosphere. Who envisioned the next stages of human existence, culminating in a Divine Life on Earth.

To Be Titled

Physical consciousness individuals will not change their fixed position no matter how compelling the evidence in the opposite direction. At that point Life may take over; harshly driving them down until they submit.

Ascent and Descent

by SM

As we aspire,

As we become conscious,

As we rise in our consciousness,

We start to perceive,

How hard, how difficult, how unfortunate events are.

Although they appear on the surface as such,

Are they not also part of the Reality?

It is in fact what we are learning – which we can call “the Ascent.”

But there is more, as Life then does its part in return,

By evoking possibilities from out of nowhere,

Behind which are opportunities for greater progress.

And it goes further still, ready to reveal the Marvel.

And that demands that we not to stop in the middle,

That we continue the process of Ascent.

Then we can internalize and apply that wisdom in the next situation.

And when we do, it would be the next phase of learning,

The lessons now applied downward into Life,

And that is – “the Descent.”

When Reality struck so hard on the surface,

When Lydia eloped suddenly in Pride and Prejudice,

The family's prestige was hanging in the air,

And the future of the other daughters came into question.

Then Mr. Bennet realized,
He should have listened to Elizabeth's advice,
He should have been more responsible,
Then he went further, beyond that thought,
And travelled to London by himself,
Searched for them throughout the city,
Yet, it was all in vain, as he returned with nothing to show for it.
And yet at that intense, misfortunate moment,
He took a stand,
He perceived that all that took place occurred only because of himself.
And now, because he blamed no one else, except himself,
He took "conscious responsibility,"
And that was the moment of Ascent for him.
But Life had not forgotten his Ascent,
And It responded through Mr. Gardiner,
Who brought surprising news, much sooner than expected,
That Lydia had married Wickham,
And Mr. Gardiner had made all the arrangements,
Also he spent a vast amount of money,
To convert that elopement into a marriage, thereby saving the day.
And yet Mr. Bennet did not stop at that level,
As he took another stand.
Despite, the fact he had little money and did not how to earn such,
He decided from the depths of his being,
To repay Mr. Gardiner, no matter what,
And to honor honesty and return with gratitude.
And the next moment proved to be the moment of Descent.
As the atmosphere was ripe,
As he subconsciously aligned with the Cosmic Plan,
Before he took any further step,
Life revealed its Marvel;
With the sudden arrival of Bingley,
And the surprise marriage of sisters Jane and Elizabeth;
Without the need of any money on Mr. Bennet's part.
As a result, not only was the family's prestige restored,
But they were financially and socially elevated to greater heights.
And so in our own lives,
We may not know how to distinguish,
The acts which we undertake,
Whether in the Ascent or Descent.
And yet it does not matter.
Life demands us to simply be conscious,
In all that It brings to us,
And apply our higher conscious knowledge.
And by doing so,
Not only will we evoke response from Life,
But these moments will be filled with ultimate joy and delight.

Comment: Ascent and Descent is incorporated in Sri Aurobindo's symbol. The triangle going up is the Ascent, and the one going down is the Descent. It is our Aspiration from below calling to the Divine above (Ascent) who responds to that call as Grace (Descent).

To Be Titled

The more you go within, into the depths of one's being, the more you go up, ie are more inclined to consecrate, to offer one's actions and issues to the higher power.

It is also true the more you go up, ie consecrate, the more your center of consciousness will be centered within; in the depths of your being.

To Be Titled

... as the Manifestation grows more perfect, the necessity of destruction decreases, to the point when it will disappear and will be replaced by the process of progressive transformation. (The Mother, from Agenda, March 4, 1966)

To Be Titled

We are content to perform our tasks in the ordinary way, which leads to ordinary results; instead of offering the act to Mother, to the Supramental power, which evokes the Miraculous.

To Be Titled

Restraining yourself from action or expression compels the other person to approve it, or carry it out for you.

To Be Titled

Each time we break through a negative - such as admitting one's fault, or overcoming a wrong attitude, or putting aside self-pity - sudden good fortune comes to us from an unexpected direction.

To Be Titled

Anger is never justified, as it indicates a flaw or missing capacity or lack of understanding on our part.

To Be Titled

Our commitment should not be to our point of view of the situation, but to the Highest Consciousness we can bring to bear.

It is clear - very clear - that what for us is translated as progress, as progressive manifestation, is not only a law of the material manifestation as we know it, but is the very principle of the eternal Manifestation.

(The Mother, from Agenda, March 4, 1966)

Comment: One interpretation: The material progress we make in life, that society makes, mirrors the laws and means of progress of the Divine in its eternal, ongoing Manifestation.

Also note that the processes of Creation are similar. Eg starting with an Idea, followed by a Will for it to become real, and then an energy of action that leads to material manifestation.

Pursuit of Values vs Profit

Pursuit of values generating more profits than pursuit of profit only is an achievement of the Spirit. (N. Asokan MSS)

Contraries Reconciled

Reconciling contraries and turning them into complementaries is very normal for the Spirit.

(N. Asokan MSS)

Reader: Roy Posner can you explain further. Not understand the essence of this Response: There are ongoing conflicting relations in life - eg between two spouse, or boss and worker, etc. Though they are contraries, contradictions to us, they are secretly complementarities waiting to emerge.

Life evolves by contradictions becoming complements. The Spirit more easily makes this happen. When one or both of the conflictive takes to Spirit, the Force, or connects with the soul inside, the conflicting aspects dissolve and the higher harmony, including the complementarity between them fully emerges. What seemed conflictive was the basis of something higher.

Spirit is thus higher consciousness method of progress, of turning contradictions into complements. Their disagreeing behavior masking their true complementarity.

Reader: Thank you sir

Yesterday in monthly meeting, my boss son, who is half of age abused me for not done, what he has asked me to do. Initially I got annoyed, angered and I made up my mind to give him back in another way (tit for tat). After coming to him, prayed to mother. Suddenly recollected my experience in the book "life divine teaching" so prayed to mother to remove (change)-the subhava in me(which attracted my boss's son abuse).

Also tried to move from surface to spirit (by calling mother).

Now I understood this abuse is for higher consciousness to evolve in me

Thanks for your post

Response: Yes, the challenge, the conflictive situation has come to us to awaken our consciousness. In this case, to remember to take to Mother; now and in future situations. And to have greater Faith in it.

Past Consecration

Past consecration undoes wrongs done in the past and opens up avenues for present and future accomplishment. (N. Asokan MSS)

Failure as Stepping Stone

Failure in the present is only a stepping stone for greater future accomplishment is the law for the Spirit.

(N. Asokan MSS)

Consciousness Responsibility

One person accepting "consciousness responsibility" leads to the resolution of a whole crisis where many others are involved. (N. Asokan MSS)

Disappearing Problem

A long-standing problem disappearing in a second is something habitual to the Spirit. (N. Asokan MSS)

Token Act

Perfection in a token act bringing great results for a composite act where many parts are defective is a sign of the power of the spirit. (N. Asokan MSS)

To Be Titled

The Spirit promotes growth by demolishing obstructive institutions. (N. Asokan MSS)

Ascent and Descent in Spirit-based Problem Solving

To solve a problem through Spirit there is a movement of both Ascent and Descent. Eg say you have a problem; whether at the physical level as pain, or as lacking funds at the vital level; or as confusion at the mental level. You then gather yourself and call to the Spirit, with deep, intense Aspiration. This is the Ascent; the Call from below.

The Spirit is then activated and moves down into the problem with power, knowledge, and will, and resolves it in full. This is the Decent.

In fact, whenever you solve a problem, with or without involvement of spirit there is the ascent, descent dynamic.

Eg let's say you have a scheduling problem. This is at the vital level/plane. Now you activate the mind to think of ways to resolve it. If you are lucky, intelligent, aware, etc you may easily solve it. Most times it's not so easy.

Let's say you come up with a solution. So far all of this has been in the Ascent. When you then take action based on your mental analysis to resolve the problem, you have engaged in the Descent.

We go up in the Ascent to a higher plane to try to resolve a problem that is at the current (lower) plane, and then there is a Descent down from the higher plane down into the original lower level to make it happen; to manifest the solution as real in the world.

The planes we ascend and descend in are as follows:

- Spiritual (highest)
- Mental
- Vital
- Physical (lowest)

Thus any time we have a problem, we can consider what plane the problem is occurring at and therefore which higher plane we can solve the problem from. Once there, we can consider solutions.

Feelings and emotions of the Vital plane is a hit and miss plane to apply solutions from. Use of Mind is a good problem solver, but does not always reveal a solution. On the other hand, the Spirit is infinitely more powerful than these, and ordinarily never fails to resolve the issue. Moreover, if we develop our consciousness, the Spiritual plane and its infinite-like power can become our never-ending, Miraculous-like friend.

Reader: Thank you sir

It is basically step back and call mother.

But in real life. Due to urge, instead of step back, the first 3 levels started working/ acting , leaving the spirit behind.

Spirit will not come into act till we call IT.

Why spirit is not coming to act without calling.

When others are in act always 24x7.

How can we make sprit to act in our life 24x7

Response: It's because we live on the surface, not in the depths. In the depths - the inner being, - we are more likely to open to Mother and Her Force. We feel the possibility of the Spirit more often as a choice around us from this deeper center of being

To Be Titled

When the Spirit is active, quantitative limited growth can be replaced by qualitative endless growth. (N. Asokan MSS)

Power and Peace

What's lamentable above all is the way men confuse power with violence. That sort of ignorant feeling that thinks power must manifest as violence.²⁶ Violence is an asuric deformation. True power acts in peace – a peace like this (gesture of massive descent), which nothing can disturb. (The Mother, from Agenda, March 19, 1966)

To Be Titled

If we can't acknowledge existing progress, then we have no right to condemn when it is lacking.

To Be Titled

The more we make fun of someone, the more they will demonstrate ways to be made fun of.

To Be Titled

The Being within Knows, while the mind ruminates and fumbles.

Comment: I.e. station in the inner being, and therefore the inner mind, there percolates into one's thoughts precisely what to do and what to avoid, leading to right decision and action; whereas mind needs to consider various sides, determine which is right and wrong, while being burdened by its own prejudices, its limited knowledge, tendencies toward error, etc.

The former is flawless intuition of knowledge without thought; the other, is burdened by a mixture of what is truth and what is not.

A stilled mind and constant consecration establishes for that person a center of being deep within so these types of wisdom messages constantly percolate up from the inner mind to our conscious surface awareness.

Overmental to Supramental Change

Sri Krishna is God/Divine incarnate at the Overmental level. It is Universal consciousness; to know all things at once, but not quite the ultimate plane of being. Eg gods there are divine-like, but are not in integral harmony with one another.

Sri Aurobindo went further and brought down in the earth's atmosphere and into his own being the Supramental plane, beyond the universal. Supermind is ultimate consciousness, with each aspect of being integrated with every other. Thus, Supramental is called the Truth or Unity Consciousness.

By opening to Supermind and its Force, to the Mother's Power, the Divine Consciousness descends into our being and life, bringing peace, truth, unity, knowledge, beauty, love, and joy into every aspect of our lives.

Its fulfillment on earth is made possible by those willing and able to partake in the integral yoga and transformation. It culminates in the unfolding of a Divine Life on Earth.

12 Ways to Attract Sudden Good Fortune into Your Life

Each of the following will attract sudden good fortune into your life:

1. Take full responsibility for the conditions around you, whether you created them or not.
2. Shift away from any negative attitudes towards others, life, or work.
3. Gladly embrace the work you are given, rather than what you desire.
4. Take to higher levels of cleanliness and orderliness.
5. Practice high money attitudes like paying off debts, collecting moneys owed, circulating funds, and non-wastage.
6. Consecrate (offering to the Spirit) any important action you are about to take. Also consecrate an opportunity, or any negative feelings inside.
7. Don't react to another's intensities or wrong actions. Be still and detach yourself from it.
8. Speak softly and with fewer words.
9. Shift a habit to something different.
10. Consider and fully commit to one or more deep personal values you believe in.
11. Deeply aspire for something important to come into your life.
12. Put your faith in the Divine Force above all other things.

Looked at in the right way one can perceive a benefit right around the corner from a deficiency.

To Be Titled

The minute we are truly pure, that is, under His influence alone, there are no limits, no limits – nothing, nothing, there is nothing, no law of Nature that can resist, nothing, nothing.

(The Mother, from Agenda, March 26, 1966)

USA and China

-The two countries are mirror image in one sense.

-USA values individuality, which is a great thing, and often distains government, to her own disadvantage. China advocates strong government which is a good thing, but not individuality, which is to her disadvantage.

-USA and China must learn from one another.

-Their current leaders (2018) are pulling in the wrong direction, opposite of what is needed. That strengthens the intensity of a needed recoil in the opposite direction.

-Our philosophy is that contradictions on the surface are secretly complements in the depths. That is what USA and China are to one another. That is what they need to resolve to see their complementarity.

-Through their interaction they will help one another grow; as each knows something the other does not, in terms of individuality and governance.

-This is based on the Consciousness approach to current events and history, - here bringing out the principle of "Contradictions are Complements", which itself based on the vast, comprehensive, integral teachings of Sri Aurobindo and Karmayogi.

Reader: Thank you Sir

Perhaps it is something like MAI and Lempe in The Book, One lacked the other and Life had put them in contact so that they would learn in such illusory contradictions. The miniature version of many such contradictions can be seen in our lives, (as I am facing), and we are too caught up with our ego, defend ourselves and justify our view point instead of what is needed for Reality. The Reality is not either one is correct, rather both views are right to manifest a greater Truth. One who could perceive that and act as an instrument to manifest that Truth will be the leader of Tomorrow.

To Be Titled

The real challenge and difficulty as individual like me is to surrender that issue to the Force, as our ego delight in our partial truth and forget the rest.

Response: profound.

To Be Titled

The Reality is not that either point of view of two individuals, parties, et al is correct; rather that both views are right in order to manifest a greater Truth. One who can perceive that and act as an instrument to manifest that Truth will be the leader of Tomorrow. (SM)

To Be Titled

Appreciate the point of view of the other side, and as a result new possibilities will arise that transcend both your ideas.

To Be Titled

As something moves to Perfection, it becomes supramental, causing infinity to break out.

Comment: How well do we perfect our work, that will have the effect of attracting infinite=like results? Let's make a list to indicate all the things necessary for the work to be perfect; and then make a commitment to carrying them out. That execution of all things to perfection followed by the attracting results is an expression of the Supramental Consciousness in our being.

Human Transformation in 'The Man Who Invented Christmas'

"...Life is the raw material from which the creative imagination of great writers generates works of fiction that are truer than life—truer because they probe and reveal more deeply its real character..."

(Janani Ramanathan, from Cadmus journal)

The film "The Man Who Invented Christmas" explains the above quote beautifully as it portrays how the famous author Charles Dickens conceived the story "A Christmas Carol", created the characters, lived with them, evolved himself, and completed the story.

In that process Dickens created the famous character "Scrooge" who was a cold-hearted miser. Initially, he could not imagine that Scrooge could be transformed into a good human being.

And yet through that story-creating process, he evolved himself by giving up his grudge towards his father, which was due to a childhood incident that haunted him through frequent nightmares.

As he relieved himself of that incident, it removed his mental block, and so he was able to complete that story beautifully, with the character Scrooge transformed into a noble, kind person.

In addition, the story became a huge success, and the character Scrooge became one of the most famous in all of English literature.

(SM)

Advent of the Supramental

As to whether the Divine seriously means something to happen, I believe it is intended. I know with absolute certitude that the Supramental is a truth and its advent is in the very nature of things inevitable. The question is as to the when and the how. That also is decided and predestined from somewhere above; but it is here being fought out amid a rather grim clash of conflicting forces. For in the terrestrial world the predetermined result is hidden and what we see is a whirl of possibilities and forces attempting to achieve some thing with the destiny of it all concealed from human eyes. This is, however, certain that a number of souls have been sent to see that it shall be now. That is the situation. My faith and will are for the now. I am speaking of course on the level of the human intelligence – mystically-rationally, as one might put it. To say more would be going beyond that line. You don't want me to start prophesying, I suppose? As a rationalist, you can't.

(Sri Aurobindo, December 28, 1934)

To Be Titled

"Past Consecration" of our previous errors, wrong attitudes and actions, et al dissolves the negative influence of that past on the present.

Reader: Thank you Sir.

An ignorant question.

Let's say I have done ten unrelated wrong things or errors in various stages of my life. On which area of my present life they are still having those karmic influences, or that might have been already dissolved, I would not know.

As I start to recollect those things and offer to Mother daily, when would I know they have been dissolved?, I may not perceive through response from life unless I am clear about the connection of that past in the present situation?

Thank you Sir.

Response: all the individual smaller things may indicate one or two major flaws in one's nature. It's worth thinking about all of them interrelated to come up with the one or two major flaws. You may then see how the major flaws point to still other minor ones. In other words, you are building up a case for the deeper picture. Then you are ready to consecrate the major flaws with great intensity. Other people's input can also be helpful.

To Be Titled

Each thing that commands our attention in the course of the day has its own special needs, its own flow, and we should fully honor it.

To Be Titled

Sometimes you need to go around the block to see the whole picture.

To Be Titled

Offer an inch, receive a mile.

To Be Titled

The more you open to the Force, to Mother, the more your face will shine and the more you will look years younger.

To Be Titled

Christmas is the festival of the return of the Light - it's much older than Christianity! - when the days were beginning to grow longer. (The Mother)

To Be Titled

Gods as Ways of Being of the Supreme

To Be Titled

This relationship with the gods is extremely interesting. As long as man is dazzled, in admiration before the power, beauty, realizations of those divine beings, he is their slave. But when they are, to him, ways of being of the Supreme and nothing more, and when he himself is another way of being of the Supreme, which he must become, then the relationship is different and he is no longer their slave – he is NOT their slave. (The Mother, from Agenda, May 18, 1966)

Wide and Narrow

First, go wide, and open yourself up to all possibilities. Then narrow the focus, which will reveal the salient, essential details; which will also bring out the Essence.

Searching for Truth

People believe what they want to believe; but are not that interested in discovering, let alone embracing the actual truth.

Suppose one were to say, "today I will suspend my beliefs on the (current) subject, and I will discover the real truth behind that matter or thing." Done with some frequency that person would become a growing individual; gradually coming out of his ignorance on the way to integral knowledge; attracting infinite possibilities into his life.

To Be Titled

The Divine aspires for the universe to evolve and become like Him. To apply his spiritual values to the details of life.

T To Be Titled

here is always a truth that is trying to unfold in our lives, and that truth is behind all circumstances and events. (MSS)

To Be Titled

There is both Freewill and Destiny together. I.e. we have free will whether or not to follow the Path the Divine has secretly set out for us.

To Be Titled

Go deeper to find the real You; not the surface you determined by externals.

To Be Titled

We need to find our true self, our soul, our True Individual Personality that is not encumbered by surface activities and beliefs, by externals, by others' take on things.

To Be Titled

The real Joy should come not from getting what you desire, want, hunger for - whether a car, a house, high grades for a child, more money, more anything, - but from the silence and stillness you experience inside from which happiness and deep fulfillment arises.

To Be Titled

Science is greater than religion. But spirituality is greater than science.

To Be Titled

The greatest experiences I have had throughout these decades has been training others in and around the San Francisco Bay Area, including Silicon Valley, experiencing an endless array of startling Life Response incidents, while continually being in touch with the Mother and Her Force.

To Be Titled

Patience puts us in right alignment with time and the unfoldings of life.
Impatience, the opposite.

Accepting Responsibility in Challenging Situation

Accepting responsibility in a problematic situation can evoke tremendous response from life. When Lydia in Pride and Prejudice eloped with the duplicitous Wickham, Darcy took responsibility for Wickham's behavior having known him since childhood; and Mr. Bennet took responsibility for being oblivious to his children, which helped pave the way for the elopement that could ruin his family.

Fortunately all turned out well as life responded positively to their taking responsibility for their psychological deficiencies relative to an acutely problematic situation.

Purpose Served by Life Response, Character of Life, Life Divine

"Life Response" explains what are the rules of life and what are the benefits of partaking in those principles.

"Character of Life" explains the process of the game beyond the rules of Life Response, and the results observed. Or we can say it explains the subtle reasons beyond the surface happenings.

"The Life Divine" in essence explains everything about what Life is, about the nature of existence, and much beyond.

(SM)

To Be Titled

Gratitude turns what we have into Enough.

To Be Titled

Going after life is normal existence. Life coming to you is Spiritual existence.

To Be Titled

When the good side is able to see the value in the negative side, -- perceiving the possibility of a resulting more-perfect, higher-level, integral resolution, -- then it moves to the spiritual GOOD.

To Be Titled

In the films Interstellar, Arrival, and The Lake House Entanglement occurs across timeframes.

To Be Titled

Without Mother my life would have meant very little. It has thus been a great privilege to know Her.

Zero, Infinity, and the Process of Self-Multiplication of Money

Prof. Stearne's comments from The Book:

"...The breakthrough concept in The Book is just that--the concept of infinity. That is where The Book departs from all known philosophies. That is the source of its enormous power. According to The Book, zero and infinity are practically related to one another, the one gives rise to the other. Or to put it another way, zero represents the unmanifest infinite and infinity represents the manifest zero. According to this view, it is both theoretically and practically possible to manifest anything infinitely, including money.

The central purpose of The Book is not to present a philosophy. It is to present a practical knowledge, a formula, by which the Infinite can be made to emerge out of the finite. That is what The Book means by the process of self-multiplication..."

(From 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, page 408)

Comment: Yes, when the Infinite Source Consciousness is brought to bear, anything can break out into Infinity, including money.

Changing Ourselves

Transformation is difficult, but it can begin with wanting to Change - whether some aspect of our being or something external.

Most people don't change unless there is an external compulsion to do so. But that is to be ruled by Life. We want to be determined by our own self and Soul. That in turn opens us up to the wider Consciousness which comes to us with unexpected positive circumstance and opportunities. As a result, our life becomes fulfilled in so many ways. That is the Life Response power of Change.

So where will you begin?

Fact-Checking Life

Karmayogi once told me that in my writing I should always fact-check for accuracy, which puts one on the side of the true truth of things, rather than its opposite.

Eg recently I was thinking of the mega-size concerts I went to in my youth. I recalled that I attended the Strawberry Fields Rock Festival in Canada in 1970 when I was 20. In the ensuing years believed it was even bigger than the famed Woodstock festival which I also attended, putting the number of attendees at 700,000. When I recently looked it up on Wikipedia, it was estimated that in fact only 70,000 had attended Strawberry Fields! Boy, was I off base! (And It turns out that a different rock festival I attended during that time drew the 700,000 fans I had been thinking of.)

In fact, there have been countless occasions where I had a memory of something, then fact checked it on the Internet or elsewhere, only to discover the real truth of things; which was often at odds with what I imagined.

It's a great lesson for those who seek Truth in Life, which is a high spiritual value. By a discipline of fact-checking, one continually discovers the true truth of things, - rather than being sloppy; depending on one's limited knowledge or memory, - which take one down a path that avoids ignorance, falsehood, and error.

To Be Titled

When you develop Integral Knowledge, - i.e. knowledge of how the universe and everything in it and beyond it works, - you will tend to always do the right thing in your moment to moment life, attracting infinite success and inner fulfillment.

Meaning of Negative Circumstance that Lead to Very Positive Outcomes in The Book

"When the problem intensifies, perhaps it is moving towards solution subtly, though on the surface it may look contrary"

In the Garry Jacobs novel 'The Book',

- Thomson had meeting with MAI team thrice and he threatened them one way or another. The final meeting was most direct and severe threatening as forced to give up MAI to the US government. As a result, MAI became universalized from its content position and known to the rest of the world, Indeed that had brought them in touch with Howard (Thomson's boss) and later North Korea project.

- MAI had come in contact with Oppenauer as they were not aware of his true motive. He had done all the measures to take over MAI as like planting spies, conducting raid at MAI and so forth. At the same time when Accomplish was launched, it suffered data pollution and it became a major setback for the company. Oppenauer used that opportunity and wanted to take over MAI at a humiliating price of 25 million dollars, However MAI had resolved the inherent defects of Ignorance and Falsehood in Accomplish through inversion principle and wanted to launch it free. It made him angry and he withdrew voluntarily from the company. However, MAI went on to launch Accomplish2 (later UNIAC) as free, it became a phenomenal success and they repaid all Oppenauer loans well ahead of promised.

- Adversaries continued to search for The Book. At the extreme, they had kidnapped Limpia, searched in Cloister and warned MAI directly by leaving the note. Also, they had planted explosive in a nearby vicinity as a direct warning message for MAI. This made Prof Stearne to work tirelessly and executed the permanent solution sooner than imagined which eradicated and reconciled all the threats and problems. (SM)

Comment: Terrific extracts that cover similar ground, and therefore similar principles. You have listed one at the outset.

Another is if dramatic progress can't happen through the positive, it happens through the negative. In fact it is the fastest way forward, and with the greatest power.

We could also say that the team's aspiration was great, and life created those conditions to most powerfully, quickly fulfil it; which relates to the previous principle.

Plus the Divine, the Force wants to fulfil its Own aspiration, and there is a push from Above.
(Roy Posner)

To Be Titled

One tragedy of life is people coming to big conclusions based on scanty evidence. They are then bewildered when life reveals truth pointing in an entirely different direction. Such rash decision-making is often the product of a facile or impatient mind. Mob rule often has these propensities and roots. Thoughtful, patient contemplation of the many-sided issues of a matter is a sign of the workings of a rational mind..

I live my life consciously evolving my individual nature, and other times giving of myself to others, testing my limits. I move between these two worlds, which is a great challenge, since they are so different. However, these two oscillating realities mutually reinforce one another, creating great creative energy and joy.

To Be Titled

Transformation is difficult. However, it is human swabhava that if one wants to change indeed, such change is possible in five minutes in mind, being and soul. (Sri Karmayogi)

Mother's New Year's Message - 1935

"We surrender to Thee this evening all that is artificial and false, all that pretends and imitates. Let it disappear with the year that is at an end. May only what is perfectly true, sincere, straight and pure subsist in the year that is beginning."

Human Attitudes Towards Money that are Against Mother's Values

Human attitudes	Mother's attitudes
1. Money is the centre of human existence	Money is not the centre of our existence, but only a tool to facilitate human economic interactions. Its occupation of the centre stage is a result of the perversion of values.
2. Spend less and save more	Spend more and get more
3. Earn money by whatever means available.	Money should be earned only in ways that the Divine will appreciate. That is through hard work and honest means.
4. Lend money or speculate to earn more money.	Money should finance work and thereby generate more money. Money generating more money through lending is a short cut that may become counterproductive. It is a like feeding fertiliser directly to the plant instead of using it to enrich soil which is the normal procedure.
5. Money can be used for ostentation and for luxury.	Ostentation and luxury are egoistic flaunts that diminish one's soul.
6. We need money to boost our ego and strengthen our assertion.	Such misuse of money is fatal to our soul's emergence.
7. Money first and anything next is our policy.	Man first and money next is the correct policy.
8. Evade tax and thereby accumulate more money.	Pay tax and have a clean conscience and you will earn more money.
9. Money deserves our worship.	Don't worship Mammon but offer the worship to the Divine.
10. Spend lavishly and enjoy your life.	Pl treat money as an expression of your productive capacities and thank God for providing you with those capacities.

(by N. Asokan, MSS)

10 Freedoms Guaranteed by Grace

1. If a devotee has an aspiration for material progress but is suffering from poverty, He is guaranteed freedom from that poverty once he enters Mother's fold.
2. If a person with a long-standing chronic illness turns into a devotee he is guaranteed freedom from that illness once he lets Mother on the scene.
3. If a person is leading a lonely life for want of a marriage partner, he or she will be provided with a life partner the moment he or she promises that if Mother arranges a partner for them, they will take care of their partner in a way that Mother will appreciate.
4. If a person is idle, unemployed or underemployed and genuinely wants to be productive and capable of earning money, he or she will be provided with gainful employment if they promise Mother that they will do the work she arranges for them in a way that She will appreciate.
5. If a person is suffering under a tyrannical boss or employer or life partner Mother will arrange for that person to be freed from that oppression once the concerned devotee locates the defect in his personality that invites that oppression and resolves to remove it.
6. If a devotee's factory or farm or shop is not fetching him a good income, it can be turned remunerative by the touch of grace if the devotee accepts to implement work-values in full.
7. If a person is afflicted with loan liabilities far in excess of his earnings, She can free him from his debt burden if he resolves to remove from his personality the urge to spend in a manner disproportionate to his income.
8. He who suffers from frequent job loss and interruptions to his income inflow can be saved by grace and provided with a steady job and income once he decides to shed the irresponsible attitude towards life and career which invite such hardships.
9. If a person has quarreled with all his relatives and no relative comes to his house, it can be reversed by the impact of Mother's grace if he resolves to turn sweet and amiable and shed his past quarrelsome behavior.
10. If a devotee is childless and wants to become a father or mother, he or she will be blessed with the joy of becoming a father or mother if he or she daily imagines Mother gifting them a new-born child as a gift.

(by N. Asokan, MSS)

No Title

Going deeper within, looking out from that inner poise, while opening upward, surrendering to the Mother and Her Force makes it much easier to solve our most pressing problems and challenges.

On Death and Unending Life

--Sri Aurobindo says death is a process of life; to enable us, - across multiple births, - to overcome our fundamental Ignorance on the way to Integral Knowledge.

--Man dies of old age, diseases or accidents is a physical explanation. The spiritual explanation is one dies when his spiritual growth stops. (Karmayogi)

--In death the form dies, but the energy behind remains. A new form can now incorporate it.

--Death of the body is like a light bulb going out. It can be replaced by another, as the energy source is still there.

--Death occurs so a new, fresher ready to evolve form can take its place.

--Death is incapacity to hold the life force of life.

--It is the inner being that survives death. (Karmayogi)

--He who is unable to see life beyond death is not spiritual. (Karmayogi)

--Death is to take on another adventure beyond our adventure of life on earth.

--Transformation - psychic, spiritual, and Supramental - has a final goal of overcoming death itself.

--Death occurs so immortality is made possible. (evolution through deaths and rebirths makes that possible.)

--Mother says that when you die it's because you Need to die; ie it's not a haphazard thing.

--Mother also says death is just a Bad Habit. It is therefore not inevitable; that we can learn to develop the right consciousness in relationship to the cells of the body in an effort of transformation. That was Her great mission in life.

--Through spiritual and supramental transformation the necessity of multiple births is overcome. One attains Integral Knowledge and Capacity in this life.

Conjunction of Life Responses

Today I had a life response while listening to someone telling me that they had just experienced a life response; precisely matching the subject matter of her response.

She told me she just randomly came upon a cat video, which matched exactly a dream she had of the same the night before. As she said she had a life response regarding a video, I simultaneously saw the expression "Life Response Videos" on my computer screen, which itself was a booklet of text and links to videos on life response!

No Title

If life is a field of force,
And Human attitudes & emotions,
Become the expressions of that force,
Then what occurs to us and around us,
Reflects nothing but the play of those energies.
(paraphrase from The Book by Garry Jacobs)

Comment: It is one way of explaining the basis of inner-outer correspondence.

Silence of a Spirit-Oriented Mentor

When you recognize a problem in another, and if it is at all possible, it is best to refrain from expressing it to that individual. Then you can consecrate the matter in full.

As a result, there is a very good chance that the other person will come to see the light on their own, and will then make the necessary change. If they later tell you about their inner and outer actions, you can smile and continue to remain silent about your involvement.

This is a powerful approach that a spirit-oriented mentor can take.

Ignorance Born of Creation

Some of us are aware of the defects inside us that prevent us from accomplishing greatly - including a lack of intention, will, organization, right attitude, values, effort, skill, and so on. Sri Aurobindo expands the narrative from the means of accomplishment to the fundamental Ignorance of man born of creation.

He tells us we are Ignorant of-

- the various parts of our being
- how these parts are in conflict with one another
- our own deficiencies
- who we are and what our purpose is
- the purpose of life, and how we fit in
- the nature of the transcendent beyond; as well as the spirit within
- the nature of the world outside ourselves; how it works
- why things happen the way they do
- the subtle forces at work in life
- the Force available to us
- the nature of the Reality

Life Response Not Perceived

The miraculous nature of life responses, negative/positive/neutral inner-outer correspondence seems so obvious to me at this point in my spiritual development, it is astounding to me how people, even those close to me DON'T see these connections, and furthermore don't believe life responses can be induced by right action, thought and sanctification. (KL)

Comment: If you can completely forget the matter vis a vis others' non-belief or non-experience, they will, sooner or later, tell you of a LR incident or synchronicity they have experienced.

I.e. Consecrate (offer it to the Force), and forget the matter.

No Title

Each life response or synchronous experience compels us to further commune with, have faith in the Divine Reality.

No Title

We think we are a body that has a soul, but we are really a Soul, a Being that has a physical form.

No Title

There is the Divine reality, and then there is Life. Inclusive and integrative of both is the integral REALITY, the ALL.

Comment: Sri Aurobindo says this is the highest conception of existence afforded to man.

No Title

We often seek alms, boons, benefits, and grace from the Divinity; yet infrequently do we try to evolve ourselves & become like Him, adopting His virtues.

Comment: Virtues like silence, peace, truth, knowledge, creativity, harmony, love, delight, timelessness, and infinity.

No Title

I am Increasingly depending on my True Self (Soul) within, and Mother above, and nothing and no one else.

The Crosby-Related Incident at MacDonald's

Recently I have been interacting with several old friends from way back when. One of the things I was rediscovering was my interest in some of the old bands and singer songwriters of my youth. One group was Crosby, Stills and Nash who enjoyed spectacular success in their time, as both a group and as solo artists. Recently I have really been focusing on one member, David Crosby, who is a folk-rock legend, not only for his music but for his cultural influences among the hippy and baby boomer generations.

In fact, it's been a great pleasure to discover that he has had a tremendous renaissance in creativity, in music composition and performance at the age of 78! Where people normally fall into later life drowse and nostalgia, he has come upon a great new energy and therefore a tremendous creative rebirth; an astonishing development, in my eyes, but one which I totally relate to.

And so I have been making a playlist at YouTube of the very best of his most recent recordings, and then distributing them to some of my old-time friends. Also I have found interviews of him and other such content.

The other day while having an online, Facebook messenger conversation with a friend, he mentioned that one of his favorite tracks of Crosby's was from decades ago called "Page 43". I liked it too. Then yesterday I found an extraordinary interview of Crosby by world famous American comedian and film star Robin Williams. It was a manic, hilarious, and yet profound conversation between true individuals. As I listened to it again while having a coffee in MacDonald's, I was at the part where Crosby is describing that songs often came to him just after he drifts into sleep. That is, when the conscious mind grows silent, the inner mind grasps onto "something" and he wakes with an entire song now in hand! Something similar has happened to me several times over the years.

What was so astonishing was that at the very moment I looked up from this discussion about the silent source of composition, I saw a large plastic customer number on the table, so that servers could deliver their order to the right table. When I noticed it was "43" a wave of utter astonishment came over me, as I recalled that that was the name of my friend C's favorite Crosby song that he mentioned several days earlier! As Crosby was describing in the twenty-year-old interview how he wrote through sleep, that serving number appeared on that table! (with no other such markers anywhere in site.)

It was another synchronous event in a staggering series of synchronicities that have been happening to me in recent months; often 5 to 10 incidents a day.

Comment: There is another dimension to the story. It's that I gave up my reaction to my friend C when he first mentioned to me that Page 43 was a favorite of his. Though I thought it was good I did not think it was among his very best. And so during the breadth of the incident, I gradually gave up my prejudicial view, which I believe contributed to the 43 serving number appearing on the table in the incident. It was a shift out of Ego to harmony with another, including their point of view.

Significant Positive Qualities of Countries

- India - belief in subtle workings of life, and the divine reality; intuitive
- China - also a subtle race, but more mental, practical
- USA - individuality, hardworking, adventurous, melting pot
- France - idealism, values
- Germany - inventive, philosophical
- Russia - brotherhood of man

No Title

Changing a single negative aspect of your being - whether a particular activity, habit, attitude, or value - can attract a major turnaround in your life. Are you ready to make that small, but significant consciousness raising effort?

No Title

The more you delve into your own Essence and Being (ie your Soul), the more likely you will perceive It in others.

Movements of Time in Various Directions

Past, present, and future are not merely linear in their unfolding, but can move in a variety of directions - forward, backward, circular, etc. Thus any one period can affect any of the others. Eg If we rise in consciousness in the present, the past can be altered to the positive.

The reason this is possible is because in reality there are no real divisions of past, present, and future. That is a human convention. There is actually only one stream of time, without division, even without any set direction.

Science is beginning to perceive the true nature of Time, and what it is discovering does not necessarily conform to our own individual, human conception of time. One further scientific revelation about time is that is that it may in fact not exist at all.

The sage and seer Sri Aurobindo says that space is extension, and time is movement in extension. And they emerged from a Divine reality.

It is clear that Time's true nature still remains to be discovered.

Forgetting a Benefit for Another Attracts Its Accomplishment

If after you provide someone with a potential benefit, you utterly forget about it (instead of waiting anxiously for the other person to get the result), that other person will come back to you that they did indeed get the benefit, which will come as a complete surprise to you since you completely put the matter out of mind. That letting go of the potential result attracts a very satisfying outcome all around!

No Title

When a devotee of Mother gives of himself for the sake of another or others in an unprecedented way, that effort and result tend to spread to the universal plane, including society.

Inner Voice, Detector

As soon as we are bothered in some way, - as anger, irritation, over-assertion, frustration, etc. - it's a sign of a limitation in our being.

Fortunately, over time we can develop an "inner detector". The deeper the poise we reside in, the more the subtle detector (originating in our inner, subliminal being) can be at work on our behalf; letting us know at the right moment "no no, you don't want to go there."

No Title

Constant Consecration of circumstance, taking the other person's point of view, mental silence, and other methods can build up this Inner Voice over time. As a result, gradually the Ego breaks down, replaced by harmonic tendencies and feelings.

No Title

Each devotee represents an impossibility to be overcome. That's why we are here; to make that change.

Inner Status When Helping Others

(A note for a life coach, psychiatrist, trauma mentor, social worker, or anyone responsible for helping others with their problems)

The more you are an "empty vessel", the more you can fill up listening to other's problems. And the more you build up an "inner life", as opposed to living a surface existence, the more you can be an empty vessel.

And then there are various psychological and spiritual methods for developing an inner life.

No Title

Karmayogi asks that each devotee earns a Crore rupees per year. As a result, not only will he gain material security and prosperity, but through that effort come to learn the Process of Accomplishment, and the essential principles of Life.

No Title

Mother says that if we add expectation to our Aspiration for something significant to come about in our lives, the whole thing gets warped.

Life is Alive and Conscious

Life gives you particular beneficial circumstance in the present because it knows future outcomes. In that way life is alive and Conscious.

A former star player came to play for a championship team. He seemed to come out of nowhere, and it seemed like an excess for the team, already loaded with fine players. However during the season a key young player was lost for the year with a serious injury. Now the new player who seemed an excess became vital to the team.

When the new player arrived in the present, it was in touch with circumstance of the future. In that way Life is alive and Conscious!

No Title

There has never been a moment of Coincidence in the history of the universe, and there never will be. Everything happens for a reason.

No Title

There would likely never have been a Cortez without a Trump.

Indian Mind

The mind of the Indian is open to the spiritual ranges, including Intuitions of knowledge that come without thought; as well as a native capacity that opens to the universal plane, enabling them to get at the Essence of things.

What Abuses You, You Abuse Elsewhere

If you feel you are being treated by others or by life unfairly, chances are you are doing something in relation to others or life in a similar or somewhat different way. Reversing one's negative propensity will cause life or others to stop bringing negative conditions to you. Eg-

-A woman complains about not having money, yet she does not adhere to cleanliness and orderliness. When she changes that behavior, life too reverses in her favor.

-A man complains he receives little work, yet he doesn't pay his credit card bills when required. When he does, work comes in abundance.

-A man complains that he is short on cash, yet realizes he's a cheapskate in relation to his friend. When he spends on her behalf, money rolls in equal to or exceeding the amount spent.

-A mother who constantly complains about things discovers that her daughter's involvement with a rich suitor who is also a good man has broken off. When she later keeps her mouth shut, the situation reverses; and a marriage is agreed upon.

-A man complained that he received poor service from his gardeners. Well it turns out he was prejudiced against immigrant workers. If he were to give that up, there would be no more problems with the work quality of the immigrant gardeners.

Super Grace

Devotees depend on their skills, deferring to Mother, in their efforts to accomplish. Grace comes as a result. When we give up our reliance on our skills and other native capacities, and rely on Mother alone, SUPER Grace is bestowed on us.

No Title

Time is subjective. A decade can be like a blink of an eye. A minute can last forever.

No Title

Life has an Intention, a Purpose for each of us. The question then is whether we recognize it, and whether we are willing to collaborate in its unfolding.

No Title

Shifting from faith in yourself - your skills, your capacities - to faith in Mother is yoga; ie engaging in the transformation process.

No Title

The West, including USA are increasingly taking to meditation and mindfulness, and seeing wonderful results. One question is will it stick? Another is will it spread? And will they go higher still and embrace something spiritually great, like the vision seer and sage Sri Aurobindo has laid out for the future of humanity - i.e. its spiritual evolution of life on earth, culminating in a Divine existence.

Accepting Given Conditions Attracts Elsewhere

Accepting a thing in full, even when it requires a change of plans will tend to quickly attract an important benefit from somewhere else.

An instructor was asked to work on a Monday by his agent. However his schedule seemed not to allow for it. The instructor then requested a later date from the agent, but he refused. The instructor then made certain adjustments, and then accepted the original date (Monday). Within two minutes an email arrived, letting him know about the progress of an upcoming big project, when he had heard nothing from this prospective client for over a month. Opening the door in one area comically attracts benefit in another.

Experience of Divine Consciousness

Q: What happens when the human consciousness is replaced by the Divine Consciousness?

Sri Aurobindo: One feels perpetual calm, perpetual strength, – one is aware of Infinity, lives not only in Infinity but in Eternity. One feels the immortality and does not care about the death of the body, and one has the consciousness of the One in all. Everything becomes the manifestation of the Brahman. For instance, as I look around the room I see everything as the Brahman – it is not thinking, it is a concrete experience, – even the wall, the book is Brahman. I see you not as X. but as a divine being in the Divine. It is a wonderful experience.

Indian Associates' Prosperity through the Force

Opening to the Force, to Mother before a sales presentation can increase results by ten times. We have seen examples of it countless times, among so many individuals - in sales, in business, et al - who became rich as a result.

We have witnessed so many Indian friends and associates who have taken this approach and risen to the pinnacles of success. While our American and even European friends over the years have fallen behind; have in essence fallen asleep.

No Title

It's almost always best not to interfere in the affairs of others, unless they ask your advice or involvement. Even then, proceed with caution, and insure that you have the facts and know what you are talking about.

We Evolve through a Contradictory Process

"The vehement rejection from life on the surface is indeed not so [i.e. not the way life normally progresses]. Rather it comes in Contradictory form, through something in us that is not receptive to the other side's position or status. When we manage to identify and reverse it, It embraces us in a magnificent and miraculous way." (paraphrase of SM)

I.e. we progress, evolve through contradictions with others - whether another party, a differing idea, etc. By changing our consciousness relative to that conflictive, differing position, we become more conscious, and thereby progress; evoking positive response along the way.

Thus behind every conflict, division, contradiction, harmony with other parties there lurks an Opportunity to raise ourselves - realized by taking to a higher consciousness relative to the adversary or adversarial idea. When we reverse ourselves and embrace that other position or otherwise learn a lesson from that unfolding, not only do we realize a higher harmony, but life responds and we are thrust into a higher status in life.

This is then how life normally works for our progress. It is Nature's Way: 'Prakriti' in Sanskrit. All isn't thrown at us at once negatively or positively. Instead it comes through a process that is realized through the resolution of dual pairs in contradiction and conflict, as the parties shift from division, ego, separateness to greater awareness and higher Harmony.

No Title

Greater than forgiveness is awareness of why one attracted negative circumstance in the first place.

Comment: (It helps avoid such problems in future.)

No Title

LIFE RESPONSE = THE SECRET++++++

Types of Life Response

We can put Life Response outcomes into various categories. Eg-

-Two parties appear/meet in the same space at the same time. (Space-Time Sync response)

- More information appears from out of nowhere on the subject or matter you were just thinking about (Interest-based Synchronicity)
- You negate a negative and life instantly brings you rewards, (Overcoming the Negative response)
- You take to a higher thought, attitude, value habit, decision, action, and Life Instantly responds in your favor (Instantaneous Miraculousness)
- A thing happens at the outset indicating the final outcomes (Predecessor response)
- As you are doing something, another person takes to the same thing, or unwittingly joys the group (Parallelism. Entanglement)
- You aspire for something, will it, organize it, and act on it and life brings the goals sought. (Process of Creation response; Complete Act)
- You open to the Force and the circumstance are quickly elevated, a problem solved, etc. (Grace and Super Grace)

No Title

People will get energized and commit to inner change, only to fall back on old habits. It shows that commitment to change requires great Self-Discipline and Sincerity of Intent.

Anticipating the Rains

Over-anticipation delays, reduces, or cancels.

Eg several times when an impending rain storm approached the California coast where there were drought conditions a man would carefully observe the weather pattern, anticipating its movement, instead of just letting them come as they may. As a result the rains would suddenly veer off in another direction, defying the earlier weather reports, leaving the land still parched and dry.

When we overly anticipate, expect, become too attached to a possibility, we send out energies that align with its negation. It's therefor best to offer the possibility of rain to the Divine and then forget about it. Rains - or for that matter any other real possibility that is presenting itself - will now tend to follow.

No Title

Often Negative conditions can create an intensity toward progress that the positive cannot achieve.

No Title

The necessity and purpose of the Negative is not appreciated in the unfolding of the Reality, the All; as it points to even greater positives.

Syncing with the Band

(narrated by C, a lifelong friend of mine)

"My friend D just went through an amazing experience that reflected as a Life Response.

D loves a band called L&F. They are from Russia and play songs by the band Chicago. This past weekend they began a tour in the US in Los Angeles.

Because he loves the band so much, and H likes them too, he paid for her ticket, as well as our daughter K's who lives in LA.

Once H was at her daughter K's apartment, D went to check in to his hotel. He LOVES this band and discovered that they were also at the hotel. In fact, the entire weekend, he had meals with them (all 11 members) and saw them in the lobby regularly!

But, there's more!

The day of the concert, D went to lunch with a friend. They traveled to a totally different part of LA to a Deli. Upon arriving, D went to the restroom where upon he met L, a band member!

And when D found his friend, they were seated next to the band, and D sat within inches of L!"

—

RP Comments:

Yes! A great deal of intention and enthusiasm on D's part set the stage for these synchronicities, responses from life. But I think what sealed the (cosmic) deal was D earlier paying for the others' ticket. Generosity attracts like that. There are surely several other reasons as well.

Generosity fulfilled his aspiration, and then some! ☺

Goddess

As you may know, in the early 1970s at Moe's books on Telegraph Avenue in Berkeley, California, a book fell on Garry and Leslie Jacobs that was written by Satprem on the life of Sri Aurobindo ('The Adventure of Consciousness'). It changed their lives forever, as they would travel to Pondicherry, India and eventually meet up with Sri Karmayogi. And consequentially it changed my life as well, as I would meet them a few years later, which began a lifetime of collaboration.

So here is another somewhat related tale:

One day around 10 years ago I went to that same bookstore (Mo's), and climbed the steps to the third floor. While browsing through books in the Spirituality section, I suddenly saw a woman ~10 yards away, also perusing books on the shelves. Immediately I saw that she was stunningly beautiful. She was in fact statuesque. And yet she also seemed somehow Unreal.

I was overwhelmingly attracted to her – but for several very different reasons. Her beauty was mesmerizing, but even more compelling still was that she did not seem quite human. It's hard to explain exactly why. She seemed like some goddess from the Mahabharata. A kind of three dimensional color statue come to life. A woman of overwhelming Presence.

To not seem too obvious, I then turned my attention back on the book I held in my hand. But then when I looked up a moment later, I noticed that she was gone. She seemed to have momentarily vanished.

And so I quickly got up and looked around the corner of the bookshelf, but alas she was not there. I then looked up and down the hallway. But it was completely empty. I gazed at the elevator, but the doors were closed. I looked down the stairs, but no one was there. She was nowhere in sight.

After desperately looking around in this state of mild panic and intense curiosity, I calmed down and sat back on the bench. I then recalled that she had earlier given me a soft look. Had sent some small recognition my way. But had she really? Or was it just my imagination? Finally, I looked around once more to see if by some chance she had returned, but found nothing. I was now resigned to the fact that she or it or something sublime had disappeared and was now gone from my life. Someone who in fact might not have been from this world.

What is Real

As you get older you increasingly wonder what was real, what came from a dream, and what was from one's imagination.

Normal vs Supramental View of Reality

In ordinary life one perceives reality in a very limited way, whereas steeped in spirit, in supramental perception, one sees, experiences multi-faceted, infinite existence, making one wonder if our earlier, normal perceptions were even real; whether they were an illusion, or an Ignorance of a very partial, limited consciousness of our earlier life.

A Life Response-Oriented Way of Living

"...What, however, if we were to discover a different way of living?

What if all of life -- including all of the objects and players around us -- looked much the same as they do now, but where the dynamics of existence were fundamentally different?

What if our perceptions of what was possible were to change?

What if our understanding of the relationship between cause and effect were to alter?

And what if our view of space and time were to shift to something decidedly different?

What if we could instantaneously change the course of life outside ourselves by simply making an adjustment in consciousness.

E.g., you overcome a virulent attitude toward another person, and 2-minutes later an unknown individual contacts you from half way around the world with news of a large business contract, or a huge financial windfall, or a phenomenal career opportunity.

Such incidents of "life response" occur all of the time, in endless variation, and in every field of life. All we have to do is open our eyes to see it..."

(From 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of LIFE RESPONSE' by Roy Posner)

Ask Yourself at Each Moment

In any situation stop and ask yourself: what is the right thing to do? what is the best attitude to have? what is the highest value? what is the greater truth? what is the best strategy? And then move forward along those lines. Life will quickly reward such efforts with good or great fortune.

Beyond Prime to Old Age Success

Normally one has a great success in one's "prime years", and then retires into old age. Greatness then is unexpected in those latter years. But what if one can have great results in one's prime, but then go on to have an even greater one in one's senior years. It is unexpected in normal life; but a common reality for those taking to the Spiritual Life where one continues to be guided with purpose from Higher Sources well into the future.

No Title

I want to be in the flow of the Now; nothing else. Not encumbered by past, nor future.

No Title

Do you seek knowledge that reaffirms what you already believe, or do you seek to discover alternate possibilities? The latter is a way out of our ignorance, and toward a more integral knowledge of Truth.

Reader: Both sir...former is soothing confirming that what we thought so far is right or it exists...latter gives thrill in knowing something new...

Response: What we already know may be true or false. Confirming the current knowledge behind one's belief; as well as seeking and discovering new knowledge moves us closer to Truth. And yes, when we move toward Truth, we experience wonder and joy.

Inner-Outer Correspondence

Why does life suddenly respond on the outside with good fortune when I change my inner condition? The answer is that there is no "inner" and "outer" to begin with. They are not two separate entities as we have come to believe, but are parts of the same continuous stream of existence. Though our senses tell us that there is a world outside us that is separate and apart from our own selves, from a deeper perspective there is no such division. And because we share this same contiguous reality, when I change the inner me, the outer -- which is really inseparable from myself -- instantly responds in kind. In other words, the inner and the outer are One.

(from 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response' by Roy Posner)

Instantaneous Global Connection

Change your consciousness to something higher on one side of the world - like shedding a negative attitude or embracing a meaningful value - and there is an instantaneous result coming to you from the other side of the world, though you have never associated with them in any way shape or form before. It is what science calls "Entanglement" theory, which we call "Life Response" or "Inner-Outer Correspondence" or "Instantaneous Miraculousness"

Future Affecting Its Past in Payment Incident

I think I had a life response where the future affected the past. It involves a payment from my agent M.

—

I hadn't received the way overdue hundred dollars I was hoping to receive from him for about a week. Then on my birthday (the 17th) I made the decision to contact him again about it. So I did the next day on the 18th. Then today when I looked at my bank account, I noted that there was $100 payment in my account - made on the 16th! So it was kind of like the payment on the 16th had been influenced by events in the future on the 18th.

—

Is my decision to secure the payment attracted the earlier result; whereas there may not of been a result on the 16th if I hadn't committed on the 18th! I was following the principle that if you collect on overdue amounts, rather than letting them go, good fortune will follow.

—

I cannot prove that the future decision affected circumstance in the relative past, but it really did seem that way. And I think it also happened this way because I consecrated the issue.

—

Perhaps it was a form of what we call "past consecration." you offer up to the Spiritual Force a past negative's continuing influence on one's present, and life responds by bringing about conditions that cancel that negative effect on one's here and now

—

And here is perhaps the most important result. By getting paid on that last hundred dollars, it completes all monies due, which tends to attract the opening of positive conditions from life from this point forward. The fact that it happened in such a dramatic fashion is an indicator of such for the future.

—

And what's additionally strange is that when I went to look at my bank account before seeing the monies that came in from M, I thought my balance for this account would be around $4K. Instead it was $4500, meaning I had that much more funds! In fact, that's what made me look through my account in the first place, where I found M's payment!

—

So past, present, and future have a much more subtle relationship than a strictly linear view would indicate.

No Title

You may think you know the cause(s), but dig deeper and you will discover hidden truths that defy your initial analysis. Now you are on your way to the integral Truth of the matter.

Opening to Higher Consciousness on One's Birthday

"Let this day of your birth be for you an occasion to give yourself a little more, a little better to the Divine. Let your consecration be more total, your devotion more ardent, your aspiration more intense.

Open yourself to the New Light and walk with a joyful step on the path. Resolve on this day that it may be this and the day will not have passed in vain." (The Mother)

No Title

Keep aspiring for the Higher Worlds to descend into the lower.

General Characteristic of Life Response

First, the response from life was sudden -- or at least occurred very quickly in relative terms. (Timelessness replaces time)

Second, what came did so in large quantity or degree -- i.e. it was abundant. (Infinite replaces finite)

And third, the response unfolded in a way that defied normal views of what is possible -- i.e. it was subtle. (Non-mechanistic cause and effect)

(From 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of LIFE RESPONSE' by Roy Posner)

Dan Attracts the Recovery of The Book

There is a consciousness in all things, even the most material, which responds to conscious attention. – The Book

The Book had come to Dan and MAI for a purpose. With Its guidance, MAI team was progressing on multiple fronts against countless opposition. At one point of time, it appeared that The Book was lost during the federal officers' search at MAI office due to an act of adversary. Yet at that devastating moment, Dan did not react. Perhaps, the same kind of situation he faced several years before and the same kind of attitude he expressed on that moment! What followed was astonishing.

Dan then went for a walk the next day morning and he ended up in front of Moe's Book store at the early morning 7 am. And he had a thoughtful feeling about The Book as:

"...How much had happened in the past three years. How much his life had changed. How much richer, more meaningful it had become. Only now he realized the magnitude of that change. Only now he realized how different he felt than when he had walked into Moe's that Superbowl Sunday. The sense of disquiet was no longer there, the sense that something was missing. Nothing had been missing from his life the past three years. Every moment had been full, rich, challenging, satisfying. It was not just answers he had found. It was meaning. Not the meaning that comes from faith, but the meaning that comes from connection. For the first time in his life, he felt everything was connected, inside and outside, thoughts and feelings, aspirations and work. It all fit together as an integral whole. It moved forward as a single unit. Life became a little brighter and lighter every day. It evolved..."

The following day The Book had come back to him miraculously through Limpia. The incident could be explained in multiple ways.

- Life responded for the attitude of Non-Reaction Dan had practiced at that intense moment.
- As everything responds to attention, his conscious attention to The Book all these years made the life to respond.
- And there is another way to explain. The Book that was lost on the surface on that day was real. The next day Dan had a thoughtful feeling of Gratitude about The Book. Perhaps, that moment of Gratitude had brought him and Limpia in an alignment of space and time. As such she protected The Book out of Gratitude and Goodwill on that day (in the past) which made The Book to miraculously re appear on his desk, the day after. (in the future). As such all the Reality was One and Interconnected, but it appeared as separate events for the surface mind, indeed they are not so.

(Based on 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs from chapters 101-103)

(Senthil Murugan)

In addition, Dan had evolved and learned from The Book and its laws through life experience, and so now had the Supramental view of conditions just before entering Moe's. That ultimately expansive, positive, and integral view opened the world, and so the book returned. (Roy Posner)

No Title

The only thing I want of Her is to be in touch with what She wants of me.

Inner Values as Ultimate Basis of Marketing

[In a video presented by a woman in front of an audience, she advocated not just smart advertising for companies, but to believe in doing the right thing, believing in care and well-being of the animals in raising them for food. Here is my response.]

What the producer of the food values in their hearts will increasingly determine their success in future. Life will respond with positive outcomes to such positive deep-seated social values they subscribe to that are in sync with same emerging social values of the consumer. Such businesses will truly thrive, be great when they lead a Social Movement.

Like Elon Musk championing electric cars at Tesla. Like easy to use computers and smartphones advocated and built by Steve Jobs at Apple. By the founders' values of nutritional, pure foods of Whole Foods grocery chain, etc.

The pioneer makes the public aware. The pioneer also seeks to know the emerging values of the society; what the emerging interests of the "You" is (in the video), which is really the "Us." I.e. from the consumers end we too - the producers - need to be increasingly socially conscious.

Supramental Precision and Timing

In supramental consciousness everything happens exactly when it should; things dovetail precisely down to the second with other matters, to your under amazement.

No Title

Have been experiencing 10+ Synchronicities per day. And it continues to accelerate. A part of myself seem to be becoming some future-type individual in terms of life-evocation capacity.

T No Title

Things that you have negative emotions about are usually the qualities that when overcome quickly lead to great happiness and success.

Forgetting Ticking Sound from Tire

Over the years we have seen that forgetting about a current problem is often the best way to attract its resolution.

A man heard a ticking sound from his car. He realized that something was stuck on one of his tires. However he was unable to see where since most of the wheel was blocked from view. He then forgot about the matter.

A couple hours later he returned to his car and immediately saw the cause of the problem, as some sticky tape could be seen dangling from one of the tires. He then removed it, and the ticking sound was gone; the problem was solved!

Silence, Calling; Consecration

Silence and calling (divine) is powerful in all aspects. Consecration is very important before doing any act. (Sundari Shankar)

--

Comment: Very fine remark. Examples:

Today I walked along beach bluff, and instead of wandering thoughts, and emotional bother I went to stillness and called o Mother. It worked, and all turned clear. This follows your first statement; of method for any ongoing aspect of the day.

On the other hand, if you consecrate a difficult work, a short while later it tends to start going much smoother than expected. This is an example of your second statement.

'Head-Voice' © System

[a note sent to my technical friend in Silicon Valley]

Dear S,

Imagine a person is walking down the street, and is suddenly angry or fearful. Immediately the signal processor attached to his head picks up the vibration of fear from the brain (Neuroscience has identified this), in this case Fear. Now suddenly he hears a voice in his head or surrounding it saying "Life Responds to Psychological Strength. etc." It connects through GPS and expert system in cloud that sends the right message based on the problem. The user takes this advice, and suddenly attracts a great positive benefit (eg getting the loan) that negates his fear. It's a Life response.

Is this doable? In 10 years? In 5? ☺ -Roy

No Title

You exist here on earth so that your Evolving Soul within can learn from your experiences. When it cannot learn any more, it withdraws, and so does the physical body. The Psychic Being now rests in the Subtle realms, or prepares to and then enters a new body, for new experiences, in its quest for Cosmic Knowledge and Wherewithal.

No Title

Best not to take someone where they are incapable of going. It would be unfair to them and their lives.

No Title

... if you are forever thinking of the next thing you have to do, it's horrible. If you do the thing as it comes, without thinking of anything else, it's very good.... That nasty habit of thinking, always thinking – very bad. (The Mother, from Agenda, October 15, 1966)

No Title

Most bacterial illness is facilitated by human fear.

Comment: It's true with all aspects of life. I.e. Fear attracts the object of fear.

Evoking Life Response for the Collective and Becoming Universal Beings

In the context of a team, of the organization, practicing life response-inducing methods like "Non-Reaction" becomes really dynamic. Now the person is not just becoming a significant Individual within his own existence, but a Universal being in influence. That's what Sri Aurobindo sees us becoming.

Eg a manager does not react with emotions in a negative situation, in a critical situation. Now life responds, attracting a contract for the entire organization that was seemingly lost. He does this through non-reaction, but it can also happen by shifting out of a negative attitude, taking another's point of view, offering the matter up to the spirit (consecration), etc.

He becomes not only a true Individual through this situation, but a universal one, affecting the collective.

No Title

Appearance of "11:11" on clock or otherwise when you view it indicates right action, right consciousness, or similar on one's part. It is a mathematical, time-oriented indicator of synchronicity of life.

No Title

When the Ego of the speaker, and the Ego of the listener is abolished, Man unites with Man in Material Space - MSS.

Reader: Thanks Roy. MSS research is a Legendary Encyclopedia.

Response: In essence, Harmony and Oneness replace division of the parties created by ego-sense.

Power of Weighing All Sides in Decision Making

It is said that Shakespeare's Hamlet suffered from self-doubt (about seeking vengeance for the murder of his father) and therefore succumbed to events. Rather he was gripped by "conscience"; by the ability to weigh various truths before making a decision. In that sense he became the first true individual at the mental plane. All Europe then followed his form of scientific-like inquiry.

We can learn by his capacity to consider all sides of a matter, and then make an integrally true decision that has ultimate positive attracting power and impact.

Comment: We see something similar 2000 years earlier in Aeschylus' Oresteian Trilogy when Athena steps in to establish justice rather than the vengeance of the Furies in the cosmic trial against the children who murdered their mother for murdering their father who was king of the Greeks.

No Title

Spiritual individuals increasingly embrace the things that come their way, while decreasingly focusing on things wished for.

Comment: It is Life, the Mother coming to that person; whereas what one wants is in large part egoistic desire. The former almost always ends in success, as it has Life, the Divine's sanction; whereas the latter fails as much as it succeeds, or worse.

No Title

If I could shout to the world that Consecration works, I would, but I would prefer to remain silent and continue discovering the silence within. (Dorothy Davis)

No Title

"...In all Spiritual Life, whatever that goal might be, the first essential thing is to Go Within. Without going inside, without being conscious inside, without changing inside, there is no progress of Life because Life evolves by Consciousness..."

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs from The Life Divine Lectures)

No Title

When you open to Mother, you are opening to the Supramental Power, which evokes the best conditions, enabling progress and transformation, on the way to establishing Supramental individuals, culminating in a Divine Life on Earth.

Sale's Manager's Commitment to Truthfulness

A sales manager contacted a personal mentor about the fact that sales had stagnated for his group over the last several years. In the dialogue, the mentor noticed that the client had mentioned his lack of honesty in his managerial position. The conversation went deeper as they now saw a link between the stagnant sales of his sales group and his insincerity and lack of truthfulness. Then in the conversation, the manager made a COMMITMENT to be more forthcoming with his staff. The following took place during and after these conversations over the course of several days:

--As soon as the manager sent the first contact email to the mentor, he received favorable response from his team on a deal that they were currently pursuing. The manager made a conscious effort in his email to the mentor to be as honest as possible with him. The email from his team came right after he sent the mentor the original email summarizing his challenges.

--After reading the mentor's response, the manager decided to address an issue with salary changes for some members. He had been postponing this task for a while. He texted these members and apologized. He then worked on salary adjustments to his boss, and a separate inquiry to HR confirming several items. When he then opened his Inbox, the first email was from a team member stating that one of their clients requested they start a project right away and that they needed to provide them with initiating papers. This was totally unexpected.

--The manager had been working with his past personal training studio (outside of work) to resolve a billing question he had. The owner of this personal studio did not provide him the details he was looking for. The manager would email her every week without any progress. He was starting to get frustrated. Then the day of the main exchange with the mentor, she sent an email mentioning that she will provide all the details (without any email reminders from the manager).

Before, during, and after these experiences the manager acknowledge his lack of honesty during sales and delivery situations. He mentioned that he didn't feel good while lying, and too often rationalized these events as something he needed to do for being part of a competitive business, thereby blaming it all on circumstances.

He acknowledges his lack the courage and psychological fortitude to be completely honest. As a result of contacting the mentor, he began the process of revealing his dishonesty, and his commitment and determination to overcome it. As a result, the first series of life response miracles ensued!

No Title

Life is conscious. It is constantly responding to our positive and negative behaviors and beliefs.

No Title

There is great pleasure in seeing people you know rise in Consciousness.

Progressive Change of the AI Program in 'The Book'

We see a steady, yet dynamic phenomenon occurring in Garry Jacobs' epic, mystical novel about an AI software company that offers the deepest wisdom in the world to solve any problem on earth:

It is that each time they experience a profound new life principle through their own dramatic circumstance, they incorporate that wisdom into their AI-based decision-making software. In that way they are growing in consciousness in parallel with the growth of their expert system software that can solve most of the world's problems

We can apply this same principle in our own life. Namely, that each time we have experiences that lead to a particular growth in consciousness on our part, we can then incorporate it into our own life plan for improvement.

Making the Right Choice from Spectrum of Choices

"...In any given moment, there is a spectrum of choices before us. When we perceive them and then consciously choose in the right direction, the conditions of life quickly turn in our favor. On the other hand, if we fail to choose rightly, then life remains in stasis, or falls back. It is thus in those precious moments when all the world waits on our choice that determines whether or not we will invoke the miraculous.

There is also one other point to consider. Not only can we evoke life response by understanding the current conditions and choosing correctly, but we can do so at any moment in time, "on demand." In this way, life response can become our never-ending reality..."

(From, 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of LIFE RESPONSE' by Roy Posner)

On Fear and Overcoming Diseases

Some of the diseases which are considered most dangerous are the easiest to cure; some that are considered as of very little importance can offer the most obstinate resistance.

Nine-tenths of the danger in an illness comes from fear. Fear can give you the apparent symptoms of an illness; and it can give you the illness too,— its effects can go so far as that.

Whatever the character of the experience you have, you must give no room to fear; you must keep an unshaken confidence and feel that whatever happens is the thing that had to happen. Once you have chosen the path, you must boldly accept all the consequences of your choice. But if you choose and then draw back and choose again and again draw back, always wavering, always doubting, always fearful, you create a disharmony in your being, which not only retards your progress, but can be the origin of all kinds of disturbance in the mind and vital being and discomfort and disease in the body.

- The Mother

Meaning of the Moniker of 'The Book'

'The Book - the spiritual individual in quest of the living organization' This is the title, the moniker. But what does it mean?

"The Book" - It is the deep, spirit-based wisdom in the form of a book that is the basis of the company's software that is increasingly capable of solving any social problem on earth.

"The Spiritual Individual" - It is the highly individualistic leader of the team who is steadily becoming more deeply conscious, by understanding and applying the spiritual-based wisdom of The Book.

"The Living Organization" - It is the company firing on all cylinders, suffused with values, in harmony with its surroundings, producing results of absolute perfection.

Now we can perhaps better understand the moniker for the novel "'The Book - the spiritual individual in quest of the living organization" I.e. the leader is becoming an evolved spiritual individual by going through the process of making his organization integrally perfect.

Great Literature Gives Insights into Character of Life

"...the great literature of any country and culture not only entertains us; It gives us insights into human nature, into how people act, into why we are the way we are. It also shows us the true nature of, the Character of Life..."

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs from Savitri lectures)

Openness in a Crucial Moment

In a key moment in history, in a decisive moment in one's life, at any crucial point in time if that individual(s) remains open-minded, attuned to possibilities presenting, then a significant or great outcome and progress can quickly come about. It will be an evolutionary moment. If however that individual(s) is closed-minded relative to circumstance, is prejudiced in belief, then it will be an opportunity missed, or even worse, a trouble increased; even a slide into oblivion.

No Title

What we think is the truth and what actually is are two different matters. Therefore we should be sure to confirm the facts, rather than be ensconced in our delusions.

Ghosting

Ghosting is the act of disappearing from a friend, associate, boss, or loved one because you no longer want to associate with them, but do so quietly, almost seeming to have vanished. Hence the moniker "ghosting."

Unfriending in Facebook, quitting a job without informing one's boss are examples. The morality of it is covered in heated discussions. Is it an act of liberation or one of callousness are several of the boundaries of discussion? Each of us have our stories; on both sides of the coin. It is rich material for discussing human nature and hence growth in consciousness.

Long-Time Response to Brave Childhood Gesture

A goodwill gesture from long ago can come back as a positive life response many years later; often being of great consequence

Eg one day in the 1950s a very young boy stopped a bully from continuing to pounce on a friend in the back of a school bus. Years later the parents of the pounced-on boy would come to offer the now adult young man a job that would lead to a vast opening in his career; indeed an enormous change and focus in his entire life!

It was a life response to the young boy's act of bravery many years before when he was compelled to come to the aid of a boyhood friend in distress.

No Title

Not reacting with emotion to an outer negative intensity is the surest ways to neutralize it or change it into good fortune. Reacting only intensifies it.

Nature of Synchronicity

Synchronicities have a variety of behaviors. One is that when a subject or matter is focused on, it awakes corresponding formerly dormant participants into your purview from seemingly out of nowhere.

Eg two individuals start planning on partaking in the publication of a book in printed format. Suddenly people related to the project closely or distantly start communicating with the two, though they have no knowledge of the two individuals' actions. In fact, their interactions may have been dormant for weeks, months, or years on end - till this moment in time. These other people's reactions have become synchronous in space and time, through common vibration that attracts them to the originating parties.

Kali & Mahakali

After going through Mother's comments in Mother's Agenda on the subject of Kali, I came up with the following understanding:

--There is Kali a universal power/God who wants to strike out hard when it perceives ignorance and absence of other right attributes in the world. Mother often has experienced Kali's intense desire to act in these circumstances, and yet often wants to calm her down so that a more peaceful approach can take shape.

--There is also Mother's MahaKali nature (of Her four aspects) which is Her warrior nature, Her forcefulness, and absolute determination, will to do what is necessary, etc.; that is in tune with the Divine Intention.

--There are also sub-Kali's warriors of the original Kali God, who act beyond and in the world.

--Plus there are Kali aspects that rise in our individual selves, mainly as vital entities that want to act, strike, etc. based on want, desire, emotion etc; which is generally false and dark.

--Then there are groups of individuals who worship various aspects of Kali, in temples and elsewhere, on holidays and in festivals, for better or worse.

No Title

This moment in time we are now experiencing has never existed in the history of the universe, and so we are prospective pioneers of the evolution of life on earth.

Ultimate Team Players Who Attract Great Results for the Collective

Let's say you are on a team - whether in sports or on a project or elsewhere, and you want to know the best way to contribute to its success.

Well of course one can contribute through one's skill, capacity, knowledge, effort, etc. It will certainly help the team/group move forward and succeed. But how can you attract circumstance that has a dramatic impact on the ENTIRE GROUP?

One approach is to examine one's own Limitations - whether physical, emotional, psychological, or mental - relative to the activity, and try to overcome it. As a result, life is bound to respond not only for your own personal betterment, but for the collective team or group as well.

There are many strategies of this sort that can attract benefit for the collective one is part of. Most relate to shedding negative attitudes and embracing positive ones; as well as taking to higher personal and work values. Eg you shift from blaming other team members or the coach or outside forces such as the media, and instead take personal responsibility for circumstance. Doing so will evoke a response from life for everyone involved.

For example, one athlete played little on the professional sports team he was on because a series of serious injuries had reduced his effectiveness. However, he never complained about his situation, maintained a very positive attitude, and did everything he could to improve his physical rehabilitation and conditioning. As a result, through unexpected, serendipitous circumstance, he was suddenly was catapulted to first. Then the team would go on to win a championship!

We have this universal power at our disposal to attract good fortune for the Collective entity we are part of. By shifting our orientation from the outer problems we encounter on the team or group to an inner psychological orientation to the positive, we release energies that move out and align with the very best outcomes for the Collective we are part of.

As a result we become Ultimate Team Players in the field of life.

Starling Mysteries, Synchronicities Surrounding an Actor's Nomination

A well-known American actor has finally been nominated for an award for acting by his peers. Moreover, in an interview recently he revealed that his family only a few weeks back had suffered a great catastrophe as the California fires in the South had overtaken his home and burned it to the ground.

Interestingly it was this very actor who was the voice of Smokey the Bear; the national mascot advertisement that has run for over 75 years to prevent forest fires in the national parks and elsewhere. Moreover, on the very day the actor was born in the 1940s, the Smokey the Bear campaign first began!

Who can make up such "coincidences?!?" Is life really random, as some believe, and this man simply fell into one of its traps? Or is Life CONSCIOUS; and so these startling associations are really synchronous and filled with meaning.

Here we have a man who was the victim of the very thing he advocated and was a spokesman for - fire prevention. And its representation, Smokey the Bear, had its origins on the day of this actor's birth. And to top it off, this has come about just as he is about to be nominated for the highest acting honor of his profession; in view of billions of tv viewers around the world!

From these and countless other experiences of others and ourselves, we can begin to clearly perceive that Life is conscious, that it has a character, and therefore unfolds in synchronous ways filled with meaning, - if only we look beyond the surface.

No Title

Life is repeatedly testing us on a weak point in our nature. Those who measure up to that test, quickly advance in their lives. Those who don't will have to relive the challenge and experience.

Writers' Subconscious Knowledge of Life's Character

"... Every writer has within him or her, to a greater or lesser degree, a subconscious knowledge of the workings of life. Therefore, when that author portrays a scene through the expressions of one of more characters, there is an instinctual sense of how life really operates under those conditions. It is not that they have a knowledge of the phenomenon of life response per se, but a sense of how life flows and what scenes, events, and outcomes would naturally arise from their predecessors.

The greater the artist -- e.g. a William Shakespeare, Alexandre Dumas, or Jane Austin -- the more they capture the subtle nuances of life, and hence are more likely to express life response incidents in their stories..."

(From 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of LIFE RESPONSE' by Roy Posner)

No Title

The serious devotee is continually being put in the position of having to turn impossibilities into possibilities. Stillness and consecration make it happen.

No Title

It is a truth of life that Nature works on many fronts simultaneously -- whether individuals or collectives, or both. It is the way Nature overcomes past limitations en masse, on its way towards greater progress and evolution.

Comment: Thank you Sir.

Perhaps deep behind there is a cosmic intention which builds the Reality through such events, individuals and so forth and one may be able to perceive them by Becoming of That.

It is an adventure of consciousness as how Life compels and guides them through towards that Reality. Such theme can be found in great literature and films.

Sea Biscuit is one such great film, where the characters Red, Howard, Smith and the horse Sea Biscuit from out of nowhere, united together and through that process overcame their painful past and accomplished in Life.

Response: Yes, Seabiscuit is a great example, as several individuals, and even several vast collectives simultaneously benefited from a common challenge and ordeal successfully navigated.

And yes the Divine sanctions Nature's (Prakriti's) way, even though it Knows even better ways to achieve great success, that are devoid of struggle and pain. When we are in touch with the Reality we can follow this Sunlit Path of opening to the Divine Force (the Mother) to rapidly move things forward, instead of waiting on Nature's slow and difficult path.

Using "Grateful" Instead of "Thanks"

It is said that using the term "grateful" is far more powerful than "thanks" or "thank you" or even "my pleasure." E.g. -

Instead of saying, "Thanks for staying late to get that done," say you're grateful -- and say why. Say, "I am so grateful you volunteered to stay late yesterday. You saved me from having to call the customer to say we were going to miss the deadline." (Jeff Haden)

Such use of Gratitude not only expresses one's heartfelt and sincere feelings about the matter, but also has Life Response power to evoke sudden good fortune from out of nowhere. Over the years we have witnessed many examples!

Misreading Woman in Booth

So many times do we misread the physical actions of others (let alone the emotional, psychological, and mental).

A man was sitting in a restaurant booth by himself. An attractive older woman sat in the next booth, facing him. Suddenly she got up and sat on the other side of the booth, with her back to the man. The man thought she switched seats so not to be bothered by him.

And yet now she was facing another man in a third booth! The woman then got up and switched back to her original seat; and so the first man assumed she didn't want to be bothered by the third man.

However a few seconds later, the woman's female friend joined her and sat opposite her in the booth. A few seconds later the first woman said "I was going back and forth trying to see which was the best seat to keep the sun out of my eyes."

The first man stunned by the development, as he had completely misread the situation!

This is a very common dynamic in life. That is why patience and being non-judgmental are such great harbingers of the truth. And why a still mind attracts intuitions of truth into the mind without thought. And also why orienting your life to a deeper poise within makes you more aware of what is truly happening on the surface.

No Title

Silence concentrates the energies, attracting success.

Comment: Silence in thought, in speech, even in action.

No Title

At each key moment think about and do what the right thing is. Life will quickly reward you in return.

No Title

Often when you accept taking on a significant work that is very challenging, even overwhelming, you tend to attract future ease in this or other areas, even before you undertake the original activity. It turns out that just making that brave decision has that life response-easing effect.

Valuing Continuous Improvement

Periodically ask yourself this: is there a way I can improve my environment, myself, or any other aspect of my life? After all, there is always scope for Continuous Improvement; one of the highest of human values. You may be utterly surprised by what you come up with!

A man was observing his friend struggle with emptying the water from a defective washing machine. This went on for weeks. He then asked her if this activity could somehow be improved. Indeed she suddenly understood a better method for draining the water. It seemed to have eliminated 75% of the effort involved.

Just the effort to come up with improvement had attracted a successful solution into her mind. We can follow that same approach, over time establishing Continuous Improvement as a personal value we deeply cherish.

No Title

Making a determined effort and solving a pesky problem in one area of your life tends to be an unexpected solution in another.

Improvement Attracts Work for Instructor

Making an extra in an area long neglected tends to attract work for that item instantaneous to working on it, though you have not heard from the responder in months on that subject!

A trainer put in extra time on a software program he taught others by upgrading it to the new version. It took ~ an hour. At the very instant he completed it, his agent contacted him for work on that topic, though he had not heard from or communicated with the agent for months on anything related to that subject matter.

We see the life response evoking powers of giving things greater Attention, as well as Continuous Improvement in action.

No Title

As we eliminate our negative propensities in relation to our romantic partner, as we cherish the good qualities and not react to the negative ones, as we aspire for ever-increasing intensity and complementarity with another, we not only grow as a person, but we enter the realm of the spirit – of harmony and unity.

Social Stigmas in Relationships

True love transcends social position, class, religion, wealth, race, and any other external factor. Love is eternal in the heart and soul of one individual that links with the heart and soul of another.

Four Quadrants Approach Explains Unexpected Latter Success

Often a person's focused intention and aspirations for something to come about gets fulfilled, beyond all expectations, in the near or distant future, long after he has forgotten about the matter!

—

We can see an example of this dynamic utilizing Karmayogi's 4-quadrant system of predicting success.

In one instance we can see how the inner intention was there and positive (quadrant 2), but the outer was not, as it was somewhat negative. As a result, according to the rule of that quadrant, the result did not occur short term. But longer term it could occur, and in this instance did occur because not only did the inner intention still maintain itself,

This occurred with an aspiration of mine ten years ago for Microsoft Project to join the Microsoft Office set of apps. I mentioned that the masses would use it, whereas now it is only being used by a limited set of individuals. This was thus a positive inner, i.e. of my aspiration.

However, the Microsoft leader countered that by keeping it the way it was, they were making huge sums of money off the exorbitant price of the app. He brazenly admitted so! Obviously this was negative.

Since the outer was negative back then, the inner aspiration that was positive was not enough to make his aspiration come about; and it failed to materialize.

However, years later Microsoft has reversed itself, and is now taking up what the devotee aspired for. So now Project will enter the Office 365 domain, and likely be a boon to all people in the world using software to track projects.

In Quadrant 2 the inner is positive, but the outer is negative, so the possibility fails in the short run, since the outer determines immediate success or failure. It can however succeed in the long run, since the inner aspiration maintains itself. In this case the aspiration persisted and Microsoft took it up.

—

4 Quadrants:

Quadrant I is (+,+) meaning all the inner urges and outer factors are positive. Result: Unfailing success

Quadrant II is (+, -) the inner is positive and the outer is negative. Result: Difficult to begin but will end in a success.

The III is (-, -) a quadrant where both are negative. Result: Cannot begin, but if begun will fail.

The IV is (-, +) the inner is negative and the outer is positive. Result: Make a good start but end in a failure

... of all factors, mental arrogance is the most unfavorable to the action of the divine Grace.
(Mother, from Agenda, November 19, 1966)

Comment: Yes, constant feelings and expressions of Gratitude towards a wide variety of things that come into our life releases great joy and happiness in our being.

No Title

The truly happiest of people are those who are most Self-Giving.

No Title

Constant feelings and expressions of Gratitude towards a wide variety of things that come into our life releases great joy and happiness in our being.

No Title

When an Opportunity comes your way, Consecrate it in order to know how to proceed.
The response from life will be the indicator.

No Title

Truth is not merely our very limited perspective of things, but what truly is, and what is actually unfolding in life. Aspiring to know the many-sided, integral Truth of things is thus a universal value and ideal that is spiritual in nature.

February 21

Our divine Mother came to us on this day, and continues to direct our lives, offering Her Supramental Force, from behind the veil.

No Title

Our small, petty interests that fill up our day can be exchanged for deeper and wider possibilities.

No Title

You garner great inner power when you perceive the ridiculous behavior or the ignorant beliefs of another, and rather than call them out, you remain absolutely detached and silent.

No Title

Mother does not seek ordinary people. She wants extraordinary individuals who Aspire for something greater, deeper, even Evolutionarily in intent.

Valuing Fairness

Belief in fairness is a value of the Soul. It emerges in the individual and society. It is the opposite of selfishness which is of the physical, and is an expression of the Spirit.

No Title

Silence can be thought to be absence of-Thought Speech

Intention Initiative
Action
Movement

Favorite Selling Technique

At one time, my favorite selling experience was to put the goods or wares before the customer, focus in the depths within, and never say a word!

Minimally, we can wait for them to speak first. It is a form of Silence and Silent Will; which tends to attract.

Approaching the Supreme through Truth and Other Spiritual Attributes

Truth is a living, changing thing, which expresses itself every second and is ONE way of approaching the Supreme. Everyone has his own way of approaching the Supreme. There may be some who can approach Him from every side at the same time, but there are those who approach through Love, those who approach through Power, those who approach through Consciousness, and those who approach through Truth. And each of these aspects is as absolute, imperative and indefinable as the supreme Lord himself is. The supreme Lord is absolute, imperative and indefinable, ungraspable in his entirety, and his attributes have that same quality.

(the Mother, from Agenda, December 24, 1966)

Comment: Aspiring for the full, integral Truth in any situation, condition, knowledge, etc. gets one to the Essence of Reality, which is a great thing, giving one great inner power; all in all a primary quality of Spirit..

Opposite of this is incomplete/part knowledge, ignorance, misunderstanding, falsehood, deception, distortion, lies, indifference, powerlessness, etc.

No Title

The greater the impossibility, the greater the inevitability. (Sri Aurobindo)

Comment: It means that the greater the opposition to one's work or to an opportunity, the more likely for it to come about, to be fulfilled. The opposition overcome releases a tremendous energy for the fulfilment of one's original aspiration.

No Title

What comes to us from Life is what we need for the next stage of our progress and evolution.

No Title

Things will keep coming back to us, repeating, until we change that limiting aspect of our nature. It is thus for the sake of our growth that life repeats with the same or similar challenges.

No Title

Life has come to us with challenges now - either to make us understand the limitations of our being in the past, or to prepare us for what is seeking to be born in the future.

No Title

We are trained to blame others, to point out others' flaws, while leaving our own Ego intact.

No Title

Our Aspiration for improvement in life is the Divine's Will in us; the Supreme's power to make anything aspired for real.

No Title

The world is increasingly becoming more conscious because the Supramental power is increasingly spreading throughout the globe.

No Title

the dark events in the world are a sure sign of the intensity of the unprecedented positive to follow.

No Title

Humanity has made more inner and outer progress in the last 100 years than the previous 1000 or 2000. And in the last 10-20 years there has been more progress than the previous 100. It shows that the Force behind is accelerating in the world.

Hippy Values, Silicon Valley, and India

The Hippies gave birth to the vast reach of Silicon Valley, which has spread to India and around the world. Hippy values - eg then hippy Steve Jobs attending Homebrew Club with other tech-oriented hippies - created the most powerful vibration in society over the last 30 years.

It's also interesting to note that many hippy values came from India and its profound teachings. And so we see that what goes around comes around!

India > Hippy Values > Silicon Valley > India!

Indians, Americans, and the rest have little knowledge of these relationships, as they are fully absorbed, engrossed in the technology.

It is another powerful reminder that Deep Values change the world.

(photo is of Homebrew Computer Club in Silicon Valley in late 1970s)

'Halt and Catch Fire'

This is one of my very favorite tv series of recent years. It is the story of how the computer and internet revolution came to be, yet completely fictionalized, with overtones of contemporary times. It is hypnotic and educational. Filled with business, societal, and life lessons.

My own instructor and consulting career in and around San Francisco/Silicon Valley dovetailed with much of these times.

(4 seasons available on Netflix and elsewhere. Here is a 10-minute overview.)

Comment; The HACF series is raw life experience, untempered by the profound wisdom underlying The Book.

No Title

While the Ego hungers, the spiritually receptive part of the being lies dormant, unengaged.

No Title

In Mother it is a continuous Adventure in Consciousness.

Inner Factors that Attract Business Success From Out of Nowhere

- Shifting out of a negative attitude or false belief
- Seeking the full Truth of a matter
- Sincerely applying personal and business values at all levels of the organization

- Improving the cleanliness, orderliness, and systemization of the business
- Practicing non-wastage at all levels
- Practicing silence in thought and speech
- Having an intense Aspiration for improvement
- Observing opportunities coming in and fully responding to them
- Making a decision and commitment for something to happen
- Opening to the Spirit (consecration)
- Creating greater harmony in the organization
- Greater coordination, cooperation, and collaboration
- Shifting from blame to taking responsibility
- Shifting from complaint to gratitude
- Shifting from self-need to the aspirations of the company
- Embracing in full what life is asking one to do; accepting the givens
- Greater degrees of punctuality, timeliness, and reliability
- Positive, optimistic attitude. Faith in success.
- Valuing others as much as one's self
- Deeply valuing customers and employees
- Breaking habits, and doing things fresh, and doing fresh things
- Being calm and not reacting to the intensities of others
- Taking to other party's point of view, instead of insisting on one's own
- Keeping focused on one's mission, goals, and values
- Keep accounts up to date. Pay due bills. Collect all due funds. Avoid wasting money.

No Title

From one perspective, giving extra attention to negative circumstance energizes, exacerbates it.

Similarities Between Roy Posner's 'The Journey' and 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs

(by Senthil Murugan)

[The Journey by Roy Posner is a short novella about a man's involvement in the development of a computer system that is able to evoke "Life Response," i.e. sudden good fortune for the person using it. The Book is an epic, mystical novel by Garry Jacobs about a team of engineers who develop a software program that is capable of solving nearly any problem on earth.]

I read the story 'The Journey' again. As you have said, indeed it is similar to 'The Book'. In fact it came as a sign, a predecessor, as you have written the story in the 90s while Garry Sir has written a much more detailed version, The Book, ~2008. I found many parallels between The Journey and The Book including:

- the touch of revolutionary spirit in the beginning of both stories. (Acropolis in The Journey vs Garry Sir's several experiences as indicated in The Book.)
- cosmic connections of characters across the globe meeting and working for a common purpose
- mysterious events throughout the stories
- events of synchronicity, coincidence in the stories
- similar start of the story as subconscious quest of one character in The Journey, and the four members of the team in The Book
- the stories also end in similar fashion (though different context), where Dan in The Book starts to think that he knew something, and in The Journey the man starts to think about the possibility of New Dawn on earth. (Also, interestingly both events occur after in conversation with female characters Kristy (The Book) & Liddy (The Journey)!

- similar breakthrough experience between Anya's reversal of her professor in The Book and the man's reversal about Jason in The Journey
- in both works, there are subtle insights of The Mother, Sri Aurobindo, and Sri Appa, but expressed in different context. (Garry Sir also explained in his speech about The Book that he wrote the novel for Westerners to aid them in business and accomplishment, etc, and yet it contained everything of The Life's Divine and Sri Appa's principles.)
- and many others.
- I think both books are not easy to take up, unless one has an inner quest and interest. Though The Journey is much smaller book, the quality of the English is very rich, and the way it was written with a mystery unfolding behind the scene, requires interest and patience.
- as it is the time for The Book to become popular, perhaps it is the time for The Journey as well.

(Roy Posner adds)

- both the man in The Journey and the team in The Book are on an Adventure; a hallmark of which is not to know what is coming next; which is in essence the "Adventure of Life".
- use of artificial intelligence in Excalibur in The Journey and the expert system-based AI in versions of the software in The Book are similar. The former had the capacity to evoke life response, and the latter could solve most any problem on earth.
- Both books are full of synchronicity power. When we take an interest in them in various ways, life responds for that individual with startling "coincidences" and synchronicities. The works have that power to effect Life, for Life to respond.

(SM)

- the Journey and The Book carries such Consciousness, it evokes powerful response when one tries to identify with it.

download free pdf of The Journey here:

<http://royposner.weebly.com/.../2/7/1/0/271003.../thejourney.pdf>

download free pdf of The Book here:

http://www.karmayogi.net/books/gj/The_Book.pdf

Internet's Accelerating Information and Human Progress

Internet is liberating us by providing ever-accelerating, infinite-like amounts of information; bringing all problems of the world into the bright light of day. Thus nothing and no one can be ignored. This will help further human progress, evolution as limitations in society are made that much clearer so they can more readily be addressed and eventually solved.

30,000 Years

The Mother says Sri Aurobindo's teachings - of a future supramental, divine life and existence - are 30,000 years ahead of the times; in terms of understanding and realization. And yet because of the Supramental Force's accelerating descent and power into the earth's atmosphere, that divine existence can happen much more quickly; perhaps in 300 years; or even less.

The first stage required is to expand our minds and begin to understand His infinitely profound spiritual teachings. Not one in a million on earth comprehends it, and even 99% of followers of Hindu thought misunderstand or misinterpret His futuristic spirituality, as they lean on the Indian tradition and cannot go any further. And yet the founders of Mother's Service Society (MSS) have made groundbreaking strides in bringing to light the Master's unprecedented spiritual view of a Divine Life on earth.

Thus the time is ripe now for those with great Aspiration and Sincerity to be pioneers of that emerging knowledge; while practically applying it in the details of their lives - so that 30,000 years of advancement can begin to take shape in a matter of decades; or even less!

No Title

The Mind seeks to run with one point, ignoring all others, until reality sets in.

No Title

Man vociferously seeks to defend his position, his point of view, like a dog protects its bone.

No Title

Losing yourself in the needs of the customer is the foundation of all sales success.

No Title

Consecrating each sales interaction is the key to attracting INFINITE sales success. (It's also true for any work-related activity.)

No Title

What we are aiming for is the continuous, never-ending Cooperation of Life.

Origins of Consciousness

Science says Consciousness begins when humans become aware and understand. Sri Aurobindo says Consciousness has always existed - emanating from a Divine Source - and slowly beings on earth from lower to higher come in touch with that infinite Consciousness through their knowledge and experiences, thereby becoming more conscious and aware.

No Title

Experiencing what's wrong compels you to discover what's right.

India's motto

"Unity in Diversity"

is gradually becoming the Mission of the world.

Overcoming Limits of Knowledge, Mind, and Time through Karmayogi's Wisdom

We live in an essential Ignorance of how life works, what it's purpose is, and how to make it respond, as we slowly make our way to a vast integral Knowledge of that truth, by the means of a very limited instrument- Mind.

Fortunately Karmayogi has explained an infinite variety of ways to facilitate that process, enabling lifetimes of acquired wisdom (requiring many births) to occur in a single lifetime, even a single decade; even year. We need only reach out and drink from that fount of ultimate Truth.

Thus we are infinitely blessed to be associated with Him, as we are able through his genius works, to abridge vast periods of time, attracting infinite-like results in the here and now. And through His infallible methods, we have never-ending ecstatic experiences, on the path spiritual path of Supramental Transformation.

"Token Project" Experiment that Elicits Life-Changing Inner and Outer Results

Practice several life respond-evoking methods on a small project or endeavor, and then see which one does the trick; evokes a response from out of nowhere. Now apply the decisive factor that elicited the Response to something much bigger, like a great project or undertaking. Life is likely to respond in ways that elevate your life to heights never experienced before.

Multi-dimensional spiritual genius Sri Karmayogi calls this experiment in consciousness a "Token Project."

Eg you set aside some time and switch to a higher attitude, or a deeper value, or a consecrated effort, on small small matter, project, activity, and manage to elicit a life response result. Now you apply the approach or approaches that seemed to have the most direct effect during the token experience, but now to a much larger project or endeavor. Life will respond again, but this time on a much greater scale. A positive positive result will this time be enormous; even unprecedented in your life.

Now explore more deeply that particular factor that attracted the enormous result; making it the guiding star of your existence. You will not only elicit continuous good fortune, but you will begin to undergo a dramatic transformation of your nature.

Concentration at Physical, Vital, Mental Levels Evokes Corresponding Illness

One of Mother's statements is "If you concentrate on the body, it falls ill. If you concentrate on the vital, you get depressed. If you concentrate on the mind, it goes mad." When man focuses his mind, ego, attention on himself, he loses the normal harmony of nature. Most illnesses fall in this category. People who subconsciously want to give attention to themselves focus on the body and fall ill or the body demands attention and the more they give it, the more the body gets ill. (MSS)

Subconscious Cause of Illness that Comes with Onset of New Work

-You have frequently reported that expansion of your work or intensification of your efforts has been followed by health problems. It is a simple deduction to say that subconsciously something resists progress in this direction. In some people, the resistance issues from plain laziness, in others from fear or insecurity of venturing in new areas, in others from satisfaction with where they are, etc.

-You report that right now everything external is very positive but the body is not. In the past you have often reported instances in which illness comes just at the time of an opening in external work or when you take up a greater work seriously. If that is true, it gives a very good clue. It suggests that something in the subconscious does not want more work. It is for you to affirm or reject this hypothesis from inside. One test is to pray intensely to Mother asking for the external work to expand double or triple.

See how willingly the heart and vital energies flow into the prayer. If they respond eagerly and with full energy it is one thing. If the pray is flat or only in the mind, it suggests another. Becoming more conscious in the lower vital center helps reveal the subconscious. (MSS)

No Title

The positive and negative happening outside us is a reflection of the subconscious positive and negative occurring deep, hidden inside.

Shifting Out of Desire for Something to Happen to Detachment

There will be times where you are overly-eager for a thing to happen in a certain way. As a result of persisting in that direction, you are bound to delay or cancel the possibility. Therefore, at that point, it is best to detach from the matter, putting it out of mind, while consecrating it without expectation. Now the best thing will occur, whether or not it meets your original desire. In fact often this approach will create a kind of "spiritual vacuum" that will in fact fulfill your original intention. Over time one can learn how to engage in this delicate balance routine.

No Title

From one perspective Romance occurs to fulfill our heart's and soul's desire to connect with another. From another perspective, romance takes place so each partner, though their complementary-other, can work out and overcome the negative qualities (attitudes, habits, beliefs) in their own nature.

The Subconscious

-The subconscious lies hidden, buried within us, as a plane of being.

-The subconscious is that which we are not aware of, conscious of, but is real.

The subconscious includes knowledge and intention buried within that eludes us.

-The subconscious influence can lead us to an extraordinary and unprecedented place or outcome that our conscious being was unaware of.

-The subconscious is in tune with the Superconsciousness, but also the Darkness.

The subconscious, also called the subconscient, contains a higher element within it, called the subliminal being. This is the part in touch with the superconscient, the cosmic.

-The lower, darker aspects of the subconscious is in touch with the unconsciousness of the fixed, unchanging, physical/material aspects of our being.

-The reality around us reflects the subconscious qualities of our being. It is another form of inner-outer correspondence.

-Our goal is to make the subconscious conscious; to bring the subconscious truth to our surface awareness.

-Another goal is to convert the darkness of the subconscious into light.

-Through spiritual silence, peace, consecration, non-reaction, and all we increasingly become aware of the truths that are subconscious to us.

-We could say that what is subconscious to us is a basis of our Ignorance. Also the basis of intuitive-like Knowledge that rises up from it.

-Not only the individual, but the group, collective, society have their own subconscious aspects.

Cause of Revolution

Sometimes the forces of evolution cannot move any further forward, mostly due to the entrenched forces of the past, causing a build-up of pressure, thereby making way for an explosion of various sorts that is Revolution. It can range from violent convulsion to dramatic breakthrough.

No Title

Whenever you go to a Higher level, it tends to raise commensurate resistances from the world around you. Now you can utilize inner means to overcome it.

Continually Doing the Right Thing

We see certain individuals in literature and film who continually try to do the right thing, thereby evoking magnificent response from Life. Examples are-

-Dan in Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book'

-Mary in Trollope's 'Doctor Thorne'

-Lorenzo in 'Medici the Magnificent' tv series

Each time they practice doing the right and true thing, it has an impact beyond their understanding. Eg for Dan it enables the company to jump from providing expert system software for the stock market to expertise to higher aspects of life, including business, government, and society.

For Mary, she is able to attract vast wealth after she selflessly gave up her attachment to marriage.

For Lorenzo he is able to keep The Renaissance flowering in the 16th century, as Medici family's evil enemies are reduced to powerlessness through his goodness.

What about ourselves in this regard? in our moment-to-moment lives are we conscious enough to continually try to do the right thing? If we do, we will tend to attract startling positive conditions back to our person. Life will be our marvellous friend!

No Title

Higher values and deeds of Mother devotees not only impact their own lives, but secretly have a wider impact on society and the world. Careful observation of the inner and outer will bear that out.

No Title

In the last 50-75 years humanity has made as great a progress as the previous 2000.

Character of Life in 'The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind'

This is a very recent and inspiring film about an African boy who tries to develop a method of generating water for plantation when there is severe drought and the people are on the verge of starvation. The plot is first presented, followed by my thoughts on the film based on a Consciousness approach to the Character of Life. (Roy Posner)

PLOT

Born in Kasungu, Malawi, William Kamkwamba is a young schoolboy who comes from a family of farmers who live in the nearby village of Wimbe.

William also dabbles in fixing radios for his friends and neighbors and spends his free time looking through the local junkyard for salvageable electronic components.

Although he is soon barred from attending school due to his parents' inability to pay his tuition fees, William blackmails his science teacher (who is in a secret relationship with William's sister) into letting him continue attending his class and have access to the school's library where he learns about electrical engineering and energy production.

By the mid-2000s, failing crops due to drought and the resulting famine has devastated William's village, leading to riots over government rationing and William's family being robbed of their already meagre grain stores. People soon begin abandoning the village, and William's sister elopes with his former teacher in order to leave her family "one less mouth to feed".

Seeking to save his village from the drought, William devises a plan to build a windmill to power an electric water pump that he had scavenged earlier. William builds a small proof of concept prototype which works successfully, but to build a larger windmill, William requires his father, Trywell, to give permission to deconstruct the family bicycle for parts, which is the only bicycle in the village and the family's last major asset.

His father believes the exercise futile and destroys the prototype. However, after intervention from William's mother, William and his father reconcile, and with the help of his friends and the remaining members of the village, they build a full-size windmill which leads to a successful crop being sown. (Wikipedia)

COMMENTS:

-The society subconsciously wishes for something to come about. In this case a solution to growing crops when there is no water, there are severe drought conditions

-An individual, a very young man, comes forward to offer a solution thereby fulfilling the subconscious wishes of society.

(Society evolves through its subconscious aspiration for improvement that is brought about by a pioneer individual.)

-There is also great resistance from the community, including his own father; from ignorant, reactionary forces. However it is eventually overcome. Overcome through the young boy's cleverness, aspiration, knowledge and skill.

(A society can wipe out the positive intention of the pioneer individual or support it. In this case it was a close call!)

- The boy is individualistic; thinking for himself. He is clever by coming up with a plan to make use of various junk mechanical and electronic components to solve the problem. Also, he is compelled to utilize the school library even though he was expelled from the school.
- The boy doesn't complain when others vociferously turn against him. He practices a kind of stillness and calm, that eventually attracts the change in his father who gives him the vital part, the bike so necessary for creating the turbine, to turn the windmill that will pump the water out of the ground.
- He follows the whole Process of Accomplishment to a tee: i.e. (1) intense Aspiration, an (2) Organized plan to become knowledgeable on the subject, and the (3) Implementation of the plan through high skills and right attitude. It is the "Complete Act" - i.e. intention, organized via strategies that are implemented through knowledge, skills, and right attitude.
- The father has to be dressed down and humiliated by his wife for his weaknesses, before he relents and gives the bicycle to his son. That is the only way to break his physicality; his unchanging, fixed nature.
- The boy's father, in a bout of extreme anger yells at him to give up the venture and plough the empty, dry fields. Instead the boy DOES NOT REACT, which creates the inner energy for life to respond on his behalf.
- His father's arrival is a life response to the son, for all the intention, humility, calm, intensity, cleverness, and goodness of the boy. It comes to the boy as he has just buried his dog who has died of starvation.
- His father valued education, and through his son's creative actions, utilizing the resources of the school he was so encouraged to attend, the father set the stage for the solution to the problem.
- The boy is courageous and persevering, which carries him through all obstacles.

No Title

In these hundreds, thousands of posts (since 2011) I have been trying to reveal the subtle secrets of how Life really works.

No Title

Life continually offers us circumstance where we can grow; which may be at odds with what we want.

No Title

People are up in arms, ranting and raving throughout the world on various issues. Little do they know that a moment of Deep Silence regarding the issue can create an Opening for their side that they never could've imagined.

Comment: It is the inner, Spiritual way of solving outer problems.

No Title

Happiness and success is all about our moment-to/moment Attitudes. Positive attitudes attract positive conditions. Negative attitudes - anger, fear, ego, cynicism, irritation, desire, unwillingness, et al - repel positive conditions; even attracts negative ones.

Taxes and Patriotism

Perhaps the greatest act of patriotism for the average person is paying one's Taxes. In a democracy it provides the funds for governments to function and shield us from harm. It is the great social contract between government and the people. And yet, most people look at in the other way around; an indication of our ego and selfishness.

No Title

We are slaves of money; willing to do most anything to possess it. In such situations, Human Values are thrown to the wind.

No Title

Spirituality is perfectly aligned with Truth. Religion, on the other hand, is aligned with both truth and falsehood mixed together.

No Title

Not just everybody, but every living thing, aspect of life - material or invisible - is going through an evolution in consciousness.

Illness, Well-Being, and the Supramental Body

Sri Aurobindo says there is a subtle, invisible sheath surrounding our body. When it is penetrated, illness comes in.

When our psychological framework is deficient, eg over-stressed, not sufficiently rested, negative in our outlook, taken to intensely vital activities, etc. the sheath tends to break down, and penetrated by the illness.

For each major illness, we can see a particular psychological insufficiency. Eg those who are rigid have heart conditions; those insecure have diabetes, those who are selfish have certain forms of cancer, etc. We have developed an extensive list based on experience. Reversing these psychological conditions, reverses the illness.

The Mother says that the cells of the body are pessimistic, having experienced pralayas of disintegration, and conflagrations, of suffering, death, decay, and death through the millennia in previous generations. She therefore worked for the cells to become positive, responsive; especially to the Supramental Force.

People have different psychological reasons for falling ill. Eg one man fell ill each time before a big opportunity came his way. The illness was almost indicative of his coming success. It's likely that he had a certain subconscious resistance to the work; whether a fear, a reluctance to engage in it, not wanting things to change, etc.

The Mother made the effort to overcome illness, decay of the body, and death itself. She made great progress, and was able to convert and bring the cells of her body to a state of Joy. She could not however transmute them into centers of consciousness, which was her ultimate goal, which would be the basis of a new, immortal Supramental individual.

The more attention we give to an illness, the more it intensifies.

Utter calm, and opening to the Force is the best way to tend to a current illness.

It is always worth understanding what the inner psychological cause of the illness is. Once that is understood, the body can heal instantaneously.

The "physical consciousness" within us is defeatist. When it senses illness, it reinforces it, strengthens it.

We can observe a cold coming on such as I the throat, which slightly bothers us; and then spreads through to other parts of the body through fear, focus and attention to it, through depression, etc. The lower, physical consciousness, that is defeatist latches onto the illness, reinforcing it.

For a spiritual individual, the Force may be coming down strong, but there is resistance in the subconscious part of our being, causing various pains, like ongoing headache and stomach troubles. Somewhere there is a cause of this resistance. Eg one man was in serious debt, but could not or would not pay back what was due. As a result, the Force descending turned into pain because of this psychological resistance. Once the material matter is dealt with, the physical pain will give way.

Through a 3-day prayer, opening to the spiritual Supramental Force, to the Mother, a serious illness can be completely eliminated.

The Force can best work through a state of utter calm and stillness. Patience and optimism are also great helps in bringing about the recovery.

The "programming" of the cells via the Force, and the transmutation of the various systems and organs of the body into centers of consciousness will not only eliminate all illness from thereon in, but will usher in the Divine, Supramental Being; essentially a new, Immortal human species. It includes the capacity to live as long as he/she wishes to.

No Title

Conformity repels success. Individuality attracts it, in spades.

The True, Spiritual Individual

The greatest individuals are guided by the Spirit within. They take their cues from their deepest center, which brings out the most profound insights, that lead to the greatest outcomes in life. It is the other side of life from conformity, which takes its cues from the surface, from the herd view of others.

No Title

The Divine willed our particular individual existence so that we could truly think for ourself, i.e. be a true individual, and thereby elevate life around us in a significantly unique way.

'Darkest Hour' Revisited

There are certain films and stories that no matter how many time we see or read them, they never fail to inspire. It is because they might be expressing the Character of Life, as the Truth. Perhaps 'Darkest Hour' is one such movie which portrays life events of Winston Churchill who inspired his entire nation against Hitler at indeed the Darkest hour.

Belgium had fallen, Norway had fallen. France was about to fall. 300,000 British and French men were stranded at Dunkirk, and were being bombed by German air forces. There appeared to be no hope of winning; not even a fight was possible against the mighty enemy.

The American President rejected supplying warships or any civilian ships at that crucial time. The members of Churchill's own political party were against him, and instead pressed hard to start peace negotiation talks with Hitler through Italy. They even convinced the King of United Kingdom of that tact, as he also disliked Churchill. Meanwhile, there was no favorable news from the field to save people at Dunkirk (Operation Dynamo). It appeared that he had no other choice but agreeing with his party members, and so he reluctantly agreed with them superficially, but he did not feel that way in his heart.

It is said that Grace comes when we have lost all our capacities; and often through unfamiliar, unrecognizable forms. And sometimes through people we don't like. Because Churchill exhausted all his efforts, at that crucial moment, the King he was in disagreement with came to see him, and surprisingly promised to offer his support. He also suggested that he take his views to the people. Immediately afterwards, Churchill learned of the good news that many civilian boats were ready to be initiated for Operation Dynamo. Another positive response from life to Churchill's exhaustive effort, and now a willingness to embrace those he had been in disagreement with.

Churchill went before the public, travelled underground train, and was rejuvenated by the peoples' support and willingness to fight against Hitler at any cost. The outer cabinet people echoed the same. These developments cleared the daunting doubt in his heart, and so now he boldly rejected the peace negotiation talks. And then he delivered one of the greatest speeches in history, which inspired the entire nation. Meanwhile his party members were shocked by the transformation in the views of everyone all around.

Earlier when Elizabeth Layton joined the duty, Churchill immediately wanted to fire her because she was unable to follow his first dictation. She survived through the influence of Churchill's wife. Later as Grace she would bring the letter from the King about his Prime Minister post. She continued to inspire Churchill, and therein he brought her to the War Cabinet and the Parliament. She worked with him to prepare that magnificent speech. After delivering the speech, the rest was History.

When he initiated Operation Dynamo, he said, "May God watch over them all".

The following is a paraphrase of Sri Karmayogi, translated from Tamil:

"Britain, despite the fact that they only had 237 fighter planes, fought and won the air war against 720 German planes. It was not only due to their courage and bravery, but because they exhausted all human efforts, and as a result the Divine Grace acted. And so they were able to win the war. And the Dunkirk fog which helped British forces to escape for seven days was a direct act of Grace."

(Senthil Murugan)

(Roy Posner offers these additional comments)

-Churchill saw into the integral TRUTH of things, that Hitler wished to take over the world. He saw it clearly, and so he was infinitely energized by that truth.

-As a result of his powerful insight he pushed aside all those who were defenders of the status quo, who wanted to appease Hitler. He even abandoned the support of his own party who were mostly against Churchill's view, though the opposition party was for it.

-He was willing to create all necessary relations with various parties in pursuit of the Truth he perceived in his very soul and being. And so he attracted the King to his side, when the King previously disliked Churchill.

-His exhaustive efforts attracted positive developments. His courage and perseverance were almost super-human.

-His willingness to take to the streets to hear out the people created a tremendous response from them, further energizing Churchill in his quest.

-The fog coming to Dunkirk was a Grace due to Church's intense aspiration based on the Truth, as well as the action of the Divine Grace in response. (Sri Aurobindo and the Mother worked tirelessly from within to bring about these changes before and throughout WWII.)

-He saved the world from fascism, which would have sent history backwards for hundreds if not thousands of years.

-He was a True Individual who acted based on the inner TRUTH he clearly saw before him.

-It is said that one man can change the world. He literally fulfilled that maxim.

Hierarchy of Reactions

-When confronted with a problem, blaming others is a normal instinct (physico-vital).

-Self-control is a higher instinct (mental).

-Non-reaction/complete inner silence is the highest instinct (spiritual). Positive Life Response occurs shortly after Reader: U message every single time to my daily incident..thank you sir.. just now thinking about an incident happened at my office. My colleague was telling though I scrutinized a file I missed a particular concept which our boss needs a clarification. (actually it's her desk work but my boss wants all of us to see the file as a precautionary measure.) I suddenly reacted that I have mentioned that point to some extent but not in boss's angle.

After seeing your post I realised that I must be in silence.

Overcoming Bad Inner/Bad Outer

"If you try to rise up in a negative atmosphere where you also are not inwardly prepared, life will bring forth circumstances that can crush you out of existence."

This quote is a reflection of one the 4 scenarios, 4 boxes of the Success Matrix Karmayogi has created for decision making.

1. Good inner, good outer (i.e. atmosphere). Short and long-term success.
2. Good inner, bad outer. Short term failure. Longer term success.
3. Bad inner, good outer. Short term success. Longer term failure.
4. Bad inner, bad outer. Short and long term failure.

The quote you mentioned is essentially the 4th scenario. Under these conditions no effort will succeed.

Best then to either wait for the outer to become more positive before acting or make the inner more positive. To do the latter requires rising in consciousness relative to the psychological needs of the work - usually related to one's limitations in attitudes, organization, values, beliefs, effort-level, habits etc.

So it takes self-scrutiny or life guidance from others to help one make the climb out of one's limited Inner state. In addition to above determinants (attitudes et al) Spiritual methods would be included in the mix, like Non-Reaction, Mental silence, Consecration, and all. Hopefully the outer will also improve as a result, clearing the way for long and short term success when actions is taken.

No Title

Happy to realize that "Mira" is contained in "miraculous."

Embracing the Givens That Launched A Career

If we were to look back on our life, we would discover key moments that determined the course of events from thereon in. Often it comes subconsciously, as one takes an action here or there, and then life on its own seems to have brought a commensurate reaction of circumstance in another area. One that in fact can be the start of an entirely new direction in one's life, such as the blossoming of an entirely new career. Let me give you a very personal example.

In 1989 I was hired as international franchise manager of several dozen desktop publishing centers in California and around the world. I would contact the franchisees to smooth out matters with corporate, developed standard operating procedures that would become a franchisee handbook, and various other tasks related to our member centers around the world.

One day when at corporate headquarters in San Francisco I was asked to train two members of one of our franchisees on several software packages that were necessary to know by employees in that industry. My first response was surprise that I would be called on to be involved with such a low-level activity. After all I was the international franchise manager, not an instructor. And so, though I took up that task, there was a bit of resentment building inside me. And yet soon after I was able to control myself - bruised ego and all - and absorbed myself in the instruction I gave on a PC that the three of us were gathered around.

It turns out that an hour or so into the training something startling occurred. Two very attractive, professionally-dressed women came into the facility, and greeted me. At first I thought they were offering some service that would be beneficial to our company, including the franchisees, and so I would be a logical contact for them to make. However, after a few moments I realized that was not why they here. They were in fact suggesting that I come work for them as an instructor for their new software training company in the East Bay.

Then I wondered how they had found me. Perhaps they saw me training the two staffers on the PC, and that is why they came to me. Or perhaps someone previously informed them about me and my whereabouts by some other individual. Or perhaps it was something else. In any case, I never found out.

However, after leaving the desktop publishing company several months later, I thought why not contact this training company and see the possibilities there. They were after all located right in my own backyard in the East Bay. And so I made an appointment and met with the same two women at their facility in San Ramon. They then signed me up to be the instructor of a few classes to see if I liked it. Well, it started off a bit clumsily, but I made it through it. And it then would turn out to be my first classroom training experience of my life. In fact, that class kicked off a 30-year training career that continues till this very day!

I have thought back many times over the years about the two professionally dressed women who appeared right before me that day. Their arrival several months earlier at the San Francisco facility while I was training two franchisee members on a mere software program would turn out to be one of the seminal moments of my life. One that launched a life-long career.

And recently I started thinking about this event again, as I have been reviewing a number of key moments in my life. One thing I have come to realize is that though I was not sure how the two ladies discovered me, I knew for sure that it was my willingness and acceptance to train the two franchisee staffers at the SF headquarters on a relatively low-level activity attracted the two women from out of nowhere that would change my life. By giving up my ego and taking up my boss's request and fully absorbing myself in that training activity with two franchisee members, I attracted a result that would change the course of my existence forever.

Opening to the Universe Attracts Startling Result for Speaker

When you open up to the universe, your deepest, most precious aspirations in life can quickly be realized.

A man had been travelling around the world on and off for decades speaking on issues of social development, economics and all; but never speaking in public of his own life-long spiritual quest, the signature spiritual moments of his life, etc.

One day his teacher told him that when he makes his next speech - which was to be in Israel, - he should have no prepared outline, but should instead speak off the cuff on the social development-related issue he agreed to address.

When the man arrived at the talk, the first question from the audience was a request from an attendee for the man to further explain a great spiritual incident in the man's past, where a book fell on him changing the course of his life.

The man was stunned that anyone in these meetings would know of such things; particularly this great spiritual moment and turning point of his life!

And so the very topic the man aspired to talk about for decades had now presented itself. By opening himself to the universe, - disregarding a speech, and going impromptu and spontaneous - life opened up an opportunity to talk about a matter so close to his heart.

That is the aspirational potential and power we have within ourself. To let go. To lay down all restrictions. To open to the Possibilities. To see where life takes is.

And as a result - as in this case, - to see our most precious secrets reveal themselves to our great delight.

Reader: Thank you Sir for sharing.

Perhaps that was the beginning...opening up a vast Reality begins very subtly, often through an act which looks insignificant at that moment. When one fully embraces, Life's Marvel to behold in its own flow.

Its amazing synchronicity to witness how the Reality opens up by taking the advice literally from Life in both the experiences of presenting to the conference and the training career.

Response; Yes very true; and in both cases we are taken down a road unexpected. The Reality is after all so vast; so infinitely varied; so infinite in scope. Why should we be reduced to one line of unfolding, when there are endless possibilities.

No Title

If India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh reunite or federate by 2050 (after 100 years of partition/separation), there will be one country with -2.3 billion population. Sri Aurobindo's fourth dream would therefore be fulfilled.

Sri Aurobindo's Dreams for India:

1. Indian independence
2. prosperity of Asia

3. prosperity of India
4. re-unification of greater India
5. India as Guru of the world

The first dream was fulfilled. Life is now fulfilling the 2nd, and moving on to the 3rd, with intimations of the 4th and 5th.

No Title

~37 years ago Mother's Incense began production in India, and I and my partner began the first sales effort in USA (Northern California, San Francisco area). We sold the first line called Mother's Fragrances, as we carried around our sample display from store to store in our sales effort. It was a Pioneering work I was thrilled to be part of. Now there are four lines, and various accompanying products. Congratulations on the new Herbal line of Mother's Incense! My Her Force spread round the world through these natural, herbal agarbathies!

-Roy Posner

Triple Work Marvel of Remaining Calm

[I recently discovered the following from a 1998 email I sent to a friend, indicating the life response power of non-fluster, calm, and acceptance of the work]

Dear Garry,

I also have some tales to tell.

--Non-Fluster Attracts

Last week I decided not to get flustered anymore with Dian my training leader on the Autodesk project even as her confusion escalated and she piled more work on me. Five minutes later I went to the mailbox and received the check for MTI Double It! work from MIRA which was months late!

--Shifting to Enjoyment of Work

This morning, after days of exhaustion and continuous pressing of work, I decided to enjoy the work, even the details, and considered the pressure as part of the opportunity. I expressed this positive attitude in a phone conversation to Dian (again just after a phone call in which I am further drowned in work from her!). I go to the mail box ten minutes later and find the check from my training company AND first blessing packets from Robin in months!

Oh, these were so obvious, it was ridiculous!

Roy

-- PS My EMail had not been working (the access # was busy for almost a day), preventing me from interacting with everyone, including my training company. I decided not to get flustered, and contacted AT&T in a calm way (again considering it part of the work). So I got hold of a different access number, and dialed in for email. It worked, and there were your two inspirational messages. So it was really a triple marvel!

Origins of Life Response Work?

[This conversation (including what follows here) may have been the beginning of my career in relation to Life Response - books, videos, consulting, advising, etc.]

"Roy

I had received and read your Friday message but somehow saw only the first two paras in the preview box and thought that was all. This afternoon I noticed an unread message in your message box and discovered that I had missed the best part. Your examples are wonderful. We should gather as many as possible under different headings -- change of attitude, expectation, fear, token initiative, silent will, etc. This will be rich material for the growth site and Evolve program.

Thanks for sharing yours.

Attracting Work by Giving Up Belief in a "Slow Season"

[from a recently discovered 1999 email I sent to a friend]

I was just thinking about the idea of PERSISTENT effort that was mentioned in the Unfailing Success article (as well as a related questionnaire statement that you came up with for the personal growth program).

I thought about the fact that in the early spring (i.e. now) my training workload is usually pretty heavy; but it normally falls off a bit in late spring/early summer. So I thought that it would be worth it if I was able to somehow fill my calendar during that period (I had no idea how to achieve it; plus I wondered where I would get the energy to do the work, coming after a period of heavy work in the previous period).

Within 2 minutes of this thought (which I'm not sure I ever had before as it relates to myself for this particular circumstance) I got a call from my training company asking me to do a series of classes during that period! This had the effect of turning my schedule for training during that period from moderate to heavy!

(Not embracing the belief that there is little work during that period and the willingness to work during that period, evoked the response. It shows where a growth path lies!)

A Single Individual's Ability to Affect a Societal Problem

Our theory [of Social Development] describes the process by which societies develop naturally. It can be applied by governments to formulate effective strategies. It can be applied by companies to identify opportunities to act as agents. It can be applied by individuals to become pioneers to personally develop and benefit by activities in line with the general progression of the society, e.g. Bill Gates.

It does not readily lend itself for conversion into a strategy that a single individual can take to move the whole society. That requires a greater force than that of the individual. But as a Mother's devotee, your intense aspiration for a solution and offering of the problem to Her can DEFINITELY lead to a response from life -- a subtle action that resolves the problem. We have seen it many times. ICPF's impact on the cold war and rising levels of unemployment is an example.

All that is necessary is your intense personal interest backed by full emotional intensity, faith in Mother, impersonal (non-egoistic motive) and consecration. If you care to make an experiment, try for a week and observe closely the newspapers to see if there is any reflection of your effort.

(Garry Jacobs' 2000 comment to Roy Posner)

Reader: I think such efforts are required to bring relief to the acute water problems in Chennai this summer

Response: You can see life response examples of accomplishing this and similar (including drought overcome) on page 531 forward in book 'A Life Response Reader' here:

http://lrcenter.weebly.com/.../a_life_response_reader.pdf

Reader: Thanks a lot. The way the climate is changing is scary. The temperatures are scaling heights which are unseen before. How the human body will cope up with such changes is a huge question. Truly we need Mother's intervention

Response: We can evoke Her and Her response. The methods to do so along with corresponding successes are explained.

Shifting Center of Consciousness Experience

For years I have had a startling experience where I no longer know who this person is inside me, who or what is looking out from within myself, where the inner me has disappeared to, etc. it is almost impossible to explain. Yet it can be at once overwhelming, frightening, and exhilarating.

I have experienced this phenomenon perhaps 200 times in the last decade or so. It usually lasts -15 seconds, and sometimes I can even make it occur at will. Starting -2010 it began occurring fairly regularly.

The other day I found an exchange I had with Karmayogi in 2001 that might explain it: It was perhaps after the very first time I had this startling, impossible-to-explain experience:

"Appa saw your experiences. He said it is not that you were a person with NO consciousness, but your consciousness lost its present centre and was rising up to create a new centre, so in the meantime for that 15 seconds you felt as if you had no consciousness.

This is an experience one gets at the Samadhi, he says. If you cultivate it, remember it, long for it, it can become permanent."

No Title

Unfortunately, we are not centered, absorbed in the magnificence and power of Consciousness, but rather in the accepted reality and limitations - hardness, fixidity, rigidity - of ordinary Mind.

Cigarette Synchronicity

I recently listened to a radio program about the hundredth anniversary birthday of famous great African American singer Nat King Cole. He died in 1965 at the age of 45 from lung cancer. He was a heavy smoker. I took great interest in the discussion since NKC was a great favorite of my father and somewhat myself.

When I arrived back home 10 minutes later, I saw what I thought was a candy wrapper on the lawn near our palm tree; the only thing that was not grass. I picked it up and it said "Marlboro rewards." I understood that it had something to do with the famous cigarette company. Probably a discount on cigarettes coupon or similar benefits. The synchronicity was too obvious!

Life Is continually throwing up such synchronicities, 98% of which we miss. As we become more conscious, we increasingly perceive them all around us.

PS Synchronicities are often precipitated by taking a Focused Interest in a subject matter, circumstance, event, etc. - as was the case here.

No Title

The deeper the consciousness, the more very-helpful Intuitions of knowledge from highest levels of mind present themselves.

No Title

There is the divine Reality beyond this universe, but there is also the divine Reality that IS this universe, that is Evolving.

Non-Assertion Power

When you hold back from asserting your position, it gains power, especially if you psychologically detach from it. At that point, it re-emerges through the words of others, and through the conditions of Life.

No Title

True Love is shifting from what you want to what they want.

Go the Extra Mile; Life Will Respond

An instructor had some extra time before a class to prepare for yet another class later in the week. He thus made that extra effort, thereby making the best use of his time.

When he was done, he opened his email account and discovered to his delight that a colleague of his had completed a vast important work that the instructor did not expect to be done for a while, if ever.

The instructor's extra effort attracted an unexpected result that perfectly corresponded to his own extra work.

Life always mirrors on the outside any movement to a higher order, including making the extra physical effort.

No Title

Any movement from one's current status to a higher level of consciousness - weather of effort, attitude, values, knowledge, givingness, gratitude, etc. - tends to quickly evoke corresponding positive response from life.

No Title

It's a waste of time having a convincing dialogue with an irrational person. Best to withdraw and let Life have its say.

No Title

True Individuality opens up dynamic, never-before discovered Infinities for the world.

Comment: Thinking for yourself, being an original thinker, doer, opens up unprecedented, infinite-like results in the area or field addressed.

No Title

Do you want someone to be cleaner? Then clean an area that you have avoided. Now the other person will come around; even if they have no idea what you initiated!

No Title

Non-Reaction spiritual-like technique is difficult because we live in our Ego. Coming out of Ego, it is much easier to remember. Deeper center eliminates ego, and makes Non-reaction response almost automatic.

Perceiving Subtle Signs for Taking Action

1. Someone mentions wanting to go to someone's house. You spill a cup of coffee just as they finish the sentence. - Sign not a good idea to move forward.
2. You've been offered work and every time you try to get on the phone to do the work-they're are interruptions and you can't schedule a time that's mutually agreeable. Last time you were on the phone a huge fight broke out nearby. - Sign not a good idea, withdraw from the offer.
3. You've been consecrating an issue and just as you finish a particular prayer you get a call indicating a solution. - Sign to move forward.
4. You've been offered something and when you go to follow up on it you suddenly find yourself unable to get there. - Sign not to move forward. (Unknown)

No Title

According to Life Response phenomenon, the more you Give, the more you Receive. Similarly, the more you take, the more is taken away.

No Title

From the highest, Supramental consciousness, anything that is known, simultaneously manifests as Real In the world.

No Title

Mother in Agenda said it is an error of education, science, et al to divide ordinary life from spiritual life. They should be integrated and made one in our daily existence.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo has shown that the truth does not lie in running away from earthly life but in remaining in it, to transform it, divinize it, so that the Divine can manifest HERE, in this PHYSICAL WORLD.

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 5, 1967)

Comment: The rishis, ancient buddhists, et al sought the spirit and similar apart from life, by shunning it. Sri Aurobindo asks us to bring down, release the Spirit in the very DETAILS of life, in order to divinize it, manifesting a divine life on earth.

No Title

How do we bring the Divine into this world? We intensely Aspire for It. We free ourselves from this endlessly-repeating ordinary existence where ignorance, falsehood, and suffering persist; aspiring instead for something Greater.

No Title

Rationality that doesn't embrace the Spirit is as ignorant as religion that twists spirit into limited, superstitious ritual and view.

No Title

The true nature of Reality beckons far beyond our current understanding.

Comment: Sri Aurobindo speaks of the "Integral Reality": i.e. this universe and the spiritual plane beyond, both integrally mixed together. This is the True Nature of Reality, which defies our current comprehension.

Our Triple Purpose in the Evolution

There are three aspects of existence: Individual, Universal, and Transcendent. When as true, spiritual individuals we help fulfil the universal (societal) purpose as devised by the transcendent divine, we further the Evolution on earth.

No Title

Had 'Adventure of Consciousness', the book by Satprem about Sri Aurobindo, not fallen on Garry and Leslie Jacobs at Moe's Books in Berkeley in 1972, sending them to India, I would never have met them, thereby not come in contact with Karmayogi and Mother's Service Society, not written Life Response and other books, not been the same person, not encountered most of you, etc. etc.

Vibration "Passing Overhead" As Basis of Synchronicity

Imagine an invisible force or vibration is passing overhead. At about the same time you suddenly have an intuitive insight. You are thrilled because you believe you have just had an original idea.

Now you turn on the tv and there is suddenly someone talking about the same subject matter, when never in your life have you never heard or seen anyone on tv address that matter! From their side, they too perceive that they have had a unique insight; that was theirs alone.

Could it be that we are each tapping into the same force or vibration "passing overhead." And what you see as synchronicity is really a shared experience of some force or vibration tuned into; that you had in common.

Perhaps scientists will discover the underlying physics of this phenomenon; or better yet its true nature will be uncovered by future "spiritual adventurers."

No Title

Withholding expression of valid criticism has the power to soon evoke great personal realization on that matter by the other party.

Comment: It is a form of Silent Will.

No Title

Even those on the side of Truth can have vast gaps in their understanding.

No Title

Progress keeps happening, despite reactionary forces that oppose. In fact, it often requires those backwards-thinking entities to truly progress!

Great Social Developments Over Last 50 Years

Here is a partial list of significant social developments I have noticed over the course of the last fifty years:

- End of WWII through Cooperative Effort
- European Union (A Development Beyond the Nation State)
- End of Cold War (Opening Doors Wide to Human Progress)
- Birth of Internet (Connecting World as Never Before)
- Freedom, Democracy Spreading Among Nations
- Environmental Movement and Sanctity of the Earth
- Liberation of and Expansion of Rights of Women
- Increased Individuality (Capacity to Think for One's Self)
- Rationality on the Increase
- New Age Cultural and Spiritual Movement
- Global Consciousness
- Rise, Prosperity of Asia
- Global Trade Dramatic Increase
- Vast Increase in Economic, Political, and Social Treaties Among Nations.
- Rose of Socialistic Capitalism
- Cultural Influence of China, India
- Fairness & Equality of Opportunity
- Rapid Multiplication of Money
- Social Media, Mass Communications
- Potential of World Governance
- Dramatic Decrease in Violence
- Seriousness about Demilitarization
- Vastly Higher Levels of Education
- Life Response Experience Increasing
- Spirituality Spreading
- Mind-Body Association in Medicine
- Progressive Social Values Spreading
- Protection, Guarantee of Human Rights
- Empowerment of Workers in Workplace

- Artificial Intelligence, Expert Systems Rising
- Respect for & Integration of Other Cultures
- Reduction in Racial, Class, Caste Divisions
- Power of Technology to Uplift Our Lives
- Supramental Knowledge, Power Spreading
- Human Progress, Development Evolution Accelerating
- Incorporation of High Business Values in Planning and Execution
- Getting married and having children later on
- Not getting married or having children

No Title

The spiritual person does not Insist. He eases up on things and lets go. As a result, the other party tends to come around to one's original position on their own. It is the power of Silent Will, that attracts.

Power of Business Organization

Creating standard ways of doing things - such as standard operating procedures (SOPS), clearly defined jobs and lines of authority, well-functioning systems, et al - establishes a very solid basis for infinite-like success. It is the unrecognized power of Organization in action.

Right Response to the Negative that Lift's One to the Heights

You can do everything right in the world, and yet unexpected negative karmas can come one's way. Therefore, it is how you RESPOND to them that can make all the difference in the world - to a career, to an organization, to a movement, etc.

Often it is simply to realize that the negative serves a Purpose in the unfolding; provides the necessary energy and opposition that when overcome lifts one to where one wanted to go; or, as is often the case, to levels of success undreamed of.

No Title

Life is 10% of what happens to you, and 90% of how you react to it. (Thomas Swindoll)

INDIA HELPED SPARK THE TECH REVOLUTION!

The popular view is that high technology spread from America to other places like India over the last several decades. However less known is the fact that the Vibration of India came to America during Hippy Era of 1960s and 70s, sparking social change and the computer revolution in Silicon Valley a few years later; closely followed by the birth of the Internet, and then the Smartphone there. Thus India is in its own way is responsible for igniting the Technological Revolution that has now spread around the world.

India, Tech, And Transitions of My Life

When I arrived in the San Francisco Area in the early 1970s it was just as the hippy Summer of Love era was coming to a close and the spiritual New Age Movement was beginning there.

Many of us were in fact associated with various gurus and teachers - Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, Sri Chinmoy, Swami Muktananda, Hare Krishna movement, Bubba Free John, Sai Baba, Yogananda, Ram Das, etc. - either from India or influenced by Indian teachings. Eg from store to store my partner and I used to carry around a display of Mother's Fragrances Incense for sale throughout the Bay Area and Northern California, pioneering the fragrances named in honor of my own gurus, The Mother and Sri Aurobindo.

Also occurring just a few miles south, down highway 101 in the South Bay, was the birth of the personal computer. In fact, when I stopped selling products from Mother's Commerce Company (Pondicherry, India) in the area, I immediately got involved in selling personal computers - first at retailer Computerland and then on my own as consultant and instructor. It seemed such a natural. We were former hippies influenced by India and Indians, now dovetailing into technology, which we believed equally could save the world. It was the wonderful bridge between Spirit and Material Reality; in this case a new age of personal technology. This transition is in many ways the key story of my life.

Thus, we can make the case that India and its spiritual teachings were responsible in many ways for the birth of Silicon Valley itself, including microprocessors, personal computers, the Internet, the Web, Smartphones, etc. etc. Through the values of India coming through the hippies who got involved at the Homebrew Club and other associations in nearby Silicon Valley, we made the synthesis of spirit and matter; each in an extremely dynamic way. The San Francisco Bay Area was the center of this global transformation.

I recall years earlier my roommate at Syracuse University who was deeply into Indian teachings and other esoterica, even as he had piles of Popular Mechanics magazine under his bed, at the back of which you could purchase your own "personal computer construction set." Thus, Indian spirituality merged with technology was there ten years earlier. It was a "predecessor" event of what would actually take place in my own life, as I made the transition from being part of the hippy revolution, selling products from India, being deeply influenced by Mother and Sri Aurobindo, and then decades of work in and around the San Francisco Area (including Silicon Valley) in the profession of computer sales, software training, consulting, etc. etc.

And out of this would come all my studies on Life Response, making the career of technology an endless state of wonder via a continuous flow of marvelous response from life. Technology proved to be the field where I could practice all of the inner laws of life. And these laws, discovered by my teacher Sri Karmayogi, came from deeply rooted insights of the ancient Indian tradition, married to the Evolutionary (Supramental) teachings of Sri Aurobindo.

Satprem's 'Adventure of Consciousness' Book in Our Lives

As Mother discussed with Her disciple Satprem in the early 1970s, there was hope that his two books, 'Sri Aurobindo Or The Adventure of Consciousness' and 'On the Way to Supermanhood' would become big sellers around the world. However, Mother said that even if only a few books were sold, deeply affecting those readers' lives, it would be a great achievement.

And so it would turn out that Adventure of Consciousness, the book about Sri Aurobindo, fell on Garry and Leslie at Moe's Books in Berkeley when they were reaching for another book, that then set them on a course to travel to the Ashram, and then meet Karmayogi.

And somewhat thereafter my long-term friend in Queens, New York, M was carrying the same book around, which he showed to me, which in turn changed my life forever. The vibration of the book overwhelmed me, and I now became familiar with Him and Her. And that in turn led me to move to Northern California, and then later connect with Garry and Leslie and Appa in Southern California.

Perhaps we can thus say the book fulfilled its purpose through these few individuals and several others, just as Mother prophesized.

Reader: As Everything is Brahman, The Book carries the power, by cosmically connecting people across the world... and its vibration continues in the subsequent forms through 'The Book' and many others.

Thank you Sir for sharing.

Response: Great insight

Reader: True! Impacted my life Very Much Deeply and I bought all Satprem Work and also Agenda.

Mind of the Cell and Evolution II is also his great work. ❀

I felt Goosebumps after reading this Post. And I have travelled 15 years back when I read these posts. 🙏

Response: Very stirring comment.

Comment: Through Her intention, Mother put the power of Satprem's book in motion, and it continues to vibrate out among us in a variety of ways.

It (and its offshoots) are modestly, deliberately, yet powerfully bringing Sri Aurobindo's vision to the world.

No Title

Life consists of an endless series of small and large contradictions that we can overcome and harmonize through our Higher Consciousness.

No Title

Individual Fulfillment and Harmony of Purpose (with others, life) are the twin goals of creation.

Disruption & Evolution

Disruption in the world is not simply due to upheavals in politics, economics, and social concerns, but to a fundamental inability of limited mind to grasp the truths of life, its purpose, and the evolutionary unfolding of Higher Consciousness.

No Title

Mind tells us to go after life. On the other hand, Spirit tells to wait for Life's Initiative to arrive; and fully honor it when it comes to us, implores us.

No Title

If you are bitter about a matter, - such as an acute feeling of being wronged -- you will likely energize it, and thereby compound the problem.

Non-Initiative and Aspiration

Though Non-initiative is recommended over taking initiative, as it tends to far more often end in success, inner Aspiration - whether for higher life status, or personal and spiritual growth - is still encouraged, as it tends to attract Non-initiated great Opportunities.

Social Development Principles

-Social development occurs through a universal process; though we are unaware of it.

-It begins with the Aspiration of society for a certain progress that ends in its fulfillment.

-Pioneer individuals take to a unique understanding that opens the door to a unique possibility.

-The pioneer individual is trying to fulfill something Society subconsciously yearns for.

-If the Society agrees with the new development by the pioneer individual, social progress takes place.

-Society may also crush the pioneer individual, and his aspirations and initiatives, out of existence, preventing social progress.

-When a great progress comes as a possibility, it tends to also attract an equally strong opposing force. These are reactionary elements in society that arise to block progress.

-The process of social development can be thought of as an idea that is organized into strategies for fulfillment, which are then acted on and implemented through full effort, right attitude and positive values.

-The pioneer Individual is carrying out the subconscious will of the Society, which itself is carrying out a Universal purpose, which is carrying out the Transcendent aspiration and will of the Divine.

Transcendent

v

Universal

v

Societal

v

Individual

-Society evolved from a primitive physical state of survival, then emerged into a vital stage of community, commerce, and cooperation, and then into a mental state of organization, individual initiative, and the potential for human fulfillment.

-We have now entered the Mental stage of human evolution - of rationality, calm and relatively clear thinking. Higher still we are slowly emerging into the Spiritual domain of integral truth where spirit is applied to the details of life, enabling instantaneous miraculousness.

-The Spiritual stage occurs when true spiritual individuals progressively emerge among the people, and is fused with ultimate harmonic relations among them.

-We can think of the evolutionary process as a movement from Ignorance to Integral Knowledge. We are only partially out of the Ignorance, as humanity is yet to discover the higher principles of Life.

-"Unity in Diversity" is one way to think of the highest mission of society. I.e. we experience true individuality, while increasingly being in harmony with others and life.

-Society evolves through ever-increasing emergence of spiritual values of truth, peace, knowledge, power, joy, love, infinity, eternity.

-The personal and spiritual growth of the individuals furthers Society's growth, and vice versa.

-Society endlessly evolves, through ever- higher expressions of consciousness, culminating in a new form of humanity and a Divine Life on Earth.

No Title

The Force produces greater results when we are calm, patient, positive, and have faith.

No Title

Behind the fragmentation, nationalism, shutting out and non-collaboration among nations, there lurks the likelihood of further movements toward the Unity of Nations.

No Title

There are times where withholding broadcast of certain information is critical for its continued, on-going success. Broadcasting it can have the effect of distorting, reducing, or even halting it in its tracks.

Higher Order Relationship of Clarice & Lorenzo Medici

'Medici' is a TV series about the rule of Florence during the emergence of the Renaissance and how the Medici family served as the banking support system for society, which included patronage to the great artists of that remarkable time.

The first season involves Cosimo, the son of Giovanni, the head of the great Medici bank, who believes that it is fine to do a small evil if it enables a greater good. Giovanni's son Cosimo grapples with his father's questionable belief system, and eventually gives it up when he realizes that Giovanni has bribed various high members of the Catholic Church to secure favor.

Many years go by and Giovanni's great grandson Lorenzo is raised by his grandmother to have the highest values in life. Lorenzo grows to become an exceptional young man of high personal values and ideals; in many ways the very opposite of his great grandfather Giovanni.

At one point Lorenzo, who is now head of the Medici bank gets involved with a beautiful woman of high position who he has an intense physical relationship with. During that time many things seem to go wrong for Lorenzo, despite his high values of fairness, justice and the like.

At some point subconsciously Lorenzo realizes he needs a higher form of relationship, and soon after meets the kind and humble Clarice. She is exactly what Lorenzo needs for a higher love, as well as his own personal growth. Not the intensity of sensual relationship, but the deep love with someone who is kind, loyal, even spiritual: a perfect complement to his own powerful, deep-seated ideals.

Clarice will not only prove to be a near perfect mate for Lorenzo, but she will take several actions behind the scenes that will enable Lorenzo to overcome several very serious political and social challenges occurring around him.

His connection to an individual of a higher order proves to be a great benefit to him, as he is able to act in ways that fulfill his own deepest values, as he navigates through the complex, dangerous issues facing an emerging Florence during the flowering of the Renaissance.

Clarice and Lorenzo are two magnificent characters of the highest order, making their way through difficult, yet breathtaking times in Renaissance Florence.

—

Trailer:

<https://youtu.be/NM1E6GnHC00>

Clarice composition:

<https://youtu.be/wZk6Vi7tcYk>

Power of Values Instead of Money Concerns Attracts It Infinitely

Karmayogi indicates that great wealth can come to those who care little about money, but deeply about higher values that can bring great success in work. Example: The hippies in Northern California shunned money for Higher Values and attracted the greatest wealth the world has known in nearby Silicon Valley.

Controlling Primal Negatives

There are a number of primal behaviors we can learn to overcome in life. We can shift from-

- Fear to Faith
- Hate to Calm and (even) Affection
- Desire to Self-Control
- Ego to Humility and Selflessness
- Depression to Helping Others
- Self-Pity, Psychological Weakness to Inner Strength
- Blame to Self-Responsibility, Appreciation and Gratitude
- Fixidity, Rigidity to Openness, Willingness
- Confusion to Stillness, Peace of Mind

Life will quickly respond in your favor by taking to any of these reversals in consciousness.

America, India Leading World to the Future

America has led the world to the present, but can it lead it to the future? It can if it becomes less surface, sense-oriented, material, empirical, and more psychological and spiritual. If not, there are other candidates. India for one is a great possibility, with its rich spiritual tradition re-emerging from out of its current religious superstition, corruption, and poverty. On that basis it can become the leader and "guru" of the world.

Extra Mile Attracts Student Response

Willingness to go the extra mile to solve a problem - for a customer, client, or anyone, - can lead to all their related problems being resolved on their own!

Eg a student was struggling in a slower classroom setting. The instructor told the student he would give her some extra help on the topic during the break. She was glad to hear this. The instructor thought he likely would have his hands full with the student the remainder of the day. However, instead she later told the instructor that after the initial problem she was following along very well!

No Title

Mind seeks and struggles to know. In Spirit, knowledge comes to mind spontaneously without thought.

No Title

In a recent comment, Garry Jacobs indicated that he is having deeper insights into the circumstance he authored in his epic mystical novel 'The Book'! I.e. he is increasingly perceiving events in the story from a more profound perspective, suggesting that the narrative could become even more powerful in future, giving an even greater richness to the work.

Reader: Thank you Sir.

MAI partners are thrilled to witness synchronously the arrival of The Book rewritten by Prof.Stearne, and the next day it become available to whole world, a treasure of Infinite Wisdom belong to the entire humanity. As we all are receiving The Book synchronously now, perhaps a subtle indication of what presented in The Book is already happening and the other events that are going to manifest soon.

Response: Very powerful remark.

The Gift

Recently I conducted a two-day training session in Irvine, California. In previous sessions I had been a bit reluctant to hand out the official books for the course; using my own materials instead. However, this time I decided to incorporate these manuals into the overall curricula.

And so at a strategic moment I handed out the books to the attendees. I began by talking about a certain topic in the book. And so I asked the students to open their books for the very first time and turn to the specific page for that topic. When I then quickly looked down, I noticed that the student closest to me already had the page open. I said to her that how was it possible to get to the page so fast? After all the book is over 200 pages and it would certainly take a few moments to thumb through it to the requested page. She then said she simply opened the book at random, and instantly found herself at that very page! When I mentioned it being a startling synchronicity, the student shrugged, merely staring back at me, without reaction or emotion.

The next day we had to work with yet another book. So once again I handed out the manual, and then again asked the students to open the book for the first time and then turn to a specific page for the topic I was discussing. Startlingly, two seconds later another student whom I passed by had instantly opened to exactly the page I requested. When I asked her what she did; she too said that she had just randomly opened the never-before-opened book, and had gone to the exact page I requested!

It just seemed utterly impossible for this to have happened; and yet once again the same miraculous-like event had taken place. Though my students seemed somewhat blasé about it all, I was shaken to the core. For my students it was mere coincidence. For myself it was an indicator of something powerful and profound that had been taking place.

And so after the class, I headed home for the evening, When I arrived, I laid down on my bed to rest, but shortly thereafter heard the letter-carrier talking with my friend at the front room. They seemed to be discussing the arrival of some type of package. Two minutes later my friend came into the bedroom and handed me the object. And yet as she approached me, I instantly knew what it was, and took the package from her outstretched hands. In fact I had just received the first ever printed volume of Garry Jacobs' epic mystical novel 'The Book' that was promised to me. It was a Gift from the author that I dearly looked forward to receiving.

Then I suddenly realized why those miraculous circumstance had occurred on that and the previous day with my students. They were in essence “predecessors” events; i.e.. miraculous-like indicators of things to come; in this case a book to come so filled with consciousness that it has the power to instantly change people’s lives. In essence, my two instances of startling book-related coincidence were a foreshadow of the arrival of The Book, which seemed like nothing less than a Gift from heaven.

Adopting Complementary Vales Which Nations Lack

Complementary values are required to create a whole. The contradiction occurs in a society because the complementary values has not been exercised. Eg India had cooperation and harmony, but without real individuality in the mass. America the opposite; individuality without the necessary cooperation and harmony of purpose. And so forth for each and every nation.

The whole of the movement out of Ignorance to Integral Knowledge, indeed all of history is to discover and embody the complementary value which it lacks.

On Sri Aurobindo’s and The Mother’s Progressive Spirituality

KL: “I have been experiencing greater understanding, affinity and resonance with the progressive spiritual philosophy of Sri Aurobindo and The Mother the more my own spiritual practice and insights mature.”

RP: Congratulations.

Progressive spiritual philosophy is exactly it. They are already at the finish line silently waiting for others to arrive through materialism and even the spiritual tradition.

They saw what no one saw before; a perception that never existed before. It’s so radically different. Psychic being (evolving soul) and Supramental plane and power especially so.

And yes even this sometimes miserable universe is divine in their eyes.

—

The Indian and other spiritual traditions say that the world is unreal or an illusion or to be shunned, and we simply have to connect to the spirit. They however say, in their progressive yoga, that the world is Real, but the force must be applied to it to elevate it in consciousness; to divinize it. It’s therefore an evolutionary philosophy.

In particular, the supramental, the Mother, is the power, the integral truth and knowledge that what we open to; the Force that enables the personal, societal, universal transformation.

And inside we move from the surface to the depths, until we connect to the psychic being, the evolving soul, which will make us far more likely to open to the Supramental power, and thereby divinize life, including our own lives.

Karmayogi’s Spiritual Contributions to the World

Karmayogi has revealed to us most of the subtle laws of life, the workings of supermind, and has himself practiced integral yoga and transformation to a large degree. It is almost unfathomable how far he has gone in his experiences and writings.

He has in essence surrendered to the Force, to the Mother at every detail level of life, and has documented his findings of the many facets and workings of individual, societal and cosmic existence.

His writings are hundreds of years ahead of our times in the many fields of life he has addressed. And yet it has all been documented and offered to the world for humanity’s future reference.

His vast knowledge comes not only through his opening to the Mother, to that Supramental Knowledge and Power, but also from his deep studies of Sri Aurobindo’s ‘The Life Divine’, which is the bible of spiritual insight and the pathways to our future human existence. He has taken the Master’s radical departure from the spiritual tradition, and explained it with fresh eyes for the modern world.

No Title

Vivekananda indicated that yoga is accelerated evolution.

Societal Effect of Changing One's Consciousness

For those who are spiritual devotees, their own problem is representative of something typical in society. So if that individual raises his consciousness in connection with that issue, it can have a positive effect to the corresponding element in society. It can also eliminate that particular negativity in the world once and for all.

So from that perspective an individual problem is a universal problem.

No Title

If you go out of your way to help others, others unexpectedly will go out of their way to help you.

Thoughts on Fire at Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris

Europe is in psychological and existential turmoil. Brexit of UK and right-wing states are rising in Eastern Europe. They are also there in Italy. Yellow vest movement in France marches on. Macron is under pressure. Immigrants are hated. Trump is amplifying the negative.

France is the heart and soul of Europe, and it too is under enormous pressure. Notre Dame is the spiritual soul of Paris, which is the cultural soul of France and all Europe. The intensity of circumstance, including many-sided psychological and political conflict subtly lit the fire.

There are forces at work that want to retrench, go backward. The EU is the greatest political, social, and economic development since WWII. This development and others like it can expand much further. The forces that can enable this to happen are currently expressing themselves in the lowest possible ways.

The EU leaders need to become braver, more inclusive, and emboldened. They need to understand the economic disparities in the world and come up with innovative methods to solve them. Until then these outcast autocracies and kleptocracies will fill themselves with hate against others not perceived of their kind. They will continue to advocate incoherent and irrational policies that will further drive these nations and economies into the ground.

In addition, China, India, the US and others can play vital roles in leading the charge forward toward a better world. Asian unity, - currently expressed through many far-sited economic alliance, - is already becoming a progressive development on par with the EU itself.

Behind the current darkness there are increasing developments towards Harmony, Unity, and collective action. After all the darkness is a more intensive form of the positive that will reveal its greatness in the next rounds of human events.

No Title

As The Book says, simultaneous events are related without exception...only what they are trying to reveal, we might not know as we are on the surface. (SM)

Comment: Even apparent negative circumstance can happen parallel, synchronous to positive ones. Looking at the negative deeper, we may discover a positive element within it.

No Title

All the negative, reactionary forces rising around the world indicate the Evolution is accelerating.

No Title

As the Supramental Power descends from above, It awakens the buried, involved Conscious-force in the world, in humanity, in the individual, precipitating their further growth, development, evolution, transformation.

Spiritual Values in the Involution and Evolution

The Supreme deployed cosmic determinates, spiritual values and verities - including peace, truth, harmony, wisdom, power, creativity, love, delight, timelessness, and infinity - in the Involution from spirit to matter. Likewise, we increasingly apply those same spiritual values in our lives in the Evolution, from matter to spirit; fulfilling the Divine intent on earth.

No Title

As I advance in age, I am increasingly engaged in the yoga of going deeper within, opening to the Mother and Her Force, in order to open up opportunities, rectify problems, and transmute life, - thereby purifying, perfecting my mental capacities, my psychological being, my vital/emotional propensities, and my physical being.

Primal Energy as Source of Material Creation

Q: What happened before the Big Bang?

A: Sri Aurobindo indicates that before material creation there was/is a Divine Reality that involved itself into a primal Energy. Its intent was to further subdivide, which it did as atomic form that became the basis of matter and the material universe.

Sri Aurobindo's Cosmology and Transformational Path

Every so often I like to revisit the subject to see if and how my understanding has progressed from previous descriptions.

--INTRODUCTION TO THE REALITY, INVOLUTION AND EVOLUTION:

-The Reality consists of two movements; an Involution, a descent from the Supreme Consciousness down to matter; as well as an Evolution from matter to the Supreme.

-In the Involution/descent the Consciousness is increasingly lost, hidden, involved in order to enable a dividing action that would lead to material creation in a universe. In the Evolution the Consciousness is progressively regained to connect back with the Supreme and divinize life.

-Through the Involutionary dividing process the Supreme extends itself to material creation, though its outcome is unconscious, inscient matter. However through the evolutionary process that dumb matter evolves into conscious forms, culminating in humans that progressively embody the Supreme.

-The Supreme creates a universe for the purpose of seeing its Consciousness imbued in an infinite multiplicity and variation of forms for the purpose of infinite Delight.

-The universe is the body, the material incarnation of the Supreme - the Divine, God.

—

--DIVISION PROCESS OF THE INVOLUTION, UNITY PROCESS OF EVOLUTION:

-To begin with there is only the Supreme. It is infinite and One

-To become the material universe and beyond, the Supreme goes through a division process. It first divides into three: Sat, Chit, and Ananda

-Sat is to perceive its own I finite, eternal Existence; its Beingness. Chit is the emanation of a force, a Conscious Force as a result of recognizing its existence. Ananda is Its Delighting in its awareness of its Existence, Being, and Conscious Force.

-All three are One in Sat-Chit-Ananda.

-Within Itself the Being aspires for a universe of infinite, varying forms to be created that would embody its own divine attributes in infinite variation. That would require a dividing capacity and action, and so it extends Itself to a 4th plane - Supermind.

-Supermind will create the universe from out of the Conscious Force and the spiritual attributes of SatChitAnanda.

-There are divine-attributes bound up in Sat, Chit, Ananda that the Supreme seeks expression in the material universe to come; through sentient beings, eventually through human in evolved form. These spiritual values/attributes include Peace, Truth, Wisdom, Oneness, Love, Delight, Timelessness, and Infinity.

-These attributes are only divine attributes SatChitAnanda. They are not embodied, acting in a realm of forms. Supermind thus has the mission for their expression in the universe to come. It makes this possible through a dividing process and action.

-Via Supermind each of the divine attributes, aka "Real Ideas" formulates into standard structures of Subject - Method - Object. Eg love becomes lover loves the beloved, knower knows the knowledge, etc. Though there is now a divided action, the subject and object are still fused in Oneness.

-That is an essential quality of Supermind: things that are divided remain in identity and one. Thus eg the Lover, through its love is one with the Beloved

(This is also the goal for the forms, we humans to come in creation. To shift from divided nature - in thought, emotion, action, - to oneness. Eg I shift from partially to fully knowing the knowledge of any matter; in its completeness. I the lover fully, integrally love the beloved, instead of partially loving or even hating.)

(-By opening to Supermind via the Divine Mother in the Evolution, we will embody the spiritual values, reestablishing the lost oneness, transforming our own lives and life on earth.)

-In order to unfold the spiritual aspects in the triplicity arrangements, there needs to be a cosmic context for it to take place. Thus Supermind unfolds space and time. Space is extension. Time is extension in motion. Now the Real Ideas have the context to express in its triplicities.

In Supermind each of the triplicities are in a fundamental oneness, plus all of the triplicities are one with every other one.

Also in Supermind the Conscious Force becomes a fusing of Knowledge and Will. I.e. what it knows (in integral harmony) gains the capacity to become real.

-Now there is a further division in the descent, the Involution, but not of the harmonic kind as in Supermind.

-There is a slight breakdown in the unity of the aspects of the Supramental plane. This is called the Overmental plane, which each divine attribute, each God that emerges there does not stand in unity with each of the others, but seeks fulfillment in its own realm alone. Thus a kind of separateness begins to be established, instead of the perfect unity.

-Now the Conscious-Force, the Knowledge and Will begin to break down still; the pairings lose their integral consciousness and knowledge, becoming a plane of Mind. Mind does not know the unity of truth of the object it seeks to know. It has only a partial knowledge; incomplete; no longer unified. (Again in Supermind in the evolution, the human will grow beyond its Mentality (even rational thought) to Intuitions of knowledge, and even supramental perception that knows the complete object of knowledge, while having total power to make it real in the world.)

-Now the Consciousness, the Knowledge is full absorbed and hidden. What remains is Mostly unconscious energy. Energy will become the source of the material substance that is to follow. (In the Evolution, there is an upward movement from material substance to energized forms, recapturing a fraction of the Energy of the Involution. It acquires all the energies by rising to Mind, spiritual mind, to the depths within, instead of the surface, etc.)

-Now the energy further divides into ultimate small entities that is atomic substance that takes shape as material form of matter.

-At the point of matter, there is total Inconscience, with the Conscious Force, with the Knowledge and Will fully buried, hidden, involved in material form.

-The final operation of the Conscious Force occurs in energy. In matter the Conscious-Force is fully involved.

-The Involutionary process that begun as spirit being ends with infinitely divided matter. It is also where the Evolutionary process, - from matter to animated life (energy) to Mind to Spiritual/cosmic mind to Supermind to Conscious Force reemerging - begins.

-Though hidden involved, there is a compulsion of the Conscious-Force in matter to evolve into higher forms in the Evolution. There is also the support of the higher planes above for these developments. Eg the mental plane descends into the physical enabling the evolution of the physical to a form of mentality there.

-The Evolution occurs in inverse formation to the Involution. Involution is a descent from Sat-Chit-Ananda, to Supermind, to Mind, to Energy/Vital to Physical Matter. The Evolution is an ascent from physical Matter to Vital, animated life from to Mind to Spiritual Mind, to Supermind, to Sat-Chit-Ananda

--

--THE REALITY:

-The Reality is the all. It is both the Involution and the Evolution.

-The Reality is the Supreme and the creation/universe inexorably intertwined.

(in our own lives, we see them as separate. Spirit and Matter are perceived as two separate realms. Our destiny is to rise in consciousness, and see them as one. As we move from mind to intuitive mind to supermind that increasingly and integrally occurs.

Also, as we rise on consciousness, the Conscious-Force progressively moves from its hidden, involved state to the surface of our lives, of life. I.e. each point where we rise to a higher consciousness, the involved Conscious-force progressively comes out, and also leads to the next higher formation of consciousness)

-Reality is to perceive integrally together:

--The Involution and Evolution

--The Being and Becoming (The Being is essentially spirit, the Supreme) Becoming is essentially Life

--Spirit and Matter

--The One and the Many

--The Individual, the Universal and the Transcendent (the universal carries out the transcendent intent. We carry out the universal intent. We carry it out by becoming aware of our true Individual nature.

—

--THE INDIVIDUAL IN THE EVOLUTION

-In a universe of matter, life/energy, and mind, we appear as sentient beings consisting of a physical, vital, mental, and spiritual planes, levels of being.

-In the physical plane, there is the subplane of pure material substance of the body (physical physical); the vital in the physical (physical movement) which is seat of our physical urges and sensations; and bodily movements; and the mental in the physical, which is the consciousness of the body, where it learns how to act, where it learns the primary skills needed for existence and action from movement

-In the vital plane, there are the sensations of the emotions (physical in the vital); where our feelings, emotions, passion, enthusiasm reside (vital in the vital); and where our attitudes, life intelligence, and higher emotions lie (mental in the vital).

-In the mental plane there is the processing of information into facts, associations, and ideas (physical in the mental); the ideals and values we subscribe to (vital in the mental); and the plane where we engage in pure, rational thinking, using logic (mental in the mental)

-Beyond that is the spiritual mind, consisting of the Higher Mind (silence of the mind producing right thinking); Illumined mind of light and vision: intuitive mind of intuitions of thought without thought: universal mind that perceives all; and supermind, which has integral, unitarian knowledge with an associate power to make that which it knows real.

-This is the vertical scale of human consciousness. There is also a horizontal scale ranging from the surface to the depths. The surface are the ordinary moment to moment reactions of the mind and emotions that we experience.

-The depths is the Inner Being, consisting of the Subliminal being, the subconscious, and the superconscious. The Subliminal receives messages from the superconscious, and then relays them to the surface as guidance. The Inner Being is a far vaster range than the outer being, but it is mostly hidden from the average person. By developing in yoga (through silence and other methods) one can get in touch with the subliminal and its profound inner guidance.

-Within the Subliminal is the Psychic being, the evolving soul in us that has taken birth in our person to acquire knowledge in its journey through time. It leaves the body at death and goes to rest or enters a new birth to acquire further knowledge.

-When we open to the Psychic Being we experience divine spiritual attributes like peace, love, delight, and timelessness; and we know our purpose of our life on earth. It is the starting point of Sri Aurobindo's Integral path of Transformation. Through our connection with it, our mental, vital, and physical nature is uplifted and ultimately transformed.

-When the individual is able to create by connecting to the Supramental, he attains the same power as the Ishwara, the Creator aspect of Sat-Chit-Ananda, enabling us to be infinitely creative creators just like the Supramental plane that enabled a universe to come into being from a Divine Source.

-Descent Follows Ascent in Consciousness -- For every ascent in consciousness to a higher plane, there needs to be a corresponding descent into the lower planes to purify these, and complete the cycle of transformation.

-From Behavior to True Spiritual Individuality - In the Integral Yoga one moves beyond the surface being, tied into the herd, conformist, non-individualistic view and advances upward from Manners (copying others) to Behavior (unconscious individuality) to Character (an identifiable formed nature, character) to Personality (A uniqueness of character and action) to true Spiritual Individuality (spiritual individuality made possible by upsurging of inner guidance from the subliminal and psychic being).

--TRANSFORMATION OF OUR BEING

The yoga of Sri Aurobindo is to get in touch with the Psychic Being, and feel all its wonders – joy, love, truth, etc. – and then surrender to the supramental Force (the Divine Mother), which will transmute the mental, vital, and physical planes of our being, and also divinize life.

When we reach the psychic being, we begin to discover our True Self and identity. As true Individuals we not only fulfill our own purpose, but the Universal purpose we are tasked with, which in turn fulfills the transcendent, the Divine purpose.

Our ultimate status is to become supramentalized beings. They will be the harbingers of a new humanity living within a Divine Life on Earth.

--CHARACTER OF LIFE

Life has a character, just like we humans. It is governed by laws and principles. One law is that how you are inside is reflected by life outside. It is the principle of Inner-Outer Correspondence. Therefore if you change your nature inside, life will instantaneously attract positive conditions on the outside to match it.

-Another law of life is that it will always repeat, unless some higher consciousness is brought to bear; then it will not repeat.

-A third law of life is that everything that happens in life is indicated by a predecessor event or circumstance. There are no exceptions.

-A fourth principle of life is that circumstances that happen simultaneously are related in consciousness.

-A universal law of life is that it/Nature works on several fronts, circumstance simultaneously, for the purpose of their progress.

Shift Out of Irritation Attracts Remarkable Result

I was shopping for some bread at a huge supermarket. I was looking among the choices. Standing in front of the endless bread choices was a young girl with her mother. The youngster repeatedly called out that she liked the Artesano style bread. I never heard of it. It seemed to be an obscure brand.

However, the young girl kept calling it out to her mother over and over; imploring her to buy it, which she did. Still the young girl kept repeating her mantra about the bread!

That caused me to say in my mind sarcastically "why not say it again little girl, for a 6th time." Of course I withheld my sarcasm.

But then I had an inspiration and said to myself "why not purchase this bread and see what it's like," which I did!

I then walked down past several very long shopping isles of food. Suddenly I came upon a small presentation, and the first thing I saw was an advertisement for ... Artesano products! Though hundreds or even thousands of articles or brands could've been advertised there, it was this obscure brand that I had just earlier witnessed appeared before me!

Instantly I understood the synchronicity, having experienced such Life Response events thousands of times. Once again I clearly witnessed the fact that when you come out of negativity, - in this case out of irritation and sarcasm, - you immediately attract startling, fortuitous events.

Life had clearly winked at me on this unexpected, joyous occasion. And by purchasing the bread itself, I evoked a response that was particularly magical!

No Title

The Divine Mother is the Divine response to the Human Aspiration for light, love, truth, joy, and spirit.

Moving to the Depths Within

We will move to the depths within - the subliminal being and psychic when we still the mind, and withdraw from the surface consciousness.

Methods of constant consecration, non-reaction, and taking another's viewpoint will greatly aid in this endeavor.

From the depths we will truly perceive things, receive inner guidance, and more readily be able to surrender to the Supramental Force, to Mother, to bring life under control (life response), and transmute our mental, vital, and physical nature.

No Title

People think Romance is only about Love. Actually its equally about one's own personal change; our capacity to rise above one's limited perspective in the relationship; our ability to change our consciousness relative to our partner.

No Title

Some call it "Fate". Others call it "Destiny". Perhaps we can call it "Collaboration with the Intention of the Universe".

Society vs Mother's (Truth's) Consciousness

Society values mass conformity and frowns on anybody doing anything different from the convention.

The Mother values independence and originality and welcomes the spiritual rebel.

--

Society supports lifeless and ossified institutions even when their inner worth has been fully lost and only the outer shell remains.

Mother's consciousness will have nothing to do with such dead institutions and will support only vibrant and live institutions to the extent that they evolutionarily move forward.

--

Society will support anything only after it gets the social endorsement of the majority.

Mother's consciousness will support the Pioneer even when he is a lone individual without any social backing.

--

Society respects only money, power and status.

Mother's Consciousness respects the inner worth of the man and his or her willingness to serve Truth.

(N. Asokan, MSS)

(RP)

-Social Consciousness supports the local man, race, religion; whereas Mother's consciousness embraces all people.

-Society is slow to perceive true trouble ahead, while Mother's Consciousness can anticipate it.

-Society accepts a limited, simplistic view of history and current events, while Her Consciousness perceives many sides and deeper aspects to things.

-Society values standard-like education, while Mother's Consciousness values deeper insight and wisdom.

-Society is vulnerable to waves of fleeting issues, sensational movements, while Her Consciousness is focused on things with lasting meaning and value.

Society is blinded by the commercial, the superficial, the mechanistic, while Her Consciousness is examining, always in touch with the depths.

Though Society has a wide range of social values, Mother's Consciousness is concentrated on a core of eternal spiritual values - like peace, truth, harmony, wisdom, knowledge, love, delight, beauty, timelessness, and infinity.

Society does not truly perceive its meaning and purpose in the wider scheme of things, including its destiny, while in Mother's Consciousness we perceive our individual, universal, and transcendent purpose and meaning.

Social consciousness suffers from the physical consciousness that does not want to change, while consciousness of the Mother, Truth is opposite.

Social consciousness though change occurs through conflict, or at least spirals to the negative after positive cage; whereas Mothers consciousness is from one peak to the next, with no negative residuals.

No Title

From the Silent Depths, and being Open to life, we can continually perceive the Right Flow of circumstance, and thus exactly which Way to follow.

No Title

In Romantic relationships we are afforded the opportunity to break through divisions and contradictions with our partner, and discover the corresponding Harmony and Complementarity.

Instructor's Acceptance of Different Procedures Attracts Financial Reward

When you accept in full a request that you were irritably averse to doing, life immediately responds positively along the exact same or similar lines.

A man performed a training class for a new vendor. He expected payment in 30-45 days. Several days later, the vendor asked the instructor to follow certain procedures for future classes, though in his mind it clashed with his normal way of doing things.

However, after a few hours, he changed his viewpoint and committed to these new procedures, and then went ahead and made an initial token effort to get the ball rolling in that direction.

Several hours later, he received a letter in the mail from the vendor. Inside was a check for the full amount, paid in one day!

When you shift from reluctance and habit, life cooperates with your change, and brings a startling "life response" result.

Preventing Repetition of Tech Issue Attracts Fantastic Facility Improvements

Intensely trying to improve procedures so their previous negative expression will not repeat attracts startling positive organizational and procedural developments in the next round.

An instructor had a very difficult time of it with a client company several months back. It was due in large part to a missing computer component.

Several months later, he had another scheduled class to conduct at the same company headquarters. Concerned that the same problem might reoccur, he undertook a full court press with officials involved that it would not happen again.

When he arrived at the office, he was startled by how much the overall facility had improved, as well as how they had made dramatic improvements in the technology he was so concerned about. He was in fact dazzled by the enormity of the Improvements.

Moreover, it turned out that the session he conducted went exceedingly well, far surpassing his expectations.

By intensely focusing on preventing the repetition of a previous serious problem, he attracted a startling set of positive results all around.

--

PS. It should also be noted that the issue was consecrated - i.e. offered to the higher power, the Mother -- at various points by the instructor, providing additional life response-evoking positive energy.

Solving Global Problems

Ultimately the solutions to all the major global issues - such as immigration, income inequality, still massive poverty, unemployment and stagnant wages, disease, global warming, etc. - require collective, collaborative action among nations. It requires increased World Governance, with real teeth to legislate, from above; matched by creative solutions pecculating from individualistic people and institutions from below.

No Title

Society is ready to advance at an accelerated level, as never before. The negative in the world serves as the necessary roadblock to help us marshal intensely focused energy so the society can make the great change.

No Title

Collaboration of another that comes out of non-insistent reminder on your part attracts substantial benefit.

The Subtle Physical Plane and Body

Years after Sri Aurobindo left his body, the Mother would regularly communicate with Him, as he was in the realm of the Subtle Physical. He would eg give her information about certain things, how and whether to act, etc. and she would receive it in the physical.

The subtle physical plane is near to our material existence, but still apart and non-material: ie subtle and invisible. It also has a capacity, a propensity to manifest as real.

Once Mother had the experience of the supramental body. It enveloped her. When she looked at herself, eg down at her arms and legs, she perceived their super-evolved Supramental equivalents had taken shape in her body. It was an embodiment in the material physical from the subtle physical.

When we dream, we journey in our subtle physical body in the subtle physical plane, often having subtle vital experiences.

The Gods exist in subtle in certain physical planes, as do dark entities. And yet they have the ability to influence our lives in the physical plane in which we dwell.

There are subtle physical planes of great beauty, of pleasure, bliss, and darkness.

There are invisible sheaths or layers that surround our physical body. It is our subtle physical body that exists at the subtle physical plane. It puts us in contact with universal forces. It also protects us from microbes and entities that can penetrate us and make us ill.

When we communicate with others psychically, telepathically, via thought transference, et al. we connect through the subtle plane, using our subtle capacities of mind and feeling; even spirit.

(from Sri Aurobindo)

--By the gross physical is meant the earthly and bodily physical - as experienced by the outward sense-mind and senses. But that is not the whole of Matter. There is a subtle physical also with a subtler consciousness in it which can, for instance, go to a distance from the body and yet feel and be aware of things in a not merely mental or vital way.

...the subtle physical has a freedom, plasticity, intensity, power, colour, wide and manifold play (there are thousands of things there that are not here) of which, as yet, we have no possibility on earth.

(from The Mother, mainly from Agenda)

For me, the subtle physical is far more real than this distorted world, but to see it you have to be conscious there,... For me, this subtle world is far more real than the material world – much truer, much more tangible, concrete, real – but for others in this material world to believe in the subtle worlds,

[Are you referring to the supramental world?]

It applies to everything: every true thing in the world, including all the fairy tale miracles. Things that appear miraculous to the physical consciousness happen in an altogether different way, but to it they are indeed miraculous since they don't depend on any physical processes.

As I have said [re the Experience of the 'Supramental Ship.') , ' to travel from one place to another there is no need for any means of transport, to feed ourselves it is not necessary to put external things into the body, to dress ourselves we have no need to put on clothes, etc The play of forces is the spontaneous expression of Truth and of the true Will, the true vision. (The Mother)

And what are the influences that come from the subtle physical?

Generally they are of a far higher quality than material influences. I have noticed (I don't know whether it's a personal or a general thing) that the subtle physical I see is always of a somewhat higher quality than the physical proper. I mean somewhat more harmonious: things are smoother.

... this realm is generally calm – calm, orderly, where things are more harmonious – GENERALLY (I can't say whether it's the case with everybody, but in my own case it's like that).

As I told you, Sri Aurobindo lives there permanently, as though in a house of his own: you can see him, you can stay with him, he is busy. It is very much like the physical, but a physical that would be less grating, you understand, where things are more harmonious and satisfying, less excited.

This is the subtle physical as I know it, I can't say if it is the same for everyone. Sri Aurobindo said, "There is a true physical," well, I have a feeling that this is what he calls the "true physical" – a subtler physical, the true physical which is behind.

[But does it influence the whole earth?]

Oh, yes! In general, these things are terrestrial. ...

I think that as the Supramental descends, the subtle physical will have a greater and greater action on earth, because it is the world where the new creation will be formed before it "descends," before it becomes absolutely visible and concrete.

I often have a sense that it would take only a very tiny thing – which is hard to define – a very tiny movement of materialization to make this new creation concrete to us as we are. And it is probably – it will probably be formed completely in that subtle world before it materializes.

Tuning into the Vibration of Mother Nature

One little hobby I have had over the years is to put together groups of songs that have a common theme. For example, I would go to YouTube and play a song with a certain meaning, and then recall other songs that have similar meaning, and would then play those songs in sequence.

The first time I recall ever doing that was when I was a substitute radio announcer at the student-run radio station at Syracuse University, where I put together a series of tunes from the underground music of that time.

Well the other day I started doing something similar. I was compelled to play a song about the degradation of Mother Nature called "Whose Garden Was This " by Tom Paxton. After being moved by that song I recalled another piece on the same theme by Joni Mitchell called "Bad Dreams". It was very powerful. It then led me to play the popular song by the group Spirit called "Nature's Way". And so forth.

As I played these songs, I felt a deep feeling and compassion for the state of Mother Nature; for her lands, her greenery, her rivers and lakes and mountains, and other aspects that were being degraded around the world. Then I forgot about the entire matter.

Well it turns out that today I found out that yesterday, when I played these songs, was Arbor Day in the United States; the holiday that celebrates the well-being of trees, the planting of trees, and the appreciation for Mothers Nature in general.

I had obviously caught the vibration of that celebration in my own small way, as I went from one song to another; feeling deep empathy and appreciation for the natural world.

No Title

We know the ways of Mother Nature, but not of Nature, Life, - i.e. its energy, causality, purpose; life response, synchronicities, parallelisms; laws of repetition, alignment, et al, - as it is mostly subconscious to us.

IN SEARCH OF KRISHNA

This essay, organized by Roy Posner, tries to answer the questions of Who Krishna is in terms of consciousness beyond and within life, What are His teachings relative to the Divine Reality; How does Sri Aurobindo's Supramental view compare; and How can we make the Supramental Change.

—

--WHO KRISHNA IS

Krishna of the Gita is the transcendent Godhead, Paramatma, Parabrahma, Purushottama, the cosmic Deity, Master of the universe, Vasudeva who is all, the Immanent in the heart of all creatures,

... and He is the Godhead who was incarnate at Brindavan and Dwarka and Kurukshetra, and who was the guide of my Yoga and with whom I realised identity ...

(paraphrase of Sri Aurobindo)

—

--KRISHNA'S OVERMENTAL VS. THE SUPRAMENTAL DESCENT

Krishna is not the Supramental light. The descent of Krishna would mean the descent of the Overmind Godhead preparing, though not itself actually, the descent of Supermind and Ananda. Krishna is the Anandamaya; he supports the evolution through the Overmind leading it towards the Ananda.

(Sri Aurobindo)

--

(here are further comments on Sri Aurobindo's above remarks)

'Ananda' is the sanskrit word for the Delight of Being that is innate to the Supreme Divine Nature, 'Satchidananda' as it is called in Indian spirituality.

At the Supramental level (in the Supermind) it is still all part of the same Oneness in all its diversified Aspects.

At the Overmind level where the One starts manifesting Separativeness, each Aspect begins to work on its own as one specific Godhead, although still in an overall harmony with all the other Aspects/Godheads.

Only at the Mental level does the sense of duality and utmost polarization appear, and the struggle between what is seen by the Mental Consciousness as multiple Opposites.

So this Essential Ananda that Krishna manifests as a Godhead on the Overmind Plane is one of the most needed Aspects of our Divine Nature that must be reconquered, on our way from our present mental consciousness as ordinary human beings, to hopefully the Overmental level and then some day the Supramental level. For the gradual transformation of our whole being, and particularly the physical body, this Ananda is one of the most indispensable powers required.

One can see then how important was this deliberate joining of Krishna, as early as 1926, to the intense evolutive work that Sri Aurobindo had been given the task of doing for the Earth.

(Lab of Evolution - Bhaga)

--KRISHNA'S VIEW OF CONNECTING TO SOUL AND DIVINE REALIZATION

In the Gita, Krishna said that mind does not have the capacity to experience the Purushottama. One has to go behind the heart to the Chaitya Purusha [the soul] from where you can know the Purushottama. Through the heart to the spirit behind the heart, one goes and realizes the Divine as a divine personality.

(Garry Jacobs, from Lectures on Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine)

—

--THE SUPRAMENTAL PROCESS

Krishna is the Divine Reality come to earth; with all its properties of Being, Soul, Creator, Master of Life. He is the cosmic consciousness, the overmental plane brought down through his incarnation.

Can we compare Krishna's representation and Sri Aurobindo's Vision of the ultimate reality and its place in the Evolution?

We can know the Divine Soul, [which Krishna has incarnated), - which is the Overmental realization, the cosmic consciousness, - by connecting to our own soul. Therein the overmental light would come down and transform our nature and all life. This movement would support the Evolution of life on earth.

Sri Aurobindo said we can go further and make the Supramental change where there is no division, no separation among the planes; only integral Truth and Unity and Knowledge, with added power for instant manifestation as life response result.

According to Sri Aurobindo, we enable this by connecting to our psychic being, our evolving soul within, and there surrendering to the shakti, the divine Mother, the supramental Force, transforming our mental, vital and physical nature; and having the power to be ultimate, infinite-like creators in life; paralleling the action of the Ishwara above (creator aspect of SatChitAnanda, the divine Source) which enabled this universe of forms.

(Roy Posner)

No Title

The more you give up what is less necessary in your life, the more you receive what is needed.

No Title

When there is difference of opinion, conflict, agitation, try to shift from participant to Silent Witness. Your perceptions will then tend to elicit favor and prevail.

No Title

I increasingly have Faith in Mother, but not in life itself; or rather I have Faith in Life through Mother alone.

No Title

Attempts to improve your service, such as upgrading a skill, clarifying instructor documentation, or similar, tends to attract a benefit - such as a new client or a new project in that area - from out of nowhere.

No Title

When the thoughts of the mind are stilled, the vital emotions are less likely to get agitated, thereby preventing the physical body from being traumatized and worn down.

No Title

Silence of the mind (not thinking), emotions (not desiring, reacting), and body (not initiating, forcing) + Faith in the Force = best conditions for attracting success.

What Do You Think?

A devotee recently said that Indians are God-fearing, dependent on the Divine; but people in the West are self-reliant, depending on their own capacities, not the Divine's. How do you see it? Please respond in English, Tamil, or ...

Reader: Perhaps we can say, every country has a core strength in the beginning. Mind was born in Greece, Literature in England, Science generally in Europe, Individuality in America and Spirituality in India.

No Title

However, the world is collectively evolving. Life will bring circumstances for the country or the individual to learn the other aspects what it lacks.

No Title

Perhaps, it is happening. After Hippy's era, many westerners are attracted to Indian spirituality.

No Title

As a devotee, it's not what we want, but what She offers, - whether as materially real or as opportunity, - that should be embraced, undertaken.

No Title

When everything is dovetailing perfectly, you know you're in Mother's, i.e. the Supramental, Truth consciousness.

Staying on Message

There are so many distractions in life, therefore it is best to "stay on message", focusing on those things that represent our most essential goals, and your highest personal and social values.

Such a focused approach to life requires organizing and taking control of our entire psychological and spiritual nature. Success invariably follows in its footsteps.

Sync Magic

A friend of mine had 4 consecutive Synchronicities within perhaps a minute today; a record in my experience. And I was there to witness it; actually, to be part of it.

PS The music that precipitated the syncs - Brian Eno's 'Thursday Afternoon' - seems to quite literally be a synchronicity-evoking machine. (In fact, the syncs occurred on a Thursday (!) while listening to this music in the background.)

Astonishing Dreamscape Phenomena

In the past and recently I have myself been going through several startling phenomena related to dreams:

-Around 20 years ago I went through a 6-month period where every other night I dreamt the next day's news! And I was not following those stories previously in any way.

-Recently something equally astonishing has been taking place-

I am suddenly having a flash of a dream I had 30-50 years ago, though I haven't thought of the dream once in all those years. And this has been happening almost every other day for the last year or so. So far up to -75 "recovered" dreams!

Often as soon as I rest my head on the pillow and close my eyes, a new recovery takes place, instantly recalling a scene in a dream I had decades ago. It also happens occurs when doing routine things, like when taking my daily hillside walk.

--

BTW: Mother says that if upon wakening you remain absolutely still, instead of thinking or getting up out of bed, you will fully retain the dream in your memory for the rest of the day and longer; not haphazardly as we do now.

No Title

Save your energy so that you are able to come up with New Things, rather than just repeat the same old things over and over again.

No Title

A certain type of individual intensely enjoys criticizing the faults of life, which is commendable; but it turns harmful when it is not balanced by truly acknowledging life's Successes.

HEWI

The GDP (Gross Domestic Product) of a nation does not reflect the true economic and social health of society. Thus Garry Jacobs In collaboration with Ivo Šlaus, developed the Human Economic Welfare Index (HEWI), an alternative to GDP which incorporates several socioeconomic indices to indicate the quality of economic and social well-being..

<http://mssresearch.org/.../H1-HEWI-1%20Human%20Economic%20Wel...>Top of Form

Development of Bodily Mind

My body consciousness, separate from my ordinary consciousness, is increasingly forming, defining itself, making decisions, and "acting." Eg it says "ok, now that you (the normal me) took this action, here is what I am going to do next in return." And then it does it on its own, creating some inner or outer condition. Thus the bodily mind is developing a reasoning and action power independent of my own normal mental reason and will.

Perhaps eventually the ordinary mind and this bodily mind can work together; influencing one another's thoughts, influences, and actions for the betterment of both.

Phileas Fogg: How Higher Consciousness Supports Actions of a Positive Person

People of great character attributes may attract the support of the Higher Consciousness through the workings of life, even though they are not cognizant of the fact.

E.g. the character Phineas Fogg, who manages to traverse the world in a balloon in the story 'Around the World in Eighty Days', demonstrated great calm and equality of being on his journey; a wonderful capacity to live in the moment; was creative in the extreme; was kind and had goodwill toward others, along the way; and had great organizational capacities.

In the end he wins his bet and accomplishes his extraordinary feat, with a seemingly miraculous-like support of Life at the end of the story.

Perhaps we can say that he expresses so much positive energy, that he naturally aligns with the support of the Higher Power and Consciousness, even if that relationship is subconscious to the recipient. Through Life the Higher Power offers its boons to a person endowed with great positive attributes for accomplishment and success.

Accessing, Changing the Past and Present in the Time-less Now

Fully living in the Now, the Ever-Present, we are not concerned about the past or the future, and are fully engaged in the current moment. And yet from that poise, we have full access to the past and future when we turn our attention in that direction. The necessary intimations come into our minds from the past and future to guide us, to support our current needs.

How do we accomplish this? The more we move away from the surface and into our deepest depths within, the more we experience that ever-present; that single stream of undivided time consciousness.

In this way, from within, we can even alter the past and present from within ourselves, in the Time-less Now.

Maintaining Consecration of a Serious Issue

Consecration of a serious issue moves toward perfection (and thus a positive life response outcome) when it is accompanied by an absolute still mind that is not worried about the future result.

Moreover, each time the worry rises, it can be replaced by another consecrated effort which will build up ensuing Faith. Accompanied by a still mind, the divine Force can then move and accomplishes its intention.

Even thinking about whether or not the Force will accomplish should be replaced by silencing the thought, and then again consecrating it out of existence. The result will reflect our efforts to make the consecration perfect.

Here's a recent true-life example:

A man had an important meeting coming up which could lead to the need for a serious action to be taken. At first, he consecrated the entire issue, let go of it, and had Faith in the outcome. Then each time the issue came to mind over the course of the next several days, he immediately halted the thought and then consecrated again.

When the man arrived at the meeting several weeks later, the bothered thought and emotion came up again as he waited for the other party to arrive, and once more he consecrated the outcome, kept the thought out of mind, and again maintained his Faith.

Finally, the other individual informed the man that there was no need to take any serious action, as had been suggested the previous month, much to the individual's relief!

The consecrated effort had achieved the desired outcome. The divine Force had fully worked on his behalf.

Easing of a Challenging Work

Overcoming one's reluctance to engage in a work, and then making the extra effort at the outset to prepare for it, attracts an easing of all the work in ensuing stages.

A man was up against an apparent challenging work. For one, he was not too eager to review certain materials the client had asked him to review, as it seemed complicated and confused compared to other engagements.

However, the man then changed his outlook, and made the extra effort to understand his client's needs, including the fore mentioned materials. When he then made that effort, he soon discovered that the work was far easier than he thought; reducing his psychological stress about the matter!

That is the life response power of reversing out of one's reluctance. It opens up conditions of smooth flow and ease.

No Title

The devotee transforms the world by transforming himself. The corresponding change in society soon follows.

No Title

From a Supramental perspective if it's gleaned, intuitivized to happen in the future, then it's just a matter of time before it happens in the present.

No Title

True, Integral Knowledge contains an inborn power of self-action, that invariably succeeds. It is thus Supramental; the power of the Mother.

Multi-Cause, Effect Life Response

A single Life Response can have several causes, while a single cause can evoke multiple responses.

Eg when a man evoked the biggest sale of his life, it was caused by several things - shifting from unwillingness to willingness, by making a firm decision instead of none, and by taking to a determined action.

Inversely when a very wealthy man shifted from arrogance to humility, he attracted several things - an opportunity to redeem himself, the woman of his dreams to love and marriage, and a middle-class family suddenly turning to great wealth.

No Title

Reduced speech and/or soft speech attracts positive conditions. Excessive and/or loud talking attracts negatively.

No Title

If you can't say anything good about someone or something, its best to keep it inside.

Spiritual Aspirant's Triple Capacity and Purpose

The spiritual aspirant is capable of manifesting his true Individuality by going within and raising his nature, which then has the tendency to vibrate out and effect society at the universal plane, whose own intention is to manifest the transcendent's Will on earth.

The spiritual aspirant thus has the capacity to serve a triple role and purpose: Individual, Universal, and Transcendent; which in totality is the Reality, the integral All.

No Title

We make more progress in life through our failures than our successes.

No Title

In the West the ideal is that we can find the perfect person in our romantic relationship. But never do we ask how we can perfect our own nature so that we can attract that perfect individual.

No Title

We can have more harmonious relations with others when we first elevate our consciousness.

No Title

It is in our human relations with others that our character and personality develops.

No Title

Our relationship with others is the rich material for our spiritual progress.

Dan And Joe's Ultimate Form of Faith

It is said that an ultimate form of Faith is to feel the happiness as if the results have already come.

In the novel 'The Book, Dan, who leads a team at an AI company has just been dealt a serious blow, as the firm has apparently lost its only client.

And yet when Dan turns on the tv he sees that the American football quarterback great Joe Montana is in an impossible situation with only 2 minutes to go in the Super Bowl.

Dan notices that Joe he is full of optimism that he can pull it off. Joe's body language suggests a tremendous faith in his ability to get it done. It is like he is feeling the joy that the results have already come; that he has already succeed in his impossible task. It is a spiritual-like faith in the face of the nearly impossible. Then Joe goes on and drives the team downfield to victory, winning the world championship match in the last few seconds!

Meanwhile, Dan who is watching this on tv is re-inspired, and a new-formed Faith is kindled, even though the one great client has surely been lost.

Well, it turns out that the next day, it is discovered that there was a mix-up and miscommunication, and the major client has in fact been secured!

Dan's infectious Faith demonstrated that despite apparent doom for the firm, it has moved into the field of life and attracted the realization of dramatic success!

No Title

Life brings people and parties together so each can work out their limitations in consciousness.

Darcy's Consciousness Responsibility

"Consciousness Responsibility" is to take responsibility for things you are not directly responsible for, attracting great fortune to your doorstep.

Example: When the elopement happened involving the youngest Bennet sister Lydia and the scoundrel Wickham in Pride and Prejudice, potential scandalizing everyone, Darcy took responsibility for the entire matter though he had no direct hand in the issue. As a result, he not only made the effort and resolved the entire issue, saving the entire Bennet family, but attracted the woman of his dreams to marriage, Eliza Bennet.

By going beyond normal responsibility - i.e. dealing with what you are normally responsible for - to Consciousness Responsibility, which is be responsible for a wider field that others are actually accountable for, - he changed the course of his and several other peoples' lives.

Methods of Daily Spiritual Life vs Practicing Transformative Supramental Yoga

The ongoing daily spiritual approach and routine is to consecrate wherever we can, and practice spirit-oriented methods on a regular basis - like non-reaction, silent will, taking another's point of view, shedding negative attitudes, practicing humility and self-givingness, taking to higher personal organization, making a greater effort, etc.

On the other hand, the yogic, transformative approach is to move the center of our being away from the surface of life, and into the depths; culminating in identity with our psychic being (evolving soul), it then continues by aspiring for and surrendering to the Mother's supramental Force, which descends into our being, transforming all planes of our being, (mental, vital, and physical), as well as the world around us, while giving us the capacity to create infinitely; together enabling us to become gnostic, Supramental Beings, ushering a new human race, and the unfolding of a Divine Life in Earth.

No Title

Life increasingly coming to you, as opposed to constantly going after it, is one goal of a spirit-oriented Individual.

Krishna as Harbinger of Yoga of Divine Transformation

Krishna was the first to show us what normal human consciousness is, and what the Divine Consciousness is that we can evolve toward and embody. Thus, He was the first real advocate of integral yoga; asking us to move from the ordinary to an extraordinary Supreme Consciousness that will enable us to embody the divine Spirit in all aspects of our nature, of our lives, as we journey on the path of evolution and Transformation.

Overcoming Human Constructs to Know Reality

If we want to know the true nature of Reality, we will have to –

- (1) overcome all human constructs, whether the precepts of systems of thought like mythology, philosophy, religion, theology, science, and so forth
- (2) overcome human conditioning that has risen from virtually all aspects of daily life
- (3) overcome the tyranny of surface living, by a mechanistic, material worldview, as we are hypnotized by the physical, by matter

Only by going to the Source of these ideas, expressions and experience, - to Consciousness itself, - can we know the true nature of Reality. Top of Form

World Governance Beyond Nationalism to Solve Nations' Problems

Out of economic desperation nations are turning to extreme forms of nationalism and populism, focusing on their own nation, ignoring others, instead of working together to solve problems, or better yet uniting to solve economic and other issues collectively under new forms of world governance.

The fact is these problems cannot be solved by any one government; and attempts to do so will only dig the hole deeper. The time of Harmonic action is here. World Governance's time has come.

No Title

Shell companies, money laundering, off-shoring, and other ways to avoid tax is accelerating the downfall and collapse of capitalism in the world. It is a personification of ego in the realm of wealth.

No Title

Nationalism, which is to pull in one's own direction exclusive of other nations, is doomed to fail. Only cooperation and harmony among nations will enable us to meet the great challenges we face in the world.

Dan's Dedication to What is Right

Dan is the de facto leader of the MAI team in Garry Jacobs' epic, mystical novel 'The Book'. Dan's dedication to Truth, to always trying to do the right thing, the best thing at various points attracts positive results. We can do the same in our own lives and attract similar marvellous results.

Knowledge of the Distant Future Revealed Today in 'The Book'

It is interesting that the company Garry imagined in his novel 'The Book' was fully involved in creating and distributing its Artificial Intelligence (AI) software to solve the world's problems. This came (2008) a decade before the current rage of AI technology in society. It was a kind of prophecy.

And yet is very small compared to the startling array of deep insights on the nature of how Life works revealed in the story. This is a wisdom that is unlikely to be acquired for decades; even hundreds of years. Thus 'The Book' is an epic mystical novel revealing the future understanding about the nature of Reality, expressed in a myriad of details.

Author Garry Jacobs has assimilated the teachings of Sri Aurobindo and Karmayogi, and revealed it in detail through a startling set of circumstance and events. He has given us the Knowledge of the future today.

No Title

There is a deeper Me that is in touch with the universe and Its Ways and Will.

No Title

Instead of preparing yourself and planning a work, offer it to the Mother at each point, leaving the result in Her hands. You will be astonished by the positive results you will receive from life. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

Comment: A man who is a great thinker and speaker rarely had a chance to speak in public about his deepest, spiritual beliefs; instead focusing on the topic at hand at secular-like gatherings.

Then one day his spiritual teacher suggested he not plan at all, with no agenda or outline, for his upcoming talk; offering the matter to the Force, the divine Mother.

No Title

He was then astounded when the first question directed to him was an inquiry about his deepest beliefs, which he immediately shared: the first time he ever did so in a public forum!

No Title

That is the power of depending on Spirit. It can even overcome the common-sense need to organize and plan in advance.

No Title

Conformity restrains progress. Individuality accelerates it.

Then what are the ways you conform? How can you become more individualistic?

Consciousness Responsibility in Indirect Effect Situations

You can take to certain lower inner or outer behaviors that can attract negative circumstance for OTHERS, though they are only peripherally related to the movement, if at all. (I.e. the atmosphere is lowered by your consciousness attracting their negative for the indirectly involved party.)

Now through "consciousness responsibility" you can rectify the effect on all direct or indirect parties; or the benefit can come to them as a fresh positive result in another area of their lives.

Shifting Deep Within and Thriving in a Hyper-Accelerating World

Life is shifting from rapid, to accelerated, to exponential, to hyper movement and change. Mind cannot keep up with the speed of this change, as its rigid, limited perspective is overwhelmed. However, shifting beneath mind, in silence, open to the universal plane, one opens to and embraces this radical acceleration. It is the only way to survive in this super-speed, chaotic, unpredictable New World. Great leaders and ideas emerge there, commensurate with the hyper-accelerating surface life. In that process of enjoining the hyper, unpredictable movement, we become Supramental in nature.

The Hippies and the Supramental Force

Mother said the Hippies were experiencing the descent of the Force, though most could not hold it, as it was intense and overwhelming, requiring a great psychological stability. Still the Hippies could be considered the first manifestation of a Supramental race.

History of the Hippy Movement on Wikipedia (see below) is very thorough, though it has no inclination of the spiritual Force at work; which continues to increasingly descend today; though once again we are decidedly unaware of its existence and action.

No Title

Inner forces, like individual attitudes, values, aspirations, intensities, as well as prevailing surrounding atmospheres, and also divine intentions are what determine the flow and outcomes of life.

No Title

Always being in the exact right place at the exact right time is supramental.

Does Science Need to Validate Spiritual Consciousness for It to Spread?

KL: I've been reading a book by the Dalai Lama who observes the existence of a still deep and possibly irreconcilable chasm between Western science's reliance on results of biochemistry and studies of electrical brain patterns to validate origins of psychological states versus the experience of the subtleties of subjective observations of mind of which Western science accords little if any credence in determining the validity of a lab study. Until science develops an instrument to measure such profound assertions such as those based on psychic mystical states Aurobindo purported to have experienced, there is scant chance the existence and/or descent of Supermind can be discussed other than anecdotally. Two different lenses.
...

RP: The fact that higher Consciousness is expanding in the world, which can be proven by observing vast positive changes in society, is proof enough, without calling anything supramental. (Btw, this is one of Deepak Chopra's main themes.)

KL: I understand

RP: Material science will be the last to discover it. No sense waiting on them.

From the article in Wikipedia about the Hippy movement, it was mentioned that 20% of Americans believe in New Age thinking. That's almost 75 million people. And that's just in this country. Imagine that in the 1950s. They wouldn't know what you're talking about!

Violence down 80% in the last 20 years. Vast numbers of people identifying with the entire globe (eg environmental movement). Internet connecting the whole world. Etc. etc

These are astonishing change, and it is only accelerating. More and more people will come to see the Oneness between us all. That is Higher Consciousness. Whether we call that spiritual or not is less important.

As the people experience more synchronicity - a la The Secret and Life Response - that will be proof enough of a higher order at work.

Already 3 billion believe in God. As cross pollination occurs among the religions, and the superstitions and rituals are put aside, the greater their understanding of higher consciousness will be in the world.

Comment: By the way, the Force is actually behind and directing the accelerating positive Social Change occurring in the world.

Transformation Measurements

Aspiration - The intensity and degree to which you want to transform yourself and the world.

Sincerity - Whether you truly wish to transform yourself and the world around you, as opposed to it being just words.

Purity - How perfectly you are focused and dedicated to transforming yourself and the world, as opposed to being caught up in other matters.

No Title

From a wonderful documentary - Heima - about their return to the Icelandic countryside by new age band Sigur Ros, this 5 minute haunting piece is called 'Von.' The audience reactions, some in a near mystical trance, are priceless.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AotZiyzsVjQ&t=2333s>

Challenge to Progress by the Asura

When great positive forces like Internet, world wide web, social networks, and all arise, they are invariably challenged by counter forces which try to poison, to ruin them through nefarious means. This is the Asura (dark force, entity) at work.

Yet if taken in the right light, these positive forces can address their vulnerabilities, and become something still greater; often much greater, leaving behind or absorbing the darker elements in their ascent.

Challenge to Progress by the Asura

When great positive forces like Internet, world wide web, social networks, and all arise, they are invariably challenged by counter forces which try to poison, to ruin them through nefarious means. This is the Asura (dark force, entity) at work.

Yet if taken in the right light, these positive forces can address their vulnerabilities, and become something still greater; often much greater, leaving behind or absorbing the darker elements in their ascent.

Overcoming Separative Ego of Nations

When nations pull in their own individual direction, disaster looms: such as WWI and WWII; the 2008 financial crisis where there were no international speculation regulations; and so on.

Like the Ego of men, so too is there an Ego of nations. Let them come out of it, and all major problems in the world will be resolved; through collaboration and harmonic purpose.

Consciousness Responsibility, Soul, and Universalizing

Consciousness responsibility is to widen ourselves and take responsibilities for others false actions. It is a movement away from the narrow responsibility of just ourselves, which is essentially an Ego-movement, to a wider sphere, which we engage in when we connect to our deepest depths, the soul, the psychic being within, which is opposite of ego. Rather it is a universal movement. Life responds out of all proportion to such widened sense of responsibility.

No Title

With Consciousness Responsibility you don't blame others or life. Instead, you widen yourself, embrace others' issues, as their problem becomes yours to resolve. And when you do, the rewards from Life are marvelous all around.

No Title

Seventeen of the twenty fastest growing cities in the world by GDP at the moment are located in India, including all of the top ten.

Comment: Karmayogi's intense aspiration for Indian development, i.e. prosperity, has come to fruition. Forty plus years ago when he first started aspiring for economic well-being for the country, which he deeply believed would come true - most thought he was extremely naïve), - as it would be lucky if one city in a thousand cities came from India in terms of GDP growth.

No Title

That is the power of the Force moving in the world, and particularly on behalf of India. It will surely continue in this ever-accelerating direction.

No Title

The higher consciousness individual gets in touch with the vibration of the future in the present, giving him enormous predictive power.

Influences on Who You Are

The influences of who you are, including your disposition and purpose are

- Your genetic inheritance
- Your family upbringing
- The social, societal influence around you
- The circumstance you go through
- Your soul's purpose and influence
- The karmic influence of past lives
- Your purpose in the comic scheme of things.

Knowing the Force by Intensely Experiencing It

The overwhelming majority if Eastern and Western spiritual teachers did/do not get the life response power of the Force, of the Shakti, that one opens to; that evolves all things; that opens the door to divine life; including the phenomenon of instantaneous miraculousness.

This power, plane of consciousness that we call "supramental" is only understood when it is experienced in full. Not just through the occasional synchronicity; but through a series of frequent, intense, infinitely creative and dynamic, overwhelming personal experiences.

No Title

Congratulations to PM Modi on his 2nd term victory. I salute Aspirational and Development-oriented India, which he personifies. (Also hoping regressive nationalism is kept under control.)

$100,000

Karmayogi wanted to put this short story by William Learner on the doorstep of everyone, as it so powerfully portrays the power of consecration to resolve a disastrous situation. A beautifully written and very inspiring story based on a true incident.

<http://www.motherservice.org/Essays/100,000.htm>.

No Title

Religious proselytizing reveals the weak points of a movement. Attracting followers in silence reveals the opposite; an inner spiritual strength.

No Title

A Sunny Attitude amidst a storm brings good or great Fortune.

Comment: Same with not-reacting negatively in an intense situation, an example of which was the airline pilot Sully Sullenberger who remained calm and therefore made a miraculous landing of his plane on the Hudson River, saving the lives of 155 passengers. He was calm and professional throughout the ordeal, which is always the best basis for attracting positive conditions.

Also Karmayogi once lost his entire fortune in a legal case, yet smiled and cheerfully laughed at the time the result came. And yet the decision was later overturned. He not only made marvelous investments with the funds for MSS, but his consciousness rose significantly through the experience. His Faith in Mother enabled him to be perfectly cheerful in the face of apparent personal disaster. He knew life would respond in his favor, and it did.

Sri Aurobindo's, Mother's Miraculous Experiences

Sri Aurobindo made the floor ripple through his accumulated Supramental force

Sri Aurobindo turned extreme pain of a scorpion bite into a pleasurable experience

Mother fell from a hundreds foot cliff and landed safely without an injury

Mother influenced Hitler to invade Russia, splitting his forces, turning the tide of the war in the Allies favor

Sri Aurobindo evoked the fog at Dunkirk, preventing the Germans from wiping out England, and turning the war

Through Mother, Gorbachev brought down the Soviet nation without a single loss of life, ending the Cold War

Mother looked at her body, and saw a fully embodied new Supramental being

Hundreds of times they sent the Force to recipients, bringing about the end of illness and other troubles

Mother envisioned a golden mallet striking a golden door, releasing the supramental force that flooded down onto the earth

While in Alipore prison Sri Aurobindo experienced Krishna, Narayana, the Divine in all people including murderers and criminals

Mother would walk at night resting her head on Krishna's shoulder

Mother would have intense communications with certain Gods who appeared before Her, trying to convert them to the one Divine and surrendering to the Divine Mother

Sri Aurobindo saw India free in the subtle physical plane, and it later came about - and on his birthday August 15th

Mother would know the full consciousness of a person by merely looking at a picture of the individual

Mother regularly communicated with Sri Aurobindo on the subtle plane after he left

Divine Principles and their Indian Versions

1. The Original Divine peace settled in the bodies of Indians over time degenerated into the inertia of Indians.
2. The spiritual detachment from material possessions exhibited by Sannyasins later degenerated into Indian acquiescence of Poverty.
3. The divine principle of surrender is seen in the Indian wife's willingness to obey her husband without any questions.
4. The divine principle of diversity is seen in India's regional cultural variations along with multiple languages.

5. The divine principle of delight is seen in Indian Tantric yoga which urges its followers to enjoy the divine principle of Bhoga (enjoyment) and manifest it in their daily lives.
 6. The divine principle of Knowledge is represented by the Brahmin community, that of Valor by the Kshatriyas, that of wealth and possessions by the Vaishya community of traders and farmers and that of service by the Sudras.
 7. The divine principle of sacrifice is demonstrated by the Indian wife who slaves away for her husband and children.
 8. The Divine principle of Silence is demonstrated by Countless Sadhus who take oaths of silent meditation lasting for several days.
 9. The divine principle of omnipresent divinity is seen among Indians worshipping earth as Bhooma devi.
 10. The Divine principle of Truth is seen in Gandhiji's commitment to Truth in the form of Satyagraha.
- (N Asokan, MSS)

Initial Difficulty Indicates Final Outcome

One of the things I have learned along the way is that everything that happens in life is always indicated beforehand. We call this initial occurrence and predictor of what is to come a "predecessor event".

Eg a friend of mine had to walk a long distance and across a major bridge to get to a job he desperately needed. It was an absurd situation he found himself in. After several years of working at the company, it was mired in controversy, and went down along with my friend. The bridge fiasco at the outset indicated the fiasco that was to occur at the firm he worked at. It was a predecessor, an initial indicator, of what the final outcome was to be.

Another person got lost on the way to perhaps the most important job interview of his life. Seven years later his work with the firm ended in bankruptcy. It too was an example of a predecessor/initial occurrence of what was to come; what was to be the eventuality.

Fortunately this man had the wherewithal to consecrate the situation when he was lost, which not only enabled him to find the office of his future employer, but enabled their relationship to last a lifetime, despite the period of bankruptcy.

As we see there are subtle ways that life operates. As we rise in consciousness, we increasingly perceive these methods of Nature, and therefore can make them our ally.

If we think about it, we may have had similar experiences of the subtle workings of life, including the phenomenon of predecessor events that subtly indicate future outcomes.

Captain Sully's High Values in World Famous Airplane Incident

At a moment of immense danger, when one is not preoccupied with the surface occurrences, and one does everything one could, Life will cooperate from multiple directions to address that serious problem, as well as reveal hidden opportunities.

When Mr. Bennet in Pride and Prejudice was confronted with a situation where his family's honor was at stake, and as a result moved away from his irresponsibility and took the right steps, it rapidly attracted the accomplishment of the marriage of his 3 daughters.

Similarly, Captain Sully, who loved his work and had an extraordinary 20,000 hours of flying experience, was confronted with a situation where 155 passenger's lives were at stake. And when he acted in the very short span of 208 seconds with utmost dedication, sincerity, and courage, life cooperated from all the angles, honoring his extraordinary task, saving all the passengers. As a result, he became world famous.

The movie, "Sully" (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sully_\(film\))) portrays the real life experience of Captain Sully, who saved the lives of the passengers of US Airways flight 1549. When he took off on the flight from LaGuardia airport, New York City on Jan 15, 2009, within minutes of departure he encountered the loss of both engines due to his plane running into a number of birds. He had a mere 208 second to respond. He then made the right decision, landed that flight on Hudson River magnificently, and saved everyone's life. Though he became an American hero immediately afterwards, the aftermath events were not that easy, as he had to prove himself; prove that he took the right actions.

During the aftermath investigation of that incident by technical experts, he was confronted with the fact that one of the engines was still running on idle power, and therefore he could have turned back safely to LaGuardia airport. He calmly rejected the idea as that data could be based not on what he had experienced on that day. Later the investigation board ran several computer simulations and thereby claimed that he could have safely returned back to LaGuardia airport instead of landing on the Hudson River.

Despite the fact that his career was now at stake, Captain Sully believed that he had done his duty as best he could. Yet, he was not sure how to prove his right actions to the investigation board. And yet that night when he watched the TV, he saw a broadcast of news about the incident, and then perceived the clue that “perfect time” was the key factor.

It was the day of the public hearing, and he consecrated deeply before entering the room. It was the first time the simulation videos and cockpit voice were going to be released. Initially two simulation videos were shown, and they proved that the flight could have been landed back safely to the airport.

As he sensed the “time” factor and figured out what was the mistake in the computer simulation, he did not react; but politely put up his argument that the simulations had not accounted for the “human factor”.

At the overwhelmingly difficult moment of losing both engines, Sully had to think, check so many things, and make the right decision; instead of what the computer simulations considered by default, which was to turn back to the airport once the problem was identified.

Also, he proved why it was wrong, as the computer simulations had to run 17 times before it was proven right. By considering the fact in his argument, the simulation was run again with delay time of 35 seconds to respond (though in actual scenario, more time was needed to take the right decision), and it was proved that the simulation videos were not able to demonstrate a safe landing.

Also at just the right time, the engines analysis reports arrived and confirmed that both engines had lost the thrust at that moment. That made the panel experts admit their flaws, and they therefore dismissed the case of pilot error.

Captain Sully became world famous ever since these dramatic events.

Sri Appa has written in detail about that incident. He has summarized as (translated from Tamil)

“...Sully was not feared of the danger, and he wanted to accomplish his duty with utmost dedication and sincerity. As a result, the danger transformed itself into the opportunity...”

(Senthil Murugan)

Comment: He lives just two or three small towns over from where I lived in Lafayette, Ca in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The film indeed shows the power of steadiness, fearlessness, inner strength, and professionalism; as well as the power of dedication to Truth in the conflictive aftermath; and how life invariably responds positively to that spiritual-like value via unexpected support.

We also see the power of Non-Reaction and Consecration (opening to the spiritual Force) at play.

No Title

I push a bit harder in my own work, invariably, and much to my surprise someone comes forth with word of great new developments from a whole other work I am related to.

Perceiving Mother’s Countless Unknown Experiences

Mother indicated in Agenda that beyond the vast number of inner and outer experiences She narrated in the recordings, She had dozens, hundreds, perhaps thousands of experiences that She did not have the time or wherewithal to explain, as that time would interfere with Her yoga and other duties.

Imagine if we knew what those were! How many other countless startling insights could be derived by Her followers from such a knowledge!

Perhaps we devotees are meant to one day discover them on our own, in our own lives; perceiving what Mother experienced but did not have the time to explain.

No Title

The European Union serves as the first critical model for future Human Unity.

The Future Body

Mother Said That The Future Body Would Have No-

- reproductive parts
- digestive parts
- breathing parts
- circulatory parts
- structural parts

all to be replaced with Centers of Consciousness. This is the body of the Supramental Being. We can aid in that process by overcoming certain limitations of our physical nature.

No Title

All that comes to us serves to help us grow.

Keys to Society's Evolution

For society's evolution to take place-

- Rational mind needs to be replaced by intuitive mind
- Nations need to come together, not split apart (eg EU, federation of India)
- World governance must create global legislation from top down
- Individuality must be encouraged from the bottom up
- Spiritual Force must be brought to the fore to solve problems
- Ego of nations must be replaced with cooperation and collaboration
- Nationalism replaced with Human-based society, economics
- Education should develop unique capacities of each child
- Science should create in context of other disciplines (like sociology, psychology, etc: Not merely be material, empirical
- Religion - of ritual, superstition, et al - should be replaced by spiritual experience
- The people should become aware of the Character of Life and its subtle laws
- High human values should be adopted by the people - including freedom, tolerance, fairness, goodness, peace, and harmony
- "Unity in Diversity" can be the central motto and value.
- Global Governance can lead, legislates our way forward
- Individual nations alone cannot solve its problems. Collaboration with others, leading to ultimate unity can only solve those issues
- Political, economic, social, and cultural integration is the goal
- Spiritualization of life on earth is the ultimate mission, expressed thorough peace, silence, harmony, knowledge, wisdom, creativity, love, delight, timelessness, and infinity
- All problems in life are seen as opportunities
- Shift from our current inherent Ignorance born of creation to Integral Truth and Knowledge of existence
- Perceiving Reality as it truly is. Eg Understanding the integration of Spirit and Matter

Breaking the Vicious Cycle

AW: where the ego is ascendant, ignorance is ruling and therefore there is an inability to perceive "spirit"... Hence in the ego-world of ignorance, "spirit" simply has no meaning and cannot be perceived (I.e. a "vicious circle")

RP: Yes. That's why pioneer individuals who are aware of this dilemma take up personal and spiritual development (yoga), to help break the vicious cycle, creating an opening for the rest of the world to follow.

No Title

Do the right thing at any moment, and Life will take care of the rest.

Comment: -Eg Lorenzo tried to do the right thing throughout 'Medici the Magnificent'

-Dan tried to do the right thing throughout 'The Book'

-Darcy did the right thing when learning of the elopement in 'Pride and Prejudice'

-Jean Valjean did the right thing by going to the trial where a man was falsely being accused of being Jean Valjean in 'Les Miserables'

All met with great success, one way or another.

No Title

We are now in nation-states and the next step may be a global state or global governance. However, there is great resistance to this move. (Ashok Natarajan)

No Title

If you recognize another's mistake and initiate to inform them of the fact, soon after, - and much to your embarrassment, - someone will initiate in and inform you of an altogether different mistake you have made!

"Life is like a beanstalk...isn't it?"

Yes, we are constantly climbing up, rising up, progressing, evolving; even though we may circle back down on occasion as seeming regression. And yet that is really assimilating what was above, down below. Life can thus be said to be akin to a spiraling beanstalk.

Power of Quickly Recognizing Wrong Behavior Outcomes

Acting silly in an inappropriate situation quickly attracts negative conditions. However, realizing the error and taking responsibility will instantaneously reverse the situation.

This indicates that when a negative outcome suddenly ensues, and you recognize your wrong attitude, you are likely to quickly reverse the negative conditions, or otherwise attract positive ones.

No Title

So Far: The Smartphone is great; the Internet is greater still; Life Response/The Secret is greatest of all.

Array of Challenges

It is far too difficult to deal with our normal array of physical, vital, psychological, and mental problems/challenges with our ordinary consciousness. Only by being steeped in Mother, the supramental Force, - from a poise deep within - can we navigate these issues; overcoming them; indeed turning them all into golden opportunities and blissful achievements.

Reader: Please do differentiate the psychological, and mental problems/challenges

Response: Psychological is an introspective mixture of emotion (vital) and thought. Like my view and feelings about another person, or a sticky problem that has arisen, or an opportunity coming my way.

By Mental, I mean more of the right knowledge or truth of things: that the mind grapples with through forms of logic and reason. Like how to resolve a math equation or having the knowledge of how to fix a faulty device.

(And then we also know that thought and reason can be tinged by wrong attitudes and false beliefs rising up through our psychological and emotional nature.)

Through the higher Power, the supramental Force the best emotions, attitudes, thoughts, actions and results tend to come about.

No Title

If Spiritual aspirants, devotees look around, they will perceive subtle, powerful Connections between things that the ordinary, surface consciousness-oriented person completely misses.

Ideologues and Truth

Political, economic, social, cultural Ideologues subscribe to one set of values at the expense of another, causing their truth to be tarnished by degrees of falsehood.

No Title

Engage in a work not so much to earn, or even to be successful, but to Grow as a Person.

No Title

For most people "Growing as a Person" means shedding certain unwanted habits, attitudes, or beliefs. For the spiritual aspirant it also means increasingly relying on the Force, on Mother; rather than on one's own self or the exigencies of life.

The Choice of Nations

Working together, collaboratively, the nations of the world can solve its problems relatively easily. However, working apart, separately, ensnared in Ego, as is occurring now, the solutions will come slowly, painfully, and be filled with conflict. The choice is ours for the making.

1 Nation Veto Power in UN

The UN is undemocratic not only because of the deference and special privileges afforded to the original security council founding members, but also because of the absurd 1-nation Veto power.

Imagine if in your country one single representative in a 221-1 vote could block an initiative. It is absurd possibility, but that is precisely what the UN has. Let's make the UN more democratic by ending the Veto Power.

Message to a Friend

Karmayogi has given virtually all the answers to the major issues in nearly every field of life -- based on Sri Aurobindo's' philosophical framework, which is rooted in the deepest Vedic truths married to evolutionary thinking.

Why then dabble on the periphery, - with other teachings, methods, philosophies, yogas, etc., - when you have the deepest insights ever presented to humanity at your fingertips?

Krishna, Sri Aurobindo, and the Accelerating Evolution

Krishna and what He represents is just one level below Sri Aurobindo. I.e. Overmental vs. Supramental. Universal vs. Truth Consciousness.

Overmental/universal was/is the great foundation of the supramental, but still missing the full integrative truth, plus the instantaneous Transformative twist.

However, the Supramental Force came down in 1956 and the world has changed dramatically ever since. The evolution is speeding up, accelerating, becoming exponential in its change.

The Process of creation itself is also accelerating all around us.

The Force is rapidly Leading the world, the universe forward toward the future.

Will we participate in that Great Possibility?

On Apologizing

Apologizing is a step toward taking responsibility for a past mistake or problem.

It also humanizes the interaction, as it is the giving up of ego, releasing humility, which will be greatly appreciated by the other side, especially if the contrition is sincere.

And yet one does not need to browbeat one's self, as it can come off as a variant of self-pity.

Clarity of thought about the wrong action taken, through emotionalized sincerity without self-pity will smooth out problems while having the added benefit of attracting unexpected positive developments thereafter.

Comment: Elizabeth sincerely apologized to Darcy at the end of Pride and Prejudice for her family's outrageous behavior, immediately after which he unexpectedly reaffirmed his love for her, causing their engagement and marriage. Her sincerity of apology attracted a startling life response from him when she had all but given up hope for the renewal of their relationship.

It is a life lesson of sincerity and truthfulness that can be applied to business and other domains of life.

btw: "Past consecration" lends itself to contrition and a deep sense of "apology" for past errors within one's self.

Enjoyment, Accomplishment in Work

When you enjoy what you are doing, no matter how difficult, or especially when difficult (!), the more life cooperates with your efforts. It is thus said "Enjoyment is Accomplishment. Accomplishment is Enjoyment."

No Title

The central purpose of my life is to help fulfill Sri Aurobindo's and The Mother's mission of a Transformed world and a Divine Life on Earth.

No Title

Insight and Intuition are known phenomena. They deserve no apology. Science must pronounce on them. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Intuition is knowledge that comes to one without the need for thought.

Overcoming a Problem through Various Levels of Silence

We see something is wrong on the outside with someone or some party. Rather than speak it out, we can hold it inside. Life will begin to move favorably where there is the problem. It is Physical Silence that makes it happen.

And yet what we hold inside is still an emotion we may be bothered by. Now we can dissolve that emotion by detaching from it. Life on the outside that was troubling will move further in our favor; often much further. It is Vital (emotional) Silence that makes it happen.

Now all that remains is the thought of the matter. When we give that up, the outer world that was so problematic at the inception is now fully reversed. It is Mental Silence that makes it happen.

If we used spiritual means, such as Non-reaction and Consecration of the issue; the Speed of the reversal is something to behold. Life will move at startling speed in our favor, reversing the original problem that emanated from another person or party. It is It is Spiritual Silence merged with Spiritual Force that makes it happen.

No Title

It takes great self-control not to initiate on our own, unless Life's circumstance compels us to do so.

No Title

The essence of Growth Online (1997-2015) has become the Supramental KnowledgeBase.

No Title

Rapid increase in interconnectedness of all aspects of life is creating the beginnings of a highly developed Global Society.

No Title

The current unbridled capitalistic system as practiced in USA and elsewhere does not protect people from falling into poverty, addiction, and mental illness; often leading to the eventuality of homelessness. There needs to be a great reversal to improve these negligent values and conditions.

No Title

Quantum Entanglement - i.e. Non-local Connection - is science's explanation of 'Life Response' phenomenon.

No Title

Currently emerging Global Society is a stepping stone to the beginnings of a Divine Life on Earth.

No Title

Silent response to another's ill-behavior soon evokes their apology.

Influences of Past & Future on the "Present Moment"

In ordinary surface consciousness we live from moment, yet are burdened by the negatives of the past and the worries and anxieties of the future.

However, by going Deep Within we live more in the Present Moment, and receiving the necessary intimations of truth from the future and the past that will help us in the Now.

Thus, from the depths, culminating in the psychic being, past, present, and future are one and undivided in the Present Moment.

No Title

Living on the surface, time grates, impatience reigns. From the Depths, all is Smooth flow, perfectly sequenced. Time is your friend.

No Title

The Deeper Part of ourselves can be fully engaged in the world, yet without being caught up in it.

No Title

Where is Higher Consciousness? It is everywhere. It is just a matter of focusing one's self and tuning into It.

Simultaneously Resolving Interconnected Issues in Our Lives

It is said by the Master that "Life works on many fronts simultaneously."

Take any issue and note the subtle signs as indicators of what and what not to do. Also notice the convergence of Other Issues in relationship to the first one. You will see a branching effect, where issues are interrelated. Look even closer still and notice that life is dealing with all of these inter-related concerns simultaneously!

Life working on many fronts simultaneously is an astonishing method of Nature, indicating a vast intelligence and Efficiency at work beyond our surface perceptions. This Method of Life happens, can be perceived in or personal life, in our work lives, in society around us, in politics, in economics; in every field and aspect of human existence.

Now note how this dynamic is occurring in your own life; for example, involving Work Issues. See how many other issues are directly or peripherally tied into the main issue at hand. Notice how a change in one can affect a change in the others; often simultaneously.

When Darcy in Pride and Prejudice resolved the elopement issue, not only did it lead to the proper marriage of the wild youngest daughter, but it led to his own marriage and happiness; to Eliza shedding her false beliefs about Wickham and the deception of other attractive and charming men; to Mr. Bennett coming to grips with his aloofness from his family; to the family avoiding financial ruin; to the middle and upper classes of England getting along, thereby avoiding revolution. Etc

If we rise in consciousness not only will one issue be resolved, but others directly or peripherally related to it will also be affected.

Life secretly wishes to resolve all related issue to a single issue through a rising of consciousness on the part of an individual or collective. It is a dynamic and vastly efficient means of furthering Human Progress.

No Title

The Supramental consciousness, Mother's Force can not only quickly resolve the issue at hand, - whether ours or the collective's - but surrounding and peripherally-related issues as well.

Boons

Everyone wants boons. Boons from the Deity. Boons from this and that; boons, boons, and more boons! And yet it is said that if you want boons, then Change Yourself; Elevate your Consciousness. Boons will then come from ALL DIRECTIONS!

Youth Movement Sweeping Away World's Problems

If the youth of the world idealize and then mobilize, all the problems of the world - nuclear weapons, climate change, terrorism, economic unfairness, et al - will be swept away to never return. That is the power of a Movement. And that is the power of the New Generations to effect change.

Surprising Arrival of the Internet

The surprising arrival of the Internet in 1994 was the first time in history that humanity has been connected in substantial ways. It has always been divided before that.

And it took the end of the Cold War to allow for everyone to participate in the Internet; so that all of humanity will have the knowledge and platform to move forward.

Internet, - like the youth movement of the 60s through 80s, the end of the Cold War, etc. - is another manifestation of the Supreme Consciousness on earth. More particularly, it is a further unfolding of the power of Truth and Knowledge to be used in the world.

No Title

Our problems come to point out the particular areas of our being, our lives that need to change.

Extending Emotionalized Family Bond to Society

If we had the same concern for the people in the world, in society that we have for our own family members, then any problem, - such as poverty, wealth inequality, et al - could easily be solved.

Thus, it is human intention, connection, and emotional bond that ultimately determines our ability to overcome limits in society.

From Individuality to Social Consciousness in the West

In Western Society we have learned to be individualistic, to create our own world, taking care of our own selves first. We here in the West are still learning of the power of taking responsibility for all of the issues and ills of society. And that requires a deeper bond between our own emotions, values, and beliefs, and the needs of the world. Once we do, life on earth will become more fully realized. Problems will be replaced by great successes and human progress.

No Title

An Aspiration for something Higher, for the Divine, for the Mother is a critical element for evoking the Grace.

No Title

The Darkest Hour is the announcement of the greatest Opportunity. (Garry Jacobs)

Comment: When a falsely-accused young prisoner Edmond Dantes is about to give up all hope and destroy himself, another inmate (and former priest) in the next cell, Father Abbe, burrows through to the desperate young man's cell, and, becomes his teacher in various aspects of life, eventually revealing the secret location of a vast lost treasure. The young man eventually escapes and becomes the fabulously wealthy and influential Count of Monte Cristo in Alexandre Dumas famous novel..

Like many other instances we could narrate, this is an example of how the Darkest Hour is the announcement of the greatest Opportunity. It occurs for all of us in some facet(s) in the course of our lives.

Power of Not Accepting the Negative

Not believing, accepting negative news is one form of Faith. It has the power to readily cancel what was thought to be true.

One learned, evolved man was told by a breathless individual that a bunch of ex-convicts had carried off an individual at an agrarian estate.

However, the man refused to believe, feel that negative vibration of fear.

Soon after he learned that the event had never taken place.

No Title

The Secret is not "out there". It is Within us. The Secret is the power of Consciousness; of our right attitudes, beliefs, and values - the Inner - that determines, evokes the Outer conditions.

No Title

Each moment affords us an opportunity to evoke a positive response from life. It is simply a matter of choosing in the Right Direction.

No Title

If you really want to keep a secret, you should forget about it. Otherwise it gets energized, and the compulsion to speak it out is increased.

No Title

The more we try to hide something, the more it gets energized, and therefore discovered!

Non-Reaction + Consecration

Non-reaction to someone else's or circumstance's intensities is great. Beyond this Consecrating the activity is greater still, especially in tandem with non-reaction. Life responds overwhelmingly!

Altering a Contentious Relationship

Shifting the inner to the positive always attracts a corresponding outer positive result. For example, if you've had a contentious relationship with someone, but now aspire for more positive relations, outer circumstances will present themselves that will quickly give you the opportunity to do this in full.

Drama of Problems

Mother in Agenda says that all the problems we have in life get energized, reinforced by the Drama we add to these experiences - whether in psychological conflict, fear, anger, physical illness, work issues, war, etc. etc. Withdraw the Drama and the problem eases off substantially.

No Title

Calm and patience in a slow-moving situation compels it to occur more swiftly. Distress, impatience intensifies the condition, delaying it further.

In Gratitude To Jyoti

It was because of Dr. Judith Tyberg that I was able to meet Garry and Leslie Jacobs in 1975, which changed my life forever.

Here is the background of the story:

One day while living near the beach in Santa Monica, California, I decided to visit the East-West Cultural Center near downtown Los Angeles. I had been regularly visiting the Cultural Integration Fellowship near Golden Gate Park in San Francisco when I lived in Northern California, and was looking for something similar in the Los Angeles area where I now resided. And so I headed out to the East-West Cultural Center one day, with no particular intention, other than meeting with like-minded people.

At the door Trudy greeted me; the main disciple of Dr. Tyberg ("Jyoti") at the time. Jyoti had experienced numerous darshans with Sri Aurobindo and Mother over the years, and had been instructed by the latter to open up America to Their teachings. Jyoti was at the time perhaps the preeminent Sanskrit scholar in the world. In fact, her name "Jyotipriya" was given to her by Sri Aurobindo, and means "the Lover of Light."

After Trudy greeted me, she told me about several people in the San Fernando Valley suburb of LA, who were importing products from the Sri Aurobindo Ashram, and were looking for like-minded people to join them in that efforts.

Soon after I met Garry and Leslie Jacobs at their office home, and eventually came in close contact with Karmayogi, their guru and spiritual genius. My entire life thereafter was now dedicated to their purpose of carrying out Sri Aurobindo and the Mother's vision through MSS's dramatically new insights and initiatives.

Therefore, all these years later I can say that I met the members of Mother's Service Society because of Jyoti, who was instructed by Mother to bring Their teachings to America. I am forever indebted to Dr. Tyberg for her works and being part of and influencing the course of my life.

Finally, let me say that I met with or was in the company of Jyoti several times; had several interesting conversations with her; and even once played a "luminous God" in her annual production of Savitri. (I also guided Sunil's music in the background of the production.)

Please note that Jyoti was no ordinary scholar, but was also a practicing yogi who was trying to embody what she learned from the Master and the Mother, while bringing so many individuals into their sphere of influence at the East West Cultural Center.

Eternal gratitude to you Jyoti.

No Title

It is said that the Indian's body is filled with Light; and the Westerner's is filled with Darkness. It is any wonder that Indians are able to perceive Life Response, synchronicity, and other subtle phenomena everywhere, while the Westerner perceives them hardly at all.

No Title

Westerners are generally alert in the mind, but dull in the Spirit.

No Title

We rarely change through a sudden revelation and adoption of an ideal in the mind; but by being pummeled by the exigencies of Life. However, the more-conscious, growing, spirit-oriented individual increasingly reverses that dynamic.

No Title

The mind is focused on outer conditions; the Spirit on the Inner.

No Title

Auroville is there so that individuals no longer relate to their own nation, but to the family of Man; to a unifying, Divine Consciousness.

Airport Incident: Higher Power Orchestrating the Details of Life

Once again I have perceived how Mother keeps saving me from my own foolish errors. Even when I haven't made a consecrated effort on my part. Here's a recent example:

On many high-end automobiles, all you need to do to start the car is to push a small button. Still you are given a key with electronic buttons on it to open and close the doors of the vehicle.

Because I had been using the inside little button so often to start and shut down the car, that when it came time to return the car to the rental company, I neglected to return the keys!

And so discouraged somewhat and mildly shocked, I headed toward the airport via a shuttle bus with unreturned keys in my pocket.

I then thought about how to handle this disturbing situation. First off, I was hoping I could drop off the keys at the rental company's office at the airline terminal; but I soon discovered that there was no such thing. Then when I asked an attendant what to do, I was instructed to use the "white courtesy phone" to speak to someone about what to do. However, the phone was dead!

So I turned around, exited the terminal, hoping to return the keys to the driver of the shuttle to the offsite car rental company.

I prepared for the usual lengthy wait for the bus. However, this time the shuttle bus came almost immediately; in less than two minutes! And when I stepped on board the bus and began to explain my predicament to the driver, I noticed that the bus was practically empty, so he was able to give me his undivided attention. After explaining my situation, the driver cheerfully said he would take the keys back to the car rental company. And so when I turned back to the terminal, I noticed that the bus INSTANTLY took off, when they normally wait awhile for passengers to enter the vehicle.

It all transpired so swiftly and effortlessly; as if I were on a magic carpet ride.

I immediately sensed the Higher Power at work. Mother's Force operating in full to help rectify this troubling situation.

I have indeed felt this swift moving vibration at work many times in the past; with everything dovetailing and synchronizing, as if a Divine Watchman was orchestrating the details of Life.

It was indeed yet another unforgettable instance of the Higher Power at work!

Comment:

Further discussion:

(SM)

Thank you Sir for sharing Airport incident. I thought of the below few comments.

- Life tends to repeat, often ends positively as we take the right measures.
- Few years before, you had the dramatic, miraculous experience involving return car, airport and so forth, where you were conscious and consecrating every moment.
- However, Mother is always guiding us. And in this case, you may not have consecrated (I might be wrong), but when you took the right measures of Not-reacting to the incident, The Mother's Force came forward to make things move in a miraculous manner.
- First of all, why should the incident happen? You have posted few days earlier as you were making a trip from Long Beach to SF. Though no conscious intention of boasting, perhaps subconsciously you might be seeking some miraculous moment or an experience and all have played together with the aid of Conscious Force to manifest that.
- Again, travel is generally tend to have such possibilities, as we are slightly shifting from our routine day-today life.....

(RP)

Marvelous insights!

One related point. I prepared for parts of a month for this presentation. It took so long because the client wanted me to use quite dated software and materials, as that was the only way they could spend their grant funds. However, when I arrived the participants told me that they had the latest software and expected me to base my presentation on it! That made the experience far easier for me. So a full effort pays a life response dividend.

Moreover, during the previous months' preparation time for the old materials, I found flaws in the new content, as well as made other notable improvements in it. This shows that the negative serves to make the positive moreso.

Also this being my former, long-time hometown area, I did not indulge in trying to recapture experiences, but kept completely focused on the task at hand. I suppose that too can have an effect.

After a while the Force enters and settles in the subconscious, even the body consciousness, and has its play without the interference of the mind. I am not saying I have reached that stage, but it may be an emerging quality.

Superstition of Religion and Science

Both Religion and Science are superstitious. Religion often follows questionable rituals and beliefs and dogma, forgetting the pure spiritual essence of its origins; while Science only believes in the material, the mechanistic, not understanding the deeper principles of Life, let alone the Spiritual Origins of existence and the Divine Force surrounding and guiding us.

No Title

"Coincidence" is an expression of ignorance.

No Title

The more the nations of the world pull apart, the more they will be compelled to come together.

Buddha's Vs Sri Aurobindo's View of Reality

Buddha came to believe that all material things are an illusion that weighs heavy on us, and therefore we should detach from them, thereby moving towards liberation that is Nirvana.

On the other hand, Sri Aurobindo says all is real, but is limited in consciousness, and we can bring the Force to bear to evolve and divinize it and all aspects of life.

No Title

Instead of excluding each other, religions should complement each other. (Sri Aurobindo)

Psychic Being Moments

Mother had past lives in the form of a variety of famous people, including Catherine the Great, Hatshepsut of Egypt, and the woman in the Mona Lisa. But it was not memories of their entire lives she recalled, but rather "psychic moments," where she was connected to her psychic being in those lives, which she was able to experience in this one. That's how she crossed the boundaries and made the connection between them.

No Title

By quieting the mind one can more readily perceive the Source of creation.

No Title

The liberation of women in all facets of life continues to be one of the great developments in the world.

Indian Water Deficit

Water deficit in India is a direct negative life response to Indian's consciousness concerning water, including ignoring the need to link the rivers, increase dams, have better infrastructure in cities, waste groundwater, etc. People should pray for this change in their consciousness towards water (and act on it), rather than simply pray to Mother or whoever for more of it.

Mother's Connection to "That" and Mental Silence

Mother in Agenda in 1967 was making the effort to fully, i.e. at all times, immerse Herself in "That", the Force, the Divine. And when She kept the mind silent, She was able to maintain a stable connection to That. And life Responds to that effort accordingly.

And by the way, we can make modest efforts of our own along those same lines.

No Title

This very moment has never existed in the history of the universe, and we are privileged to be alive and take part in it.

No Title

It is not so difficult to distinguish between a progressive and a reactionary face. The Mother could perceive the entire nature of an individual from a mere glance at a photo.

No Title

The 4th dimension is the Spiritual, and its Consciousness, which permeates and is the source of everything.

No Title

How many lesser or greater calamities have you avoided in the present because similar things were consecrated in the past.

No Title

What strategies can you employ in your life to get closer to Mother? (please list)

For each important activity may I consecrate

For each problem may I consecrate

For each opportunity may I consecrate

For others' problems may I consecrate

For my family's issues may I consecrate

For society's ills may I consecrate

For the success of the organization I belong to may I consecrate

For money coming to me may I consecrate.

—

Shifting from my initiatives to what She wants of me

Seeing my life in the context of Her purpose

Surrender to Her will

Silencing my mind and think of Her instead

Study His and Her lives and insights to bring me closer

Please list several ways Not tease, infuriate partner.

-Only speak when other person is ready to listen, not before

-In conversation focus on other person's concerns rather than one's own.

-Keep up conversation on the interest; concerns they are expressing; not turning the focus towards one's self.

You can better get along with another at work or home.

No Title

Through Gorbachev, Mother ended the Cold War, saving the world, preventing the destruction of all life on earth.

No Title

Mother's knowledge; i.e. the supramental understanding of Reality is greater than 100 PhDs.

No Title

The greatest thought is one that reconciles all sides of a matter in an intuitive insight.

No Title

At each point where you feel a concern about an issue, consecrate it. Life WILL cooperate.

No Title

Westerners have little experience of Higher Consciousness, of Spirit, because they are fundamentally material and mechanistic. For Indians, however, Spirit is there in the very fiber of their being. All they have to do is go a little deeper, focus on it, and they will perceive the divinity within.

Unaddressed Malaise of USA

When president of the USA Jimmy Carter in the 1970s noted the malaise of America after Vietnam and Watergate, asking the country to look within and discover the cause of its mistakes, no one listened. Reagan then came on and unloosed trickle-down economics on the nation that has led to unprecedented wage failure and wealth inequality of the people, threatening Capitalism to its core. The Financial Crisis was the first great warning sign, with others likely to come.

Meanwhile US has still not addressed its malaise, selfish values, runaway greed, acute materialism and other psychological impediments.

Trump is thus the personification of all these traits; what Americans apparently deserve by not addressing these critical psychological issues.

No Title

In the visible evoke the Invisible.

No Title

Human Values, not technology, evolves society. Tech provides the info and communication capacities so higher values can be understood, take root, and spread.

No Title

No problem in the world can be solved from the plane of consciousness that created it. Something higher is needed.

Keys to Attracting Business Success

What are the Keys to Attracting Immediate Business Success According to Consciousness Approach to Business Management?

- Developed and implemented BUSINESS VALUES applied at all levels of the firm
- Strength in each the 5 Business ENGINES - Market, Products/Services, Organization, People, and Capital
- Intense Focus on One's People, Customers, Shareholders
- Following the process of creation and implementing a STRATEGIC PLAN
- Inner HARMONY that attracts outer success
- Higher Consciousness of Top Management

For further information:

<https://1drv.ms/b/s!AjayTOYvR8hzgZwT97UsTSubyyYMVA?e=DVzTPh>

Formations of Beauty In The World

When the universe began from a Divine Source, all beauty was lost; so too all harmony, wisdom, creativity, love, delight, infinity, etc. that is inherent in the Source, the One. This was the Involution.

As forms took shape in the Evolution, first inklings of Beauty began to emerge.

It occurred first in an infinite variety of Physical formations.

As sentient life took shape, the beings perceived physical beauty according to their species, in forms, and in one another.

As man came to be, the beauty he saw was increasingly through his Mind, the vibrations of which could descend into his Feelings and Sensations. He could also create beauty through creative inspirations, as in art and architecture.

As man becomes Spiritual, he sees beauty not just in physical forms, but in other higher spiritual attributes, such as the beauty in seeing individuals and collectives move towards a greater harmony of being, or a shift from contradiction to oneness and love, etc.

Perhaps we can say that when Spiritual Attributes form, and especially when the attributes get mixed together, new forms of beauty can be seen arising.

Eg when Perfection comes about, one can see the beauty in it. If we put our heart and soul into that effort, then Joy and Delight, and even Power result, reinforcing or making still greater the nature of that Beauty.

In spiritual Devotion we see a kind of Beauty.

We see beauty in the mother's love of raising the infant child. Seeing the child come into his own is a kind of beauty as well.

We see the perfectly chosen word in sentences of a novelist that is the beauty of expression.

As a company harmonizes its inner systems with its outer connections, with the market, the public, we witness not only a harmony and perfection, but a symphony-like unfolding that is Beautiful-like.

As the higher Consciousness, the Spirit enters our being, Beauty of various sorts take shape.

We can see Beauty of the Soul shining through the eyes of the spiritual seeker or the realized individual.

We can say that the Divine aspired for beauty in the forms it sought to manifest in infinite variation in the creation process.

As we raise in consciousness in various ways, we become instruments for the spiritual attributes to shine through - including Beauty that is Divine in origin.

“Unending Life On Earth” Incident

An interesting thing happened to me today as it relates to the subject of “eternal life.”

As I was driving home after shopping for groceries with a friend, I started thinking about our capacity to live as long as we wish.

I thought of the possibility at several levels:

Biologically, I thought some people genetically live longer than others, which could spread.

Medically, I understood that Medical technology could devise all sorts of ways to keep us alive for a very long time, if not forever.

Evolutionarily, I thought that the human species will gradually evolve through nature towards unending life. But that could take forever.

Spiritually, I ruminated, we can open to the supramental force, which can change our cellular functioning, replacing organs with corresponding centers of consciousness, enabling unending life if we so choose.

After thinking about this, I refocused on the task at hand; making my way back to my house.

And so when I arrived home a few minutes later and unloaded the groceries into my house, an Asian man dressed in shorts suddenly appeared in my driveway, and enthusiastically called out to me “Jesus can give you eternal life!”

He then walked up close to me, and handed me a pen attached to a tiny little booklet explaining his position and the sect he belonged to. He then walked away with a big smile on his face, and wished me well. A little startled, I managed to do the same.

I quickly understood how my earlier focus on the various capacities to achieve unending life attracted this gentleman from out of nowhere!

Except where he advocated eternal life beyond this world, essentially in Heaven, I had been focusing my thoughts on its possibility here on earth!

"Slice of Life" Incident

Focus your mind intensely on addressing a conundrum, and life will create a solution for you. Yesterday we were discussing why there are no drive-through pizza outlets where you could buy a single slice or a small portion like other fast-food chains. We then concluded it either might not be a viable business strategy, or it just never worked out in the past. Still I wondered....

It turns out that the next day I noticed the following (which I sent as a note to a friend).

"I just noticed that there is a combo Taco Bell and Pizza Hut that's a drive-through in Seal Beach. So therefore you could drive-through and order a personal pizza for one, which is the solution to what we talked about yesterday! A drive through Pizza Place!

It was a Life Response to our focused interest in a possibility!"

Indians' Supramental Synchronicity

I have noticed an astonishing phenomenon that has occurred in my daily life over the years. Whenever I consider a life response I have recently experienced, suddenly from out of nowhere Indians appear on the scene! Where none were there before. And it is even more astonishing when considering that there are very few Indians in my community.

Indians are surely very open to and in the flow of some form of Supramental synchronicity!

No Title

When the Mind moves from its logical, rational moorings to its Cosmic capacities, it gains a fantastic power to alter individual and collective reality.

Blaming Others for Limitation One Also Has Attracts Related Problem

If you are critical of another party's deficiency, while unconsciously having that same or similar limitation, a problem or calamity may suddenly arise indicating your weakness.

In the tv series 'Madam Secretary', the husband of the secretary of state of a nation complained about another nation's (India's) harmful nationalism and oppression of the minority Muslim population, not thinking that his own country suffers from the same problem (white nationalism), albeit it in a slightly different way.

Well very soon thereafter his country is attacked by a fanatical white nationalistic group from his own country.

These events demonstrate unconscious awareness and hypocrisy of government leaders. It can be related to a wide variety of issues.

(season 5, episode 1)

Supreme Act of Kindness Attracts Ultimate Possibility

A small, out-of-the-way Human Gesture for the sake of the beneficiary can quickly bring about a life-changing opportunity for the benefactor.

Consider this powerful example of this phenomenon from the tv series 'Madam Secretary'; season 5, episode 3, The Rake:

A judge excuses Secretary of State Elizabeth from jury duty. On her way out, Elizabeth bumps into a woman named Katelyn. Rather than ignore this ordinary citizen, Elizabeth goes out of her way to discuss Katlyn's case, a surprising act for the Secretary of State of the United States. It is a heart-felt goodwill gesture.

Katelyn explains to Elizabeth that she is about to go to 20 days in jail since her ex-husband forgot to pay her car insurance, with the court citing her a misdemeanor case. Katelyn doesn't have any money for proper representation, and she fears for her future if she gets sent to prison. Elizabeth then gives her the number of a Legal Aid Foundation and her card, encouraging Katelyn to call her if things go south.

Mike B, who is organizing Elizabeth's potential run for president, is then tasked by Elizabeth to help in Katelyn's case after she lost all chances of getting proper representation from the Legal Aid Foundation. Mike overwhelmingly wins Katelyn's trial, sending the DA running after his defeat.

Interestingly, that's when Elizabeth realizes her purpose for her presidential campaign. To help people with their human rights worldwide. Elizabeth calls Mike B over to tell him that she's running for president officially.

Had Elizabeth not made the small gesture of helping an ordinary citizen (Katlyn), none of these events would have transpired, and she would not have been motivated to run for president. The small act of goodwill evoked events that led to potentially the single most important career moment of her life.

No Title

If you don't sincerely respond to others, - to their inputs, remarks, etc., - they won't respond to you.

No Title

How you interact with others in key moments indicates your true character.

No Title

True Patriotism celebrates the Good we have in common, whereas Nationalism seeks to focus on our own needs, separating us from and marginalizing others. (Please watch this short, excellent video!)

No Title

Like the famed mode of the submarine - "silent running" - we should be still, hold back, and observe. Life will then cooperate with our quiet intent.

No Title

A great one-word mantra for keeping your thoughts and attitudes positive is "Gratitude".
(it also attracts good fortune)

No Title

Obstacles are secretly opportunities.

On Certitude

For the average person it is very difficult to live without Certitude. For the Yogi it is relatively easy. However, through our own personal and spiritual growth we can begin to fill that gap.

No Title

There is a gradual, progressive Journey of Civilization from out of ego and selfishness to harmony and love. The direction is definitely upward, though it spirals as a means of being more varied and inclusive.

No Title

Strong minds discuss ideas, average minds discuss events, weak minds discuss people.
(Socrates)

Comment: I would add that the true spiritual personality perceives the integral relationships among all three.

Quantum Physics and Life Response

1. Quantum physics theory indicates that electrons and therefore matter does not exist until it is being observed in some fashion. Without the observation there is no existence. In that way, the universe grants us the power to create reality.
Thus within ourselves we hold the power of Creation, A corollary of this is that what manifests on the outside is created from within ourselves. The Inner manifests the outer. Thus just our Intention can manifest reality. It also reaffirms that Intention can evoke life response results.
2. Quantum physics indicates that reality is created from the Quantum field; the soup out of which everything comes to be. It is an invisible field of energy that represents all possibilities. According to Sri Aurobindo all emerges from Conscious-Force through the involutionary process (from spirit to universal mind to energy to matter). This is similar to the quantum field.
3. Quantum physics indicates that everything in the universe is nothing but vibrating energy. Sri Aurobindo indicates that all planes of existence in the universe are simply different forms of the Conscious-Force (Chit in Sanskrit).
4. Quantum physics suggest that all life, matter, us is electromagnetic; attracting other electromagnetic formations, visible or invisible. Thus forms are simply electromagnetic elements attracting like elements ere we see the beginning of the Law of Attraction. Eg like attracts like. I.e. Life Response.
5. Your thoughts, feelings, subconscious movements, beliefs, conscious actions, intentions, are therefore just formations of electromagnetic energy.
When one's consciousness moves to a higher plane, degree, intensity, etc. relative to any of these aspects, then the electromagnetism goes out and connects with like elements. it attracts them, aligns with them, and thus seems to create them or their appearance in space-time from out of nothing.
When the consciousness goes lower, there is still alignment, attraction et al, but there is attraction of corresponding lower or negative elements.
6. Certain sub-subatomic particles, even separated by vast distances, can instantly know what the other is doing. Eg when one photon was jostled, it produced an instantaneous same reaction, in terms of speed, direction, spin, etc. in the other photon, though miles apart. This "entanglement" indicates the alignment of most any dual-pairs is possible. And at an instantaneousness of these pairs that exceed the speed of light. Just as a life response can evoke a reaction from the other side of the world (or universe) instantaneously, as a result of shift in our consciousness.
7. In quantum theory things are not just this or that, but this AND that; i.e. both. That relates to the spiritual principle that a thing is what it is and its opposite. Eg an idea can be both true and false, depending on the context.
8. In quantum theory the small is just as important as the large. This relates to the spiritual truth that the infinite can arise from the smallest finite.

Also see Garry Jacobs article Sri Aurobindo & Hyperspace comparing Quantum Physics concepts and His cosmic teachings:

https://1drv.ms/b/s!AjayTOYvR8hzgaw_NGyjt-5D8x-A0A?e=BpuEiF

Spontaneous Form of New Civilization

The Renaissance and the Hippies are two examples of an awakening spontaneously happening at a social, cultural, economic and political levels based on new core values.

We may see new formations raking shape along these lines.

When the values shared reach a threshold, the new development takes shape from seemingly out of nowhere.

The Tech culture is the latest example. Internet potential burst out of new sets of interests and values.

A new civilization as Garry Jacobs, myself, Sri Aurobindo, and others envision requires the emergence of something very deep in man; a new level of collaboration and harmony married to something unprecedented we have not yet envisioned.

Some say it may come out of a new spiritual awakening.

Collaborating with, Completing Their Supramental Mission

Sri Aurobindo spent his life bringing down the Truth Consciousness (The supramental power) from its infinite heights into the earth's atmosphere.

Mother completed that phase by taking a golden hammer and releasing that force further down into the earth.

Now followers of Them can bring the Force down into the details of their lives furthering Their mission, enabling a vast power to uplift and transform all aspects of life on earth.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo embodies the Supreme, Mother the Force, and We the field of Life.

No Title

We are incomplete, on the way to becoming Complete.

The Need for Global Leadership

Leadership is needed to generate awareness of the enormous, unutilized global potentials that can be tapped to accelerate global progress.

It is needed to challenge outmoded, unidimensional theories and compartmentalized models, narrow national and sectoral perspectives, piecemeal stakeholder strategies and fragmented institutional functioning that obstruct global social progress.

It is needed to formulate comprehensive, integrated strategies and policies capable of mobilizing all stakeholders in the global community and directing all the available global social energies for practical application.

And, most of all, it is needed to fully unleash and mobilize the energies of global society, to release a broad-based social movement to transform the compelling challenges confronting humanity today into catalysts for rapid global social evolution.

Leadership is needed at the level of local communities, nation-states, regional entities and international organizations to convert those capabilities into effective actions to achieve concrete, tangible results. (Garry Jacobs and others for Cadmus Journal)

No Title

Doing the smallest thing by the greatest principle is yoga. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Consciousness creates reality. So too out of reality emerges Consciousness.

No Title

Consecration affects past, present, and future.

True Individuality and Personality

Howard Roark (in the Fountainhead) expresses his true individuality by thinking for himself and not being swayed by the herd. We can say that such a person is in contact with his inner Personality and True Self, as opposed to others who rely on the social imperative. When that inner force is weak though true, relative to the world around him, society tends to crush him and his ideals. If it is strong, as it was in the case of Roark or a Churchill or a Gorbachav, it can change the course of the world around them.

How many of us think for ourselves, instead of being determined by the herd around us, the social view, the collective views expressed by media and popular culture? How many of us seek to know the true truth, the many-sided truth, instead of the part and convenient truth that the world presents to us on the surface or that we are attached to within ourselves.

The true Individual in that sense is spiritual because he seeks identity with the full object of knowledge which the limited normal mind of man cannot perceive. Limited, normal mind perceives an exclusive truth, whereas the logical and better, still illumined and intuitive mind are powers of spiritualized mentality that seek the inherent truth in the object of inquiry. There is knowledge by identity with the object. There is no separation between the knower, the knowing, and the known. The influence of the social herd clouds that identity, as does the normally divided mind of man. Only when we seek the deeper consciousness within, do we move to the wider truth by identity. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Two nights ago while sleeping, a gigantic white light completely enveloped me, jettisoning me awake at 4am. Never experienced anything like it.

Volkswagen Bus Sync

Though I have had hundreds, perhaps thousands of synchronicities before, I just had another one that I thought would be worth sharing.

Just a few minutes ago I got into my car and turned on the radio and instantly heard on a news program discussion about Volkswagen; in particular, how owners of these vehicles have an almost fanatic attachment to them.

At that moment I looked up and saw before me very busy traffic on the street stopped at a traffic light. And yet their standing out right before me was a beige Volkswagen 1960s VW bus; precisely the type of vehicle that was being discussed on the radio!

I have not seen such a vehicle in months, but there it was instantaneous to my focused interest of hearing discussion on it on the radio.

As I have mentioned before in other posts, such synchronicities are a very common experience for me.

And by the way, I managed to get a photo of said vehicle. ☺

--

There is a slight addendum to the story. It turns out that not 10 minutes before I experienced the VW vehicle, I was sitting in a restaurant in which I was reading an article about how BMW had just tossed out its top executive because of its lack of focus on electric vehicles. BMW is of course a German car company and vehicle just like Volkswagen.

No Title

If you truly, sincerely take responsibility for your mistake, instead of sloughing it off, life will reward you with great, unexpected opportunity.

Comment: -It is what the team does in the novel 'The Book' when they realize the product they are offering may be destructive, and take it off the market, and even close up shop if necessary, despite the fact that they could sell it for $100 million. As a result a critical opportunity opens up with NASA, pointing to a whole new direction for the company

-It is what Mr. Bennet does in Pride and Prejudice when he accepts the fact that he was the cause of his youngest daughter eloping with a scoundrel, potentially bringing scandal and ruin to his family. As a result of life responds when two of his daughters are married to wealthy men, securing the Bennett family forever.

Scientific View Vs Character of Life

Science perceives chance or randomness or certain material or mechanistic laws of life. It does not perceive Life's True Character.

We at MSS through guidance of Sri Karmayogi have revealed the Character of Life for 40 years and come up with many astonishing laws and principles, of which inner outer correspondence, repeating and predecessor events, and practical concept of infinity are but a few.

That knowledge of the Character of Life comes through painstaking observation and subtle perception and awareness on our part, which we can develop through our elevation and deepening of our consciousness.

By knowing the Character of Life we can truly understand the nature of life, the source of its problems, and therefore its integral solutions.

Infinite as Practical Concept In 'The Book'

The "logic of the infinite" sees all elements and all connections between things; while the logic of the mind grasps at one thing and strains to relate it to others.

When we go deeper, we develop a higher forms of mind that can more readily grasp the logic of the infinite.

In fact, in the coming Divine life the infinite is continuously expressed in the finite. As a result, in this world there is infinite abundance, well-being, joy, and love.

In Garry Jacobs epic mystical novel 'The Book', through a process of personal and spiritual growth, they gain the insight that enables them to develop products and services that have an infinite like capacity; that have an infinite like effect on the society.

And yet we too we have the capacity to release that same infinite capacity and reality in our own lives.

Infinity is a practical concept means that we can through our higher consciousness release the infinity in our current finite existence.

Therefore infinity is both infinite, but also Practically available to us.

Moving On In Our Relationships

We go through a period of time in our lives where we are absorbed in certain levels of personal or spiritual growth. During that time we create new or build up old associations, friendships, et al.

But then when we have attained that growth, and are ready to move on to the next stage in our lives, we may see certain associations no longer are able to keep up. We have in essence outgrown the relationship and perceive that it is time to move on.

If done quietly, and without malice; with complete humility, our relationships can now naturally recalibrate and readjust.

No Title

Over the years I have had an astonishing number of synchronicities involving African Americans and Indians. (and it just happened again!)

No Title

Start from where you are; no matter the conditions. Then Consecrate it all; and aspire for your progress and growth. Life will respond and lift you to the heights.

No Title

Free will is actually a predestined phenomenon from the higher planes happening within you.

Reader: Sir, Is this the view of Mother and Sri Aurobindo on predeterminism? Which works mention this. Will you be kind enough to clarify Response: Yes, very similar. In his metaphysical opus, The Life Divine Sri Aurobindo indicates that we have free will within the determination of the Divine. I.e., the Divine wishes for certain outcomes in the world, and we have choice of whether to collaborate with that movement and Intent.

No Title

Knowing who you truly are Within is the critical step for knowing what Reality is; what the universe is and beyond.

Seeing Beyond the Physical Conditions

We may know some of the Physical conditions in a given situation, but do we know the psychological and spiritual, or better yet the integral perception of that reality?

As long as we live on the surface of life, dominated by what comes into our field of awareness through our five senses, we will tend to see only the outer, physical, material conditions, reinforcing our fundamental Ignorance born of creation

On the other hand, centered in the Depths Within, we see beyond the physical conditions into the other planes, including the subtle laws of life that are unfolding. We thereby become one with the Object of the Truth of the situation; having the integral awareness of the conditions; the very best state of Knowledge for clear thinking, decision making, and taking action.

Power of Connecting To The Essence Of The Individual, Company, Society, And Universe

A person can be viewed from various levels, from the outer, material, physical (i.e. body) to the inner depths (soul or psychic being). In between are sensations, emotions, intentions, and thoughts, among others.

So too a company be perceived from the outer material (products, machinery, plants, et al) to the inner most plane of business values (i.e. the "psychic center"). Likewise, in between we see systems, activities, projects, procedures, and goals to be achieved

The greatest power of outer, material success comes from the implementation of deepest Corporate Values. Likewise, going to the depths of a person - the psychic/soul being - produces the greatest outer accomplishment, including psychological and spiritual fulfillment.

The parallels between the individual and a company extends to the society as well; even to the process of Creation by which the material universe emerged from a divine source.

No Title

At the heart of everything there is an Essence, a Spirit. Discovering it, tending to it, bringing it out, helping it grow and blossom throughout one's nature enables the infinite to emerge from the finite in that or any other aspect or realm of life.

No Title

Only when a force of opposing truth is Physically felt by them will a selfish person yield.

No Title

Intuition can bring the solution when nothing is revealed by the mind.

Religious/Spiritual Views of Suffering

Buddha deeply recognized and sought the end of suffering by detaching from the world. Christianity saw the necessity of suffering as a means of salvation. Sri Aurobindo seeks the transformation of all suffering into its opposite, ushering in a divine life on earth.

Logic of the Infinite

Logic of the Finite is the understanding of surface mind, which is puny. Logic of the Infinite is the many-sided truth of how life is truly unfolding in all its aspects and dimensions at any given moment.

We increasingly gain access to the Logic of the Infinite when we raise our consciousness and move into the depths of our being within.

No Title

Quantum Entanglement, - where two objects become intertwined and remain so no matter the distance that grows between them, including across the universe - is the scientific basis of "The Secret" and "Life Response" instantaneous ATTRACTION phenomenon; particularly the Alignment of the two entities aspect.

"Appa Center" House in Napa

(On learning that N. Asokan at MSS had translated a short story from my book 'Essentials' called 'A Day in the Life of an Evolving Being' into Tamil.)

"Thanks for bringing it to my attention.

As I may have mentioned before, in the summer of 1996, I met regularly with Garry Jacobs and Bob Macfarlane on weekends at their home in Napa, California, where we discussed a dozen or two topics provided by Karmayogi in a list.

From the discussions I wrote a series of initial articles, which were presented at Growth Online, the web site I had just formed, and later expanded and organized into a collection of essays that became the book 'Essentials'

'A Day in the Life of an Evolving Being' story was an attempt to create a single article that incorporated a number of the other personal and spiritual growth topics from Essentials into a simple story - incorporating the topics of inner-outer correspondence, life response, personal organization, personal attitudes, spiritual silence, consecration, etc. I believe it's the third to the last essay in the book:

<http://royposner.weebly.com/.../2/7/1/0/271003.../essentials.pdf>

I tried to something similar in 'The Miraculous Phenomenon of Life Response' book in the chapter 'A New Way of Living', where I created two exact same scenes, one with lower consciousness of an individual going to a gathering at a home, and one with that person demonstrating higher consciousness. This chapter was one of the favorite things I ever wrote!

<http://royposner.weebly.com/.../7/1/0/271003.../liferesponse.pdf>

It's kind of a composite of many experiences I had visiting the house in Napa.

By the way, there were for me many very happy occasions visiting that home - including profound discussions, powerful meditations, going on walks, planning new ventures (like the idea of doing film reviews), having dinners, learning of new developments in India, etc. etc.

Often Robin (Garry's office manager), Dan and Larry from Mere Cie, and others were there. It was kind of like a Karmayogi center in America, though it also was the headquarters for the International Commission on Peace and Food (ICPF), and Mira International, their management consulting company, which I collaborated with a bit. ☺

Roy"

Painting Truck Sync

As mentioned elsewhere, synchronicities are accelerating greatly for me with further descent of the Supramental power into earth's atmosphere. For myself -5 to 10 instances are occurring per day.

For example, earlier today while driving, I heard on a radio news report that 5000 children in Los Angeles County come down with Lead Poisoning each year. I had an idea why.

The instant that the report ended on the radio I stopped at the red light, with a worker's van in front of me. There was a sign on the back door that I noticed indicating his was a Painting business, which as we know is the main cause of lead poisoning!

It was a magnificent little but poignant response to the report and my interest in it. Fortunately, I had a bit of time at the light, and so took the accompanying photos. ☺ to move outside our Comfort Zone is often key to great accomplishment in life.

No Title

Shifting to Higher Value Attracts in 'The Book'

Over the years we have often seen that shifting from a lower value to a higher one, even sacrificing benefit in the short run, can quickly attract enormous success.

Eg in the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs, Dan and the team decided to give up their AI stock market app they sold to the public up because it had become destructive, even though they could have sold it outright for millions. As a result, from out of the blue they won the NASA project, and were now set sail to fulfill their ultimate dreams for business success, both for themselves and the world.

It was a prime example of the power of shifting from valuing the lower, here money, to the higher value of doing what was ethical and right, to attract enormous success.

Complete Knowledge Power

The Book says, "Complete knowledge is power to accomplish without negative consequences or side-effects. Such knowledge is unfailing."

RP: When you have complete knowledge, you see things from many angles, perspectives; thus your tendency to make the right decision is elevated enormously, including absence of negative circumstance.

Man on The Moon and Supramental Descent

Humanity celebrates the 50th anniversary of men landing on the moon. But isn't the advent of the descent of Supermind into the earth's atmosphere in 1956 1000 times more significant, as it gives a new infinite-like power to quickly change the conditions of life around us?

Man is material, physical in consciousness (thus this great moon landing celebration), not spiritual. And yet, urged on by a small minority of followers, he is slowly opening to that much greater something.

It is true that Mother devotees have led the change along these lines. And yet aside from them, a number of individuals have become instruments of the Force, though they do not perceive it consciously. Eg hippies, internet, Steve jobs, and many others scattered around the world have subconsciously been in touch with the supramental power.

Mother followers are actively pursuing this vast shift as it is fresh in their hearts and minds. They have experienced the proof of its power in their daily lives, with astonishing outcomes. That must change, as the Force can more consciously enter the minds of non, hardcore followers

Is the moon landing and similar adventures then a waste of time and energy? Even the ability to look back on the earth from the moon and see the blue planet and its beauty is a form of getting in touch with Something Else, though be it a surface, superficial view.

In the final analysis, the Supramental Power, Action, Force can increasingly penetrate the daily lives of individuals. That will enable a mindset to take hold; enabling New World based on spiritual qualities to take shape.

No Title

True Love always gives; never takes.

No Title

In the new film 'Mary Poppins Returns', she demonstrates a number of the divine-like attributes of the incarnation of God we know as Krishna.

No Title

True Love is completely accepting the person for who they are; not trying to change them to what you want them to be.

No Title

In the best situation, a person trying to overcome a personal limitation will come to you, rather than your initiating and trying to change them.

Mary Poppins and Krishna Avatar

In the new fantasy film 'Mary Poppins Returns', a mystical-like character who descends from the sky as a nanny to help the children of a family in London, demonstrates a number of the divine-like attributes of the avatar, God-incarnation Krishna.

-Eg she knows what is going to happen in future. Still she does not interfere with the unfolding; Except where it is absolutely necessary. She allows for their free will within Her determination.

-She always remains exceedingly silent. Speaks few words.

-She discourages over-anticipating.

-She teaches life lessons, including seeing the light behind the difficulty/darkness, and that all material things/people that have departed this world live on in subtle space, and we can commune with them.

-Krishna is a God of the Preserver/Maintainer lineage, just as she tries to preserve the deteriorating conditions of this middle-class English family.

-She says that Everything is possible, including the Impossible.

-She is inspiration personified. God inspiring us to become something greater.

-She continuously evokes instantaneous miraculousness around her.

Trailer:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-3jsfXDZLIY>

No Title

In Agenda Mother called America's passionate decision in the 1960s to match the Russians, who had just launched Sputnik, with satellites of their own and a mission to the moon, "Pure childishness."

29 February 1956

The most important day in the history of the world.

It is when the Supramental Consciousness descended onto the earth.

No Title

India has the aspiration for progress and prosperity, which is a great thing. But she also has Spirit, the Force that when opened to can bring progress and prosperity ten times faster.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo tells us that the individual, the organization, the society, and life are all Spirit: they are the manifestations and expressions of an evolving Spirit. They are in fact various expressions of one Integral Reality.

No Title

Our life is a novel that each of us are writing and learning from. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

Every moment, act, situation, experience affords us the opportunity to grow as a person; including the capacity to be more spiritually realized.

No Title

What the Mind wants to happen is desire and expectation. What the Soul wishes for, aspires for is Aspiration.

Infinity Behind the Ignorance

Every aspect of ourselves that is negative, that reacts, that is in error, that is false and ignorant, has the Infinity behind it, once we recognize that negativity and reverse it. I.e. an Infinity of Opportunity instantaneously presents itself.

Positive Qualities of the Team in 'The Book'

What does the team in the novel 'The Book' have in consciousness that enables them to persevere despite their false actions?

- They have a genuine Aspiration to do something good in the world
- They have the Sincerity to recognize their Ignorance, and to admit their faults
- They are fundamentally Truthful. They don't try to convince themselves that they are right and others are wrong

No Title

When we can discover the Joy inside when everything is lost outside, then life will respond and everything will be gained.

No Title

Everything around you, as well as yourself, are evolving material formations of the Spirit.

No Title

Everything that causes us to react has the opportunity, the Infinity behind it if we don't react.

No Title

The whole opportunity, Infinity reveals itself to us in the measure we go Inside.

Comment: Eg when we consecrate, offer conditions to the spiritual Force, we shift our consciousness from outer action to inner power, which tends to evoke tremendous results - ie Infinite-like.

It has a similar power when we withdraw into silence and soul within.

Whereas acting on the surface, - in our ordinary moment to moment experiences of life, - we gain minimal results, from the depths within we evoke, attract infinite-like possibility, opportunity to our doorstep.

Mind keeps judging, anticipating, reflecting, connecting, dividing. It does not want to be still.

No Title

hat we perceive as our own personal intention, we are, - to a lesser or greater degree, - always subconsciously collaborating with the Divine Intent.

Reader: True Sir. The perception of discord is the intent of Divine in involution and search for agreement in evolution are seen as the problems of existence. I think the perception is rooted in subconscious and to change it to evolutionary one, Consecration/ shift is the way. Your observation please.

Response: Yes, for the Divine Intent to become conscious to us is to help advance, hasten the evolution.

Consecration (opening to the supramental Force, Mother), inner concentration to make contact with our soul/psychic being, taking other person's viewpoint, non-reaction, silence, etc. are the means of revealing the Divine intent.

The Divine Intent is to increasingly see the cosmic determinates, i.e. the Spiritual Attributes unfold in the world - including peace, harmony, truth, knowledge, goodness, beauty, love, delight, infinity, and timelessness. That too is our secret, subconscious intent, which we can realize and bring to the surface of our lives.

Reader: Most of the time in our lives, we neither aware of our individual purpose nor Divine's intent. Also we all are at different levels.

Yet, the Divine manifest its plan by using all of us in varying degrees. We can see that clearly in stories.

P&P is a great example. None of them aware their purpose or Divine's purpose. The discord came through life at all different levels to awake them. To the measure they perceived that and searched for an agreement inwardly, aligned with the cosmic purpose. For Darcy, his surface egoistic identity was shaken at its root, in the quest of addressing that he led the cosmic purpose. All the others contributed to that plan subconsciously also based on their levels.

Our current lives is even more complex. The discord comes at all different levels, like life, society, family and so forth. The challenge for us is, what discord we need to address as that might help fulfills our soul as well as Divine's plan. When we think of addressing something, we may not perceive clearly, whether we are moving towards soul's purpose or simply ego's needs. To the measure we perceive it wrongly, the other discords might come along to confuse us even...

Thank you Sir.

Response: Excellent, Senthil

Reader: Yes. It's true that Divine is fulfilling its Intent through all of us. Even though all are in disagreement with each other in one point or the other, all move in the direction of Divine's Scheme.

MGR gave permission to few politicians for starting Private engineering colleges. They were not educated enough to run the engineering colleges. But they managed the colleges successfully and produced more engineers. That was the time when software companies came in to India. The field absorbed all of them and more engineering colleges had to be opened in Tamil Nadu. The founders of engineering colleges started with profit earning motive only. But Divine used them to develop the state and in turn the country. The GDP of Tamil Nadu got raised after this boon.

No Title

Each country is going through personal growth out of its own particular limitations and falsehood by interacting with all other nations, indicating that Life works on many fronts simultaneously.

No Title

Knowledge that comes through Intuition is infallible; and cannot be held back.

30-Day Consecrated Approach Attracts Great Success

In the "30-Day plan" Karmayogi asks us to consider what we truly want in life, deeply aspire for it, do what we can to make it happen, and offer it to the Mother, the Force with faith and right attitudes. Then we stand back and see what happens, which ordinarily results in the fulfillment of our aspirations and more.

E.g. around 20 years ago a friend of mine diligently followed this approach and secured a full-time job that lasted 10 years, when she hadn't found full-time work in over a decade. It happened within the 30 day target timeframe.

Another individual followed the same plan and sold her house for $1million in that same period after months, even years of failing to secure the sale.

Both happened after these individuals attended a multi-day presentation by Garry Jacobs at his house in Napa, California. It was centered around discussions of Sri Aurobindo's spiritual opus 'The Life Divine', especially on topics related to the Process of Creation - for the universe, the society, and the individual; which as we learned were all quite similar.

I too attended this profound set of presentations, and gained great spiritual and practical insight and material benefit.

No Title

The problems of the world can no longer be solved by individual nations, but only through deep, integral collaboration with all other nations.

Principles of Energy

All in the universe, the world, society, the individual, the act are forms of energy.

Therefore all accomplishment is dependent on that energy - in terms of quantity, quality, etc.

The energy is really in its essence a Conscious Force; an ultimate consciousness that emanates a force.

The origins of all Life is this Conscious Force. As it enters into forms of mind, and life, the Force is maintained but the consciousness is lost. It is involved, hidden in matter, life, mind, movement, etc.

And yet the more conscious we are, the more the consciousness re-emerges from that Force. Now the Energy in universal and human existence has greater, more intelligent, spiritual power.

Through that Energy, that Conscious Force, peace, harmony, wisdom, goodness, love, delight, infinity, and timelessness increasingly express in life.

Discarding Money Values Attracts Fantastic Success for the Team

When the Team in 'The Book' move out of their obsession with money acquisition via their stock market AI system, they evoke a response that changes the course of the company and their careers. They receive the opportunity through NASA to provide a solution to create Harmony among the astronauts in the space station.

Through their higher value towards money, life responds and brings them an opportunity for something much greater, much higher, in the form of building an expert system to create Harmony among teams of people in the world.

The Team's Harmony and NASA Solution

In the novel 'The Book', the attempt to create Harmony for a half dozen NASA astronauts on the cramped space station comes from the Team's OWN internal harmony - which can be seen in their own harmonious relationships, including their higher levels of Truthfulness, Goodness, Respect for One another, etc.

In other words, they themselves are the solution for NASA's attempt to create harmony aboard the vessel, which can then be encoded into their AI software they build for NASA and eventually the world.

On the Announcement That Three Individuals Have $100 Billion Net Worth

In one way there is a degree of greatness in these individuals, but the society has failed to see the power of Fairness in the world. So money accumulates in the hands of a very few; and conflict, darkness, and evil follow.

No Title

The more we give up blaming life, reacting to life, the more we move into its Harmony and Right Flow.

No Title

The Mother says that whatever comes to you in life, - no matter how difficult or challenging, - you have the capacity to realize.

No Title

When the conflict on the outside forces us to see the truth inside, - of our hand in it, responsibility for it, - we gain a great knowledge. And as a result, life responds in our favor.

No Title

The Inner and the Outer are a Dance, a Play (Lila) that offer us the opportunity to become more conscious of the ways of life, and of our hand in it.

No Title

When you restrain yourself from countering another's position with your own, you tend to attract greater harmony, energy, and aspiration.

Will Life Always Smile Back at Us If We Remain Happy?

Q: Mother says if we smile at life, life will always smile back at us. But I have seen many instances, even calamitous ones, where I was happy, yet very negative things happened in the world. (paraphrased)

A: -We are complex beings. We may smile on life superficially, or for a brief moment related to something that satisfies us in the short term, but we still can be burdened with many negative qualities, thoughts, attitudes, beliefs, etc. The subconscious is filled with these, and the universe is aware of them, and aligns negatively to them; and we with the universe.

-Karmas may have been created earlier, in the past, that are presenting negative now even though we may be momentarily happy.

-Great social forces evokes the earth moving; often due to extreme conflict in those or neighboring vicinities. As we have seen in huge calamities in extremely conflicting areas like Afghanistan, Pakistan, Iran, Haiti, and elsewhere around the world over the last 40 years. This is normally beyond our capacity to halt, unless we have gained great yogic power, and have the will to do so.

-We are affected by the social life and universal forces that are beyond our control or consciousness. We are not Universal Beings yet; only beginning to be so. As we evolve, we have more control of the outer.

-But maybe what Mother really means in her quote is that if we can ACCEPT all that life brings, - whether positive or negative, - then good fortune will be our never-ending experience. That we generate a higher vibration when we accept anything negative as a positive, an opportunity, something of great potential in disguise, which in turn comes back to us as good fortune.

So smiling at life is more than being happy and positive, but accepting the darkness as part of the unfolding in the Reality. After all, the Divine sees beyond the positive and negative, into the intrinsic Truth of things, and so can we. It's just a matter of developing a more inclusive perspective, of embracing the negative as part of the unfolding and progress of the whole.

When we accept the ALL, then life smiles on us with good fortune - as peace, as harmony, as truth, as light, as joy, as infinity, etc.

Taking to a Spiritual Path and Pleasing Society

You cannot easily take to the spiritual path if you are trying to please the society around you and its values. And yet you can grow in consciousness on the spiritual path and thereby discover a great means to help the society.

Overcoming a Seemingly Hopeless Case

There is never a hopeless case. There is always something you can do Inside. You can always be more Sincere. Always be more Truthful. Always be more Self-giving. Always have more Faith. Always have more Aspiration. Always take to higher Values. The outer will then quickly respond in your favor.

No Title

The key to attracting the infinite on the outside is to come in touch with the Infinite inside.

Response: I.e. improve one or more aspects of consciousness that we can raise to a higher level: truthfulness, sincerity, aspiration, harmony, self-givingness, right attitudes, higher values, etc.

Future of America's Global Leadership

Karmayogi has said in the past that America has led the world forward for these many decades because of its economic and military might. However if she is to continue to lead the world, she would need to develop social and psychological capacity; a more humanistic understanding of life conditions.

However, Trump's arrival seems, - at least at first glance, - to indicate that the US is going backwards and will not attain that social and psychological maturity.

On the other hand, revulsion against Trump may be so great that it forces America to look deeper inside, which will give it a newfound energy that will enable it to lead the world once more; likely in partnership with other emerging powers like the EU, China, India, etc.

Predicting the Future Of A Venture's Success

There are inner forces as well as outer forces that determine a venture's success, such as starting a new business or other form of organization. The inner are mostly psychological factors, and the outer are mostly the social environment factors outside ourselves.

When all of these factors are positive, success is guaranteed. When all of these factors are negative failure is certain. Then there are various combinations of positive or negative in between which have a bearing on the outcome.

-

INNER DETERMINATES

- Energy level
- Aspiration
- Determination
- Knowledge
- Skills
- Self-confidence
- Faith
- Opinions
- Attitudes
- Values

—

OUTER DETERMINATES

- Cooperation of other people

- Organizational capacities
- Financial and other resources
- Location
- Social Support
- Infrastructure
- Market Access and Conditions
- Reputation and Social Status
- Access to Expertise
- Access to Technology

Note that these factors are the basis for the Four Quadrant Matrix developed by Sri Karmayogi that indicate the chance of success of any venture.

Comment: 4 QUADRANT MATRIX

Quadrant I is (+,+) meaning all the inner urges and outer factors are positive. Result: Unfailing success

Quadrant II is (+, -) the inner is positive and the outer is negative. Result: Difficult to begin but will end in a success.

The III is (-, -) a quadrant where both are negative. Result: Cannot begin, but if begun will fail.

The IV is (-, +) the inner is negative and the outer is positive. Result: Make a good start but end in a failure

No Title

Each illness has a unique psychological/soul cause. Identifying that cause and eliminating it will enable the body to heal.

Comment: Here are several:

Illness -- Psychological cause:

1. Hypertension -- A tense and anxious personality.
2. Tuberculosis -- Emotional depression
3. Cancer -- Vital depression, Selfishness, Greed
4. Migraine -- Excessively meticulous personality
5. Stomach ulcer -- Too much worry
6. Poor appetite -- A cheerless and dejected mood
7. Skin disease like Psoriasis -- Persistent irritation
8. Diabetes -- Insecurity and fear of future
9. Digestive disorders like loose motions -- Insecurity and fear in the vital
10. Joint disorders like knee pain -- Suppressed irritation
11. Asthma and other allergies -- Lack of enough vital energy to sustain normal life
12. Chest pain like angina pectoris -- Tight unyielding and inflexible personality.
13. Infertility -- Deep seated fear of having children

No Title

Normally when you rail against another's behaviors from a distance - whether a family member, a politician, or whomever - the object of your distain will redouble those qualities!

No Title

The true greatness of any achievement is not the result, but understanding the Process that got you there; including the consciousness brought to bear that achieved the result.

Life Success Required for Wisdom to Spread Demonstrated in Dramatic Book Authors Incident

A knowledge itself, no matter how great does not ordinarily lead to outer success - be it financial, business, or similar. Rather a success happens first in the field of Life, that then incorporates the knowledge.

Eg Garry Jacobs of MSS carried around 'Consciousness Approach to Business Management' booklet by Karmayogi in the late 70s/early 80s, presenting it to certain individuals so that it's profound wisdom could be applied in business and elsewhere. He had only modest success.

Then several years later Garry wrote a book based on Karmayogi's knowledge called 'The Vital Difference'. Though at first outraged that his co-author got equal billing on the cover when he had hardly written a word, Garry gave up his egotistical view and gave his co-author equal listing.

IMMEDIATELY Garry attracted business clients worldwide, and his Mira International consulting business took off. It changed the course of his professional life. AND only then could the knowledge of Karmayogi be truly applied in a practical way!

Thus Life's exigencies (including the vast Response) came first. THEN the Knowledge followed.

So what about the vast inner knowledge and wisdom others have developed in recent years? E.g. the Supramental KnowledgeBase, Character of Life insights, principles from The Book, et al. Well they too require a Life Success vehicle of some sort to first take shape in order for its ultimate profound knowledge can be made use of and applied in the world.

No Title

Contradictions always arise from the inadequacy of vision and the incapacity to see something from all standpoints at once. (The Mother, from Agenda, August 26, 1967)

Comment: Supramental perception is the opposite. Opening to that Force, Mother reveals all essential sides at once, or in quick succession; something ordinary mind is incapable of.

Reader: All Contradictions are Complements" - Sri Karmayogi.

Response: Yes, seeing various, many sides causes us to see the truth of all positions, instead of seeing just one side in contradiction with other positions. Thus the apparent contradiction we perceive at the surface level of mind are instead perceived as complements of one another. This is the beginning of Supramental Perception, which is ultimate Truth Knowledge, which gives us great power to engage in right action, that leads to great success.

Taking another's view point, humility and self-givingness, regular consecration, concentration in depths, non-ego, et al enables this to happen.

No Title

Insincerity is agreeing to a cause of action, such as recommended by another individual, and then consciously or semi-consciously knowing that you will not follow through.

No Title

A sincere person who employs consciously the best of strategies allows Life to accomplish not at his level, but at the widest level. (Karmayogi)

Insincerity that is Deception

Another form of Insincerity is deception of character. Mr. Wickham of Pride and Prejudice is a classic example. There is also political insincerity: eg the British in recent centuries, and the West in dealing with the Middle East. In these cases Insincerity is Deception of character, or of agreement or intention.

No Title

Everything around us and in us are formations of the Conscious-Force of the Supreme.

The Mother and Jimmy Carter's Longevity

The Mother lived in the material plane till age 95. Meanwhile, Jimmy Carter is the longest-living president in American history, at 94, and still going strong.

It turns out he was in the 1980s and 90s, along with his wife Roselyn, closely associated with the group founded by Mother's Service Society - known as ICPF; the International Commission on Peace and Food. It helped bring about the end of the Cold War via Mother's vibration.

Mother's energy tends to spread to other individuals, who then live robustly into old-age; often unexpectedly living long lives, including as long as She.

--

On a personal note: While growing up in the 1970s, my father wrote an impassioned letter to the then president Carter about the success of the New South, such as was taking place around the Atlanta, Georgia area where my father was expanding his business contacts. Most surprisingly Carter was touched by the note and he wrote a personal letter in return to my father. I recall seeing the letter, which was a proud moment for our family.

Also once at Garry Jacobs' house in Napa, California, where ICPF was based. I answered the phone. It was Roselyn Carter on the line, a Commission member.

The first episode in its way was a predecessor to the latter outcome, which occurred almost 20 years later.

No Title

Even the tiniest negative behavior will cause an instantaneous negative ripple, at a distance or close by.

Power of Attraction of Young Boy In 'Mere Pyare Prime Minister'

Last night I watched this terrific and inspiring new film from India. The story revolves around the film's eight-year-old protagonist, Kannu, who lives in a slum and dreams of building a toilet for his mother. After his mother Sargam gets raped when she goes out in the night to defecate in the open, Kannu takes charge of improving the conditions in the slum.

In his quest to build a toilet, Kannu writes a letter to the prime minister and travels to Delhi from Mumbai with his fellow comrades Ringtone and Nirala.

The film brings into focus the issues of defecation in open and sanitation problems faced in slums.

Here is the link to the film as described in Wikipedia:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mere_Pyare_Prime_Minister

Here is the trailer (in Hindi):

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vIa2XyG5mIY>

—

Observations:

I had several comments on the film, the main one involving the credibility of the notion that three small children from the slums could get the attention of the Prime Minister of India. Is it even remotely possible in real life?

My answer is that it is so long as one follows the qualities demonstrated by Kannu and his two young friends. In essence he presented these qualities that had the power to attract the seeming impossible:

--Kannu is extremely determined, driven by the tragic act perpetrated against his mother; but also by his social consciousness and awareness of the sanitary conditions of a community without toilets.

--As a child Kannu has no doubts he will succeed. His attitudes are fully positive at every stage of the journey. That always attracts the positive.

--Kannu is extremely sensitive of her needs and is thus very giving toward his mother, almost divine-like in actions, and reaps the rewards in return.

-When Kannu leaves, he is silent about his intent, not informing his family and community. He only returns calls after he succeeds in making contact. Keeping the silence within of an undertaking attracts more energy and results.

-The administrator in the federal government Kannu meets has a kind-hearted disposition, and so gives the threesome a change when they are at the Prime Minister's gates.

-Kannu and two friends are so determined, that they arrive at the gates of the Prime Minister's office at the same time a children's group are meeting with the PM's public liaison. This makes it easier for the threesome to get his attention. This is a powerful example of Luck, or perhaps we can call it Grace.

Thus the final outcome is no coincidence, but the response from life to Kannu's intention, bravery, social conscience, silence, self-givingness, et al.

AI Developments in Sales vs the Ultimately Profound AI in 'The Book'

The technology developments announced between Salesforce and others are indicating that AI and similar tools can give the salesperson and others much deeper insight into the nature of the customer, the transaction, as well as building up the knowledge of the sales professional.

Instead of engaging in a lengthy, deep analysis of the data in such transactions, the systems can through its AI and analytics offer immediate strategies and recommendations to achieve sales goals.

It is actually what Garry Jacobs' epic novel 'The Book' explores in great detail. There it involves a team of young individuals who are developing software that can solve any social issue in the world!

The difference is that the Team in Garry's novel have access to the most profound subtle principles of life, giving it a power that these emerging AI technologies can only dream of -- whether in sales or any other social field of life.

In essence, spiritual, multi-dimensional genius Sri Karmayogi and his vast life wisdom that enables vast, ultimate-like success IS the AI system of the team in 'The Book!'

No Title

I see India can skip the agricultural phase and enter into immense Prosperity by urbanization and through the service sector. (Karmayogi)

Comment: In 1989 I worked as national franchise manager for copying and desktop publishing retail centers. In a number of the stores were young Indian workers who just arrived from the Punjab. Just a few months after leaving their agrarian life they were interacting with complex machines of technology.

When I later worked in Silicon Valley, I saw many Indians starting companies that went on to fantastic success. Many of their parents were likely agrarian. Since that time Bengaluru and Hyderabad have emerged as global cities of technology, when just a few miles around them are farmers scraping out a living from the earth.

They had in many ways overcome the traditional life as well as much of the old type of Industrial Revolution of the West; going from farmers who worked the land to operating technologically sophisticated machines and devices. Five hundred years abridged.

Now young people carry around smart phones, with aspirations to join the technology revolution in India. Of course there is industrial development, but the choice jobs are in the emerging Technological theater unfolding in India.

People also see the massive amount of pollution in India. eight out of the 10 most polluted cities of the world are there! And yet from this many technological developments are taking shape. They see the poisonous air of industrialization; contrasted with tech innovation coming for the environment, and they aspire to be part of the latter.

Events are rapidly taking shape where services and tech overshadow an agrarian life shared by most of the society only a few decades ago. This leap is certainly beyond remarkable.

They are offering professional services as they land in urban environments, developing softwares without having to wait for the agrarian sector to mature.

No Title

Work coming on its own is an indication of non-stop work coming. Same is true for anything which comes on its own. (Karmayogi)

Comment: Two ladies came to me and greeted me, asking me to become an instructor at their organization. That work continually came to me on its own in various forms for the next 30 years!

Universal Consciousness

What are some attributes of an individual who has attained "universal consciousness"?

- perceives many different aspects of a thing (instead of a few) in a moment or timeframe, and how they interrelate
- through inner stillness, the essentials needed to be known flood into one's mind
- knows the many-sided truth of things
- senses what is invisible or at a distance, without being told
- feels unity with everything and everyone
- feels one's self as unbounded, not confined to one's small individuality.
- has powerful influence on any aspect of life, of society through one's inner aspiration, behavior
- feels the infinite consciousness in everything one does, experiences
- is unbound by space and time.
- has constant intimations of what the future holds; and the full meaning and influence of the past on the present
- always knows what to do, the right thing to do; and what not to do
- continuously perceives the fullness of what is happening
- senses the Divine Hand in everything
- perpetually connected to one's soul, and the souls of each individual one encounters
- continuously experiences peace, harmony, truth, goodness, love, and joy of being through an ever-expanding inner, soul existence
- perceives the vital role of all things, including the negative in the unfolding
- sees all things visible and invisible, and their relationship, as part of the one Reality

btw: Universal Consciousness is a plane slightly below Supramental (Truth) Consciousness

No Title

An increasing number of individuals no longer consider themselves citizens of their country, but Citizens of the World.

Comment: As Sri Aurobindo indicates, just as nation states replaced city states, so Nation state concept will gradually be replaced by regional and global associations, including increasing degrees of world governance.

(Current nationalistic movements do not want to move forward in this direction, asserting their concern only for their own nation state; often taking shape as autocracy and plutocracy.)

Increasing Global Governance, - within a framework of the value of Unity in Diversity, - is necessary to solve nation state problems that cannot be resolved individually on their own.

Solutions will percolate up from individuals below (bottom up) and be implemented locally and globally, and everything in between.

Various social "Movements" - representing new emerging values - will take shape at every level, moving society forward.

Creation Process from Out of The Supreme (Involution & Evolution)

(based on the teachings of Sri Aurobindo)

--CONSCIOUS-FORCE

The ineffable, immutable Supreme extended to become a self-existent Being and Conscious-Force (i.e. SatChitAnanda).

--INVOLUTION

Through the action of Supermind, the consciousness of that Force begins to hide itself, involves itself, enabling the formation of Cosmic Mind. The consciousness further diminishes unfolding the plane of Mind. The consciousness is almost completely hidden, involved enabling unconscious Energy to formulate, coagulate which becomes the source of creation beginning as dumb Matter.

--EVOLUTION

The involution has now ended and the Evolution begun (upward in consciousness from Matter to Vital Life to movement to Mind and eventually spiritual Mind and upward to Spirit).

[INVOLUTION] The Supreme > Conscious-Force> Supermind > Cosmic Mind >Energy >
[EVOLUTION] Matter (creation) > Vital Life > Mind >Spiritual Mind > Supermind > Spirit.

--CONSCIOUS-FORCE IN INVOLUTION & EVOLUTION

In the Involutionary process there is a snowballing regression of the original Conscious Force, as increasing more divided planes emerge, culminating in Energy. In the Evolution, life increasingly comes back in touch with increasingly higher levels of consciousness, i.e. the Conscious Force.

Consciousness, Conscious-Force is always there, even without creation. when we grow, then we connect back to the ocean of Consciousness, Conscious-Force.

--SUPERMIND IN INVOLUTION AND EVOLUTION

Supermind is the plane that enables the creation process to proceed from out of the Conscious-Force (in the Involution). And Supermind is the plane we open to in Life to enable the Conscious-Force to infuse all planes of existence in the universe in the Evolution.

--DIVIDING IN INVOLUTION, COMBINING IN EVOLUTION

In the Involution the Supreme divides into Sat, Chit, Ananda- Existence, Conscious-Force, Delight. In the next stage the Conscious-Force divides into Knowledge and Will. The Knowledge and Will increasingly divides and breaks down into Energy without Knowledge; and the energy divides at the atomic level where there is no consciousness, which is Matter.

In the Evolution, the process reverses as dumb Matter coagulates and combines, creating the forces and forms of Life. And Life organizes itself as Mind emerges, particularly through Life Forms, including we humans. Mind then connects to its higher regions as spiritual Mind, and further upward as increasing unity consciousness of Supermind, and beyond.

--PURPOSE OF CREATION

-The Divine wishes to extend its static Delight (Bliss/Ananda) to Dynamic Delight in infinite variations of forces and forms.

-The Divine wishes for its comic determinates to manifest in the life forms of creation - including Peace, Harmony, Truth, Wisdom, Goodness, Love, Delight, Infinity (abundance), and Timelessness.

-For humans to follow the process of creation and open to the Conscious-Force via Supermind so that each person can become a unique, infinite Creator.

--OUR ROLE IN THE CREATION PROCESS

- Through Life's circumstances we are afforded the opportunity to grow in Consciousness- i.e. bring back the buried Conscious-force in creation.
- Through our Progress, the Conscious-Force emerges from out of matter, life, and mind.
- By opening to the Supramental Plane, i.e. the Force of the Divine Mother we hasten the Evolution, attracting more perfect conditions, and overcoming limits of space and time. It Life responds instantaneously to shifts in consciousness to the positive.
- By discovering the depths within, including our evolving soul (psychic Being) we are able to experience and help spread the cosmic determinates, the spiritual value, as well as open to the Supramental Force (the Divine Mother) thus evolving the world.
- We thereby become not only true Individuals but also Universal Beings, opening to the Transcendental plane.

No Title

The Ego - i.e. separative consciousness - dominates our lives dozens of times each day. One who recognizes its appearance as it arises, and halts it in its tracks is on a path of Higher Harmony.

No Title

Life is Smart, perceiving the value of the positive AND the negative in the unfolding and its progress. Meanwhile, people are ignorant, suffering the consequences, unaware of the utility of all things behind the Flow.

No Title

As described in Agenda, Mother increasingly perceived illness, not as the result of microbes, decay, and such, but due to Resistances of various kinds.

Inner Power Over Outer Obstacles Attracts Vast Business Success!

Despite the outer obstacles that appear before us, we have inner power to overcome them and succeed mightily. Though it may not happen immediately, longer-term the positive conditions within our own being tends to conquer the outer impediments.

A young Indian man and woman were in love, and they wished to marry. However, the girl's parents objected to the marriage because the boy's sales income was paltry. Still, they got married. However, soon after the young man lost his job. It seemed like a crushing verification of the girl's parents' views about the marriage.

However, shortly thereafter the young woman suggested that the two of them make the products on their own that he had been selling, and do so on their own premises.

And so they then made a go of it. As it turned out within several years they had succeeded so greatly that they now had 100 employees!

As we see, Life responded to their efforts, as their inner aspiration, intensity, and faith overcame the limits of the outer conditions. Long-term their deepest inner intentions prevailed over the short-term outer obstacles.

(thanks to Chandu)

No Title

Through the recent rise of regressive national leaders and their negative values, we are rediscovering our higher ones.

No Title

Sometimes it is only through great difficulties that we break through the hard shell of our habitual, physical consciousness and reconnect with the divine Mother.

At the surface consciousness level there is practically no connection with Mother. However, we can rediscover Her by going deeper within.

August 15th

- Sri Aurobindo's Birthday
- Indian Independence Day
- End of WWII in Asia
- Start of Woodstock music festival
- Feast of Ascension of Holy Mother (in West)
- Napoleon's Birthday (Sri Aurobindo in past life)

No Title

In one sense, nothing matters in life, in work, etc. except the level of Consciousness you bring to bear.

Comment: Life then responds accordingly.

No Title

Sri Aurobindo's presence and experiences on earth was a predecessor event of a Divine Life to come.

On Sri Aurobindo's Birthday, August 15th, same as Indian Independence Day

Sri Aurobindo worked for Indian Freedom in the field of politics between 1906 and 1910. His inner voice told Him that Indian Freedom was achieved and HE was meant for other work. Indian Freedom arrived on His birthday. When Mountbatten was asked why he chose August 15th, he answered that was the day on which Japan surrendered. Sri Aurobindo fought the World War in the subtle plane and that victory too came on His birthday. He prophesied that India would become the Guru of the World. (Sri Karmayogi)

No Title

Intimations coming in on their own without thinking is an ultimate way of Knowing, and provides a very solid basis for Right Action.

No Title

Increasingly I am giving up my own logic for that of Mother's; i.e. of the Infinite.

Mother's Absence of Funds

[as described in Agenda] Running an ashram of 2000+ inmates Mother occasionally found herself without money to pay the bills. The situation would appear utterly desperate.

However, Mother would then call intensely to the Force. Within a very short time money would start pouring in from all sides, saving the Institution from default.

Collaborative Effort at Various Levels Cancels Water Shutdown

There are situations in life that crop up which are challenging, but are overcome through the efforts of SEVERAL individuals consciously or subconsciously working in tandem, that has the effect of evoking the winning response from life. Here's a recent example

Over the last month or so, the various tenants living in a joint property space owned by XYZ Inc. were receiving notices from the water utility company, that unless the bill was paid, the water would be shut down on the four adjacent properties. Though several of the tenants tried to contact XYZ, it was to no avail, even though it was the owners who were responsible under contract for paying the monthly water bill, not the tenants. Thus the water utility was unaware of the situation and so simply decided to turn off the water for the four properties, leaving the tenants in serious situation. No bathroom water, no water to cook with, bathe with, etc. etc.

Stirred into action, one of the tenants immediately contacted the landlords so they would inform the water utility to turn on the water for the properties. And yet there was a feeling that no one at the landlord organization was responding to the tenants inquiries, and therefore the dire situation could persist indefinitely.

And so another tenant, not knowing what to do, began to prepare for life without water for an indefinite period of time. And so she immediately drove off to the supermarket and picked up several very large containers of water, which would have to be used for bathing, teeth brushing, dish washing, etc. In the meantime the woman's friend began to call to the Spirit, to the divine Mother to take over the situation and help resolve it. And yet a fourth tenant went to the second tenant lady offering her water that she had kept in storage for such an emergency.

In other words everyone was doing their part, whether inwardly and outwardly. Also, the third tenant who consecrated the situation, totally focused his mind AWAY from the matter and was absorbed in updating information on Facebook about a high-consciousness book that was now being offered. Thus, he kept very still about the water situation, and after some doubt and hesitation came to accept all efforts by others that was occurring all around him.

Well it turns out that a few minutes after the man's friend arrived with the bottled water, and he himself had totally focused his consciousness elsewhere after the consecration, that it was announced by one of the tenants that the water had suddenly come on! Apparently someone had gotten through to the landlord who informed the water utility to turn on the spout!

It seemed like luck had haphazardly come to them. And yet the one man understood the power of consecration as well as the power of individuals to do everything one could to deal with the situation. In tandem with the opening to the Force, people doing what they could in a dire situation attracted the happy result!

No Title

We can join the great ocean of the Spirit through the inlet of our Soul.

No Title

Gleeful broadcast of a thing before it is hand is normally foolish, as it tends to diminish or even cancel the result; once again proving the aphorism that Silence is Golden.

No Title

Solution to a problem can only come about when both parties seek solution, i.e. want to solve the problem; otherwise things remain in stasis.

Comment: This approach can solve major problems in the world (Israeli-Palestinian, North-South Korea, Kashmir, etc.); as well as conflicts we are connected to in our own lives.

No Title

Sincerity is there when we examine a failure and take responsibility to learn from the situation and try to improve ourselves.

No Title

The wants of the body, the vital, and the mind is the surface consciousness; i.e. the Ego at work. Instead we can go within and discover our true self, our true purpose, and our true Needs.

No Title

Sadness, depression, hopelessness are expressions of the Ego. Going inside and discovering our True Self and Soul we experienced only Happiness and Joy.

No Title

Our Ego is not our true self. We have within ourselves an Infinite, Eternal Being.

No Title

There is pain in life because we are attached to the very things - habits, attitudes, opinions, beliefs - we should give up.

No Title

The Sunlit Path is to evolve through Truth and Higher Consciousness, rather than through the pain of experience and the difficult shedding of Ignorance.

Multi-Use of Matrix in 'The Book'

The team in the novel 'The Book' realized that the 4-quadrant Matrix not only could be used by NASA for decision making and solving the problems of the astronauts getting along on the space station, but also be applied to their own company, and for their individual selves. It contained the knowledge to create ultimate accomplishment in life; what must be shed in our being, and what should be attained within.

No Title

People who always expect things to go wrong will perpetually attract those very conditions, thereby reinforcing their prejudicial view.

No Title

When you consecrate and practice non-reaction toward questionable people, they will either change for the better or leave, never to return.

From Trying to Convince to Silent Will

Often when we try to impart some knowledge on someone else, the receiving party becomes defensive, not wanting to listen to or regard our point of view "Who is he to tell me such things." "I don't want to deal with this issue in my life," etc. Also, from our side our desire to convince can be a movement of ego on our part.

Thus the giver of the knowledge remains unheard. However, if he practices "Silent Will," - remaining silent, though he wishes to impart that knowledge, - it attracts the other party to discover his knowledge; or better still, the other party acquires the knowledge and wisdom on their own, and only come forward one day to report such.

Both outcomes are the result of the power of Silent Will over a potentially negative movement of trying to convince.

No Title

When we give up our opinion, our belief in regards to an issue, the Force, the Mother rushes in.

Vast Power of Mental Silence-Based Results

When the mind turns Silent, it brings about results far beyond what the mind, in its churning activity can accomplish.

The silence-based results come through dreams, unexpected conditions in life, and through intuitions of knowledge suddenly descending into one's being.

No Title

The mind sees more clearly than the vital ego, and the Silent Mind sees far better than the active one.

No Title

We constantly want to see others change; but it is we, ourselves who first need to change. I.e. we need to change our limited habits, attitudes, opinions, and beliefs first.

Sincerity in Sales Attracts

What are some examples of being sincere in the field of sales?

- doing what you say you will do
- being truthful with the customer
- not taken to exaggeration
- truly wanting to help the customer
- truly adopting the values you say you subscribe to
- truly believing in what you sell
- truly committed to accomplishing your goals
(as leader)
- practicing what you preach.
- being a model of your values toward others

Increased sincerity in sales attracts sudden good fortune from the field of life - whether in the form of increased sales or in other forms.

No Title

Consecrate the small negative occurrences so it is not a predecessor to a much larger problematic outcome.

No Title

Mind is capable of seeing things from another's point of view. Silent mind more frequently, more easily does the same, thereby is capable of perceiving the integral truth of things.

To be perfect in implementing Values at the current level opens up opportunities at a higher level. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

No Title

To take the other person's or persons' point of view is to shift from one's ego-orientation to a wider perspective. Thus, it is an opening in both knowledge and consciousness.

No Title

If we want to find a solution that is good for Everybody, then we need to move away from our own ego-sense and its single-mindedness, to a deeper state, where Many-Sided Truth can flow.

The Soul Of An Old Machine (and Miraculousness)

Recently I experienced a fascinating phenomenon regarding physical objects.

For a number of months, perhaps even years my computer has been running sluggishly. I had held off purchasing a new machine, hoping to derive maximum use of the current device, despite its lethargy.

However, things started to become so difficult that I recently considered purchasing a new laptop. That's when something very interesting occurred. From that point on my endlessly sluggish computer started working more smoothly, without the usual frustrating delays!

This phenomenon became so pronounced that I began to search for some inner cause. It then quickly occurred to me that my older computer felt so threatened by the possibility of my purchasing a new replacement, that it shed its lethargy and began operating quite smoothly! Then I thought that this goes hand in hand with the idea that every material object has an Essence and Being, a Consciousness if you will - and responds to, can even be provoked by outside forces, - whether from other devices or machines, and even we humans. In other words, the computer has a responsive Soul.

In the 1980s there was a popular book among the Silicon Valley elite named 'The Soul of the New Machine.' It turns out that the author was not so much suggesting the computer system had a spiritual soul, but rather "soul" was referring to the heart of what made it work; its technological essentials, and the efforts of people to make it work.

However, I had in this instance TRULY experienced the machine's Essence, its Being, ... yes, its Soul. Moreover, variations of this phenomenon have happened to me a number of times over the years, especially when I directed the spiritual Force on it when it was malfunctioning. In virtually every instance it suddenly, miraculously came to life right before my eyes!

No Title

Most acts we engage in are done for the sake of the Ego. However, by Consecrating it, it is done for the sake of the Divine, for our highest nature, our Soul, which is the Spirit in us.

Means of Solving Finite Problem Can Be Applied to Solve an Infinitely Greater One

If you solve a problem at the micro level, say through higher consciousness, consecration, non-reaction, and all, you have the knowledge to solve a much greater problem at the macro level. That is why the smallest thing can be an opening to the Infinite.

That is precisely what occurs to the team in 'The Book.' They discover the means of creating harmony for the astronauts on the international space station by using the 4-quadrant AI Matrix, which enables them to solve the much greater Irish problem of conflict between Ireland and Great Britain. They apply the right means applied to the small, the micro, to the macro, bringing about peace and prosperity for UK and (especially) the once-humiliated Irish.

Non-Reaction, Detachment, Separation

Non-reaction is to detach from the revulsion and intensity experienced by the ego-oriented vital being, creating separation from the source, thereby giving mind the opportunity to consider the matter rationally or forget it all together. Now Life has a propensity to respond in our favour.

Comment: Garry Sir indicates that a further stage is to even give up the very thought about the matter, which in turn has a propensity to bring about peace, silence in the mind and richness in the heart.

Sri Aurobindo, Mother, Et Al Change Course Of World History

We see that history had deeper lines of causality that are undetectable by historians, but were critical in world advancement out of its most severe political problems. Here are several key ones:

SRI AUROBINDO AND DUNKIRK --In early 1940s Germany had overrun much of Europe. England is the final prize. British soldiers were trapped and German Air Force was prepare to bomb them, and so they are desperately brought back home through the courage of small boats driven by local citizens. To insure this happens, Sri Aurobindo brings a great fog to the area, enabling the safe return of the soldiers. Great Britain is saved and Hitler chance of taking over Europe greatly diminished.

MOTHER COMPELS HITLER TO TAKE TO TWO FRONTS --Hitler is under the influence of the great Asura; the Lord of Nations. Mother interferes and makes Hitler believe that it is this dark Lord he is communing with, when it is Mother under disguise of him, imploring Hitler to invade Russia, opening a second front in WWII. It will put a huge strain on the German Military and prove to be the demise of Hitler and Nazi Germany.

MOTHER (THROUGH ICPF) AND END OF THE COLD WAR -- (1) In early 1970s when all in the world are wary Of the great power of the Soviet Union, some Russians come back to Pondicherry, India, and as a result Mother knows that Russia is actually a failing state which she tells Satprem in Agenda. It would shock people 15 years later when the Soviet system collapsed, but She expected it.

(2) Karmayogi created the International Commission on Peace and Food (ICPF) led by Garry Jacobs, with an underlying purpose of seeing Mother's Force create peace in the world; influencing an end to the Cold War. It was believed by Gorbachev and Kohl of Germany that it would take 50 years or more for the conflict to end. On arrival of the ICPF's first plenary meeting in Trieste, Italy, it was suddenly announced that the Berlin Wall War was coming down, essentially the beginning of the end of the Cold War. The Cold War has ended in a few months rather than the anticipated half-century!

MOTHER (THROUGH ICPF) END IRISH- UK CONFLICT -- Under the auspices of the Commission (ICPF) Karmayogi asks Garry Jacobs to look into the possibility of ending the decades long, intractable conflict between the Irish and UK over Northern Ireland. The problem goes back hundreds of years, yet within a year or so the problem suddenly ends, the Irish humiliation is over, and for nearly a decade Ireland become the fastest rising economy in Europe. Again, the Force working through the Commission helps end the major world issue and conflict.

Perhaps we will see similar developments for resolving Kashmir problem, Palestinian-Israeli conflict, North-South Korea problem, Rise of nationalism vs Democracy division, Global Warming Issues, etc.

Power of Harmony Applied By Mai

Sri Aurobindo says "all problems in life are problems of Harmony." It is by creating greater Harmony that problems like the astronauts getting along on the space station for the NASA account in "The Book" is made possible. In addition, the team members of MAI apply harmony-related principles among themselves to rectify various conflicts they have experienced.

How then do we create greater harmony in life? Put simply, by moving from separateness and division to a harmonic connection between the parties. And how is that brought about? It begins by giving up any Ego movements.

How does one give up ego movements? For starters, by being vigilant of its occurrence, and catching it when it appears. And it always helps to be stationed in the depths of one's being, rather than the surface to better catch such instances of Ego when they arise.

Higher still is to perceive the inherent Oneness that exists among all of us. That we are one in Soul and Spirit, which is in essence our True Selves. To recognize that the surface self of Ego is not our true self, but a distortion of who we really are; and is the source of all conflict.

On these and similar basis MAI is able to offer NASA a great solution to great harmony amongst the astronauts on board the international space station. They are also utilized to create greater harmony among the team members, as well as further harmony in each of their personal lives.

No Title

The furthest "out" that mankind can go lies deep Within.

No Title

We took on this birth in order to grow in consciousness beyond the previous one.

No Title

We are disturbed by Time when we don't know how to Flow with it.

How Team In 'The Book' Developed Internal Harmony That Led To Matrix, And Then Nasa & Ireland Solutions

In the second section of the book, The Gnostic Stairway, Life gave the team experience first. Through that process it revealed the solution, the knowledge and the entire process. Here is the chronology:

- MAI team was awarded PAIS (NASA) project, yet they were not sure how to model due to lack of source knowledge.
- while working on them, they had internal conflicts, misunderstanding and so forth as no one had clear pathway to model it.
- Life threw the puzzle as NASA wanted to reopen the contract bidding process, jeopardizing the account. The partners then put aside their disagreement and worked in harmony to justify their proposal and eventually won the contract.
- Perhaps to increase the intensity of the issue, life exposed two more experiences of confrontation, (Ray's confrontation with family members, Tony, ex MAI employee's confrontation with Jack while he was working illegally on abandoned MAIS).
- After all had happened, while Dan was reflecting all the three issues, as they related with conflicts/confrontations, The Book gave him the clue "All problems of life are problems of Harmony"
- When Dan and the partners understood "Right Decision" was the key to reconcile discord and establish Harmony, life revealed them The Matrix decision-making tool through Archives.
- The rest followed... (solution for NASA and for Irish conflict, and more.)

(Senthil Murugan)

Comment: Several Comments:

- PROBLEM AS POSITIVE: From this we see that the near losing of the NASA account served a purpose, as it forced them to deal with their own internal conflicts and resolve it through higher harmony, which led to the Matrix, and all that followed. In other words, apparent darkness is really light in disguise.
- CREATING HARMONY: Main way to create Harmony is to give up Ego, i.e. doing things only for one's own self, which creates separative, not harmonic, consciousness. Perceiving the Oneness with others enables feelings of harmony. That we are really one another. That we each have a soul when we move from the surface to the depths, culminating in connecting with our Soul, we feel the harmony and oneness with others. Now that we have the Harmony with others any problems of Life can be solved.

Inner Factors That Attract Business Success From Out Of Nowhere

- Shifting out of a negative attitude or false belief
- Seeking the full Truth of a matter
- Sincerely applying personal and business values at all levels of the organization
- Improving the cleanliness, orderliness, and systemization of the business
- Practicing non-wastage at all levels
- Practicing silence in thought and speech
- Having an intense Aspiration for improvement
- Observing opportunities coming in and fully responding to them
- Making a decision and commitment for something to happen
- Opening to the Spirit (consecration)
- Creating greater harmony in the organization
- Greater coordination, cooperation, and collaboration
- Shifting from blame to taking responsibility

- Shifting from complaint to gratitude
- Shifting from self-need to the aspirations of the company
- Embracing in full what life is asking one to do; accepting the givens
- Greater degrees of punctuality, timeliness, and reliability
- Positive, optimistic attitude. Faith in success.
- Valuing others as much as one's self
- Deeply valuing customers and employees
- Breaking habits, and doing things fresh, and doing fresh things
- Being calm and not reacting to the intensities of others
- Taking to other party's point of view, instead of insisting on one's own
- Keeping focused on one's mission, goals, and values
- Keep accounts up to date. Pay due bills. Collect all due funds. Avoid wasting money.

MIRAculousness

Reader: Constant REMEMBRANCE creates Constant MIRAculousness

The Mother's Extraordinary Experience of Spontaneously Acting Without Intention

In September 30, 1967 Agenda the Mother speaks of an extraordinary state of a future way life unfolds. Instead of in any moment there being a cause and then an effect, there is just effect; a right result. I.e. the Individual simply does the right thing, which is then followed by the right thing which is successful, and so on; all without intention.

Instead of saying I must do this and then doing it, one just does it. And then one simply does the next required thing. In other words, a spontaneous unfolding of consecutive right actions without thought or intention.

There is no will, there is just the doing of the exact right thing. And others around one are also just doing in the same way. And what one and others are doing are always the right thing, done perfectly.

It is an ultimate, supramental efficiency of right action, without intent or cause, but just an ACTION, a doing, a becoming of consecutive actions that are all aligned; without intent or thought. It is just doing, and others just doing - all exactly right; just happening as if by itself, on its own. And we just spontaneously partake in the unfolding.

Consecration's Effect on the Collective

We have had any number of experiences where our consecrated action (opening to the spiritual Force, to the Mother) had an effect on a wider group collective of individuals. Among our personal experiences of utilizing the Force have been-

- the evocation of rain when water was in short supply (regional)
- the return of electricity after it had been completely shut down (local)
- the deflection of potentially dangerous snow storms that were on the way (state, nation)
- the attraction of a major household appliance for every person in a living complex (local)
- the prevention of two hostile groups from coming to blows (community)
- the effect on the outcomes of a war (international)
- the bringing of disaffected family members to a state of harmony (family)

From book 'Life Response in Work' <http://royposner.weebly.com/life-response-in-work.html>

COMMON-SENSE KEYS TO ACCOMPLISHMENT IN LIFE

Let's consider what we normally understand as the keys to accomplishment. Common sense provides a number of the keys to accomplishment, including-

- Having clear goals

- Intensely wanting to make real those goals
- Making the firm decision and commitment to make it happen
- Putting out the full effort
- Being psychologically stronger rather than weak in the face of life's exigencies, pressures
- Having the necessary knowledge and skills
- Persevering, never-say die attitude
- Having the right attitude towards the work, life, others, and ourselves
- Having deep values we believe in, cherish

From book 'Life Response in Work' <http://royposner.weebly.com/life-response-in-work.html>

Getting the Credit and Life Response

"You Can Accomplish Anything as a TEAM Provided you do not mind who gets the credit."
(Priya Lets Sell)

Two stories that illustrate:

--A powerful thinker and author GJ had just released a new book. On the cover it listed himself and the "co-author" who hardly wrote a single word of the business tome. However, rather than seethe, he decided to give up that ego movement and accepted the reality. Immediately thereafter this business consultant started receiving business management consulting business from around the world. By accepting the reality and moving to humility, his entire career as business consultant opened up from that day on!

--Julia child, the most famous tv personality related to cooking in history, was about to release a book early on in her career. Two other ladies were listed as co-authors. They were one day gathered around a table. There the second author was upset that the third author was included, as she did virtually nothing in writing the book. However, Julia smiled, and said she would be happy to be listed LAST, even though she (Julia) wrote virtually all the recipes! The book was then published, and went on to be the most successful cookbook in history, and Julia went on to world fame on television for the next 30 years. Her indifference to fame, and her humility opened up the doors to literal Infinite Success!

Notes on Mother's Involvement with Gods As Described In Her 'Agenda'

(Over the years I have read Mother's 13-volume Agenda perhaps a half dozen times. Occasionally I have recollections of certain themes there that I thought might be interesting to readers. Here is one.)

--Mother used to rest her head on Krishna's shoulders when she walked at night.

--When Mother spoke to various Gods who appeared to Her in person - eg Durga and others - and asked them about how they feel about people giving them offerings in order to receive boons - She said they indicated that they couldn't care a whit about such things; were totally Indifferent, the opposite what ordinary people believe.

--Mother could not stand the ridiculous Blue color in which Krishna was depicted. He was a dark-skinned God man.

--Mother asked several of the Gods to surrender to the Divine Mother. That was one of Mother's comic objectives.

--Mother said the Gods have no capacity to evolve; and no Souls and this could not evolve. (?)

--Being of Overmental capacity (not Supramental Truth Consciousness), individual Gods were in perfect harmony and capacity with that line of consciousness they belonged to; but were not in perfect Harmony with other Gods.

(Sri Aurobindo says that Overmind, though an expression of Universal Consciousness, is the very beginning of division in the Involution.)

Learning at Various Levels

Mental people can learn solely through ideas. Vital people through stories illustrating the ideas. Physical people avoid learning at all costs. This story (by Priya about children learning about teamwork from their mothers' actions) brings out the best of all three realms. Plus there is a spiritual dimension subtly embedded, about the power of Harmony of purpose through Teamwork.

https://www.facebook.com/priya.letsell.1/posts/355480595399551?hc_location=ufi

No Title

Life is continuously bringing us what needs to be evolved, requiring our higher level of consciousness. Life is Conscious that way!

No Title

In Life the Divine allows Dark Forces to have their play, as they can enable a more Integral Positive when overcome.

Comment: Of course we can regularly open to the Force, the Divine Mother, thereby avoiding the play of Darkness and Light, taking instead to the "Sunlit Path."

Reader: Is Consecration same as opening to the force or one of the methods of opening to the force

Response: It's the same thing at the level being discussed, though Sri Aurobindo also speaks of consecrating one's entire Life to the Divine.

Esalen, Michael Murphy, Sri Aurobindo, and the New Age

From the Esalen Institute on Big Sur on the very isolated and magnificent Central California Coast the New Age movement emerged in America. Its leader Michael Murphy had just come back from spending several years at the ashram of Sri Aurobindo in Pondicherry, India where he envisioned a new life, a New World.

I met Michael one day in the early 1980s at his offices while selling Mother's Fragrances incense in the Marina District office in San Francisco, and we had had a brief, but wonderful conversation. We talked about the possibility of a Divine Life on Earth, something that he had already begun to manifest by co-founding Esalen, several hundred miles to the south.

It's thus interesting to consider that Sri Aurobindo was from the angle the well-spring of the New Age movement in America, since Esalen was in many ways its launch pad.

<https://www.facebook.com/EsalenInstitute/>

No Title

When you remove ego from the situation and take to Humility, the Integral Truth of the conditions increasingly reveal themselves.

Would it be egoistic to say that Mother's consciousness working through my 30+ years of training and consulting in and around Silicon Valley helped it become Infinite-like?

No Title

Mind is the Entrance Way. Mind is the Bar.

No Title

Better than praying for results in a problematic situation, give up the negative inner or outer behavior that it corresponds to.

Perfection Attracts

Movements toward perfection normally attract positive conditions. Eg a small business in a somewhat hopeless position perfected the letter of application for a huge contract. Their chances of winning it were very slim. However, they won the contract because the decision-maker noticed how immaculately perfect the letter was written.

Transition from Religion to Spirit

We can come out of the falsehoods of religion and come upon the Spirit by aspiring for and seeking Truth: the truth of who we are, what our purpose is, where the world is heading, etc; and connect with like-minded individuals who also seek such Meaning in life.

Intermediate Stages to the Supramental Body

Mother says we cannot evolve into a physical supramental being - containing centers of consciousness, rather than the current physical organs - from the current substance of our current material body. Rather there needs to be intermediate stages. She discusses various intermediate possibilities in Agenda on May 27, 1970.

Fully Embracing Current Problematic Work or Job Attracts

Over the years we have witnessed people yearning for a different work or job. However, spurred on by Karmayogi's dictum, through his associates, when that person dedicated themselves more fully to the current (apparently problematic) work or job, good things quickly started happening; whether in that work or job area, or in another as (e.g.) a new opportunity. "Embracing the Givens of Life" is thus a great way to evoke the miraculous.

I have seen this wondrous dynamic countless times in my own life.

PS: From a higher perspective the Divine aspires for you to grow as a person and evolve through the work/job before you. That's why it has come; for you to make a progress.

Here are some true-life examples on this dynamic as well as closely-related matters:

<https://1drv.ms/b/s!AjayTOYvR8hzgZY1TM2FGHZ8j2TuLw?e=Qg66Xx>

No Title

Karmayogi's (aka T. Natarajan's) vast teachings across an enormous range of fields of life appear to be 500 years ahead of its time, but through our Knowledge of it can be Realized within 50, or less.

Dialogue on Honesty and Truthfulness Of Indians

RP: In 'Spiritual Opulence' and elsewhere Karmayogi repeatedly indicates that Indians are not very honest and truthful. I wonder why.

SM: I think the values were there in the very olden days. It was lost somehow... Sri Appa is repeatedly mentioning all the stories full of values in order to consciously reinvoke those values in us.

RP: Yes, an overwhelming, invaluable pioneering effort on his part. A blessing for the country when fully adopted.

Spreading aspiration to get rid of corruption at all levels in India may be a first universal response to Appa's efforts.

We can all take it further and apply it in work and business, with friends and family. And so forth.

—

Indians lost their self-respect, confidence, and pride along the way, and so they took to untruthfulness. Now they are becoming prosperous and are likely well on their way to recovering their truthfulness, honesty, and sincerity.

No Title

Dear Friends,

I will likely be reducing my Facebook presence in the foreseeable future. This mainly involves a reduction of my own new, original idea-oriented posts. -Roy

No Title

Discarding outworn habits, routines tends to evoke unexpected positive conditions.

No Title

Do the day's work in Consciousness; not the ordinary way. Life will cooperate from all quarters.

My Mystical Experiences Among the Gods

When I was a young man, my uncle - who was not a religious person - told me that he and I were descendants of the Gods; i.e. the Greek Gods. He seemed certain of it.

Several years later while driving along the coast of Greece, the bus driver announced over the loud speaker that we were just passing under Mount Olympus, where the Gods resided. I then looked outside my window and noticed that the sun suddenly burst out with a terrific light. It had been cloudy until that very moment.

Earlier that day I had another mystical experience when I awoke outdoors among the great peaks of Greece after passing through the mountains between it and Yugoslavia. I awoke to a startling sunrise that stirred something very deep inside me. It was a pure mystical experience.

The next day I climbed the Acropolis and had yet another profound experience that I had been here before; that all was eerily familiar.

Perhaps these incidents were proof of my uncle's earlier assertions of our being descendants of the Gods. Somehow on that trip in the 1970s I felt deeply connected with the subtle forces revealing themselves in that space and time.

Indian Reunification and Other Forms of Harmonic Association Among Nations

According to MSS in order for the nations surrounding India to be rejoined in unification with the mother country, - or for any groups of nations to create harmonic relations, - individuals of all sides must first feel a deep oneness and unity with one another. Events will then reflect that depth as powerful positive response from life.

Thus from this perspective reunification and other forms of harmonic cooperation among nations or other entities is not so much a political or economic issue, but a Psychological and Spiritual one.

Parallel Events are Related in Consciousness

Eg there is a new opportunity at the end of a training course for an instructor. At the same time there is a similar opportunity that suddenly arises for an institution the instructor is related to that he had nothing to do with bringing about. And yet these two parallel events are related to him; specifically to his higher intensity efforts in his training. He could now benefit from both these unexpected positive outcomes.

No Title

Unwillingness to get at complex truths causes people to take to simple-minded populism.

An Angel's Universal Consciousness

'The 1947 adaption of 'The Bishop's Wife' is the story of what happens when a distraught bishop calls to the Divine for guidance to help him recover his lost faith and purpose. An Angel individual (played by actor Cary Grant) then appears before the bishop and guides him, his wife, and others through the vicissitudes of life.

Interestingly I found that the 'angel' character Dudley demonstrates what we can call "Universal Consciousness"; embodying many of the qualities of incarnated divine being known as Krishna.

I would like to list these qualities below:

- Dudley has come to overcome the troubling environment around the bishop - i.e. preserve it - as did Krishna as incarnation of Vishnu, the Preserver
- He constantly sees into the future and knows what is going to happen
- He knows when to act, and when to withhold action, as he perceives the true flow of life
- He never insists on his way; only stating the truth of the situation
- He never interrupts, allowing others to have their full say
- He has physical siddhis (miracle capacity)
- He continuously practices non-reaction; remaining still in the face of others' anxieties toward him or the conditions of life
- He continually takes the other person's point of view when it is raised, though he always knows the inner truth, the direction, and outcomes of life
- He shows tireless compassion and is self-giving
- He sees the positive behind all problems and negative positions
- He alters the course of events through his constant self-offering and opening to the Divine (consecration)

PS. I welcome your further comments on this version of the film.

Birth of World University Consortium (WUC)

Today October 8, 2019 is the 6th anniversary of the first ever meeting of the World University Consortium (WUC) held at the University of California at Berkeley campus. This is a photo from that first gathering where WUC was launched. It took place at Alumni House building on campus. I am seated in the middle with the blue shirt, listening to the vice Chancellor of UC Berkeley. Garry Jacobs, the founder of WUC, spoke after the vice-chancellor, inaugurating this new, progressive, dynamic consortium of higher education institutions.

WUC link: <http://wunicon.org/>

Why Mother Refrains from Granting Our Money Wishes

Why does the Mother, who is all powerful, not give certain individuals the money they pray for?

If you have the wrong attitude toward money, why should Mother offer it to us in abundance? Even if the wrong attitude relates to a peripheral matter, She may hold back Money.

In essence, She is waiting for us to Grow in Consciousness, and when we do, money will come, sometimes instantaneously.

We have karmas related to money. She is more concerned with our overcoming them in relation to money, than in distributing it to us.

Over-borrowing and/or not paying back old debts is one example. She waits for us to make a concerted effort in that area before more money can come.

Others may have no aspiration in life, so money doesn't come. Some will be too spread out in their interests in life, with lack of focus. Others still may be slovenly, unkempt, disorderly, not taking to personal organization, negligent in maintaining financial accounts, etc. etc.

She may also hold back money when She knows we will abuse it somehow if given. I.e. waste it; use it for selfish purposes, to placate our vital needs, etc.

It takes Sincerity of Purpose to look inside ourselves and discover our limitation(s) that correspond to Her holding back funds we ask Her for. If we identify and overcome them, money will flow nonstop throughout our lives.

ICPF Helps End Cold War

In the 1980s The Mother's Service Society (MSS) initiated the International Commission on Peace and Food (ICPF), whose purpose was to end the threat of nuclear war between the US and Russia.

Inspired by Karmayogi, Garry Jacobs formed the organization in Napa California. Within a few years the Berlin Wall fell and the end of the Cold War ensued.

The Consciousness of the commission and their members played a vital role in the ending of the world-threatening conflict. The Spiritual Force played a vital role in this unfolding.

The World Academy (WAAS) carries on the mission of the Commission.

Wikipedia entry for ICPF

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/.../International Commission on Pe...

No Title

the psychic being is the one that will materialize and become the supramental being!

(The Mother, from Agenda, July 1, 1970)

Comment: Karmayogi speaks of the mental psychic, the vital psychic, and the physical psychic. Perhaps these each through our evolving psychic consciousness will blend with the Supramental Force, creating corresponding three levels of a new, unprecedented on earth Supramental Being.

Lost Materials Recovered Through Consecration & Action

AN'S NARRATIVE: I have a regular habit of frequently checking my vehicle RC books [vehicle registration document] as well as my family Aadhar cards [a person's unique identifier card]. This morning to my shock I found that the RC book of one of my two-wheelers was missing along with my daughter's Adhar card also.

I recently used my 2-wheeler RC book to renew my vehicle insurance as the insurance company demanded to see my vehicle's RC book as a penalty for my late renewal. Just 2 weeks ago myself and my daughter had made a trip to Delhi and I had taken her Aadhar card as ID proof to show at the Airport.

I sensed that I have misplaced them somewhere. But one hour of my searching proved fruitless and even my prayer to Mother did not work. Finally losing faith in the power of grace, I was prepared to spend some money to get a new RC book as well as a new Aadhar card. It involved an expense of 800 for new RC and 200 for new Aadhar.

The tension I was under in the morning got relaxed and I attended to my normal work as usual. At around 2.30 P.M I was looking for a particular file in my rack when a plastic folder caught my eye. I could see some certificate relating to my vehicle inside the folder. I grabbed it eagerly and there found my 2-wheeler Rc book as well as my daughter's Aadhar card.

I was surprised beyond measure that my prayer yielded results after loss of faith in the power of grace to retrieve the certificates. Usually when a prayer is not granted, we cite lack of faith as the reason for the failure of prayer. But here in this instance the prayer was granted after definite loss of faith and a switch over to the power of money. This is intriguing and needs to be explained. Readers may comment on this puzzling phenomenon.

RP'S ANALYSIS: There was initial Faith, but nothing came in response. Rather than further Faith he could not muster, he took to ACTION. When the tension then subsided he evoked the response. Or to put it another way, there was not enough sustained energy of Faith to evoke the desired result; but through willed Action to obtain the missing materials, and the subsiding of anxiety, life responded.

GJ's ANALYSIS: The intensity of your anxiety, impatience and expectation postponed the action of faith. It is like expectation delaying the power of prayer. It is not enough we pray. It is necessary that we withdraw the urges of our mental, vital, physical nature that interfere with the action of Mother's power. Mrs. Bennett's aspiration for the marriage of her daughters was real and powerful, but it could not be fulfilled until her impatience, scheming, reliance on pressure and initiative were withdrawn when they failed to yield results.

A True Devotee

We assume that everyone who claims to be a “devotee” (i.e. aspirant of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother) is a devotee. Obviously, there is a difference between being a devotee and claiming to be one. A devotee is one who has faith in Mother.

People who do not work, who do not return the money they borrow, who are inefficient, incapable, unwilling to work cannot pray; and their prayer of wish fulfillment will never be granted. There cannot be a single example of an efficient, hardworking man not getting his prayers answered. - (Karmayogi, paraphrased)

Rich and Poor

Developing increasing universal consciousness would enable the poor to understand the conscious rich and the ways to become prosperous; and help the rich understand the issues of the poor and aid in their way out of their condition. It is the basis of an integral view of the way forward.

Harmony and Our Universal Power

The way to create Harmony between two disparate parties in the world is to discover the lack of harmony within one's self – whether toward others or towards life, - and reverse it. Life will then respond in the positive for the conflictive entities. We really do have that Universal Power within us!

My New Tech and Response of Life

I have updated my technology with a new laptop computer after 6 years, as well as a new iPhone after 4.

The Acer laptop starts up Windows 10 in 5 seconds, as it has a solid-state drive (ssd), not a hard drive. With last pc it took 10 minutes to load. The new laptop is literally 25 times faster. As for the iPhone 10R, it is very fast, and very smooth compared to my previous model, with a number of marvelous new features.

Wonderful Life Response results accompanied various stages of acquisition and implementation of the devices; mainly the result of consecration, following subtle life signs, and steady focus and patience. Life cooperated at every turn.

Harry Potter, Self-Givingness, and the Response Of Life

Perhaps the most profound Life Response I perceived among the 8 Harry Potter films took place in the very last one.

At one point. Harry, Hermione, and Ron were trying to escape the wrath of the fire dragon. They had now escaped its ferocity by riding their magic brooms into the sky. However, Harry noticed that his arch enemy, Draco Malfoy, was left behind and about to be incinerated by the dragon. Rather than continue to safety, Harry turned his broom around, headed down toward Draco, and scooped him up before the fire dragon annihilated him. Harry's two friends were shocked by Harry's brave gesture, indicating that no enemy should be rescued, jeopardizing one's own life, but Harry insisted on it.

It is now later in the day when the forces of good, led by Harry were fighting against the forces of evil, led by Lord Voldemort.

At one point, Voldemort and Harry meet alone in the forest, where Voldemort shoots out a terrible force, which seems to have killed Harry. In fact, in the next scene we see Harry and the headmaster, wizard Dumbledore apparently in a heaven-like place.

Then back on earth we see Harry lying lifeless on the ground. Voldemort asks Malfoy's mother Narcissa if Harry is dead, she goes over to him, and announced that indeed Harry is dead.

As the two opposing groups meet, there is a funeral procession for Harry, where Hagrid carries the lifeless body from the forces of darkness to those of the light.

And yet just as the positive group is about to surrender to the negative one, Harry suddenly awakens, rallies his people, and therefore the battle continues on, which the side of Light soon are the victors.

So what is the Life Response in these events? It is simply this: Because Harry earlier in a gesture of self-givingness went ahead and saved Malfoy from death at the hands of the fire dragon, Malfoy's mother Narcissa was later able to fool Voldemort by lying, convincing the forces of darkness that Harry was dead. That allowed Harry to awaken at the opportune time, rally his forces, and defeat the dark Lord and his minions.

In other words, Harry's goodness toward Malfoy returned to him as good fortune through Malfoy's mother's deception, turning the tide of the battle, enabling the forces of light to quickly secure the victory.

As we have often seen, acts of Self-givingness has that astonishing Life Response effect and power to evoke positive conditions in life. It can return the favor of goodness a dozen times or more! It can even, as we see in this Harry Potter episode, save the world.

Our, Life, Divine Wills In Truman Show

We aspire for many things in life, yet we may not know what the Divine is us, our psychic being aspires for. The Divine seeks Himself and reaches us through Life. Perhaps whatever we do, the response from life and the synchronicities from life are the guiding tools that indicates the alignment of our will with the Life's and the Divine's will and also could lead us there if we dare to pursue.

In that context, it is a wonderful quote

"We know about Our will and about the Divine's Will. But do we know about LIFE'S Will reflecting the Divine Will imploring Our will?

- Roy Posner"

and we could get evidence reflecting that in literature, film, our life and so forth.

In the movie "The Truman show", the Divine 's will was to him come out of his own illusory limitations.

Truman's will was to reach her lover, Sylvia.

When that will reaches certain intensity, the life started to respond and came as synchronicities like the falling light, radio frequency mismatch, observing the routine traffic, people and so forth. Life's will was to make him aware of the illusory Reality so that he would seek his True Reality.

And he pursued his dream based on the life's hints, and in that process he overcame his own limitations and manifested all the Will in Reality.

(Senthil Murugan)

No Title

She ALWAYS acts on our behalf when we are truly Receptive.

No Title

The Supramental Action is the Divine power that unfolds on multiple fronts simultaneously and integrally to uplift life.

Our Evolving Soul

-We each have an Evolving Soul, also known as a Psychic Being.

-It is located within us, thumb-sized behind the heart.

-We may or may not be in touch with it.

- That Psychic entity is evolving, and does so through multiple births. By entering a host individual, i.e. us.
- The evolving soul cannot reach its full realization in one birth, so it leaves at death and is reborn again and again in different hosts in its journey to realization.
- In each person it inhabits it seeks to discover through that person's life a new aspect of truth that it is evolving towards realizing; seeking to know and embody.
- It cannot reach its full realization in one birth, so it leaves and is reborn again in different hosts.
- The individual can make the growth of many births in one or several through efforts of higher consciousness. In one sense, the person is here to make that special growth, for himself, as well as the evolving soul, which his higher self within.
- When the individual rises in consciousness, the psychic being gains a new knowledge that it seeks through its journeys through time in embodies beings; i.ee. us.
- Mother says that we, i.e. our psychic being has been with Her and Her being through 1000 births. We are evolving together, in space and time, and beyond.
- Eventually we live as long as we wish, as our immortal soul develops an immortal body, a leap in consciousness and substance beyond our current limited being.

Overcoming Negative Attitude Attracts

Overcoming any of these negative attitudes eliminates negative conditions and/or attracts sudden onset of positive conditions:

- unwillingness
- over-expecting
- over-anticipating
- closed-mindedness
- egotistic
- prideful
- intolerant
- indifferent
- insensitive
- disdainful
- ill-will
- fearful
- hateful
- impatient
- careless
- mistrusting
- jealous
- selfish
- tight-fisted
- dishonest
- deceitful
- wasteful
- messy
- unkempt
- disorganized
- unforgiving
- skeptical
- sarcastic

- over-opinionated
- pessimistic
- doubting
- vindictive
- faithless
- controlling
- dominating
- gossipy
- toady
- destructive
- harmful
- unreliable
- unpunctual
- mean-spirited
- rotten
- spoils
- ruins
- criminal
- hordes
- tactless
- weakness
- shrinking
- self-doubting
- self-loathing
- exaggerates
- distorts
- complains
- blames
- irresponsible

Which ones are you ready to shed, and thereby quickly attract positive conditions into your life? Please comment.

No Title

My aunt and uncle were honored and respected scientists of the Visible; whereas I and others have been "scientists" of the Invisible.

Auto Repair Miracles

A man thought he had major car problems. The following week a different problem crept up with the car as indicated by a light on the dashboard.

He thought that perhaps he merely needed some transmission fluid. When he pursued the matter, he could not find the fluid in the big store he shopped in, nor could he find instructions on how to implement it in the manual. It was to him a sign that a different tactic was required.

After some hesitation, he decided to take the car into the shop. He knew the cost could be very substantial. Yet he had the funds. And besides, he knew that money must circulate, - not be hoarded or guarded; - including purchasing what is necessary.

He had an insight higher still; as a result he offered up the entire situation to the Mother. He simply put his faith in Her.

When the man arrived at the shop, he was told that the outlet does not fix the problems the man had, and he sent him to a different outlet, several miles up the road. Astonishingly, considering the dozens of streets in the area, it ended up being on a main street very close to his home. It was a clear first sign of things to come.

When he arrived at the new shop, he was astonished that one of the technicians immediately helped him out with his problem, considering how busy he and his team were.

The mechanic then volunteered to attach a handheld computer-like device to the man's vehicle to test for any serious problems. The man did not know that such a mobile, hand-held device with diagnostic capability even existed.

And so he waited for the results, hoping it would not be too dire. He also knew his car could have some serious issues.

The technician then showed him the results. On every aspect of the car there was a line-item report. It turned out that on each aspect his car scored a "0"; meaning absolutely NO problem in every major area!

He had earlier thought he might have to spend many hundreds of dollars, if not a thousand or two. But instead he paid $0. Plus he was relieved there were no problems with any of the major systems of the auto; itself an astonishing development. Plus, all this took place on the perfect street to arrive back to his home. Even that turned out to be a breeze!

It was like a series of consecutive miracles; one after another.

And the technician was SO gracious; so good-matured, kind, and informative. The man never experienced anything like this from any auto technician in the past. Often, they were the very opposite. Plus, he had that space age portable computer device to check out all aspects of his car!

It all ended perfectly.

And yet, what did it all mean? How had he attracted these startling results?

For one, he practiced the law of Circulation of Money, rather than hoarding it. That always evokes financial gain; often in unexpected form.

He also practiced the law of taking Action rather than ignoring a problem, procrastinating, and similar. That too tends to attract good fortune.

Finally, he also consecrated the whole matter, putting everything in Her hands.

What followed was a wonder to behold!

PS to the Story: When the man arrived home, he soon after received a text indicating that he had a big check coming from his agent, which he did not expect for many weeks. Plus it turned out to be precisely the amount he expected to initially pay at the auto repair shop! It was a continuation of the startling Response of Life he received earlier.

Man to Superman According To Sri Aurobindo

-Man is a transitional being; he is not final.

-The step from man to superman is the next approaching achievement in the earth's evolution.

-It is inevitable because it is at once the intention of the inner Spirit and the logic of Nature's process.

(Sri Aurobindo)

No Title

The Ignorant have no knowledge of why they are ignorant, which is one expression of their Ignorance.

Subtle Indicators of Life Reinforcing the Original Condition

When you have a problem, a conflict, an issue, etc., be aware of the subtle and not so subtle verifications emanating from the field of life; whether close or a distance. These will present you with clues of what to do, or what not to do; how to address the situation.

These subtle intimations may come when you drive, when you listen to the news, in a film you are watching, from something someone says casually, off-handedly, and many other sources. To be tuned into these is to be subtly aware of the secret unfoldings of life. They are Indicators of life echoing, reinforcing your original condition or situation.

Moreover, if this is a frequent experience, it will be a measure of your psychological and spiritual growth and capacity.

No Title

If you want to get rid of the negative in the world, discover the corresponding negative in yourself and change it. Life will respond!

Universal Power of Devotee to Alter Unfolding Natural Disaster In California

Can devotees prevent the further spread of natural disasters around them from occurring, from WITHIN themselves, without any outer action, only using inner powers of the spiritual Force, the divine Mother to evoke the miraculous-like result?

My experience is that they surely can, as I and others I've been associated with have made teal over the years. Here's the most recent example:

As you may have heard California in recent years has been experiencing a plethora of fires. The cause of the frequencies and intensity of these natural disasters is still up for debate.

In the northern part of the state, where I have resided most of the last 40 years, there has not only been huge fires, like in Southern Cal, but there has also been a great loss of life accompanying several of these infernos. In many ways this latter development is unprecedented in recent California history, at least in its frequency of occurrence.

One of the recent fires had come to be known as the "Kincade" fire, exploding on the scene with significant destruction, but now threatening the entire San Francisco Bay Area, with a population of over 8 million. With the infamous Santa Ana winds blowing at very high speeds, there was now a dire threat to the entire region, beginning with the Wine Country in the northern part of the Bay Area, which could then rapidly spread south into the heart of the region. The forests had become an inferno, as the dry winds persisted, and was threatening to wipe out everything, including many residents.

It was at this point that I decided to take action; i.e. inner action. After viewing an online map of the scope of the terrifying conflagration, I imagined the fires no longer advancing from its current locations, and hopefully burning out in place during a brief retreat of the ferocious winds. There was almost zero chance of this happening, let alone in very short order.

And so with deep emotion, I managed to muster I offered the entire situation to the Mother and Her Force. I then forgot about the frightening situation and soon went to bed.

When I woke up the following morning, I looked at the latest map of the fire, and noticed that not only had the fire not advanced and envelop the first few cities in its path of the rural north end of the Bay Area, but it had shrunk dramatically overall!

In the days that followed, the potentially most-devastating fire in California history had unexpectedly been dramatically reduced, putting the lives of thousands out of danger.

--

This was not the first cosmic experience I had along these lines. There have been a number of others over the last several decades. On these occasions, my job was to understand the dynamics of the dire event, and once known offer it up to the Force with intense heart-felt emotion, trusting fully in Its action, disregarding everything else.

The Mother would invariably take care of all the rest.

Admirable Qualities For Devotees That Attract The Very Best Conditions, Avoiding Negative Ones

- to speak the truth at all costs.
 - to speak in the lowest volume voice another can hear
 - to Consecrate
 - to not have any part of the house be disorderly
 - to have dirty clothes washed every day
 - Not to react to another
 - Not to Interrupt another's speech
 - Not to slam the door or drop things making noise
 - Not to be impatient
 - Not to be irrational
 - Not to forget one's duty
 - Not to forget Mother
- (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

Universal Vibration Affects Individual's Local Experience

Often I have experienced static, difficulty in a situation, only to soon after discover that there was a universal negative vibration associated with it that affected my local experience.

Eg recently I went to pick up some pills from the pharmacy of a huge pharmaceutical, drugstore outlet. Everything seemed to go wrong in this situation, even with consecration. The cashier at the retail outlet couldn't find the prescription. there was a missing doctor's verification, there was confusion at the facility in various forms. The vibration was confused, nervous and disorganized.

The next morning I discovered that the vast mother company had a huge scandal involving the very drug I was purchasing the previous day for a friend!

I had simply walked into the vibration that was associated with that pharmaceutical outlet for that drug. This sort of universal vibration affecting the individual's experience dynamic happens often, if we open our eyes to see it, to make the connection, to see the correspondence.

PS In fact that drug was the basis of a national epidemic, and even a world-wide catastrophe. The influence was from an even wider universal domain that I had walked into!

Incorporating Life Response Phenomenon Into AI

Life Response phenomenon - onset of sudden good fortune from out of nowhere - and related unfoldings of Life (including synchronicity, timelessness, karmic power, supramental Force et al,) express the truth of existence far than any predictive patterns conceived of by current Artificial Intelligence systems.

However systematizing these cosmic phenomena in some creating way, creating an "AI of Life Response" would be a significant development in our understanding of Reality and its patterns and powers, thereby furthering Human Evolution.

Interestingly, profound fusion of approaches is described to a large degree by Garry Jacobs in his epic mystic novel 'The Book,' and to a lesser extent in the short story 'The Journey' by Roy Posner.

No Title

The emergence of global government is an inevitable development in the course of social transformation.

(Ashok Natarajan)

Comment: This was one of several expression of Sri Aurobindo's and Karmayogi's prophecy for the future of the world, here expressed by the latter's son.

No Title

The demand for economic and social Equality in the world indicates the reign of Capitalism is coming to an end.

Comment: There is a powerful movement towards Equality in the world, and Capitalism is incapable of achieving it. Thus Capitalism will be replaced.

Turning Old-Model Instructors Into Facilitators Of Person-Centered Education

To Sreejith's important question on of how to change old models of teaching when trying to usher in person-centered education, I would suggest:

- Create an education tune-up mini-course on Person-centered education for current faculty, especially instructors, with intense group discussions and break out teams.

- (of course) Make educational courses people-centered with deep level of granularity of application.

- Reward teachers, instructors who demonstrate high levels of person-centered approach in their courses. (end of class surveys can help facilitate this)

- In future, hire faculty who have disposition that would lend itself more readily to people-centered.

I have been an instructor for over 30 years.😊 -Roy Posner

No Title

Organized religion has turned Spiritual Truth into religious falsehood.

No Title

With Mother and Her Force the impossible is made possible.

No Title

The Truth does not ordinarily come out at once, as it seeks to gather related parts.

Coming Global Coordination, Governance, Progress, Human Unity

All of the economic, political, social, and psychological fracturing in the world today indicates a higher level of global coordination, including world governance is in the works, ushering in the next stage of social progress and human unity.

Success, Failure of Globalism

Globalism has been a great success in that it has raised 1 billion people out of poverty (including China and India). On the other hand, Globalism has also been a great failure as it has left many behind, without right jobs and skills, accelerating wealth inequality, and al.

Perceiving the Hidden Patterns of Life

There are subtle patterns of life that go unnoticed, and which defy our normal perceptions of logic, cause and effect, and space and time.

Understanding these hidden patterns not only enables us to see the world in a different way, but gives us the insight to perceive the truths that are unfolding in the atmosphere around us.

From that poise we can know the true truth of the reality unfolding around us, giving us one leg up on the world so that we can make the right decisions that invariably will lead to infinitely successful results. In other words, perceiving the subtle workings of life can lead to great accomplishment, success, and happiness in life.

In this article at Mother's Service Society we'll cover a variety of these subtle hidden patterns in life in the following discussion. We'll begin with that most fundamental aspect of life, the simple act:

<http://www.motherservice.org/content/hidden-patterns-life>

No Title

first step of knowing the true nature of Reality is to become aware that our mind is extremely limited in its perceptions of the world. When we grow in consciousness beyond mind's core limitations, we begin to perceive the true nature of Existence.

No Title

It is often the case that just by coming to understand the solution to a difficult problem, the issue gets instantly solved, without even having to take an action. It is a wonder to behold.

No Title

If your business or similar is crumbling, you will often find that it is your belief in that negative outcome that is creating that reality. Thus, if you change the belief, the reality will quickly change to the positive.

No Title

The world is constantly trying to improve itself, but we mostly miss it, focusing mainly on the conflict.

No Title

There's a great difference between consecrating an act or an event or an opportunity or a problem, and Consecrating one's life to the Divine.

Overcoming the Negative By Going Within

We encounter limited, negative conditions in life. They come to us so we can grow, including growing out of our ego; our limited, surface nature.

What can we do? To go beyond these present conditions, we need to go inside, within, away from the surface consciousness of ego. Here we discover our True Self, the Psychic Being; and the Secret Knowledge of higher consciousness, and personal and spiritual growth.

In tandem with Consecration which is one form of going within, we evolve in consciousness, outgrowing our surface, ego-based nature. Life cooperates from all quarters. Truth, silence, self-givingness, harmony, wisdom, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity envelop our being; transform our lives.

The Secret Knowledge

The Secret Knowledge is that everything we encounter in life, on the outside is a reflection of who we are inside; i.e. our poise in consciousness. And by changing our corresponding limitations within, it becomes an opportunity to progress, as life responds in our favor.

No Title

Shifting from surface to Depths we perceive the true nature of Reality, which includes the utility of ALL things in the unfolding.

Failing Tire Company Gives Up False Belief

Often a failing company finds itself in a predicament because the leaders of the organization believe in its inevitability. However, if they change that belief, life will conspire to turn around the organization to success.

A tire manufacturing business was rapidly going downhill. However, a wise, consciousness-oriented consultant asked them to change that belief. He told them that because they believed they were in a dying industry, because they believed their company would therefore die, life responded negatively in kind, and as a result they were failing

And so the company took up the wise consultant's advice and reversed their negative point of. Life then suddenly conspired to take them in a very positive direction.

No Title

The Indian proverb says "we are what we believe we are; we become what we believe we can become."

No Title

As devotees we are asked to shift our Faith from others' opinions, what the society says is true, to Mother.

No Title

When we give up our Ego-perspective, our focus on our own needs, desires, et al, life reverses and EXPANDS in our favor.

Personal Life Experience, Not Another's Knowledge Compels One To Change

Ordinarily one does not change one's consciousness because another has implored you to do so. It happens when you have a life experience and you are forced to overcome your limitations. Then when you make the reversal, life opens up and blossoms before you.

Disappearing Text in 'The Book'

At one point the text of the pages of the Book (in the novel 'The Book') disappear for Dan. He then comes to realize that they are disappearing because he has lost interest and faith in the knowledge and wisdom of the Book. He got so caught up in the workings of the company, including the AIS software, that he spent much less time in reading the Book.

And so when he changed his relationship to the Book and recommits to being guided by it, the text reappears.

Devotees Political Leaders

When learned, energetic spiritual devotees successfully run for Political Office, there will be great, unprecedented positive social change.

An Opinion Vs. An Attitude

An opinion is basically mental. It is a thought with a certain minimal vitalized emotion. It can change in an instant. An attitude on the other hand has the fuller endorsement of the vital, the emotions, and tends to be more fixed.

Eg in Pride and Prejudice, Darcy has an opinion about Lizzy when he first sees her. It is not flattering, but it can easily change. However, he did change that opinion and developed strong feelings about her. Now he had a set attitude about her; a strong emotional positive feeling about her.

When we change an opinion, life responds. When we change an attitude, which is a deeper formation than an opinion, life can respond overwhelming, as it did for Darcy, as he won over the woman of his dreams, while saving the Bennet family from scandal.

Power of No Opinion, Position

We have endless opinions, positions on a wide number of topics. Yet having NO opinions is great, as we are hanging in mid-air, with the Spirit, Mother to guide us. It is a blissful position to be in, which in turn tends to evoke infinite possibilities.

Wrong Attitude That Distracts from Incoming Truth and Benefit

A wrong attitude can prevent us from seeing what is right in front of us, or what is trying to come to us. Eg we are so taken by someone's beauty and possibility of romance because we are influenced by society to find someone, marry someone, et al, that we fail to discover that the other person is offering an important business opportunity. Shifting away from that attitude allows us to perceive the incoming truth and its enormous benefits. It is life responding to our reversal in consciousness.

Attitudes of Each of the Team Members in 'The Book'

Each of the characters in the story of the novel 'The Book' has one or more attitudes to be overcome.

Eg DAN feels possessive at one point when the book that contains vast life wisdom goes missing, as he has not had time to focus on it, as he is beckoned elsewhere. He merely wants to possess it, rather than learn from it. He is however able to overcome that wrong attitude and life responds.

VINAY is able to overcome an attitude about his attraction to one of the team members, - conforming to society's compulsion for marriage, - and life responds with the knowledge from the woman of a great opportunity for himself and the company

ANYA wants to be accepted and respected socially. She is very sensitive to what people think of her, especially so in the world of men. It turns out that three men at the firm do not respect her authority, nor give her credit for success. She is thus angry and has a wrong-headed attitude toward all of them. She does not see that her own negative attitude brings out the negative attitude of the others.

Eventually through conferring with and gaining knowledge gained from the Book she comes to see how her attitude is causing others' negative attitude. She comes to see that a true individual does not seek approval from others; but does what is right. As a result of her reversal, the others change their view of her, and one person even ends up being of great benefit to the company in the coming years. And it all came as a result of her reversal of attitude.

Thus, for each person, we see various negative attitudes that need to be overcome. They include negative or limiting Attitude towards things, one's self, or others. When overcome, life responds to the positive overwhelmingly, as it does for these characters.

PS: The change in the software offering from the team's company from AIS2 to AIS3 is fundamentally the inclusion of the power of Attitudes, including the AI software's ability to account for what happens when the limiting attitude is overcome.

Motive of Team Members In 'The Book'

Just as Attitudes are deeper than opinions, motives are deeper than attitudes. Motives go down to the essential things that are driving you forward in life. Let's examine the motive of the team members in the novel:

DAN: His motive is an aspiration for knowledge, for Truth, that leads to accomplishment for the organization.

VINAY: His motive is to discover what his role is in life: to be marry, to be successful, and to balance these. (?)

ANYA: Her motive is to be recognized and appreciated in life for her value. It is the driving force, the motive behind her attitude.

Attitude is of the vital (emotions); Motive is deeper, from the Being of the person, from the subconscious of the individual.

No Title

Only the Supramental can overcome the darkness of the subconscious, especially in the physical.

No Title

Life compels us to accept and transform the defects in ourselves that we see in others.

No Title

So many Startling Connections can be seen between things that the average consciousness normally misses.

Embodying Divine Values

Each person should be able to bring out their own unique value or set of values, fulfilling the Divine intent of multiplicity of spiritual values in creation.

No Title

One more VALUE that we don't have coming into our life can elevate our ENTIRE existence.

Motive Attracts Accordingly

What we discover of another person is not necessarily what they are, but a reflection of what our motive is in life. Eg if I want to discredit another person, we will attract things that trouble us from that other individual. Example: Caroline Bingley's constant berating of Lizzy in Pride and Prejudice attracts to Caroline what she doesn't want (i.e. Lizzy's further connection to Darcy).

No Title

Each individual we encounter has something to teach us about ourselves, for our progress.

Life Response in Pride and Prejudice

In terms of Life Response (onset of sudden good fortune from seemingly out of nowhere), Pride and Prejudice boils down to this.

There is aspiration for marriages among the Bennet family members. Life interferes and creates obstacles for this to happen, including the elopement.

Several persons undergo transformation of their being (especially Darcy, Lizzy, and Mr. Bennet) that overcomes the obstacles, leading to great achievement and the original aspiration fulfilled.

At the societal level, life progresses through compromise among the classes, instead of revolution as took place in nearby France.

Sophistication, Intelligence, and Conscious Transformation in Pride And Prejudice

It is interesting that the three individuals who change the most to the positive in Pride and Prejudice - Darcy, Eliza, and Mr. Bennet, - also happen to be the most sophisticated and intelligent in the story. Their mental capacities enable them to evaluate the situations, and thereby Consciously change.

(At the five levels of Personality MSS has developed, they each had a developed Character (level 3), and were on the borders of true individuality, especially Eliza (Level 4). In other words, development of Character and Individuality more readily allow for more and more conscious personal growth, progress, even transformation.)

No Title

Willingness to believe something negative about others brings out the worst in that person. Eg in P&P Elizabeth's negative attitude toward Darcy makes him cancel the romance between Bingley and Eliza's sister Jane.

Beyond Social Approval That Accomplishes For Entire Society In 'The Book'

"By rising above social approval, one rises above the society, and is able to accomplish what no-one else can do."

For the characters in the epic, mystic novel 'The Book,' they must go beyond their concern for social approval, which they do, and thereby accomplish greatly.

-Anya is looking for the approval of the people around her in her work.

-Ray is looking for the approval of his family.

-Vinay is looking for the approval of his family and society.

In the measure that they give up their need for social approval they are able to accomplish what no one else is able to do, do a work that lifts up the whole society. They become pioneer Leaders for the world.

No Title

The more you GIVE the more you GET, as life quickly responds with good or great Fortune.

On Thanksgiving In USA

On Thanksgiving holiday all of America are asked to give thanks; to express our sincere, heartfelt Gratitude for the bounty of our nation. Such sentiments of thankfulness can also spread around the world, to other peoples. Life will always respond in kind to such heartfelt feelings.

No Title

Feel sincere, heartfelt GRATITUDE toward objects, others, spirit, and life. Rewards will invariably pour back in and bless your existence.

No Title

Darkness makes the good greater, and the wider falsehood disappear.

Jealousy in Literature and Film

Jealousy is the egotistic emotion and dark attitude one feels toward others who are receiving what you want to receive. Examples-

-Caroline Bingley is jealous of Eliza Bennett in Pride and Prejudice because Lizzy is garnering the attention of Darcy whom Caroline desires. The more jealous she gets, the more Lizzy and Darcy come together

-Kitty is jealous of the freedom Lydia is allowed in P&P.

-In the Real Rob comedy TV series Rob, a comedian and actor, is jealous that his beautiful wife is constantly getting good acting parts well he is turned out. Each time he feels this way negative circumstances follow.

-Shakespeare's Othello is intensely jealous of his wife being with Cassio, which leads to his and others' doom.

-Jarvet is "jealous" of Jean Valjean's goodness which leads to the inspector's suicide.

-Any other examples?

-Can you identify instances of jealousy among your own circle of friends, family, work, etc, or even involving yourself?

Discovering Our Life's Purpose

[What follows is a response to a friend who is not sure in which direction to turn; i.e. what his Life's Purpose is]

The whole of Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine can be boiled down to the Process of Creation of the universe from out of a Divine Source, and what in our consciousness prevents us from creating infinitely. It is our Ignorance, born of creation.

We can therefore move forward by either first Creating with aspiration, sincerity, effort; and then dealing with the obstacles along the way; or we can deal with the obstacles up front to make a clearing in the forest for creation possibilities to take shape. The former is the Sunlit Path, which is recommended.

It begins with this: What do you want? Ponder it deeply. Make it practical, yet deep. Eg applying values in work involves both an aspiration to create something special and the special values that rise up from your depths that enable one to create abundantly and with great quality.

Thus I would suggest you make a list of possible practical goals for moving along The Sunlit Path through work or otherwise; as well as infusing each possibility with values you deeply subscribe to.

You will in essence be building a Strategic Plan of Life. We can discuss from that point forward.

PS: Life is often presenting subtle signs of what goals and values to have, and how to move forward. Our consciousness can interfere with these hidden guides and signposts. Moving deeper within will reveal them to be plentiful. Looking around they will begin to appear everywhere.

On Why Americans Accumulate Vast Sums Through Individuality, But Not Share It Fairly

Karmayogi has written something like the following: (not exact translation, just paraphrased)

"...Americans have developed the country once it was just forest. There was no one to help them at that time. They have to believe themselves to survive. They have to make things their own and also need to protect it from others. Their hard work and carefulness gave them individuality (which is based on freedom, as not to depend on others but only themselves). Hence they became true individuals in physical level. Based on that many Americans has earned millions/billions of dollars..."

So I think the individuality and protect themselves is still in their belief/culture and so the goal for rich man continues to be become even richer. They have not seen the need to become universalized. How that would happen? perhaps by Nature's slow and difficult way, or through an inspiring Leader, or through subtle efforts of MSS.

[RP: One way it can come about: Through higher, universal values like Fairness and Harmony of purpose.]

(Senthil Murugan)

A Problem Neglected, Festers, And Spreads to Those Avoiding The Issue

When you let a problem fester it spreads. The US ignored the poverty of blacks, immigrants, and rural Americans, and so it has spread to the middle class, who have little or no excess funds. Same with drugs. When the majority of Americans ignored inner city drug problems, it spread through the middle class as the devastating Opioid epidemic. Most in that category are white who have suffered through job loss or degradation and the family intensities that ensued.

These circumstance beg to ask the question: what have we left to fester - whether in our personal lives or in our work or in the world around us.

No Title

Trump is negatively bringing out many of the unresolved issues in the world.

No Title

India can be a great counterbalance to China, and over time help democratize her.

No Title

One day soon we may see an EU-like Union arise among the nation of Asia.

Our Attitudes That Will Best Serve Future Generations

We pass on our limitations, our fears, our prejudices to the next generation. Instead we should aspire for the best for them. More importantly we should give them the maximum freedom to become who they want to become. Most importantly we should raise our own consciousness to the highest levels so that it creates the greatest opening for positive future outcomes for those who follow.

No Title

Though we hardly see it, things are astonishingly interconnected. In Supermind we see these connections continuously.

What the United Nations Breakthrough Conception - "SDG" - Is

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) are a collection of 17 global goals designed to be a "blueprint to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all". The SDGs, set in 2015 by the United Nations General Assembly and intended to be achieved by the year 2030, are part of UN Resolution 70/1, the 2030 Agenda.

The Sustainable Development Goals are:

- No Poverty
- Zero Hunger
- Good Health and Well-being
- Quality Education
- Gender Equality
- Clean Water and Sanitation
- Affordable and Clean Energy
- Decent Work and Economic Growth
- Industry, Innovation, and Infrastructure
- Reducing Inequality
- Sustainable Cities and Communities
- Responsible Consumption and Production
- Climate Action
- Life Below Water
- Life On Land
- Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions
- Partnerships for the Goals

Wikipedia:

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sustainable_Development_Goals

No Title

Mother's Service Society, World Academy, and now United Nations are ever-more closely aligned.

No Title

If someone does something negative to you, you will discover that you were earlier doing something similar to someone else.

Comment: Eg one woman in work discovered that the abuse and non-cooperation of subordinates towards her mirrored her negative feelings and speech toward a superior.

No Title

When you restrain yourself from insisting on a position, Life quickly acts through another, verifying your original point of view.

Life Responds to The Small, Token Effort Of An Instructor

Over the years we have seen on many occasions that if you take up an imploring small opportunity, it opens the door to something much greater. And yet without making that small, token effort life does not open up.

An instructor had little work for several months. He was tending to the welfare of another person, and little work came in during that period. Then as he was finishing up his support for his friend, a small opening got his attention. He wondered whether he should take up the small instruction job, but then made the firm decision to do so. Not ten minutes after he arrived at the client, he received an email that a big opening had taken place for new work, the first breakthrough in almost two months.

Immediately he understood the principle, as he had seen this dynamic many times: If you take up a small work when there is absence of work, Life Responds and it immediately opens the door to something much greater. For the instructor, that opening took place only when he worked with the lesser client, and not a moment sooner!

White Tesla Phenomenon!

A startling phenomenon occurred to me over the course of this past week. It was similar to a number of such experiences I have had in recent years. Once again it involved automobiles.

I live in a fairly busy small city. I travel in all parts of it on a weekly or a regular basis, meaning I have been in various parts of town over the last week or so. And yet nearly every time I drive amidst the traffic in these various areas, there is ALWAYS a white Tesla electric vehicle either right behind me (the next car) or in front of me, or beside me!

It happened at least 5 times in 7 days, and in each instance appeared as the first car I noticed around me on that relatively short driving trip. And it took place in moderate or heavy traffic. And in completely different parts of town!

It seemed simply miraculous, defying all rules of logic, and possibility, though I have experienced phenomena like this many times in the last few years. It's startling when you consider that a Tesla is perhaps 1 in a hundred cars in my area, and if you factor in it being the same white colored model, and of the same sedan type, occurring five times in a row on five trips, the chances are 1 in a million for that to occur, if not much greater!

It is clear that life works in ways that defy our normal perceptions, if only we take the time to analyze the subtle unfoldings around us.

Comment: These sorts of synchronicities are quite common, if only we have the eyes and interest to recognize them.

PS The next day after writing the above post I drove to and parked my car in a relatively small shopping center. After I pulled into my space, I got out and noticed that the car parked in the next space to the right of my vehicle was a white Tesla!

(It doesn't stop until we literally call out to the cosmos "ENOUGH!" Then that particular sync ceases to keep manifesting.)

Drove past a Tesla dealer today, and the two lead cars out front were white teslas; not any other colors they are available in. The Sync continues!

I have been telling my friend about this phenomenon of the 5, no 6(!) Tesla incidents in the past few weeks. She was not terribly moved in her reaction, After all she had experienced this phenomenon so many times herself, and especially with my when it came to cars synchronicity and taking our rides together.

Well this was the first significant time that we went out together in quite a long time. At the very outset of our ride together I stopped at a stop light. I called out to my friend beside me. "There, it's happening again?: She did not follow what I meant, I then insisted and yelled out 'look right in front of us!' And there in the next car in front of us indeed was another White Tesla.

Interestingly she had been interested in the SUV version of the Tesla. Well this time, in front of us was a white SUV version of the Tesla, just as she aspired to see the day before!

Enough said! 😊

No Title

Always seek to understand the ESSENCE of what people are saying, not merely the surface knowledge that one enjoys.

Secret to Attracting Good Fortune Through The Organizations We Cherish

One of the unstated insights related to the existence of the World Academy (WAAS), World University Consortium (WUC), Mother's Service Society (MSS), et al is that if we take to an idea(s) that we previously did not accept, or we otherwise rise to a higher understanding in that area, Life on the outside - whether in society, business, or individual -- will RESPOND with good or great fortune to that growth and effort.

That is the MAGIC in potential behind all of these organizations. They are not merely fountains of knowledge, but conduits to attract infinite-like results through our inner efforts. I.e., the Higher Consciousness will respond with startling success outcomes in life, - from seemingly out of thin air, - to our own realizations, growth efforts, and actions through these organizations.

On the Need For Change Among The Rich

The rich have to-

- move from merely trying to become richer
- shift from hoarding funds to circulating their wealth

Most of all they need to adopt Higher Social Values like Fairness and Harmony of purpose.

Several of the richest have initiated this transition.

Magic Moments in Garry's and Roy's Lives

For Garry Jacobs the magical moment occurred when the book 'Sri Aurobindo or the Adventure of Consciousness' fell on him and Leslie at Moe's books in Berkeley, California sending them to India and eventually meeting Karmayogi, their spiritual guide for the rest of their lives.

For myself, Roy Posner, the magical moment occurred five years later when I lived in Santa Monica in 1976 and on that fateful day went to visit the East-West Center near downtown Los Angeles and met there with Dr. Tyburg's assistant Trudy who told me about people who were importing goods from the Sri Aurobindo Ashram. It turned out to be Garry Jacobs and Leslie, who I then then began to work for, changing my life forever

My Favorite Values

Some of my favorite life and work values are simplicity, clarity, essence, knowledge, openness, creativity, individuality, fairness, harmony, and truth. I also aspire to one day truly value service, self-givingness, and humility. What are your current or aspirational values?

-You can see a list of personal values here

<https://1drv.ms/w/s!AjayTOYvR8hzgZcAplZnjiRny24qQQ>

Supramental Response to A Spiritualized Thought

A thought in the mind of a person with supramental mind capacity will see the thought quickly manifest as a reality in some form.

A man with capacity of spiritualized mind had the thought while driving that Tesla could manufacture electric vehicles for big, high-end car companies, like BMW. A moment later a single car appeared on the highway he was driving on. It was a BMW

A further and more powerful response would be a sudden announcement that Tesla had made an agreement to supply BMW with higher-end electric cars. It would be a true Supramental Manifestation, where a thought and the manifesting of it are one. (I.e. according to Sri Aurobindo, Knowledge and Will fused, which is the very nature of Supermind.)

No Title

For the spiritual aspirant, devotee every day is a new, challenging puzzle to be solved – outwardly, but especially inwardly.

No Title

The mysterious BOOK in the novel 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs is essentially Sri Aurobindo's epic metaphysical work 'The Life Divine' ☺

Process of Acquiring A Knowledge; I.E. Learning

In general how do we learn, eg understand an instructor's instruction?

1. In the first go-round you garner a general understanding of the knowledge
2. In the next round you nail down the specifics.
3. In the final round you attain perfection of understanding - from concept to details.

All of this can be aided by:

- An Aspiration to learn
- A Silent Mind
- Creative interpretation and extrapolation
- Reinforcement through life experience
- etc.

Examples of Life Response

- i.e. sudden good fortune from out of nowhere

Over the years, associates of mine and I have experienced hundreds (even thousands) of astonishing Life Response incidents. Eg-

- A trainer without work for months CLEANS his refrigerator and at the VERY MOMENT he completes the work he is informed that he has been booked for work for the entire next quarter
- A man finally gathers the COURAGE to discuss a looming issue with his boss, and the VERY MOMENT he does so a six-month nagging backache disappears
- A woman OVERCOMES HER RELUCTANCE to work a short temp job, and the NEXT DAY she is hired full time after years of trying to secure gainful employment
- A business owner UTILIZES THE VERY LAST PARTICLE of a resource when none was available, and SUDDENLY out of nowhere he is offered HUGE SUPPLIES

These and hundreds of other instances of sudden good fortune are a common experience in life, but most of us fail to see this powerful connection.

Replicating Silicon Valley

Many cities around the world want to recreate Silicon Valley in their backyards. Here is my advice:

Deep Values made the Valley. Freedom, individuality, entrepreneurship, wanting to change the world, and catching the waves of change in society; plus a liberal, tolerant, open social environment. Please start from there if you want to replicate this extraordinary region.

No Title

Fear is of what the Future holds. But with the Mother what is there to fear?

Book - 'Lectures On Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine' By Garry Jacobs

Beginning in the late 1990s Garry Jacobs, through the encouragement of Sri Karmayogi, began speaking in small forums around the world on the subject of Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine, and specifically how it can be made real in our lives to evoke good or great fortune.

Out of those small gatherings, Garry produced the book 'Lectures on Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine'. You can view or download Garry's wonderful, breakthrough analysis of the Master's epic mystical teachings here:

<http://www.karmayogi.net/books/LecturesonLifeDivine.pdf>

Book: 'An Analysis of Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine' By Roy Posner

In the 1990s Karmayogi began to seriously explore in depth Sri Aurobindo's Master-work 'The Life Divine.' Out of that came much original content by members of Mother's Service Society, especially from Garry Jacobs, on the subject. And so at one point I thought I too would also join in the discussion.

And so over the course of 12 years, from ~2007 to 2017, I wrote my own chapter-by-chapter analysis of The Life Divine, which ended up being a 500 page book. It is available for viewing, free downloading, or purchasing here; and is an integral part of this Facebook group on the Master's great metaphysical work.

<http://royposner.weebly.com/an-analysis-of-sri-aurobindos-t...>

Thoughts on God, The Divine, And The Soul

--God, the Divine did not so much create the universe, as he Became it.

--The universe is the evolving Body of God, the Divine.

--We do not want a Divine life in heaven, but a Divine life on Earth.

--(Divine Life on Earth, not in some heaven and hell, is what we seek.)

--The end result of the Evolution is a Divine Life on Earth.

--The Reality is God, the Divine, plus the Creation; and their integral inter-relation.

--God, the Divine is evolving through our own evolution within.

--Within God, the Divine are the spiritual attributes of peace, silence, harmony, oneness, truth, knowledge, wisdom, love, joy, timelessness, and infinity.

--The Spiritual Attributes of God the Divine entering our being is the means of our progress, and the Evolution of life on earth.

--The Soul within us is the Spirit; an emanation of the Divine.

--The Soul, the Spirit is an inlet of the ocean of God, the Divine in our being.

--God, the Divine evolves in the universe as we connect with our Soul, our Psychic Being. (Psychic Being is the evolving Soul.)

--By opening to God, the Divine (Mother) are blessed in return, and uplift our lives.

--By going within, culminating in the psychic being, the evolving soul, and calling to God, the Divine Mother from there, we evoke ultimate Response.

Knowing The Reality

Sri Aurobindo in 'The Life Divine' indicates Reality is everything, the All; both Spirit and Matter, and their integral relationship; their inexorable Oneness.

In this way we can see the necessity of all things in the unfolding of life; the requirements of all dualities; good and evil; light and dark; infinite and finite, the great and the small, etc.

To truly see life this way, i.e. to perceive the true nature of the Reality, we need to rise in consciousness above mind to intuition where knowledge comes without thought.

Then to see the Reality perfectly requires the attainment of the Supramental (Unity) Consciousness.

Ultimate Means of Manifesting The Infinite In Life

"...One who has the complete knowledge, one who knows the complete process of creation, has the power to manifest the Infinite in life. And when that power manifests, it does not take time. It generates results instantaneously. The aspiration, the decision, the action and the result are simultaneous and fully integrated with one another..." (The Book, by Garry Jacobs, page 687)

Garry Jacobs adds to his own statement above:

"One can apply the process of creation in practical day to day life by Constant Remembrance of the infinite spirit of Mother that is always present and Instantaneous Consecration of each action and event at the moment it occurs. This discipline can reveal the Infinite in Life."

Stearne's Aspiration Fulfilled

Stearne, the wise professor who guides the team throughout the story, aspired for the highest Knowledge with sincerity, and wanted to share that knowledge with the whole world. (and in the end did that very thing by saving the BOOK, and distributing it to all parties, positive or hostile)

Time and The Logic of The Infinite In 'Two Popes'

In the logic of the finite, i.e. human logic, time progresses linearly from past to present to future. In the Logic of the Infinite, time can be perceived moving in any and all directions.

In the marvelous film 'Two Popes' based on true events, Pope Benedict writes the Argentinian bishop to come visit him in Rome about an urgent matter, when it is discovered that the Argentinian bishop had sent a letter several days before asking to meet Pope Benedict in Rome related to a wholly different matter. (Keep in mind that they had been out of touch for months or years when this happened.)

After discussing it both could see "God's hand in it", which is surely true, though we call it "synchronicity" or "life response." They both knew that it was no coincidence.

As it turned out this synchronous occurrence and their meeting presaged their collaboration on a monumental change in their leadership positions of the Church. The strange movement of time in a kind of twisting reverse indicated great events to come; namely the ascension of Francis to the position of Pope.

No Title

Everything happens on the outside, including the negative, to help you grow. Understanding what that growth is relative to the outer condition is wisdom.

Transformation of the Catholic Church Through The Force

Mother spent some of Her energy trying to loosen the stifling teachings of the Catholic Church. She felt that if a more moderate influence was there in the Church there would be a lighter and brighter atmosphere for the spirit and a New Age to emerge in the world.

Perhaps the result of Her and Satprem's inner and outer efforts there came the socially aware Pope John Paul, and the even more open-minded Pope Francis.

As described in Agenda, Mother and Satprem developed close associations with several priests who were open to Sri Aurobindo and Mother's teachings and were trying to practice it within their own faith.

At several points Mother said the Papacy was supported by an Asura, and therefore it would be a good thing to loosen that negative grip. In the recent film 'Two Popes', we see how the rigid, conservative Pope Benedict changes his ways, making way for the progressive, human-centered Pope Francis. Mother's Force may have contributed to these outcomes.

-

One other thought in this regard:

When the Catholic Church arose, it had to deal with the "pagan" sects who believed in the Mother Goddess or similar. Instead of drowning out their voice or even conquering them, the Church included their Mother Goddess teachings, incorporating it in the depiction of the virgin, i.e. Mother Mary. Christians who pray to Mother Mary may be in their own way communing with the Divine Mother.

Perhaps through this association Mother, Satprem, et al believed this could influence the direction of the Church.

No Title

The kingdom of God within is an inlet of the ocean of the Divine Spirit. It is the Soul.

No Title

When we exhaust our efforts in any domain of life, - whether we succeed or fail, - great opportunities will surely follow.

No Title

There is no such thing as a hopeless case. It is only hopeless when we give up Hope.

No Title

The external conditions are not the ultimate determinant of reality, but rather what is inside, in you that ultimately determines.

No Title

What determines in life is your thoughts, beliefs, aspirations; not merely the outer conditions.

No Title

Reality is not just the objective, but the Subjective as well, which has ultimate power of determining life.

No Title

Krishna in the Gita said all accomplishment is Inner; i.e. you become what you Believe you can become.

No Title

What looks to be impossible from the outer, surface consciousness, is realized in full from the perspective of the inner.

No Title

The greatest inner, spiritual truth we come to realize only has power, meaning, value when it is expressed in the Outer life.

Versions of AIS (Artificial Intelligence Software) In 'The Book'

AIS was the artificial intelligence software that the team (MAI company) in 'The Book' produced. There was a succession of versions, each inclusive of the best of the previous version.

-AIS 1 included the decision-making matrix which value the Inner conditions as much as the outer. I.e. don't just look at externals for the truth, but also look at the status of the inner conditions. This was a monumental shift in their understanding of life and their work.

-AIS 2 was the realization that if we give up our limited opinions, we can come to the truth and thus great accomplishment. This understanding for the user was the next great leap in the program.

-AIS 3 incorporated the power of Attitudes, those deeply held feelings we have; that are helpful or (often) harmful. To prop up the positive ones, and overcome the many negative ones had the power to evoke sudden positive response from life, and was incorporated in this next stage of their AI program to the world.

Interestingly, with each succession of application of these versions, the company began to grow, even exponentially.

It is also important to point out that each succeeding version of AIS came as the result of preceding crisis in the company and/or among the team members, and a new understanding that was then incorporated in the software.

In Touch with the Superconscious Intent

One's surface, conscious will and one's subconscious will are very different things. In fact, they are often very much at odds. However, seeing their workings and effect on our lives can reveal the glory that is trying to work itself out.

In the film 'The Two Popes', based on true events, the future pope Francis ostensibly came to Rome to retire as bishop of Argentina. He expressed no interest in becoming the next pope after a retiring Benedict. However, subconsciously he came to Rome to become pope so he could broadcast his deep values concerning the plight of the poor and infirm to the world.

Likewise, at a conscious level I wanted to meet people involved with Sri Aurobindo and the Mother in the Los Angeles area in 1975 at the social level. Therefore one day I headed out for the East-West Center. However, subconsciously my being sensed the connection that would occur when I actually arrived; where I would meet someone who told me about the most important contact of my life. I would make a connection with Garry Jacobs and Mother's Service Society, changing my life forever.

In both cases the subconscious was in touch with the "Superconscious", which was aware of things to come; compelling the future Pope Francis and myself to follow in that direction for a profound purpose, even though on the surface we saw it otherwise.

This same dynamic applies to each of us in our own lives. All we need to do is think about how it has played out in our own lives. Seeing these sorts of connections will be a revelation to our being. It is the magic of life; of our progress, personal growth, and true purpose.

No Title

When we discover our true Individuality; an individuality rooted in the Spirit, we will come to know the Oneness of all things.

No Title

The Indian civilization is an ancient one; with great cultural and spiritual assets; but India itself is just a Child country, formed in 1947, and is still learning how to be a nation.

Theoretical Basis of Decision-Making Software (AIS) In 'The Book'

In light of Decision Making and its use in the form of software in Garry Jacobs' epic novel 'The Book' I had the following thoughts:

- All decision-making software has an inference engine of some sort.
- Eg in Microsoft Excel we use the IF statement. If this is larger than $10,000, then it is Good. if not, it is Bad. If $x > a$, then X; otherwise Y.
- In Decision Making software there is usually much branching off in the logic. Eg if this is true, do this, but if it is not true begin an embedded action that branches out to other factors. If $x > a$, then X; otherwise if $x > b$, etc.).
- AIS and such in 'The Book' could be created on this or similar basis. This is one dimension of the issue.
- We can also see a "Cloud" dynamic.
- Data is uploaded to the web, aka the Cloud; as in send all of the manager self-assessment surveys with hundreds of scores for hundreds of questions.
- Then from "the sky", such as Microsoft Azure, it runs filters, sorts, various logic generators, graphics, dashboards that interpret the data. It is essentially a database system of tables of data.
- You could say the data of individuals going to the Cloud is in the Ascent, and the returned data that is the basis of decision making (or IS the decision) is in the Descent.
- Similar to our Aspiration for the Divine, and its descending Grace as answer to our heartfelt calling or prayer.
- True Knowledge, based on Integral Truth, is of course the ultimate basis for the success of such systems.

I.e. the system integrated with the profound knowledge, wisdom, knowing all the rules of existence, of life, creates the greatest expert results; provides the optimal decision; lends itself to the most profound solution to a problem or possibility.

Musings on Life, Life Response, And Organization

- How can life be constantly responding to me? How can it know what I am thinking and respond to it? Eg I have a bad thought, and the lights suddenly go out. How does Life make this association?
- It is because what we call "Life" is itself really an Organization; an organization of Consciousness.
- What the Westerner calls Life is all the Randomness of existence. It does not see association between our consciousness and the response of Life.
- In the East the organization of life, - including the subtle connections between things, - is better understood; and therefore more readily acknowledged when it takes place. ☸ Even there it is mostly semi-conscious, and more often than not without knowledge of the Subtle principles of Life.
- So again how is it possible that Life is responding to us at every moment? The reasons life can respond to our thoughts, to our attitudes, to our hopes and dreams is that all of Life is organized through subtle connections. It is an infinitely complex Organization that connects us to everyone else, everything else, to every form and force and happening in the world.

No Title

Withholding asserting your position causes others to soon come around to it.

No Title

God did not just create the universe through a divine process, but also BECAME the universe. God is therefore both the Creator and the Creation.

No Title

Ordinary mind sees less than a hundredth of the synchronicities and life response events that are occurring to us every day.

Everything Is Foreshadowed If We Know Where to Look

Each thing one experiences in the present is presaged by circumstance encountered earlier. There are no exceptions.

Example, a friend of mine watches and shares with me a movie about the construction of a work of art that was created within the New York World's Fair of 1964, (she did not know anything of the story before she chose it), when only a few hours before, for the first time in my life I described to her a pond right next to the edifice that had become polluted during that time. It was the first time I had ever discussed this matter with anyone.

Everything is foreshadowed, revealed by life before the event we are focused on.

You could say the present is presaged by the past; or the present presages the future.

It is the astonishing Logic of the Infinite that a person with a universal, or better still a Supramentalized Mind will continuously experience.

No Title

Difficulties we encounter in life provide us with opportunities to extend the boundaries of our Faith.

Ego and Bridging The Gap Of Separateness

Ego is more than bad behavior that props up our own view - such as pomposity, arrogance, pridefulness, and dozens of other egoistic qualities. It is fundamentally a sense of SEPARATENESS from others and life. It is a state of being that is opposite of Harmony.

To give up ego then is to move into a greater degree of Harmony with others and life. To bridge the gap of separateness.

No Title

Ego is the mind's point of view, not the truth of reality. When we take the other person's point of view, we move out of Ego and into Truth.

No Title

The real Truth of things is not derived from the logic of one's mind, but from the Logic of the Infinite consciousness that we can come in touch with.

Power of Planes Of Our Being To Accomplish When Instruments Of The Spirit

The physical, vital, and mental parts all exist in the Ignorance, None of them by themselves can achieve the results we aspire for. The physical (body) understands little if anything. The vital/emotional understands only what it prefers or desires. The mind understands but a trifle, a part, not the whole. Plus it is often not rational.

However, all of them are meant to be instruments of the SPIRIT, which will temper the excesses of our being, in turn releasing us from the Ignorance (our prejudices, preferences, desires, and all), enabling us to gain a multi-faceted integral Knowledge, which will in turn help us accomplish anything we so choose.

How do we bring in the Spirit? There are a wide variety of ways to bring the Spirit into our lives, including calling in the Force to circumstance (consecration), through mental stillness, by not reacting to the intensities of others, by taking the other person's point of view, by connecting to our deeper parts within culminating in the soul, by giving of ourselves fully to the hopes and dreams of others, by taking to spiritual values like harmony and oneness, and so forth.

It is to elevate these various parts - physical, vital/emotional, mental - of our being to their spiritualized equivalents.

No Title

One single change in a Personal Value can change your life forever.

Building A New Kerala State, India (By S S Sreejith)

What we should do to build a NEW KERALA?

1. As people, we have to separate religious beliefs from politics. Even if it is needed, it should be very subtle without disturbing others, keeping the ultimate reality in mind that 'humanity' or 'being human', is more important than being 'religious'
2. It's high time for Malayalees to concentrate only on growth, development and prosperity. People who have achieved prosperity will never get into unwanted struggles. Being happy, loving, joyful, caring, rich and cheerful should be the way of life., which always should be our priority.
3. Our state is one of the most beautiful place in the world. why can't we put more efforts to make it clean, hygiene and orderly., a culture which is there in the European countries., especially of similar places like Switzerland
4. We have reached very high literacy, four international airports in some 800 KM's stretch! two international seaports in less than 250 KM's. water sources, rivers, mountains, rain, deep dense forests., One of the best and moderate climates in India. Three metropolitan cities which can be turned as model global cities, multicultural diverse backgrounds, one single state without much difference between urban and rural places, everything is available everywhere which makes our entire state develop as Dubai, Singapore ,Hong Kong or Vienna., Presence of backwaters, possibility of unique inland waterways, big oceans, mountains, deep dense forests, all these things together gives us the possibility of transforming ourselves as the richest state in India competing even with the global cities. Use this to the core.
5. We can develop 100 tourist destinations with modern infrastructure, systems, tourist culture and orderliness just like in Jadayuppara which will make our state the best tourist destination in the world. And, we have our brand ambassadors already all around the world, the mallus, who can bring us tourists if basic infrastructure and a tourist friendly culture is there. Entire Society should think in that direction, because all of us can be the beneficiaries.
6. We had already done with enough strikes, hartals and bandhs for a life time, ranking no. 1 in the world , well ahead of all nations, all other states in India(they will not be able to cover us in next 25 years even if we are not doing a single one for next two decades)., let's STOP this nonsense
7. Lets create BRAND KERALA products and services., Let us build more organisations like VGuard , Federal Bank, Lulu, Raviz, Eastern, VKC, CIAL or Synthite., to name a few. Let us build more infoparks and technoparks. Let us welcome more global investments, and build a GREEN & CLEAN Industrial revolution protecting our environment and natural beauty.
8. Let us create a unique Kerala MODEL of human centred high-performance work culture with punctuality, quality, systemization, harmony, respect to individuals and freedom as the core Values
9. Let us also create a new infrastructure, traffic and road culture and modernization with people- participation, training in this terms taking KOCHI METRO as Kerala's minimum standard.
10. Let us make Kerala as the Educational Hub of the WorldBuild more Universities of Kerala origin and welcome students all around the world here rather than we going everywhere else for education. Let us build Kerala as the Medical Capital of the World. We already have hospitals of International repute here. Encourage them to improve both in terms of quality and quantity., help them reach globally, encourage Ayurveda and homeopathy also to reach global standards. Create a HEALTHY Kerala and serve the World., provide health insurance for all with everyone participating and contributing to it.
11. Let us encourage our agriculture, exports, spices, marine etc which can reach global standards in quick time if proper attention is given. Let us make our Society think in these terms

12. Moreover, build aspirations and dreams for youths, encourage entrepreneurship, open a single window entry and assistance to our NRIs to return and start business in the state .

13. Many more things, heaven lot of things, can be done. We have all the foundations for it, more can be done comprehensively and quickly if we malayalees change our attitudes to Growth and only Growth., Japan did this, Taiwan did this , entire Europe did this, Why can't we?. Ignore these politicians and give them some time to Change., Pitty., All of them have no other income earning opportunity as of now than politics. Politics and Power had means of only money making and had gone away from serving people. But let us CHANGE first., they will follow, I mean politicians. We as individuals can make the Change., or remember the famous statement BE THE CHANGE WHAT YOU WANT TO SEE IN THE SOCIETY, Encourage each other for that.

14. May we reestablish PEACE. PEACE, PEACE and PEACE

[S S Sreejith is CEO of Global Institute of Integral Management Studies (GIIMS) in Kochi, India]

No Title

You see, everything [happening in our lives] is the Supreme's action to hasten the return of the individual consciousness to the supreme Consciousness. (Mother, from Agenda, August 31, 1966)

Accomplishment of Indians Abroad / Indian Theoretical Intelligence

Indira Gandhi was asked in the Indian Parliament, "Why is it that Indians who flourish in any country do not do so in India?" The Jews, the Chinese and the Indians are known to prosper wherever they are outside their native lands. The Jews are industrious, passionate about their faith and extraordinarily intelligent. No wonder they prosper. The Chinese, apart from being industrious in the extreme, are clean to perfection. They are from a subtle civilisation and are loyal to their partners once they forge a partnership. Loyalty, cleanliness and industry are certainly high components of Prosperity. What does the Indian have?

None of the above traits is attributed to Indians in a great measure or in any measure. Hospitals in the US where a large number of Indians work as doctors say, "Indians have a far greater theoretical grasp than practical experience. Perhaps because practical facilities are less available in India." That is a contributing reason, but it is true the theoretical knowledge of Indians in any subject is considerable. Indians are mental. The mind is resourceful and thoughtful. He who organises his thoughts will be far more effective than he who is endowed with practical skill or knowledge. His mental abilities arise from his spiritual basis.

An Indian and an American visited a French company based in Holland. The American was surprised that with so much of talents, the company was making very little profits. The Indian explained, "Profits go to Paris, and that is why the Dutch are not enthusiastic." The American was surprised by the insight of the Indian. Insight into human motives enables one to organise better. Indians are POTENTIALLY great organisers. In India, the Indian submits to family, social tradition, etc. which prevents him from exercising all his talents. In America, there is no such inhibition. Hence, they prosper. For them to prosper in India, two things are required.

1) They must recognise their inner mental potentialities.

2) They must cast away social inhibitions.

The first they are not aware of, the second they are not prepared for. When the Society offers that Freedom and encourages their talents, they will Prosper. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Self-Discipline is ability to do what you should do, when you should do it, whether you feel like doing it or not. (Brian Tracy)

On Self-Discipline

--Any discipline is worth the name only when it is self-discipline.

- By self-discipline we mean we accept what we understand.
 - Self-discipline is the inner authority.
 - The self when disciplined, inner authority is born.
 - The inner rules when the self submits.
 - Man matures by self-discipline.
 - Discipline is physical-vital; self-discipline is mental.
 - To be aware of the higher endowments and make them express themselves in raising the lower endowments is the maximum one can do in the given circumstances. It can be called self-discipline.
 - The family or the society imposes external discipline until the individual acquires it as self-discipline.
 - Social compulsion is law, not culture which is self-discipline.
 - Education, in the best sense, must offer all social, psychological circumstances for the child to acquire self-discipline.
 - Self-discipline is a value and a subjective organisation.
 - The best discipline we can conceive of is the self-discipline of the psychic (the soul).
- (Karmayogi)

Mother's Instructions Received by Others through Subtle Plane

There is a new activity.... At times I find myself (I catch myself doing something, to be precise) talking with people whom most of the time I don't know, then describing a scene: they can get such and such a thing done, they can be advised to do this or that thing, and it will end with such and such a thing. They are kinds of scenes from a book or scenes from a movie. Then, the same day or the next, someone suddenly tells me, "I received a message from you and you told me to write to so-and-so and tell him such and such a thing"! ... And I am not doing it mentally, it's not that I think, "A letter must be sent to so-and-so and such and such a thing must be done," not at all: I live – I live a scene or narrate a scene, and it's received by someone else (and I am not at all thinking of that someone else), it's received by "someone," this or that or this person, as a message in which I tell him to do this or that thing. And it's happening here, in France, in America, everywhere. It's becoming amusing!

... And in this type of activity, I have all kinds of knowledge that I don't have! Sometimes even medical knowledge or technical knowledge that I don't at all have – yet that I have, of course, since I say, "This is how it is, that is how it is...." It's rather amusing.

(the Mother, from Agenda, September 17, 1966)

Ignorance of Matter

... there is no bad will in Matter, everything is inertia and ignorance: total ignorance of the Truth, ignorance of the Origin, ignorance of the Possibility, ... (the Mother, Agenda, September 28, 1966)

Cure for Suffering is Intensified through Suffering

We may say in an absolute way that the remedy always goes together with the trouble. We could say that the cure for every suffering coexists with the suffering. Then, instead of seeing an "unnecessary" and "stupid" trouble, as people generally think, you see that the progress, the evolution which made the suffering necessary – which is the cause and the goal of the suffering – achieves the desired result, and at the same time the suffering is cured, for those who can open up and receive. The three things – the suffering as a means of progress, the progress, and the cure of the suffering – are coexistent, simultaneous, meaning that they don't follow one another, they take place at the same time.

(The Mother, from Agenda, September 28, 1966)

Opening to Higher Consciousness on One's Birthday

"Let this day of your birth be for you an occasion to give yourself a little more, a little better to the Divine. Let your consecration be more total, your devotion more ardent, your aspiration more intense.

Open yourself to the New Light and walk with a joyful step on the path. Resolve on this day that it may be this and the day will not have passed in vain." (The Mother)

In Dire Straits Mother's Intense Aspiration, Request for Money from Divine Attracts It

About the financial situation, I have a little story to tell you, which took place on Sunday or Monday. I told you that the situation was quite ... to ordinary consciousnesses, it was critical. And there was a payment to be made. I don't remember the material details, but something had to be paid very urgently (I think it was to the workers: they were hungry and hadn't been given their money). And I needed a certain amount – which I didn't have: I had nothing. Then a sort of compassion came into me for those people who didn't have any money. I saw it wasn't right, and I couldn't do anything because there was none. So, in the evening while I was walking (I have an hour of meditation and quiet, of concentration), I presented it all like this (gesture upward), and with an almost childlike attitude I said to the Lord (He was there, of course, I was with Him) something that can be translated (I don't know, I don't speak but it could be translated into words) roughly like this: "I know You are with me and behind everything I do and everywhere, but I'd like to know whether what I do, the work I do, interests You or not! (Mother laughs) And if it does interest You, well, I must have this money."

It came like that, in a quite childlike form, but very, very pure. And two days later, when it was necessary for the money to come, for me to have money, just as everything seemed quite impossible, Amrita suddenly came in, telling me, "Here, so-and-so has sent a cheque for such-and-such an amount." – Exactly the amount needed. And I think it was the first time that person had sent money. It was quite unexpected, absolutely a miracle – a miracle for children. The required amount, just at the required time, and absolutely unexpected. Then I had a good laugh. And I said to myself, "How silly we can be! We don't know that everything happens exactly as it has to."

(the Mother, from Agenda, October 5, 1966)

No Title

... if you are forever thinking of the next thing you have to do, it's horrible. If you do the thing as it comes, without thinking of anything else, it's very good.... That nasty habit of thinking, always thinking – very bad. (The Mother, from Agenda, October 15, 1966)

No Title

Close some doors. Not because of pride, incapacity or arrogance, but simply because they no longer lead somewhere. (Paulo Coelho)

No Title

If I could shout to the world that Consecration works, I would, but I would prefer to remain silent and continue discovering the silence within. (Dorothy Davis)

No Title

"...In all Spiritual Life, whatever that goal might be, the first essential thing is to Go Within. Without going inside, without being conscious inside, without changing inside, there is no progress of Life because Life evolves by Consciousness..."

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs from The Life Divine Lectures)

On Fear and Overcoming Diseases

Some of the diseases which are considered most dangerous are the easiest to cure; some that are considered as of very little importance can offer the most obstinate resistance.

Nine-tenths of the danger in an illness comes from fear. Fear can give you the apparent symptoms of an illness; and it can give you the illness too,—its effects can go so far as that.

Whatever the character of the experience you have, you must give no room to fear; you must keep an unshaken confidence and feel that whatever happens is the thing that had to happen. Once you have chosen the path, you must boldly accept all the consequences of your choice. But if you choose and then draw back and choose again and again draw back, always wavering, always doubting, always fearful, you create a disharmony in your being, which not only retards your progress, but can be the origin of all kinds of disturbance in the mind and vital being and discomfort and disease in the body.

- The Mother

Great Literature Gives Insights into Character of Life

"...the great literature of any country and culture not only entertains us; It gives us insights into human nature, into how people act, into why we are the way we are. It also shows us the true nature of, the Character of Life..."

(paraphrase of Garry Jacobs from Savitri lectures)

Westerner vs Indian Approach to Solve Problems

Confronted with a problem of life, the Westerner will rarely think of God. Instead, he will try harder each time. When his best efforts fail, he will grow stoical and masculine to muster courage to silently suffer it without sharing his woes with another. Resort to God is the ready impulse of an Indian. (Karmayogi)

Respecting God/the Divine in India vs West

In India the most respected man is the one who seeks God. In the West that high pedestal goes to the scientist and the intellectual, not the God-lover. The West developed Mind. Mind developed individuality. The growing success of individuality alienated him from God. ...

Any capacity of man [eg prosperity, education] increasing makes man forget God. To lose faith in the Divine and shift that faith to oneself is in essence Westernisation of the Mind. (Karmayogi)

Realizing Spiritual Aspects in India So It Can Spread

The greatest spiritual seekers of India have for years called down Peace, Truth and Light. When they descend, the race will reach the heights of its destiny which will take it to unparalleled heights. The call is to go forth from the soil of India so that the entire humanity might respond. (Karmayogi)

No Title

... of all factors, mental arrogance is the most unfavorable to the action of the divine Grace. (Mother, from Agenda, November 19, 1966)

Be in Luminous Consciousness Instead of Complaining

And the habit of constantly complaining about difficulties, oh, how futile, useless all that seemed – a waste of time. We waste our time protesting against what mustn't be – we just shouldn't think about it! We shouldn't be conscious of it, that's all! It should be outside the consciousness; when we are able to have a purely luminous consciousness, this perfectly harmonious, luminous, benevolent consciousness ... free, ultimately, from all that we drag along from a difficult past.

That's it: the power to free oneself from the past, not to drag that behind forever – to surge into the light ... and stay there.

(Mother, from Agenda, November 19, 1966)

No Title

When you forget that you are, when there only remains the Lord, all difficulties instantly disappear. (the Mother, from Agenda, November 26, 1966)

No Title

Silence issues when the gaze is turned inward. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Spiritually, when the soul in man comes to recognise the presence of the Divine, the resulting realisation is Silence. (Karmayogi)

No Title

As thinking is an attribute of the mind, feeling an attribute of the emotions, SILENCE is an attribute of the Divine. Silence is one of the many attributes of the Divine including Peace, Light, Love, Delight, Power, Eternity, Infinity, Immortality, etc. (Karmayogi)

No Title

If thinking is sometimes enjoyable, we can try to compare its intensity with Silence and thinking will pale in comparison. (Karmayogi)

No Title

The central core message of Sri Aurobindo's The Life Divine is that life is an evolving Divine Play and an Adventure. And the aim and goal of that Adventure is Delight of Existence. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

The greater the impossibility, the greater the inevitability. (Sri Aurobindo)

Comment: It means that the greater the opposition to one's work or to an opportunity, the more likely for it to come about, to be fulfilled. The opposition overcome releases a tremendous energy for the fulfillment of one's original aspiration.

Changing Others vs Self

The solution to any problem lies not in changing others or waiting for them to change, but rather by changing the corresponding element in oneself that attracted or created, sanctioned or necessitated that problem in the first place. For every external force, influence or event that impinges on our lives, there must be a corresponding inner supporting element. The solution lies in finding and reversing that, not making other people change.

(from the mystic novel The Book, by Garry Jacobs)

The Intermediary Stages of Emergence of Supramental Beings

That's something I feel more and more clearly: the necessity of intermediary phases [before full blossoming of immortal supramental being].... It's perfectly obvious that something is going on, but it's not the "something" that was seen and foreseen and will be the ultimate outcome: what's going to take place is ONE of the stages, not the ultimate outcome.

Sri Aurobindo also said, "There will first come the power to prolong life at will" (it's far more subtle and marvelous than that). But that's a state of consciousness which is now being established: it's a sort of constant and settled relationship and contact with the supreme Lord, which abolishes the sense of wear and tear; it replaces it with a sort of extraordinary flexibility, an extraordinary plasticity. But the SPONTANEOUS state of immortality isn't possible – at least not for the time being.

This structure must be changed into something else, and judging from the way things are going on, it will take a long time before it's changed into something else. It may go much faster than in the past, but even assuming that the movement is speeding up, it still takes time (according to our notion of time).

And the rather remarkable thing is that to be in the state of consciousness in which wear and tear no longer exists, you must change your sense of time: you enter a state in which time no longer has the same reality. It's something else. It's very peculiar ... it's an innumerable present. I don't know.... Even that habit we have of thinking ahead of time or foreseeing what's going to happen or ... it hinders, it reconnects you with the old way of being.

So many, so many habits that have to be changed.

(Mother, from Agenda, December 31, 1966)

The People Surrounding the Coming Supramental Being

And then, when you see how man has had to fight against all of Nature in order to exist, you get the feeling that those who will understand and love those [supramental] beings will have with them a relationship of devotion, attachment, service, as animals have with man; but those who won't love them ... will be dangerous beings. I remember, I once had a very clear vision of the precarious situation of those new beings, and I said (this was before 1956, before the descent of the supramental power), I said, "The Supramental will first manifest in its aspect of Power, because that will be indispensable for the safety of the beings." And it was indeed Power that descended first – Power and Light. The Light that gives Knowledge and Power.

(Mother, from Agenda, December 31, 1966)

No Title

Illness is always a fall back into unconsciousness out of incapacity to sustain the movement of transformation. (The Mother, from Agenda, January 28, 1967)

No Title

There comes a point when you go beyond indignation. (The Mother)

On Conscious Eating

... What's necessary above all is to eat without hurrying: to eat very peacefully. That's indispensable. But very peacefully, not just slowly: there must be inwardly a sort of very slow rhythm, as if one had all the time one needed, in total peace.

This (gesture to the forehead) must be calm, it must live in a sort of eternity. Then one digests well. If the thought is very active, it's bad. There must be a kind of inner relaxation and the sense of a very regular, very vast rhythm.

(The Mother, from Agenda, January 31, 1967)

Psychological Cause of Illness for Devotees

,,, when an illness arises after coming to Mother, experience suggests that the roots are almost always psychological. Even psychological problems respond immediately to a sincere pray. If the problem does not, it means it is at a point in our personality where we are closed to Mother and do not let her in. Praying to Mother for sincerity and calling her from the depths of your being for seven days is sure to solve a problem even of this type. (MSS)

Concentration at Physical, Vital, Mental Levels Evokes Corresponding Illness

One of Mother's statements is "If you concentrate on the body, it falls ill. If you concentrate on the vital, you get depressed. If you concentrate on the mind, it goes mad." When man focuses his mind, ego, attention on himself, he loses the normal harmony of nature. Most illnesses fall in this category. People who subconsciously want to give attention to themselves focus on the body and fall ill or the body demands attention and the more they give it, the more the body gets ill. (MSS)

Subconscious Cause of Illness that Comes with Onset of New Work

-You have frequently reported that expansion of your work or intensification of your efforts has been followed by health problems. It is a simple deduction to say that subconsciously something resists progress in this direction. In some people, the resistance issues from plain laziness, in others from fear or insecurity of venturing in new areas, in others from satisfaction with where they are, etc.

-You report that right now everything external is very positive but the body is not. In the past you have often reported instances in which illness comes just at the time of an opening in external work or when you take up a greater work seriously. If that is true, it gives a very good clue. It suggests that something in the subconscious does not want more work. It is for you to affirm or reject this hypothesis from inside. One test is to pray intensely to Mother asking for the external work to expand double or triple.

See how willingly the heart and vital energies flow into the prayer. If they respond eagerly and with full energy it is one thing. If the pray is flat or only in the mind, it suggests another. Becoming more conscious in the lower vital center helps reveal the subconscious. (MSS)

No Title

Sri Aurobindo says the whole movement of the cosmos is a movement of Spiritual Evolution. It's an evolution and unfolding and manifestation of the Divine in the universe, particularly on earth. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

Science and technology, however powerful they may be, are here to serve us and our evolution; not for us to become their slaves. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

The globe itself is not warming. We are warming the globe. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

Every disease has its own vibratory mode; it represents a whole field of vibrations to be corrected. It's the EXACT measure of what in Matter resists the divine Influence – the exact measure, to the atom. (The Mother, from Agenda, February 8, 1967)

Drawing Within Amidst Chaos

We are in the middle of the chaos.

And the only solution at such a time is to draw back, as it were (gesture of drawing within), and hang on unshakably to something higher, fasten on to it while the hurricane passes by. Then you can go through.

(The Mother, from Agenda, February 15, 1967)

No Title

Focus only on people's positive side. It does no good to focus on the negative. It only brings them out. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Nothing offers protection as great as a sensation of gratitude to Mother. (Karmayogi)

Believe only positive information:

Accept the discipline of only believing positive news. Refuse to believe any information given to you, no matter how small, that is negative, even to the extent of disbelieving when a restaurant tells you they do not have the favorite food you want. Refuse to sanction it. (Karmayogi)

How Acts - eg Debts - Repeat Until a Higher Consciousness is Brought to Bear

Appa [Karmayogi] says the ACT, which is physical, will always repeat. The person has to bring the light of a higher part, the mind, to bear. Once the person grows into that light, and stations himself there, the physical act won't repeat. But ordinarily, all acts repeat. He says a person may forget an act he has done, but the act never forgets.

Take debts. If a person owes $1000, he will always owe that much, and even if he pays off that first 1000, he will owe another, and another ad infinitum. If he grows into the light of his mind, recognises his mistake and decides not to incur any debts and to pay off all his debts, and he then physically pays off that 1000, he will earn in one week his whole year's income. (Leslie, paraphrasing Karmayogi's thought)

No Title

... it's a highly Superior Consciousness which sees things with reasons quite beyond us, sees also how things must be done and sets them in motion everywhere (global gesture to indicate the play of forces) until they are done as they must be.

(The Mother, from Agenda, March 2, 1967)

The Marvel of the Supreme Consciousness Moving Things Forward

... the supreme Consciousness ... EVERY SECOND ... makes you do or say or see or know exactly what is needed for everything to move on, ... to move forward... marvelously subtle, ingenious, respectful of everything, but everything; you know, a movement that makes use of everything to lead towards the goal, even "errors" – which aren't errors because when the Consciousness is there, the error isn't one committed by ignorance: ... – it may in appearance be even a blunder, yet it's exactly what is needed for everything to move forward ... move forward luminously towards the desired goal. It's absolutely marvelous! ... It's this marvel of a Consciousness that makes everyone do what must be done, puts everything in its place, sorts out everything ...

(The Mother, from Agenda, March 22, 1967)

No Title

To be young is to live in the future for the future. To be young is to be always ready to abandon what one is in order to become what one ought to be.

(The Mother, from Agenda, March 29, 1967)

Perceiving Subtle Signs for Taking Action

1. Someone mentions wanting to go to someone's house. You spill a cup of coffee just as they finish the sentence. - Sign not a good idea to move forward.
2. You've been offered work and every time you try to get on the phone to do the work-they're are interruptions and you can't schedule a time that's mutually agreeable. Last time you were on the phone a huge fight broke out nearby. - Sign not a good idea, withdraw from the offer.
3. You've been consecrating an issue and just as you finish a particular prayer you get a call indicating a solution. - Sign to move forward.
4. You've been offered something and when you go to follow up on it you suddenly find yourself unable to get there. - Sign not to move forward. (Unknown)

No Title

Sri Aurobindo said that "the divine life will manifest on earth because it is ALREADY buried in the depths of Matter."

(The Mother, from Agenda, April 5, 1967)

No Title

Life is 10% of what happens to you, and 90% of how you react to it. (Thomas Swindoll)

No Title

The Force that descended in 1956 is available to those who want to invoke the Spirit. That Spirit expressed in life releases the infinite from the finite which will usher us into Spiritual Opulence. (Sri Karmayogi)

No Title

Sri Aurobindo saw that the supramental Force would have enough influence on the various governments of the earth, of the nations, to permit hope for a harmony. (The Mother, from Agenda, May 6, 1967)

India's Greatness in Spirit

The future of India's greatness lies in her expressing her Spirit and the national life, not in her imitating any other nation. We can borrow their advanced technology, but not their lifestyle ... (Karmayogi)

Indian Mental Silence

Western children are taught to think, while our [Indian] kids memorise. Thinking is far more powerful than memorisation. We must take to thinking, but that does not mean we must follow the US ways of thinking. As thinking is more powerful than memorisation, Silence is more powerful than thinking. (Karmayogi)

No Title

In a difficult situation, Mother will act, despite one's particular limitations of consciousness. However, if one does not change his ways, the problem or similar will surely return. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

Happy Employees > Customers > Investors

If your employees are happy, turns out your customers will be happy. If your customers are happy, your investors will be happy, and the company will be successful. (Deepak Chopra)

Consecrating to the Divine, and What Comes for the Realization

When someone has decided to consecrate his life to the seeking for the Divine, if he is sincere, that is to say, if the resolution is sincere and carried out sincerely, there is absolutely nothing to fear, because all that happens or will happen to him will lead him by the shortest way to this realisation.

That is the response of the Grace. People believe that the Grace means making everything smooth for all your life. It is not true.

The Grace works for the realisation of your aspiration and everything is arranged to gain the most prompt, the quickest realisation

(The Mother, from Agenda, May 26, 1967)

No Title

Did Mother and a Devotee Foresee the Internet, the World Wide Web Fifty Years Ago?

I saw Y. on the 31st. She stayed for about an hour and told me of her hopes: she sees the possibility of a sort of world television (I don't know how that would be arranged), with a telephone and a central office where answers to all possible questions would be collected – each question answered by someone eminent or qualified. The result would be the organization of a universal – well, a world education that would really be an education for all countries, in which the knowledge and best qualities of every country in the artistic, literary and scientific fields would be gathered in a kind of transmitting center, and all you would have to do would be to get into communication with it. So then, instead of having more or less incapable teachers to teach what they know also more or less, you would have the answer to every question, the most competent and best answer. Thus there would really be all over the earth an education that would be the best possible, from which everyone would receive only what he wants; you wouldn't have to attend classes, a number of useless classes, in order to catch the little you want to know: you would have it just by getting into communication with the center; you would ask for such and such a number and would get your answer.

If it could be realized, it would be very good. It means that the most beautiful works of art, the most beautiful teachings, all the best of what humanity is GOING to produce, would be collected and within the reach of all those who had a television. There would be pictures along with the explanation, or a text or speech. A kind of imposing central building where everything would be gathered. I found it rather attractive. I told her that we would have that in Auroville (not the central office: just a receiving set). She said that instead of teachers who teach poorly what they know, there would be the best teaching for each subject.... (I didn't ask her WHO would select those people – that remains the somewhat delicate point.) But I found the idea very attractive. She said things are moving in that direction.

(The Mother, from Agenda, June 3rd, 1967)

No Title

The world awaits a global movement of unity based on an inspiring idea or a cluster of ideas. (Ashok Natarajan)

Global Leadership in the 21st Century

The world today possesses unprecedented opportunities and capabilities to promote global human welfare and well-being. But it is in urgent need of leadership to tap the opportunities and address the multidimensional challenges confronting humanity today. These challenges are a reflection of the urgent need to project a unifying global vision, build international support and multi-stakeholder commitment, enhance institutional effectiveness, and mobilize global society for effective action. The optimistic consensus that fueled progress at the end of the Cold War has disappeared. The momentum for collective action has dissipated. The recent retreat from multilateralism, democracy, economic cooperation, regional integration, arms control, cooperative security and multiculturalism undermines global cooperation at a time when it is urgently needed to achieve the development objectives of Agenda 2030, address existential ecological challenges, and prevent a relapse into strident nationalism and the Cold War competitive security.

The world is desperately in need of leadership at this critical juncture. Although leadership has most commonly taken the form of great personalities in the past, it is no longer limited to individuals. Leadership is a way of acting. It is a living social process that encompasses the whole society in which and on which it acts. It may be initiated by idealistic individuals or innovative organizations, but ultimately it has to percolate down to influence the actions of many others in order to generate results. Outstanding individual leaders and the aspiring social collective are complementary forces. The essence of leadership is an inspiring vision of the future. That vision usually encompasses higher values, insightful ideas and growing awareness of untapped opportunities. It is fueled by the rising aspirations of the population transformed into intense social energies released into action. The results it achieves depend on the intensity of society's aspiration for accomplishment, the organization of the ideas and knowledge on which it is based, the clarity of the goals and plans, and the effectiveness of the institutional mechanisms through which it is implemented. Individuals can play a key leadership role in all stages of this process.

The process of leadership transcends the action of one or a few individuals. It includes generating awareness of unutilized social potentials, projecting higher organizational ideas, mobilizing the available global social energies and resources for practical application, strengthening the effectiveness of existing institutions of governance, and releasing a broad-based social movement to transform the compelling challenges confronting humanity today into catalysts for rapid global social evolution. (Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

Rising Above All Contradiction

In order to understand and follow Sri Aurobindo's teaching, one must learn to rise above all possibility of contradiction. That is, to reach the region where contradictions no longer exist. ... there lies the source of the true Power. (The Mother, from Agenda, June 7, 1967)

New, Not Traditional Ways of Developing Consciousness

The [religious and other] traditions of the past are very great in their own place, in the past, but I do not see why we should merely repeat them and not go farther. In the spiritual development of the consciousness upon earth the great past ought to be followed by a greater future. (Sri Aurobindo')

Why Modi Came Back to Power

1. He is an average Indian, so that extraordinary Indians or majority of the common man can relate and identify themselves with him.
2. He is using his capabilities as an Indian to the core i.e., organising skills.
3. He dreams, visualises, set standards, targets and engaged in well planned strategic execution with the help of his colleagues.
4. He knows people management; identifies, motivates and keeps the right and best people with him.
5. He is genuine as far as growth of India is concerned. He is truthful to the poor.
6. He knows 'helping rich to flourish their business also is inevitable' to develop resources to serve poor and to lift up the middle class.
7. He uses Hindvuthva and cultural heritage of India to reach administration and win power politics; but his actual goal is developing India.
8. He is the last person to ignore and supersede the constitution (as many of us fear). He respects and agrees with diversity and democracy much more than many of the political leaders in opposition.
9. He wants India to lead the world and make that agenda his personal prestige.
10. He is an average PURE Indian untouched by the western academic or management jargon. Such a person can accomplish things much faster and prioritise Indian needs realistically.
11. He is a man who has tasted hunger and poverty; hence he understands the mindset of the majority of Indians.
12. He learned social responsibility not from air-conditioned classrooms, but from the streets of India. Toilets, Gas connection, Electricity and safety where the primary needs of many; and so he addressed them directly.
13. His stand on national enemies is pretty clear whether it is nations or groups. "if you beat me, I will break you."
14. He and his team members know pretty well how electoral process happens, where to hit, when to hit and how.
15. He knows how to set election agendas and how to make oppositions engage in it.
16. He is good at building friendships and sustaining it.

17. He is a bachelor or is a man staying alone. He has got time on his hand, and has focused energy.

18. He made himself a sellable brand - Brand MODI.

I hope that he will come out of his personification and do something more valuable and more realistic for the Growth of India; more precisely, an All-Inclusive India.

Good luck Mr Prime Minister!

by S.S. Sreejith

On Apology, Apologizing

Apology is for an unintended mishap or injustice.

Apology exonerates the intention of a misjudged act.

Apology can be true or a polite form.

Apology is a shrinking, ungainly emotion.

Apology is a social act, not just personal.

One can apologize for no fault of his if an apology fulfils him.

Apology for intentional discourtesy can only be formal.

An educated pompous person will expand the apology to a drama.

(Karmayogi)

No Title

O Supreme Lord of the Universe,

we implore Thee, give us

the strength and the beauty,

the harmonious perfection

needed to be Thy divine instruments upon earth.

(The Mother, from Agenda, November 22, 1967)

No Title

... there is still the whole weight of millennia of bad habits, which we could call pessimistic, that is, expecting decay, expecting catastrophe, expecting ... well, all those things, and, ugh! that's the most difficult thing to purify, to clarify, to remove from the atmosphere. It's so INGRAINED that it's absolutely spontaneous. That is the great, great, great obstacle – that sort of sense of inevitable decay. (The Mother, from Agenda, June 24, 1967)

No Title

To man, God is too slow in answering his prayer. To God, man is too slow in opening to His influence. But to the (Supramental) Truth-Consciousness, everything is going as it should!

(Mother, from Agenda, July 22, 1967)

Grades Based on Inner Connection with Student, Not Exams

... no more exams! At the end of the year, when you have to give marks to the students, well, instead of using such an artificial method, you will be obliged to observe attentively, follow the child's inner development, have a deeper contact with him (Mother laughs mockingly), and know if he has really understood or not! Then you will be able to give marks, instead of basing yourself on the parrotlike repetition of something they learned without understanding.

(Mother, from Agenda, July 22, 1967)

Student Motive for Learning

The majority of children study because they are forced to by family, habit, current ideas, not because they want to learn and know. Until the motive for their studies is rectified, until they learn because they want to know, they will use all kinds of tricks to make their work easier and get results with the least effort.

(Mother, from Agenda, July 22, 1967)

Beyond Tests for Student Learning

I find tests an obsolete and ineffective way of knowing if the students are intelligent, willing and attentive.

A silly, mechanical mind can very well answer a test if the memory is good and these are certainly not the qualities required for a man of the future.

It is by tolerance for the old habits that I consented that those who want tests can have them. But I hope that in future this concession will not be necessary.

To know if a student is good needs, if the tests are abolished, a little more inner contact and psychological knowledge for the teacher. But our teachers are expected to do Yoga, so this ought not to be difficult for them.

(The Mother, from Agenda, July 22, 1967)

Mother on the Teacher and the Student

The students' point of view is false, the teachers' point of view is false.

The students' point of view: they learn just to appear to know, pass their exam and cram their heads with all kinds of things....

The teachers' point of view is to have as easy a control as possible and be able to give marks without giving themselves too much trouble, with as little effort as possible.

As for me, I say: each student is an individuality, each student should come not because he wants to be able to say, "I have studied and am going to take my exams," but because he is eager to know and comes with the will to know.

And the teacher must not follow the easy method of giving a subject and seeing how everyone answers, whether the answer is good or bad, conforms to what he has taught or not: he must find out whether the student's interest and effort are sincere, and everyone according to his own nature – for the teacher it's infinitely more difficult, but that's education.

(The Mother, from Agenda, July 26, 1967)

No Title

The more the social power is equitably distributed, the more peaceful, just, prosperous, stable and sustainable, society will become. (Garry Jacobs)

Mother's Constant Aspiration of Surrender

May we do nothing but what You want, think nothing but what You want, feel nothing but what You want, say nothing but what You want....

Constantly, uninterruptedly, night and day. In the middle of activity or in the middle of rest, everything asks, "To be what You want, to feel what You want, to do what You want, to exist ... without difference."

(The Mother, from Agenda, August 2, 1967)

A New Conceptual System for Humanity

History confirms that the evolution of human consciousness lies along a path from lesser to greater recognition of the fundamental value and rights of each human being.

It sketches a pathway toward the wider and more equitable distribution of freedom, knowledge, rights and social power.

Humanity has already progressed far on this trajectory from the time when the law of the jungle, slavery, colonial imperialism, authoritarianism, war and genocide were considered natural and inevitable.

But we have much further to go. Envisioning in detail a future based on values that affirm the dignity of every individual can help us identify the core principles and institutional changes needed for a sustainable, human-centered development paradigm. In practice this means concretely imagining how life will flourish in a world in which the 17 SDGs have been fully realized for all humanity.

That will indeed constitute a new paradigm and the emergence of the first truly global civilization.

(Garry Jacobs Chief Executive Officer, WAAS & World University Consortium (WUC))

The Real Genius of Steve Jobs: Icon and Visionary Leader of Creative Individuality.

To truly understand the remarkable technological leadership of Steve Jobs, we must trace back the graphic user interface, mouse and other technologies he introduced in the mid-1980s to the work of Douglas Engelbart at Stanford Research Institute two decades earlier.

The genius of Steve Jobs' leadership was not his technological insight or inventiveness. In the early days at Apple that role was played by its co-founder Steve Wozniak, a brilliant and creative engineer who pioneered the personal computer. Jobs' real genius was in sensing the aspirations of society and finely attuning his actions to synchronize with that pulse.

In many ways Jobs was a typical American of this period. He was born and raised in a country that worships mechanical inventiveness. Americans made building, repairing and playing with machines a national pastime. Jobs grew up during the early days of the transition from mechanics and electricity to electronics.

He was a product of the Hippie Movement, which valued personal freedom and individuality and feared authority and conformity above all else. He understood the deep anxiety generated among youth by the idea of huge mainframe computers running the world. He saw the PC as an instrument to empower the individual rather than dominate and replace him. The release of the Macintosh in 1984 was hailed as the start of a spiritual revolution.

Even more than the products he created, Jobs became an icon and visionary leader of creative individuality. His vision was matched by a remarkable capacity to think outside the box and see beyond 'what is' to 'what could be'. With the birth of the World Wide Web, he saw the possibility of making the PC a part of a global interconnected system. This led to the introduction of the iPod and transformation of the music industry. That same vision gave birth to the iPhone and iPad and made Apple the most valuable company in the history of the world.

(Gary Jacobs, for Cadmus Journal)

The Need for Global Leadership

Leadership is needed to generate awareness of the enormous, unutilized global potentials that can be tapped to accelerate global progress.

It is needed to challenge outmoded, unidimensional theories and compartmentalized models, narrow national and sectoral perspectives, piecemeal stakeholder strategies and fragmented institutional functioning that obstruct global social progress.

It is needed to formulate comprehensive, integrated strategies and policies capable of mobilizing all stakeholders in the global community and directing all the available global social energies for practical application.

And, most of all, it is needed to fully unleash and mobilize the energies of global society, to release a broad-based social movement to transform the compelling challenges confronting humanity today into catalysts for rapid global social evolution.

Leadership is needed at the level of local communities, nation-states, regional entities and international organizations to convert those capabilities into effective actions to achieve concrete, tangible results. (Garry Jacobs and others for Cadmus Journal)

Global Leadership and Consensus Building

Global leadership cannot be embodied in a single individual, institution or group. Global society is too vast, diverse and complex. It will require generation of an inclusive social movement fueled by a common vision, shared values, inspiring ideas, compelling goals, dynamic individuals, energized organizations and committed stakeholders.

Building that consensus and forging that coalition is an act of true leadership which the world ardently aspires for and can fully respond to ...

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

Leadership that Simultaneously Leads and Arises from Society

-Great leaders are themselves the products as well as the catalysts of the awakening of the societies in which they arise. Outstanding individual leaders and aspiring social collectives are complementary forces. Leaders arise to give conscious expression to emerging social ideas and ideals. The most visionary of those leaders come to prepare society by projecting seed ideas that take root and blossom afterwards.

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

Great Leadership that Arises in an Historical Context

Leadership always takes place in a context. No matter how great the individual leader, the results always depend on the readiness of society to respond.

That is why we witness so often throughout history the gathering of great leaders at particular moments in history, rather than their equal distribution in space and time. It is no coincidence that Washington, Adams, Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton and Monroe all arose to leadership positions at the birth of the USA.

Indian Independence was similarly blessed by a confluence of outstanding individuals at the same moment in time—Gandhi, Nehru, Rajaji, Patel, and Prasad are only the better known of them. So too, Churchill, FDR, Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini—though very different in personalities, values and aspirations—were all the product of the same age and forces which compelled global society to make the first tentative transition beyond the nation-state.

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

Leadership as a Process

All acts of leadership mature only when the ideas, values, goals, aspirations and intentions of the leader awaken and release the energy and inspiration of other individuals, acquire the power for implementation through organizations, and express in the general movement of the community, the nation or world. Leadership is a process, not merely a person.

(Garry Jacobs and others, for Cadmus Journal)

On Leadership

-Leadership creates out of unorganised energy a direction to achieve actual results.

-Leadership makes the people do what they already know but do not follow.

-Leadership is to have our own power of leading in the vital as a representative of the collective that needs leadership.

-Leadership must act on the composition of the temperament of events.

-Intellectual leadership is to evoke strong convictions in the mentally superstitious. Eye opened is karma dissolved.

(Karmayogi)

No Title

Doing the smallest thing by the greatest principle is yoga. (Karmayogi)

Accepting Sri Aurobindo's Truth Will Lead the World

Sri Aurobindo could not find one person who could accept Him -- beyond Mother -- so that He could give His Truth to the world. HE gave it to the world directly through the subtle plane.

Anyone who now accepts Him and that Truth which is there in the atmosphere, will lead the world according to Sri Aurobindo. Consciousness offers conscious leadership. The World awaits Mother's leadership. No longer will the world accept human leadership. (Karmayogi)

True Individuality and Personality

Howard Roark (in the Fountainhead) expresses his true individuality by thinking for himself and not being swayed by the herd. We can say that such a person is in contact with his inner Personality and True Self, as opposed to others who rely on the social imperative. When that inner force is weak though true, relative to the world around him, society tends to crush him and his ideals. If it is strong, as it was in the case of Roark or a Churchill or a Gorbachav, it can change the course of the world around them.

How many of us think for ourselves, instead of being determined by the herd around us, the social view, the collective views expressed by media and popular culture? How many of us seek to know the true truth, the many-sided truth, instead of the part and convenient truth that the world presents to us on the surface or that we are attached to within ourselves.

The true Individual in that sense is spiritual because he seeks identity with the full object of knowledge which the limited normal mind of man cannot perceive. Limited, normal mind perceives an exclusive truth, whereas the logical and better, still illumined and intuitive mind are powers of spiritualized mentality that seek the inherent truth in the object of inquiry. There is knowledge by identity with the object. There is no separation between the knower, the knowing, and the known. The influence of the social herd clouds that identity, as does the normally divided mind of man. Only when we seek the deeper consciousness within, do we move to the wider truth by identity. (Karmayogi)

Consecration to The Mother makes our life easier than ever..!

I was thinking of buying a machine for my new business. I searched in the internet about it but couldn't come to a conclusion because I'm not sure about how the machine works.

Then I thought of searching for it in my town. I took a share auto and once again I continued to search in the net while travelling. What a surprise though it was a peak hour, no rush anywhere and I reached my destination very quickly than I thought.

I joined my hubby there and suddenly I thought came to ask the nearby shop keeper though he didn't have the machine I was searching. And I inquired the shop keeper. He suggested to ask the nearby street about the machine. I thanked him and started searching.

I saw a shop in the nearby street and inquired about the sort of machine I was looking for. To my surprise, he showed me the exact machine which I was searching in the internet with approximately same price.

My hubby suggested to confirm (about the working process) with his friend about it. Again i could not believe Mother's Grace. The friend also suggested the Same product and same shop whose owner was his friend.

We were so much in awe that only one shop we inquired and found to be the best ever..! Because I thought the whole day we would be searching for a good one.

I thanked The Mother for Her Grace. (Devi Mirra)

Encyclopedia Of Integral Yoga

24.05.14

An inspiring work that can be done by MSS is to develop what can be called the Encyclopedia of Integral yoga. Informative articles can be written by Shri.Appa and Garry Jacobs and others on the integral philosophy of Sri Aurobindo and Mother plus separate articles on key concepts of this yoga such as surrender, transformation, consecration, sincerity, ascent and descent. Further concise synopsis of their literary works can be written also such as Life Divine, Savithri, Agenda, Secret of Veda, Questions & Answers etc. Under the headings of Power of Grace alone, one can subdivide this section into half a dozen separate headings, such as health, income, relief from debt, harmony in family, career advance educational achievements and one can list under each heading dozen of actual experiences by devotees showing how they got relief and experienced improvements in health, income, relief from debts, progress in family and interpersonal harmony and career advancements etc.

Under the heading of application of principles of integral yoga for betterment of human life, one can write articles showing how spiritual principles can be applied in business management, education, politics and human unity. Then, under the category of Life Response, one can show how life response mechanisms have worked in literature such as Pride and Prejudice, Shakespeare's plays and other major literary works such as Victor Hugo's Les Miserables, Dumas' Count of Monte Cristo and Sherlock Holmes detective stories etc. Under the heading of Traditional philosophies, one can list Adwaita, Vishistadwaita and dwaita and show how Integral Yoga differs from all these in key areas.

Surely this work will take a long time and demand the attention of many competent researchers who are not only academically well-trained but devoted to mother also. Mere writings from researchers will not have the effect that devotee-researchers will have. Any way this is an inspiring work that merits serious attention by Shri. Appa. (N.Asokan)

No Title

A drop of Gratitude can create a New Life. (Garry Jacobs)

No Title

Start from where you are; no matter the conditions. Then Consecrate it all; and aspire for your progress and growth. Life will respond and lift you to the heights.

No Title

The Knowledge of how you got the result is greater than the result. And the Consciousness behind the Knowledge is greater than the Knowledge. (Karmayogi)

No Title

... as long as you want to remain shut in your little person, you are nothing, while if you abdicate that little person, you become everything. (Mother, from Agenda, August 2, 1967)

No Title

Failure is simply the opportunity to begin again, this time more intelligently. (Henry Ford)

No Title

The Universe responds more to our vibrations than to our words. (S. Nagarajan)

No Title

Everything is possible, including the impossible. (Mary Poppins)

No Title

We are not here to make our life easy and comfortable. We are here to find the Divine, to become the Divine, to manifest the Divine. (the Mother, from Agenda, August 19, 1967)

No Title

She is the Force, the inevitable Word,
The magnet of our difficult ascent...

(Sri Aurobindo, from Savitri)

No Title

A sincere person who employs consciously the best of strategies allows Life to accomplish not at his level, but at the widest level. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Each time you understand something you have not understood so far, a block is removed and work is accomplished. (Karmayogi)

No Title

Each time you exercise control over the physical to prevent it from its habitual repetition, you are ushered into a new phase of life. (Karmayogi)

No Title

When you exhaust a thing, fresh supplies come -- maximum utilization. (Karmayogi)

Les Miserables

[a poem by Senthil Murugan of the deeper meaning of the story]

No matter, we are unaware of our destiny,
No matter, we've deviated far from the path,
No matter, we do despair about the current happenings,
No matter, we could not perceive what's going on,
All those are limitations that seem only on the surface,
And not the True governing Reality.
The limitations will remain and appear so,
As long as we cling and hold on to them.
If we do aspire earnestly from the depths,
If we do seek answers sincerely within,
A time might come, a situation we might face,
That would disillusion the surface Reality,
The truth, then rushes in from the depths,
The soul, then overtakes the ignorant mind,
And reconciles all the contradictions on the surface,
It's a moment, we are literally reborn!
Our goal is now set,
Our path is now lit,
Our soul that leads it,
A life not just to quench ego's needs,
Rather a life to give others what we've been given,
A life to kindle the other candles,
With love, kindness and hope.
Is there a man who had been into that journey?
Indeed there was!
The life of Jean Valjean,
A lesson for us to remember and reflect.

It was a period in France,
Where the rulers not cared their people,
Also there was no humanism that exist,
A man who stole bread to save a hungry child,
Was put in prison for nineteen years!
And went through unimaginable tortures in all those years,
At last, the period of parole came,
Yet, he was given yellow papers,
And was being marked 'the dangerous man',
Though he dreamed to see a newer world,
The reality was rather different,
As the life had not changed in the nineteen years,
And the people judged his paper, not him as a person,
Everyone chased him, he ran,
Actually the life chased him, to his destiny.
Without hope, he wandered all along,
One day, as he was resting in a church front,
A Bishop saw him and cared him as a person indeed,
The Bishop gave him food and also place to rest,
Yet, that was not enough,
To console him who was plunged in hatred and self-pity,
And at that night, when everyone slept,
He stole the silver goods and ran away,
Alas, he was caught the very next morning,
And was brought back to the Bishop,
The Bishop looked deep in his eyes,
Surprised him giving two more lamp stands, and said,
"Brother, you've forgotten these,
As I gave this to you too,
All your past deeds, I forgave,
And saved your soul for the God"
Those words daggered like a knife on his chest,
Melted all his moments of hatred and hopelessness,
Wiped out all the past karmas,
And he was literally reborn at that moment,
He was Jean Valjean!
His life from that moment, belonged to the God indeed,
And he remembered it and lived so,
Till his very last breath.

Valjean then moved to the small town Vigo,
And started his life from a clean slate,
As a free, hardworking and honest man,
And no one was aware of his past life.
Eight more years passed quickly,
And he worked hard in those years,
Elevated himself as the Mayor of the town,

And also ran a factory of his own.
One day in his factory,
A young woman, Fantine was punished hard,
And was also taken out of her job,
For no apparent fault of hers.
All had happened without his notice,
He only came to know it later,
And genuinely wanted to reconcile,
For what had happened.
Fantine was angry and disliked him at first,
As she thought, he had not stopped her punishment,
Beyond her bitter words and resentful heart,
He judged not her surface, rather her soul.
He then took the consciousness responsibility,
And also promised to save her and her child Cosette,
Thénardier had kept Cosette under their custody,
Despite they were paid by Fantine for keeping Cosette safe,
Cosette was bullied and worked as their servant.
Life continues to operate in multiple fronts,
And present us opportunities for our consciousness to grow,
Yet, they might appear in the forms we dislike,
To the measure we tune into what we've been given,
We continue to evolve to greater heights.
And that moment had fallen on to Valjean,
In the form of Inspector Javert,
Who was hunting him from the day of his parole!
Javert took charge as the inspector of that town,
And came to the Mayor to report his duty.
When they both met each other,
Javert had not recognized Valjean at first,
Yet, he sensed something was fishy,
And started to doubt the Mayor, from the very beginning.
Also at the same time,
A situation came to Valjean,
To test his innate goodness and honesty,
As he came to know of a news,
A man had been caught and presented in the court,
And was identified erroneously as Valjean,
Also was going to be punished for breaking parole,
The Mayor was caught in the dilemma,
Whether to ignore the news or to reveal his identity,
Then he remembered the Bishop and the words he spoke,
Afterwards he had not worried the aftermath events,
And so he spoke the Truth in the court,
Also was ready to bear the punishment,
By thus Valjean made the other man free,
And thus brought his sincerity to the surface.

A long-awaited opportunity came to Javert,
As to arrest Valjean and put him in prison for life,
Valjean pleaded, to spare him for three more days,
As he wanted to bring Fantine's daughter, Cosette,
Yet, Javert was cold and rejected his plea,
That forced Valjean to escape from that situation,
He then also rescued Cosette, by giving ransom money.
As her mother Fantine also died in the earlier scene,
They both then ran for life to Paris,
And Javert continued to chase them behind.
After an arduous journey,
They both climbed a convent and sought for shelter,
Life responded in a unique way,
And they were given asylum and shelter,
As police was forbidden to enter the convent,
They then lived peacefully over there,
And Javert waited the next opportunity.

Ten years passed quickly afterwards,
As Cosette wanted to see the world,
Valjean and Cosette came out of convent,
And started to live in a nearby community.
The people over there disliked Monarchy,
And was longing for freedom from tyranny,
A group of youngsters led those efforts,
And their plan was to revolt against the rule,
All waited the right opportunity.
In the meantime,
Cosette fell in love with one of the rioters, Marius.
Valjean disapproved their love at first,
As that would reveal their identity to others,
Then he viewed from her point of view,
And changed his mind for the sake of her wish.
A situation came in favor of the protestors,
And they planned for an attack against the kingship,
By rioting through in a planned procession,
During the moments of riot and fight,
Javert was caught by rioters,
Who came there as a spy to watch them,
And they were almost about to kill him,
And at that moment,
Life brought Valjean and Javert in alignment again.
In all the encounters earlier they had,
Falsehood dominated the Truth,
And Javert had been the upper hand, always,
For the first time in their lives, the situation reversed,
As Valjean wanted to handle Javert by himself,

He then took the charge from rioters,
And brought Javert to a lonely place,
At last, a golden chance to revenge all his past!
Yet, he forgave him unconditionally,
And let him go FREE without any demands.
He did that in a sincere manner,
As what Bishop had done to him, years earlier.
The foundation of falsehood is very fragile,
And it could not survive when Truth reveals its power,
Javert puzzled by the action of Valjean,
And his foundation of belief was shattered,
As he could not bear the Truth of Goodness,
He committed suicide and ended his life.
In the meantime,
The situation not favored the rioters,
And they could not resist the massive force,
Their simple guns could not match the great cannons,
Alas, the riot was suppressed too sooner one could imagine,
And all the rioters were killed on the spot,
Valjean saw the wounded Marius,
And he took extraordinary efforts,
Carried him through an underground tunnel,
Swam through the flood of drainage,
Saved his life for the sake of his daughter,
Brought him to Cosette and fulfilled her wish.
As such Valjean lived his life all along,
Only for others and never for himself,
As like the Bishop had told him,
His soul was meant for God, indeed.
And he fulfilled that in every instance.
At last, at his death bed, a fulfilling life he had,
Whoever he had met in his life,
Passed them the batons of love, kindness and hope.
As such,
Whatever the odds we might face this time,
Whatever the hurdles that might be in our path,
Whatever the situations, that might appear as hopeless,
All are only guiding us secretly within,
As to bring our soul to the surface,
And to fulfil what we are meant to be in our depths.
And so, whatever be the circumstance,
Never Give Up Hope!

Trailer:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=isQGHwWyJ6k>

Divine Love Can Overcome Barbaric Human Behavior

Oh, for all really monstrous things [like barbaric human behavior], there is only one force – only one force that can dissolve them. I knew it in principle, but now I know it in practice: it is the force of Love. Love is truly all-victorious – but true Love, not what men call "love," not that: true, divine Love.

You see one drop of "That" in its perfection, and all shadows disappear – all disharmonies disappear. Only in its perfection, in its essential purity.

It truly is all-powerfulness.

(The Mother, from Agenda, September 6, 1967)

Inner Power Over Outer Obstacles Attracts Vast Business Success!

Despite the outer obstacles that appear before us, we have inner power to overcome them and succeed mightily. Though it may not happen immediately, longer-term the positive conditions within our own being tends to conquer the outer impediments.

A young Indian man and woman were in love, and they wished to marry. However, the girl's parents objected to the marriage because the boy's sales income was paltry. Still, they got married. However, soon after the young man lost his job. It seemed like a crushing verification of the girl's parents' views about the marriage.

However, shortly thereafter the young woman suggested that the two of them make the products on their own that he had been selling, and do so on their own premises.

And so they then made a go of it. As it turned out within several years they had succeeded so greatly that they now had 100 employees!

As we see, Life responded to their efforts, as their inner aspiration, intensity, and faith overcame the limits of the outer conditions. Long-term their deepest inner intentions prevailed over the short-term outer obstacles.

(thanks to Chandu)

On Sri Aurobindo's Birthday, August 15th, same as Indian Independence Day

Sri Aurobindo worked for Indian Freedom in the field of politics between 1906 and 1910. His inner voice told Him that Indian Freedom was achieved and HE was meant for other work. Indian Freedom arrived on His birthday. When Mountbatten was asked why he chose August 15th, he answered that was the day on which Japan surrendered. Sri Aurobindo fought the World War in the subtle plane and that victory too came on His birthday. He prophesied that India would become the Guru of the World. (Sri Karmayogi)

True Humility toward Divine

... when you say to people, "Be humble," they immediately think of "being humble towards others," and that humility is bad. True humility is humility towards the Divine, that is, the precise, exact, LIVING sense that you are nothing, can do nothing, understand nothing without the Divine, ... (The Mother, from Agenda, September 13, 1967)

A Comment On Earning 100 Crores

My father Shri.Karmayogi has started stressing that any devotee (of Sri Aurobindo, Mother) can earn 100 crores (~$15M in USD over a lifetime) in these days and has further commented that the grace of the Mother will help the devotee earn that much. In this context it would be helpful to list some of the factors essential for this accomplishment.

1. EXTRA HARD WORK The devotee must be willing to work for the maximum hours that he can. This can range from 12 to 14 hours a day.
2. FOLLOWS VALUES OVER MONEY He must choose to follow values much more than mere pursuit of monetary gain and if these are in conflict, should come forward to sacrifice monetary gain for the sake of upholding values.

3. SPIRITUAL FAITH Though he should be ready to fully exercise his mental capacities for this accomplishment, he must have more faith in Mother's grace than in his own capacity to deliver the result.
 4. OPPORTUNITIES He should be keenly alive to every opportunity that rises around him and further he should be fond of accepting challenges that come his way.
 5. INNOVATIVE Surely he must be very innovative in meeting the needs of the society as it is this very innovativeness that will bring him luck of that magnitude.
 6. CREATIVE THINKING He must be unconventional in thinking and must have learnt to look at any issue in a way that others don't. For example, Sherlock Holmes learnt to look at any crime in a way very different from the way the police looked at it and it is this fresh perspective that helped him solve all the cases that the police could not handle.
 7. ORGANIZATION He must be a great admirer of the powers of Organization, of coordination and systems and most importantly the power of values.
 8. STEP AHEAD He must be so alert that he is always one step ahead of others in accomplishment
 9. FAILURE TO SUCCESS He should know the art of turning failure into success and problem into opportunity and crisis into fortune etc.
 10. TRUE INDIVIDUALITY He should be an individual in his own right and believe in the truth of his convictions though the whole world won't believe a word of what he says. For example, Sri Aurobindo and Mother held on to their belief in the descent of the supermind though the whole world chose to ignore what they were saying except a select group of some devotees.
- (N. Asokan, MSS, slightly edited)

No Title

Mind is capable of seeing things from another's point of view. Silent mind more frequently, more easily does the same, thereby is capable of perceiving the integral truth of things.

To be perfect in implementing Values at the current level opens up opportunities at a higher level. (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

No Title

... in order ... to manifest That [Divine Consciousness] ... one must SPONTANEOUSLY AND DEFINITELY be above all desires, all ambitions, all preferences ...

(The Mother, from Agenda. October 11, 1967)

No Title

The Lord makes use of everything, and He isn't afraid. He makes use of everything.... How He has used the gods, how He uses everything, how He has used the Adversaries ... everything.... and everything leads ... where we must go. (The Mother, from Agenda. October 11, 1967)

No Title

You know, an ardent faith, a psychic aspiration, a fervor, a self-giving, ... that's what is needed to save the world!

(The Mother, from Agenda, October 19, 1967)

New Conception of Growth As Inner Well-Being For Society

A new conception of growth is needed to guide humanity's future progress. Humanity's aspiration needs to evolve from the limitless material consumption to the endless growth of human wellbeing and inner personal fulfillment. This requires a shift from seeking ever more powerful technologies for external achievements to an inner seeking for inner well-being.

(Ashok Natarajan for Cadmus Journal)

Implementing SDGS (Sustainable Development Goals) Of the United Nations

The UN is a great institution with many accomplishments and also many failures. One of its recent accomplishments is the formulation of SDGs that define the collective goals of humanity to be achieved in the coming future.

The question is, how are these goals to be implemented?

Another question arises also as to who will achieve these goals.

So far, great leaders have emerged to achieve great accomplishments. But currently no such great leader is on the scene.

Is it possible for a movement to replace the need for a leader? Can a movement be inspired by the emergence of an idea?

(Ashok Natarajan for Cadmus Journal)

The Soul's Sanction of Our Suffering, Misfortune, As Means of Our Rapid Growth, Progress

"All these good people lament and wonder that unaccountably they and other good people are visited with such meaningless sufferings and misfortunes. But are they really visited with them by an outside Power or by a mechanical Law of Karma? Is it not possible that the soul itself – not the outward mind, but the spirit within – has accepted and chosen these things as part of its development in order to get through the necessary experience at a rapid rate, ..."

"... to hew through, durchhauen, even at the risk or the cost of much damage to the outward life and the body? To the growing soul, to the spirit within us, may not difficulties, obstacles, attacks be a means of growth, added strength, enlarged experience, training for spiritual victory? The arrangement of things may be that and not a mere question of the pounds, shillings and pence of a distribution of rewards and retributory misfortunes!"

(Sri Aurobindo, as discussed in Agenda, June 17, 1970)

No Title

Do the day's work in Consciousness; not the ordinary way. Life will cooperate from all

The Aspiration and Critical Role of Kurt Levin In 'The Book'

One striking character notable in Garry Jacobs' novel 'The Book' is Kurt Levin. He had such an aspiration, perseverance and relentless effort as he was seeking solution for Israel-Palestine issue in all his mind, heart, and body.

- In the late 80's The Book subtly indicated such future possibilities as he had witnessed The Book in Germany and the aftermath events.

- He was drawn into the AI conference subconsciously as that would be his path forward towards the solution he was seeking.

- He was the first one to get acquaintance with Prof Stearne, only years later other MAI partners established contact with Prof Stearne through Levin.

- Yet, he was not well aware about other MAI partners during that conference.

- As he was earnestly seeking solution for his country, the Northern Ireland Peace Project Report came as a response from life, which indicated the phrases from The Book and got his attention.

- And, he collaborated with US Government and used all his mental means to get connect with MAI and The Book by trying with Thompson, Howard and so forth.

- Yet, all had failed and he came himself to MAI, admitted all his faults genuinely and truly and became united with them. He played a vital role afterwards by bringing them to Prof. Stearne and by various other means in resolving the attack from the adversaries.

- After many hardships, MAI became phenomenally success with their AIS, UNIAC and Bead Games. As that success spread to other countries, MAI was asked to offer solutions through AIS and grid computing for the Israel- Palestine issue.

- Levin was invited under the direct request of Prime Minister Office to lead that mission and the story ends with that possibility that the solution is going to manifest soon.

As such, one could have such unwavering aspiration like Levin, yet he may not know how to do it. But Life would sure bring circumstances to fulfill that quest and the right people who would be in harmony and oneness towards that goal. (Senthil Murugan)

What Is Given Is Best for Our Progress

"To be free from all preference and receive joyfully whatever comes from the Divine Will is not possible at first for any human being. What one should have at first is the constant idea that what the Divine wills is always for the best even when the mind does not see how it is so, ... " (Sri Aurobindo)

(in response) And what he says here, the way things are organized to make you advance fast and give you the maximum, the optimum condition of progress – that's marvelous. (Mother, from Agenda, June 17, 1970)

True Teaching

"The first principle of true teaching is that nothing can be taught. The teacher is not an instructor or task-master, he is a helper and a guide. His business is to suggest and not to impose... He does not impart knowledge to him, he shows him how to acquire knowledge for himself. "- Sri Aurobindo

(thanks to SS Sreejith)

The Mother's Experience with Goddess Durga

(in honor of Durga Puja)

I had a VERY interesting experience – it was last year or the year before, I don't recall, but after I retired to my room upstairs You know that during pujas these goddesses come all the time – they don't enter the body and tie themselves to it, but they do come and manifest. Well, this time – I think it must have been for last year's puja – Durga came (she always arrives a few days in advance and remains in the atmosphere; she is present, like this – gesture as if Durga were walking up and down with Mother). I was in touch with her during my meditations upstairs, and this new Power in the body was in me then as it is in me now, and... (how to put it?) I made her participate in this concept of surrender. What an experience she had, mon petit! An extraordinary experience of the joy of being connected with That. And she declared, "From now on, I am a bhakta of the Lord."

It was beautiful.

This formidable Power, you see – a universal Power, an eternal and formidable Power – well, she had never had such an experience before, she had only experienced her OWN power. She was used to receiving and obeying Commands, but in an automatic way. Then all at once, she felt the ECSTASY of being a conscious instrument.

(Mother, from Agenda, August 2, 1961)

Taking Another's Viewpoint Attracts Verification Message from Life

"To take the other person's or persons' point of view is to shift from one's ego-orientation to a wider perspective. Thus, it is an opening in both knowledge and consciousness" - Roy Posner
Yesterday, I had an argument where I was not willing to see from the other party's view and give the information as requested. After heated argument, I was not in a position to defend anymore and then I prepared some documents for that request. I am not sure whether it has fully satisfied the other party. Yet, it was taking up too much energy as the mind continue to dwell on the thoughts of argument, which I could have avoided in the very beginning.

This morning, Mother answers [as life response] through the Daily Messages [that appeared, as verification of right action.]

"When, O eager disputant, thou hast prevailed in a debate, then art thou greatly to be pitied, for thou hast lost a chance of widening knowledge - Sri Aurobindo"

(Senthil Murugan)

Lost Materials Recovered Through Consecration & Action

AN'S NARRATIVE: I have a regular habit of frequently checking my vehicle RC books [vehicle registration document] as well as my family Aadhar cards [a person's unique identifier card]. This morning to my shock I found that the RC book of one of my two-wheelers was missing along with my daughter's Adhar card also.

I recently used my 2-wheeler RC book to renew my vehicle insurance as the insurance company demanded to see my vehicle's RC book as a penalty for my late renewal. Just 2 weeks ago myself and my daughter had made a trip to Delhi and I had taken her Aadhar card as ID proof to show at the Airport.

I sensed that I have misplaced them somewhere. But one hour of my searching proved fruitless and even my prayer to Mother did not work. Finally losing faith in the power of grace, I was prepared to spend some money to get a new RC book as well as a new Aadhar card. It involved an expense of 800 for new RC and 200 for new Aadhar.

The tension I was under in the morning got relaxed and I attended to my normal work as usual. At around 2.30 P.M I was looking for a particular file in my rack when a plastic folder caught my eye. I could see some certificate relating to my vehicle inside the folder. I grabbed it eagerly and there found my 2-wheeler Rc book as well as my daughter's Aadhar card.

I was surprised beyond measure that my prayer yielded results after loss of faith in the power of grace to retrieve the certificates. Usually when a prayer is not granted, we cite lack of faith as the reason for the failure of prayer. But here in this instance the prayer was granted after definite loss of faith and a switch over to the power of money. This is intriguing and needs to be explained. Readers may comment on this puzzling phenomenon.

RP'S ANALYSIS: There was initial Faith, but nothing came in response. Rather than further Faith he could not muster, he took to ACTION. When the tension then subsided he evoked the response. Or to put it another way, there was not enough sustained energy of Faith to evoke the desired result; but through willed Action to obtain the missing materials, and the subsiding of anxiety, life responded.

GJ's ANALYSIS: The intensity of your anxiety, impatience and expectation postponed the action of faith. It is like expectation delaying the power of prayer. It is not enough we pray. It is necessary that we withdraw the urges of our mental, vital, physical nature that interfere with the action of Mother's power. Mrs. Bennett's aspiration for the marriage of her daughters was real and powerful, but it could not be fulfilled until her impatience, scheming, reliance on pressure and initiative were withdrawn when they failed to yield results.

A True Devotee

We assume that everyone who claims to be a "devotee" (i.e. aspirant of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother) is a devotee. Obviously there is a difference between being a devotee and claiming to be one. A devotee is one who has faith in Mother.

People who do not work, who do not return the money they borrow, who are inefficient, incapable, unwilling to work cannot pray; and their prayer of wish fulfillment will never be granted. There cannot be a single example of an efficient, hardworking man not getting his prayers answered. - (Karmayogi, paraphrased)

No Title

Tomorrow when you rise
Another day for you to realise ME

...

It's you that decides.
(Run of the Mill by George Harrison)

Suffering and The Divine Victory In Life

Whatever sufferings come on the path, are not too high a price for the victory that has to be won and if they are taken in the right spirit, they become even a means towards the victory.
(Sri Aurobindo)

Our, Life, Divine Wills in Truman Show

We aspire for many things in life, yet we may not know what the Divine is us, our psychic being aspires for. The Divine seeks Himself and reaches us through Life. Perhaps whatever we do, the response from life and the synchronicities from life are the guiding tools that indicates the alignment of our will with the Life's and the Divine's will and also could lead us there if we dare to pursue.

In that context, it is a wonderful quote

"We know about Our will and about the Divine's Will. But do we know about LIFE'S Will reflecting the Divine Will imploring Our will?

- Roy Posner"

and we could get evidence reflecting that in literature, film, our life and so forth.

In the movie "The Truman Show", the Divine's will was to him come out of his own illusory limitations.

Truman's will was to reach her lover, Sylvia.

When that will reaches certain intensity, the life started to respond and came as synchronicities like the falling light, radio frequency mismatch, observing the routine traffic, people and so forth. Life's will was to make him aware of the illusory Reality so that he would seek his True Reality.

And he pursued his dream based on the life's hints, and in that process he overcame his own limitations and manifested all the Will in Reality.

(Senthil Murugan)

First Gathering: 'The Book' Ai Conference

[In this beautiful poem-like exposition of the AI Conference that takes place at the outset of the story in 'The Book', - where the team comes together that we would follow throughout the novel, - Senthil Murugan has revealed their and the conference's cosmic purpose in the greater scheme of things.]

There were conferences, happening all around the world,
Without an impact on the world or the humanity.
And there was one more, on the early January 2000,
Scheduled at Fort Lauderdale city, Florida,
On the subject of Artificial Intelligence and Mathematics,
The world viewed that as one among the many.
Perhaps, that was the one conference, among the very few,
Destined to change and shape the future of humanity.
The conference had attracted all the souls,
Those who perceived that potential subconsciously,
Yet, none had that cosmic vision consciously.

But still, that was the best moment,
In the lives of many like-minded souls,
For them to interact and unite together.
Interestingly, the conference had attracted,
Not only the souls, who were in alignment with the cosmic vision,
But also the adversaries, who would resist such progress.
Perhaps, life was unleashing the best possible moments,
To everyone, according to their state of consciousness,
As to learn and grow in the midst of contradictions.
With a leap of Faith in their heart,
Those who pursued the path,
Are the pioneers of the modern world,
And also the Blessed souls indeed.
In that sense,
The conference was a cosmic instrument,
As that initiated the global movement subtly,
And that would go on for many years,
Till that vision gets manifested.
And 'The Book' would reveal the process,
How that happened in Reality.
(based on 'The Book' by Garry Jacobs)
-by Senthil Murugan

No Title

This is a translation and paraphrase of Karmayogi's short article from a recent edition of "Malarantha Jeeviam" journal. (Senthil Murugan)

"AUTHOR

We observe life up to the point of what is needed by us. We do not care about the things that are not related.

An author observes life in its wholeness. He not only observes, but also ponders. He ponders, reflecting on life, together with human character.

When we reflect on it by relating it to our personal experiences, we are able to perceive the world's laws.

It is an irony that one who could not get 10 votes, contests in elections. When a Prime Minister contests in elections for 40 years, always such person would vie against him.

We observe such happenings, but leave it be afterwards. However an author continues to ponder it. When he perceives something, he observes till he discovers what is true, and then creates a character out of it.

Sri Aurobindo calls Shakespeare a "Seer of life". Shakespeare perceives what a character thinks in the depths of his being through his behaviour, and also what would come in the future. When that is realized, then he becomes an author, and he is able to create eternal literature.

When we perceive in a similar fashion, it is an experience. When we understand a story as well as how the author perceives it, then we are deriving the true essence out of it. It is connecting to that author subconsciously.

When we receive that in life, it is experience. When we perceive that in stories, it is greater experience.

Stories and literature teach us life through pleasant entertainment.

Epics like Ramayana, Mahabharatha and ancient literature continue to exist till now because they still help people."

Integral Values of Average Global Indian

I am Communist without Violence,

I am Congress without Corruption,

I am BJP without Communalism

I am for a Human Centered Political Party

I am in Coalition with-

Humanity - Socialism - Democracy - Freedom - Harmony - Prosperity- Sustainability - Entrepreneurship - Inclusiveness - Growth - Equality - Divinity

I am in Opposition with-

Poverty- Illiteracy- Wars- Injustice-Pollution- Racism- Waterscarsity-Terrorism- Joblessness-Slavery

-S S Sreejith., CEO, GIIMS.

An Average Global Indian

No Title

CADMUS JOURNAL - Latest Edition

Volume 4 Issue 1, October 2019

Humanity is approaching a watershed. The challenges confronting the world today cannot be effectively addressed by incremental changes in existing institutions and policies. Neither the speed of change nor the magnitude is sufficient to keep pace with the rapidity of technological developments and social evolution. An effective response requires a fundamental change in our values, conceptual framework, ways of thinking and relating to one another and the world we live in—a change of consciousness.

The articles included in this issue reinforce the need for a paradigm change in the fields of economics, governance, education, global security, and climate change.

The normal tendency of the human mind is to see these challenges as separate from each other, treating each problem as if it had its own independent reality that could be addressed in isolation from the rest. We are now compelled to accept that all aspects of social reality are one and inextricably integrated with one another. The only viable solution is to replace piecemeal reductionist ways of thinking and acting with comprehensive, transdisciplinary perspectives and initiatives that engage and embrace all sectors, stakeholders and levels of society.

The leadership needed is that which will unleash a global social movement which expresses the growing awareness and rising aspirations of humanity as a whole.

The knowledge needed is a knowledge of the process of transforming the long, slow, zigzag course of natural evolution into a more conscious, swift and direct process of social transformation.

The recent emergence of youth activism to address the climate challenge is an unprecedented sign of the awakening of a unifying global consciousness rich with promising seeds for a better future.

These seeds need to be honored and consciously nurtured until they blossom with new possibilities.

<http://cadmusjournal.org>

The Shifting Lines of Social Evolution

By Garry Jacobs (for Cadmus Journal)

FROM: Isolated, smaller, autonomous, culturally homogeneous communities

TO: Larger, heterogeneous, multicultural nation-states giving rise to an increasingly interconnected and interdependent global community
 FROM: Settlement of disputes by use of violent physical force
 TO: Negotiated peace and global rule of law
 FROM: Governance by arbitrary authority
 TO: Freedom, self-governance and self-determination
 FROM: Power based on military might
 TO: Power based on economy, science and technology
 FROM: Development of natural resources
 TO: Development of social capital and the capabilities of each human being
 FROM: Value of financial capital
 TO: Value and centrality of human capital
 FROM: Physical security and wealth generation
 TO: Wellbeing, equality and individuality
 FROM: Rights and power accorded exclusively or disproportionately to the elite
 TO: Universal human rights and more equitable distribution of all forms of social power
 FROM: Cultural homogeneity
 TO: Multiculturalism
 FROM: Development of the social collective
 TO: Development of capacities of each individual

No Title

... Nor let worldly prudence whisper too closely in thy ear; for it is the Hour of the Unexpected.
 (Sri Aurobindo)

'The Book' – MAIS

[Here Senthil Murugan describes in poetry-like fashion how we can learn from our mistakes, uplift our business and personal values to something higher, opening the door to true success and greatness. Garry Jacobs' novel of 'The Book' provides the context of events in which the MAIS company follows this Higher Consciousness movement. -RP]

It was their [MAI partners] mission in life,
 To devote themselves in the field of Artificial Intelligence,
 As to create products that would evolve human mankind,
 And they had chosen a product to start with - MAIS,
 As to help people with investing decision in stock markets,
 An artificial intelligence software,
 Not merely based on past statistical results,
 Rather based on fundamental economic principles.
 They all quit their current job,
 Invested all their hard-earned savings,
 Also arranged loans through other sources,
 And ventured into their new quest,
 By establishing their own company - MAI.
 Their mission and dream was correct,
 Yet, the field they had chosen was not,
 Not because their theory was incorrect,

Rather because, they were not equipped enough,
To prevail against the forces of falsehood,
That dominates the entire stock market.
The life hinted that aspect at the very outset,
By the sudden crash in the global stock market,
Which shrank their funds considerably,
Perhaps, it was too difficult for them to perceive,
The subtle causalities of life at that early stage.
And so, they persisted on.
After an ardent effort for a period of time,
They had made their first dream product,
And that prototype version appeared to be a huge success.
However, that success had not lasted long,
And the message of life, struck them hard,
By an official warning through SEC,
As their software had manipulated the market,
And that resulted in market disturbance.
Though, they had not believed such conspiracy,
After investigating it deeply, they came to know,
It might be a possibility indeed,
That their prototype testing could have caused the chaos,
How harder they tried afterwards,
Neither could they find the reason nor how to solve it.
Indeed they had created a product,
In diametric opposite to their vision.
As to honor their aim and ideal,
A painful decision was made at last,
As to abandon their first dream product.
And that was the story of MAIS.
When our destined path is different,
Though, we are usually not aware of it,
Life continues to observe,
And would create obstacles along the way,
At the right, intense moments,
As a means not to punish us,
Rather to awaken us,
And to align us back in the right path.
MAIS - A failure and blow from life,
Perhaps, it had to be that way for a greater purpose,
In that sense, it was not a failure indeed,
And they perceived that truth themselves, years later.
Also, it was a subtle message from life,
Mere mental power alone would not be enough,
To resist against the forces of darkness and falsehood.
What else the power that could assist them with,
To manifest their mission and dream,
'The Book' alone would reveal...

The Mountain

- The mountain is the symbol of the embodied consciousness based upon earth but rising up towards the Divine.
- The mountain always represents the ascending hill of existence with the Divine to be reached on the summits. (Sri Aurobindo).

Secular India That Is Spiritual

Beauty of India is in its Secularism. Modern India is a secular state. We don't need to follow our failed neighbours or any others for that matter.

Humanity, Secularism, Independence, an Attitude for Global Peace & Unity, Prosperity and Harmony should be the Values of Modern India.

Being Secular is more Spiritual than being Religious; being Global is more blissful than being Patriotic.

Modern India should be proud for its Spiritual contributions than anything else. Spirit does not come under any religion. Modern India should welcome all to follow spirituality including Hindus.

Let the Spirituality, Joy and Bliss rule the world. Let the Divinity lead the people all over. Let us all understand the Glory of Universal Oneness and the magnanimity of underlying Spirit in action!

by S S Sreejith (2014)

Spiritual Sincerity

Sincerity [in our devotion to the Divine] and Truthfulness [in thought, speech, and action] are the most powerful Values for a Divine Life; to bring Divinity into daily life. Yoga, pooja, asana are secondary methods compared with Sincere Prayer, Truthful Surrender, and All-inclusive Consecration to The Divine. (S S Sreejith)

Challenges & Benefits on The Way To Global Unity

Humanity has evolved from the family and local community over millennia through several stages to finally create the present fractured and unstable global community of nearly 200 nation-states, some of which are barely a few decades old.

But already there are signs that the process of social evolution will continue until it eventually results in some form of a unified world community.

The major challenges confronting humanity today all result from the inadequacy of a diverse community of sovereign nations competing with one another for power and advantage and their inability or unwillingness to act effectively and concertedly to address the problems of our collective existence. Recurring war and violence, persistent poverty, financial instability, widening inequality, ecological destruction and climate change are some of the salient features which compel us to conclude that the continued evolution is both necessary and inevitable.

The material and social benefits of global unity will be immense in terms of greater and more equal access to knowledge, power and wealth, but they will bring with them a new set of challenges to ensure that peace and security are not achieved at the expense of freedom, cultural diversity and the fullest development of individuality.

(Ashok Natarajan, for Cadmus Journal)

From Nation State to World State

Creation of global government is a further step in social transformation.

Social existence began at the physical level and only much later moved to the mental level.

At some stage the concept of society emerged, a landmark in human thought.

When people realized the importance of others for their own security, they formed social groupings instead of attempting to destroy others.

As a first result, people began to live in collective settlements. Farming that provided food for the whole society became possible with the beginning of sedentary collective life. People lost their antagonism towards others who lived in the same settlement and reserved their hostility for those outside the community.

What began as the local community later evolved into the present day Nation-State. Competition between communities evolved into competition between nations.

The next evolutionary step is for the nation-state to evolve into the future world state, in which there will be no 'other' who is perceived as a foreign threat. (Ashok Natarajan)

Federal Government & Central Bank For EU

The EU was patterned after the US and as such it marked a considerable progress in European affairs. However, her failure to establish a political union with a federal government and independent central bank has prevented the Euro from acquiring full effectiveness. (Ashok Natarajan)

Admirable Qualities for Devotees That Attract the Very Best Conditions, Avoiding Negative Ones

- to speak the truth at all costs.
 - to speak in the lowest volume voice another can hear
 - to Consecrate
 - to not have any part of the house be disorderly
 - to have dirty clothes washed every day
 - Not to react to another
 - Not to Interrupt another's speech
 - Not to slam the door or drop things making noise
 - Not to be impatient
 - Not to be irrational
 - Not to forget one's duty
 - Not to forget Mother
- (paraphrase of Karmayogi)

Climate Crisis and Global Society

The world's people face "untold suffering due to the climate crisis" unless there are major transformations to global society, according to a stark warning from more than 11,000 scientists.

"We declare clearly and unequivocally that planet Earth is facing a climate emergency," it states. "To secure a sustainable future, we must change how we live. [This] entails major transformations in the ways our global society functions and interacts with natural ecosystems."

(The Guardian)

'Conscious Capitalism': Redirecting Investment from Speculation to Job-Creation

The movement to promote sustainable and ethical investments is already attracting large numbers of wealthy investors managing hundreds of billions of dollars.

WAAS is collaborating with the United Nations Office for Partnerships in New York to attract serious players to this movement and educate the public regarding its immense potential for reorienting global financial markets from speculation to job-creating investments in the real economy.

Redirecting investments from speculative to productive investments on a global scale will be difficult. A first viable and powerful step to mobilize the support of those who are already convinced of the need for radical change to lend the full social power they possess for change. Alongside these, there are initiatives such as the one proposed by WAAS Trustee Stefan Brunnhuber to create a special cryptocurrency specifically designed for investments in the SDGs.

(Garry Jacobs for Cadmus Journal)

Youthful Pioneers of Social Change

Already there are initiatives underway with the potential to break through the inertia and unleash a social movement with the potential to multiply and spread rapidly from place to place, field to field as a reverse domino effect of constructive initiatives. For example-

Ever since Malala Yousafzai won the Nobel Prize for her courageous efforts to promote the education of the girl child, examples of activist youth leaders keep multiplying in different fields and parts of the world.

Emma González, the 19-year-old American advocate of gun control; Timoci Naulusala, the 12-year-old Fijian whose opening speech at COP23 in Bonn captivated world leaders at the UN's high level annual conference on climate change; 11 year old Ridhima Pandey from India; and Greta Thunberg, the 11-year-old Swedish climate activist are examples of a new breed which is breeding lots of young offspring quickly.

These combined with social movements such as Protect our Planet (POP), founded by former IPCC Chairman and WAAS Trustee Rajendra Pachauri, represent a potentially powerful new social force which both political and business leaders can ignore only at great risk.

So far, these movements tend to be fragmented geographically and by the causes they espouse, but if organized and their activities coordinated, they could become a powerful force for change, as the college campus protestors in USA, Europe and other nations became during the 1960s.

(Garry Jacobs for Cadmus Journal)

Rapid Social Progress Follows Uncertainty

We tend to overlook the fact that periods of high uncertainty [as we are experiencing in the extreme now] are often followed by new openings that lead to periods of rapid social progress. Indeed, it appears that maximum uncertainty is often followed by maximum social advancement. (Garry Jacobs for Cadmus Journal)

OVERCOMING THE RESISTANCE OF THE FORCES IN SOCIETY THAT BLOCK CHANGE

The problems confronting humanity today will not simply vanish because viable solutions exist with the potential to eradicate them. There are entrenched vested interests and powers that benefit from the present dispensation and are either ignorant or skeptical of the greater opportunities for all that would arise from concerted global action.

But obstinate resistance to progress has always plagued and retarded human advancement. With the greater knowledge, higher levels of education and more powerful means for communication now available, humanity is better poised than ever before to overcome the obstacles.

(Garry Jacobs, Cadmus Journal)

Turning Old-Model Instructors into Facilitators Of Person-Centered Education

To Sreejith's important question on of how to change old models of teaching when trying to usher in person-centered education, I would suggest:

-Create an education tune-up mini-course on Person-centered education for current faculty, especially instructors, with intense group discussions and break out teams.

--(of course) Make educational courses people-centered with deep level of granularity of application.

-Reward teachers, instructors who demonstrate high levels of person-centered approach in their courses. (end of class surveys can help facilitate this)

-In future, hire faculty who have disposition that would lend itself more readily to people-centered.

I have been an instructor for over 30 years.☺ -Roy Posner

Cause of Suffering and Unhappiness

The majority of human beings want other human beings to behave according to their own expectations, and life circumstances to follow their own desires, hence they suffer and are unhappy. (The Mother, Agenda, February 5, 1972)

The Luminous Force Within

In the depths of our being, in the silence of contemplation, a luminous force permeates our consciousness with a vast and luminous peace which prevails over all petty reactions and prepares us for union with the Divine, the meaning of individual existence.

(The Mother, Agenda, February 7, 1972)

The Mother and Works

"... a time will come when you will feel more and more that you are the instrument and not the worker.

For first by the force of your devotion your contact with the Divine Mother will become so intimate that at all times you will have only to concentrate and to put everything into her hands to have her present guidance, her direct command or impulse, the sure indication of the thing to be done and the way to do it and the result.

And afterwards you will realise that the divine Shakti not only inspires and guides, but initiates and carries out your works; all your movements are originated by her, all your powers are hers, mind, life and body are conscious and joyful instruments of her action, means for her play, moulds for her manifestation in the physical universe.

There can be no more happy condition than this union and dependence; for this step carries you back beyond the border-line from the life of stress and suffering in the ignorance into the truth of your spiritual being, into its deep peace and its intense Ananda."

(Sri Aurobindo, from 'The Mother')

[What follows are philosophical and poetic musings by Senthil Murugan into Garry Jacobs' epic, mystic novel 'The Book'. The focus is on the Divine Intent behind all events in the story, ... hence in Life itself.]

The Book - The Origin

by Senthil Murugan

The world has witnessed many,
Revolutionary events and evolutionary moments,
The historians continue to analyze them till date,
As what had initiated all those events,
As such, there are multiple theories in existence.
All those theories are not wrong;
All those theories are not right either,
And they explain the happenings only on the surface,
Rather not the integral causality behind.

As such all are partial and limited truths,
 Because we have forgotten the origin,
 Perhaps we are not even aware of the origin.
 The cosmic determinants continue to precipitate,
 At the right time and space,
 In the form of events that would change the course of history.
 Also at times,
 As to attract such cosmic events,
 There are noble souls, who do their part,
 Out of genuine goodwill and self-giving,
 For the benefit and betterment of mankind.
 There was a revolutionary event,
 Followed by evolutionary growth,
 And it occurred out of sudden, when none had imagined.
 Even it happened, thirty years after,
 No theory in place that would explain in wholeness,
 It was the destruction of Berlin wall, in 1989,
 It was the end of Cold War that followed,
 And its origin, started way back in 1956.
 It's all started with the Divine Intent,
 The Mother who had brought the Supramental Descent,
 And that initiated the subtle global movement,
 The Force gained momentum across the years,
 And it precipitated in destructing the wall,
 As a response for the subtle initiative that was taken.
 The world has not perceived till date,
 Neither the initiative nor that Force.
 And the humanity continues to be benefited by it,
 By the aftermath progress, the events had brought.
 'The Book' – It's not only the product of that Force,
 But also Its Instrument indeed,
 And The Book has surfaced this time with an evolutionary mission,
 As to bring abundant prosperity, in the accelerated path,
 Infinite progress, yet without any side-effects.
 As such The Book contains, all we need in essence,
 In terms of Knowledge, the Process and the Power to manifest.
 The Book has explained all that possibility in detail,
 By illustrating through a story,
 As how a company – MAI,
 Which started off with a humble beginning,
 Accomplished Infinite success at the end,
 By utilizing the knowledge of "The Book" in The Book.
 And it's accomplishment, not for the personal profit,
 Rather for the sake of humanity's benefit.
 As we go through The Book,
 Not only would we witness the achievement of MAI,
 But also identify with that Force, subconsciously.

The Force and The Book are awaiting our earnest call,
To the measure we are receptive to Them,
The miracles would be a commonplace in our life.
(based on "The Book" by Garry Jacobs)

--

Visit 'The Book' Facebook group:

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/140220262753364/>

No Title

Life is a Universal Force that acts in alignment with the cosmic Reality and the individual Soul's Aspiration. Life thus responds, touches, teases us in order to awaken our being. (Senthil Murugan)

No Title

All substance of being in space is a flowing sea, undivided in itself, but only divided by the observing consciousness (Sri Aurobindo)

On Why Americans Accumulate Vast Sums Through Individuality, But Not Share It Fairly

Karmayogi has written something like the following: (not exact translation, just paraphrased)

"...Americans have developed the country once it was just forest. There was no one to help them at that time. They have to believe themselves to survive. They have to make things their own and also need to protect it from others. Their hard work and carefulness gave them individuality (which is based on freedom, as not to depend on others but only themselves). Hence, they became true individuals in physical level. Based on that many Americans has earned millions/billions of dollars..."

So I think the individuality and protect themselves is still in their belief/culture and so the goal for rich man continues to be become even richer. They have not seen the need to become universalized. How that would happen? perhaps by Nature's slow and difficult way, or through an inspiring Leader, or through subtle efforts of MSS.

[RP: One way it can come about: Through higher, universal values like Fairness and Harmony of purpose.]

(Senthil Murugan)

A Problem Neglected, Festers, And Spreads to Those Avoiding The Issue

When you let a problem fester it spreads. The US ignored the poverty of blacks, immigrants, and rural Americans, and so it has spread to the middle class, who have little or no excess funds. Same with drugs. When the majority of Americans ignored inner city drug problems, it spread through the middle class as the devastating Opioid epidemic. Most in that category are white who have suffered through job loss or degradation and the family intensities that ensued.

These circumstance beg to ask the question: what have we left to fester - whether in our personal lives or in our work or in the world around us.

No Title

Trump is negatively bringing out many of the unresolved issues in the world.

No Title

India can be a great counterbalance to China, and over time help democratize her.

No Title

One day soon we may see an EU-like Union arise among the nation of Asia.

Our Attitudes That Will Best Serve Future Generations

We pass on our limitations, our fears, our prejudices to the next generation. Instead we should aspire for the best for them. More importantly we should give them the maximum freedom to become who they want to become. Most importantly we should raise our own consciousness to the highest levels so that it creates the greatest opening for positive future outcomes for those who follow.

No Title

Though we hardly see it, things are astonishingly interconnected. In Supermind we see these connections continuously.

What the United Nations Breakthrough Conception - "SDG" - Is

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) are a collection of 17 global goals designed to be a "blueprint to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all". The SDGs, set in 2015 by the United Nations General Assembly and intended to be achieved by the year 2030, are part of UN Resolution 70/1, the 2030 Agenda.

The Sustainable Development Goals are:

- No Poverty
- Zero Hunger
- Good Health and Well-being
- Quality Education
- Gender Equality
- Clean Water and Sanitation
- Affordable and Clean Energy
- Decent Work and Economic Growth
- Industry, Innovation, and Infrastructure
- Reducing Inequality
- Sustainable Cities and Communities
- Responsible Consumption and Production
- Climate Action
- Life Below Water
- Life On Land
- Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions
- Partnerships for the Goals

Wikipedia:

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sustainable_Development_Goals

UN - World Academy Partnership on Accomplishing United Nation's New SDGS Via Enhancement of Global Leadership

Published on Dec 3, 2019

The UN - WAAS initiative consists of a multi-stakeholder, multi-sectoral project highlighting innovative strategies and effective principles to accelerate the emergence of dynamic leadership for successful implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The project involves consultations with UN organizations, member states, business, scientific research and educational institutions, the arts, civil society and youth organizations. A two-day conference will be held at the UN in Geneva on October 27-28, 2020 followed by a report to the UN on educational and outreach strategies.

No Title

"We are chased by a self we cannot now recall
And moved by a spirit we must still become."
Sri Aurobindo, Savitri

On Money Circulation & Power

(by The Mother)

"Money is the visible sign of a universal force, and this force in its manifestation on earth works on the vital and physical planes and is indispensable to the fullness of the outer life. In its origin and its true action it belongs to the Divine. But like other powers of the Divine it is delegated here and in the ignorance of the lower Nature can be usurped for the uses of the ego or held by Asuric influences and perverted to their purpose." (Sri Aurobindo)

—How does money manifest on other planes?

What other planes? He speaks of the vital and physical, doesn't he?... that it is a force which manifests on the vital plane and the physical plane. The vital forces have a very great influence over money.

(After a silence) You see, when one thinks of money, one thinks of bank-notes or coins or some kind of wealth, some precious things. But this is only the physical expression of a force which may be handled by the vital and which, when possessed and controlled, almost automatically brings along these more material expressions of money. And that is a kind of power.

(Silence) It is a power of attracting certain very material vibrations, which has a capacity for utilisation that increases its strength — which is like the action of physical exercise, you see — it increases its strength through utilisation.

For example, if you have a control over this force — it is a force which, in the vital world, has a colour varying between red, a dark, extremely strong red and a deep gold that's neither bright nor very pale. Well, this force — when it is made to move, to circulate, its strength increases. It is not something one can accumulate and keep without using. It is a force which must always be circulated. For example, people who are misers and accumulate all the money, all the wealth they can attract towards themselves, put this force aside without using its power of movement; and either it escapes or it lies benumbed and loses its strength.

The true method of being in the stream of this money-power is precisely what is written here: a sense of absolute impersonality, the feeling that it is not something you possess or which belongs to you, but that it is a force you can handle and direct where it ought to go in order to do the most useful work. And by these movements, by this constant action, the power increases — the power of attraction, a certain power of organisation also. That is to say, even somebody who has no physical means, who is not in those material circumstances where he could materially handle money, if he is in possession of this force, he can make it act, make it circulate, and if ever he finds it necessary, receives from it as much power as he needs without there being externally any sign or any reason why the money should come to him. He may be in conditions which are absolutely the very opposite of those of usual wealth, and yet can handle this force and always have at his disposal all the wealth that's necessary to carry on his work.

Therefore, it was like this, you see: this letter was written to someone who wanted to go out from here to collect money for Sri Aurobindo's work, and this person had no means at all. So he began by saying to Sri Aurobindo, "But as I myself have no means, people will have no trust in me, and I won't be able to get anything." And Sri Aurobindo answered him something like this, that it is not the external force in its most material form which is necessary, it is the handling of the inner force which gives one control over money wherever it is: whether it is in public institutions or with individuals, one obtains control over it and one can, when it is necessary, attract by a certain movement what is needed.

(The Mother, from Agenda, 28 July 1954)

-thanks to Senthil

The Mother Comments on The Roots of Christmas

Good morning! It's the festival of Light: Christmas is the festival of the return of the Light – it's much older than Christianity! – when the days were beginning to grow longer (Mother laughs).

(Mother laughs) Merry Christmas, mon petit!

Merry Christmas to you too.

The festival of Light....

(The Mother, from Agenda, December 25th, 1971)

Ultimate Means of Manifesting The Infinite In Life

"...One who has the complete knowledge, one who knows the complete process of creation, has the power to manifest the Infinite in life. And when that power manifests, it does not take time. It generates results instantaneously. The aspiration, the decision, the action and the result are simultaneous and fully integrated with one another..." (The Book, by Garry Jacobs, page 687)

Garry Jacobs adds to his own statement above:

"One can apply the process of creation in practical day to day life by Constant Remembrance of the infinite spirit of Mother that is always present and Instantaneous Consecration of each action and event at the moment it occurs. This discipline can reveal the Infinite in Life."

On the True Meaning, Essence, and (Spiritual) Power Of "Organization"

WHAT ORGANIZATION IS

-Organizations is the process and result of bringing things, linking things together that formally were divided, independent.

-Examples of Organization are the family, the community, the nation, the company, etc.

-Organization is the connecting of things on the surface, that are actually One in the depth; i.e. from the spiritual perspective.

-Organization is to give form to the Oneness of things.

-Overcoming the divisions of life is Organization.

-We Organize our lives by relating to one another.

-Organization is to rediscover the Oneness in life.

ORGANIZATION AND SPIRITUAL POWER

-Karmayogi has said that the Mother is an "institution"; essentially an organization. (Eg She is linked to us wherever we are; She is devoid of all separateness. She is anywhere and everywhere; She can bring to us whatever we want at every moment.)

-Mother contains the supramental Force.

-Supermind is the ultimate form of Organization; everything there is linked, known, empowered to instantly manifest in life.

-The Supramental is everywhere, acting at every moment.

-When we call Mother we are linking ourselves to that Supramental power and organization that is always at our disposal.

(thanks to Garry Jacobs)

Mother; The Supramental Organization

- Spirit is an organization in the depths of our being that knows what our Soul is looking for.
 - Organization is not the opposite of Spirit, but is the way Spirit is expressing in the world.
 - Mother, aka the Supramental organization of Life is an organization that can respond at any moment to the highest aspiration, and change any rule and any law.
 - Supermind is the plane; the Organization that evolved a universe of forms out of a Divine Reality.
 - Mother, the Supramental is a power of creation. beyond the creation, acting in the creation, upholding the creation, gradually evolving the creation.
 - It can change anything at any moment. And that's what we call Grace.
 - Grace is an action from out of a Supramental Organization.
 - Grace acts when we give an opening for it to move.
 - We are members of the supramental organization of the universe.
 - We are also part of a lower organization called "Life." It is something that is perpetual; that seems like we can never leave. We can't get out of it; we are subject to its rules and laws.
 - We therefore want to shift from the organization that is Life to Mother, the Supramental Organization, where Grace, infinite Progress, and Transformation is never-ending.
- (paraphrase of Garry Jacobs)

No Title

Difficulties we encounter in life provide us with opportunities to extend the boundaries of our Faith.

Organization of Corporate Consciousness In 'The Book'

- Dan discovered the following in the BOOK which is a paraphrase of Sri Aurobindo's statements: "Life evolves by Consciousness. Consciousness evolves by greater Organization."
- As they each went through issues, difficulties, the team members of MAI were becoming more conscious; more aware of their limiting attitudes, opinions, beliefs. They were also becoming conscious of the response of life to this raising of consciousness.
- Thus, they were further Organizing their consciousness. They were creating links in their level of inner awareness.
- Dan was aware of the power of elevating his own consciousness. But how could the consciousness of the entire company be raised; and thereby attract a further level of positive conditions?
- He understood that each individual is fully absorbed in their own issues, but how can they be joined so that the consciousness of the entire company, as a whole is raised?
- For one we see that though they are cooperative and friendly, they have not harmonized their view of things. Their ideas are not harmonized and together for a common purpose.
- That's why the program for the space station was so important; because it addressed the issue of Harmony. But how to shift it inward from themselves to a wider sphere of the entire company, organization?
- After all, they each brought strengths to the team, but now that the company was rapidly expanding, how could they apply a greater harmony and purpose to this wider sphere? In fact, when the work expanded further, they increasingly ran into trouble. (Eg at one critical point they discovered that they were about to run out of money.)
- It would be helpful to know what a company is relative to the individual.
- Companies are the external expression of our - the founders', leaders', managers' - consciousness; both positive and negative. In other words, companies are expression of our values. The organizations express these values.
- To develop the positive aspects alone and to hold back the negatives is to further the organization of the company.

-Eg acting out of silence, humility, self-givingness, et al, that can express through the operation of the company, as extension of the values of the leaders.

-Values then are the inner principals that link purposefulness together in an organization, such as a company. They energize the organization in the extreme, and are the great means of success, profitability.

-Thus, the inner consciousness of individuals need to express in the outer organization for the company - or for that matter any other level of organization like the society and the world - to progress. It occurs through higher attitudes and values.

(thanks to Garry Jacobs)